STUDENT SENATE ELECTS OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES

Denounces Those Responsible For Fraudulent Voting at Junior Elections

Passage of a resolution denouncing the action of students responsible for the fraudulent balloting in the class elections last Friday and an expression of confidence in the student court in its investigation of the matter was the chief business of the Student senate at its organization meeting last night in the office of President Birge. Election of officers and committee members occupied the attention of the body for the rest of the meeting.

Temporary chairman Harold A. Seering '24, called the meeting to order and asked President Birge to address the members of the new senate on behalf of the university.

Birge Addresses Senators

In addressing the senators President Birge said that he was willing and anxious to lend advice and counsel whenever the senators should need it, but he said that self government was the work of the students, and it was not the part of the faculty to interfere. The president urged the senate to take a definite stand on several existing conditions in campus and student affairs.

After President Birge retired the senate proceeded with the election of officers for the year. Harold A. Seering was elected president and Llewellyn R. Cole '24 was elected secretary-treasurer.

Elect Committees

Elections of the various senate committees were as follows:

Executive—Edwin H. Rohrbeck '24, chairman, Wes W. Dunlap '25, Harold A. Seering, ex-officio member.

Judiciary—Harold R. Maier, chairman, Harold A. Cranefield '25, Ellis G. Fulton '25.

Elections—William Wittenberg '24, chairman, John C. Dawson '24, Wes W. Dunlap '25, Lorraine A. Murray '26, Paul K. Robertson '24.

Joint government—John C. Dawson '24, chairman, Edwin H. Rohrbeck '24, Harold R. Maier '24.

To Revise Law Books

The executive committee was instructed to prepare a revised edition of the laws and government of the senate. The new booklet will contain the constitution of all constituent bodies as well. The present editions of the booklet are several years old and many of the provisions contained in them are out of date.

The resolution passed by the senate in regard to the election last Friday is as follows:

Whereas, there was apparent

PRESS DELEGATES NEED MORE ROOM

Three Sororities and Fourteen Fraternities Have So Far Offered Quarters

Only 3 sororities and 14 fraternities have replied to the appeal for rooms for delegates to the Central Interscholastic Press Association convention to be held November 30 to December 1. These answers care for only 72 out of the 700 high school students who are expected to come to Madison from every part of the country for the meeting.

"It is imperative that we have all available rooms," said Roy French, chairman of the housing committee. "The fraternity or sorority who gives these guests a room will not be expected to provide any meals or entertainment. The convention will keep them busy from early morning until late in the evening. On Saturday night, a dance is being planned which will mean that they will be away of a party organization for

Instead of having one party for all the districts, each of the seventeen districts will have a party of its own this year.

BABCOCK AWARDED NATIONAL HONORS

Buttermakers Will Present Gold Medal to Noted Badger Today

Dr. S. M. Babcock, inventor of the famous Babcock test and other devices instrumental in revolutionizing the dairy business, will be presented this afternoon with the gold medal, annually bestowed by the National Buttermakers' association upon an outstanding leader in the dairy business.

Announcing the honor to Dr. Babcock, Prof. M. Mortenson, Ames, Ia., president of the association, declared the famous Badger and Dr. Gustave De Laval, inventor of the Le Laval separator, were the outstanding figures in the industry last year.

Dr. De Laval is dead but the association desires to show Dr. Babcock its esteem while he is living, Professor Mortenson said. Usually the medal is awarded only after the retirement of the recipient. Last year it was presented to E. Sundersdorf, Chicago, who was the first superintendent of the national dairy show.

1925 BADGER IS MONTH AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

With the work on the 1925 Badger progressing rapidly the circulation department is determined to pass all previous circulation records.

The editorial and business work is far ahead of the schedule and with more time in which to work this year's Badger promises to be a live book, depicting a complete record of the activities of the year.

Practically all organizations have signed up for their pages and the senior section is complete—a month ahead of last year's schedule.

Most members of both editorial and business staffs volunteered to work or are veteran members of annual staffs, according to Willis Sullivan, business manager.

GIRL SLIGHTLY HURT IN FORD COUPE CRASH

David Atwood, 414 N. Livingston street, a sophomore in the university, was run into by a street car at 1:30 o'clock yesterday when he was attempting to turn into Sterling court from State street in his Ford coupe. His sister, Mary Atwood was in the car with him and suffered minor injuries. She is a junior in the College of Letters and Science.

Atwood's car was swung in toward the curb where it bumped into an Oakland touring car belonging to Renn Hemingway, who was in the Phi Kappa Psi house at the time.

Two wheels were torn from Hemingway's car and other damage was done. Spectators claim that the street car conductor was not at fault.

PRESBYTERIAN DRIVE GOES $100 OVER TOP

The Presbyterian finance campaign went $100 over the quota of $2000, last night. The funds are to be used to finance the Presbyterian house and its activities for the coming year.

Anna Case Thrills Audience by Charm of Exquisite Voice

Anna Case, American soprano, charmed, with her exquisite voice, personality and versatile dramatic art an audience which filled the auditorium of Christ Presbyterian church last night, when she sang there under the auspices of the All-Star concert series. Charles Gilvert Spross accompanied Miss Case.

