R. Owen Names Decoration Day Program Heads

Faculty Members to Direct Memorial Day Exercises

Final appointments for the university committee for Memorial Day exercises were made by Prof. R. S. Owen, of the college of engineering, chairman of the committee, at a meeting held Tuesday night.

Lieut. George A. Chandler, assistant secretary of the faculty, will be assistant general chairman of the university committee. A. F. Gallistel, superintendent of buildings and grounds, will supervise the placing of chairs, decorations, and wreaths.

Ritger Directs Traffic

Colonel F. X. Ritger, purchasing agent for the university, will be general chairman of the committee to direct traffic. He will be assisted by Lieut. D. H. Pletta, instructor in mechanics, and George Schlotthauer, the representative from Scabbard and Blade fraternity. Members of the fraternity will direct the traffic.

Maj. George W. Keitt, professor of plant pathology, will have charge of the wreath-bearing ceremonies. Lieut. Donald C. Burnett, first lieutenant of the infantry, will be in charge of the president's guard, which will be also the guard of honor for the university wreath-bearer.

Kessler to Blow Taps

Lieut. Lewis H. Kessler, professor of hydraulic engineering, will have charge of the gold star mothers and their escorts, the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and their escorts, and the widows of the Grand Army of the Republic and their escorts. Lieut. Kessler will also be the bugler and will blow taps at the end of the exercises on Lincoln terrace.

Prof. E. B. Gordon will lead the singing by the assembly. Prof. E. E. Swinney will direct the glee club, and Prof. E. W. Murphy will conduct the band. Miss Susan B. Davis and Miss M. L. Gunter, assistant to the dean of women, will have charge of the women's parts in the wreath-bearing ceremonies.

Law Graduate Now Youngest City Attorney

Climaxing an exciting campaign, Laurence Gram, a graduate of the law school with the class of 1927, achieved an unusual success for a young lawyer by being elected city attorney of West Allis. This election makes Mr. Gram, who is only 25 years old, the youngest city attorney in the state, and one of the youngest in the country. After leaving Madison, Mr. Gram worked in the law office of George Morton, a Milwaukee attorney. He then ran for office in his home town, West Allis, where he was born and educated.

Gram's opponent fought his election because of youth and inexperience, using parades, tags, and aeroplane stunts to make the campaign colorful. Gram was behind his opponent by 440 votes in the primaries, but he succeeded in winning his election with a majority of 900 votes. West Allis is a town of 30,000.

Gram worked his way through school by doing stenographic work. He is a member of Hesperia Literary society.

Frank Will Give Three Speeches in Wisconsin

President Glenn Frank spoke Wednesday afternoon in Milwaukee before the opening session of the thirteenth annual convention of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities.

Prof. Ford H. MacGregor and ex-Regent Theodore H. Kronshage are also on the program.

President Frank speaks at a public meeting in Neillsville, Wis., on Thursday evening, and gives the commencement address at Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wis., on Friday morning.

Path of True Art Beset with Trials

"Oh . . .," shrieked the pretty little thing clad in a flesh-colored bathing suit, "There are bugs on this tree!"

Bugs are very annoying to any co-ed but when she is modeling for an art class, they are really more than a nuisance, especially when her back is all scratched from the rough bark, and she has been in one position for a long time. But then, what isn't sacrificed for art . . . and 50 cents an hour?

There are a good many students who pose regularly for the various art classes, amateurs getting paid at the rate of 50 cents an hour. Sometimes the models are costumed, other times they work merely in their street clothes. The work is not hard and is really very interesting; it must be amusing to see so many different attempts to reproduce one's likeness. And how one's defects are magnetized! But it's all in the learning and really lots of fun for both artist and model.

Faculty Advises New Major Study

Prof. P. M. Buck Proposes Comparative Literature Course

Plans for an undergraduate major in comparative literature at the state university have been approved this week by faculty action. Prof. P. M. Buck, professor of comparative literature, presented the project.

Courses in comparative literature include those in which readings are mainly in English translation, and those in which an easy reading knowledge of one or more foreign literatures is required.

A major would also require a combination of work in two or more literatures, including a certain amount of credit in one foreign literature. Typical combinations would include an ancient and a modern literature, or two modern literatures. Corresponding courses in history, philosophy, or art will be taken by the student.

"It is further required that the completed work show a degree of continuity; that is to say, the elections will necessarily be in the same or related periods of literary history, or will include the same or similar literary types," reads the proposal.

Delta Sigma Rho Plans 1929 Forensic Revival; J. Roe Suggests Method

At an initiation and business meeting of Delta Sigma Rho national honorary forensic fraternity, which was held Wednesday evening at the University club, a plan for the revival and stimulation of forensic interest on the university campus was proposed by Jack Roe, newly elected chapter president. Such constructive measures as the backing of a proposed Wisconsin-Harvard debate were the main topics of discussion.

The officers elected for the coming year are: president, Jack Roe; vice-president, Cornelia Fleith; secretary-treasurer, Ruth Sherer; sergeant-at-arms, Joseph Lieberman. The following new members were initiated: Wells Harrington, Cornelia Fleith, Elizabeth Murphy, Ruth Sherer, Walter Graunke, Joseph Lieberman, Max Wax and Maurice Weinberg.

An address by Professor Ewbank, national vice-president of the fraternity, was delivered during the banquet.

Tennessee University Signs Professor Kind

Prof. John L. Kind, member of the German department at the university from 1905 to 1919 and now a public accountant with Karl F. McMurry of Madison, has been named head of the German language department at the University of Tennessee, in Knoxville, Tennessee. Professor and Mrs. Kind will leave for Tennessee in about two months.

Badgers Ready for Open Sale Friday Morning

Books Will Be Distributed on Union Building Lawn

The 1929 Badger, richer in illustrations and with several innovations in make-up, will appear on the campus Friday morning when distribution and open sale begins.

Beginning Friday morning and continuing through Saturday and Monday Badgers will be issued from the porch and lawn of the Union building.

Sales Price Is $5

Special arrangements are being made for distribution to Adams and Tripp halls Friday. The price for general sale will be $5.

