HOMECOMING MUST BE DRY, SAYS DEAN TO MEN STUDENTS

University This Year Disgraced By Minority, Miss Nardin Explains

"Conditions like those existing at Homecoming this year must not happen again," said Dean F. Louise Nardin in her talk in the fellowship room of the Y. M. C. A., last night before a small group of university men. "Last Saturday night, after the Michigan game, was not like the night of Homecoming this year."

The dean said that it was a case of a small minority disgracing the whole university. It is now a question of prevention in the future. She told of the change in conditions and public opinion regarding drinking during the past years.

The danger of indifference caused the women to call their mass meeting. That anything like the alleged statement, "Where the sam hill are we going to get our dates," occurred during the women's mass meeting was denied by Miss Nardin. Several thousand women wanted to let the university and the community know their position was the reason the dean said for the mass meeting.

"If newspaper readers would take what they read as exceptional, the news stories of the drinking at the university would not have a bad influence over the state. The newspapers pick what is news, and the people take it as characteristic of the whole institution.

"The appeal of The Cardinal for the restraint of drinking was taken favorably by some of the newspapers, but other emphasized the sensational side of the question. The petition from the Methodist men's forum at Milwaukee recognized the right-minded students," said the dean.

ENROLLMENT TOPS LAST YEAR BY 265

Number of Women Students Increases 200; Fresh Total is 2,272

Statistics show an increase of 265 students enrolled against the enrollment last year at this time. The new directory lists 7,633 this fall whereas a total of 7,368 was listed last year.

The new total includes 4,713 men students as compared with 4,647 last year. There are 2,920 women students enrolled this fall as compared with 2,721 last year.

The number of post-graduate students is 703, 491 men and 212 women. Last fall the number was 657; 474 men and 183 women.

The senior class shows an increase of six but there are many more women than in the class of '23. The class roll is made up of 1,390 as compared to 1,384 last year. This roll includes 851 men and 539 women. The roll last year included 905 men, 479 women.

The junior class includes 1,497 students, of whom 874 are men and 626 are women. The number of juniors last year was 1,586 students including 955 men and 631 women.

The sophomore class has an enrollment of 1,635 students, 962 are men and 673 are women. Last year there were 1,597 sophomores, including 995 men and 602 women.

The freshman class with an enrollment of 2,272 is much larger than that of last year which included 1,987. There are 1,481 men and 791 women in the freshman class this year, as compared to 1,232 men and 755 women.

Maier-Pattison Program Ranges From Classic to Most Bizarre

SOUTHERN STUDENTS PLAN DIXIE CLUB

Southern students are planning a Dixie club in the belief that common traditions and interests will insure a bond of fellowship and congeniality. The purpose is to promote the mutual interests of members, locate southern students, and help them make friends. Membership is confined to students and faculty members, with associate membership extended to others. For further information any who are interested should call Robye Nichols, B. 5415, between 2 and 10 o'clock.

MICHIGAN DESIRES TO HELP FORGET

Discussion Dying Out on Wolverine Campus as Leaders Back Decisions

(Special to The Cardinal)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 20—

There is no sentiment expressed on the Michigan campus for a change in the relationship with the University of Wisconsin, following Saturday's game, H. A. Donahue, of the Michigan Daily, states. Campus leaders hope that the newspapers will stop writing about the incident.

The discussion of the game is dying out on the campus. There is a tendency to blame the incident on mob psychology which became contagious and over which Wisconsin campus leaders had no control.

Michigan students stand firmly on the legality of the decision by Mumma and Eckersall. The disturbance following the game and other isolated incidents later Saturday night came as a surprise to the Michigan students for such occurrences are without precedent in conference games.

Upon careful questioning, students and coaches are willing to believe that disturbances on Camp Randall field were instigated by public patrons, not students.

Other incidents later Saturday night when Michigan people were subjected to indignities in public places brought forth indignant protests. In spite of this, one fact is certain, the Michigan student body wishes to regard everything unpleasant that happened Saturday night as something that can never be repeated.

The attacks on Eckersall, both personally and editorially, have aroused only sharp criticism. Good luck to Wisconsin's fine football team.

SUNDAY TEA ROOM STARTED IN LATHROP

Silverware, white table linen, and waitresses with dainty white aprons have converted that part of Lathrop cafeteria opposite the S. G. A. room into an up-to-date tea room for Sundays only where anyone may get a dinner for 50 or 85 cents.

"We felt the patrons would like to have a place to eat where they could sit down and take their time without having to stand in line and we find it very successful, and we know the students and general public are going to like it more and more as they become acquainted with it," was the statement issued from Halls and Commons. It will be possible for small parties to be held there on Sunday by telephoning and making reservations.

CLAUSEN WILL ADDRESS ROTARIANS TOMORROW

Fred Clausen, a graduate of the university, will speak at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club tomorrow noon in the Park hotel. The subject on which Clausen will speak has not been announced. He is a manufacturer at Horicon.

Melodies Chase Each Other in Two Piano Duet Effect

A varied program, ranging from the classic "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart to "Jeux de Plein" by Tailleferre, one of the most bizarre of the modern futurists, was given by Guy Maier and Lee Pattison in their duet piano recital, the second of the Union Board Concert series, at the university gymnasium last night.

In their playing Maier and Pattison seemed to merge their two personalities into one so that only one mood was conveyed to the audience. The variety given to a selection when two musicians instead of one played it was demonstrated in the Gavottes and the Bourree in which the melodies ran parallel to each other, ran around each other, and chased each other down one piano and down the other.

"Gayotte" by Raff, "Bourree" by Vuillemin, and "Gavotte" by Saint-Saens were played, the last as an encore.

