MENDOTA HEAD IN MEXICAN JAIL TO BE RELEASED

Dr. F. W. Lorenz Held on Charge of Filibustering; Blaine Aids

Gov. John J. Blaine late last night declared that although he had heard no reply from the Mexican government to the release he had asked of Dr. F. W. Lorenz, who is in prison in Progreso, Mexico, on charges of filibustering. He expected that the doctor would be released by morning.

"It is a very peculiar incident, caused by a misunderstanding on the part of the Mexican government," commented Governor Blaine last night. "I feel quite certain that the machinery we have set in motion will secure Dr. Lorenz's release."

Is on Faculty

The doctor, a member of the university faculty, is director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric institute and president of the state board of control. He had been confined recently to his home on account of illness and had taken the trip south for his health.

Dr. A. S. Loevenhart, professor of pharmacology, received a telegram yesterday afternoon from Dr. Lorenz which reported that the steamer on which he was traveling was wrecked, and that although all persons were saved, they were thrown into jail on the charge of filibustering. This charge, of carrying guns into a territory, was denied by the doctor in his telegram which follows:

Progreso, Mex., Jan. 13, 1925.
"Dr. A. S. Loevenhart,
University Wisconsin,
Madison, Wis.

Sailing vessel wrecked January tenth all hands saved. We are now in Mexican jail at Progreso charged with filibuster or something equally absurd. Get in touch with Washington. Notify Colonel Hannan.

W. F. Lorenz."

Wires Washington

Immediately upon receipt of the information, Governor Blaine wired officials in Washington who in turn got in touch with the state department of Mexico. The governor sent wires to President Calles of Mexico and the mayor of Progreso asking Dr. Lorenz's release.

LEGISLATURE TO OPEN WITH SESSION TODAY

The Wisconsin state legislature will meet today at noon for the first assemblage of the new session. A preliminary party caucus will be held this morning to decide the speakership of the house, the caucus for that purpose last evening breaking up without definite result.

W. S. G. A. TO HEAR CHAIRMEN TONIGHT

The last W. S. G. A. board meeting this semester will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in Lathrop parlors. Plans for the policies to be carried out next semester will be developed and reports of the different chairmen will be given to show what has been accomplished so far.

25 New Members Taken Into Press Club Last Night

Twenty-five new members were initiated into Press club at the meeting last night in the Y. M. C. A.

Prof. W. G. Bleyer of the department of journalism and one of the members of the original club, traced the development of the Press club from the time of its establishment in 1892. He outlined the various means by which the club might make for the solidarity and union of those interested in the profession of journalism and suggested bringing prominent journalists to speak at the open meetings of the club.

Plans for social meetings for the next semester, including the annual "Pi Night," were discussed. Election of new members will be held at the second meeting of the club after the semester recess.

Rockne Will Stay With Notre Dame, Authorities Report

(Special to the Daily Cardinal.)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 13.—Notre Dame authorities today spiked rumors that Coach Knute Rockne was being considered as coach for the University of Southern California in the face of reports that Coach Henderson had severed his connections with the Cardinals.

Rockne, it is known, is serving under a ten year contract signed last season, and statements attributed by him enroute to South Bend Tuesday night, indicated he had no intention of leaving Notre Dame.

It is reliably reported that his conferences with University of Southern California officials had to do with possible arrangements of home and home games between the Irish and Cardinals in 1925 in Chicago and in 1926 in the far west.

PROM BOX PLANS GET UNDER WAY

Early Applications By Parties Will Assure Prior Preference of Boxes

Chairmen of parties expecting to attend Prom should make applications for boxes at once to John Cavanaugh '26, chairman of the committee on boxes.

All applications must be made by mail, according to a statement from Cavanaugh yesterday. Applications should be sent to him at 321 North Brooks street, and should be accompanied by Cavanaugh '26 check or current De Longe Photography for $15 for each reservation.

The committee requests that since so little time is left between now and Prom the matter should be attended to at once. The boxes will be arranged much as in previous years. The various boards and commission rooms together with the governor's suite and the legislative reception rooms will be assured for the different parties.

Reservations are being made on the principle of first come first served, so the earlier the application is made, the better box they will get. The committee on boxes consists of John Cavanaugh, chairman; Harold Kropf, Henry McCormick, Catherine Knaut, Stanley Harris and George Schmidt.