"The Night Wind," by Farley, was one of the most effective numbers of the program. The Rimsky-Korsakov "Song of India" was received by the audience with greatest applause, and a French lyric "Sing the Love of Jean," sung in French, was received with enthusiasm.

Singer Gives Encores

Two Tchaikowsky works, "Cradle Song" and a love song, "Tote Mich, Aber Liebe Mich," were included in the program. Miss Case sang the love song with highly dramatic effect. Both presentations displayed her versatile acting and expression.

A lyric "Robin, Robin, Sing Me a Song" composed by Mr. Spross, her accompanist, was sung by Miss Case as an encore. "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water" was also song among her encores.

Other songs on the program were Garratt's "Prayer," the lament "Ariana," by Claudio Monteverde, and "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" by Handel. "Synnove's Song," by H. Kjerulf, two of Brahms compositions "Therese" and "Der Schmied," and several songs in French were included in the concert.

FUNDS ARE NEEDED TO MEET PAYROLLS

Legislature May Meet in Special Session to Consider Relief For State Schools

A special session of the legislature may be called by the emergency board, Friday, to provide funds for the university and the nine state normals, left without an appropriation by the 1923 legislature.

Gov. J. G. Blaine will head the board, and J. D. Phillips, business manager for the university, will set forth the needs of the university.

The payroll of the university will be made up in November and cannot be met without additional help in some departments. The extension department has had a large increase in the staff, and it is imperative that the appropriation be raised during the coming year.

It is believed that Governor Blaine may grant the request for more funds without calling the special session, as he is reported to have said that he believes this a more economical method of obtaining funds than calling a legislature which might arrive at a deadlock again.

Foreign Flashes

PARIS, Nov. 7.—French experts are drawing up plans for the proposed conference to discuss Germany's capacity to pay reparations. The program will be submitted to England before being sent to the United States as an invitation to participate in the conference.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Anti-semitic rioting calmed today when the Jews of the Barn quarter put placards on display which declared that they were Christians and announced the number of loaves of bread they had given to the poor.

WARSAW, Nov. 7.—Twenty-two persons were killed and 60 wounded in riots and bombing which grew out of a railroad strike. The riots occurred in spite of a promise from the socialists to end the strike if the government would withdraw the military from the railroad.

NOVEMBER LIT GOES ON SALE NEXT MONDAY

Replete with work by writers new to the campus, the November Lit will go on sale next Monday. A story by the Chicago author, Vincent Starret, and Baudaire translations are featured.

ENGLISH SCHOLAR ADDRESSES S. G. A.

Miss Kelman Describes Conditions of Women Engaged in Industry

"When freedom and cooperation hinder each other, freedom easily gives in if the goal is kept constantly and clearly in view, and is worthy enough. This is why I believe that, no matter how many times it has to be remade, nations will complete the machinery for international peace. The aim is big enough."

Miss Janet Harvey Kelman, the British scholar, recently returned from India, where she has been studying women in industrial conditions, presented this view before the S. G. A. board in the Lathrop parlors last night. The subject of her speech was "Liberty and Cooperation."

Miss Kelman emphasized the impossibility of anyone enjoying absolute freedom in this complex economic age.

"We cannot be sure that whatever we may use or wear, no matter how much we might have paid for it, has been justly paid for at the other end," she said referring to "sweating" in industries. "We are all bound by our environments," she added.

"How far should law interfere with freedom?" she asked. "It should be so employed as to keep one from injuring his neighbor; it should allow the country as a whole to go forward on the highest lines of progress."

MENDENHALL RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Prof. C. E. Mendenhall has returned from Washington, D. C., where he attended a conference of the editors of the board of international critical tables.

At the conference a group of experts were chosen to work on the getting out of a more useful table of physical and chemical constants.

The tables prepared by this board are used all over the world but the editorial board is located in America. The board includes men from Yale and Wisconsin universities. The United States bureau of mines and bureau of standards, and Eastman and General Electric corporations.

JUNIOR VOTE PROBE CONTINUED BY COURT

Investigation into the irregularities of the election for junior class offices, last Friday, was continued last night by the Student court. The results of the hearing of several witnesses last night were not given for publication. The hearing was not held closed doors.

Theodore Hannon '24, chief justice, said last night:

"The student court feels that it can give nothing for publication at the present stage. The investigation of the election will continue again tomorrow night at a closed session of the court."

HELEN CRETNEY WINS CUP IN PIE CONTEST

The Horticulture department will continue its show again this afternoon and evening. Twenty pies, made by Home Economic girls, will be auctioned off at 4:30 o'clock. Cut chrysanthemums will be on sale during the show.

Winners in the pie contest are Helen Cretney first, a silver loving cup; Helen Emery, second, a chrysanthemum plant; Edith Tilton, third, a Jerusalem cherry plant. The judges were Mrs. Otis and Mrs. Roberts.

TEAM'S SENDOFF STARTS AT CAMPUS MASS MEETING

Ryan and Marj Below May Address Students This Afternoon

A mass meeting will be held at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon on lower campus. After the meeting the students will march to the Chicago and Northwestern station where the football squad enroute for Urbana at 5:40 o'clock.

Coach "Jack" Ryan and Captain "Marty" Below '24, probably will speak at the mass meeting, if time permits. A band composed of volunteer musicians will play on the campus and head the procession as it goes to the station.