The most colorful selection was "Moy Mell," a tone poem by Arnold Bax—a Yeats' poem done in music. This poem described a day on "Moy Mell" the paradise of the old Irish legends.

The artists played two Scherzos, one by Saint-Saens, and one by Arensky. The first was spirited and full of little jokes, told first on one piano and answered with another instrument.

One of the most interesting of the selections was the modernistic "Jeux de Plein Air" by Tailleferre which described two children's games. The whole spirit of play was exemplified in the description and the exposition of the games of "Drop the Handkerchief" and "Hide-and-Seek."

6 STOCK JUDGERS AT SHOW IN KANSAS CITY

Six agricultural students comprising a stock judging team are representing the university at the American Royal Stock show now in session at Kansas City, Mo.

The men are Lester E. Caldwell '24, Harry Wood '25, Harold E. Murphy '24, Irving M. Benson '24, Frank D. Crutcher '25, and Samuel H. Sabin '24. The team is being coached by Seth D. Sims, instructor in animal husbandry.

Teams from more than 15 leading agricultural schools throughout the country will vie for honors in judging stock at this meet.

NO CUT RULE NOT IN FORCE OVER WEEK END

The rumor on the campus that the no cut rule would be enforced before and after the Chicago game is unfounded, university authorities say.

Dean George C. Sellery, College of Letters and Science, who has charge of such matters said, "I've heard nothing about it. And it isn't usual."

Dean Goodnight's office also reports that the no cut rule is in force only for special vacations.

Foreign Flashes

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Britain gives the moral influence of the United States, as well as that of Italy, Belgium, and England, credit for bringing France to the point of yielding on her proposed military action against Germany for not delivering the crown prince.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The reichstag was guarded by extra police in fear of an attempt to assassinate Chancellor Stressemann. At 4:30 o'clock the reichstag had to adjourn because of the mob yelling of the communists.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—Walton was ousted from office Monday afternoon by a unanimous vote of the senate. A fight to return him to office will be taken into the United States supreme court next month.

Brackett Refuses to Appear; To Fight To Finish, He Says

Max A. Brackett '25, refused to appear before the Student court meeting at 7:15 last night to ask for readmittance to the university.

"Brackett's suspension is continued," the Student court declared last night through T. E. Hannan, "if he would have appeared last night he would have been released and reinstated in school."

"I sent them a letter saying that I would not appear before the court," declared Brackett, "as I do not believe there is such a thing as a student court, and I will fight their action to a finish."

The court decided to keep the same stand that they openly made about Brackett, as there are several past decisions of the same type in the court records, and to repeat their action now would only be in opposition to the policy set by past courts.

ENTIRE AG SCHOOL TO JOIN IN MIXER

Long and Short Course Students Will Get Acquainted At Ag Hall Tonight

A new idea in getting acquainted will be put into practice at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Agricultural hall when the long course Agricultural students will welcome the short course students at a big Ag-get-together. In the past, each separate organization in the Ag school welcomed the new men. This year, the Agricultural College Federation board has charge of getting all long and short course men acquainted.

The program as announced by Marvin A. Schaars '24, general chairman consists of singing, talk by Dean Russell, mixing stunts by Dr. Elsom, talk by Edward Rohrbeck '24, talk by Frank Winters, and ditties by Carter Harrison '25.

Special seating arrangements are planned together with several other stunts so that there will be a general mixing.

Mrs. Fish to Sing at German Club Meeting Tomorrow

Mrs. Carl Russell Fish, accompanied by Miss Joan Singleton, will give a musical composition of several of Franz Shubert's songs, at the meeting of the German club which will be held in Lathrop hall at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The program of songs, all of which will be sung in German, is as follows:

"Auf dem Wasser zu Zingen", "Geheimen", "Wohin?", "Der Leierman", "Gretchen am Spinnrad", "Die Forelle", "Liebesbotschaft", "Lachen und Weinen", "Trockne Blumen", and "Wanderer Nachtlied."

A candy sale will be held after the program. The proceeds are to be used for the German relief fund.

CLEF CLUB HEARS RECITAL AT MEETING

Clef club held its semi monthly meeting in the new Luther Memorial church at 7 o'clock last evening.

An organ recital was given by Lillian Soldan and Alice Goodell, on the new pipe organ which was recently installed in the church. Dorothy L. Hommedius read a paper on "The Origin and Construction of Organs."

The last of the final tryouts for membership into Clef club were held at the meeting. The list of new members will be announced in a few days.

LAWLER AND FRENCH RETURN TOMORROW

Joseph F. Lawler '24, and Roy L. French, grad, who left late Sunday night to represent the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, at the annual convention in Minneapolis this week, will return on Thursday.

OUTER GATE HAS CONSTITUTION AND ELECTS OFFICERS

10 Men Organize New Society, No Connection With Group of Ballam

Approximately 10 students, dissatisfied with the proposals for the organization of Outer Gate, a society of non-fraternity men, drew up and adopted a constitution for a new society of the same name at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The following officers were elected:

Fergus G. Handler '25, president; Arnold Klein '26, vice-president; William Doudna, secretary; Lester Beatty, treasurer, and Gordon Hec-ker '25, sergeant at arms.

The society will be registered today in the office of the dean of men as Outer Gate, a society for all men on the campus regardless of whether they have fraternal affiliations or not.

This society has nothing to do with the original organization started by C. J. Ballam '26, a few weeks ago. The organizers of the present society attended the first meeting of the Outer Gate called by Ballam, and according to his statement were not members of the organization he had formed. When they sought to dictate the policy of the society, he withdrew, taking with him the 150 members that had comprised the original group.