The Badger staff, 120 in number, who have worked on the year book since last May will attend the staff banquet to be held at the Loraine hotel at 6:30 tonight.

Grube in Charge of Banquet

Editor William Grube is in charge of the banquet and will be one of the speakers of the evening. Herbert Brockhausen of the Brock Engraving company, Madison, will be the toastmaster. Brockhausen had complete charge of the engravings for this year's Badger.

Walter Fitzgerald, retiring business manager, and Stuart Higley, editor of next year's Badger, will also speak. A complimentary copy of the Badger will be presented to each staff member tonight at the banquet.

Crew Will Not Go East

According to Dad Vail

According to advices received over the telephone last night at midnight from Les Gage, publicity manager for the athletic department, Coach "Dad" Vail decided definitely Wednesday morning not to send the crew to Poughkeepsie this year.

Le Misanthrope Has High Rating

Continental Play Compares with Hamlet and Faust

"Le Misanthrope," to be given in Bascom theater, May 25 and 26, by the Curtain club, will be an event of first-rate importance in Madison dramatics, according to people who have read the play and seen rehearsals.

The play itself holds a position in the literature of France comparable with that of "Hamlet" in English-speaking nations, and "Faust" in Germany. It is said to represent much of Moliere's own autobiography, with many scenes from his unhappy life. However, it is generally considered the greatest comedy in the world's literature.

Are You a Dub? Blame Your Adrenal Glands, Says Gilman

Are you a dub? Maybe it's the spring, but maybe, too, your adrenal gland has something to do with it.

The claim that excessive functioning of the adrenal gland accounts for mental wizards and slow functioning of the gland makes one a dumb-bell was made by Prof. Stephen W. Gilman, of the commerce department, in an address to the Racine county business men at Burlington Tuesday.

Although the adrenal gland is the one which controls the emotions, nothing was said to associate university life with geniuses.

President Glenn Frank was one of the persons named as a man in whom the adrenal gland functions excessively. Other men of this type whom

Faculty Conduct Group Takes Step to Put Stop to Regulation Violation

Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Alpha Delta, and Sigma Nu fraternities were placed on probation with forfeiture of social privileges and privileges of initiation from May 23 to the end of the first semester of 1928-29 Wednesday by the Committee on Student Life and Interests for violation of faculty regulations governing fraternity initiations.

Four other fraternities received lesser penalties, and two were given public warning. The announcement of the fraternities involved was included as a part of the penalty in each case.

Tau Kappa Epsilon forfeits social privileges from May 23 to the end of the first semester, 1928-29.

Delta Upsilon and Pi Lambda Phi forfeit social privileges from May 23 to December 1, 1928. In the former of these two cases the violation was committed without chapter sanction by graduate members after the close of the second semester last year.

Two Receive Warning
Phi Pi Phi and Phi Kappa Tau were warned by the committee.

The Committee on Student Life and Interests became convinced that some fraternities were violating the faculty regulations governing initiations by initiating ineligible men and by initiating men who had not been certified by the Committee, a statement issued with the announcement of penalties declared.

Suspicions Confirmed
"It has carried on an investigation in recent weeks and found its suspicions confirmed. The Committee has assessed penalties on ten fraternities, a part of the penalty in each case (Continued on Page 2)

R.O.T.C. Parades in Final Review

Col. Barnes Will Take Part for Last Time at University

The annual war department inspection and review parade of the Wisconsin R. O. T. C. will be held this afternoon from 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock on the lower campus. This will be the last parade of the year and the last in which Lieut. Col. Joseph F. Barnes will participate at this university.

Major Winchell I. Razor, signal corps, and Capt. Charles W. Jones, second infantry corps of the United States army, are to be the officers who will inspect and review the local R. O. T. C. unit this afternoon.

The artillery corps will be inspected at Camp Randall as soon as the review of the infantry corps is finished at the lower campus. The signal corps was inspected Wednesday.

The results of the inspection will not be known until a month of two from now, as the report is to be forwarded to the headquarters in Chicago and then sent to Washington and recorded there. The results are then sent here.

This event is the last in which Col. Barnes will be present while at this university. He has been transferred to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and will be in charge of the regiment of artillery there. Col. Barnes has been in command here for three years. He intends to leave for his new post sometime in August.

Junior Group Will Give Second Twilight Band Concert Tonight at 6:15

The second twilight concert of the year will be given on Lincoln terrace at 6:15 o'clock tonight by the university junior band under the direction of Thomas L. Bailey.

The program tonight is repeated by request, and will be the same as that presented last Thursday night. Several fraternities and sororities have planned early dinners tonight, so enable members to attend the early concerts.

The University Concert band, under the baton of Prof. E. W. Murphy, will play the twilight concert next week, and once a week thereafter through the final examination period.

Last Concert of Orchestra Set Tonight

The last concert of the year will be given tonight when the university concert and ensemble groups, under the direction of Prof. E. W. Murphy, play programs in Music hall at 8:15 o'clock.

One of the most interesting features of the orchestra program will be the "Concert Overture" by Dr. Charles H. Mills, director of the university school of music. The overture is one that adheres to the strict classical form, and is written for complete symphony orchestra. It has been called and interesting and skillful piece of composition by several well-known critics.

Other compositions of interest include the Haydn "String Quartet in G Major," to be played by Stuart A. Lyman, violin, William A. Calder, violin, Morris N. Wolkomir, viola, and Herbert Heise, cello, and a Mozart "Quintet for French Horns and Strings," to be played by Asher E. Treat, French horn, Esther Haight, violin, Eric Schae, violin, Fred Baumann, viola, and Hans Gebhart cello. A second quartet, composed of Louise Rood, violin, Anita Vinograd, violin, Anthony Donovan, viola, and Leon Persson, cello, will play Dvorak's "Quartet in F Major."

