NEW '26 WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS IN RECORD VOTE

400 Choose Mary Brader Head of Green Button

Mary Brader was elected president of Green Button, freshman women's organization, in yesterday's election, after one of the heaviest votes ever cast by freshman women in a Green Button election. Almost 400 out of the 700 freshmen women had voted when the polls closed at 5:30 o'clock.

Other officers elected are: Edith Jorris, vice-president; Florence Blish, secretary; Ruth Hawley, treasurer.

Spirit Typical of '26 Katherine O'Shea '24, chairman of the election committee for S. G. A., said yesterday that the large turnout was typical of the enthusiastic class spirit the women of the class of '26 have displayed since the opening of the semester.

Miss Brader attended Madison high school, where she took part in many activities. She was vice-president of the junior class, senior speaker at the junior-senior banquet, winner of the reading contest, and wearer of the M. H. S. emblem for athletics. She is a pledge of Alpha Omicron Pi.

"It is my chief concern to get the freshmen women together and bind them with the staunchest feeling of good fellowship and congeniality," Miss Brader said in regard to her plans for Green Button last night.

All Gacers Active Miss Jorris is from La Crosse, where she was president of the high school basketball team and active in dramatics. Miss Blish is from Fond du Lac and a pledge of Alpha Phi. She was active in high school activities and club work. Miss Hawley is from Winnetka, Ill., where she was on the staff of her high school paper. She is an Alpha Phi pledge.

BLEYER IS IN EAST WRITING NEW BOOK

A vacation consisting of months spent in a study of newspaper files, the complete revision of a book and a Mediterranean tour with England as his objective point, is the program for this coming year of Prof. Willard G. Bleyer of the Journalism department.

The vacation will be the first that Professor Bleyer has had for 25 years. At present he is in New York city making a study of newspaper files for the purpose of collecting material for a history of journalism which he is preparing to write. While the history will be confined to American journalism, Professor Bleyer intends to make a thorough study of English newspapers and their journalistic methods.

He expects to begin his Mediterranean tour about January 1, and to arrive in England the following spring. His stay in England will last until the following September when he plans to return and resume his work here.

While spending the summer in the East, Professor Bleyer has completed and placed in the hands of the publishers, a revised edition of his book "Newspaper Writing and Editing" which is used in the sophomore classes in journalism.

GARDNER GIVES DRIVE OUTLINE

Freshmen Will Be Divided Geographically In Mass-meeting

The massmeeting to be held by the Memorial Union for all new students October 30 is to be carried out on the geographical plan, according to Prof. E. A. Gardner, who explained the whole plan of the new campaign to 125 of the canvassing personnel who met last night in the Chemistry auditorium.

"The whole gymnasium will be a canvasser from the same locality from which the student comes, and a canvasser from the same locality will sit with his assigned people," Professor Gardner said. "Every locality will have a standard, even if there is but one student from the most remote foreign country. The whole thing will look like a nominating convention. All foreign students, all western, and all Bostonians will discover new acquaintances from their home localities. It will be a great sight, and each year this massmeeting will become one of the largest functions for new students on the campus."

Tickets will be issued to each new student, and a seat assigned to him, so that his presence can be checked up and he can be visited afterwards.

"Every new student must be at this meeting for three reasons," Professor Gardner declared. "First we want them all to get the com-

BENNETT OUT FOR JUNIOR PRESIDENT

10 NOMINEES OF '23 COMMITTEE MAY NOT ENTER

Class Opinion Expected To Decide Primary Outcome

Unless class sentiment favors it, the 10 seniors—two for each class office—who were selected Sunday morning by the senior class nominating committee, will not enter the field against the present ticket, Ralph E. Axley, chairman of the committee, announced last night.

Those nominated, it became known yesterday, are:

President—Leslie R. Gage, Letters and Science; Wayne L. Morse, Law.

Vice-president—Margaret E. Brabant, Letters and Science; Elizabeth Kirk, Letters and Science.

Secretary—Helen H. Kasbeer, Letters and Science; Cleo M. Parsley, Letters and Science.

Treasurer—Hugo L. Rusch, Engineer; Werner I. Senger, Engineer.

Sergeant-at-arms—Edward H. Gibson, Agriculture; Raymond C. Klussendorf, Agriculture.

Expect No Second Meeting

A second open meeting of the class was to be called soon after the nominating committee had acted for the purpose of submitting the candidates for approval. It was expected that an opposition ticket would be drawn up at this time.

