"General Manager

—and

$10,000 a Year!"

"THESE words buzzed joyously in my ears. But as I looked about me at the mahogany and plate glass of my new office, a sudden fear gripped me. Would I be equal to my new duties; not in the sense of my mental capacity, but physically? It was a big job. It meant heavy responsibilities, constant alertness, body and mind attuned to high productive effort.

"Could I stand the strain? During the hard, ambitious years I had devoted to the interests of the Company, I knew I had overworked, and neglected myself physically.

"I could see that under this new burden of responsibility and work, less than ever was I going to be able to devote time to keeping fit. I might fail in the job if I neglected it for play—and I might fail if I stuck too closely to it.

"My contact with my fellow officers revealed them to me as men always in condition, forceful, energetic. And I resolved to ask them the secret of it. Each of the four gave the same answer—keep the system clear of waste matter—avoid constipation. Every one of them was using Nujol.

"The president himself told me, 'Constipation takes more from the business world than any other disease or influence. Many times the victim does not know he has it; often when he does appreciate his condition, he tries to treat it with pills, salts, castor oil, or mineral waters—which upset the system and tend to make the constipation chronic. There is only one safe and sane treatment for constipation.

"This is the Nujol treatment, based on a new principle propounded by Sir Arbuthnot Lane, an eminent English doctor, and recommended now by physicians far and wide. Nujol merely softens the food waste so that it passes naturally out of the system. It does not cause nausea or griping, nor interfere with the day's work. I take it consistently myself, and I know it is used almost universally by prominent business men'."

LOYALTY

By GEORGIA LLOYD-JONES, '96

Wisconsin men, arise, arise!
In native land, neath foreign skies,
Where'er thy fate has taken thee
Arise, proclaim thy loyalty.

Thy Mother fair, she framed thy youth,
She fostered thee, she taught thee truth,
She made thee, set her stamp on thee.
Her strength is in thy fealty.

What thou art now belongs to her.
Thou'rt measured by thy heart's true core.
A helper now thy strength is gained,
A son whose love has never waned.

Come back and pace her elm-arched path
That echoed to thy youthful laugh.
Gaze at Mendota's sunset wave
That to thy dreams their color gave.

Wisconsin men, arise, arise!
And laud thy Mother to the skies.
Help her still greater spheres to fill,
Thy Alma Mater on the Hill.

The Wisconsin Alumni Magazine

"Every institution of learning is measured by its graduates. If they succeed in their vocations the community sees behind them the efficiency of the institution in the intellectual training. If they are the advocates of the best and most progressive in civic life, the community sees behind them the ideals of justice and righteousness taught by the institution. If in these or any other matters the alumni of an institution fail, it is marked down as a failure of the institution. The crown of highest gladness for any College is its faithful alumni."

Madison, Wis., May, 1921

Number 7

The family feeling among students in undergraduate days continues to increase if proper avenues are provided whereby former students can keep in touch with each other. Love for Alma Mater is a Affection type of affection which is not easy to analyse, and yet it is a much stronger institutional asset than mere individual good will. The power of a directory in fostering and maintaining such affection is self-evident from the following letter which a graduate of '99 recently sent to a graduate of '96.

Chicago, Ill., April 10, 1921.

"I am just in receipt of the Wisconsin Alumni Directory. It comes as a welcome guest bringing us tidings of those who were once near. Now because of the responsibilities and diversities of our paths we have drifted apart. The Alumni Directory helps to bring us back together. It tells us of the well doing of our fellow alumni, or at least their present addresses.

"I trust that fortune has smiled generously upon you and that you have borne out the promises that you gave.

"My home is at-----, Wisconsin, although my office is here.

"It is well to have this directory come to us even though it comes only occasionally. Each page and nearly every column has a message that is near and dear to us. It cements us more strongly to our Alma Mater and brings back those pleasant associations, and associations mean much.

"With best personal wishes, I am,

Yours cordially,"

May we never again be a decade without a directory. Such a publication at least every five years, supplemented by annual correction sheets and lists of additional graduating classes would, we have always claimed, be the greatest possible single agent in changing mere individual good will of alumni into cooperative loyalty. Not long ago educational institutions were thought of under two general groups, faculty and students. To-day three groups are always thought of, students, faculty, and alumni. We risk the prediction that the time will come when an annual alumni directory will be considered as essential as an annual student and faculty directory. We call attention to the fact that the statement quoted at the top of the first page of this Magazine was made by the President of a state educational institution.

A large but necessarily very concentrated presentation of "Wisconsin at Work" has been presented between the dates that this publication goes to press and the date on which it will reach our The Exposition members. A prodigious undertaking carried through by a committee of over seven hundred with the special intent of showing the serious and strenuous side of real University life must do a tremendous amount of good in showing the substantial part of intellectual endeavor merely than the more picturesque froth that too often attracts major attention.

One sinner among university students attracts more attention at times than do thousands who conscientiously labor in class room, laboratory, library, or study. Burke, had, what President Adams calls, "a glorious simile" of the noise made by one grasshopper under a fern compared with the quiet of a thousand kine chewing their cud on the hillside, which applies to modern university conditions.

We are sure that the Exposition must have helped not only local students and faculty, but many citizens from all parts of the State to understand better the great influential institution that is located in Madison, an institution whose greatest endowment, as George Peck felicitously said is "two millions of people." "Knowledge is the surest possible cure for scepticism and hostility." Here's hoping that thousands had the very great privilege and opportunity of visiting the University's great "Watch Wisconsin Work" Exposition. Modern college life is a very serious, strenuous affair. It is not to be wondered at that it is often misunderstood. "Boost Wisconsin" means, after all, not to use high sounding, extravagant descriptive adjectives, nor does it mean to have mere blind faith in this State University, but it does mean to have accurate knowledge about some of the really important phases of University life and undertakings, and the ability to communicate that knowledge to others in clear, explicit language. No man can be expected to know in detail all phases of this great institution. Few indeed can know many, but no undergraduate, alumnus, faculty member, or regent should lack definite knowledge of at least one department. The Exposition will doubtlessly be very instructive and very interesting. This interest will show itself in further questions that will be asked by visitors who saw the Exposition. Naturally these questions will be asked of members of the Alumni Association in all parts of the State. More than ever before will our responsibility, fellow members, of "Know your University" be thrust upon us. If a citizen asks us questions we cannot answer let us not evade them but let us inform ourselves. (Details regarding the Exposition will appear next month.)