Theoretically, Ballam's organization does not exist because it is not registered in the dean's office, but practically the 160 men still hold their membership cards in the original society.

ARTS AND CRAFTS CLUB WILL DECIDE ON PAGE

In order to decide definitely about having a page in the 1925 Badger, the members of Arts and Crafts club will hold a special meeting in the Industrial Arts laboratory at 7 o'clock tonight.

New members will not be initiated until the regular meeting, which will be held November 29.

THOMPSON LEAVES $300,000 BEQUEST

No Word Received From Relatives or Lawyer to Verify Rumor

A bequest which will amount to about $300,000 has been left to the University of Wisconsin by the late Torger G. Thompson, former Dane county legislator, according to a recent announcement. The value of the entire estate is set at $500,000.

No word has been received by the university from either the relatives or lawyer of the late Torger Thompson to authorize the rumor that he left his fortune to the university. Thompson died Tuesday, and as he left no will it was rumored that his entire estate would be appropriated to the university.

This rumor was based on the fact that Gullick Thompson, father of Torger, who died in 1895, provided in his will, that if his son should die intestate without any children, the estate should be left to the university for the furthering of the study of Scandinavian languages.

Certain definite purposes for the disposal of the sum bequeathed are set forth in the will. They provide for the establishment of a chair of Scandinavian languages, for a fund to be used as a means of assisting Scandinavian students attending the university in obtaining an education, and for the purpose of purchasing works relating to the Scandinavian languages and literature.

The scholarships and fellowships are to be awarded annually. The medical department is to get the income of a separate fund of $100,000, "for research work in connection with clinical medicine."

BALLAM HITS OUTER GATE DISSENTERS

Meeting Called For Last Night
Not Sanctioned By President

A bulletin in yesterday morning's Cardinal stated that a meeting of Outer Gate would be held last night. No such meeting was called, and the following communication has been received from C. J. Ballam '26, president of the organization, in regard to this matter:

"A bulletin appeared in The Daily Cardinal yesterday stating that a meeting of Outer Gate was called for last night. No meeting was called by my authority but by a few disgruntled individuals who have twice tried to break up the organization this season did the calling on their own initiative and with no other purpose save to cause disorder and wave the red flag."

"Members are urged not to notice any of the callings of this group of dissenters, but when future meetings of the Outer Gate will be held a personal call by me will be made upon them to insure future meetings against such disorder which followed Max Cizor and his gang appearing where they were not wanted."

Irish Minister Predicts Labor Control on Island

"The Labor party in England must inevitably come into control within a few years," said the Rev. Vivian T. Pomeroy, Bradford, England, who with Mrs. Dorothy T. Pomeroy, spoke on "The Coming Rule of Labor in England," at the Labor temple Sunday night under the auspices of the Madison Federation of Labor.

"The political activities of the Labor party have been most successful," continued Pomeroy. "You here in America are lagging behind us in that respect. Nevertheless, I predict that the Labor party here will come into control within 10 years."

The Reverend Pomeroy and his wife are members of the Independent Labor party of Great Britain. He outlined the program of the Labor party in England, stating that Laborites realize that the capitalist system cannot be made to collapse suddenly nor do they believe it would be for the best interests of the country for such an event to occur.

Music directors 6

Music Directors Discuss Phases of Instructions

Prof. Earl V. Moore, director of the school of music at the University of Michigan, and Charles A. Sink, business manager of the school of music were in Madison Saturday conferring with Prof. C. H. Mills and Prof. P. W. Dykema about music.

Professor Moore and Mr. Sink are making a tour of the Middle West to examine the methods used by the university schools of music. They came here from the University of Illinois and left for Minneapolis to visit the University of Minnesota. From there they will go to the Universities of Iowa and Kansas.

Professor Moore is using the information he is gathering to recognize the methods of musical instruction at the University of Michigan. He has recently been appointed director of the school of music.

Dependent Families Have Many Children, Badger Grad Declares

"Dependent American families of today are almost twice the size of self supporting families in which there are children," says Miss Jeanette Halverson, University of Wisconsin graduate, in an article which appeared in the November issue of the American Journal of Sociology.

She received her B. A. degree in June 1923, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. At present she is on the staff of the Juvenile Protective association of Milwaukee.

In her article called "The Prolificacy of Dependent Families," she shows by means of statistics obtained through an investigation of 100 representative families, 35 of them from Madison, how and why the size of the dependent families in America is increasing.

"It is significant that the average family in the most improvident part of France in 1855 is one child per family lower than our figure for dependent families in 1923." She points out.

"Much has been written of the menace of immigration because of the prolificacy of the foreign born. The problem is indeed a serious one, but what of our own stock which allows a situation to develop in which its only representatives to succeed in the struggle for existence with the foreign born will carry in their veins the blood of these paupers, tainted with physical and mental defect."

The investigation which was carried on through personal interviews and examinations of the case records of charity organizations proved that illness was the fundamental cause of the dependence of 37 per cent of the families. Illiteracy, lack of skill, shiftlessness, unemployment, inadequate wages, mental defect, alcoholism, domestic troubles (desertion), immorality, crime, and imprisonment of the husband were important causes in some cases, contributing causes in others.

"Without doubt the fact that these people have such large families is one of the causes of their dependence," she states. "It is frequently true that once a family has acknowledged financial defeat, it loses all moral restraint, and the children come faster than ever."

According to the statistics and the results of the investigations brought out in the article it is not race suicide to be feared, it is overpopulation of the race by people of poor blood, illiterate, and incapable of supporting themselves.