Glee Club Initiates New Men Wednesday

The following men were initiated into active membership in the Corporation of the University of Wisconsin Men's Glee club at Music hall Wednesday night, according to Dave J. Roberts, president of the concert club:

H. Bishop '29, W. J. Robinson '30, C. F. Weiler '29, Homer Byrge '31, O. C. Leonard '31, G. C. Ward '28, G. O. Johnson, grad, L. W. Tice '21, Arno Meyers '30, J. J. Dixon '30, R. F. Molzahn '30, W. C. Rogers '29, T. Stine, grad, K. E. Westby '29, J. C. Anderson '29, E. C. Crouse '29, Lee Kline '29, D. Robertson '30, Sidney Thronson '30, G. Seefeld '30, A. Kuenker '30, and Theron Pray '21.

To climax the year's active program there will be an annual spring banquet to be held at the Loraine hotel on the evening of May 26.

Civil War Veterans to have Patriotic Program May 26

For the benefit of the state G. A. R. encampment, which will be held in Madison, June 12-14, the local chapter of the Sons of the Union Veterans of the Civil War have arranged a patriotic and historical program which will be staged at Music hall on the evening of May 26. The proceeds will be used for the entertainment of the visitors and delegates.

Several movies, some of which have been leased from the University Extension department, will feature the program. An one-reel movie, entitled "Wisconsin's contribution to the First 10,000," was filmed here at Madison, and shows some of the university boys who took part in the World war being escorted to the station and bid good-bye by the local G. A. R. post.

There will be two Abraham Lincoln films, one called "The Land of Opportunity," showing him in one of his famous "good samaritan" acts, and the other called "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," dealing with Lincoln during the war. Mrs. Mary Horton, Madison, will sing the Hymn before the showing of the film.

Another movie is the three reel, "Siege of Yorktown," showing the surrender of Cornwallis to Washington. Among other features will be a speech by a Civil war veteran, a resident of Madison, who knew Lincoln and Gen. U. S. Grant. He heard the former at Gettysburg, and at his second inaugural, and was present at Ford theater when he was shot.

At this program, the E. F. U. fifes and drum corps, composed of 14 Madison young ladies, under the direction of H. S. Bostock, will make their first appearance to a local audience. The Boy Scout's drum and bugle corps also will be on the program; and song slides will be shown to the accompaniment of community singing.

Le Misanthrope Has High Rating

(Continued from Page 1) literary and poetic value, will add to the attractiveness of the play. It is the first translation of Moliere into rhyming verse, and its suitability for the stage makes it an ideal medium for the Curtain club's players.

Prof. E. H. Bryne, who plays the role of Alceste, the misanthrope, has had much experience in dramatics since the organization of the Curtain club in 1919. He has played in five of their productions, with several leading parts, notably in "The White-Headed Boy," produced in 1928.

Jeanne Greenleaf, who plays the role of Arsinoe, has had dramatic training in Paris under the famous Mounet-Sully of the Comedie Francaise and Cealis of the Odeon. She has coached most of the romance language plays on the campus since she came here, and has had previous experience in character acting on both the French and American stage.

Prof. C. F. Gillen, who plays the role of Acante, is well known in Madison through his beautiful readings of Canadian poetry and through his recitals in company with Prof. Vasiliev. He is well cast in his present role.

State High School Forensic Contests to Begin Tonight

The annual Wisconsin High school forensic contests sponsored by the Forensic board and the University Extension division will begin at 8 o'clock tonight in the assembly room of the state capitol with a contest in oratory. Tomorrow's events will include declamation and reading contests in the morning and an extemporaneous speaking contest in the afternoon.

Daily Reports of Badger Teams

Cardinal Nine Meets Illinois

Jacobson May Take Mound; Mansfield, Decker, Mat- thiesen Look Good

Although the attention of most Wisconsin sports fans will be centered upon what is going on in the Big Ten track meet at Northwestern next Friday, the Cardinal baseball team will entertain the home folks with an exhibition against Illinois Saturday afternoon on the Camp Randall diamond.

Little more need be said about the game with Iowa last Monday. Enough "razeberries" have already been hurled at both the Cardinals and the parents of game Monday, as well as college baseball in general, and it is best to forget the match or make the conclusion that every team (even the Chicago Cubs and the New York Yankees) has an "off" day once in a while, so why not be lenient with our own team?

Some Star Playing

After all there was some sparkling play by some of the Wisconsin players, most notable of which was the playing of Art Mansfield at first base and at bat.

Mansfield fielded his position perfectly, taking many poor throws without a bobble and making a nice double play unassisted. At bat "Dyne" cracked out two singles and two doubles in four times to bring up his batting average and incidentally win the game.

John Decker looked good at short and surprised everybody by cracking out three singles.

But, perhaps, the outstanding feature of the game was the two nice singles that rolled off the bat of Carl Matthiesen. "Matty" had previously failed to register a single hit throughout the season although he had been hitting the ball, but not in the right spots. His two singles Monday seem to point to the fact that "Matty" may now be considered a hitter as well as a good third sacker, although it must be admitted that he did not look as impressive as usual in his performance around the hot corner against Iowa.

Illi Win From Gophers

Undoubtedly the Badgers will be hitting the ball again Saturday if they intend to beat the Illini. On the same day that the Cardinals were pounding out a victory against Iowa, Illinois was trouncing the lowly Gophers by the score of 17 to 0. Compare this with the fact that Wisconsin was able to beat the Gophers only 4 to 3 in 10 innings.

On the other hand Minnesota was playing even worse ball than was displayed at Randall Monday. Eight errors accounted for many of the Illinois runs. Although the Illini did get 13 hits, this is no more than Wisconsin garnered from three Iowa pitchers.

It is probable that "Irv" Jacobsen will start against the Illini, as it is his turn to take the mound. In the first game between the two nines at Urbana, Jacobsen held the Suckers to five hits and Wisconsin won, 5 to 2.

Illinois is lower in the conference standings than is Wisconsin, but it must be remembered that the Illini were co-champions last year and have a nine this year that should not be under-rated.

Delta Zeta, Chad Win in Ball Games

Chadbourne hall and Delta Zeta were victors Wednesday in the first games run off of the final round in the women's intramural baseball tournament. This gives both teams the right to enter in the semi-finals which will be played next week.

Chadbourne hall won from the powerful Tri Delt nine with a score of 11-7. Being eliminated thus in the baseball competition, the Tri Delt will no longer have a chance at the all-year championship. The game was a close one, the Tri Delt leading until the third inning, when Chad managed to hit out seven runs.