Recent unfavorable sentiment has led Axley to believe such a plan would be unfair to all the candidates, he said.

"Everything was conducted fairly well up until the close of the meeting Sunday morning, but the nominees for president, and other seniors who have had an opportunity to discuss the matter, now are of the opinion that the proposed massmeeting could not be conducted fairly," Axley asserted.

"Several of the seniors who were nominated by the committee after due consideration have declined to enter the field," he said.

Axley contended that no fair choice of nominees could be made without the proper political machinery. Corruption and political juggling would dominate any open meeting of the class, he said.

Favors Senate Conducted Primary

"The original purpose of the recent agitation will be accomplished through the appearance in the field of several of the seniors nominated by the committee," Axley concluded.

"Moreover, the final result of these efforts should be the provision—by the Student senate or through a student referendum—of machinery that will make it possible to conduct primary elections in the future without fear of injustice to the candidates."

KAHLENBERG FINDS NEW SKIN SUTURE

Prof. Louis Kahlenberg of the chemistry department recently has invented a skin suture for use in surgical operations which includes all of the advantages of horsehair and none of its disadvantages and which has come to be widely used by surgeons in America and elsewhere.

The new suture is called "Equisetene," a name derived from two Latin words, meaning "Equus", the horse, and "Seta", a hair, and the ending "ene" a suffix used to show that it is a substitute. The suture is made by treating silk chemically so that tissue cells cannot penetrate the meshes of the silk. The chemical treatment overcomes the disadvantages which surgeons had found in silk as a suture, and makes a smoother, more uniform material for use in surgical operations, it is said.

The suture has been clinically tried by Dr. Edward Ochsner, former student here and now physician at Chicago hospital. The results of this trial have showed that Professor Kahlenberg's suture fulfills all medical requirements.

The suture manufactured by a company in Two Rivers, has been widely used.

LEGION HEARS LABOR'S AIMS

Turn Second Day's Sessions to Rehabilitation Question

NEW ORLEANS — The American Legion in National convention here yesterday heard Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor tell of labor's aims and aspirations, and what it believes its rights and duties are.

Mr. Gompers and K. M. Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball received a noisy welcome from the "Buddies" when they entered the convention hall.

San Francisco was awarded the 1923 convention of the American Legion by acclamation.

With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility, still ringing in their ears, world war veterans began the second day's session of their convention here with the rehabilitation question as the chief topic under discussion.

In this connection the Legionnaires were considering the bulletin issued to all post commanders by Lemuel Bowles, national adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected during the war for the benefit of soldiers and sailors rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing court cases and decisions and asserting the legion was the one organization in its class to legally disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the commanders to take proper steps to secure all war chest collections.

The Legion's rehabilitation report termed the government's record, "a series of tragic mistakes, postponements, delays, alibis, and politicks."

After the business session yesterday, the veterans will turn to many social and athletic events planned for their amusement. Saturday hundreds of "Buddies" were reunited and even through the early morning hours details of battles that held the front pages of newspapers during the war, were recounted.

FORD PRICES HAVE BEEN LOWERED $50

A $50 reduction on all models of Ford cars was announced Tuesday by the Ford Motor Co. and L. F. Schoelkoff, local dealer. It is expected that the reduction will take effect immediately. Coupled with recent reductions the price of Ford cars is now the lowest in the history of the company. The tractor price will remain the same, although there will be additional improvements.

"Improved management and increased perfection in manufacture and assembling have made this reduction possible," it was announced at Ford's Dearborn plant.

The new model touring car will differ greatly in appearance from the old style and will contain several radical changes including a slanting windshield and a one man top. The new engine is also said to be greatly improved.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

GRID CONTESTS DOWN EAST ARE CLOSE OPENERS

Low Scores and Several Upsets Characterize Saturday's Games

Low scores and hard fought battles characterized the eastern football games of last Saturday. In several instances the unexpected happened and crashed all previous "dope" to the ground.

As the result of a well placed drop kick from the 35 yard line, West Virginia was victorious over the University of Pittsburgh, 9-6, for the first time in 19 years. Right halfback Marth was responsible for the kick. His dashes around ends and his perfect field judgment and ability to out-guess his opponents made him the outstanding man on both teams.

Princeton Knocks Colgate, 10-0

Princeton won from Colgate, 10-0, on the Tigers' field. A brilliant 80 yard run for touchdown and later in the game a dropkick by Ken Smith gave the Tigers the advantage over the visitors. Colgate played loose ball, although Townsend, Herman and Mason did stellar work for the Maroon team, smashing time and again through the Princeton lines for good gains.

