LIFE IS HERE IN AMERICA, CLAIMS DONALD STEWART

Humorist Declares Europe Holds Only the Beauty of Something Dead

"Thank goodness we're not refined as long as we're alive!" declared Donald Ogden Stewart, humorist and satirist of national repute, in a talk on "Laughter in the Jazz Age," last night at Music hall.

"A civilization so refined and nice that it can't laugh out loud is thin," Mr. Stewart said. "There is a new thing in American humor that corresponds to college humor. It is crazy, nonsensical and full of life and good spirits."

"With the younger generation turmoil which culminated in 1921, came a series of changes for the better in American life and literature. Sentimentalism was given a sharp jolt, telling the truth about life was made easier, censorship was placed on a saner basis, and a certain intensity was restored to American literature.

Europe Is Dead.

"Life is here in America. Europe holds only the beauty of something dead—something over. We're getting away from the influence of Europe and we're finding ourselves. The industrial-commercial civilization of America is not to be decided. Factories are pretty fine. Money making is not a thing of which to be ashamed. Not smugness but the attitude between is the one to adopt.

"The best dancing in the world is in America. And jazz is simply a dance music into which has crept the spirit of the America of today. It is the product of a subway-elevated-factory-commercial life."

Brought by Sigma Delta Chi.

Mr. Stewart appeared under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity. He was presented by Prof. W. G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism.

3 LOSE ARTICLES AT C. I. P. A. MEETING

Three high school delegates to the C. I. P. A. convention this last week-end have reported the loss of several articles. Two delegates lost their baggage and another a black coin purse containing a good luck piece and a Masonic and Odd Fellow watch charm. The finder of these articles is requested to notify the Daily Cardinal by calling B. 250 or Prof. E. M. Johnson of the Course in Journalism.

THREE ARE ELECTED TO ARTUS FRATERNITY

Artus, honorary economics fraternity, announces the election of Alfred William Osterndorf '25, Eliot William Guild '25 and Gregg Andrews Young '25. Election to Artus is based on scholarship in economics and general studies and on personality. Faculty members are Professors John R. Commons, Richard T. Ely, Sidney L. Miller, Selig Perlman, W. H. Kieckhofer and Jacob Perlman.

TYLER WILL HEAD 1925 HORSE SHOW

Chairman Will Bring Outside Mounts to Event; To Pick Committees Soon

George A. Tyler '26, was unanimously elected by the Caisson club to be chairman of the fourth annual horse show. Tyler plans to make the 1925 horse show more than a local event. Exhibitors of fine horses from all parts of America will be invited and urged to enter their mounts.

Tyler was chairman of the finance committee of the 1924 show and is military editor of the 1926 Badger. He is a member of the Delta Chi fraternity.

Members of the various committees will be chosen and the names published within the next ten days.

Madison Policeman is Shot on West Side; Hunt "Nut"

Reports were received at the Daily Cardinal office at an early hour this morning that Patrolman Gregor of the Madison police force had been fired on and seriously wounded somewhere on the West side. He was rushed to the Madison General hospital. Little further information could be obtained from either the hospital or the police station except that all reserves had been sent to the West side with orders to look for some "nut" carrying a gun.

EDITORIAL PRAISED IN CLASS LECTURE

Professor Kieckhofer Says Yesterday's Discussion Gave Proper College Attitude

An editorial in yesterday's Daily Cardinal entitled "The Undergraduate Idea of Real Distinction," brought unsolicited praise from Prof. William Kieckhofer in the economics 1a lecture yesterday morning. Professor Kieckhofer urged the class of 500 students to read the editorial carefully. It is an excellent statement of the proper attitude toward college education, he said.

The editorial criticised undergraduate ideas of college leadership, and pictured college as the place primarily for strenuous intellectual endeavor.

"I am an ardent exponent of extra curricular activities," added Professor Kieckhofer, "and I believe that they contribute much toward success in life, but somehow I wish our undergraduates would get a greater value of proportions and attach more worth to learning. I wish we could bring about a situation in which students would work on their own account and not so much under the direct supervisor of their instructors.

"The trouble with our work," concluded Professor Kieckhofer, "is that we do everything on the installment plan. Some of us feel that as soon as we have accumulated 120 credits we have 'arrived.'

WHA WILL BROADCAST PROGRAM OF VIOLINIST

Violin selections played by Arthur Kay, Madison man, will be broadcast from the university radio station, WHA, tonight at 7:15 o'clock. He will play "Sonata" in C minor, Greig; "Cadiz," Albinez; "Spanish Dance," Rehfel; and DeBérios' "Concerto," No. 7.

STUDENT COURT FAILS TO DECIDE KLATH CASE

No decision was forthcoming last night from the Student court on the case of Carl Klath who was tried Monday night on charges of alleged violation of the election rules. Chief Justice Lucius Chase L3, stated that the court reviewed the testimony but could not arrive at a decision. The verdict will be rendered sometime today, according to Chase.