"The best should come to Wisconsin." Your great University has never had too many able students, talented musicians, outstanding athletes, leading debaters, or scientific geniuses. Loyal alumni Duty can do much towards maintaining Wisconsin's high standards in all departments of modern educational institutional life by seeing that the best graduates of high schools are fully informed as to the advantages offered to them by our strong University. Lamentation after proselytes from afar have carried off high school leaders to institutions having no greater if equal advantages for Wisconsin boys and girls avails little more than the proverbial locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen. Active solicitation of resident students by University authorities has never received approval. Not only has such activity been condemned generally, but in some lines such solicitation is specifically prohibited by inter-collegiate agreements and rules. Loyal graduates of our great institution, either as individuals or as local organizations, have therefore a specific duty to see that the best young men and young women in their communities receive full information as to the advantages, opportunities, and responsibilities of attending our State University. Fortunately, there are very few who not only lament but complain, and consequently the modern jazz advice to "throw away your hammer and buy a horn" scarcely need be mentioned. But perhaps many of us have unintentionally failed to realize our individual responsibilities in doing our legitimate and honorable share in helping maintain high standards at our University by becoming earnest missionaries in carrying out the gospel that the most efficient way of insuring that the "best shall serve the State" is by doing our part in seeing that the best young men and young women come to the State University for higher education.

A few patrons of the University cafeteria suffered some ill effects after eating a meal there a few weeks ago. Whether the condition of the food, the nature of the food, the combination, or the individual Indigestion digestive systems were the basic cause no one seems able to ascertain definitely. Fortunately, no one was more seriously effected than was the childhood little hide-and-seek snake that ate an undue amount of jelly cake, but unfortunately accounts found their way into some publications to the effect that there were several cases of ptomaine poisoning. This erroneous report has been convincingly disproved, however, by our very competent clinic, and the clinic's findings have been given publicity in a statement signed by President Birge.

BENEFACTORS ENDOW 23 FUNDS

$180,651 Held in Trust; Sum Tripled Since 1905

TRUST funds given by private benefactors to endow loan funds for needy students, scholarships, fellowships, professorships, annual prizes, and other special purposes at the University now total $180,651 in 23 different funds, according to a report recently prepared by the Secretary of the Regents.

These University trust funds have increased to that figure from a total of $64,634 in eight funds in 1905, and they do not include the many other gifts, some of large amounts, which have been given for special purposes and are not administered by the Regents as trust funds. When any part of the income of trust funds remains unused, it goes into the principal, and many funds are growing through the return to the principal of money loaned to needy students.

The oldest loan fund for needy students is the fund of $5,000 given in 1876 by John A. Johnson, Madison, through return of funds loaned, it has grown to $17,185. Other loan funds are: $5,000 given by Mrs. Amelia H. Doyon, Madison, in 1896 whose income goes to two needy women students each year; $10,000 left by Fannie P. Lewis, Watertown, in 1906, to aid two women students annually; the Secretary's loan fund established in 1900 with $500 given by the Secretary of the Regents and now grown to $992; a fund of $1,000 left by Christian R. Stein, Madison, in 1900; the Class of 1912 fund, originally $765 and now $1,210; the Class of 1913 loan fund, now totalling $951, partly endowed by 20-payment life policies of $100 each carried by about 100 members of the class; and the Carl Jandorf Memorial fund consisting of $115 given by the Skull and Crescent society in 1920 and set aside for ten years to be augmented.

The most notable fellowship fund is the C. K. Adams and Mary M. Adams Fellowship fund, comprising the entire estate of the late President and Mrs. Adams intended to endow 15 fellowships of $10,000 each, as the funds increased. To date, three graduate fellowships have been founded and another will be established in 1922. Others are: $5,000 given in 1906 by Henry Gund, La Crosse, to endow a scholarship in German; and a legacy now totalling $10,328 left by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hollister, Madison, in 1913, for a fellowship in pharmacy.

The Carl Schurz Memorial fund of $30,570 was donated by Germans of the state to maintain a memorial professorship and its income was used to pay Prof. Eugen Kuehneman in 1912-13 and Prof. M. J. Bonn in 1914-15. The fund now totals $39,509 and, in 1918, $4000 of its income were invested in Liberty bonds. The only other endowed professorship is the Jackson Professorship of Law founded by a fund of $20,000 left by Mortimer M. Johnson, Mineral Point, in 1889 and now held by Prof. H. L. Smith.

Endowment prize funds include: a fund of $250 given by William Jennings Bryan in 1899, and now grown to $419, for an annual prize essay on "The Science of Government"; and the Lewis prize fund consisting of $200 left by Gov. James T. Lewis, Columbus, in 1865, now grown to $606, for the best annual written essay.

Other trust funds include: The fund of the Latin League of Wisconsin Colleges started in 1910 with $220 and now totalling

$3,546 to promote Latin teaching; $250 given by the Milwaukee Gas Light company in 1903, now grown to $365, to buy books on the chemistry of coal tar, etc.; $1,000 given by pharmaceutical alumni as a research fund, augmented by $1,000 in 1918 from Regent A. J. Horlick, Racine, by another $1,000 from other sources later, and now totalling $4,181; The Judge Evan W. Evans, Baraboo, fund consisting of $2,000 given in 1919 for a memorial fund to further the interests and welfare of farmers near Spring Green and $75 given in 1911 by Philadelphia pharmacy graduates to maintain a set of the American Journal of Pharmacy.

WISCONSIN ALUMNI CLUBS

"Sit together, listen together, sing together, eat together, and you'll work together."

"The surest means of making a vigorous centralized Alumni Association is through the organization of local associations that help to crystallize alumni opinion, keep alive alumni loyalty by occasional social gatherings and celebrations, and that can function in a business or executive way on short notice."

AMES

By LAURA TOWNE, '14

PROF. S. W. Gilman, '99, spoke at Iowa State College, Ames, on the afternoon of February 24. The Wisconsin alumni who are in Ames gave a dinner for him at six o'clock and at that time reorganized the U. W. Club, which had not held a meeting for several years. Officers elected are: J. E. Brindley, '02, president, Laura Towne, '14, vice-president and secretary, E. B. Kurtz, '17, treasurer.

