FEAR MARQUETTE WILL TAKE MEET IF IT FAILS HERE

Chairman Says University
Must Boost Tournament
or Lose It

Danger that the state high school basketball tournament will be taken from Wisconsin and given to Marquette unless it makes a marked success here this year has been expressed by those in charge of the tournament. Dwight Spooner '25, chairman, says, "The event has a great drawing power for Badger athletes and the university must boost the event or lose it."

Arrangements are rapidly going forward for one of the biggest tournaments ever held at Madison. The tournament must be successful financially, however, declared Spooner, and it cannot be a success without a big attendance.

With 16 teams entered from all sections of the state, each school will have supporters here in the university and the tournament committee desires that these students should attend to boost their home team and the meet at the same time.

The price of season tickets will probably be the same as last year, and both season and single game tickets will be on sale. At least 1,000 season tickets must be sold to finance the tournament, according to Frank Nickerson who is in charge of the finances.

Letters are being sent out to the fraternities this week asking them to entertain the 16 teams during the meet as has been the custom other years.

Impersonator of Negroes to Tell Biblical Stories

Lucine Finch, impersonator of the ante-bellum Negro, will appear at 8:15 o'clock Thursday in Christ Presbyterian church. Miss Finch has in her repertoire tales and colored versions of Bible stories.

Miss Finch spent her childhood largely under the influence of her colored mammy, whose superstitions and philosophies she imitates.

Dean Howells, formerly editor of Harper's, declares that Miss Finch has a inventiveness and wealth of characterization in her wonder mammy stories.

CO-EDS WILL OPEN FRIDAY'S DEBATES

Virginia North and Carol Hubbard Will Present First Arguments

Virginia North L1 and Carol Hubbard '26, two of the first three women ever to represent Wisconsin in debate, will open the debates against Illinois and Michigan at 8 o'clock Friday night in Music hall.

Miss North, who is one of the few women in the law school, was on the varsity debating team at Smith last year. Miss Hubbard debated for the University of Missouri before coming to Wisconsin and took part in the joint debate between Pythia and Castalia two weeks ago.

The negative team composed of Virginia North, Robert Sher '25, and George Fiedler '25, will travel to Michigan, while Carol Hubbard, Melvin Thompson '25, and Herbert Morse '25, arguing the affirmative side of the question, will remain here and meet Illinois.

The question to be considered in the triangular debate will be whether the states should ratify the child labor amendment now pending. The negative team goes to Michigan in hopes that it may be able to bring back the decision. Michigan has not lost a debate in six years and it is hoped that the record may be broken by the arguments used by Wisconsin.

FIVE "ST. PATS" NAMED FOR RACE

Engineers Will Ballot Next Week to Choose Patron
Saint

Five candidates for the St. Pat electoral race have been nominated at special meetings of the engineering societies this week. The candidates are Bruce F. Reinhart '25, Daniel S. Kelly '25, Robert N. Morris '26, Dean B. Ekstrom '26, and George J. Brabender '25.

Balloting will open in the Engineering building on Monday morning and continue until Thursday afternoon. Votes are to be sold at the rate of 10 votes for a cent. Election returns will be posted daily in the Engineering building. The man receiving the largest number of votes will be honored as St. Pat in the parade on March 23. The engineering societies are campaigning for money to support their respective candidates. No dark horse candidates have entered the race.

All classes in the College of Engineering will be dismissed at 11:40 o'clock Friday morning for a pep meeting that will be held in the auditorium of the Engineering building. Each candidate will make a campaign speech and try to show that he is the logical engineer to impersonate the great Irishman, St. Pat.

U. W. FIXES STYLES
IN SUMMER POSTERS

The university has set the style for many things and one of the latest is the best type of poster advertising the summer session. For the past three years the posters have been so good that other states have exactly duplicated them. In 1922 Minnesota copied ours and the University of Kentucky followed suit in 1923.

In 1924 the Eastern State Teachers' college had an exact copy of this university's poster.

As yet no companion has been found for the one of 1925, and there is much interest displayed as to which it will be. The idea of advertising the summer session by posters originated in Dean Goodnight's office.

These posters are sent to every high school in the state and to all the colleges and universities in the United States.