Only once after the first 5 minutes of play did the Colgate eleven get within the Tigers 30 yard line. Princeton excelled in punting, gaining about 25 yards on each exchange. Cleave played a great game for the Tigers, completing two 40 yard passes from Snively.

Centre is still going with her old time drive. This weekend she defeated Virginia Polytechnic, 10-6. The Virginians scored in the first quarter, but missed their try for goal. It was not until the fourth quarter that Centre was able to put across her only touchdown, and late in the same quarter to make the dropkick. Once during the last quarter Virginia had the ball on Centre's 4 yard line, but was penalized 15 yards and failed to score.

Army and Navy Strong

Until the final quarter of the game at West Point, Alabama Poly. commonly known as Auburn, held the Army lads 6-0. In the last quarter, however, the cadets hit their stride, and once going there was no let up. When the final whistle blew the score stood 19-6 in favor of the army.

The Navy took the strong Bucknell eleven into camp 14-7. Both scored in the first period, and it was only in the last moments of play that Bachet, substituted at fullback, ploughed through the Bucknell eleven for a 15 yard gain which netted him a touchdown.

Next Saturday Princeton will meet the University of Maryland on the Tigers' field. Maryland fell before the onslaught of Pennsylvania's passing last Saturday, 12-0, and judging from what the Tigers did to Colgate it looks as though Princeton would have an easy time of it.

Here Are Saturday Games

The Pittsburg warriors will travel to Syracuse to do battle with that eleven. Brown held Syracuse to a 0-0 tie at Providence last weekend, and, owing to the fact that Pitt lost to West Virginia, the game promises to be a good one. The dope seems to be in favor of Pitt.

Cornell will meet Colgate at Ithaca. Colgate is playing rather loose football this year and football critics are expecting Cornell to emerge from the conflict with the long end of the score. Other games are: West Point vs N. H. State at West Point; Navy vs. Georgia Tech at Annapolis; Yale vs. Williams, at New Haven; Holy Cross vs. Boston university, at Worcester.

The W. A. A. inauguration picnic will be held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning instead of tomorrow night, due to the conflict with the membership banquet of the Y. W. C. A. it was announced yesterday. All members who go are to meet at Lathrop hall Sunday morning.

The picnic will be held to formally install the first of the new official hike signs which W. A. A. is putting up to mark the destinations of their hikes. The picnickers will eat at the end of one of these hikes.

Conference Athletics Director to Be Here

John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten conference will be in Madison the last of the week to confer with the athletic council here. He also will address the Badger club and the Kiwanis club during his stay in the city.

Mr. Griffith, appointed as commissioner by the athletic directors of the Big Ten conference, is coming to Madison in pursuit of his duties in that capacity. He has for his purpose the promotion of amateur principles in athletics and the prevention of gambling and other violations of the conference rules.

Although Mr. Griffith's chief work is fighting professionalism in conference athletics, he also is trying to show students, alumni and all other persons who are interested in good clean athletics the value of the amateur idea.

ILLINOIS DRILLS HARD FOR IOWA GAME SATURDAY

Zuppke is Handicapped By Many Injuries to Grid Stars

(Special to The Cardinal)

Pointing his plays all week for the Iowa (Homecoming) football battle here next Saturday, Coach Bob Zuppke is striving to overcome faults which were obvious during the Butler combat last Saturday. The Illini were defeated, 10 to 7, on Illinois field.

With Rune Clark, star quarterback, out with injuries and J. C. Happenny, a regular halfback, out for the same reason, Zuppke, as he parted for New Haven on Friday morning, announced that his backfield would consist of S. A. Coutchie, pilot; Chris Woodward, fullback; Bill Robison and W. W. McIwain halfbacks.

With this combination, the team should play good football, but because these men are rather inexperienced in real battle, their chance for brilliance is all marred. Woodward is a substitute from last year, while the others are from the freshman varsity.

The forward wall, which Zuppke tried to bolster with his substitutes from last year, has been given a serious set-back because of injuries, but at the present time the line consists of Captain Dave Wilson, left end; Ted Richards, right end; Greene, center; McMillen and Ummons, guards; and Augur and Coolidge, tackles.

Illinois hopes do not run high, but if the Illini survives this battle, it is expected that the team will be on an uphill drive.