In another game played Wednesday in the Lathrop gym, Delta Zeta effected a victory over Pi Omega Pi, with the score of 10-6. The Delta Zeta players had the lead on their opponents for the greater part of the match, and it was unnecessary to finish out the last inning.

None of the players in the Curtain club plays "Le Misanthrope," which is to be given May 25 and 26, have ever run away from home to go on the stage. This establishes a new record for Wisconsin dramatics.

Sam Behr Wins 'W' Club Award; 22 Earn Medals

Sam Behr, freshman football, basketball, and track star, has been announced winner of the coveted Madison "W" club cup for showing the best all-around playing ability of all men out for spring practices. He was selected by a committee of all the coaches.

Twenty-two members of the Navy team have been selected to receive medals for winning their game from the Army. They are: Backus, Behr, Cinkosky, Casey, Davidson, Davies, Engelhorn, Gantenbein, Hoppe, Kurth, Kowalsky, Linden, C. Miller, Mathias, Nelson, Minton, Price, Rottman, Schilling, K. Smith, Sheehan, Weigant.

This year's practice was one of the most successful ever held at Wisconsin according to head coach Thistlethwaite, and next year's prospects will be rosy. With 120 men left at the end of spring practice to form the nucleus of the "A" team, together with others selected from the "B" team, Wisconsin may hope for a winning team, in spite of the inexperience of the majority of the players. Should the freshmen remain eligible, those veterans who this year held down posts will be forced to report in the best of condition and hustle to the utmost to avoid being placed on the "B" team for the season. No positions will be maintained because of last year's ability.

The plan, as now perfected, for next year's squad will be to have those 120 men who played on the Army and Navy squads for the "A" team. All others will report for the "B" team. After a week's practice, those showing exceptional ability will be sent to the "A" team, but no one will be certain of remaining there unless his work remains at a high standard.

Letters, requesting those who are eligible to report on Sept. 15, will be sent out this spring. Another series of letters will go out later in the summer to remind the boys of the supreme importance of returning in good condition next fall.

The best ability shown was in the offensive department, while several good punters were discovered. The defensive ability of the players, however, will undoubtedly show more development with a little practice, again providing that the boys hit the books at the coming examinations.

View Prospects in Big Ten Meet

Coach Jones Takes Twenty- one Men to Evanston; Leave Tomorrow

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles regarding Big Ten track athletes and their prospects for the Western conference meet Friday and Saturday.

By Harold Dubinsky

It was agreed Wednesday that Cooper, Cuhel, and Pahlmeyer all had good chances of taking the 120-yard high hurdle race in the Big Ten meet Saturday at the Dyche stadium at Evanston. In the low hurdles the best time this season has been made by Cooper. He did the race in 23.8, which is moving right along.

But despite his time, the general opinion is that Cuhel, the Iowa Olympic candidate, will take the low hurdles. Cooper will probably take second place, with Otterness, Jones, Rogers and Rockaway all scrapping for the other three places. Jones, of Michigan, seems to have sufficient ability to let him in for a third place, but it is difficult to predict. Rockaway is quite a hurdler himself and might prove to some of the that predictions mean little or nothing. Wisconsin will have Murphy, Ziese, and Hunkel in the low hurdles.

Droegemueller Will Win

Without putting forth a great deal of effort, Droegemueller of Northwestern should easily take the pole vault. He broke the conference record at the quadrangular meet in Madison some few weeks ago with a 13 feet 6 1/2 inch vault. There is no one in the conference who can come near Droegemueller, now that McGinnis, his greatest rival, had graduated.

Illinois and Minnesota will split the remainder of the points in the pole vault. Illinois has Barnes, White and Hunkel in the low hurdles.

Thelander and Baseball

We are firmly convinced that Wisconsin could now be in the first division of the Big Ten baseball race if Ted Thelander, the young Badger pitcher, could show enough spirit to come through. We are not prejudice toward Thelander, but we do think is lacking in the good old Wisconsin spirit.

A pitcher must have that will to win. He must be doing all he can for the old school. Now we realize that this is old stuff, but it applies perfectly. Thelander is a very capable pitcher. He has unexcelled mastery and control when he feels like having it. We sincerely hope he can come into his powers before the Illinois game Saturday. If he pitches, we hope he proves that we are absolutely wrong about his spirit.

Thistlethwaite Speaks

We were idly straying around the Badger gym yesterday when Coach Thistlethwaite called us in. He got through with the business on hand and then we started to question him.

He agreed that Wisconsin will have a powerful football team next year. He was glad that Notre Dame is the first team on the Badger schedule. He thought the past spring practice showed the Badgers must stronger than last year. Offensively, the spring squad looked dangerous, but defensively weak.

He pleaded that the football candidates get to work and come through with their examinations. He begged the Wisconsin fans to bear with the team next fall, in defeat or victory.

And Yet They Hesitate

Tuesday the Badger crew had a very disappointing time trial. We have a notion that the time trial practically killed all chances of going to Poughkeepsie, although we are still in hopes that the news will be favorable. Hesitation and deliberation must come to an end soon, because the time for the event is rapidly nearing.

Kingsbury is back at stroke. Goodman, is working in his old place. Capt. Orth is filling his place well. And all in all, the eight seems to be a pretty good one.

Tennis and Golf

Starting today the Wisconsin tennis team will compete at Lafayette for the Big Ten title. The Badger golf team will not go to the Western conference meet at Columbus, Ohio, according to Coach Leith.

We think the tennis team has an excellent chance of taking a title, but our predictions are not infallible. Because they have not shown the proper strength, the golf men were not entered.

Swimmers Exhibit for Columbus Club

The university swimming team will have occasion to display its ability in an exhibition under the auspices of the Columbus Civic club at Columbus, Wis., at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night.

Fancy swimming strokes will be demonstrated as well as fancy diving, and Red Cross rescue work. Other features will be a 160-yard relay and a 100-yard breast and back stroke races.