The football squad will be rushed to the station in machines. They will not go in the procession due to the strain they are under before train time.

Welcome Squad Sunday

Following the mass meeting the procession will head down Langdon street to Wisconsin avenue, around Capitol square, and down King street to the station.

Fraternity and sorority houses, and restaurants will be visited at noon and short speeches will be made to urge the students to turn out for the send off. Arm bands and megaphones are being sold for 25 cents each to be used in the parade and at the game Saturday.

When the squad returns from Illinois at 12:50 o'clock Sunday via the Northwestern road they will be met at the station. A special wagon is being built by the athletic department and it may be completed in time to meet the squad on Sunday.

Men Like Show of Spirit

"I certainly think that the send off to be given the squad is a fine expression of the student's attitude towards the men. It means a great deal to them," T. E. Jones, athletic director, said yesterday afternoon.

"Nothing encourages the men more as the train pulls out of the station than the sight they see from the windows, with thousands of students cheering for them and a band playing 'On Wisconsin'," said "Marty" Below, last night.

"It puts the old Wisconsin fight into the gang and makes them more determined than ever to boost that old average. We appreciate the efforts of the men that volunteer to play in the band. Incidentally we haven't forgotten the Sunday after the Indiana game," Below concluded.

Chapel services, started last year at the University of Washington, have been resumed this year. The services are non-sectarian and are held every Sunday afternoon for a period of forty-five minutes.

ALUMNI OF DODGE COUNTY ORGANIZE

Raise $800 For Memorial Union and Will Conduct Complete Canvass

Wisconsin alumni of Dodge county organized for a Memorial Union canvass of the county at a turkey dinner held at Beaver Dam Tuesday evening. Professor "Sonny" Eyre was the chief speaker at the dinner. Five reels of University of Wisconsin pictures were shown.

Fred Clausen '07, Horicon, was elected president; F. H. Ford '03, Waupun, vice president, and Mrs. H. C. Schimmel '10, secretary.

The organization will conduct a campaign in Dodge county to obtain Memorial Union funds. At the meeting $800 was raised.

President Clausen is also president of the Memorial Union building committee and one of the founders of the idea. He is also a former president of the Wisconsin Alumni association.

Mr. Ford plans to conduct a separate campaign in Waupun.

J. F. Malone '11, Beaver Dam attorney, was in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

NARDIN OPPOSES NON-SORORITY CLUB

Says Distinction Between Groups Too Unimportant to Be Emphasized

"The unimportant distinction between sorority and non-sorority women should not be emphasized," said Miss F. Louise Nardin, dean of women, in commenting on the suggestion that non-sorority women be organized into a group akin to Outer Gate, an organization of non-fraternity men.

"I see no necessity for such an organization. Sorority and non-sorority girls work side by side in all other organizations, such as W. A. A. The only distinction between them may be found in their place of residence."

Miss Nardin further suggested that such a large group that would include all non-sorority women would be unwieldy to organize and furthermore would have merely a negative basis for union.

"As far as social functions go," Miss Nardin continued, "it seems to me that such a group would be too large to get together socially. And why not use the units of organization provided for under the S. G. A. system? Many house groups and district groups have held parties of their own. Many more might if they so wished. There is no necessity for multiplying the organizations now existing."

FELLOWSHIP GIVEN BY UTILITIES ASSOCIATION

Under the endowment of the gas section of the Wisconsin Public Utilities association, Robert L. Rundoff '21, graduate of the chemical engineering department, recently has been appointed fellow in chemical engineering for this year. This is the eighth year that such a fellowship has been given by the gas section of the association, according to Prof. O. I. Kowalke, chairman of the chemical engineering department.

Two other fellowships are maintained by the Wisconsin Public Utilities association. One from the electrical section of the association, given for the first time two years ago, to the electrical engineering department, is held this year by Royce Johnson of Bear Creek. The other fellowship has been granted this year by the railway section of the association, to be held by a student in the department of electrical engineering.

ORCHESTRA PREPARES CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The university orchestra is practicing Schubert's "Roemude Overture" and Grieg's "Sigurd Jorsalfar," an orchestral suite, two of the works which will be presented by the orchestra in its first concert of the season, some time before Christmas.

It holds rehearsals every Wednesday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock, in preparation for the concert.

The vocal soloist who will be featured with this concert will be selected and announced next week by Prof. E. E. Swinney of the voice training department of the School of Music.

This year's orchestra contains few changes from last year's string section, and the woodwinds and brasses are played by men recruited for the most part from the concert band, men selected with regard to particular fitness for orchestral work.

BOTANY PROFS STUDY IN OTHER UNIVERSITIES

Several professors of the Botany department are spending part of this year in other universities.

Professor G. M. Smith is spending the autumn quarter at Stanford university. Professor R. H. Denniston has left for the university at London. Both of these professors will return for the beginning of the second semester.

Professor G. S. Bryan has recently returned from an expedition in South America which was carried on under the auspices of the Field Columbian museum. Professor Bryan left the university at the beginning of last semester to start on his trip.

Styles in Umbrellas Change Little in 4000 Years Use

How would you like to have to sit upon an elephant and carry a huge umbrella in order to make people recognize you as a person of importance?