45,000 RESERVE SEATS FOR OHIO DEDICATION TILT

Honor Guests To Be Present For Stadium Opening

(Special to The Cardinal)

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 17—"Keying up" week for the long-anticipated dedication of Ohio stadium at Ohio State university is now in progress. Strangers find conversation very easy, for the magic word stadium is the open sesame to common interests at Columbus.

On Ohio field the "keying up" process is vastly more strenuous. Dr. J. W. Wilce, head coach, is flaying his Ohio state warriors in an effort to bring them up to proper fighting pitch for the dedication battle scheduled for next Saturday with Michigan.

45,000 Seats Reserved

With at least 45,000 seats in the stadium already reserved for the dedication, a new attendance record for the Middle West is assured. The present crowd of 42,000 was attracted by Michigan and Ohio state for re-dedication of Ferry field at Ann Arbor last year. The greatest throng that ever followed a team from one state to another will trek behind Michigan squad on its invasion of Ohio.

Ten thousand Michigan followers were signed up ten days ago, and an S. O. S. sent for 5,000 more tickets.

The vanguard of fans will begin to pour into Columbus Thursday. Early Friday morning a 24-hour automobile procession is expected to begin. Preparations are being made to placard all highways at the city limits, directing automobiles around traffic to the stadium. Parking plots for at least 6,000 machines have been zoned off in the university district.

Walter Camp To Be Present

More than 300 honor guests, including statesmen, educators, writers and former football heroes, will participate in the brief ceremonies preceding the dedication game. Among the critics who have already accepted invitations are Walter Camp, famous for his selections of All-American elevens, Grantland Rice and Lawrence Perry, nationally known authors of syndicated sport stories.

Western conference and Ohio conference universities will be represented by their presidents as

"Found—gray blanket by football fan with long fringes."

That is the sign Frank J. Nickerson, assistant to the athletic director, would post on his office door—if he had room for it. But he hasn't. So he won't. And there you are.

It was at the South Dakota—Wisconsin football game that a beautiful gray blanket was lost by its owner. Nobody knows how it was lost. Few persons care. So there you are.

The blanket was brought to the gymnasium and placed in Nickerson's care. Thus far, no one has advertised for it. Mr. Nickerson will have little use for the blanket.

Football fans who think it belongs to them can call at Frank's office tomorrow morning. The line will form in the main office of the men's gymnasium at 9 o'clock.

GIVE REGULARS HARD WORKOUT IN TWO SCRAPS

Richards Centers Efforts on Building Forward Wall

Not satisfied with sending his Wisconsin grid eleven against only one team, the All-Americans, Coach John R. Richards called the freshmen eleven over to the Varsity field yesterday afternoon and the tentative first team scrimmaged both opponents.

After directing the regulars against Keg Driver's yearling outfit, the Badger mentor put them on the offense against the All-Americans for a stiff skirmish. Both opponents had fair success in working new plays against the team piloted by Shorty Barr.

Special emphasis is being laid on work of the forward wall. It has been handicapped by injuries and, as a result, does not move as a unit on offense. The line attack apparently is somewhat weak and will have to be bolstered up before Indiana comes here Saturday. A doubtful forward wall means that the running attack will not get away in successful fashion and it also means that Shorty Barr and his famous forward pass will have to be used more than ever.

NIGHT EDITOR—PORTER F. BUTTS

OCTY AGAIN

THE OCTOPUS again appears on the campus today, filling a big place in student life and interest. As a college humorous publication, the Octopus ranks with the best. It has been well supported, as it deserves.

In art work especially, the Octopus excels. Few general humorous publications are as good, so far as illustration is considered. Each Octopus that has been issued has been worth its price on the basis of the cartoons alone.

To continue its successful work and make it more successful, the Octopus needs two things, subscribers and contributors.

The next few days will tell how it is to be supported from the circulation standpoint. Undoubtedly students will be eager to buy it, as they have been in the past.

The contributor problem is more acute. Staff members can't write everything if the magazine is to have freshness and originality. But clever writers are scarce, or are making themselves scarce. If campus publications are to be good, students with ability must come out of their shells.

Last year at an editors' convention the Octopus was voted the cleanest college humor magazine in America. Though the editors have been modest about letting this be known, it is a record for which they may be congratulated. It is to be expected that the policy of eliminating the risque and coarse will be continued.

CAMPUS "ARISTOCRACY" OCCASIONALLY in college politics, appears an organization of political fledglings which plans to do great things. Youthful students, impressed with the "aristocratic" exclusiveness of the aged organizations to which they belong, decide that they are divinely appointed to run things.