"Because consideration of the question in the legislature as to whether the Prom will be held in the capitol does not come up until tomorrow," Cavanaugh said, "no assignment of boxes has as yet been made. While we do not expect any difficulty in obtaining permission for the use of the building, still we do not feel warranted in assigning the boxes before definite action is taken by the legislature."

CONFER ON TEACHERS' PROBLEMS TOMORROW

The purpose of the meeting for prospective high school teachers, which will be held tomorrow afternoon in 165 Bascom hall, is to bring all applicants for teachers' positions to discuss problems and policies, according to Prof. Thomas Lloyd-Jones, head of the committee on high school relations. At the meeting tomorrow Professor Jones will endeavor to answer questions and to give a general survey of the situation to the applicants.

HRDLICKA GIVES BRIEF OUTLINE OF EVOLUTION

Tells of "Gibraltar Skull" and Other Traces in Man's Skeletons

That the present state of man came about by natural evolution, as is proved by the material evidence unearthed in the form of numerous skeletons and other remains of men, was the assertion made yesterday by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of the United States museum of anthropology, in the second of a series of lectures on Man's Evolution.

"The Gibraltar Skull unearthed in 1848 while laborers were blasting in the rock of Gibraltar, is the skull of the first female of which we have any record and is the first important discovery of the prehistoric remains of man," said Dr. Hrdlicka.

Evolutionists Stumped

Most of the discoveries of the skeletons of ancient man were made in France, but to a large extent also in Croatia, Belgium, Germany and England, according to Dr. Hrdlicka. Today the skeletal remains of man number more than 200 and date back so far that as yet evolutionists have been unable to place them.

"The first skull that showed a brain was discovered in 1891 and resembled that of an ape to some extent, except that this skull was more advanced," continued Dr. Hrdlicka, "while the oldest remains of ancient man were found near Heidelberg, Germany, in a stone quarry."

Showed Slides

"The discovery of two skeletons which were found in such a position to show that these were buried intentionally, are the only thing that explain man's inkling of future life 100,000 years ago." By means of a series of slides the speaker traced the evolution of man from the beginning.

Opinion of Public Will Govern Type of Motion Pictures

—HIBBARD

"The force of public opinion will govern the type of motion picture produced," stated Mrs. B. H. Hibbard, who spoke before the Collegiate League of Women Voters in Lathrop parlors last night. Mrs. Hibbard, who is on the Madison board of censorship, told of the beginnings of censorship in Madison and the present work of the board.

Censorship in Madison started with vaudeville and then extended to pictures because of the growing interest of children in the movies. This work was done in connection with the Parents and Teachers associations.

"We try to work," continued Mrs. Hibbard, "with the managers of the theaters who do not always want to show an objectionable picture but are often tied up by a contract."

According to Mrs. Hibbard, Madison people do not want censorship by a paid board, but rather to follow the plan as adopted by Milwaukee whereby a commission representing the various nationalities of the town pass on the pictures and decide which they want to be shown in their town.

HAGEN WILL TALK ON DRAMATIC ART

"Stagecraft and Its Antecedents" is Title of Lecture at 8 O'Clock Tonight

Prof. Oskar Franc Leonard Hagen, Carl Schurtz Memorial professor of history of renaissance and Baroque art, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the history of the physical stage from the old Hellenic theater down to the present at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Biology building.

In his talk on "Stagecraft and Its Antecedents," he will point out the vital relationship between the animal spirit of the theater of old and the modern stage. Professor Hagen is interested in the amphitheater type, but he will deal with the ordinary playhouse of the smaller type. He will discuss the problems of modern ideas of theatrical presentation. He is chief director of the Goettingen-Handel festival plays.

Professor Hagen will illustrate his talk with 23 lantern slides, examples of ancient and modern theatrical art.

3,000 PERSONS GIVEN CLINIC VACCINATIONS

Statistics available show that until Tuesday 3,000 students, teachers and university employees have been vaccinated. Four hundred and fifty students were given the preventive vaccine on Monday alone. This cooperation on the part of students and clinic may serve to avert a possible epidemic, it is said. Students may be vaccinated from 8 until 12 o'clock and from 2 until 4 o'clock every day without appointment, clinic officials said.