So it was with the Prince of Wales in 1877, when he visited India, where only the royalty could carry umbrellas.

Perhaps it is due to another rainy rushing season, or possibly because of a wet homecoming, that Harry S. Manchester, Inc. had, the first part of the week as a window display, a collection of very old umbrellas.

A dainty parasol, hardly eighteen inches in diameter, of black ruffled silk, lined with white, as was the one carried by a lady of fashion in the time of Louis XIV, could hardly shelter three co-eds as they trudge the hill to an 8 o'clock in a good Wisconsin downpour.

George Washington's and Benjamin Franklin's umbrellas were similar. Washington's was a huge brown linen affair, having whalebone ribs and a handle inlaid with mother of pearl. Franklin had a gayer one of blue, but the handle was unornamented.

During the French Revolution loaded walking sticks were carried as a means of protection. Walking sticks today are fashioned after these old ones, only today they are not loaded for protection!

OVERSELL 200 TICKETS FOR CHICAGO BATTLE

An oversale of 200 tickets for the Chicago-Wisconsin football game was announced yesterday by the athletic department. The allotment of tickets for Wisconsin came November 5. The time of delivery has not been decided as yet.

Wisconsin is reserving a section of 2,500 seats for Michigan rooters. All of these tickets will be bought by Michigan boosters. The tickets will leave the Madison postoffice November 8 for Ann Arbor.

The sale of seats here for the Wisconsin Michigan game will stop today. Approximately 6800 tickets for this game have been sold to students up to date.

INNER GATE OFFERS TO AID Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

The services of Inner Gate, inter-fraternity organization, were offered yesterday to the officers of the all-university Y. M. C. A. finance campaign by Isaac G. Brader '26.

This organization offered to take all the names of university men which have not yet been given out to workers and to see all these men in behalf of the association.

"The Inner Gate wants to help the 'Y'. We are offering our services to aid in putting the thing across," said Mr. Brader yesterday afternoon. Reports of success are coming from many quarters say directors of the campaign.

DIRECTORY SUPPLY IS NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Between 1600 and 1700 directories were given out yesterday in room 165 Bascom hall. Less than 200 were left at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the registrar's office does not know when more will be delivered.

Queen Anne used as a sunshade while in her carriage, a very small adjustable parasol, fringed, and of a heavy silk.

Washington Irving's umbrella is an improvement over either that of Washington or Franklin. It is a modern looking plain black silk with a button on the handle, which when pressed, opens the umbrella completely. In China or the Philippines, a large parasol made of heavy oiled paper and bamboo ribs is used.

In 1750 James Hanway, founder of the Magdalen Hospital, startled the people of England by walking down the street with the first umbrella to be carried in England. He met with a good deal of opposition. Now yellow slickers seem to be the cause of opposition to umbrellas.

The origin of umbrellas can be traced back nearly 4,000 years. They were used in Oriental countries as a protection from the sun. The old Romans used them as a shield from the sun while attending the theatre.

"Styles of umbrellas are not very different from the old styles," said Miss "Marjorie" Morgan, head of the advertising department at Manchester's. "The handles are elaborately carved and are made of various kinds of woods or of amber or ivory, many of them inlaid."

Many of the newest umbrellas have powder puffs or cigarette holders concealed in the handles.

These old umbrellas are among those in the personal collection of Charles J. Follmer of Follmer-Clogg and Co., Lancaster, Pa.

Gerber Declared Ineligible by Council

BADGER TACKLE
WILL NOT PLAY
AGAINST ILLINOISWhere Protest Came From is Still Unknown to Jones

Ineligible has been the verdict, and Irv Gerber will not play on the Wisconsin football team against Illinois.

The case was culminated yesterday afternoon when the local athletic council met and declared E. C. Gerber ineligible for further conference competition on a charge of professionalism.

Where the protest came from is still unknown, but it is practically certain that Illinois had nothing to do with it.

Gerber, who has been in Y. M. C. A. work in La Crosse as well as in Madison for some time, was supposed to have been entirely eligible. Because he entered service during the war when help was needed, and because it was thought he had not used his knowledge in the actual instruction of sporting activities, his status was supposed to be that of an amateur.

On several technicalities, however, his case has been doubted, and an investigation has proved him to be ineligible. In a long session of the athletic council yesterday afternoon, all evidence was produced, and the verdict of professionalism was finally reached.

"I can make no formal statement," said T. E. Jones, director of athletics, last night. "We must simply abide by the decision and make the best of it."

Just who will take Gerber's place at right tackle is still a question with several linemen probably out of the game with injuries and others not properly trained to take the job. Carl Miller, who played at right guard during the early part of the season, was a logical choice until he hurt his injured ankle Tuesday afternoon in practice. Bentson, Paige and Hendrix are other possibilities.

Close on the heels of the announcement of Gerber's ineligibility came a rumor that Grange, the Illinois flash, is a professional player and may be protested. Hourly the report grew yesterday until it has assumed mammoth proportions.

All reports that could be gleaned until late last night proved the report to be false, and present indications point that Grange will be playing Saturday. Whether he is a professional is not at present the point. A protest would have to go out from the athletic department of a conference school to be considered.