Ring Lardner Swings Into Badger Realms For December Lit Playlet

Ring Lardner gives his impressions of Wisconsin in a six-act comic playlet which will appear in the December issue of the Wisconsin Literary magazine.

"Taxidea Americana (The American Badger)" is the title of Mr. Lardner's contribution. In it the writer treats in his usual sparkling fashion of Wisconsin life as it is. The scenes for the play are laid in and about Madison and among the brilliant array of characters figure such prominent Badgers as Senator La Follette and Coach Ryan.

Foremost among the popular humorists of today, Mr. Lardner is best known for his rollicking take offs on contemporary life which have appeared since 1915 in newspapers and popular magazines.

Among the most widely quoted are "You Know Me Al," "Treat 'Em Rough," "Gulible's Travels," the "Bib Ballads," and "Say it With Oil."

Lee White Says Journalism Students Should Master Economic Questions

Fewer would-be dramatic and literary critics and more students of economics are needed in the newspaper world today. Such was the opinion expressed in an interview by Lee White of the Detroit News who was the principal speaker at the fifth annual C. I. P. A. convention here last week-end.

"A deplorable feature in the life of college people today is the lack of learning in economics," Mr. White said. "Everybody, from the isolated farmer to the crowded tenement dweller, is interested in some branch of this subject—taxes, roads, schools, government, wages—but because of the difficulty in mastering the course, students pass it by."

"They prefer to write dramatic or literary criticisms. Possibly fifty papers in the country need specialists in this art, while every newspaper needs journalists grounded in the fundamentals of economics, sociology, and political science."

Journalism, instead of retrogressing as many believe, is rapidly improving, in the opinion of Mr. White. The editor expressed the belief that with the teaching of journalism in high schools and colleges where no educational background is founded, it will become more and more impossible for a man to enter the newspaper profession unprepared.

"The school for the old journalists was the type case. Today it is the colleges. The men of today will not have to compete with those of yesterday or of the present, but with those of tomorrow. Not that there won't always be some who by hard work will rise to the heights in this profession without regular schooling."

Milwaukee Firm Awarded Bid For New Pipe Organ

The contract for the new pipe organ to be installed in Music hall was awarded to the Wangerin Organ company, Milwaukee, by the regents, at their meeting yesterday morning, according to James D. Phillips, business manager.

"Four firms, among them one from Chicago, two from Milwaukee, and one eastern concern, had sent in their estimates for the contracts and the bidding has been close for some time," Phillips said.

Approximately $14,700 will be the estimate cost of the organ which will necessitate the remodeling of Music hall to accommodate it and it is expected that this work will start the week before Christmas vacation and will be completed in about six months.

Sophomores Join in Writing Songs For Union Vodvil

Two new songs have been written by Jack Sampson '27 and Don Patterson '27 specially for the act, "Moonlight Madness," to be presented in Union Vodvil by Katherine Reid '26 and Billy Ross '26.

The act, which appears fourth on the program, is a musical comedy sketch which takes place in a romantic, moonlit garden setting. Solos and duets by Miss Reid and Ross will be interspersed with brief interludes of comic dialogue.

Miss Reid has appeared as a soprano soloist at times in Madison churches and at various social functions. Ross has taken parts in Haresfoot productions and two years ago played the leading role in the Wisconsin Players' presentation of the "Mikado."

The Parkway theater, which is handling ticket sales, reports that many excellent seats remain for all performances, especially the Saturday matinee.

VOCATION GROUPS IN JOINT MEETING

W. S. G. A. and Faculty Advisors Make Plans For Vocational Conference

Ways of putting across vocational opportunity to women in the university, who have not been able to decide upon the choice of a profession and plans for a vocational conference were discussed at the joint meeting of the vocational committee of W. S. G. A. and of the technical advisors in each vocational course held yesterday afternoon in Lathrop parlors.

"Library work is pre-eminently the field for women," said Mary Hazeltine, technical advisor for the Library school, "and we have more good positions on record than we can fill."

Abby Marlatt, professor of home economics, Irene Eastman of the Music school, and Professor Blanche Trilling of the physical education department, all spoke very encouragingly of the opportunities for girls upon graduation from their departments.

"I do not encourage girls to enter the commerce department," said Prof. C. L. Jamison of the economics department, "because we have great difficulty in getting them positions which pay enough or are permanent enough for their more specialized type of ability."

Prof. W. G. Bleyer of the Journalism Department likewise spoke disparagingly of encouraging girls in this line of work because of the low salaries and scarcity of big city positions available to journalism graduates.

