THEATER'S 43RD SEASON CONTINUES WITH MUSIC, DRAMA, DANCE EVENTS

Opera buff, drama devotee, music lover? Whatever your preference, you'll find programs of interest as the Union Theater's 43rd season continues this spring.

Music highlights the second semester calendar with appearances by favorite Union Theater performers as well as some talented newcomers. Emanuel Ax, pianist, and Yo-Yo Ma, cellist, will return February 10, blending their virtuoso talents in the Red Concert Series; others appearing on the Red Concert Series will be Heinz Holliger, oboist, February 20, and Jean-Pierre Rampal, flutist, March 5. The Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra, which earned enthusiastic reviews for White Concert Series programs in October and December, will return for two more concerts, performing with conductor/violinist Pinchas Zukerman on February 22 and conductor Charles Dutoit and oboist Richard Kilmer on April 15.

Special music events planned for the second semester include the February 4 appearance by pianist Jeffrey Siegel, who will offer a look at "The Greatness of Chopin" in an unusual keyboard conversation and concert. On February 24, the Union Directorate's Theater Arts Area will cooperate with the Madison Art Center to present a concert by minimalist composer/musician Philip Glass and his ensemble. And yet another musical mood will prevail April 16 with the presentation of Mozart's comic masterpiece, "The Marriage of Figaro," by the acclaimed Western Opera Theater.

LAKEFRONT CAFETERIA TO ASSUME NEW LOOK IN '82

The planning process is moving ahead for the remodeling of the Memorial Union Lakeside Cafeteria dining room with a hoped for starting time of summer, 1982. The cafeteria face-lift is part of a major renovation plan which includes the remodeling of the cafeteria and Rathskeller serving lines.

With approval in December from the State Building Commission for the cafeteria dining room redo and the planning money for the drawings and specifications of the serving areas, the long-range plan can move ahead. The remodeling of the Rathskeller and cafeteria serving lines will not take place until 1984-85 because of necessary legislative project approval.

The cafeteria and Rathskeller were last remodeled in 1956 and 1960, respectively. They are the two major food service areas in the Memorial Union with more than 5,000 customers a day and a combined annual income of about $2.5 million.

Money for the project will come from Union revenues. The Wisconsin Union is self-supporting and does not receive any direct state appropriation. The cafeteria dining room refurbishing will include a new floor and ceiling, new lighting, tables and chairs and new wall treatment and will cost $239,000. The total project when finished in approximately four years will cost in the neighborhood of $1 million.

The spring calendar will also feature three Debut Concerts, introducing today's most promising young artists. The Muir String Quartet will perform February 7, with soprano Lucy Shelton scheduled for February 26 and flutist Sydney Goldsmith and guitarist Lisa Hurlong on March 7.

Theater enthusiasts will find a diverse bill of fare this spring, beginning February 5 with the performance of internationally-renowned actress — and one-time Madison resident — Uta Hagen in "Charlotte," a monodrama about Goethe's beloved companion, Charlotte von Stein. The Acting Company promises a lively evening of entertainment February 21 as the troupe, making its third Madison visit, offers William Wycherley's bawdy Restoration comedy, "The Country Wife." On February 28, the master of mime, Marcel Marceau, returns to Madison; the program, sponsored by the Wisconsin Union Directorate Theater Arts Area, will be presented at the Madison Civic Center. Rounding out the dramatic schedule on March 4, the Theater will present "Vanities," a delightful comedy which holds the record for the longest-running play in Off-Broadway history.

"One of the strongest and most individual voices on the contemporary dance scene," choreographer/composer Laura Dean will bring her troupe to the Union Theater for a lecture-demonstration and performance on April 1 and 2. Dean's concern with repetition and geometric patterns, ensemble work with no entrances and exits and her trademark — spinning and stamping — have made her one of today's most talked about artists.

For film fans, the Travel Adventure Series continues with three exciting excursions. Guided by veteran filmmakers, the spring itinerary will feature visits to Poland, Greece and Paris.

CRAFT CLASSES SET FOR CHILDREN

The Memorial Union Craftshop's Creative Arts for Children program will be holding three sessions of classes this spring. The first session begins January 16 and runs through February 19. The second and third sessions will be held February 27 - April 4 and April 17 - May 16, respectively.

The Creative Arts for Children program, open to the children of UW students, faculty, staff and Wisconsin Union members, includes courses in ceramics, mixed media, marionettes, drawing and painting, paper and print, and puppet-making. The courses are geared for children between 4 and 13 years of age.

GOLDBERG APPOINTED TO UNION THEATER POST

Michael Goldberg has been appointed acting program director for the Wisconsin Union Theater. Goldberg, who has been on the Theater staff since 1979, succeeds Ralph Sandler, recently named executive director of the Madison Civic Center.