Those present were: Dr. J. E. Brindley, '02, W. E. Drips, '20, and Mrs. Drips (Mary Little, '18), Frank Robotka, '15, and Mrs. Robotka, V. E. Nelson, '12, and Mrs. Nelson (Katherine Johnson, '12), A. R. Lamb, '13, and Mrs. Lamb (Nellie Schwartz, '12), G. M. Fuller, '17, and Mrs. Fuller (Helen Uzzell, '19), H. J. Plagge, '10, and Mrs. Plagge, J. H. Griffith, '93, and Mrs. Griffith, William Kunerth, '04, and Mrs. Kunerth, E. B. Kurtz, '17, Laura Towne, '14, Frederica Shattuck, '05, Miss C. D. Griffith, Ruth Safford, '03, Mrs. Decker, Helen M. Colby, '20, L. B. Schmidt, and L. W. Butler.

CHICAGO ALUMNI

By C. L. BYRON, '08

Like all Wisconsin organizations, the Chicago U. W. Club is ever striving to improve conditions in a manner pleasing to its members and friends. One recent move to this end was effected on April 1, when we started to have our regular Friday noon luncheons at the Palmer House. With all due respect to the Chicago City Club, where we have had our luncheons for two years, it is felt that better and more food and better service for the same price is provided at the Palmer House. The North dining room on the second floor is reserved for us every Friday noon, luncheon being served promptly at 12:15. Accordingly it is planned that all meetings should close not later than 1:45.

Our meetings have taken on new life the past couple weeks, there being an increasing number of new faces and it is noted that most of the classes from that of Bishop Fallows, '59, down to the latest are well represented. H. C. Marks, '13, chairman of the Membership Committee is in the midst of conducting a membership drive and as a result thereof it is expected our attendance will be doubled.

At our April 1 meeting Judge William N. Gemmill of the Chicago Municipal Court talked exceedingly interestingly on "The Trials of the Witches," which took place in Salem, Mass. in 1692.

John W. O'Leary, vice-president of the Chicago Trust Co., a former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and a loyal Cornell graduate, on April 3, spoke to us in his characteristic and interesting style on "Present Business Conditions." Among other things he said: "The business balloon was rapidly reaching a bursting point and only the inevitable and natural deflation saved it." His well founded optimism made even the courageous Wisconsinites appear more radiant.

At this meeting Fred Silber, '94, our musical inspiration, played the piano and lead us in our good old Wisconsin songs. Harold Weld, '05, former Glee Club star, is now the recruiting officer and made an earnest plea for enlistments in the U. W. Club Vocal Reserve Force. As a result thereof, a quartette will sing at our next meeting and undoubtedly many meetings to come. It is expected that this department will grow in numbers and enthusiasm.

Walter Heymann, '14, chairman of our Athletic Committee, gave a very encouraging report at this meeting. His enthusiasm and efforts will count in a manner which in a short time will be apparent to all.

Israel Shrimski, ex'88, president of the General Alumni Association, made an appeal for support in his drive for an increased membership. Each person is hereby appointed a committee of one to obtain at least one new member for the Alumni Association.

O. W. Middleton, '07, chairman of the Luncheon Committee, is making himself famous for the good speakers he is securing for our meetings and making our luncheons generally successful.

We are happy to welcome back H. J. Smith, '77, our Club president. He and his wife spent a delightful three months traveling through the South Sea Islands. At one of our early meetings Mr. Smith is to tell of his trip. All who heard him tell of his trip to the Hawaiian Islands last year are looking forward to a second treat.

This article would not be complete if something were not said of the Esther Beach Revival Parties. The second one was held on Friday night April 1, in the Victorian Room of the Palmer House. The one hundred who attended this great success are looking forward to the third party to be held at the same place on May 5. It might be stated that these parties are preliminary to a series of monthly dances to be held next season.

Too much credit cannot be given to B. D. Burhoe, ex'13, O. W. Middleton, '07, and Alice Bemis, '18, for the unusual good time which these parties afford. Incidentally, it is found that these parties are causing increased interest between the unmarried Wisconsin girls and boys.

Alice Bemis for the girls and B. D. Burhoe for the boys compare notes before the parties and as a result thereof the shy or unacquainted boys are allotted charming partners for the parties. Burhoe took a little advantage of the situation at the last party for he took five girls.

You are all invited and we want you to attend our luncheons and parties. Come once and you will come again.

DETROIT ALUMNAE

By LUCY E. ROGERS, '18

"Don't envy alumnae clubs in other cities. Have one of your own," is the sentiment of University of Wisconsin alumnae in Detroit.

This spirit finally crystallized one March afternoon when about sixteen Wisconsin girls and women met at the call of Mrs. Edward Lange (Margaret Godfrey, '14) and of Mrs. George Winchester (Isabella Gamble, '15), at the residence of Mrs. Winchester. It was decided to organize a permanent club, which should meet the first Saturday of each month. Mrs. A. G. Crocker (Harriet Hutson, '08) was appointed chairman of a committee to effect the organization.

Those present included: Jean Patterson, '19, Katherine Wright, '11, Mrs. R. L. Hermann (Mildred Moore, ex'16), Florence Ackerman, '16, Nina Fjeldstad, '15, Mrs. A. G. Crocker (Harriet Hutson, '08), Mrs. S. G. Gulian (Alva Melaas, '08), Mrs. George Winchester (Isabella Gamble, '15), Mrs. Edward Lange (Margaret Godfrey, '14), Margaret Reinking, '20, Josephine Foote, '21, Mrs. C. A. Barry (Winifred Crane, '12), Mrs. R. W. Angstman (Genevieve Clarke, ex'10), Mrs. F. R. Whipple (Rosa Krause, ex'17), Esther Levitan, '12, and Lucy E. Rogers, '18.

Other alumnae reported to be in the city are Marion Corey, '19, Mrs. W. E. Green (Eleanor Gaik, '20), Hazel Hoag, '20, Helen Carlson, '20, the Misses Monroe, Mrs. Herbert Mandel (Elizabeth Fuller, ex'19), and Sonia Sinaiko, '19.

The first monthly luncheon of the Detroit U. W. Alumnae Club was a great success, judging by the enthusiasm and spirit manifested by the score of women who gathered in the Empire tea room on Saturday, April 2. Mrs. A. G. Crocker (Harriet Hutson, '08) acted as chairman and Lucy E. Rogers, '18, was made acting secretary.