BADGER PLACES DEAD LINE ON PHOTOGRAPHS

Fraternities and sororities which have changed their residence must register their change not later than tomorrow in the Badger office, according to Otis L. Wiese, editor-in-chief. Also any fraternity or sorority, which has been newly organized must be sure that the Badger office has a record of this. Thursday has been set as the last day for group pictures. Many of the data sheets which were sent out to the groups have not been filled in and returned and this should be done immediately.

PRESIDENT BIRGE GOES TO BIRTHDAY DINNER

An anniversary dinner in honor of her sixtieth birthday will be given Miss Elizabeth Waters, regent of the university, tonight at her home in Fond du Lac. President Birge and John Callahan, state superintendent of education, will be among the guests. Miss Waters spent last week-end in Madison to attend the meeting of the athletic committee.

TORONY LEAVES OAK PARK HOSPITAL TODAY

"The policy this year," Huff said, "is to have the committee chairmen pick their own committees. Prom is only nine weeks away, and work on all committees must get under way by the end of the week."

The assistant chairmen are Edward Conway, Warren Koehler, Mildred Rogers, Gilbert Smith, Norval Stephens, John Valentine, and Wesley Walker.

BIRGE SUCCESSOR IS NOT DISCUSSED

Regents Take Up Routine Business at Preliminary Meeting

Meeting preliminary to the regular session of the board of regents, the executive committee yesterday ignored the question of choosing a successor to President Birge, and took under consideration only routine matters.

Theodore Kronshage, president of the board, let it be known that the committee was continuing with its correspondence to bring a competent man to Wisconsin. Several university professors are being considered according to Mr. Kronshage.

John Callahan, state superintendent of education, has charge of the correspondence and says it is impossible to divulge the names of those who are being considered. When asked about a list of names recently published as presidential possibilities, Mr. Kronshage laughingly remarked that not a few were very bad guesses.

"Alumni all over the country are submitting a large number of names, and these are getting serious consideration," said Mr. Kronshage.

On the committee trying to decide on a successor to President Birge, are, Theodore Kronshage, Daniel H. Grady, Harry L. Butler, John Callahan, and Zona Gale.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDSCORE COMPARING MADE FUTILE BY
UPSETS IN DOPENorthwestern Gridders Fool
Fans By Giving Title Holders Hard Run

By B. P.

One of the many things that all grid fans and writers learn before the season is over, is not to compare scores in trying to compare the strength of the two teams. They may be able to do this trick a few times but some time a team will upset the dope, and away goes the comparative score method. Before the Michigan game many of the fans were saying that Wisconsin had the edge over the Wolverines, for Illinois had defeated the Yost team by a large score only the week before. The final outcome of the game proved that this method was not the best.

Northwestern, one of the weakest teams in the conference, supposedly, gave the title holders the hardest run of the season. Chicago was very lucky to get out of the game as well as they did. The Wisconsin team was the underdog of the conference, and when they faced the strong Chicago team they were not given a chance by all of the sport writers, for the comparative scores showed Chicago to be the better. Yet the Cardinal team came through and Chicago crawled out of the fray with a tie.

Hillsdale Is Champion.

One of the best examples of the failure of the comparing scores to show the strength of two teams is found in the following article from the Chicago Tribune. "These university guys give us small college fellers a pain. Pipe this! Hillsdale, Michigan, intercollegiate champs, trims Akron 18-6, Akron beats Wooster; Wooster ties Ohio State; Ohio State ties Chicago. All hail to Hillsdale, Big Ten conquerors."

According to the above, and by comparing the scores to ascertain the comparative strength of the Hillsdale team, a school of only a few hundred, and that of the Big Ten champions, Chicago, the Hillsdale team is as strong if not stronger than the Chicago eleven. This is of course impossible for the two teams are far different in strength. There are many other examples that might be used to show the freak things that result if the comparative scores of two teams are compared.

Canoeing Over, "Cap" Isabel
Waits to Announce Thick Ice

Perhaps no one has the welfare and safety of the students more at heart than Capt. Thomas Isabel, Wisconsin's veteran life guard down at the university pumping station. At the end of the canoeing season the "Isabel" is put up for the winter, but "Cap" Isabel stays on the job to watch for indications of cold weather and to report his observations to students eager for ice-skating.

Last year Mendota did not freeze up until December 25, and there was no skating until after Christmas vacation. Only in exceptional winters has there been skating on Mendota before the end of December.

So It Seems

When we thought it was all settled that Ryan was to be retained for next year, some of the wolves begin again—not satisfied with Jones' resignation and the promise of a new athletic director "at any cost"—and now their cry is that the new director may make any new changes in the coaching staff he desires, insinuating, of course, that Ryan may not be retained after all.

The Daily Cardinal believes, more strongly than ever, that the best interests of Wisconsin athletics demand that Coach Ryan be retained.

The choice of a new director seems to be up to the council and regents of the university. We hope they scour the field thoroughly and get the best. As long as we are to have a new one we may as well have a capable, aggressive, and likeable man.