Such a clique merits only a laugh and a subsequent obituary. The members are merely burning their fingers, and are bound to find themselves left out in the end.

The amazing thing about it is that some of the fledglings with whom they aim to compete actually take them seriously.

CHURCH AT COLLEGE

THE LUTHERAN church is conducting a drive to pay for a new student church. The Presbyterians announce that they will soon build a new church. Recent years have witnessed the organization of various denominational agencies about the campus to promote the spiritual welfare of students.

This is a movement that is worth while. For the most part consideration of religion is excluded from the university curriculum, and students of the past have gained a reputation for being irreligious, largely because religious influences were not brought to them.

Great things may be expected from a movement that will keep the college student in connection with his church.

INVITE YOUR FRIENDS

THE Homecoming committee has sent out to alumni 17,000 letters urging them to come back for the big day. It was a stupendous piece of work and promises a rousing good Homecoming.

In spite of the unrivaled plan for getting the old grads back to see Wisconsin defeat Illinois, everybody's personal help is needed to make a go of Homecoming. A general committee can supply virtually everything to arouse enthusiasm except the close intimate touch which heightens the degree of welcome. This touch can be best supplied by the students themselves.

Almost every student knows at least one graduate of Wisconsin. Most students know more than one. It would take but a few minutes to write a personal letter to these alumni friends, asking them to come back to their Alma Mater, and telling them about the Homecoming program and game.

As a follow up to the committee's letters, a personal chummy invitation would be of inestimable help in getting the old grads back. It merely means jogging one's memory a bit and then sitting down and writing a few lines of friendly welcome. Surely everybody can afford a few minutes to help Homecoming the biggest event of the year.

Hundreds of rural school teachers in various parts of the state have attended the recreational institutes held by the Extension division.

Eighteen scholarly papers have been published thus far in the new series of University of Wisconsin Studies.

The Octopus Is Back, Good, Bad, Indifferent, But Laugh Provoking

BY H. P.

The Octopus is back, easily recognizable. Art work excellent; puns passing; limericks lively. The inevitable amount of rank verse; the usual dose of dubious prose by puerile punsters and prolific epigrammarians, or whatever they may be called. A good portion of humor, especially in the cartoons; a smile on each page with an occasional giggle or guffaw. The duds are evenly distributed.

On the whole the issue is up to Octopus quality, fit for comparison with any college magazine. For the first issue of the year, it is especially good.

Hub Townsend is on the job again as good as ever. We have a great fondness for Hub's cartoons. When we look at his drawings, we smile; when we read the lines, we chuckle; and the ensemble prompts a neighborly nudge at whoever may happen to be near. And the flavor lasts; real humor stands re-reading. There's a delicate artistry about his work which might well be extended to the ventures in prose and poetry.

The rest of the cartoon work is good, especially Mueller's, but the coordination between jokes and drawings is not so pronounced.

The reference to rank verse and dubious prose is not meant to be entirely adverse. Many of the contributions show considerable originality and cleverness, but more versatility on the part of Octopus scabblers would be welcome.

There is a big field for the Octopus in the experimental use of the English language. Surely, some among the readers of the Octopus would appreciate a slight literary tang in their verse and prose. This field, we take it, is not entirely occupied by the Lit.

Skilled versifiers and prose writers with a sense of real humor are scarce, of course, but perhaps, among 7,000 students, someone might be found with the potentialities of an Arthur Guitermann, a Christopher Morley, a B. L. T.

SENIOR POLITICS

Editor Daily Cardinal:

Most of us are keenly interested in the student election soon to be held, in which the officers of the class of '23 are to be elected. We should be interested. It is of the utmost importance to all of us that the most representative and most capable students be fairly chosen and elected to the respective offices.

A very short time ago a massmeeting, self-constituted in its membership, nominated a committee whose duty in itself was to nominate certain individuals as candidates for offices on the senior ticket. Two members were chosen for each office. The committee, as I understand, endeavored to pick the outstanding students of the senior class and I believe attempted to do so in a manner which deserves just commendation.

However, a massmeeting scheduled to be held Thursday evening is also anticipated to serve as a primary election. This, due to the fact that certain rumors have prevailed in the campus, will inevitably and necessarily be a fraudulent election smacking of political corruption infected by certain factions.

The entire meeting was unofficial in its origin but certainly had the right principle in mind when it made its debut, but now, due to its utterly unauthenticated nature, a method of perhaps, might I say, "stuffing the ballots" may well be used. In so far as this little experiment has gone it has been successful, naming the prominent and representative students on the class ticket, although two candidates, as the committee reports, have refused to run. Now we are to have a massmeeting—which I believe is doomed to be a failure.