City Trucks Will Support University Fleet to Complete
Cartage

The work of transporting all the exhibits from the various departments to the gymnasium, getting rooms for visitors, policing the exhibition, and the cleaning up afterwards, is being handled by the utilities department, under the management of Erwin Gerber '25 for the university exposition, April 16 to 18.

All the university trucks, and possibly trucks of city cartage companies will have to be used to haul all the exhibits from the various departments to the gym. This branch of the work is under the supervision of George Neuhauser '27, who is being assisted by Frederick Clapp '25, Edward Hoebel '28, Arnold Montgomery '28, and Earl Burbige '28.

A canvass of all the fraternities, sororities, rooming houses, and hotels is planned by the rooming committee, under Harold Hoebel '25, so that at the opening of the exhibition, they will have a list of all the available rooms for the visitors expected during the "turning of the university inside out." He is being assisted by Ross Rusch '27, John Gillin '27, Arthur S. Harris '26, and W. Martin '26. This department will establish an office so that guests in the city during the exposition may find rooms and the rates charged.

Another duty of the utilities committee is that of policing the exhibition grounds for the three days, to watch that no one molests the displays or causes undue damage.

McFEE IS BOTH ENGINEER AND WRITER OF SEA TALES

An engineer and then a writer is William McFee, who speaks here tomorrow night in Music hall under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

As an engineer he holds an extra chief's certificate from the London board of trade and also a United States chief's license.

His chosen profession, however, is writing, or rather his hobby, as he says. In Europe and in America he shares his particular field of writing—stories of the sea—with Joseph Conrad and in the opinion of many is eclipsed only by that writer.

The club has appeared a number of times during the year before the civic clubs, at the convention of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' association and at the legislative banquet at Luther Memorial church. Plans are now being made for a concert to be given at Poynette in April.

Among the patronesses of the club are Mrs. C. H. Mills, Mrs. J. J. Blaine, Mrs. S. H. Goodnight, Mrs. G. C. Sellery, Mrs. J. E. Olson, Mrs. L. A. Coon, Mrs. E. B. Gordon, Mrs. E. Swinney, Mrs. L. L. '25 STAG BANQUET TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

George Little to Be Guest at Event in Luther Memorial Church

The annual stag banquet for men in the senior class will be held at 6:15 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Luther Memorial church, John Bergstresser, class president, announced yesterday. George E. Little, director of athletics, will be the guest of honor.

Tickets, selling at 75 cents, will be distributed by Arno Wiese, chairman of the senior class organization committee. A personal canvass of the men in the class is planned by the committee.

First Stag Last Year

A program is being arranged by Robert Nethercut, Glee club accompanist, and chairman of the class social committee. The banquet will end at about 8:30 o'clock.

The stag banquet of the class of '24 given last year was in honor of the championship basketball team. Mr. Little will be the guest of the men of the class of 1925. Last year was the first affair of this kind given by the men of the senior class.

To See Each Man Personally

The banquet given last year was attended by 250 men, approximately one-fourth of the class. By seeing each man personally the organization committee expects to have a larger percentage of the class come out this year, and with the affair of last year as a precedent the class of '25 plans on a bigger and greater banquet.

"This will be the first opportunity for the men in the senior class to get together," said John Bergstresser, class president, yesterday, in announcing the banquet.

LEAGUE WORK PRAISED IN ADDRESS BY RICE

The league of nations is the one big agency at the present time working toward the development of world peace was the statement made by Prof. W. G. Rice of the Law school speaking before the local chapter of the Young Men's Progressive association last night in the office of the secretary of state. Professor Rice acknowledged that there are many defects in the league in its present form, but contended that the time has passed when it can be considered as an experiment, and that objections to it can be gradually eliminated.

CAPTAINS CHOOSE TEAMMATES FOR SORORITY RACES

Nineteen Quartets Will Compete For Women in Relays Saturday

Captains and runners were chosen at a meeting in the trophy room of the gymnasium last night for the annual intersorority relay meet which will be held as a feature in conjunction with the 19th annual relay carnival. The contests will be held in the gym-annex at 7 o'clock next Saturday night.

Up to last night seven high schools and two military academies were the outside institutions entered to compete in the meet. In addition in the intersorority races, there will be five special events; 40 yard dash, 40 yard high hurdles, 16 pound shot put, running high jump and pole vault.