As we look over the success made by Huff, Stagg, and Yost we are impressed that a man of powerful personality is needed. The new man should be one who knows new coaching methods. He should be a westerner, for athletics in the West are different than athletics in the East.

Coach Ryan declares that there has been no interference with his duties as head coach this year. His statement should end all talk on that score, and it is now evident that no investigation on that point is necessary.

When the new director comes his first big job will be to or-

Captain Isabel believes that the lakes will be safe even later than usual this year because of the cold summer and mild fall.

"My advice is to keep off the ice until it's safe," said Isabel. "We don't want drowning and if all heed the warnings, there will be no casualties."

Tests of the lake water are taken daily under the supervision of Prof. C. Judy of the biology department who notifies the life saving station when the ice has reached a uniform thickness of four or five inches. Captain Isabel then reports the good news, "Mendota is safe for skating."

ganize a real publicity department and news bureau. There are many things that go on in Wisconsin athletics that need to be sold to the public. Newspapers in this state and in all the states of the Big Ten should be supplied with news letters, cuts, and other news matter consistently. When information is wanted by the press this news bureau will be ready to give out the news.

It seems as though a new dawn is about to rise on Wisconsin athletics. Strong in every branch except football, new blood in the department may bolster up this sport, even change the luck, so that next year the fighting Badgers will be feared as never before.

Ely and Glaeser
Study Utilities
For Los Angeles

Prof. Richard T. Ely, director of the institute for research in land economics and public utilities, and Prof. M. G. Glaeser, research associate of the institute and specialist in public utilities, have arrived in California and are now engaged in making a study of the public utility services of Los Angeles.

The invitation to study and report upon the public utility service was tendered to the institution by the city of Los Angeles and was accepted as an opportunity to carry on extended research work in the matter of public ownership of municipal utilities.

In Los Angeles the municipal ownership of the electric light and power plant is connected with the development of the water plant, which is situated in the mountains. Professors Ely and Glaeser expect to remain in California until after the holidays.

WILCE HAS HARD
SEASON; BUCKEYES
WANT NEW COACH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 2.—Jack Wilce, Milwaukee man, will not be back at the helm of the Ohio State football team in 1925, according to a report from Columbus, which quotes a prominent Buckeye alumnus as saying that Andy Smith, famous coach of the University of California, would take over the reins next year. According to the story, arrangements have been quietly completed for the starting change.

In part, the story follows:

"Wilce has had strong opposition among the alumni. They charge that he ignores them and even snubs them and that he creates an air of detachment about the team which is harmful to Ohio spirit. They further charge that he is responsible for the large number of injuries that have kept several Ohio teams low in the conference standings.

Harley Made Wilce

"Players are used and seriously hurt when they are not fit to start, and his manner of training them in blocking and tackling lays them open to unnecessary bruises, they say.

"The common comment on the situation is that 'Chick Harley made Wilce,' and his detractors assert that he has been living on that reputation ever since."

No mention is made, however, of Stinchcomb, the two Workmans or other great players developed since then by Wilce.

NEW EQUIPMENT
FOR GYM ANNEX
AIDS TRACKSTERS

Lights and Reflectors Brighten
Dark Corners; Floor is Resurfaced

New lights and reflectors, new exercise tables and chest weights, a new coat of cinders on the track, and a layer of dirt on the floor of the annex will remove the trials and troubles that the track men endured during the indoor track season last year.

The new lights and reflectors will turn the corners of the annex from a place where dim shadows fit about to a spot that will be as light as day. Spectators will be able to see the men during every part of a race instead of losing sight of them when they faded into the gloom that pervaded each end of the annex.

The track is to be recindered and a new layer of dirt will be put on the floor of the annex. No longer will runners skid around the curves as the recindered track will be solid and nearly as satisfactory as the one at Camp Randall except for the smaller size.

New Layer Gives Safety.

The new layer will smooth out all rough spots and enable the men to workout in perfect safety. The baseball squad will also profit by this improvement.

The old exercise tables will be discarded and eight new ones installed. There was a great deal of sentiment woven about the idea of exercising on the same table that old varsity heroes had used, but these tables had outlived their days of usefulness. Four new chest weights will also be found among the new additions.

tion. Two of the numbers on the program will be "The Christmas Rose," by Lester, and a rendition of the "Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's "Messiah." No admission will be charged.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDBASKET SQUAD WINS
OVER FROSH; NEEDS
MORE DEVELOPMENT

Team Action Slow and Uncertain; Guards Show Up Well; Center Position Weak

In the first open practice of the year the varsity basketball squad defeated the freshmen by a 15-11 score. The entire game was close and at no time did either team lead by more than two baskets. Although the score was a close one it does not mean that the game was fast, and hard fought. The first squad did not show any of its customary dash and spirit, in fact the team seemed to be lacking in offensive ability.