"Personally I feel that it is but a rumor," said Director T. E. Jones. "Certainly Wisconsin will not issue a protest."

The spirit at Illinois is entirely commendable. In a telegram issued from the publicity director at Urbana, regrets were offered over Wisconsin's predicament, and the best of feeling was expressed toward Badger supporters. Officials were much perturbed when they heard reports that Wisconsin and Illinois might not be on the best of terms.

Whether or not Grange could be protested, it would be no feather in the Badger cap to defeat Illinois with their hard luck and then take so much more credit Saturday night.

One man said he once saw Grange play on a certain team. When I asked him if he were certain it was Grange he replied; "they only made one like him, wait until you see him in action. He is faster than Rolie Williams and more clever."

BADGERS WORK,

ILLINOIS GAMERyan Works to Reform His Crippled Forward
Wall

Working late under the glare of four huge spotlights, the Badger team went through one of its final scrimmages before the Illinois game at Camp Randall last night.

In an attempt to get the line into working condition a long scrimmage against the All-Americans was held. The varsity played both the defensive and the offensive.

Secret practice is still in vogue, and what Ryan's tactics will be at Champaign are still unknown. Whether the same brand of straight football will be dished out to the Indians as that which fans have seen so far this fall is not known.

A team not in the best of shape physically will journey to Urbana today. Al Schneider, diminutive quarter, is still suffering the effects of the Minnesota game and Eagleburger is being used at half.

Ed Williams has been receiving the call at quarterback in practice, and it is probable that Ryan may use him against Illinois.

Fans will know where Wisconsin stands after the game Saturday. Illinois is hoped to win against Wisconsin and to bid for conference honors. Should Wisconsin hold the Indians her status will be considerably improved.

Through the kindness of the American museum the University of California's paleontology department was the receiver of a prehistoric skull about 300,000 years old, that represents an animal resembling a rhinoceros. The skull was unearthed by the museum's expedition on the plains of Mongolia, and is the skull of one of the largest land mammals ever developed. It is known as baluchitherium or the great beast of Baluchistan.

TWO BADGER FISH NAMED ON
"ALL-AMERICAN" TANK TEAM

JOHNNY BENNETT

When you speak of "All-Western" and "All-American" athletes developed at Wisconsin—don't overlook Badger swimmers who have been developed by Joe Steinauer, swimming coach, for in the past few weeks two Cardinal tank athletes have been selected for the All-American Intercollegiate swimming team.

Ted Sullivan, writing in Spaulding's swimming guide names Hugo Czerwonky and Johnny Bennett, both Wisconsin swimmers on the mythical team. Czerwonky is named as the breast stroke member of the team and Bennett in the 50 and 100 yard dashes.

SOCCER SEASON TO OPEN
OFFICIALLY SATURDAY

Wisconsin's soccer season will officially open when the Occidentals meet the Orientals on the lower campus next Saturday afternoon.

It is expected that the play, although it will be rather crude because of the lack of experience on the part of most of the contestants, will prove to be full of excitement because of the evenness of the teams.

"I am quite satisfied with the progress of the squad," said Coach Schlatter, in speaking of the enthusiasts who turned out in answer to his call for candidates, "and I feel that by next year we will be able to turn out a team worthy of carrying the Cardinal colors in any kind of competition."

It has not as yet been definitely decided who will be assigned births on the team next Saturday, but the line-up will be announced later. The Orientals will be drawn from the Chinese enthusiasts who have become members of their Association ball club, one of their main athletic activities, during their stay in the university.

WOMEN ELECT ELEVEN TO COMMERCE CLUB

Women's Commerce club announces the election of new members. They are: Lucile Uhl '24, Marguerite Brigham '24, Josephine O'Neill '24, Garnett Johnson '24, Elizabeth Barnes '24, Corinne King '24, and Helen Ballas '23, Charlotte Sullivan '23, Lula Rose '23, Mabel Anstey '23 and Helen Anstey '23.

Initiation luncheon will be held Tuesday, Nov. 3, in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall.

ling a rhinoceros. The skull was unearthed by the museum's expedition on the plains of Mongolia, and is the skull of one of the largest land mammals ever developed. It is known as baluchitherium or the great beast of Baluchistan.

HUGO CZERWONKY

Johnny Bennett, holds the "Big Ten" record of 56 2-5 seconds for the 100 yard dash. Tom Robinson, coach of the Northwestern team has selected Bennett as captain of his all-conference team in which he names Bennett as a 50 and 100 yard man.

"In the 100 yard free style Bennett heads the list," Robinson writes.

Joe Steinauer, coach of the two men can well be proud, for on the All-American Intercollegiate team there are only two other "Big Ten" schools named—Northwestern and Minnesota, each having one man on the mythical tank team.

MINNESOTA FACES
REMAINING GAMES
WITH CONFIDENCEGophers Expect to Make it Rough Going For Hawkeyes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 7—Because the backfield has proved that it is as good as the line—the University of Minnesota football team will enter the remaining games on its schedule on equal terms. These games will be with Iowa and Michigan. It will be the first time in years that a Minnesota team has been sent against these mighty elevens with the feeling that it is just as likely to win from them as they are to win from it.