A native of New York, Goldberg came to the UW-Madison as an undergraduate in 1960. His association with the Union Theater began in his freshman year and he worked backstage on the Theater's touring productions and Wisconsin Players shows throughout college. Following graduation, Goldberg taught for the Peace Corps in Ethiopia for two years. He returned to Madison, working as technical director for the UW-Madison Opera Workshop, and from 1968 to 1971, did his first stint on the Union staff as assistant to the theater director.

Goldberg was a staff member of the national Association of College, University and Community Arts Administrators (ACUCA), headquartered in Madison, from 1971-1973. His responsibilities with ACUCA included work on artists' residencies, arts management training and audience development in special projects funded by the National Endowment for the Arts. He has also been associated with Opportunity Resources for the Arts, Inc., in New York.

Since returning to the Union Theater, Goldberg has been responsible for the Theater's artists-in-residence program, has served as the administrator and student advisor for the Union's film program and has assisted with facility management duties. He has also been active with university and community performing arts organizations, serving as director for a number of productions by the UW-Madison Opera and the Madison Savoyards.

DAY CARE AVAILABLE AT UNION CENTER

Registrations are now being accepted for openings at the Wisconsin Union Day Care Center. Known to its children and families as "Bernie's Place," the center is located at 206 Bernard Court, near the corner of Park and Dayton streets.

The Day Care Center, which has been in existence since 1972, has both full and part-time programs for children from two and one-half to six years of age. It is open Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. year round.

The children in the Day Care Center are encouraged to take initiative and responsibility in a supportive atmosphere of warmth and affection. Creative expression, social development and academic readiness skills are offered in a multi-cultural setting. An emphasis has traditionally been placed on nutritious meals and on the involvement of parents in program decisions.

For further information call Jim Morin, 263-1725.

GREECE, CARIBBEAN, CHINA, USSR ON SPRING-SUMMER TRAVEL SCHEDULE

The new direction of the Wisconsin Union Travel Center, making its primary concern that of education and advising students and Union members on travel plans, is bringing about a number of educational trips this spring.

In addition to their "recreational" treks to Florida, South Padre Island and the Caribbean during spring break, the Travel Center will also sponsor educational tours to Greece and the Dominican Republic.

Special summer trips designed for students and young people include the USSR, China, Egypt and Israel.

For information on these trips or any of the other travel programs, call 262-6200.

Remember that you can now book your tickets for trips at the Sager-Wilson travel office located on the ground floor of the Memorial Union where the barber shop used to be. Their phone number is 255-4450.

NEW SUNBURST CHAIRS AVAILABLE FOR PURCHASE

The famous Union terrace sunburst chairs are now available to Union members, alumni and other members of the University community for their own backyards.

After the manufacturer of the chairs, which have graced the Union terrace since the early 1930's, went out of business in 1976, the Union was unable to replace them. However, last year the Memorial Union Building Association purchased new tooling from Wisco Industries of Oregon, Wisconsin. Wisco also manufactured 300 chairs last summer for the terrace. The result was many inquiries from people wanting to get some for their own use.

The Union has been able to work out an arrangement with the manufacturer to do a limited run of the chairs in red. They will be sold in sets of two for $149.95 (plus tax for Wisconsin residents). Orders must be received by March 1, 1982 and delivery will be in May, 1982. Mail orders should be sent to the Main Office, room 410, Memorial Union, 800 Langdon Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53706.

UNION PROGRAM FOR OLDER STUDENTS TAKES NEW NAME

There's a new acronym in the Union — OASIS. The Cracker Barrel program for older students has changed its name to Older Than Average Students Interested in Socializing or OASIS.

Cheri McKently, chair of the group, tells us that its regular Friday get-togethers will continue as well as its brown bag lunches, Sunday afternoon volleyball and Sunday evening potlucks.

Their spring plans also call for two cross country ski trips, a ballroom dance and a potluck picnic.

Those interested in details should call the Union South Program office, 263-2432.

Madison artist-papemaker Marilyn Hart will be represented in an exhibition slated January 18-February 9 in the Class of 1925 Gallery at the Memorial Union. "Stained Paper/ Glove, Metallic Powder" (above), a handmade paper piece from the artist's manipulator series, will be included in the exhibit.

From traditional work in watercolor, Hart's images evolved into paintings consisting of torn, painted papers and then into painted, paper sculpture. Since the fall of 1976, she has made her own paper pieces, frequently incorporating other materials into the paper during the forming process. Fabric dyes are used to stain the pressed, dried paper objects, and the final step involves drawing with pencil and paint to heighten the pieces.

Union members are invited to a gallery reception from 8 to 10 p.m., Friday, January 22, honoring Hart and photographers Lewis Koch and David Mandel, whose exhibition, "Sites in Dane County," will run concurrently in the Main Gallery.