Buckeye Margin Threatened
By Badgers; Miner, Shaw
Are Stars

By KEN BUTLER

Forging ahead towards the end of the first half in their game with Wisconsin last night, the veteran Ohio quintet overcame a small but comfortable lead the Badgers had piled up and held the lead, although threatened seriously several times, until the final whistle ended the melodrama and gave Ohio a 27-20 victory. It was the second Big Ten victory of the season for the Buckeyes, the second defeat of the Badgers.

In fabled times the plodding tortoise ran the fleet hare a race and beat him. Last night the hare turned the tables and won. Although several rounds of the melee were Wisconsin's, they were short lived and consisted of an early and evanescent lead and a mighty burst of speed and accurate basket shooting near the close that brought the score to an 18-19 level with Captain Cameron and his teammates ahead and wondering how long before the whistle would end it all.

Game Exceedingly Rough

All in all, the Badgers showed up poorly. Coach Meanwell was forced to make several shifts and substitutions. The game was filled with personal fouls and the free-throwing exchange reached a climax near the close of the game when Barwig was taken out of the game with four personal fouls called against him, and when Referee Schommer called a foul on Wisconsin when the crowd objected too strenuously to the last foul on Barwig. Ohio profited most by the rough play, and tossed in seven out of 13 free chances at the hoop, while Wisconsin put in two out of eight tries.

Ohio early resorted to long shots, but as the Wisconsin defense weakened the speedy Miner and Cunningham broke through and popped in basket after basket from under the hoop. Wisconsin's passing was inaccurate and the play slow in general, but the Cardinal excelled slightly in the accuracy of field attempts at the basket.

Badgers Begin Flashily

After a slow start the two teams squared away and the crowd was cheering wildly as Wackman tossed in the first basket of the game from the side. Fouls on Diebold and Barwig gave Ohio a chance at the hoop, however, and Shaw made one free throw and Miner made two free throws. Here the Badgers tightened up and began a fast spurt that lasted for some minutes; in this rally Brooks counted twice, once on a long shot nearly from the center of the floor, and Shaw made the first field basket for Ohio.

Varney, after dribbling down the floor past the Ohio guards, made a pretty basket. With the score 8-5 against them, the Buckeyes speeded up their play, but Cameron fouled. Brooks missed the throw, but Diebold tallied a few moments later after a foul by Cunningham, of Ohio football prominence. Varney tossed

Prompt Payment of Registration Fees Necessary

"Paying his fees on time is just as much a part of a student's registration as receiving his class assignments. If he could be made to remember this there would be fewer $3 penalties inflicted," said G. L. Gilbert, bursar.

The last date for paying these fees is Friday, February 6. Fees paid on the first day after that will have a $3 fine and 25 cents more for each additional day will be charged.

The resident fee is $15.50 and that for non-residents is $77.50. Out of each student's fee the sum of $3.50 goes to the university clinic and cares for all of his medical and infirmary expenses.

All laboratory fees should be paid promptly during the first ten days of the semester.

New Hockey Team
as Women's Sport

"With the excellent facilities for the game and the large amount of women interested in winter sports it would be very easy to organize women's teams at Wisconsin," says Mr. Iverson.

He suggested that if one of the coaches for women would help him, and if the W. A. A. would back him, he would attempt to coach women in this branch of sports.

The interest in hockey for girls which was kindled by Coach Kay Iverson at Minnesota last year has grown to such an extent that in the second year of playing, hockey has been made a major sport for women, class teams have been organized, and the sororities are quickly adopting the game.

The Badgers meet Michigan at Ann Arbor Monday night. An interesting sidelight of the contest will be a chance to see which is the better, a five man defense, or a man-to-man one.

in another and the Wisconsin crowd, witnessing its first Big Ten game of the year and seeing the best when it expected the worst, cheered wildly.

Ohio Overcomes Lead

Their enthusiasm was short-lived, however, for Ohio rose from depths and after a few minutes of sparring back and forth on the floor Miner made a free throw after a foul by Diebold. Miner fouled, Barwig missed; Varney fouled. Cameron made a free throw—and so on, far into the game.

Coach Olson sent Hunt into the game, replacing Seifer. Shaw made two baskets from the field and the score was tied, 11-11. Coach Meanwell sent Martell in for Varney and his first shot went over the backboard. The half ended with the score still tied.

