School Board

Standing: Clifford Eastman, Eugene Gunderson, Allan Jones
Seated: Frank Dufenhorst, Frank Petrie, Ray Moyer, Jr.

School policies of Waterford High School have been capably determined by the five members of the school board. Their foresight in planning was responsible for the progress our school has made throughout the year.

Waterford Students,

The challenges of education in a democracy are manifold and of individual, as well as group, importance.

Each of us has respect due us because we believe that each is of worth to a democratic society. Nevertheless, we have obligations as worthy members of this great society to use our intelligence to make wise decisions according to our range of knowledge and abilities. As we have freedom to choose how we should use our democratic rights, we have an obligation to prepare ourselves through the process of education to accept and complete the tasks that become our individual responsibilities.

To meet these challenges, we must strive for better education, and in turn, better prepared students. You are a part of this role; play your part well, and accept your place on the stage of life.

Clifford Eastman

Senior Honors

Scholarship Trophy

Kathleen Paap and Karen Schwedler are the co-vice-dictorians of the class of 1961. We feel confident both of them will be successful in their future studies.

Salutatorian

Gary Van Valin

Karen, who transferred from Rochester Agricultural School in her Junior year, has participated in activities including photography, annual staff, and the Future Homemakers of America.

Karen Schwedler

The salutatorian of the class of 1961, Gary Van Valin, is interested in engineering and plans to enter the Air Force Academy. He would like to be a pilot and a flight instructor. He has our best wishes for success in the career of his choosing. Gary has participated in sports, annual staff, forensics, and photography.

 $c(d+e) = b^2 + a^2$
 7. $c^2 = a^2 + b^2$
- The square on the hypotenuse of a right triangle is equal to the sum of the squares on the legs.
- 2 rt. \triangle are \sim if an acute \angle of one is $=$ to an acute \angle of another.
- Def. of \sim \triangle
- The product of the means, is $=$ to the product of the extremes.
- $=$ is added to $=$
- Whole is $=$ to the sum of its parts
- A quantity may be substituted for its equal in any process.

Juniors

The Junior Class sponsored several dances, a car wash, a candy sale, and a bake sale during the year to earn money for their big event of the year, the Junior Prom.

Gary Beck was elected class president; Marge Mayer, vice president; Joan Reesman, secretary; and Betty Fiebelkorn, treasurer. Kurt Lofgren and Audrey Lau represented the class on the Student Council.

Paul Mueller escorted the Junior representative, Joan Reesman, to the Homecoming Dance.

Cheerleaders from the class were Mary Collins, Barbara Healy, and Mary Lee Rittmann. The athletic teams were given added strength by many members of the Junior Class.

The story goes on through two generations. In some parts it is tragic, but so very beautiful. Although Heathcliff was cruel and savage at the end, I pitied him because he suffered so for Catherine who was dead.

II. Describe the Main Characters

Heathcliff was dark and mysterious looking. His heart and soul were in the grave of the first Catherine Linton. He looked very forbidding.

Sophomores

The sophomore class had a new and fine group of officers for its second successful year. They were as follows:

Dick Tymus-President; Jeff Henderson-Vice-President;
Joan Doxtator-Secretary; Kathy Winsall-Treasurer.

John Benavides and Joan Dickinson represented our class on the student council. Two of our school's new teachers, Mr. Bush and Miss Seif, were elected as class advisors. Their help and advice have been appreciated by every one of us.

Our class was also especially happy to be able to use a 1961 Plymouth for use in our drivers' training course. We hope it will help to produce better and more courteous drivers by giving us first hand experience on the road.

Activities we sponsored included a Sadie Hawkin's dance and a record hop. A member of our class wrote and directed the Christmas play, and the sophomore English classes began the Christmas party with choral reading selections.