SIX BOOKS ADDED TO S. G. A. LIBRARY

Volumes of Galsworthy and Byrne Are Among Collections of Short Stories

Six new books have been added to the S. G. A. library which now numbers several scores of works by recent authors.

John Galsworthy's "Captures" and Donn Byrne's "Changeling and Other Stories" are among the collection of short stories listed. Ben Hecht's new mystery story, "The Florentine Dagger" is also one of the new books. The first work of a new author who has been heralded by New York critics is that of Sheila Kaye-Smith "The End of the House of Alard."

Lathrop Stoddard's "Revolt Against Civilization" is one of the non-fiction books in demand that has been secured for the library. "The Moscow Art Theater Play" which were written especially for the Moscow Art theater have been grouped into a new book of the drama.

"The Cheery Orchard" is one of the plays which called forth comment when it was produced last season. "American Night's Entertainment" is a small volume compiled by several eastern publishers for the American reading public and primarily for the book lover.

Conference
Wire ServiceILLINOIS, OHIO
GRID STRUGGLE
TO BE THRILLERGame Will Be Battle Between Hoge Workman and
"Red" Grange

In the double attraction scheduled for next Saturday afternoon in the Ohio stadium, between Ohio and Illinois, and Workman and Grange, are all the essential elements for a movie thriller or the most imaginative output of a fiction writer. Illinois, unbeaten all fall, is assured of the Big Ten championship, or at worst a tie for the bunting, if she can defeat the buckeyes.

On the other hand, the Ohio State team that has found itself after an uncertain start. Coming along into mid-November it has shown real strength as a team to be reckoned with. Playing before a Homecoming throng that bids fair to pass the 50,000 mark the Buckeyes have every incentive to outdo themselves.

Games Were Thrillers

Of comparatively recent origin, no other football rivalry in the country has been so productive of thrilling contests in the last eight years. Five times the Big Ten championship has hinged on the meeting of these strong rivals. Three times Ohio State climbed into the title at the expense of Illinois. On two occasions Illinois snuffed out Ohio State's championship hopes.

Next Saturday's encounter will be the twelfth of the series between the Buckeyes and Suckers. As further evidence of the intensity of the play, Ohio State has won four games, Illinois five, and two were tied.

Buckeyes Have Edge

A great Illinois team, somewhat crippled, came to old Ohio field in 1915, pretty certain of winning. Much to their astonishment they were fortunate to emerge with a tie, thanks to the proficient toe of Bart Macomber. The final score was 3 to 3. A year later Chic Harley wrote his name in large letters at the expense of Illinois in the final minutes of a 7 to 6 game won by Ohio State.

In 1917, Ohio State repeated, winning 13 to 0. In the war year of 1918, Illinois reversed the tables and the score, winning 13 to 0. That was the last time Illinois has won from Ohio on the Illini gridiron just as 1917 was the last time Ohio State has triumphed over Illinois here.

Grange vs. Workman

The stage is all set anew. Can Ohio State halt the flying Grange? Can Illinois smother "Hoge" Workman's versatile play? Upon the answer to these two questions hinges much of the story of the ultimate outcome.

On paper the Illini have the edge in that their powerful line up has been intact for most of the season and they have the confidence begotten by success. If Ohio State plays the football of which it is capable the Ohioans' chances are fairly good. Everything points to another great battle.

Hockey Squad
Beats Madison
Team Handily

The women's varsity hockey team emerged victors in a tilt with the Madison Hockey club on the Camp Randall field Saturday by a score of 2 to 1. The victory is one to be noted in as much as the Madison Hockey club defeated the Chicago Hockey club in a contest a few weeks ago.

The same day the juniors defeated the sophomores in their scheduled meet.

The varsity team which was announced just prior to the battle is as follows:

Martha Williamson '26, Lorraine Maytum '26, Grace Sherman '26, Maurine Hall '24, Daisy Simpson '26, Margaret Callsen '24, Janice Morris '26, Elizabeth Hilleman '26, Frances Hilleman '26, and Ruth Jenkins '25.

By ORIE

School might as well close up on Saturday because of the mob that's going down on the specials Friday afternoon to Chicago.

Maybe that town won't be painted white, win or lose. Almost every house is planning some kind of a party, and it's a good omen to reserve your places after the game as well as for the game.

Jack Ryan and his gang of Badgers hit some rather heavy work last night after the so-called lay-off on Monday. It's beginning to look as though Blackman is a fixture at left end for the final game. He was running with the first team in practice, and looks as good there as he did in the Michigan game.

Russ Coleman may get a shot at an end position in the Chicago game if Russ Irish's finger doesn't come around as expected. Russ has been playing good ball lately, and it will be another big loss to Ryan to lose him in this all-important game.