Questions of eligibility to the club, a name, and dues were discussed and a committee composed of Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. W. E. Rauch (Edith Johnson '06), Mrs. George Winchester (Isabella Gamble, '15), Margaret Reinking, '20, and Lucy E. Rogers, '18), was appointed to consider drawing up of by-laws, which will be submitted at the May meeting. Permanent officers will be elected at the June meeting.

Those present were: Mrs. H. W. Drew (Alice M. Currie, '08), Florence Ackerman, '16, Jean Patterson, '19, Mrs. M. J. Casey ("Mugs" Cronin, '18), Lucy E. Rogers, '18, Mrs. W. E. Green (Eleanor Gaik, '20), Esther Levitan, '12, Katherine D. Wright, '11, Mrs. A. G. Crocker (Harriet Hutson, '08), Margaret Reinking, '20, Josephine A. Foote, '21, Mrs. R. W. Angstman (Genevieve Clark, ex'10), Mrs. J. J. Danhof, Jr. (Erma Mueller, '07), Mary A. Wheeler, '21, Hazel Hoag, '20, Helen Carlson, '20, Mrs. F. A. De Boos (Edna Confer, ex'09), Mrs. W. E. Rauch (Edith Johnson, '06), Mrs. George Winchester (Isabella Gamble, '15), and Nina Fjeldstad, '15.

The next meeting will be on May 7, at the Empire tea room. All women in Detroit and vicinity who have attended the University in regular or summer session are invited to attend. Anyone who wishes to get in touch with the club may call Mrs. Crocker at Garfield 1653-R, or Miss Rogers at Cherry 6600.

One interesting result of our newspaper publicity was that a lady out in Port Huron, Mich., who had attended Wisconsin in '77, and '78, and is an ex'81, wrote to Mrs. Lange, saying that she would like to come to our gatherings since she was very interested. I'd like to get her picture and send in a little story about her, if she turns up some time.

I read the letter about membership in the Association to the group and I am sure you will get results soon. Some are considering taking out Life Membership. We were very thrilled over the directory—I brought my copy along and everyone fell upon it. I think it is very good and it certainly is acceptable to alumni everywhere. Thank you very much for my copy.

We are writing Chicago and Minneapolis and perhaps New York for suggestions in regard to by-laws.

We hope that some one from the University will be coming out this way soon, for we are all pepped up to give such a representative a hearty welcome.

The last time I rode home on the bus, I saw a man across the aisle draw a WISCONSIN ALUMNI MAGAZINE out of his portfolio and begin to read it. So you see one comes across Wisconsin products everywhere.

INDIANAPOLIS

By J. W. OLIVER, '15

The most enthusiastic meeting ever held by Wisconsin Alumni of Indianapolis, was that of Saturday night, March 12.

Prof. A. B. Hall, a native Hoosier, came all the way from Madison to address us. R. S. Crawford, '03, General Secretary of the Wisconsin Alumni Association, was also present and made a most interesting and "peppy" talk on the latest happenings around the "Old Hill." If anyone doubts that "Bob" Crawford is an interesting after-dinner talker, he should have heard him tell about the social and academic events that are taking place on the campus. We certainly want Crawford to make us a visit at least once a year hereafter.

"Doc" Hall was at his best. One moment he had the whole group of diners howling with mirth, and in the next moment he had us engaged in that deep and serious thought which characterizes all graduates of the Badger University. The manner in which he stressed the responsibility that rests upon every Wisconsin man and woman was most effective, and he caused us to re-dedicate ourselves to the ideals for which the University stands, and for which Professor Hall is himself one of its greatest spokesmen.

Some seventy odd alumni and former students, including several from over the state, gathered around the festal board, and following the dinner engaged in songs, dancing, and a genuine old Badger mixer. R. W. Hills, ex'15, of the Community Service, Inc., one of the most enthusiastic of all Wisconsin former students, was present and directed the singing and yells.

The officers elected for the year are: C. F. Wernicke, '13, president, Mary B. Orvis, '07, vice-president, D. W. Flickinger, '16, secretary-treasurer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

By LOUISE EVANS, ex'09, Secy.

1801 Eye St., N. W.

Heigh Ho: Washington, D. C.! With the passing of the war, the readjustment in the great army and navy activities in Washington, and the return to "normalcy"—once again the Washington U. W. Club blossoms forth in its springtime vigor to rally the alumni for the good times of old.

While weddings and illness among some of the members of the steering committee, together with the departure of some of the members from the city, have tended to act as the Jack Frost of the Association, the interest is not dead, and the committee will soon have something really definite to announce.

A beginning was made March 31, when the officers were entertained by the secretary at the Red Cross Woman's Club. During the evening, future plans for the Association were discussed and a live committee appointed to make arrangements for a dinner and spring program. A letter from the Edwin Booth Dramatic Society, announcing the production of the Varsity Movie, "Not Responsible," was read with delight. It was felt that such a movie with the Campus in action would prove of great interest, not only to the alumni, but also to the general public.

It was decided to obtain further information immediately as to the conditions under which the film is to be released, with a view to showing it in Washington as soon as possible.

The officers met again April 8 at the home of Arthur Luedke, '10, and Mrs. Luedke (Ruth Bauske, ex'18) to receive reports and determine definitely upon the dinner, the movie and the spring program.

All Washington Alumni please send your name and address on a post card at once to the secretary so that you will not be omitted from the invitation list, and then watch the daily news notices for the first big stunt.

The baseball team, now on its spring trip, looks good and with 10 to 1 and 13 to 0 victories in the two preliminary games which the weather permitted them to play against Northwestern College and Beloit College, got away to a good start. There are eight regulars of the 1920 team, who are better ball players than their team record would indicate, injuries and sickness having played havoc with the Badger nine last year. For some years Wisconsin baseball has suffered from lack of pitching material, but the present staff of Williams, Miller, Paddock, Christensen, Pickford and Hoffman would indicate that Wisconsin will be strong in this department of the game. Allen Davey will no doubt do most of the receiving with Barry and Vanderhoof ready to relieve him if necessary. Captain Elliott will take excellent care of his old position at shortstop, with Jack Williams at first base, Carson Lyman, "W" man, at second, and Farrington, another regular and "W" man of last year, at third. Pat Snow, Duke Ceaser and Rollie Williams, make up an outfield that is bound to give an excellent account of itself.