Bosch Is Manager

The carnival, under Manager Hank Bosch and Coach Meade Burke, is expected to out-do in interest and track and field generalship previous meets of a like nature. Manager Bosch asks that fraternities that would like to accommodate some of the visiting high school and academy athletes to call him at Badger 1712 or see him in Coach Burke's office in the gym sometime today.

The Greek letter quartets total 19 in number. In the following list the captains appear first, and after them are the half milers, quarter milers, and then the lap men.

Alpha Gamma Delta, Trier, Carter, Biwer, McGiveran; Chadbourne, Parker, Shafer, Reeves, Mattison, Muzzy; Theta, Klevay, Campbell, Moran, George Eisele; Delta Zeta, H. E. Smith, Flynn, Drew, Miller; Alpha Epsilon Phi, Cohen, Ecklund, Lenichek, Annis; Phi Omega Pi, Butz, Laughlin, Swallow, Ingold; Gamma Phi Beta, Stowe, Parker, Kuester, E. Five Special Events

The added attractions to the 19th annual relay carnival are the five special events which have been arranged for the meet. The events and their contestants are:

40 yard dash—McAndrews, McWegran, Francis, N. Smith, Hill, Flueck, Gil Smith, Osterberg, Hurt, O'Brien, Kots, Miller, Kanalp, Walbuck, Matteson, Sappenfield, Thomas, Groth, George Eisele, E. Eisele, Bartlett, Newton, Burdick, Rambow, Annis, Cole, Thompson, Deadman, Blatecky, Rudolph.

Last Year's Champions

Along with several other of the teams that were in the state high school basketball tournament last year the Fond du Lac quintet, last year's state champions, failed to win in its district and thus failed to qualify for the state meet.

The dope for the event places Appleton, Superior, Neenah, and La Crosse among the likely candidates for the state title this year. Appleton has been playing great ball all through the season and looks like a winning team. Superior Central has three of its men back from the team that took second in the state meet last year, and will again make a strong bid for the state title.

Neenah trimmed the former state champs, Fond du Lac, 22-8 in the finals of the Oshkosh tournament. The team from Neenah has been showing real form all of the season and will give the teams at the state meet a hard run for the title.

La Crosse won in its district in easy fashion and may give the teams some trouble when the sixteen winners meet in Madison.

The final preparations for the meet are about complete. The plans promise to make the event the best in the history of the tournament. Arrangements for entertaining the teams are being completed and the best of reception is being planned for the visitors.

COACH DAD VAIL IS THANKED FOR CREW'S KINDNESS

Washington Oarsman Grateful For Expressions of Friendship

Coach Dad Vail is in receipt of a letter from Max Luft of the University of Washington crew that rowed at Poughkeepsie last summer, expressing his gratitude for favors he received from the Wisconsin crew at that time, when he was laid up with sickness.

Varsity Boat Club,
Seattle, Wash.

Coach Dad Vail:

Although rather late, I would like to tell you how much I appreciated those beautiful roses which I received from you and your crew while at Poughkeepsie last summer. They were indeed a token expressing the real friendship which grew up between our two western crews. I certainly wish to thank you for your thoughtfulness in those trying days and may I assure you that your group was not the only one expressing great joy in your victory over the western crews. Would you be so kind, Dad, to thank the members of your last year's varsity for this thoughtful remembrance? Hoping that we at Washington may again have the pleasure of meeting you in friendly competition.

Sincerely yours,
MAX LUFT,
Oar 4.

Wrestling Team Gets Ready For Conference Meet Saturday

Zodtner Keeps Record Clear By Winning Decision at Ohio Contest

With the final competition at the conference meet at Minneapolis starting Friday, the wrestlers are hoping to finish the season by defeating some of the season's rivals in the different divisions.

Coach Hitchcock will probably take Mathew Haas, 125-pounds; Michael O'Laughlin 135-pounds; Captain Zodtner, 145-pounds; Harvey Chada, 158-pounds; William Splees, 175-pounds, and possibly Raymond Stipek to the conference contest.

Get Third Place

Finishing the season with a clear title to third place, the 1925 team was more successful than most of its predecessors. Indiana and Illinois tied for first; Iowa and Ohio for second in this year's competition.