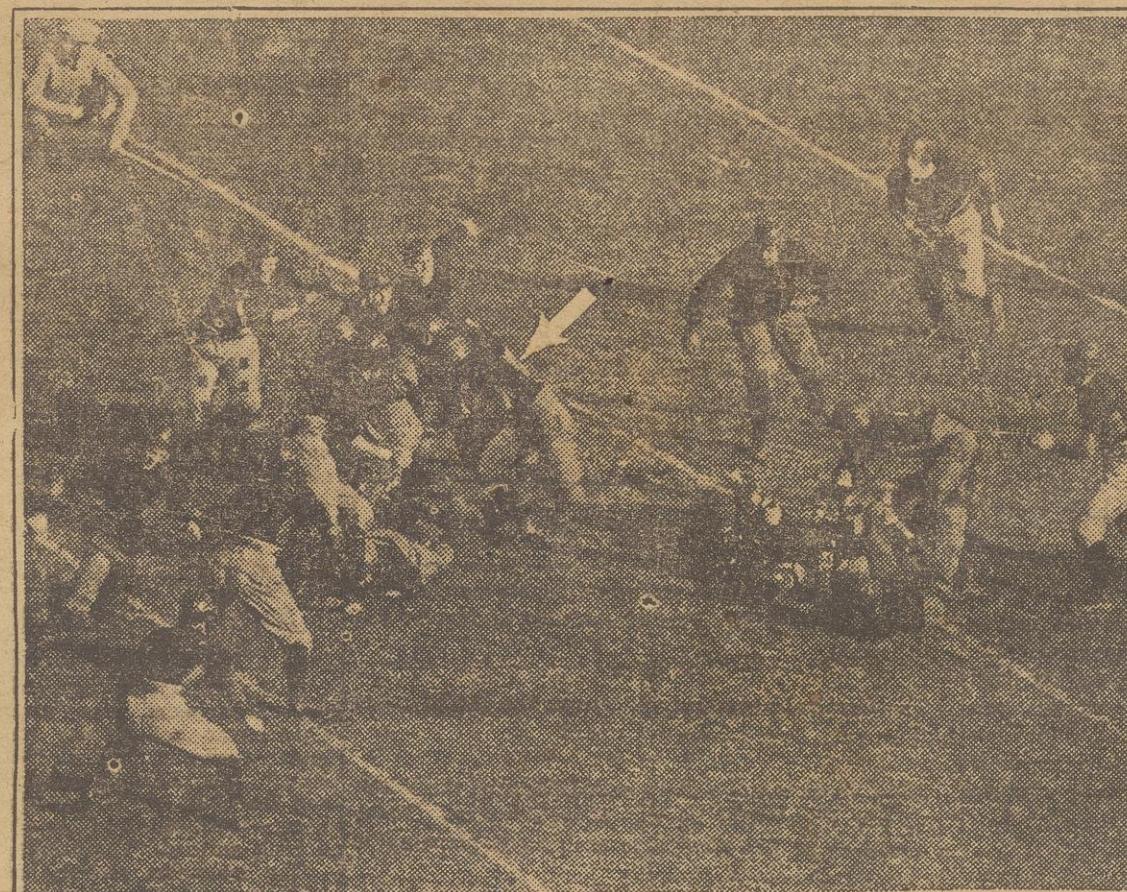

Taft ought to place himself in the select eleven this coming Saturday. Not saying that he isn't already entitled to a position in there already, but this final game of the season ought to sew up the proposition for him. Wisconsin expects two men to make the All-conference team this year in Taft and Below. Am we right?

Too bad Bieberstein and Harris aren't with some other team for that reason. They sure would have a good chance to make it too. Both have been playing great ball this year.

Chicago is working on their defense every night now. Evidently they think they have enough stuff for their offense. Wait till they hit the Badger line—it's going to be as pitiful as was the way the touted Michigan backs were stopped.

The joke game of the conference next Saturday will be between Indiana and Purdue. Both are well down in the cellar, and will stay there, regardless of the result.

HITCHCOCK HOLDS
TRYOUT PRELIMS
FOR MAT SQUADHopes to Carry Ninety Men
Through Season This Year

Tryouts for the varsity wrestling team will continue until December 8. Nearly 50 men have reported so far and some good material has been uncovered according to George Hitchcock, varsity wrestling coach. Coach Hitchcock hopes to carry a squad of about 90 men this year. "We especially need heavyweights, though we have better prospects for the heavier classes than formerly," commented Hitchcock. "I expect some wrestling men from the football team as soon as the season closes," he added.

Hitchcock to Attend Conference

Coach Hitchcock will leave December 1 for Chicago to attend a conference of all the wrestling coaches of the Big Ten and also Ames and Nebraska. Schedules will be arranged and rules discussed. Coach Hitchcock is sponsoring three changes in the rules which he feels will speed up wrestling and make it more interesting to the spectators.

The first deals with points allowed for a decision and a fall. At present five points are allowed a man for a fall and three points for a decision. It is hoped to change the points for decision to two. The second deals with the time limit of the matches.

May Lengthen Time Limit
It is desired to lengthen the time from 12 to 15 minutes. The third change is in regard to the time allowed for advantage over a man down. At present it is one minute and Coach Hitchcock feels that wrestling would be much improved if two minutes were allowed since this would develop the defensive angle of the sport.

If more time were allowed the man who is down before the advantage is declared, he will be able to plan his getaway more thoroughly and will do it more calmly in the opinion of the coach. Coach Hitchcock, with the cooperation of some of the other coaches, will endeavor to have these new changes introduced.

AGRICS INVESTIGATE
SILO FILLING MACHINES

The engineering staff of the College of Agriculture has been investigating the efficiency of silo filling machines. L. W. Duffee, who has directed the test, figures that the farmers of Wisconsin will be saved about one third of a million dollars as a result of the new methods of filling their silos. Fifteen different makes of machines were used in making the tests.

SOPH GIRLS ARE
SWIM CHAMPIONSBeat Juniors By Two Points,
108 to 106, in Totals;
Frosh Third

The sophomores cinched the 1924 championship in swimming last night when they piled up a total score of 108 points, two points more than their nearest rivals, the juniors. The strong competition between the sophomores and the freshmen in the pool last night was in reality a race between the sophomores and juniors, for had the victorious sophomores defeated the freshmen by a smaller margin than they did, 34 to 23, the juniors, despite the fact that they succumbed to the sophomores last week would have stood supreme. They walked away with the seniors, 41 to 16.