The track team are preparing for their first outdoor event, the Drake Relays, where they expect to enter the one mile and four mile events. Competition is keen for places on the team. The men trying out for the one mile are Captain Nasli, Paul Kayser, L. P. Klug, E. W. Johnson, L. W. McClure, and W. J. Post. On the four mile, Mark Wall, Wellington Brothers, George Finkle, Henry Dennis, Clarence Wille, and Ross Noble are making a fight for places. A. J. Knollin will enter the special event of the 120 yard hurdle.

Wisconsin expects to be represented this year at the Penn Relays with the distance medley team, and with entries in the special events of Dale Merrick and Lloyd Wilder in the pole vault, and Al Knollin in the 120 and 440 yard hurdles. Wisconsin is well and favorably known at Penn where for a number of years she established enviable records, and the alumni, I am sure, will be glad to know that they are again to be represented in this national meet.

Crew

There is lots of excitement along the lake shore these days and it certainly seems like old times to hear "Dad" Vail shouting out orders through the megaphone and see the shells shoot through the water. Although the authorities have decided that it will take a year to develop a Varsity crew to represent us at Poughkeepsie, an interesting program has been arranged for this spring. On May 28, Interscholastic Day, The Varsity Eight will meet the Lincoln Park Boat Club of Chicago on Lake Mendota, the Second Varsity taking on the crew of St. John's Military Academy. Intercollege races are scheduled for the same day, and promise to help make the Spring Regatta a success. Wisconsin will also be represented in the Mid-Western Regatta at Duluth on June 25 by both the Varsity and Junior Eights. S. Samp, stroke on the Varsity crew, has been chosen as captain. Other members of the Varsity Eight are, W. Sanderson (7), R. Heidbreder (6), J. Platten (5), F. C. Prehn, (4), C. B. Puestow (3), R. C. Klussendorf (2), G. Toepffer (1) with Ed Hanley as Coxswain.

BOOK NOTES

It is intended to notice in this department books and other publications by alumni, students, and faculty of this University. Reviews in most cases will be by alumni. To insure attention it is urged that copies of publications be sent in immediately upon publication to

ALUMNI HEADQUARTERS

Buddy Ballads (G. H. Doran & Co., New York) by Berton Braley, '05, is a little volume of less than 120 pages containing over fifty poems. This book of verse about American soldiers is dedicated to Leslie Quirk (ex '04), M. T. D., A. E. F.

"In accents syncopated" and "in slang of field and street" Braley treats all phases of the soldier's life and activity, never forgetting that "the true heroic spirit" is in "the undertone." Humor and pathos, jest and seriousness are skillfully interwoven in this collection of verse in such a way as to give the reader a representative cross-section of the life of the American soldier and of his association with the Allies from the time he left for the training camp, through his journey across the sea, in action, and until his return. In health and in sickness, in jubilation and in speculation, the vocabulary is that of the soldier as he was rather than the stately phraseology of heroic verse. Yet Braley's verses never let one feel that flippancy is more than skin deep. Surely our pride and faith in America as a melting pot is strengthened when we read the description of the battalion from New York's east side, particularly how this battalion refused to surrender when cut off and surrounded.

"'Death,' the Teutons signalled, 'is your certain fate,

But if you surrender we will treat you well.'
Brief, profane, immortal was their answer, straight;

Shouted, all together, 'You can go to Hell.'"

There is a strong tone of reverence in the verses entitled "The Two Crosses," where we are reminded that the White Cross and Red Cross shall do the work of God.

How the American patriot kept in concealment such a sacred thing as his own patriotism is charmingly shown in the verses entitled "Hidden Things."

"We talk of many things, but not
Of what we are fighting for"

"For that's one of the deeper things

That fellows always shove

Way out of sight, like thoughts of God

And those of Her you love,

The truer things, the greater things

We shrink from speaking of."

Breadth of view towards foe and friend is shown in such poems as "Tribute,"

"Frenchy," "The little Guy," and

"Tommy."

"Fritz? He is all you say,

Bandit and Hun, that guy;"

"Nevertheless it is true

Little of Fritz can fly."

* * *

"We called 'em Frogs, an' they called us
Yanks,

But brothers we was, ah, oui."

* * *

"And the soul of that kid is the soul of France,
The world's great hope and the Hun's despair.

The boy's not much to a careless glance,

But the son of a gun has the Croix de Guerre!"

* * *

"Tommy, oh Tommy, here's to you, old dear,

We can't agree, though the reason ain't clear

But when the game is to shatter the Hun,

Tommy, oh Tommy, w e fight him as one."

The titles of the verses given and the quotations may lead to the idea that the book will appeal primarily to men who have been in service. As a matter of fact, this collection of verse is so broad in its appeal that it should find a very general audience. Much of the verse in this volume had appeared in popular magazines. Readers of those magazines will, we are sure, welcome this attractive collection in a single volume, as will also those who did not have the opportunity to see many of these poems before the Doran volume appeared.

In conclusion of this altogether too brief and scattered review of a volume which is worthy of more than passing attention from all Wisconsin men and women, no student from this University can read the lines of "Ambition,"

"But the tunes men sing where the earth and sky
Are spewing death, are the tune whose thrill
Is somehow magical, fine and high,"

without thinking of our own great tune "On Wisconsin" that the war made international.

DEATHS

Mrs. G. E. GARY (Elizabeth Vilas, ex'98), of Madison, died in Chicago on April 7. She had been in ill health for several years.

Mrs. Gary was the daughter of the late Judge L. M. Vilas, '63, and was born in Eau Claire, Aug. 8, 1876. She is survived by her husband, a son, Charles, attending the University, and a daughter, Katheryn.

JAMES THOMPSON, '99, La Crosse attorney, died on April 6, from a ruptured appendix. Mr. Thompson was prominent in the politics of the State of Wisconsin. He was twice candidate for United States senator in the republican primaries and last November ran as an independent candidate. Although defeated he polled over 240,000 votes, about six times as many as were ever before polled by an independent candidate. He was also delegate-at-large to the Republican convention in 1916 and 1920. He served two terms as district attorney.

Mr. Thompson is survived by his widow, a twin brother, Judge George Thompson, '99, and a sister.

CHARLES MCCARTHY

*"When the high heart we magnify,
And the sure vision celebrate,
And worship greatness passing by,
Ourselves are great."*

The University lost a devoted son, a true alumnus, the State a self-sacrificing, courageous, able servant, and the world a man of vision in the death of DR. CHARLES MCCARTHY, '01, on March 26. Lung trouble, contracted while serving in France under Hoover, was the cause of this untimely death.