The 34-14 victory over Northwestern last Saturday is history as far as news goes. Gopher followers predict that it will prove to have been history with a capital "H" as the first definite indication that Bill Spaulding and his effective assistants have a team that will be fighting for the championship until the season's last shin has been kicked.

With two weeks in which to prepare for the Iowa battle on Homecoming day, Nov. 17, Spaulding and Captain Martineau will devote themselves to perfecting the Gopher defense against forward passes and to developing some new plays with which to put the eye out of Hawkeye. They will also concentrate on an effort to convince the Minnesota squad that it is the real thing.

Every influence will be used with Ulysses Grant Pursell, Minneapolis weather observer, to have a dry day prepared for the Iowa battle so that the Gopher Monoplane, Mal Graham, and the celebrated Marty-Lidberg biplane can make their take-offs with the same certainty that was possible Saturday. These, with Eklund completing the bomb attack, are expected to make several direct hits on great general headquarters, even if the goal posts extend many feet underground.

Louis Gross, javeline of the Minnesota line at left tackle, will be back in time for the Iowa game, according to health service reports, and Graham's banged ankle is nothing for the generalissimo to worry about.

Minnesota vs. Iowa will be the last of the great football games on Northrop field, which is to be replaced by the new Memorial stadium a year hence. Every seat probably will be sold long before the gates open, but there will be no just cause for complaint among those who do not get tickets, for the new system of advance orders has come as near as possible to giving everyone a fair chance. Those who have a definite link with the university get first chance, and anyone who wants to send in an advance order accompanied by a check, gets second. These two groups, together with the season ticket purchasers, take most of the big game seats except those accounted for by student books.

Last year Iowa crushed Minnesota. With the overwhelmingly powerful Gordon Locke leading the assault, the Iowans battered the Minnesota team into the rack, just as they had served Yale two weeks earlier.

Minnesota will put a different sort of team onto the gridiron on Nov. 17. It doesn't expect to end Iowa in the mud, but the Hawkeyes will move mighty fast if they don't have a good deal of dust settling on them.

California's literary magazine, the Occident, was nearly destroyed in the making when someone broke into the printing shop and tried to destroy the copy and type. Little damage was done, however, and the magazine was published without any delay.

THIS PROTEST BUSINESS

One the eve of one of Wisconsin's most important games comes the report that Irv Gerber, 1923 find on the Badger line, is ineligible due to the fact that he acted in the capacity of physical instructor to Y. M. C. A. boys at La Crosse.

Ugly rumors are being broadcasted about the campus. It is pointed out that last year at about the same time "Tab" Murray was protested. Last Saturday Thomas, the Chicago star, was declared ineligible. The facts seem to lead many people to an accusation of Illinois.

To a great majority, however, the question does not seem to be one of criticizing Illinois, but rather one of getting conference rules straightened out. In fact, a telegram from L. M. Tobin, director of Illinois publicity, makes it quite positive that Illinois, Bob Zupke, or George Huff had nothing whatsoever to do with the protest.

There are two things which are quite evident to the Wisconsin student as needing regulation by the Intercollegiate council. First, the present rules are too strict and can be construed in such a fashion as to disqualify almost any athlete. Second, protests should be filed at least one week before the first conference game and not allowed thereafter, and furthermore, a man should be allowed to play until the charges against him are proved correct.

As for the first point, it seems strange that a man who has been teaching high school and grammar school boys how to use the breast stroke, should be disqualified at a later date for intercollegiate athletics. A man must work during his summer months, and if by doing so he can help boys a bit and make them stronger and more virile American youths, he should be complimented and not handicapped.

The makers of the intercollegiate athletic rules had good intentions, but it is well known that there are many men who have played summer baseball who are now on conference teams. The rules should be strict but, if nothing else, there should be some equity in the matter.

As one of those whimsical sport columnists said yesterday, and not without sense, "the man who works in a sporting good's shop during the summer is using his athletic knowledge for personal gain and should also be barred from participation, just as much as the man who demonstrates good diving form in a Y. M. C. A. tank."

And then there is the matter of time. These protests and ineligibility announcements invariably seem to come just before a big game. Without casting suspicions at any college or person, the fact always has a queer look which is disadvantageous to the school receiving the suspicion as well as the protested one.

It would seem reasonable that all the conference schools would relish this idea of protection by having a deadline on protests. It would save a lot of worry as well as hasty mud-slinging.

VARSITY OUT

Wisconsin's warriors will leave for Champaign at 5:40 o'clock this afternoon via the Northwestern.

After the Indiana game 3,000 rooters met the visitors at the station. Today 6,000 rooters should meet at the lower campus at 4:45 to give a rousing send off to these boys, some of whom may be a bit down-hearted because of the loss of one of their mates.

A band, disorganized and rough, but noisy and with the proper spirit will be on the job and will see that plenty of pep will be provided. Every man, and woman too, in school who can toot a horn should bring it along and join the band.

"Steve" Gilman yesterday gave ten minutes to Larry Hall for a pep talk. Students should be eager and glad to give up the books for an hour to greet the team, even though we can't go all the way to Urbana with them.

And then, meet the boys again when they return as victors Sunday at 11 o'clock on the Lower campus.