The contest between the sophomores and the freshmen was one of lively interest, both teams were well matched. In the breast stroke Elma Mygdal '26, Harriet Graham '26, won first and second respectively. Anita Betchel '27, came in third. In the back stroke the freshmen made first place, Miriam Wollager placing. Ruth Huyette '27, 2nd Mygdal '26, tied for second. Wollaeger made first in the free style, Mygdal and Graham second and third.

The freshmen did not place in the plunge, the sophomores grabbing all three places through Eloise Blakslee, Beatrice Marks and Esther Rosenberg. The sophomores also won the relay.

National Collegiate records were made in the tank this year. Rhoda Koch '25, holds the record in the free style, having made it in 25 2-5, and in the back stroke 14 1-5. Helen Robinson '25, holds a record in the side stroke, 32, Marcella Steele '27, in the breast, 30 3-5, and Lois Barry '24, and Eloise Blakslee in the plunge, 60 feet.

GRIDDER START ON LAST LAP OF FALL'S TRAININGRyan Charges Proteges to Forget Last Saturday's Disaster

"Forget it," says Coach Jack Ryan, and with that thought in their minds his charges are working at Camp Randall on their last stretch of practice.

Chicago is next, and Wisconsin's best will be given to win that game. A season filled with the worst kind of deal from Lady Luck has been handed the Badgers, but a win over the Maroons will do much to make the year a success.

While the regulars took a light workout last night, resting from the hard work of Saturday, the heavy work is scheduled to begin immediately. With but a few days to prepare for Chicago, Coach Ryan will take no chances.

Midway Is Strong

The Midway team is undoubtedly the strongest in many years, and Wisconsin has no easy foe for the week end. Comparative scores still show the Maroons to be stronger than the Badgers, for they held the Illini to a smaller score than did Wisconsin.

Badger fans who saw the Michigan game are confident, however, and see only victory over Chicago.

Results of the Wolverine game will just about balance in their effect on the Badger team, for while they seem to have found themselves on the field, the disheartening effect of such a fracas as the one Saturday is none too good on the moral of a squad.

Badgers Will Fight

Certain it is that Wisconsin, should it show the same stuff Saturday that it showed against the Maize and Blue, cannot be downed by Chicago. Fans who have seen the two teams in action against each other during the past few years know that Wisconsin never fights in another game like it fights Chicago.

The added fact that last Saturday's referee was a former Chicago player will not serve to lessen the amount of scrap which the Badgers will show.

Injuries Are Scarce

Injuries during Saturday's game were kept down as they have been throughout the season and a team, practically unharmed will be at Chicago this week end. Both Irish and Taft received minor injuries to their hands, but they will both be in the lineup against Chicago.

Taft's work next Saturday should be the sensation of the game if he continues improving as he has done thus far this season. Every game sees him gaining more yards, playing more brilliantly, regardless of the strength of his opponents.

PROFS, STUDENTS DIG
AT MICHIGAN AGGIES

Professors and students of the Michigan Agricultural college have this week laid aside books and dress suits for five days of digging at the basement of the proposed half million dollar union memorial building. Each of the men students and each faculty member has three cubic yards of dirt to move. Shifts of approximately 100 men will work a half day each. Co-eds are dispensing coffee and doughnuts on the side lines. The M. A. C. alumni digging in their pockets for the funds for the building while the men on the campus are digging in the dirt.

A GENEROUS WILL

A bounteous bequest has been made to the university through the will of a true Badger who realized keenly what education means and to what splendid uses a university can put a sum of money. Torger G. Thompson, a son of Dane county, is the donator of $300,000 to be used in furthering the study of Scandinavian languages, in providing scholarships for Scandinavian students here and in clinical service.

Surely the university welcomes such a bequest and is proud to know that there are men in the state ready to make financial sacrifices for the furtherance of education.

A REMEDY FOR WORRIES

Thanksgiving is looming in the near future and bringing with it the worries connected with the mid-semester examinations. Some students will put off their period of probation with the books until the last minute and count on getting by the ordeal with what they acquire by concentrated cramming. Others, a little more wise, have been preparing daily.

It is perhaps a difficult thing for some to prepare for examinations far in advance. There are a thousand and one duties which crop up in the course of each day and which tempt one to put off studying.

The easiest and most rational solution to the problem, however, is the working out of a daily schedule. Just as one attends classes according to a schedule, so should he prepare for those classes according to a daily schedule. If he accustoms himself to studying for a certain subject at certain hours throughout the week, he will find it an easy matter to adhere to his custom. Such a habit formed will be a difficult one to break.

It is generally agreed among the members of the faculty that two hours of outside work should be spent on each credit of class work. It is true that such a program is not carried out by the majority of students although it means only a seven hour day for six days in the week. Nevertheless, if the average student does not put half that much time on each credit, what time he does spend will help him more if he arranges it according to some fixed schedule. He can arrange in his schedule a certain amount of time each day in a certain part of each day for outside work.

With such a schedule the student's work will become simplified and examinations will present less worry to him.

STUDIES BLOCKED

Again the cry comes from those who have work to do at the library that the facilities there are inadequate to the needs of the students. Groups gather around the marble tablets on the radiators in the reading room, standing up to write their notes, or students congregate in the corridors, which are poorly illuminated, using the benches and stairs for seats and tables alike.

Such are the difficulties under which one must do his outside reading, thesis and topic work. What is the remedy? Wherein can these conditions be improved? What constructive criticism can be offered?

It is a difficult proposition. The library has been enlarged, but the additions have been made for the accommodation of the volumes owned by the library association. Further additions to the building are out of the question. A reconstruction of it, however, does not seem to be such a useless suggestion.