Counselor of presidents, advisor of administrators, student of world affairs, Charles McCarthy developed neither pride nor aloofness, maintaining ever a democratic attitude, notwithstanding his recognized position as one of America's most distinguished law makers.

He was born in Massachusetts. His parents were able to give him but brief education in the public schools. Tiring of apprenticeship to a shoemaker, he ran away to sea where he read the books the ship's library afforded. At the end of the first voyage he applied for admission to Brown. Denied entrance by the dean, he took his case directly to President Andrews who granted the request. McCarthy worked his way through Brown, made the All-American football team, and received a bachelor's degree in 1896.

Recovering from an illness following his attempt to get to Cuba after the enlistment board had refused, for physical reasons, to admit him to the army, he entered the Law School of the University of Georgia, where he paid his college expenses by coaching the football team. He left Georgia to study under Dr. Ely at Wisconsin where he received his doctorate in '01. In 1913 Brown awarded him the LL.D. degree.

Wisconsin athletes recall his services as one of the football coaches here and students of political science remember his lectures in this University. But it is in legislation that he made his great international reputation in the pioneer work of developing the Wisconsin Legislative Reference Library. For more than a decade nearly all important legislation in Wisconsin has been formulated through Dr. McCarthy's assistance. Indeed we may truly say

*".....presiding everywhere
Upon event was one man's character.
And that endures, it is the token sent Always to man for man's own gov. ernment."*

As long as democratic government continues his never-dying spirit will continue to exert immeasurable influence for good in this vast field.

For years the official publication of the Wisconsin Alumni Association carried over the modest signature, "An Alumnus," the following statement:

"I, a wandering student, seeking knowledge, came knocking at the gates of the great University of Wisconsin, and it took me in, filled me with inspiration, and when I left its doors the kindly people of the State stretched out welcoming hands and gave me a man's work to do."

"An Alumnus" was Charles McCarthy—native son of Massachusetts, hero of Brown University, servant by choice of Wisconsin. For years he has been an active, interested, influential member of our General Alumni Association. "May his spirit never die" for surely he was "a loyal son and true." Great were his accomplishments for American Democracy and for International Brotherhood in the comparatively few years granted him for Service. Not as a mere duty but with zealous pleasure, which brought him the highest of all joys, he served his fellow men. He labored not for gain, honor, power, nor fame, but for the joy of the working "for the Gods of the Things as they are."

and served as president of the organization in 1886-87. He presided at the alumni banquet in June 1887, sitting between President Bascom, the outgoing president, and President Chamberlain, who at that time assumed the duties of his official position. "Another thing which made the Commencement of 1887 particularly interesting to me," he continues, "was that the Class of 1872 then celebrated the 15th anniversary of its graduation and there was quite a large proportion of the members of the Class present. In fact, the Class of '72 had its first reunion on the 10th anniversary, and has had a reunion at the end of each subsequent five year period." Three sons of Mr. Montgomery have graduated from Wisconsin. They are Charles C., '97, Gray, '99, and Harry G., '07.

The address of E. A. Hook is 11 Winter Ave., New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.—REV. A. J. McCARTNEY recently completed his first decade as pastor of the Kenwood Evangelical church, Greenwood Ave. and 46th St., Chicago. After graduating from Wisconsin, Doctor McCartney studied at Princeton Theological Seminary, and spent a year in graduate study at Oxford and Glasgow. He served as pastor in Presbyterian churches at Mount Jackson and Sharon, Pa., before going to Chicago.—HARVEY HOLMES of Pocatello, Idaho, writes: "In the February issue, page 78, I noted the Cardinal editorial 'Active Alumni.' It strongly brings to mind the parable of the parents who had some of their children scouring the woods for dry limbs in order to have a fine bonfire while they had the rest of the family throwing water on the fire making it smoke and sputter. If the writer of 'Active Alumni' could look on the matter from the outside he would probably be convinced that the students and professors at Wisconsin invite, directly or indirectly, a large per cent of any criticism that comes their way. First, the student reporters appear to give more space to yellow journalism and semi-canards than to intrinsic news. The student reporters, in the past and present, have been unfortunate in that they, in order to get a dollar or two more, send out the calamity 'stuff', conveying to those outside the University, subject matter on which to build scandal and criticism. About half they write, if left unsaid, would leave the world and their school much happier, for, as you know, any agitator can readily get a following. Wisconsin reporters fill the press and outsiders with adverse stuff while most other colleges send news complimentary of their own institution and students or send none.

Second, the faculty are joint partners with the scandal reporters. They, like a city council, instead of eradicating evils, license them, even to the point of having a Senate which says in effect, 'We permit and protect you in rowdiness; go out and throw a fellow in the ice water; we stand back of lawlessness.' The property, liberty and sometimes it has been almost life of any student is not protected. Hazing as it exists at Wisconsin, is a left-over of barbaric times. It is disgraceful as well as shameful for any institution to have a Senate composed of faculty and students that says, 'We uphold, license, and permit hoodlumism, just do it our fashion and we will protect you.' It is to be wondered at, that more serious conditions have not arisen. Is it not time for the great University of Wisconsin to show enough of culture and civilized progress to take the stand that the lives, liberty and property of its students are to be protected and not jeopardized?"

DR. I. B. CROSS, professor of economics at the University of Calif., has recently been made an honorary member of the State Building Trades Council of California, in recognition, as the president of the Council said, "of Dr. Cross' great services on behalf of Organized Labor." A few weeks earlier he was also elected an honorary member of the A. I. of B., the educational department of the American Bankers' Association, because of his activities for several years past in furthering the educational work of the Institute in California. — R. G. WALTERS is assistant general superintendent of the Wisconsin River Power Co. His address is 900 Gay Bldg., Madison.—W. H. INBUSCH writes: "I am very glad to see that under the able leadership of our President Israel Shrimski a very concerted effort is being made to increase the number of our memberships in the Alumni Association and especially in the Life Memberships. On compliance with the appeal made recently in the ALUMNI MAGAZINE, I am sending enclosed a Liberty Bond in payment of a Life Membership."

REUNION YEAR

"Forward," that historic figure which crowns the dome of the State Capitol should face about during Commencement week this year and instead of pointing eastward over Lake Monona should point to Lake Mendota and the University where the 1906 class will hold its third five-year reunion this year.

If you were proud of your 1906 class fifteen years ago, if you admired the University of Wisconsin then, come and see the transformation that has taken place,—and be thrice proud.