The following members of the Cardinal team will participate in the various events: Steinauer, Nickerson, Lange, Davis, Crowley, Vinson, Hathaway, Kratz, Raab, Wade, Carlson, Meyer, Windsey and McGovern.

Fraternities Play Baseball Matches; Protest One Game

Three matches of the first round of the final games in the interfraternity league were decided yesterday, another remaining under protest. The final game in division two was also made a thing of the past. The game under protest was played by Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Epsilon Kappa, and was protested by the latter on account of Ellerman's being used as pitcher by the Pi K A's.

DKE's Win

The DKE's, last year's champions in the league won an exciting contest from Farm House. As usual, Burbank was on the mound for Delta Kappa Epsilon, and being up to his usual form Farm House was more or less under his power. The total safety, four, accumulated by the Farm House team is ample proof of his effectiveness. During the progress of the battle he sent six men back to the bench via the strikeout route.

Opperson of the Farm House pitched a good game as well, despite the fact that he lost. The DKE's garnered just six hits off his delivery. He whiffed only three men, but gave no free tickets, whereas Burbank gave one. The DKE pitcher had a speedy double to help pull him out of his difficulties in one place, while the Farm House boys, although playing a steady game all the way, had none of this sparkling work in their repertoire.

The delta Sigma Pi's and the Theta Delta Chi's staged a real thriller Wednesday, when the former nosed out the Theta Delt's in a belated rally.

Theta Delta Chi took the lead in the third with a three run plunge, but the Delta Sigs came right back in their half of the fourth with six count.

The Theta Delt's threw a scare into the Delta Sig camp in the first of the fifth. Larson, first up, singled, stole second, and went to third when the base was overthrown. Sykes went back to the bench with a count of three. Miller also fanned, but Meagher dropped the ball, and in heaving to first hit the Theta Delt in the head. Miller was safe, Larson scoring because of bad base-ball on the part of the Theta Delt's. Miller got around to third on bad throws, scoring on Larson's wild pitch. Lawson put the next two away on strikes and the game was over.

Score by Innings:

Tennis, Swimming Are First
Events; Track Meet on Saturday

By FRANK CARNEY

On Friday morning at nine o'clock, tennis, the first event of the state high school meet will get under way. Play in the state tennis championships includes doubles and singles. The scoring for the annual championship is five points for first place, three for second, and one for a third in both singles and doubles. The victorious squad will be given a suitable trophy, while members of the winning team will receive gold medals, the second team silver medals and the third bronze. The first three men in the singles tournament will also receive medals.

The swimming meet will also take place Friday. The first event in the aquatic tournament will be held at 7 p. m. in the "little red armory." Events on the swimming program include the 160 yard relay, 100 yard breast stroke, 40 yard crawl, 100 yard back stroke, 100 yard crawl, and fancy diving.

Track Meet Saturday

The big thing of the two day conference, the track competition, begins at ten o'clock Saturday morning. The first event to raise the curtain for the thirty fourth annual track and field games will be the preliminaries in the 100 yard dash. Following this will come the prelims in the 220 yard dash, the 120 yard high hurdles and the 220 yard low hurdles.

While the preliminaries in the short runs and hurdles are taking place the field men will be having their trials. Qualifying marks will be established in these events, and only those surviving the early tests will be able to take part in the finals in the afternoon.

The afternoon session of the meet will start at 1:30 o'clock with the running off of the semifinals in the 100 yard dash. The long runs in each division will be divided up, into two stages, should the entries be too large for the track.

In case two races are run off of a single event, the winners in each race will be awarded the full number of points and will receive medals just as if they were two separate events.

Class A will come first in the running off of all events and class B and C will follow in their respective order.

Following are the schools entered in track, in tennis, and in swimming with the number of men each has entered.

Track Entries Named

New Strength Is Apparent

The Inter-fraternity Council Again Promises Completion of a Significant Work

THAT new strength has been added to the once nearly defunct Interfraternity council became apparent Tuesday night with the installation and election of an Interfraternity Court under the guidance of Prof. Oliver S. Rundell of the law school faculty. Considering the organization of the court, with its four student members and faculty mediator, one may infer that the new council really means serious business. Since members of the court are not eligible for any other campus elective office, the court will be insured of the concentration of the members upon their duties.

A powerful constitution for the council has been drafted. The court has been organized with the purpose of carrying out and putting into effect the provisions of the Council and constitution. This in itself will be no small piece of work as the deferred rushing legislation enacted by the Interfraternity council is going to require rigid and unequivocal enforcement if it is to be effective. Upon the members of this court, then, will fall the responsibility of punishing and preventing violations by the fraternities. Such a task will not always be easy, for after all, it will be member organizations that will have to be prosecuted in the event of violations. The job is big, but if done with the vigor and fairness contemplated by the men behind the new Interfraternity council and court, its accomplishment will be something unparalleled in student government, both upon this and upon the campuses of other universities.

Drawing Fire Again

The Regents Might Reconsider Their Policy of Refusing Rockefeller Funds

THE policy of the Regents of the university to refuse funds from such institutions as the Rockefeller foundation has drawn new fire, this time from a local paper, the Wisconsin State Journal. In an editorial its editors characterize the policy as the "Robbing of Wisconsin for Political Thunder." Whether or not this is a fair criticism is questionable, but the fact remains that the near-sighted policy of the Board of Regents has undoubtedly deprived the University of Wisconsin of a considerable source of revenue.

That professors of science who are carrying on research could conveniently use such revenue is evident. It appears likely, then, that a continued refusal of funds may seriously cramp the progress of the university in original fields of research and investigation. In refusing such financial aid, Wisconsin is almost unique among the other colleges and universities of the country. The reason given for such a stand is that "Strings" may be attached to funds which have been awarded. Again, such a statement is questionable, and, all in all, a reconsideration of the avowed policy of refusal would be an applaudable action of the Regents.

Petty Charges, Mr. Meyer

The Capital Times Should Apply Ethical Rules Before Knocking University Officials

"ERNIE" L. MEYER of the Capital Times has, in the past few weeks, directed remarks none to complimentary toward several heads of the administrative staff of the university. His quarrel, if it can be called such, is based upon an alleged discrepancy in the conduct of Dean Goodnight and President Frank, who denied Dora Russell and audience and at the same time allowed Gilda Gray to be feted.