"The men did exceptionally good work against Ohio; all the matches were closely contested," said Coach Hitchcock in commenting upon its wrestling meet at Columbus last Saturday.

Elmer a Surprise

Randall Elmer was the surprise of the meet. Wrestling for the first time in the conference and with the added disadvantage of competing away from the home mats, he won a decision from his 115-pound opponent. Herbert Bundy, 115-pound division, did good work although he lost the decision. It was Bundy's first meet.

Capt. Lisle Zodtner kept his record clear by winning a decision in the 145-pound division. Zodtner has secured three falls and three decisions in the six meets this year and Coach Hitchcock believes he has a good chance for winning the conference championship in his division at Minneapolis Saturday.

Michael O'Laughlin continued his winning streak by defeating his Buckeye opponent. For a new man on the squad, he has furnished strong competition in the 135-pound division and will go to the conference meet.

Wales Club Holds Regular Initiation at Riding Academy

The Prince of Wales Riding club initiated five petitioners for membership last week at the Blackhawk Riding academy. They were Alice Lyons '26, Charlotte Churchill '27, Catherine Clausen '28, Mary Louise Barter '27, and Dorothy Potter '27. Four of the members of the board of governors conducted the initiation. Herbert Brueckner, owner of the academy, Helen Mueller '27, George Hall and Miriam Wolleager '27, were in charge.

The drill team of the club has been requested by Mayor Milo Kitleson to present its drill on the capitol square for the opening of the spring show. The exhibition will be the same as the team presented at the little horse show.

100,000 ENROLLED IN MAIL COURSE

Reber Says Work Begun By Extension Division is Still Growing

The 100,000 mark in registration for correspondence courses in the university extension division has just been passed, according to Dean L. E. Reber of the extension division.

The university extension division began its correspondence study work in 1906 and is now piling registrations upon the 100,000 record. Of these, approximately 29,000 are in business courses, 15,000 in mechanical engineering subjects, 7,000 in mathematics and about 9,000 in English.

The work of university extension involves studies in 35 academic departments, and the percentage of applicants who complete their courses by correspondence is steadily increasing.

A study of the statistics year by year shows that the proportion of women, compared with men taking courses has been increasing. During the last year the proportion of women was about 36 per cent.

TEKES VICTORS IN INTER-GREEK BASKET LEAGUE

Close Game Marks Final Con- test of Season; Kappa Sigmars Third

Tau Kappa Epsilon is the interfraternity basketball champion of 1925.

In the final game last night the Tekes downed Theta Xi by a score of 11 to 5 and thereby decided the ownership of the big trophy cup. Theta Xi fought hard from first to last, but after holding the winners to a tie in the first period they fell before the basket shooting of Hornbeck, the Tekes' leading scorer.

Tyle, the fast forward of Theta Xi, was the outstanding figure in the losers' game. He was to be seen in every scuffle, and his shooting netted four of his team's five points.

Hornbeck Stars

In the first quarter Hornbeck opened up with a field goal, but Tyle soon evened the count with a shot from the side of the floor. Ellerman, of Theta Xi, broke the tie early in the second period when he sank a foul; but the lead was short lived, for Hornbeck's streak of accuracy added four points to the Teke score in the next few minutes. At the end of the first half another shot by Hornbeck brought the score to 8 to 3 in favor of the Tekes.

Tyle added a point with a free throw at the beginning of the second half following which the basket shooting of the game slowed down. Toward the end of the quarter, however, the Teke score was raised by two when Aker side-stepped a scuffle beneath the Theta Xi basket and sank a field goal. A point by Tyle and another by Guenther, of the Tekes, closed the scoring in the fourth quarter.

Alpha Chi Rho Wins

Only two field goals have been scored on the Teke team in the last three games. The guarding of Lenicheck, Christoph, and Barofsky

Wisconsin Utilities Has Fifth Annual Conference Here

The fifth annual school for electric metermen will be conducted on April 7-11, at the University of Wisconsin.

The school is held each year by the University Extension division and the College of Engineering, in cooperation with state railroad commission and the Wisconsin Utilities association. Prof. C. M. Jensky is in charge.