The space on the south side of the reading room floor which corresponds to the space occupied by the periodical room is used now for offices. That amount of space would just about turn the trick, and provide suitable accommodations for industrious students if it were fitted up as a separate reading room or even made a part of the main room. The offices then could be moved to another part of the building, might take the place of some of the seminar rooms while seminars, usually, scheduled for late afternoon, could be held in other buildings on the campus.

If this suggestion is not practicable, what of setting up tables in the corridors and providing suitable lighting fixtures for them? Perhaps it will be held that such a remedy would not give the library a good appearance and would only serve to admit that the room is not sufficient to take care of the demand. But looks are not to be considered in a case like this, and as for the other argument, facts are facts which can not be overlooked.

WISCONSIN LEADS AGAIN

The field of science this year seems to be pretty well under the hand of Wisconsin men. A few weeks ago we were hearing of Prof. Brian's South American botanical expedition. Now we are hearing of Roy Chapman Andrews' biological and geological expedition into the heart of Thibet, far from all paths, and of its extraordinary success.

True it is that Mr. Andrews is not connected with the university, but he is a native of the state, and, as such, is of interest to students at the university.

It is believed that he discovered in this land never before entered by white men many facts which will be of untold value to both geologists and biologists; it is certain that he discovered many things which are entirely out of the ordinary.

Again science bows to the work of a Badger.

Other Editors Say—

ACTION FROM THE WOMEN

Two thousand Wisconsin women in a mass meeting Thursday night at the University of Wisconsin pledged themselves to boycott any social function at which men are present under the influence of liquor. They have also presented a resolution to federal authorities urging more strict enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment in Madison.

Since the tone of any social function is set by attending women The Daily Illini believes that in this step the women of Wisconsin have made an effective move in improving University conditions.

Drunkenness among college men is cheap bravado at best, and in the degree to which it has been prevalent in some cases has become disgusting. If the college drunk be looked on as any other drunk and not as a clever young man on a dashing escapade, the glamor of drinking is gone. And it is the attitude of college women that can materially help to mould college opinion to this viewpoint.

Too many college men can achieve a good replica of the perfect ass without being intoxicated in the bargain. If university women coeds cannot prevent men students from being asinine they can at least refuse to appear in the company of maudlin men at social functions.—The Daily Illini.

AN APPRECIATION

Editor of the Cardinal:

I have been a reader of The Cardinal for a number of years and cannot recall the time when its editorials gave evidence of such high ideals or indicated so much courage as now. You deserve an expression of appreciation, not from students alone, but also from alumni, the majority of whom, I believe, approve your attitude toward all important university interests. The paper never has had such high standards. I appreciate the stamping the editors show.

For doth not everyone lie in wait for his adversary, seeking to overthrow him and to pick him on his nose, tho it be on hard rocks, or ditch or dale,—the struggle two against one, dash him against the heart with their elbows, butt him under the short ribs with their gripped fists, and with their knees they catch him on the hip and pick him on his neck-----"

Apis Club to Hold Bee, Honey Show In Ag Hall Friday

C. E. Kindschi, a Madison bee-keeper, addressed 21 members of the Apis club last evening, on the subject of general beekeeping problems. The business meeting preceding Mr. Kindschi's talk was devoted to the discussion of the Bee Show and Honey Exhibit. The Apis club is conducting in Ag hall Friday afternoon and evening in correlation with the annual State Honey Week, November 19-25.

Live bees in glass observation hives will be one of the exhibits in the corridors of Ag hall during the show. There will be others which show honey in all its stages from the nectar from the flower to placing honey in containers. The members of the club will give special demonstrations on getting the hive ready and the extraction and bottling of honey. At the Honey booth all kinds of honey, honey cookies, cake, honey sandwiches and honey candies will be for sale to the public.

The program in the afternoon is for all the school children of Madison. In the evening, the exhibit will commence at 7:00 o'clock and the show at 7:30 o'clock. The proceeds from the 10 cents admission will go for the benefit of Bradley Memorial children.

DEBUT OF PHYSICAL ED MAG POSTPONED

Change in Form Raises Price of Year's Subscription TO 75 CENTS

The appearance of the first issue of the new Physical Education magazine has been postponed until Thanksgiving week end, is the information given by Maurine Hall '24, president of the Physical Education club, who has charge of getting out this issue.

Instead of having it mimeographed as was originally planned, it is going to be printed. Other changes in the first plans have brought up the price of publishing it, so that, it is necessary to raise the price from 50 cents as was announced to 75 cents for a year's subscription, of three numbers.

The first number will contain an article on English hockey by Miss Weston, instructor in the department of physical education, announcements of teams, W. A. A. news, physical education news, alumni, the physical ed orchestra, all year championships, short autobiographies of staff members, and other things of interest to girls who are or have been active in athletics or who have an interest in them.

Announcement will be given out when the first number is ready and distribution will be made in the reading room on the fourth floor, Lathrop hall. A bulletin has been posted in Lathrop for the signature of those who wish to subscribe. So far 80 persons have signed.

Ross Appears as Soloist With the Chicago Symphony

Gilbert Ross, violinist, son of Prof. E. A. Ross of the department of political economy is to appear as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra which comes to Madison Tuesday.

After his early studies in Madison, Ross went to Chicago to work under Leon Sametini, of the Chicago Musical college. Later on he went to New York where he studied under the celebrated Leopold Auer who counts among his pupils many of the celebrated violinists of the present time.

After completing his studies under this master, he made his debut in Berlin, then appearing in several of the musical centers in Germany. Exacting critics there gave his playing high praise.

Californians Vie For Most Striking Pajama Effects

Californi's biggest rally of the year, the "Pajamarino," was held last night at the Greek theatre. An extra big fire was blazing, and the men filed in with their classes and every one wearing a pair of pajamas.