The first half the varsity held the frosh to a 6-2 score. The first-year men were not able to find themselves in the first period, and thus did not get the baskets. The varsity played better ball the initial half and did not allow the green shirts to slip through for goals. In the last half the freshmen seemed to find new courage and soon piled the score up to six all.

Short Pass Works

Scoring was not done by long shots, but through the short pass system. With the score tied a frosh forward sneaked under the basket, and tossed an easy goal. The first squad came to life dropping two field goals in quick succession, followed by a free throw. This gave the varsity a lead of three points. The guarding of the Cardinal men grew a bit too rough, and the frosh were given two free throws. They made both of these good.

The next open scrimmage will be held Thursday at 4:45 o'clock at the gym. The varsity will oppose the best frosh squad, for an hour in a regular game.

Another foul gave the frosh the lead again, but this was the last time that they gained the head of the column. The varsity tightened at this point and stopped all of the frosh attempts to score. The old criss-cross, and short passing game began the work and the varsity took the lead. Two goals from under the basket gave the varsity their total of 15 points.

Guarding is Good

The first appearance of the Meanywell men showed that they are a long way from conference form and that a great deal of polishing must be done before the team is ready to face Wabash. The only consoling feature of the game was the guarding of Wackman, Barwig and Dicbold. Often when the first line failed to get their men the two guards broke up the play and forced the ball to the center of the floor. The missing cog in the team was the loss of the old front wall.

Out of 54 attempts at field goals they made only seven. They committed eight personal fouls, and made six fumbles.

The three guards looked good Barwig, Wackman and Captain Dicbold held the defense positions and did their work well, allowing the frosh few tries at baskets. Varney was the choice at the center position, but needs more experience at the new place. Spooner, the flashy forward, did not have his eye, nor did he guard particularly well.

FARM GROUPS MEET
IN CHICAGO DEC. 29

Wisconsin will be well represented at Chicago on Dec. 29, when four national economic associations meet in convention, according to J. H. Kolb, head of the department of rural life. The four associations are the American Sociological society, the Rural Section of the society, the American Economic association, and the Farm Economic association. Those representing the College of Agriculture are B. H. Hibard, J. H. Kolb, and P. E. McNall. C. J. Galpin, formerly head of the rural life department of the College of Agriculture, will preside in the meetings of Farm economists. It is believed that 1,000 representatives from institutions throughout the United States will be present.

Meet is Held

Coach Mead Burke has selected 28 men from the freshman cross country squad and the frosh track classes to make up the regular freshman squad that is to report each day at 4:30 o'clock in the annex. This group, however, is not final and as men show improvement in the intramural track meets they will be added to the frosh track team. Also if any of the men fail to make good they will be dropped from the present group.

Up to date no definite schedule has been arranged for the frosh tracksters but as in other years several telegraphic meets with the frosh of other universities will be booked. Last year the frosh met Iowa indoors in telegraphic meets and took on the Illini, Ohio, and Minnesota frosh in outdoor telegraphic meets.

Meets Sophs Saturday.

The first time that the yearling cinderpath artists will get to show their ability will be this Saturday when they clash with the second year runners. From time to time the frosh will also be pitted against the varsity squad in time trial meets.

The men who have been chosen to make up the frosh team at present are: Chapman, Rossmusen, Bullamore, Hansen, McKee, Reeves, Swallow, Himley, Klevay, Johannes, Paine, Williamson, Fisher, Miller, Thompson, Heckendorf, Schraeder, Kanalz, Barnes, Carruthers, Wells, Ramlow, Stewart, Clark, Sappenfield, Braatz, Mattison and Minogue.

John Richards

"Big Jawn" Has Been
Rarin' Wisconsin Gridiron
Star, Loyal Alumnus, and Football Coach

Deep, deep down among the pages of athletic history at Wisconsin the name of John Richards stands out. More recently his name is prominent in the athletic affairs of the university as a loyal alumnus and coach of Badger gridiron machines.

"Big Jawn" was a rarin', tearing full back for four years on the teams of 1895, '96, '97 and '98. He achieved his greatest fame on the gridiron as captain of the championship team of 1896. That year he ploughed his way through the best teams in the conference. That was a real accomplishment in those days when the center rush was in vogue and a gain of five yards was as good as a gain of 15 today.

The big fullback was a great hurdler on early Badger track teams. The practice he received in hurdling opposing lines came in handy when he flew over the barriers on the cinderpath. Tracks were not as fast then as now so his records as a hurdler do not stand out among the records of today but at the time he was one of the fastest hurdlers in the conference.

After his graduation he taught school at several western towns and coached a few elementary school teams. In 1911 he came back to his alma mater to coach football and made his first bow into Big Ten society as a coach. He took hold of the team when football was at a low ebb at Wisconsin and although he was not coach here the next year his work had a great deal to do with the developing of the great conference championship of 1912.