Years ago fire destroyed the old dome on Main Hall. That is the one painful report to make since graduation. But all about have sprung up a score of buildings and down toward Camp Randall in front of "Ag" Hall there is now being built a $1,500,000 State hospital for the care of students and for the treatment of others.

No one can tell you the whole story. Like Thomas you will have to see the transformation to believe. John Bryce, once the English Ambassador to America, on a visit to Madison insisted that he would not leave until he could see the old Indian mounds on the crest of Observatory Hill. That was a little scene. How much greater interest it will be for you, members of the class that left the institution fifteen years ago, to come back and see what the people of this State are now doing for your Alma Mater.

Think you that you know about the old University? Just come back and see her now in all her glory. Your wife and family will appreciate this trip as much as any other that could be made in America. Two days of reunions before commencement; two days to become acquainted with the men and women of your class who have gone out into the world to work and achieve. What a recounting of experiences! Men and women of the Class of 1906 are now in their prime of life. Now is the time and the opportunity to come back for a visit to the old University homestead. Maternal love should guide your footsteps homeward this year. We will all be here to welcome you back.

(OTTO KOWALKE at the Chemical Engineering Building, Madison, will act as collector for suggestions regarding your entertainment.)

DON MOWRY, secretary of the Madison Association of Commerce, has been appointed State advisor of Wisconsin to assist the Board of Directors of the National Association of Commerce Organization Secretaries. One secretary has been chosen in each state to assist in the work. The advisors will assist in the convention programs, the national summer school work, the organization publication, the placement bureau and in administrative affairs.—G. J. JENISTA recently moved to 5337 Race Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Another month and Madisonites will be seeing a trusty Ford, distinguished by a California license number and the dust of a cross-country trail, come trundling down State street. It will need no lamps, for Elizabeth Kelley's red head will be gleaming from over the wheel. She'll have a passenger or two, no doubt. Imogene Kriskey, whose strong right arm is useful at re-tiring times, and maybe Dorothy Lewis will be along to beguile the both of them with her fascinating lisp. Or is the report we hear of a New Jersey partnership for Dorothy true? We hope they'll stop by the way to gather up Ruth Glassow and Mary Elwell. And how can Sixteen really reunite without a few from the East coast as well as the West? Harry Benedict with a brand-new bride, and Buddie Stewart Campbell, whose specialty also nowadays is advising everyone to be married, and Margaret Wahl, ditto. Wonder if we can expect to tear Honora English and Vera Spinney away from the absorbing pursuit of dietetics? Wonder if Gen Deming doesn't look up occasionally from the sea of adjectives on a dummy ad to long for the sparkle of Mendota spray? Wonder if we can count on Anita Pleuss to wend her winning way amongst us? Wonder if Helen Van Arsdale's sunny smile will be there to bless us? Wonder if the handsome bronze complexion George Appleyard acquired overseas has worn off any yet? Wonder if Helen Jane Zillmer, M. D., will be on hand to preserve us from the effects of too much celebration?

T. H. KERNAN, oil geologist, may be addressed at Apartado 150, Tampico, Tamps, Mexico.—JOHN DUNCAN, 102 S. Gillen Co., Wells Bldg., Milwaukee.—“WILLIAM FOSTER CLIFFORD is now assistant to Ralph Starr Butler, advertising manager of The United States Rubber Co., New York. W. F. is getting gray around the temples in spite of his youth, and when he rides up in the elevator with Colonel Colt, chairman of the board, and gets off at the 19th or 'president's floor' of the big U. S. building at Broadway and Columbus Circle, one can hardly imagine him running the Cardinal and almost getting severely disciplined on account of a certain April 1 edition supposedly issued by the co-eds seven long years ago.”—A. ## THE CHANGING ORDER

In 1875, when the students carried up wood for their class-room fires, and the girls, altho beautiful as all Wisconsin girls are, had such quaint ideas as to dress; when they spoke of home-made knitted things; when "Browning was lovely"; when the boys had things they do not have now; when it was a jolly experience to ride on the horse-cars in Chicago, and when Mansfield was magnificent; when they turned out scholars; when "business" was merely "business".

In 1921, when Professor Gilman counts 50 taxicabs lined up on the drive; when the girls speak openly of chiton stockings to match grey suede shoes; and when "skirts scorn acquaintance with the ground"; when students speak glibly of eight percents, ten percents, and three per cents, and the modern demand in all things is "Kick"; when the students speak of the lovely costumes in "Mecca", and "how delightful is Ann Pennington", and the national song seems to be "Margie", but, when the demand is for discussion into labor problems, transportation, finance, advertising, and when industry is the foundation of statecraft, and world trade and world politics invite the college graduate.

CAMPUS NOTES

The annual joint convention of the Wisconsin Academy of Science, Arts, and Letters, and of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society, was held in Madison on April 15 and 16. The colleges of the State, Beloit, Lawrence, and Ripon, and many Wisconsin cities, were represented. President Birge at that time retired as head of the Academy.

The Mississippi Valley Historical Association held its thirteenth annual meeting in Madison on April 14, 15, and 16.

Students of the Department of Journalism went to Chicago on April 13 on a tour of inspection. Among the places visited were the office of the Chicago Evening American, the plant of the Western Newspaper Union, the Barnes-Crosby Engraving plant, the Associated Press Office, the new Tribune plant, the Chicago offices of the Medill School of Journalism, and the Herald Examiner plant.

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity, initiated 37 members of the faculty and 52 senior men and women in April. Members are selected annually from the senior class for scholastic excellence and prominence in campus affairs. The faculty initiates are: Lelia Bascom, '02, W. G. Bleyer, '96, H. C. Bradley, L. J. Cole, J. R. Commons, L. W. Dowling, R. T. Ely, J. S. Evans, E. B. Fred, E. A. Gilmore, E. B. Gordon, E. B. Hart, E. G. Hastings, '99, T. L. Jones, '96, G. W. Keitt, '14, Otto Kowalke, '06, E. J. Mrs. Mary D. Bradford, superintendent of the Kenosha public schools since 1910, has tendered her resignation to the Board of Education to become effective June 30. She has been engaged in educational work forty-five years and her methods have attracted the attention of school authorities in all parts of the United States. She was at one time head of the Wisconsin State Teachers' Association. In 1917 Mrs. Bradford was presented with a master's degree by the University for "indefatigable and effective service in the State as a teacher and a trainer of teachers, as a superintendent of schools, and as a student of educational problems."