This rally was one to welcome the team from its victory over U. S. C. last Saturday, and to spur the members on to greater efforts for the Washington and Stanford games. The captain of the team, Don Nichols, spoke, as did also Coach Andy Smith and R. G. Sproul '13.

At this time the men vie with one another in attaining the most striking effects with their pajamas. It is not uncommon for some girl to find that her brother, who is in college, has absconded with a pair of her daintiest.

FULTON OBTAINS IDEAS FOR BADGER

Compares Prices Charged Seniors With Costs at Other Institutions

The Badger was represented at the session of the Association of Mid-West University annuals in Chicago, by Ellis G. Fulton '25, who brought from the conference information concerning the annuals of six other schools. As a result of his participation in the session he says that the 1925 Badger is giving a greater return for the money invested than any other year book in the Big Ten conference.

Editors and business managers of the Cap and Gown, Chicago; The Illio, Illinois; The Hawkeye, Iowa; The Gopher, Minnesota; The Arbutus, Indiana; and The Syllabus, Northwestern, were present at the conference.

Wisconsin seniors are only charged $1.50 for the prints from the photographer, and $1.50 by the Badger for engraving and printing them.

"At Minnesota students must buy a dozen pictures for $10.00 in order to have their likeness in the Gopher," Fulton says. He added that the total cost at other schools is from $4.00 to $7.50, and said of fraternities and sorority pages, other year books charge $40.00 for a smaller page.

The Badger is far ahead of all the other conference year books in competition for the largest number of subscriptions sold.

AMERICANISM SHOULD BE IN REACH OF ALL

That the Americanization movement began as a determined effort to bring all Americans to a recognition of their common interests, and to destroy the hyphenated state in which many were still living, is the belief of Prof. Frederic L. Paxson as stated before the Lions' club luncheon on Tuesday noon. "We have the alien with us, and here he must remain. We have the negro, and he cannot be removed. In a great country like ours there can be no sound principle of patriotism that is beyond the reach of any of its citizens," declared Professor Paxson.

PUT ALL STUDIES
UP TO STUDENTS

—BREITWEISER

Co-operative College Approved
By Univ. of California
Professor

That all college courses should be elective, and that the academic as well as the social affairs of schools should be in the hands of the student body in cooperation with the faculty, is the belief of Prof. J. V. Breitweiser, associate professor of education of the University of California.

Studies should be arranged by a committee of the students, who can always know more than any professor what they wish to study and can best realize what subjects best prepare a man or woman for their life work," said Prof. Breitweiser.

"Under the present conditions students have no say in the academic part of university life, but this would make the university a truly democratic and republican body. The continual misunderstanding between faculty and students would soon die out." It is Professor Breitweiser's belief that the colleges of letters and science are in need of re-organization, in order to make them of equal value to others.

Professor Breitweiser believes that with such a system of organization the student who does not seek to accomplish anything will soon drop out.

MEDIC LITERATURE
UNDER LOAN PLANRequest of Country Doctor
Opens New Field in Extension Division

A request for information on periodic examinations from a physician in Vernon county, started a new field in the University Extension division.

Wisconsin physicians may now obtain loan packages containing literature on the following subjects: Cancer, diphtheria, vaccination, Schick test, periodic physical examinations, insulin, fractures of the long bone, and control of communicable diseases. Every subject has not yet been covered nor will it be until requests are made concerning other phases of medical work.

A second demand was received yesterday by the department for the periodic physical examinations from a doctor in Omro, Wisconsin.

"These packets are for doctors in small towns where there are no public libraries," explained Miss Almere L. Scott, of the University Extension division. "We loan these packages for a period of three weeks."

Dr. Washington Irving Mauer, a pastor from Columbus, Ohio, has just been chosen president of Beloit college. He is an alumnus of that school.

HYDE ADVISES HIGH SCHOOLS IN EDITOR

Convention Number is Mailed to C. I. P. A. Members; Contains 24 Pages

The convention number of "The Scholastic Editor," which is largely devoted to information concerning the annual C. I. P. A. meeting to be held here soon, has just been mailed to the hundreds of delegates and other members of the association.

With its second appearance in magazine form, The Editor has increased its size from 16 to 24 pages.

"What Contest Judges Will Look For," by Prof. Grant M. Hyde, chairman of the contest committee, an article presenting detailed information for the benefit of C. I. P. A. delegates are set forth in this number to prepare representatives of the various high schools for the biggest press convention ever held at the university.

A book review column, conducted by Professor Hyde, makes its first appearance in this issue. In the second part of "How to Read a Newspaper," an article by Dr. W. G. Bleyer, director of the course in journalism, is explained the value of the different kinds of material found in a newspaper.

"Just as the food we eat must be chewed and digested before it can nourish the body, so news, as the food of opinion, must be read thoughtfully if it is to add to our knowledge," Dr. Bleyer writes.

Other articles in this issue are "Regulating Eligibility in Activities," by George F. Brooks, principal of the senior high school in Hutchinson, Kas.; newspaper department conducted by Prof. Henry E. Birdsong, instructor in the journalism department; a magazine department edited by Joseph Lawler '24; "Building Better School Annals" by Ellis G. Fulton, '25; a section headed "Advisers' Round Table" by Helen M. Patterson, instructor in the journalism department; and "Helps, Hints and Hunches" by Robert Smith '24.

The city will be divided into ten wards.

"The blind can take care of themselves," is the slogan adopted. It is hoped to raise $40,000 in Wisconsin Saturday for the erection of a home and a workshop at Wauwatosa.