The next year he went to Ohio State as football coach and director of athletics but resigned this position after a year to take up the work of director of public athletics at South Parks in Chicago. Here he met George Berg, present football trainer, and influenced him to come to Wisconsin.

The fall of 1917 found Richards back at Wisconsin as gridiron mentor. Except for the year of 1918 when he was in the service, he coached Badger elevens for five years. The teams of 1920, '21 and '22 were typical fighting Badger teams, and among the best in the Richards returned to the gridiron year after year as coach, not for the pecuniary gain in it, but for the love of the sport. At all times he was an aggressive opponent of unclean athletics.

At present "Big Jawn" is practicing law out in California.

The interfraternity council has its second meeting of the academic year scheduled for Thursday night. If the meeting is carried on, as it should be, may the proposed eligibility regulation be presented in its correct form and not mangled as it was at the first meeting. The regulation would doubtless raise the standards of all fraternities if it were adopted and hurt none of them.

The student senate pinched itself Tuesday and found that it wasn't asleep, for it put an end to the hill sales of the new Players' magazine.

Down to Davy Jones' locker went the uncompleted Washington, in accordance with the terms of the four power naval treaty. A heavy three-day bombardment to which she was subjected before sinking, gave naval men much useful information.

KEEPING THE FAITH

The Daily Cardinal is being roundly censured in many quarters for the publication of an editorial last week labelled "Not Guilty." Criticism is directed at many portions of the article, particularly those which have been called attempts to inaugurate a reign of terror and advocate murder.

To those who wish to interpret such paragraphs, taken from their context, as urging lawlessness the Daily Cardinal can only say that its position is being misunderstood. There was no intention of advocating mob law or suggesting murder. The Daily Cardinal does not want to see anyone's life taken unnecessarily.

However, it did call attention to the fact that a student had been killed unnecessarily.

The Daily Cardinal's position was partisan. It believes that it should have been so. Peter Posepny was a student, a member of the university family, and a stockholder in the Daily Cardinal; he is dead, but the Daily Cardinal is speaking for him. It believes that it had a right to speak for him.

The Daily Cardinal could not stand by and see nothing said. It cannot stand by and say nothing under any similar circumstances.

COACH JONES

Coach T. E. Jones has tendered his resignation of his office of athletic director to the board of regents and that resignation has been accepted.

He has acquiesced to popular feeling among the student body, the alumni, and the people of Madison, and he has acquiesced without bitterness, but with the spirit of good will and well wishing toward the university which he has so long served to the best of his abilities.

In his personal statement to the Daily Cardinal Coach Jones said, "I feel that my resignation will give relief to a great deal of criticism which has been heaped upon the department, and if my going out will make things better I am glad to do it for the best interests of athletics at Wisconsin."

This is the frank statement of a man who knows how to play the game, who is willing to submit to the rule of public opinion, to the rule of the majority. He is upholding the spirit of a democratic state, and a democratic nation.

The heartiest good will should go out to Tom Jones in return. We should feel that he is with us in doing the best in his judgment and his power for the university. He knows only too well that a school cannot do well in athletics or in anything else if it is divided against itself. There must be unity, and to preserve that sacred unity Coach Jones was willing to give up his position.

The student body at Wisconsin should feel that Jones has won a great moral victory in so acting. It has proved that he has been worthy of the trust and faith which have been placed in his integrity and in his loyalty.

He is a man!

CHILDREN AND FOOLS

The other day two little girls, not more than five years old either of them, ventured out onto the rim of rough ice which borders Lake Mendota. From their actions it was apparent that they had little idea of the danger in which they were placing themselves, little notion as to the thickness of the ice. Had they gone much farther, it would have been a case of some one to the rescue or loss of life.

Scarcely a year goes by that some one has not been drowned on one of the Madison lakes at this time when the water is freezing over. The strange part of it is that the unfortunates have usually been adults; perhaps it is that the angels watch over little children. But those adults who venture out upon the ice in its freezing stages are certainly no more sensible than the children, and they have not the excuse of being immature.

The accident which occurred Sunday afternoon on Lake Wingra might well have been fatal. The lagoons have been looked upon as safe for skating ever since Thanksgiving, but at this time of year one can never tell just where the weak places are, and there are bound to be plenty of them.

If you are not careful on the ice now, it simply means that you are in the five-year-old class.

QUIET HOUR

A quiet hour for students has been inaugurated in the Luther Memorial church. For an hour each week a person can drop into the edifice and sit down and listen to the organ music, and think, or pray, or worship, or merely let himself drift into the spirit of the music and of the building.

There is no speaking, in fact, no services; only the music.

Very few have taken advantage to get away from the present, to get away from Wisconsin, to get away from the campus, to get away from everybody and everything, to be alone.

The services are not denominational, they are not partisan, they are human, they satisfy something that is lacking in life at the university.

The plan is the result of cooperative effort on the part of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. and the Luther Memorial church.