Consequently, I think that in view of the fact that representative students have been nominated it would be for the best interests of our class not to exclude any of the candidates in the field. Surely there is room for three or four candidates for each office and surely if there is any danger that a worthy candidate might be eliminated at an unrepresentative massmeeting, the meeting should not be held. I do not see fairness in the proposed massmeeting.

There is no doubt that some recreation is as necessary to the student in college as some study.

A good sound body makes for a good sound mind, and we are about to suggest some games that could very easily be worked into our daily routine of life.

FOR INSTANCE:
There is BLIND MAN'S BLUFF. This game is very appropriate during exams. The player wears dark glasses to his exam and under their protection lets his eyes wander to his neighbors paper, thereby getting a good mark. You know, BLIND MAN'S BLUFF.

HIDE-and-GO-SEEK can be played very well in the library. Some professor gives out an assignment in outside reading and the first man that gets to the library hides the book and everybody else seeks for it, usually in vain.

TAG is played a great deal on the hill. You all have lived through these days when some guy stands at the bottom of the hill and says, "Won't you buy a tag for this?" or "Won't you buy a tag for that?" and the student body is usually it.

THE OTHER day
We were sitting in our office,
And some guy came in and said,

AND we said that we couldn't be bothered,
BUT HE said it was a good-looking girl.

SO WE said,
"Bring her in. We'll look at her lines."

EUROPE ABLE TO PAY DEBTS

Hoover Claims Repudiation Would Undermine Nations' Good Faith

TOLEDO, O.—Repudiation of the loans made by the United States to the allied and associated nations during the war would undermine the whole fabric of international good faith, Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and a member of the allied debt commission, declared Monday night in an address here.

"These loans are, in fact, debts owing to our taxpayers," Mr. Hoover said. "They were made at the urgent request of the borrowers and under their solemn assurances of repayment. The loans were individual to each nation. They have no relation to other nations or to other debts."

"The American taxpayer did not participate in reparations and acquired no territory or any other benefits under the treaty as did our debtors. There is no question as to the moral or contract obligation."

"With the exception of some minor amounts, perhaps five per cent, I am convinced that these debts can be repaid in some reasonable period of time without realization of the oft-expressed undue strain on the debtor countries or the threat of a flood of goods from debtor countries in such quantity as would endanger employment of the factories and workmen of the United States."

Military Order Endorses October 27 As Navy Day

The Military Order of the World's War, in national convention assembled at Atlantic City, N. J., on September 20, endorsed the celebration of Navy Day on October 27, as a means of bringing to the country's attention of the fact that the navy is a vast commercial asset in time of peace.

They state that the prosperity and security of our daily lives is largely dependent upon the navy and that the people of the United States must insist that the personnel and material of the navy be increased until our naval strength is equal to that of Great Britain and equal to five-thirds times that of Japan.

The order has drawn up a resolution which they expect to transmit to the president of the United States, the secretary of war, the secretary of the navy and the chairman of the appropriations and naval affairs committees of the senate.

1922 Wisconsin State Fair Loss Amounts to $90,000

The 1922 state fair was run at a $90,000 loss, an audit being made by the state department of agriculture shows.

This excess of expenditures over receipts is annually anticipated by the legislature which appropriates funds for operation of the state show. For that purpose $230,000 was provided by the last session.

Receipts of the fair totalled approximately $150,000, with disbursements somewhat over $240,000, so that the people of the state are called on to make good to the extent of slightly more than $90,000.

The loss this year is less than in 1921 when a small attendance cut down the receipts.

MOUNTAIN TO BE CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL

Stone Mountain, Ga., the face of which is to be carved into a memorial. Below, Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, in charge of the work.

Gutzon Borglum will direct an army of 1,000 men with pneumatic chisels which will transform face of Stone Mountain, Ga., into a gigantic memorial to the southern confederacy. The work is to be completed in 1930. When finished an army of nearly 1,000 men will be carved into the mountain side. Some of the figures will be more than fifty feet in height and the features of Generals Lee, Jackson and other leaders will be recognizable two or three miles from the foot of the mountain. A fund of $2,000,000 has been raised to defray expenses. The work already has started.

The cutting of the memorial was begun early in September, and will be completed probably by 1930. The first section is to be finished and unveiled in about three years, and the second probably in five years.