Last year 36 Wisconsin cities sent 48 men, and the total attendance was 51. Of these, 23 had attended previous sessions; six had enrolled in all three former schools, and eight had enrolled in two previous sessions. Some 24 different companies were represented.

The purpose of the school is to assist the electric utilities in training men for operation, testing, and maintenance of electrical measuring instruments.

A staff of instructors was used last spring.

WISCONSIN HAS 37 OF 56 FRATERNITIES

There are 37 national fraternities, out of the 56 which exist throughout the United States, in the University of Wisconsin. Of this 37 there are three which have been established here from 50 to 100 years. They are Beta Theta Pi, Pi Delta Theta, and Phi Kappa Psi. Eight others have been organized from 25 to 50 years. There are 10 which have been in existence for 10 to 25 years and 16 from one to 10 years. There are no mother or inactive chapters on this campus.

is largely responsible for this. The playing of Guenther and Hornbeck has been so good, moreover, that Doc Meanwell has placed them on his squad.

Kappa Sigma, winner of the championship for three years, took third place in the interfraternity basketball race last night when they defeated Phi Kappa Psi in the closest game of the finals with a score of 10 to 9. Alpha Chi Rho won the consolation cup by downing Delta Sigma Phi in another close match by 12 to 10.

BADGER TRACKMEN TAKE REST AFTER CONFERENCE MEET

Squad Moves Practice Track From Annex to Camp Randall

Forgetting the bitter disappointment of losing the conference track title by a narrow margin of two points after it was nearly in their grasp, the Badger track team has started to prepare for the outdoor campaign.

There is no doubt in the minds of those who have been following track all this season that the Wisconsin cinder artists are more than a match for any of the conference teams in a dual match and had it not been for the ill fate that caused Kennedy to trip on the last curve of the mile relay the indoor championship would now be resting at Wisconsin.

Move to Randall

The conference meet officially marked the close of the indoor season and no longer will a galaxy of Cardinal clad tracksters be seen running around the annex speedway as Coach Jones has moved his squad to outdoor quarters at Camp Randall.

This week will be a period of relaxation after the strain of keeping in top condition for the conference meet.

Prepare for California

The outdoor campaign will be divided into two sections. First there will be intensive training for the California trip and the Kansas and Drake relays followed by a brief rest. The final grind will be the work for the dual meets with Minnesota and Michigan and the outdoor quadrangular and conference meets.

Every Badger out for track is looking forward to the dual meet with the Wolverines in hopes that they will be able to prove to the sport world and also to home followers that they have a team that is the equal of if not better than Michigan, winner of the indoor meet.

What The Press Says Of Grainger

"There is a distinct tendency in modern times to attempt to depreciate the work of modern composers by comparison with that of the old masters, but when one hears a consummate artist such as Grainger one is forced to the realization of the fact that the moderns are making a distinct tribute to the music of the world."—Daily Telegraph, Quebec, Canada.

"When an art has been brought to a perfection, it is difficult to speak of comparative degrees of that perfection, yet, if such a thing were possible, we would say that Grainger's playing is even more glorious than ever."—Times, Montreal, N. J.

"He was able throughout to bring to his readings the rare gift of a personality rich in delightful freshness of spirit, a glittering technical power and a brilliant yet poetic style. His delivery of the Chopin sonata was finely modeled in plan and exquisitely wrought in detail. At the close he was repeatedly recalled to the stage."—Herald, New York.

FIGHT!!

There is one very prepossessing thing about Calvin Coolidge—he is no quitter. If the present situation is an accurate index of his character, he will be quite likely to continue to provide interest and excitement during his administration—the newspapers will have headlines and the public will be excited and therefore pleased. A fight is always entertaining, but a fight between the president and the senate of the United States is particularly entertaining.

DON'T

"Don't judge other people by yourself."

This maxim is so hackneyed and so time-worn that we seldom give it the thought it deserves. One of the greatest struggles of life is the avoidance of pain—both of giving and of receiving it. Probably the greatest cause of mental pain is misunderstanding, and this, in turn, is so often a result of judging the acts of another person by the motives which would have influenced oneself. We are all alike—true—but we are all different—this is both the great blessing and the great curse of life.