A class of 100 students graduated from the two year short course in agriculture on March 17. This year's class makes a total of nearly 6,000 students who have completed the course since its beginning in 1885.

Sterling H. Tracy, '22, of Memphis, Tenn., will represent Wisconsin in the thirty-second annual Northern Oratorical League contest at the University of Iowa on May 6. In the final tryout held on March 25 Tracy gave a masterful oration on Anglo-American relations entitled "Britain and America in the New World." He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, president of Philomathia, a member of the Student Senate, editorial writer on the Daily Cardinal, and a member of the Forensic Board.

Though our non-resident students now pay much higher tuition than do non-resident students at any other state university, they will be forced to pay more than one hundred per cent increase next year if the Perry Bill passes. This bill provides a non-resident tuition fee of

$250 more than now charged at Illinois,

$235 more than now charged at Iowa,

$195 more than now charged at Michigan,

$210 more than now charged at Minnesota,

$250 more than now charged at Ohio.

Indeed, the proposed fee of $300 is from fifty to one hundred dollars greater than the fees now charged in various colleges of the great endowed university, Harvard.

The first mounted unit of the student military corps is to be established at the University this spring. The unit will be organized by Major J. S. Wood as soon as 16 horses to be supplied by the War Department arrive.

Seven courses in journalism and advertising will be given at the 1921 Summer Session. Reporting, copy reading, editorial writing, writing of special articles, history of journalism, principles of journalism, and teaching of journalistic writing in high schools and colleges are the subjects to be taught. Practical experience in reporting will be given in connection with Madison daily papers.

A series of tests that may result in a radical change of the present steel making methods are now being conducted by several large steel corporations on a process invented and patented recently by Prof. R. S. McCaffery, of the Department of Mining and Metallurgy of the School of Engineering. The invention is an improvement on the acid Bessemer steel process which aims to reduce the cost of making steel and to decrease the possibility of low quality steel in the process.

The annual senior "Swing Out" will be held on Friday night, June 3.

A police court to administer quick justice to violators of University traditions has been established by the Student Senate in cooperation with the sophomore class. Any sophomore who finds a freshman violating the rules may bring him before the senate police court which holds session in the Union Building every noon from 12 o'clock to 1:30.

Regent Theodore Hammond gave a banquet at the University Club, Madison, on March 18, for the 31 students attending the University from Wauwatosa.

Prof. E. B. Gordon, of the School of Music, was elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Music Supervisors' National Association at their recent conference in St. Joseph, Mo.

Prof. Victor Lenher, of the Department of Chemistry, recently gave a week's series of lectures on his discoveries of the new uses of selenium and tellurium at the University of Nebraska under the auspices of the University of Nebraska and of the Nebraska section of the American Chemical Society. The solvent properties of selenium oxychloride, now the most powerful solvent known to science, were discovered by Doctor Lenher.

Pythia won over Castalia by a vote of 2 to 1 in their second annual open joint debate. Pythia upheld the negative of the question, Resolved, that the Philippines be given an independence equal to that of Cuba.

The Wesley Foundation of Wisconsin, the representative of the Methodist Episcopal church on the campus, offers 21 scholarships this semester, varying in amounts from $100 to $400 for the school year. The Foundation also recommends each year three seniors for religious, educational, medical, or other post-graduate work.

A bequest of $20,000 has been left to the University by the will of Mrs. Mary J. Eickelberg, of Horicon. Marquette University, and Lawrence, Ripon, Beloit and Carroll colleges each received $20,000 also.

Mr. John Callahan, newly elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, becomes one of the ex-officio members of the Board of Regents, when he takes office on July first.

Mr. Callahan brings to State service over thirty years of experience in Wisconsin public schools—three years in the country schools of Pierce county, eight years in Glenwood City, three years at New Richmond, and seventeen at Menasha. He is State Director of Federal Vocational Education and has had additional valuable experience as conductor of Teachers' Institutes, president of the N. W. Teachers' Association, president of the N. E. T. A., president of the State T. A., as well as a member of the Teachers' Legislative Committee for the last decade.

JOHN CALLAHAN

Superintendent Callahan has the natural democratic qualities which have unconsciously made him a "good fellow" in the best sense. Few citizens of this State can boast of a larger number of loyal friends and we would refuse to wager that any equally prominent citizen has fewer enemies.

High points from Mr. Callahan's campaign platform were: cooperation, a constructive, continuous, rural school policy, economical and efficient administration, observation of budget limitations, reduction of inspection through coordinations improvement of rural schools.

ADDRESSES WANTED

Mr. McCaffrey, secretary of the Regents, desires the addresses of the following:

Chin Golf! Out in 38—and coming easy!

DO you play Chin Golf? It is the latest popular game. Play it Winter or Summer; at home or at your club.

Chin Golf is not a 19th hole proposition—nothing like stove baseball or conversational tennis, but a regular indoor sport.

Any man who shaves himself can play it. Count your razor strokes when you shave, and see how low a score you can make. It puts fun and friendly rivalry into shaving.

If you are a golfer, you will get the idea at once; but, even if you never have schlafterd with a driver, nicked with a niblick, or been bunkered, you may be a winner at Chin Golf.

You are sure to like the course and have a good score if you use Colgate's "Handy Grip" Shaving Stick.

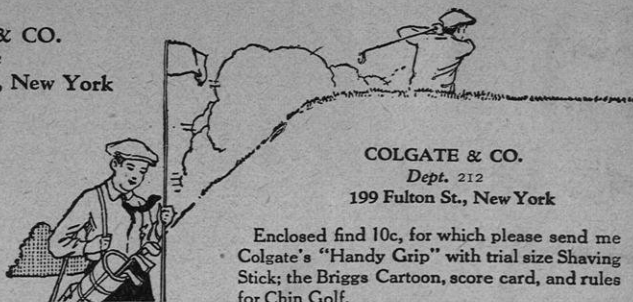

Fill out the attached coupon, mail it to us, with 10c in stamps, and we will send you a "Handy Grip," containing a trial size Colgate Shaving Stick. Also we will send you, free, a score card, the rules for playing Chin Golf, and a screamingly funny picture made especially for Colgate & Co. by Briggs, the famous cartoonist.

The picture is on heavy paper, suitable for framing or tacking up in locker rooms. It will help you to start every day with a round of fun.

"And then he took up Chin Golf"