Other Editors Say—

COME AND GONE

Once again the alumni have come and gone in the annual homecoming pilgrimage to their alma mater.

What does it mean to them, we wonder, even as we do what it will mean to us in the years to come? Do their own workaday lives appear the more prosaic beside the carefree, irresponsibilities of the generation in college? Or does the juvenile aspect of our apparently aimless lives but add to the energy which ordinarily they give to their daily activities? To some, we suppose, especially the younger graduates, comes the wish that they might be back to share in the good old times, in the happy-go-lucky method of living.

But however they may philosophize about it when they get home, few of them, while here, seemingly fail to have a good time. Cares abandoned, they attack the week-end as a source of just so much relaxation, which truly it is. The game, the Circassian Circus, their organization's dance, all are part of the sum total from which enjoyment is to be extracted. It bothers them little that the first was lost, that the second was "just another one of those things," and that the third was much too crowded for enjoyment.—Ohio State Lantern.

Y. W. C. A. Committees to Line Lathrop With Attractive Booths By Saturday

The various attractive booths and shops to be open at the Yuletide fair at Lathrop Saturday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., are in charge of Mary Haven '26, and a committee, which consists of Martha Crary '26, Ruth Ramsay '26, Margaret Birk '27, and Winifred Smith '28.

One of the most unusual and alluring shops will be the Snowball Tea room in the cafeteria on the second floor. Hanging snowballs and icicles, snow-drifts and banks, green branches and glimmering candles will make this shop a veritable snow cavern.

The menus, in the shape of sparkling snowballs, contain appetizing tidbits. Hot chocolate, tea, sandwiches, ice cream, and cake will be served by waitresses dressed in costumes suggestive of the Christmas spirit.

Louise Zimmerman '27, chairman of the tea room, has as assistants Ruth Moody '26, in charge of decorations, Lisette Haase '27, food, Alice Winston '27, service, Carol Biba '27, finance, and Rebecca Morton '27, and Helen Patterson '27, post-ers.

The candy shop and bake shop will both be in the form of a Jack-in-the-box. Red and green lights, streamers and festoons, together with other decorations will help carry out this effect. Candy, popcorn balls, and taffy apples will be sold not only within the candy shop, but will be offered to those wandering through the halls. Attractively dressed girls will carry their wares in decorated baskets.

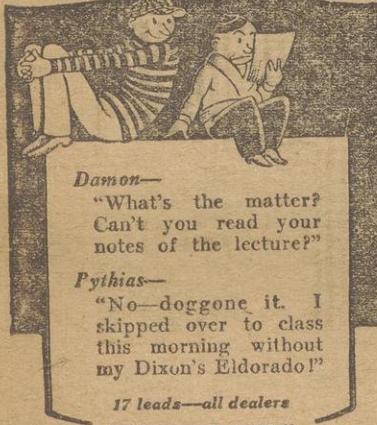

Helen McNaught '26, heads the following girls on a committee to help make the candy and take charge of the candy booth, Margaret Williams '27, Alice Oerkwitz '27, Pauline Gravenor '26, Harriet Tubbesing '26, Dorthea Stolte '27, Gertrude Ruff '26, Julia Peet '26, and Lillian Dell '25.

Frances Porter '26 has appointed the following girls to take charge of the baking of the cakes, cookies, and puddings, Myrtle Oetting '26, Eleanor Southeott '26, Helen Emery '25, Aileen Thiesen '25, Eunice Dvorak '26, Verona Schaefer '26, and Dorothy Coon '25.

The Readers' Say-So

ANSWER TO ATHEISM.

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:

An editorial which appeared in the Thanksgiving issue of the Daily Cardinal has aroused much interest and much sincere resentment. A leader in campus religious activities said that it was impossible to get himself to believe that the Lord is a being to conquer, defeat, and probably scorn.

Religion is the science of the energies. The Lord is the giver of all life, and isn't all life on this earth traceable to solar energy? That holds true for the Lord being the creator and preserver of all life. Men's nerves are not worked by mechanical concussion, but by energy. Light, heat and electricity, three energies, are present in both men and animals, and the difference in the mentality between men and animals is that three energies can act as one in the brain of man. That is the human intellectual consciousness and reason which is lacking in the animals. The Father, Son and Holy Ghost, the Three in One (the Spirit) is the definition of the Christian religion. Every time we think, energies are stimulated, and since energies never die, they have life eternal. Thus the Lord is three energies in one, three energies in one consciousness. The above idea of the relation between man and the spirit is no more remarkable than the relation between man and the animals, for some animals have some sense of reason, as some men have flashes of the spirit.