The second half started with fouls on Barwig and Diebold. Cunningham threw in a free throw that made the score 11-13, then made a field basket. Varney went in for Martell. Wackman managed to make the score 13-15, but Miner and Shaw proceeded to spoil it by one each. On a foul by Hunt Brooks missed the free throw, and Shaw was taken out in favor of Matusof. Martell went in again for Varney.

Merkel went in to replace Martell. Brooks popped one in from under the basket, then made a free throw on a foul by Cameron, and again tossed a field basket that brought the score to 18-19.

Cunningham tossed in a basket which was followed by another by Miner. Diebold found the hoop and completed Wisconsin's scoring for the evening. Shaw and Cunningham scored in the remaining minutes. Bain replaced Barwig.

COMMITTEE TO FORM FROSH TRACK SQUAD

All freshmen with track ability are asked to be in the gymnasium annex at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon just before the interclass track meet begins in order to organize a team that will win, and to see who will enter the various events according to a statement issued yesterday by a committee of five freshmen.

So It Seems

Two down, but the season is young. Cheer up, it might have been worse. For a time it looked as though the game would be a repeater of the Chicago game of the end of last season as far as speed and good playing went, but the game dragged towards the last and although the team fought until the final gun, it was a vain fight.

No one starred for Wisconsin. Not even Brooks, who was high man for the Badgers as far as points go, for his play was slow and clumsy.

Miner and Cunningham are two good forwards and they earned every basket they made. And Shaw and Cameron were nearly the equal of Miner and Cunningham. Ohio has a well-balanced team.

Of 59 tries at the basket, Ohio made 10. Wisconsin made 9 baskets in 46 tries. Ohio was considerably better in the average for free throws. Wisconsin committed 10 fouls, Ohio 7.

The foul on the crowd was the first one called this season. It came after Barwig got tangled up with Cunningham in an attempt to prevent a basket and Cunningham was thrown to the floor by the impact. The crowd didn't agree with Referee Schommer's decision and Captain Diebold was given a technical foul.

Wackman couldn't seem to get hold of the ball and passed it to Ohio as much as to his teammates. Diebold wasn't fast enough for Miner or Cunningham, while Barwig endangered Wisconsin's position by frequent fouling. Martell just didn't figure in passing and went afoul of the basket on every try. Bain was in only a minute or two, but looked good.

MEN SHOW SPEED IN FINAL TRYOUTS FOR RELAY TEAM

Valley, Bergstresser, Schilke, and Hilberts Will Run on Badger Squad

Captain Valley was back to his old form last night as he led the half-milers to the tape in the final tryouts for the two mile relay team that will defend the prestige of Wisconsin against the two mile quartets from other universities.

For the first 660 yards Valley was content to follow the pace set by his competitors but the last 220 saw the varsity captain taking things in his own hands as he stepped away from the field and crossed the finish line in creditable time.

Petaja is Close Contender These tryouts were held to choose the fourth man of the team as the first three places are sewed up by the winners in the trials held last week. The team that will run for the Badgers is Captain Valley, Bergstresser, Schilke and Hilberts. However, Coach Jones may make a last minute change and insert Petaja into the race in place of Hilberts.

Petaja set the pace in yesterday's time trials for the greater part of the race but was not able to put on enough speed at the finish to keep ahead of the Badger captain although his time was better than that of some of the winners of last week's trial heats. Hilberts is one of the best 880 men in school when he is in shape, but at present the star is not in the best of condition and if he fails to come through Petaja will get the call.

3 Pigskin Men Out

It has been definitely decided to enter McAndrews, Hill and Schwarze in the special events. Although none of these men are in mid-season form they will make a strong bid for honors. McAndrews will compete in the handicap 60 yard dash; Schwarze in the shotput; and Hill in the 300 yard dash.

Earl Ellison, Badger yearling who will run in the special mile run as an unattached athlete, turned in good time in his trial mile yesterday in the annex. The Badger frosh went well under 4:40 without showing signs of great fatigue. He is expected to nick about 10 seconds off the time made yesterday when he gets in fast condition.