ARMISTICE DAY

Just how much of a holiday Armistice Day will eventually become is difficult to determine. Certainly it has not amounted to much as yet. But we may be permitted to hope that it will not fall into utter disregard, even though it be painful to remember the war or anything connected with it. Whether or not we elect to remember it, the fact remains that there was a war, of some magnitude, in which this country took a part, and which ended, more or less victoriously, on November 11, 1918. We are not attempting to display our erudition in historical matters, merely recalling an incident which at the time was considered something of an event.

Possibly the importance of event was over-estimated at the time, and Armistice Day does not really rate a red numeral on the calendar. There seems to be a pretty general feeling, especially on the part of those who were unaffected by the war, that it was an unfortunate affair all around, and nobody knows what it was all about, and the best thing to do is to forget all about it. With the holders of this view we hesitate to take issue. They know best what they want to think about, and far be it from us to remind them of distasteful occurrences. All the same, though, we would like to see some slight celebration of Armistice Day. It could be done quite unostentatiously and without hurting anybody's feelings.

Other Editors Say—

CHAMPIONSHIP

Illinois is safely past two of the stiffest barriers that stood between the Zuppmen and a Big ten title at the beginning of the season, not to mention that little workout at the Cubs' park last Saturday. True, they are a long way from having the title cinched, but it can be said without undue optimism that Illinois, with Michigan, is the favorite for the title.

The Illini should beat Wisconsin next week, and they should beat Ohio State two weeks later. They should, but that is no indication that they will. Ohio State has suffered a couple of whippings from Michigan and Iowa that indicate that the famous Ohio pass game is not such a great menace this season. Wisconsin has a new coach, who found but little material. His team has escaped defeat to date, but was tied in a miry battle with Minnesota two weeks ago.

Illinois will enter both of these games the favorite. Wisconsin had almost fallen into the habit of beating Illinois until Zupke and his squad went up there and ruined their homecoming last year. Its team is always dangerous, and the same may be said of Ohio State. Dr. Wilce is as close a rival as Zup has in the conference when it comes to football strategy and he should get his squad on its feet before the final game of the season.

The Illini looked better out there recently than they have this year. The line faced the best bunch of line plungers in the conference.

On a few occasions when Thomas, Pyott and Zorn got clear of the linesmen, the defensive backs lost little time in discouraging them. Red Grange demonstrated that he can travel as well in the muck as on a dry field, and McIlwain showed that the plunging which he did against Nebraska was no flash in the pan.

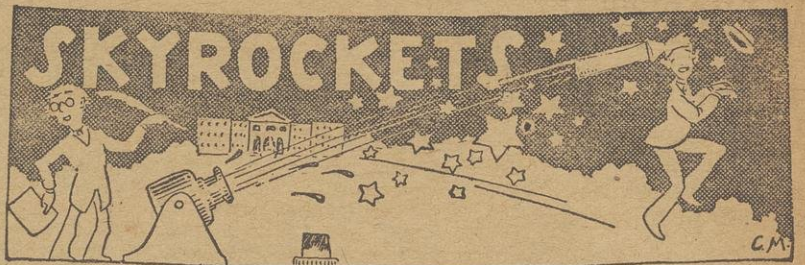

Let's win one game at a time.

Wisconsin is next.—Daily Illini.

Maybe Illinois is playing somebody else for a sucker.

To hit the books must mean that most people are hard headed.

In the good old days there used to be a double meaning in the expression "Going to champaigne."

Cupid and my Campaspe play'd
At cards for kisses; Cupid paid.
He stakes his quiver, bow and arrows,
His mother's doves, and team
of sparrows:
Loses them too. Then down he throws
The coral of his lip, the rose Growing on 's cheek (but none knows how);
With these the crystal of his brow,
And then the dimples on his chin;
All these did my Campaspe win.
At last he set her both his eyes:
She won and Cupid blind did rise.
O Love! has she done this to thee?
What shall, alas! become of me?

John Lyly.

A purely informal meeting of electrical engineering students, electrical engineering faculty members and all freshmen engineers will be brought about at the A. I. E. E. "open house" to be held at 7:30 Nov. 9, in the electrical laboratories. The meeting will give the students of the various classes the opportunity to become acquainted with each other and with the faculty, and will also enable the freshmen to see what the electrical course has to offer. Everyone, from the head of the department to the most insignificant frosh, will be labelled with his own distinguishing cognomen, and introductions will be unnecessary.

All departments of the laboratory will be wide open and in operation. The communications lab will display its modern "gab" facilities; the photometric lab has its own collection of unsolvable mysteries; the standards lab will endeavor to show how it is possible to measure the indescribable "energy juice" in order to be able to tax the American pocket for its use; and the mysteries of operation of electrical machines will be explained and demonstrated in the dynamo lab.

S. M. Coe '24, H. H. Ratcliff '24, A. J. Larson '24, J. S. Timmons '24, R. A. Merrill '25, and R. E. Purucker '24, have charge of arrangements and promise to have things well organized by Friday night while G. E. Bean '24, in charge of refreshments, says that refreshments will be on hand when required. E. Plettner '24, advertising manager, will endeavor to post all new developments.

A carload of potatoes, 4500 gallons of milk, and 12,750 pound of beef are required to feed students in the dormitories of Washington State college for one month.