In the course of his quarrel, he attacks Dean Goodnight for a comparison he is alleged to have made at the Gridiron banquet some time ago, namely, placing Dora Russell in the same class as the pole cat. Dean Goodnight, if he ever did make the comparison, supposedly was wildly applauded for it. We may infer that this gets under the skin of the affable and Mencheneau gentleman of the Capital Times. Because Dean Goodnight received a Red Derby for his efforts at the Gridiron banquet, Mr. Meyer hastens to point out to his patronage that it was not a thinking cap.

Criticism of this character hardly befits the Capital Times in its role as the official paper of the state of Wisconsin. If there is fault to be picked with the policies of the university administration, let it be picked in a manner befitting educated gentlemen and not in the manner of the street urchin who thumbs his nose.

Mr. Meyer does not agree that Dora Russell should have been refused a Wisconsin audience, and there are many who will agree with him at this point. He mentions the fact that Dartmouth, a non-coeducational institution, allowed her to speak. As Dean Goodnight and President Frank pointed out, however, the reason for excluding Mrs. Russell was based upon the grounds that Wisconsin is a coeducational university, and, as such, could not justifiably, allow her to speak. Of what assistance is it to Mr. Meyer's argument, then, to compare Dartmouth to Wisconsin?

The virtues of Gilda Gray, the shimmy artist, as compared to the wife of Bertrand Russell, should not be an excuse for the attack which Mr. Meyer seems intent to launch upon Dean Goodnight and certain other administrative heads of the university. This general fault finding upon the part of the Capital Times with university institutions and leaders reflects a policy, which, if continued, will bring the paper to disrepute among thinking university men and women. Destructive rather than constructive comment, narrow rather than broad criticism, and personal rather than unbiased statements are hardly applaudable journalistic politics, as the Times may think.

Due Recognition

The Electees to "Arrowhead" Have Done Much to Help Dormitory Government

TUESDAY night another honor society came into existence on the campus, when announcement was made of elections to "Arrowhead," an organization formed by Adams and Tripp halls for the purpose of giving recognition to leaders in dormitory life. The men elected have all done progressive work in the establishment of the men's dormitories during the past two years.

Much of the activity of this honor group have gone unrecorded, but the final result is a monument to the splendid effort they have put forth. Today Don Halverson, director of the dormitories, admits that they have been firmly established as a living Wisconsin institution. Rooms are coveted now by twice as many men as can be accommodated next year. The dormitories themselves achieved a definite place in the life of the men of Wisconsin.

Student government has been a great success both at Tripp and Adams halls. Students have actively managed the affairs of government and have shown remarkable ability in carrying on the work. In a recent voting for the presidents of next year's dormitories, 75 percent of the eligible electorate turned out. Such a percentage has, perhaps, never been achieved elsewhere on the campus unless it has been in those years in which more people were credited with voting than had registered.

The workings of a student and fellows court, which has handled with swiftness the disciplinary cases that have arisen during the year, has been one of the features of the dormitory government. While it is true that a part of the work may have been stimulated by dormitory fellows, one must concede that the students have stepped in and handled their government effectively. Some day, we feel, the whole of Wisconsin's male student body may be housed in university dormitories, and to that day we may well look forward to with anticipation, if the success of the present dormitories may be taken as a basis of measurement.

While the true success of the dormitories may rest mostly in the cool and efficient judgment of men like Mr. Halverson, Dr. Bradley, and other members of the dormitory committee, who have directed all their energy toward the promotion and establishment of the dormitories, still much of the accomplishment must reasonably be attributed to the students chosen to the society of the "Arrowhead."

Coming to the Point

But you have to give Michigan the palm for teamwork, the professor continues. They had nine men in every argument.

ENTERPRISE

The Interfraternity council is purported to be doing enormous things in a rather large way although some doubt is yet held as to the advisability of the recently adopted system of deferred rushing.

One enterprising and not unintelligent young barrister announces that rushing of fraternity material next fall will be done entirely by women (ladies?) and hastens to support his theories with the case of Minnie, the well-known hussy of the University of Minnesota, who dates the cream of the freshman crop and tells them in a maternal way all about fraternities.

It is also recorded that she collects a bounty on each protege who pledges any of three certain houses. That's enterprise for you. Get busy, girls.

TOWN TOPICS

Badger satire, under the able hand of yesterday's conductor of this column is progressing famously. One would wonder if there isn't a slight danger in cornering the humor market. Rockets, Badger satire, and Octy scandals seem to be rather a large item to fill. Of course, the brothers assist nobly.

We'll hand the laurels for the col to our brothers in bondage today. All we could do after reading it was to feebly gasp, thereby spiting an infinitive and several unmentionables.

But there are additions which should be made. That Minnie he talks about, for instance, Rumor also has it that her last name was originally Haha, but was changed to Heh-heh (the dirty laugh) by jealous sissies.

We venture also to supply further information about the dean with the precocious salivary proclivities. He will, in the ensuing year, oceans and oceans for his fireplace.

It's certainly tough to be a Public Relations Counsel (publicity agent). It seems that nothing less than a really BIG story will make the front page anymore. And by BIG I mean something like this:

GORDON STEALS

OUT IN PACIFIC
David Gordon ex-'31 has started the world by stealing the Spirit of St. Louis, an aeroplane belonging to Col. Chas. A. Lingbergh ex-'24 out of the files of the Smithsonian institute at Washington, D. C., and flying backwards across the Pacific after slaying a sheriff and two capitalists with a sash weight at Taliesin, the home of Frank Lloyd Wright, the architect.

Gordon was sighted 300 miles from Shanghai by the U. S. S. Milwaukee which immediately wired Prof. M. V. O'Shea, of this city, to whom Gordon was paroled. The plane was apparently notwithstanding the rigors of the strenuous backwards voyage.

At a late hour last night Dean Goodnight could not be reached with a 10-foot pole. Pres. Frank is out of the city.

The Daily Cardinal is making every effort to get a first-hand story from Gordon himself, with probably a diary which will be run serially.