Tuhtar Joins McGinnis No longer is Chuck McGinnis, sophomore high jump star, working out alone. The efficiency of this department was increased 100 per cent when Gene Tuhtar, the only "W" high jump man in the university, reported for practice last night. Tuhtar has been putting all his time on the Wisconsin Exposition and it was thought that he would not be able to get into track this season but his appear-

Ohio Cage Captain

Captain Cameron led his speedy Buckeye teammates to a decisive victory over the Badgers. It was the second victory for Ohio, the second defeat for Wisconsin.

Cage Jottings

Two conference games tonight, Michigan at Purdue; and Illinois at Northwestern. I guess Michigan and Illinois as the winners.

Michigan and Purdue will probably play a pretty close game, but if Purdue is as badly off form as she was Friday night against Iowa, Michigan will have easy picking.

Illinois should have no trouble in downing Northwestern. The ance last night in track uniform dispelled all fears that Wisconsin would not be well represented in the high jump events.

Both Tuhtar and McGinnis have cleared the bar when it was resting well over the six feet mark and these two men working together should offer stiff opposition to any high jumpers in the conference.

VARSITY LEADS FROSH TANKMEN IN SWIM EVENTS

Welch, of First Year Squad, Wins Out in Plunge

The varsity squad took the lead in the freshman-varsity swim last night and held the freshman tankmen to third and fourth places in all but one event.

Welch, freshman, won out in the plunge over Cook of the varsity team. Some of the best men of the freshman team such as Wray, breast stroke, and Fox, 100 and 220 yard swimmer, were not in the meet.

Herschberger and Frazier won the 40 yard dash in 20.3-5 and 21 seconds respectively, the frosh taking third and fourth places. In the 100-yard dash Herschberger and Fleuck took first and second in 1:02 and 1:04. Bell and Abendroth beat the first year swimmers in the 200-yard breast stroke in 3:03 and 3:09 2-5. In the 220, Hotchkiss took first in 2:50 3-5 and Holmes, freshman, took second in 2:53. This was one of the best races of the meet.

Gilbreth and Butler, varsity, raced off with the 150-yard dash to first and second places in 2 minutes 4-5 seconds and 2:03 seconds respectively. Wheatley, varsity, stacked up 74 points in the dive for first place, Simpkins, varsity, made 73 points, and Gimple, freshman, took third with 70 1-2 points.

Purple still seems to be weak in basketball, while the Illini have a team which has shown strong so far this year.

At this time last year Wisconsin had won three games. They defeated Indiana twice, 23-21 and 28-27; and Northwestern by a 25 to 10 score.

Chicago papers seem to disagree on Wisconsin's basketball team. One expects them to show very good during the coming season; while the other declares that it can be seen after the game Saturday night, that the Badgers seem to be in a slump this year.

TIPPING, A LOST ART?

If you should chance to walk up or down the hill behind a professor or an instructor you probably would notice that he seemed to be doing something rather strange. You would notice that on passing a woman student he would raise his hat. Perhaps not all of them would; but it is pretty certain that if you saw anyone doing it it would be the professor. Rarely ever would it be one of the class known as male students.

The height of perfection in the collegian's salutation seems to be a sweep of the arm in the general direction of the headgear, half military, half chorus-girl salute, together with a slight raising or lowering of the chin according to its position. The more expert are able to remove a pipe or cigarette from the mouth on the way up and return it to its place on the count of "two." This is the last word in dexterity.

Like many other things this habit, for it is only a habit, can be blamed on the war. The campaign hat could not be raised without a few gestures that reminded one of Houdini extricating himself from a strait-jacket; the overseas cap was still more impossible; and the officers' cap was not meant to be raised.

If there is one custom that we are to retain from the generation that criticises us so much we hope that it will be that of raising the hat as a sign of respect to the fairer sex. It will be argued that they do not merit it so much as did our grandmothers. But they, in turn, might as fairly reply that neither does the stronger sex merit the same respect that his grandfather did.

Which reminds us of the young lady who was riding on the subway going from Harlem to Brooklyn. After listening to the rather pointed remarks dropped by the would be masher in the seat behind her for some time she turned a cool eye in his direction and retorted "If your brains was dynamite they wouldn't lift your cap."

SPORTS—AND SPORTS

Does it not seem odd that university students should not be willing to respect the rights of others without constant police attention? The case of a group of university men on the lower campus skating rink Saturday afternoon is a case in point where those members of the group seemed to forget that there were any other persons skating on the rink or others who would like to skate.