At the base of the mountain a monster hall will be cut as a memorial to the women of the confederacy. The hall, 200 feet long, will reach back into the solid granite of the mountain's base sixty feet. The roof will be turned over to the United Daughters of the Confederacy and will be used as their meeting place and for keeping the documents and mementoes of the confederacy.

MADISON'S FOURTH COMMUNITY Music Memory Contest

A movement to increase the knowledge of good music through learning to recognize from hearing twenty-four of the best musical compositions. Four are assigned to each of six weeks. At the end of the period, a contest is held, in which parts of the compositions are played and the listeners attempt to write down the titles and composers. This year in evaluating the papers, no additional mark will be given for correct spelling.

SELECTION NO. 3

Overture to Mignon, by Ambroise Thomas (Born at Metz, 1811, died in Paris, 1896.)

Makers of Masterpieces

Payne with Home, Sweet Home; de Lisle with The Marseillaise; Boccherini with his Minuet Antique; Leoncavallo with I Pagliacci;—these are a few examples of composers who are known to the world by a single fine song, instrumental number, or opera. Thomas, although he wrote many operas, is remembered only through his Mignon. Written in his middle life, it attained its thousandth performance before he died.

The Story of the Opera

Mignon (gn pronounced like ny) was adopted by two French writers from a novel by the German author Goethe. It tells of the adventures of a strange girl who has been stolen from her parents and reared, with much maltreatment, by a Gypsy band of actors. Eventually she is rescued and restored to her friends and relatives.

Music of the Overture

This overture is the most extended and eloquent piece of instrumental music Thomas ever composed. It contains a number of the principal airs of the opera, and thus, when performed by the orchestra as an introduction to the opera, serves to make the listener somewhat familiar with the leading melodies when they are sung later. It however is equally satisfying as an independent composition and because of its beautiful melodies and rich instrumentation is frequently heard in popular concerts, especially those given by capable bands.

Two Main Themes

At the beginning is heard, practically in its complete form, the famous song, "Dost Thou Know That Sweet Land," which was included in our last year's contest. After a few measures of a simple pastoral theme played by the oboe and a gay call on the flute, the main melody enters in a French horn solo which admirably displays the peculiar beauties of this instrument. A little passage suggesting a recitation follows and the song closes with an impassioned burst

NEW FRENCH OBOE IS ADDED TO BAND

New instruments will feature in the concerts of the band this year. A French oboe recently has been added to the band by Russell Reed '26, who will transfer from the soprano saxophone.

Frank J. Kohn '23, has been the oboe concert player for the past year, he having transferred to that instrument from the clarinet a year ago.

The new alto clarinet purchased last spring is being played by Alfred Moore '26, and for the first time in the last decade the band will include three bassoon players, Raymond Ludden '24, Alden Losby '24, and C. A. Casper '24.

Major E. W. Morphy, commenting upon Mr. Reed's action, said yesterday:

"It would be well if many of our present day saxophone players would utilize their ability upon some of the rarer instruments such as the oboe, English horn, alto and bass clarinets and bassoon, thereby equipping themselves for the great demand for these instruments in our symphony orchestras and concert bands."

Scabbard and Blade to Boost Union With Show

Scabbard and Blade, probably will secure its quota for the Memorial Union fund by means of a vaudeville show to be presented about Christmas time, President Robert L. Luening announced following a meeting last night.

Because of its small membership and the fact that most of the members belong to other organizations, Scabbard and Blade will be unable to furnish solicitors for the fund under the plan of the Council of 40, which provides that each organization on the campus furnish 10 men to help carry on the work of the drive. Accordingly, some other method is to be worked out by which the club can raise its allotment, and a vaudeville production has been accepted as the best means. Mr. Luening stated.

BRITISH MOVE TO GET SHIPS

Ask Release of Vessels Taken Outside Three Mile Limit

WASHINGTON — Negotiations between the British embassy and the state department looking to the release from custody of vessels of British registry seized by prohibition forces outside the three mile limit, took definite form yesterday as a result of the definite refusal of the British government to enter an agreement which would permit of reciprocal authority to make such seizures.

A suggestion from the United States that an agreement whereby the two governments could exercise special supervision over American and British shipping in coastal waters outside the 3-mile limit would be of material assistance to American authorities in enforcing customs and liquor statutes was opposed by Britain in a note made public Saturday night on the ground that an undesirable precedent would be established. Great Britain, however, offered to co-operate in every way in assisting in curbing the activities of smugglers along the American coasts.