F. S. The above never really happened.

Speech Classes Visit at Local Theatres

An inspection trip through the Orpheum and Capitol theaters was undertaken Saturday by Prof. W. C. Troutman's classes in speech 19 and speech 118.

These classes, which are courses in play production, made the inspection under Prof. Troutman's personal guidance.

Everything that goes into equipment, the kinds of lighting effects that may be obtained, different color effects, makeup, dressing rooms, stage properties—the whole complex business of getting the stage set, an integral part of play production, was thoroughly gone over.

To impress on his students' minds the knowledge of the stage he wanted to impart to them by having them visualize it instead of adhering to theory, was undoubtedly Prof. Troutman's purpose.

Wisconsin Professors Plan Many Tours of the Old World

Faculty Members Will Go To Europe for Study, Research Work

The coming summer months will find a number of the members of the faculty of the university scattered over a good many parts of the world's surface. It has already been announced that Dean Scott H. Goodnight will travel on the "floating university" as the director of education, and Prof. E. A. Ross, of the sociology department, will be a member of its faculty.

Dean Goodnight will retain his position until 1929, but Prof. Ross will return for the fall semester. Other professors who will teach in other schools are J. F. A. Pyre, of the English department, and C. J. Anderson, of the school of Education.

Prof. Anderson will lecture at the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles; and Prof. Pyre will conduct two courses at the University of Michigan: one in the Shakespearean tragedy and the other in literature of the 19th century.

Other faculty members plan to travel, and to conduct tours in Europe. Prof. Oscar Hagen, head of the art history department, plans to travel to Spain and Germany studying the art of the two countries. J. L. Russo, professor of Italian, expects to have a delightful summer vacation in Naples, the home of his parents. A tour of France will be made by J. H. Nuneemaker, Spanish instructor. He is also to conduct a tour, for the School of Foreign Travel, and will center in Madrid, where the students will study at the Instituto de Las Estudios Históricos.

H. A. Smith, professor of French, on leave of absence this semester, will remain in Paris for the summer to continue his research. Prof. A. Beatty, English department, will conduct a literary tour of England, during which many of the points of interest in English literature will be visited.

The W. S. G. A. tour of Europe, which has in the past been conducted by Prof. Helen C. White, of the English department, will this year be directed by Miss A. L. Bridgeman, economics department. Miss White has won a $2500 Guggenheim scholarship and has been granted leave of absence to tour Europe during the coming school year.

One instructor, who will spend his vacation very close to home, but who expects to have a no less interesting time for that reason, is R. T. Homewood, hydraulic instructor and sanitary engineer. For the past several years he has been supervising the building of a sewage disposal plant in De Forest, just south of Madison. He will begin operating it this summer, under the direction of L. F. Work.

An entirely new process is to be tried in this plant, devised by Mr. Homewood, and it is not yet known whether it will work. Sludge will be imported from the Milwaukee sewage disposal plant, and by a system of air pressure, the sewage will be compressed to a very small volume, at the same time that bacteria will be grown to kill the bacteria that cause the odor in sewage.

Agriculture Education

Students Easily Find Jobs Upon Graduation

Seniors in the various colleges at the university apparently look upon spring-time as the open season on jobs.

But there is really no reason for seniors majoring in Agricultural Education to be worried about getting a position, according to J. A. James, assistant dean of the college of agriculture. For the real difficulty, he says, is not in finding jobs, but in finding a sufficient number of students who have had the requisite training to be qualified to fill them. W. A. Sumner, associate professor of agricultural journalism, cites a similar problem in his department.

Following are the names and the positions of some of the graduates of the department of agricultural education who have already signed contracts for next year:

Elmer C. Barsch '28, instructor in the State School of Agriculture, at Menominee, Mich.; William W. Wielmann '29, principal of the high school and teacher of agriculture at Bruce, Wis.; H. J. Kuckuk '28, instructor in science at Mellon, Wis.; Milton F. Stelzer '29, instructor in agriculture at Bloomer, Wis.; Roscoe M. Starkey '29, instructor in agriculture at Colby, Wis.

Frantic Fritz Finds Many Meaty Morsels on Occupying Office

"Don't burn your manuscripts before you come to them," shouted General-editor Fritz Gutheim of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine Saturday as his cohorts prepared with brush, broom and mop to clean up the office.

Piles of mouldy and dusty manuscripts, the work of amateur authors, unreturned by former editors, were uncovered in such large numbers that Gutheim despaired of ever returning them to their former owners.

The following list of items was uncovered during the first hour of battle: 22 1-2 pounds of manuscript dating from 1922 to last month; one tea set (wh'tell) slightly chipped and with two more saucers than cups; innumerable woodcuts, etchings and ink drawing, good, bad and indifferent; three thumb screws; one cake of Ivory soap, slightly used; 14 notebooks and about three pages of notes in all; 22 stamped envelopes presumably intended by their owners for the return of manuscripts; 4 poems by David Gordon; one tube of sunburn cure stamp pad, green ink and rubber stamp with the legend "Censored by order of the Dean of Men, University of Wisconsin"; 50 placards, reading "The Lit is out today," and a copy of "Who's Who at Wisconsin" issued by White Spades in 1916.

Seriously though, an attempt is being made to return as many manuscripts as possible to the authors although it is certain that many have left the university without leaving a forwarding address.

At last! A chance to see professors when they are not teaching. The cast of "Le Misanthrope," to be given by the Curtain Club May 25 and 26, is composed almost entirely of faculty members of the University.

Badgers Staff Banquets at Crystal Ball Room Hotel Loraine Tonight

The Badger staff banquet will be held at the Crystal ball room of the Loraine hotel at 6:30 this evening. The business and editorial staffs of the 1928 Badger making about 120 guests have been invited to attend the banquet.

William Grube '29, editor of the Badger, is in charge of the affair and will be one of the speakers of the evening. Herbert Brockhausen '23, of Brock Engraving company, Madison, will be the toastmaster. Walter Fitzgerald '29, the retiring business manager, and Stuart Higley '30, the editor of the 1930 Badger, will address the guests.