Such amusements as "cracking the whip" on ice skates are not only dangerous to those connected with the game but are more harmful and annoying to those who wish to skate peacefully.

The small rink on the lower campus is no place for such games, least of all when that small space is crowded. A little more consideration of the rights of others by some of those using the rink—a thing of which university students should be capable—would go far toward the better enjoyment of the winter sports activities at this university.

Can European, American Students Co-operate?

By ROSWELL BARNES
(Lafayette College)

We may be profoundly thankful that the time has passed away when it is necessary to discuss the advisability of cooperation between European and American students. We turn to a consideration of methods, and consequently must agree upon the immediate as well as the ultimate objectives toward which we would strive.

During a recent survey of student problems in Europe, cursory in some respects, careful in others, it has become evident that certain cooperative enterprises are invaluable to individual student groups, and that they are a means of clearing up misunderstandings between nations. Some Europeans, on the one hand, do not understand America's apparent aloofness in remaining out of the League of Nations; they condemn America's immigration laws; they have the idea that American students live in luxury, and that they can secure a college degree with little or no financial difficulty. On the other hand, many American students misjudge Europeans because they have no knowledge of the minorities difficulties; they are forgetful of the trials through which the youth of Europe have passed during the last ten years; they condemn without thinking, the skepticism which has resulted from these experiences; and they forget that many European nations have a heritage of prejudice and national jealousies of which others know nothing.

Unfortunately, the press does very little to clear up misconceptions. On the contrary, it only too often is the source and channel of insidious propaganda. In tearing down the barriers of misunderstanding and false propaganda, the students find an immediate challenge which points to a goal of world brotherhood.

We must have an exchange of information about each other. Probably the most effective method is personal correspondence between students of different nations. Acquaintances thus started often grow into friendships. The exchange of student and general contemporary periodicals is a means of giving reliable information about national thought and action. Not only would false impressions be corrected by this exchange of information, but there would also be more value than most realize in the contributions each national group has to make to the other. European students can teach Americans a much needed lesson in simplicity of life; while Americans believe they can render an invaluable service to their fellow students on the continent by teaching them to play and how to play.

Probably most significant and far-reaching of the enterprises of international cooperation among students is the work connected with the European Student Relief of the World Student Christian Federation. To mention just one of its enterprises, I should speak of the Elman Conference. In one respect it was quite different from most international assemblies—it was not called for the purpose of the discussion or arbitration of points of disagreement among nations. On the other hand, it was one of a series of annual conferences in which representatives of different nations and races come together for a common purpose, that of helping each other to help themselves. Consequently they regarded international friction as an obstacle to progress and made a sincere attempt to eliminate it. Race difficulties, minorities problems, language handicaps, national jealousies and enmities were all there; but they were brought into the open, analyzed, diagnosed, prescribed for, and dismissed without wrangling.

American students travelling in Europe find a courteous reception and a generous hospitality when they meet students. These contacts also restore shaken confidence and renew hope. All students who travel should make it a point to meet other students. For example, if those visiting Austria during the summer months would patronize the Studentenheim in Vienna and the mountain resort hotel at Sonntagsberg, both visitors and Austrians would profit.

Skyrockets Presents—

BOUNDY SAYS—

Back in 1912 Wisconsin won a championship in football. I ain't never said nothin' yet concernin' the part I played in winning that there championship, but now is the time for it to come out. Things looked bad at one part of the season in particular and I went into the locker room one night and said, boys, this ain't no way to do things. I'll tell you how it oughta be done in my column tomorrow night, and would you believe it, the brace those boys took after what I had to say to them was wonderful, and they went right ahead and copped the flag.

—huh—

Well, folks, things is beginnin' to shape up like what I've been tellin' 'em around hear for two or three weeks is goin' to take affect and when that does that will be rewards for my efforts. What Wisconsin needed more than anythin' was a shake-up and it took Boundy to do it, I guess, but don't think folks that I'm patting the shoulder blades or anythin' like that but that's right.

—huh—

Me and the athletic council are still in deliberating about who the new athletic director is goanto be. After weedin out a few of the plumbers and perfessors and the likes, its shapin up to look somethin like it might perhaps under certain conditions be Bennie Snow. There is the man for you boys and at 'em all the time never stops. Thats what Wisconsin wants for her athletic boss and don't let 'em tell you no different.