OLSON ANNOUNCES SCHOLARSHIP LIST

Legislative, Regents' and Private Help Available For Needy Students

With the first examinations over and most of the records noted, those students aspiring to scholastic honors are already examining the lists of scholarships to be awarded at Wisconsin and wondering which ones they will be able to win.

Of the many offered by the legislature, the regents, and various individuals, those offered by the regents and known as the Wisconsin scholarships are of the most interest to freshmen. These scholarships do not limit the winners to any one line of work nor are they awarded to students in any one college.

"Freshmen of the different colleges should be aware of the fact that the regents of the university award fifty scholarships of $100.00 each on the basis of scholarship, general worthiness, and financial need," Julius E. Olson, chairman, of the Loans and Undergraduate scholarships committee, said yesterday.

"Applications for these scholarships are made during the last week of the first semester, and are awarded in the early part of the second semester."

DR. TILDEN HOLDS DISEASE USELESS

Dietitian Declares Best Way to Avoid Illness is Right Living

"Lock the doors before the horse is gone", said Dr. J. H. Tilden, leading dietitian of the day, in an interview yesterday on the uselessness of disease.

"Why wait until you get sick before you try to make yourself well, or why live in a manner that you must get sick at all?"

Dr. Tilden stated that there is no excuse for catching influenza if you have locked your health in, before exposure to disease, by the right kind of living.

"Germs are assumed to be the cause of disease, but any one element in a chain of causations may as reasonably be singled out as the cause."

"Do students worry?" asked Dr. Tilden. "If they do they are only filling their bodies with poison which will bring diseases later; for fear and worry are the greatest causes of indigestion, and indigestion is the greatest cause of disease."

Dr. Tilden, a physician of seventy-two years of age has practiced his profession for fifty-one years, using drugs and surgery for the first twenty-five years and for the past twenty-five years discarding these methods for a more rational manner of educating the people into such living habits as to give nature an opportunity to throw off disease, then educating the people into knowing how to care for themselves so as to retain their good health.

In 1913 Dr. Tilden established The Tilden Health School in Denver, Col. It has made a steady growth until at this time there are accommodations for over one hundred and fifty patients. His institution is neither a hospital nor a sanitarium, but simply a school for educating people into rational living habits.

Dr. Tilden states emphatically that diet alone will not cure disease. The entire manner of living must be changed to bring about the desired results, the mental receiving as much attention as the physical.

UNION VODVIL ACTS REVIEWED BY JUDGES

Five prospective acts for Union Vodvil, which will be given at the Parkway theater on Dec. 14 and 15, were reviewed by a committee of judges at Lathrop concert rooms last night. Five more acts will be presented to the committee tonight.

No decisions will be announced until all acts have been seen.

Persons or organizations still desiring to enter the trials can communicate with Bill Purnell, production manager, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock this morning or 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. He will be located at the Union Board office in the Union building, F. 1234.

PROF. HALL EXPLAINS RESEARCH TECHNIQUE

Professor A. B. Hall of the political science department spoke yesterday on "The Technique of Political Research" before the members of the political science department of the University of Minnesota.

Professor Hall is in Minneapolis attending the conferences of the League of Women Voters under the auspices of the University of Minnesota.

The movement to develop new methods of political investigation was founded by Professor Hall and is now under the guidance of the National conference on the science of politics, of which Professor Hall is chairman. He is now engaged in explaining the work of this organization.

OMICRON NU ANNOUNCES ELECTION OF SENIORS

Omicron Nu, honorary home economics society, announces the election of the following seniors: Nina Faris, Vernetta Bartle, Edna Gefke, Bertha Clow, Leita Davy, Elvira Meiselwitz, Helen Jouzalin, Viola Stangel, Edith Crow.

HARRIERS ARE NOT CONSISTENT

Coach Mead Burke Not Overconfident of His Squad

Although the cross country team has emerged victorious from its two dual meets, Coach Mead Burke does not have the confidence which he would be expected to have after his team had made such a good showing during the beginning of the season.

The reason for his lack of confidence in the team is based on the results of two time trials and two dual meets during the past few weeks. In all of these events a different runner led the field at the close of the race, thus indicating the great variance in form of the various men on the team.

In the first time trial of the year Sherman crossed the tape first. Schneider led the field in the second time event, while in the meet with Minnesota, Bergstresser was the first Wisconsin man to cross the tape, being awarded second place. Last week in the meet with Chicago another varsity man crossed the tape for second place. Thus it is seen that none of the runners appear at all consistent and this is the cause for Coach Burke's uneasiness.

That the next meet with Michigan will be the hardest race of the year is evident from the record made by the Wolverines this year. In a race with the Michigan Agricultural college last week nine of the Maize and Blue runners finished before the first M. A. C. man crossed the line. The winner covered the 4.5 mile course in the fast time of 24 minutes 28 seconds. Michigan has a veteran team this year and are out to win.

RE-ORGANIZED CHESS CLUB TO MEET TODAY

The University Chess Club has reorganized this year and will hold its first regular meeting this evening. It has nine members so far. The club plans to hold a tournament within its membership, and later to play matches with the faculty group, Madison players, and perhaps enter collegiate matches.