Perhaps a friend—or someone dearer than a friend—has said or done something we do not entirely understand. We attempt to analyze and dissect the reasons or the emotions which produced that word or deed. But in so doing we almost inevitably consider the motives, the feelings, the causes which would have produced such an effect in us. And so the conclusion which we reach may be totally incorrect. It is perhaps truly said that actions speak louder than words, but a shouting is often more hard to understand than the merest whisper. While words may be insincere, so may acts, and more, they may be even more easily misinterpreted, especially little acts of no real significance.

TO "HUCK"

Individual work seldom receives due merit in a university the size of Wisconsin. Especially so is this true in the case of athletics, where it is the team which counts more than the individual.

But special credit should be accorded to an individual who is active in a minor sport, Herbert "Huck" Schmidt who is the star of the Big Ten as a gymnast.

For four years he has concentrated on this work until he finishes this year the captain and mainstay of the team.

His work at Purdue Saturday is typical of what he has done all year. There he won first place in four of the five events and tied for third in the fifth.

He is a mighty bright star in his own field.

It might not be a bad idea if all the members of the legislature were asked to climb the hill some morning with their arms full of books, enter Bascom hall by the central doors and walk right out by the end doors. If such treacherous portals were placed on the capitol, the solons would soon have them changed.

Already the officials of the high school basketball tournament are worrying about the success of the meet. Absence of any Madison school will hurt the attendance markedly. Wisconsin students must consider it a duty as well as a pleasure to attend this tournament, or the university will lose it.

Wisconsin Should Know

THE NEEDS OF THE UNIVERSITY, 1925-1927

There are some needs which the university has always, if she is to fulfill her great function. They are not concerned with money alone. Only a well-informed public and closely-knit body of alumni can supply them. If the university is to succeed to the utmost she needs loyalty from her sons and friends and servants, faith and support from the people of the state, intelligent and far-sighted direction from the public officers who have her in charge.

The immediate physical need of the university, if she is to meet the demands which the people of the state have put upon her in the increasing number of students who have come to her doors, is money to carry on her building program. This need is inescapable and must be met. There are now 8,000 students in the university; they recite in classrooms which were provided for a maximum of 5,000 students. The number of students who can sit in a given classroom and recite under a given instructor is not a matter for argument. It is as definite as any other material fact. In the College of Letters and Science and in the College of Engineering especially there has been difficulty due to the fact that the great increases in enrollment since the war have come almost entirely in those colleges. The appropriations for operation and maintenance have been generally adequate, although with the added burden of the operation of the Wisconsin General hospital and the new building which may be forthcoming, some increase should be made even in the new operating budget.

For 10 years the university officers have faced this building shortage and made the best of it, participating, voluntarily, in the economy program of the state administration during the war years and after. This they have done in spite of their knowledge of the growing acuteness of the institution's own space problem, because it was felt that the university as a state institution should participate in the state's attempt to meet financial difficulties.

Now, however, the situation has changed. The state is in a better condition financially, and the university is faced more definitely than ever with an increased enrollment without the facilities to handle it. The Alumni association of this university feels that it would be remiss in a duty if it did not bring to the whole alumni body and to the people of the state knowledge of this situation.

The officers of the university will lay this situation before the present legislature, feeling sure that the facts will speak for themselves. The question is no longer one of economy, for in the last 10 years the university has been economical to the point of penury. It is not economy to have a university undermanned and overcrowded. It is not economy to have a number of the best of our teachers drawn away by other institutions because we cannot afford to hold them. No dollar is really saved which could better be invested in the future leadership of the state.

It is a simple question of how thoroughly the people of Wisconsin still believe in the fact that an investment in their university is an investment in the future of the state, paying large dividends in happiness and prosperity for all of its citizens. If this is so and if the university has proved again and again that it is so, then it would be folly to do less than meet the ordinary needs of that university.

It might be put in this way: the university is a living organism; buildings and land are the bones of that organism; the instructional staff and service-giving agencies are its flesh. No organism can thrive without good solid bones and healthy vigorous flesh. It may survive a period of financial malnutrition and still look healthy, but even that cannot go on for long. Our institution has been fairly well nourished as to the "flesh," but it has been lacking in its growth of the solid bony tissues which underlies the "flesh." The immediate future must provide financial increases which will make possible the all-around growth of both.

ALUMNI HANDBOOK.