Each of the Badger staff will be presented with a free Badger at the banquet.

Art Students See Madison; Banquet Faculty Members

A group of about 50 art students from the Art Institute of Chicago, touring the art galleries, private collections, fine homes, gardens, and buildings of interest in Wisconsin, visited Madison, Wednesday afternoon.

Dudley Crafts Watson, director of the Art institute, invited a number of Madison people to have dinner with the students at the Loraine hotel Wednesday evening.

The guests included Gov. and Mrs. Fred R. Zimmerman, Judge and Mrs. Christian Doerfler, Professor and Mrs. Oskar Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Rind, Professor and Mrs. C. F. Gillen, Mr. A. E. Proudfoot, Miss Lucy Irene Buck, Mrs. W. E. Chase and Mrs. E. M. Gilbert.

Senior Stag Banquet at Luther Memorial

The annual Senior Stag banquet will be given Thursday evening at the Luther Memorial church parlors. This function is for the senior men what swingout is for the senior women. Announcement and awarding of the Kenneth Sterling Day Memorial prize will be made by Coach George Little. This is an award similar to the Edna Glicksman prize for senior women.

Prof. Stephen W. Gilman, professor of business administration, will be the speaker of the evening. This will be his last appearance at a student function at Wisconsin as he is leaving at the end of the term.

Hamilton Beatty is chairman of the banquet. He is being assisted by Julius Behn, Charles Dollard, and Julian Wachsmuth, all senior men. Tickets may be obtained up until noon today at the Co-op, Gelvin's, or from a number of senior men on the hill.

Sigma Phi Sigma

Sigma Phi Sigma entertained the following mothers at their chapter house last Sunday: Mrs. L. M. Cox, Mrs. J. A. Paula, and Mrs. J. F. Leska, all of Chicago; Mrs. H. G. Eagan, Wautoma; Mrs. A. Hingiss, Kiel; Mrs. Bloss, Fox Lake; Mrs. A. A. Meisenheimer, and Mrs. Secker, both of Milwaukee; Mrs. O. Palm, Williams Bay; Mrs. G. Perry, Mrs. M. Keir, Mrs. J. A. MacGregor, Mrs. H. Schlick, and Mrs. C. J. Jansky, all of Madison.

Sigma Phi Sigma announces the initiation of Roland Schiltz '31, Aurora, Ill.; Everett A. Johnson '30, Elkhorn; Joseph J. Teska '31, Chicago; and Lloyd A. Mapes '30, of Madison.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York won the Democratic nomination for the presidency by a large majority in a straw vote taken at the University of North Carolina.

Medical Students Will Have Holiday on Friday, May 25

A full holiday from classes is scheduled for the medical students for Friday, May 25, when the annual Medical Student day is held. The activities of the day will include the reading of student papers, a banquet at noon, an address by Dr. E. B. Hart, professor of agricultural chemistry, and a baseball game.

Student day resembles a convention in nature. The morning, from 9 to 12 o'clock, will be occupied by the reading of theses describing the research work of students in the medical school during the past year, and demonstrations of various phases of work will be given.

The students will be the guests of the faculty at the noon day meal, which will be served in the histology laboratory in Science hall.

After the luncheon Dr. E. B. Hart of the agricultural chemistry department will speak on "A New Inorganic Factor as a Supplement to Iron in Hemoglobin Building."

Dr. C. R. Bardeen, dean of the medical school, will umpire a ball game, which is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock at the Intramural field. The first and third year students will combine forces against and second and fourth year men to furnish the competition for the game.

The Student day is conducted under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin Medical society, Alpha Omega Alpha, national senior honorary medical society, and Sigma Sigma, local honorary medical society for first and second year students in the medical school.

The average amount spent by the college student is about $75 per month, according to recent investigations made at the University of Washington. The expenses for men and women are the same.

Sig Phi Eps Win Finals

The Sig Phi Eps had little trouble ending things up in division two yesterday. Dawes' masterful pitching held Alpha Chi Rho scoreless and hitless while his mates were pounding Putnam for 10 safeties, netting eight markers.

It matters not that Dawes showed signs of wildness for any time that an Alpha Chi Rho man got near the tallying place he tightened up immediately. Dawes fanned eight men and further heaped honors on his head by poling a three-bagger, the longest hit of the game.

Men Leave Friday for Big Ten Meet

Heinson. Minnesota has Otterness, Hess, and Crowley. White of Illinois

The 21 men selected to represent Wisconsin in the conference track meet at Northwestern are: Capt. Smith, Ramsey, Larson, Diehl, Benson, Kanalz, Folsom, Stowe, Bullimore, Petaja, Ziese, Wetzel, Hunkel, Shomaker, Moe, Warren, Lemmer, Thompson, Mayer, Pahlmeyer, and Murphy. These men will leave Friday morning with Coach Jones and will compete in the trial meet in the afternoon before the finals on Saturday.

should take a second place judging from his work during the outdoor season.

Wisconsin hasn't a chance in the pole vault. Lemmer will represent the Badgers, but he must do better than 12 feet 6 inches to stay with the others.

Anson of Ohio Strong

Anson of Ohio State should win the high jump with ease. In the quad meet he did 6 feet 3 inches, which mark happens to be the best one of the year (in the Big Ten). Carr, of Illinois, the winner in the indoor season, is almost certain to take a second place, while Wachawski, also of Illinois is a good bet for third place. Rettig of Northwestern must not be disregarded, and will probably take a fourth place, with Mann of Iowa fifth. Fry of Chicago should be able to finish in fifth place if he can get going. A high jumper is always under a strain, and only the steadiest can hope to come through. Braatz might represent Wisconsin in the high jump if his leg is in good condition this week.

Lyon of Illinois won the indoor shot put title with ease. Being challenged, he merely placed his sweat shirt on the 47-foot mark, then he nonchalantly tossed the shot over the sweat shirt and won the event. The writer is of the opinion that Lyon will be an easy winner in this event, with Nelson of Iowa, and Forwald of Iowa taking second and third respectively. Bagge of Northwestern might beat out Forwald, but he will probably fight it out with Kimmel of Illinois for fourth and fifth places.