—huh—

I guess maybe now the readers of this hear column know I know my stuff about these foot-racings. A year ago I was tellin' the world that when these here Olympias got under way that a Norgiewan boy by the name of Paavo Nurmi would be burnen 'em all up. Ain't he now. I got a special from him today that I had Butch Solbraa straighten out for me and he says, I mean Paavo says, Rouny your column is the best yet. It certainly does us a lotta good, I eat an apple and read your stuff just before a race.

Those boys down at the Ki Sigh lawdgs have been at me for six months now to come around to thier shack to put on the feed bag and the other nite not having any other perticular thing on I showed up. They sure shoved out a real meel. Me and Bud Baker was crossin' elbows next to each other at the table and the way that baby waded through a chunk of roast pork made me set up and get my bearings.

The Ki Sighs is all het up about thier big athlete, John Cassody, and that baby sure looks hot to me to as a football player and if he don't make a bang-up line for Wisconsin in 1926, Boundy is goin' to go out of business. Cassody says so himself, and besides he ain't been tryin' four odd yeres for nuthin. The rest of the Ki Sighs are informin' the universe that Cassody is goin' to be as good side-swiping on the football field as he is side steppin' around at a jig. You oughta buy a meal ticket over their at the Ki Sigh lawg and meet a good bunch of boys.

—huh—

Mr. Boundy,
Dear Sir:—

We have been reading your column well on to ten year now and think you should know about our greatest athlete of all time who is going to tear things up at that there University down at Madison next fall. Lodi ain't seen a better kid at the horseshoe pitchin' game in a long time. Hank Myers used to be the best, but this boy rings him up proper. What is that eatin' club down there, the Keapa Sticks or some funny thing like that, don't they fix up things for boys like that? Thought maybe you knew some of them seeing how you put their names in your column a lot.

ADAM YORK,

In behalf of Lodi, Wis.

—huh—

THANKS

Dear "Three Girls of Poddunk College: you're right no one has worked no harder than Boundy to put this across; maybe I am the man for the job, but you'd have a fat chance catchin' me throwing bouquets at myself. Wait a while, thanks girls.

—huh—

HOT STUFF

As you have saw before I'm with Coach Foozis and his Mah Jongg boys to the end in the Big Ten title race, but I've got some dope to spill after that there last game agin Illinois that will make some mighty sweet reading. I've got it down cold and will spill the real facts in a cold turkey way; I'm with Coach Foozis as I said before but that he ain't the right man can be seen too. Maybe you guys two have saw how the east wind blew around Finnegan in the Minnesota game, in the first place Finnegan hasn't got no brains and next he is too much inexperience, but that don't make no difference; then he is too much inexperience, but that don't make no difference; then why is he in the game regular with Einstein on the reserve table. Maybe you don't know but I do and when I start talking after the last game be ready for some straight from the shoulder stuff, this and other dope will be given when I pry the lid off. I ain't sparing nobody; that's me always, just doing it for the good of old Wisconsin.

Bascom Stairways Receive Repairs During Vacation

Have you noticed something different about venerable old Bascom hall? Perhaps you haven't, but a radical change has been made in the architecture of the building during the Christmas recess.

If one takes the trouble to stand for a few minutes by the stairs at the south or north ends, which are used for students going down, it will be noticed that instead of the familiar squeak and creak of the time worn timbers, there is now a pleasant click of hard leather heels upon stout oak lumber.

"The stairs were so worn as to be almost dangerous," said A. F. Gallister, superintendent of buildings and grounds. "Instructors complained about the noise made by students ascending and descending the stairs between classes, so the service department fixed them during vacation."

The Physical Education bulletin to be issued by the physical education alumnae this year probably will appear the first week in February, according to Maurine Hall '24, joint editor of the bulletin.

"The bulletin will be six by nine inches in size and contain at least 30 pages. Among the contents will be articles by graduates, reports of the A. P. E. A. convention by Miss Blanche Trilling and of the A. C. A. C. W. convention by Isabel Capps '23. Faculty additions and changes will be noted and happenings of the Physical Education club recorded.

"A full resume of the fall sport season and present outlook on the all-year-championship will occupy a section. W. A. A. cottage chat-terings, Dolphin club, Orchesus, and Outing club will all have their page," read the tentative plans recently received by Mabel Rugen '25.