Since "there is no power but of God, and all powers that be are ordained by God," since our every act employs energy, and since all life must have energies every hundredth of a second; how can one of the flesh defy the Lord, the King of the energies? Why should one defy that which is the means of the energies? A personality is composed of three indispensable elements—body, mind and spirit. Without any one of these, the other two are without foundation and die out ignobly. In other words, chemically thinking, a life without one of these three elements comes to the same sort of a conclusion as a chemistry experiment in which one of the basic chemicals has been left out. Animals are characteristic of possessing only one of these three fundamentals (body without much mind and no spirit), while human beings with body and mind and without spirit fall as far short of having a real personality as two thirde falls short of amounting to unity.

Try your personal conclusions according to your own lifetime's experience in the light of this reasoning.

The Third Best Sorority House at Wisconsin

FOR SALE

I am remodeling one of the best homes in Madison, located just off Langdon Street; remodeling it into one of the best sorority homes in Madison.

Of course the new Alpha Xi Delta and the new Theta houses are the two best at Wisconsin—but this completely remodeled house will be the third best, and, in fact, will, in many ways, be more beautiful than either of these two.

The same architects, Law & Law, who did the Theta and Alpha Xi Delta houses, have designed this remodeled home. It will be faced with pure white bricks, colored in old Virginia white. The elaborate colonial entrance and wrought iron balconies will be set off in delicate relief against these beautifully textured walls. The large two story pillared portico will give this house the appearance of a stately old southern home. It will soon be known as one of the beautiful architectural achievements in the Latin Quarter.

The interior of the house will be as delightful as the exterior. Large splendidly equipped bathrooms, with new Crane fixtures is a feature, as well as the tiled toilet room adjoining the guest room. The large dining room, living room, music room and entrance hall circulate splendidly for dancing.

This house, of course, is just as suitable for a fraternity as for a sorority.

The Unusual Terms

This house is owned by one individual and is for sale direct by the owner, thus eliminating all commissions and costs of sale. Besides this, since the owner has built for several other fraternities, he knows the requirements of fraternities and sororities on terms. I am at present building the new Theta house, the new S. A. E. house, and the new Theta Chi house. These houses are all built on long time financial programs, the fraternities paying for their new houses by monthly payments. Now, on this beautiful remodeled house, I am going to give still better terms.

The rent will pay for the house. You could not rent a lovely house like this for $250,000 to $300.00 a month. Neither would I rent such a house—renters destroy, while owners protect. But I will sell this house for payments of $250.00 a month for ten months in the year. That, year after year, will pay for this large beautiful home. Just move in and pay for the house like rent. I can show you that your total chapter bills per person, while paying for this house, will not exceed $50.00 a month.

Act at Once

I have no selling organization. You will have to come to me. But, by coming to the owner you will get real terms and a real price. The price is ridiculously low—one-half of what you could build a new place for.

Get your committee on the job at once—come and see the architects' sketches of this beautiful stately home. All your chapter needs to do to become the owner of this distinctive new home is to show a little pep. Call, write or phone.

Reviews Rise of College Women

"The Rise of Women in the University," was the discussion topic led by Florence Allen '27, at a meeting of the sophomore commission yesterday noon in Lathrop hall.

A comparison was made between the conditions existing in the women's college in 1868 and those confronting the modern co-ed. In 1870 women were allowed the choice of only four courses, mathematics, English, geography, and history. It is only within the last 25 years that W. S. G. A. and the Y. W. C. A. have been established, besides the several activities open to women.

The university was regarded as a leader in co-educationalism in comparison to several universities, such as Cornell and Ann Arbor.

Loveth Thy Easy Chair, But Don't Loaf to Get It

How man loveth his easy chair! How he rageth if perchance it is occupied by some other besides himself! How he hateth to see it moved from its usual position!

Many is the man who hath his favorite spot in the library reading room. Often he chooseth the same chair one day after the other. If such a chair be usurped, along with all those round about; nay, if the whole table be fully encamped, he taketh up his books and silently stealeth to the catalogue, thence to the general reading section, around to the history cases, on past the economics shelves, the phychology shelves.

He casteth glances of uncertain portent at the desired spot. Ah a place is emptied! The man ceaseth his wanderings and slippeth into it!

Can you give 5 reasons for Love?

Refuse substitutes!—Insist on the only original and genuine

WHERE competition is keen—rivalry swift, and ladies often run three dates a night (sssh!) it's hard to tell the 22-karat from the plated variety.

Even Beatrice Fairfax is stumped. After all, who knows the inner workings of a lady's mind? And yet there is a way—there is, there is! but it's a secret.

Almost every lady has a sweet-tooth—she likes candy. But the same thing that makes her rub a tentative forefinger across an engraved card, or look for Sterling on the back of a spoon, makes her judge candy by the name Johnston's on the package.

If you can't give 5 reasons for love, don't give up. Neither could Theophilus, or Cleopatra. Not even Romeo and What's-ername. But you can give one good reason—that's Johnston's. Try and see!

Let one of these gentlemen share your secret. They are fully prepared to cooperate with you. Consult them!