Well, yesterday was St. Patrick's Day and green was seen all over the campus. We inquired the names of several of the wearers of the verdant color. They were: Schmidt, McTavish, Lencioni, Shakowitz, Baker, Murphy, Olson and Goldstein. After due reflection we wondered what a Murphy would be doing with such a color, so we went back and found that we had misunderstood his name. It was Mofsky.

But then, you can't hope to tell an Irishman by his green tie. No true son of Erin who received his check the first of the month would have enough left on the seventeenth to buy a tie.

It was a great day for the engineers. The lawyers have no day exactly like it, but there is a movement on foot (among the engineers) to have them celebrate May 14, the birthday of Ananias.

The Octy dance is coming soon, and we are still wondering what to wear. At first we were going to dress like a sailor, so we could have gobs of fun, but we later changed our mind and decided to wear an Eskimo costume so we could say that we were hot, but now we are undecided. We will have to paint our face with numbers and go as a figurehead.

When he came home the snow was so deep that he saw a couple of squirrels digging frantically, trying to find a tree to sleep in. As a result he has a cold that is so hard that it dulls his wits. DANCES IN THE CAPITOL

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:

An article in Wednesday's Daily Cardinal was to the effect that a bill was introduced in the senate prohibiting the use of the capitol for public dances. It was also stated that the bill would be held over until after the Military ball in order not to interfere with its occurrence.

It is hard to realize the real seriousness of this action. The bill was unanimously recommended to the legislature by the committee, and drastic measures seem to have been started to deprive the university of one more cherished possession—the Prom. For if this greatest of all social functions were removed from the capitol to one of the university buildings, would it seem like Prom? It would be somewhat in the nature of a mixer, there would be no thrill in going.

If the university possessed some beautiful building for just such affairs it might be different. But our worthy legislators do not deem it fit to even provide us with enough money to carry on the work of education much less to have adequate equipment to hold such events as Prom and the Military ball. This side of college life is just as essential as the educational, and lays the foundation for the future social existence of the country.

Probably the main objection to allowing the Prom and Military ball to be held in the capitol is the unfounded claim of ungentlemanly and immoral conduct of those in attendance. All the eyes of the state—through those of the legislators—will be on the Military ball. It may be that the conduct of the participants in this important dance will decide the action to be taken on the bill mentioned above.

I am sure that the students have enough respect and love for the university to realize what improper conduct at affairs such as these mean. Let's show the state that we appreciate the loan of the capitol. Show it that its presumptions are unfounded.

The capitol is a public building, built partly from the taxes of our fathers and supported partly by them and ourselves. An appreciation and respectful use of the capitol at the two annual functions will go a long way toward maintaining its use for future classes.

The above may sound like I am taking the attitude that there is disrespectful conduct at the capitol. I believe no such thing—but the legislators, who have the power, do believe it. It is up to us to show them different. We cannot give up the capitol and we will not.

Last Times Today at the Strand

Colleen Moore in "So Big"

Next Year—What?

GOING into business? If so, remember that the length of time it takes you to master certain business fundamentals is the amount of time you will have to serve in minor positions before you can occupy an executive role. In addition to your undergraduate work, which should serve as a solid foundation, it will be well to consider the advisability of special training which will help to cut off years of apprenticeship in the business world.

Babson Institute offers an intensive training course of one or two years—which teaches the fundamental principles of business and how to apply them in the daily conduct of commercial affairs.

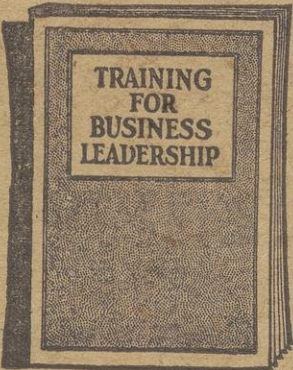

By laboratory methods the student is shown and taught the principles of Executive Management which have built many of America's leading concerns.

Babson Institute is conducted for the purpose of aiding young men, who are to occupy positions of responsibility and trust, to fill such positions ably and with credit to themselves.

Smoking Tends to Shorten Memory, Prof. Hull States

Although smoking tends to produce a shortening of the memory span while one is studying, there is no evidence that it has a lasting harmful effect upon mental processes, Prof. Clark L. Hull declared in a talk before the Lions club yesterday.