TALKS ON CHURCH WORKERS MEETING

Hibbard Gives Report of Religious Conference Held in Chicago

—hub—
Reports on the first annual meeting of the Conference of Church Workers in universities of the United States, which was held in Chicago, Jan. 7 to 9, were made by C. V. Hibbard, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at a meeting of the association cabinet yesterday noon. "What Students Think of Religious Workers and Their Methods in the Campus" was one of the most interesting talks," said Mr. Hibbard. "This was a frank clinical study by a picked student from the University of Michigan, working under the direction of the group of religious workers on the campus but unknown to the group."

A plan of co-operation and co-ordination of religious work of the various demonstrations under one directing head was advocated during some of the discussions on campus religious activity. This plan is now used at Cornell.

Miss Gladys M. Haskins of the University was the leader of one of the conferences for workers among women. A preliminary report of the study of undergraduate morale by a representative of the Institute of Social and Religious Research told of findings on various university campuses. This group was on the Wisconsin campus last spring.

Among the representatives at the meeting were Rev. J. E. Sarles of the First Congregational church, Rev. E. W. Blakeman of the Wesley foundation, Rev. C. Walter Smith of the Baptist church, Rev. Marshall Olson and Rev. M. G. Allison of the Presbyterian group, and Rev. R. W. Barstow of the First Congregational church.

STUDENTS IGNORE U. S. POSTAL LAWS

Many Fines Are Collected By Clerks For Violations of Rules

"Any writing inside," a postal clerk is heard to ask, as the student presents his laundry case to be weighed.

"Just a note to let the folks know I arrived all O. K.," responds the proud junior.

The answer comes, "You must take it out or it will cost you .32 cents a pound postage."

In two weeks over $150 was collected at the postoffice from fines on students who sent first and second class mail in their laundry cases. The examination of laundry boxes for cases of violation of the postal rules takes a great deal of time and the officials hope the students will soon stop the habit.

Students mail over 1,800 laundry cases at the university postoffice every week, sending them to all parts of the country. Monday, Friday and Saturday are the busiest days for mailing home these packages so that sometimes 12 persons wait in line from five to ten minutes in order to buy the necessary amount of postage.

Special delivery stamps are popular sellers at the postoffice on Saturday. Over 400 of these are sold at the university sub-station every week.

Development of the frontier and advancement of the middle west have always been Professor Turner's chief interests. He has contributed much in the way of research and investigation to the development of American history from earliest records.

SOUTH AMERICAN TOUR IS PLANNED

Romance Language Department Calls For Students to Take Summer Trips

South American tour plans, which are being made tentatively by the romance language department for the direct advantage of Wisconsin students, are progressing daily, said Prof. Casimir D. Zdanowicz, head of the department yesterday. New inquiries are continually being made by the department as to steamship lines, accommodations, conditions in the countries to be investigated, and the possible advantages to be derived from the trip.

The plans as they now stand call for a departure from New York in the latter part of June. The steamer is planned to go directly down through the Panama canal and along the western coast of South America, and the first stop would be at Lima, Peru, a place rich in architectural interest. From there a journey will be taken into the interior of Bolivia; a region well known for Inca ruins.

Chile will be visited and the group will take a 48 hour ride across the continent by trains to Buenos Aires. Points of interest in Argentine, Santos and Rio de Janeiro in Brazil will be included.

As yet there has been no provision for credit to be given for taking the trip, but this may be arranged for the individual person.

1 Pr. Men's Oxfords
1 Pr. Women's Oxfords

To add interest and zest to this remarkable sale we are staging a great "Contest of Luck." No skill, no experience required—only luck. With every cash purchase of $1.00 or over, we will issue a number. The purchasers' names, addresses and numbers will be recorded. At the end of the contest, a chance selection will be made by three disinterested parties, and the lucky ones will be notified. The first prize will be a man's overcoat from our $31.50 group. The second prize a pair of men's oxfords. The third prize, a pair of high grade women's shoes. All prizes subject to winners' selection and approval. Ask for numbers—our salesmen will explain details—contest opens Wednesday, Jan. 14—closes 9 P. M. Saturday, January 24. Don't miss it. You may be the lucky one.