The net result of a psychological experiment he conducted a few years ago, the psychologist asserted, showed that people are subject to an enormous amount of deception regarding the subject of smoking, that the habit tends to stimulate the thinking power of habitual users, but that it is unwise to smoke during or before a study and memorizing period, and that smoking tends to stimulate heart action and increase the tremor of the hand.

His experiments, said the professor, proved that people can be made to smoke hot air with a great amount of satisfaction if helped along with a blindfold, a trick pipe and a considerable amount of humbug suggestion.

GRAINGER CONCERT TICKETS SELLING

Pianist-Composer to Give Last
Number of Union Board
Series

"Tickets for the Percy Grainger concert, the last of the Union board series, are selling rapidly," Lester Kissel '25, president of the board, says.

Percy Grainger, the young Australian pianist, who will be heard at the stock pavilion April 1, likes Americans. He has expressed his respect for the country by becoming an American citizen in 1918, while serving in the United States army.

One of his statements recently has been that "only people who are overworked are not artists, and that in America no native born American is overworked." Thus Percy Grainger has implied that all Americans are artistic. He was quite serious about the matter, for to him there is art in nearly all the natural expressions of human life. He finds our advertisements, and the construction of great buildings just as high a form of art as the most difficult music in the world.

"I can see no difference in them all," he has said, "as far as one being better than the other is concerned. After all it is only a matter of personal preference, and the truly universal artist should be able to comprehend one sort of art as well as another."

Tickets are on sale at Hook's music store.

PICK SCRIBES FOR COUNTRY PAPERS

Three Teams Will Manage Rural Weeklies During Spring Vacation

Three teams of four members each have been named by Prof. E. M. Johnson of the Course in Journalism which will take over the management of three country weeklies during the spring recess, April 8 to 14.

In the past four years the class in community newspapers has sent a total of 14 teams to 11 different towns. Professor Johnson stated that the results have been so satisfactory that the number of publishers seeking teams has always exceeded the capacity of the class.

Most courses in journalism send their classes and instructors on such trips, but under the plan used here students assume entire charge and are placed on their own initiative and responsibility for obtaining and publishing all news and advertising.

The members of the team are Earl Pomeroy '25, managing editor; Lewis Mrkvicka '25, Miriam Weiss '26, and William Douda '26; Max Ninman '26, managing editor; Jewel Dean '25, Margaret Patch '26, and Robert Lewin '26; Palmer Narvason '26, managing editor; Elizabeth Ellingson '26, Kathryn Shattuck '25, and Howard Koehn '26.

Dr. A. S. Loevenhart of the Medical school along with some other citizens has proposed to reorganize the Madison Zoological society for the primary purpose of enlarging the zoo at Vilas park. The revived society, according to Dr. Loevenhart, will plan exhibits, foster and encourage zoological research, and seek to increase public interest in wild animals.

A Wardrobe for Cinderella!

Breathless days, these! Whispered admiration. The flutter of chiffon and fine silks. The sparkle of rhinestones. For every brown packing box, looking for all the world as sombre as a faded chrysalis, opens to reveal its shimmering butterfly—a new gown for the Spring Fashion Show.

The more mysterious the label, the lovelier the gown. Such bewitching ensembles, gay in color and fetching in line. Rippling flares, cascading jabots, lace, godets. Flowers that coquet on slim shoulders. Coats of strange new fabrics trimmed in softest furs. The smartest shops in New York have created them for the Parkway Style show.

And now, these same alluring costumes are safely hung away, awaiting their Cinderella. Do plan to see them! At the Parkway—Wednesday to Saturday!

Manfords

"I AM STYLE! I rule the world of fashion. My kingdom is as wide as the earth itself. I glorify womanhood. Youth and beauty enshrine me. I am a person of whims. I am obeyed. For I AM STYLE!"

At my command have been created gowns of wondrous texture and enchanting color. Wraps of rich fabrics trimmed in furs of my own choosing. Hats that bring youth and beauty. Accessories that shall distinguish costumes for every occasion of a Summer day. Lingerie for languorous hours of leisure.

These have I commanded to appear in presentation—worn by lovely mannequins—at the Parkway Theater.

You are invited to review my new creations. This is my command. For I AM STYLE!"