In the conversations looking to the release of vessels alleged to have been seized on the high seas, British representatives here are known to have differentiated sharply between cases of ships captured outside the three mile limit, which had established contact with the shore by use of their small boats, and those against which no such evidence lay.

In support of the contention that such ships as the Buema and the Gardner, both of which were captured by the American dry navy at points from 7 to 9 miles off the New Jersey coast, the British government was understood to have relied heavily on the decision obtained by the United States from British courts in 1805 in the case of the schooner Anna.

Thanksgiving Turkey to be Cheaper This Year

CHICAGO — The 1922 Thanksgiving turkey will be cheaper than was the 1921 model.

The supply of eggs is the greatest in years, and the breakfast delicacies are due for a price slump soon, they say.

"WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME, POOR SPIRIT," SAYS DR. GORDON

Congregational Students Hear Rockford Pastor at Banquet

"What's in it for me?"

How many times do you ask yourself that question? In what kinds of situations do you ask that question, of yourself or of someone else?

By his application and interpretation of that question a man's whole life and character are made or unmade, according to the Rev. Dr. John Gordon of Rockford, who addressed the Congregational Students' association at its banquet last evening.

"If you never have asked yourself that question, you do not know what you are here for, and will end up exactly nowhere," the Rev. Mr. Gordon said.

"But the man or woman who makes that the principal theme of his or her life and conduct, who interprets it to mean personal advantages and gain, is a social enemy. War and the curses of society do not come about because men hate each other, but because someone

Fat Man, Stuck, Foils Escape of 1500 Erin Rebels

DUBLIN — Only for a fat man whose bulk clogged the road to escape through a sewer 1,500 irregulars would have escaped from Jurragh prison this morning. The irregulars had begun creeping through an unused drain to the river and swimming across to safety. The 148th man, however, got stuck, and those behind him were unable to turn around in the narrow passage. The guards, aroused by the cries for help of those imprisoned, gave chase to those who had made their getaway and recaptured twenty-seven.

Dean S. H. Goodnight served as master of the banquet, and Prof. E. B. Gordon was cheerleader. Piano solos were given by Robert C. Nethercut '24, including Litz's "Liebestraum" No. 3 and the "Marche Grotesque," by Sinding. Carroll Robb '25 sang "Mother of Mine," "Smilin' Thru," and a banjo song.

TERRITORIAL EFFECTS OF ALLIES-TURK ARMISTICE TERMS

Under the terms of the Mudanya armistice eastern Thrace will be turned over to the Turks within thirty days. This territory was taken away from the Turks in the territorial settlements made after the war and has been sought by the Turks ever since. The allies, however, will pass upon the number of Turkish soldiers allowed in the area. New neutral zones in the Chanak and Ishmid areas, of strategic value along the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, will be defined by commissions. The boundary of the central zone in the Constantinople peninsula has been set, as has that of the Gallipoli peninsula. The map indicates the approximate line of both zones. Other terms of the armistice relate to evacuation of eastern Thrace.

Some Forget Fee Cards, Some Write to Prexy Birge, Some—

Peggy wants a seat next to Jimmie Brown at the Indiana game. Mary wants a ticket if Rollie Williams will play.

These and similar requests are received daily by Paul S. Hunter and his 12 assistants who are handling the sale of football tickets.

Fifty or more students got an attack of absent mindedness and forgot to inclose fee cards with their application. The worst case was that of a fellow who sent in his fee card but forgot to send a check. A letter followed soon after in which he said he had forgotten to send a check but was inclosing cash, and then he forgot to send the cash, and finally received a ticket.

And checks drift in with these applications to virtually everyone connected with the athletic department, instead of to the treasurer of the athletic council, as directed. Tom Jones, John Richards and Paul Hunter are the most popular recipients. Many are made out to Rollie Williams and one check for 50 cents was made payable to the order of President Birge.

Mail orders are still coming in, although the mail order sale closed on Saturday.

"We do everything within our power to secure tickets for the students, and in the case of forgotten fee cards we go to the extent of telephoning the offenders to straighten out the matter, Mr. Hunter said yesterday.

"We absolutely cannot sell, however, more than four tickets to one person, nor can we fill requests for special seats. The applications are filed and filled in the order in which they are received and no notice is taken of the name of the person. We haven't sufficient time to go through the files and hunt them up in order to place people or groups together unless the application is made at the same time," Mr. Hunter continued.

"Frosh" are by no means the only offenders," Mr. Hunter declared. "Upperclassmen and faculty members are included in the number as well."

FRENCH CLUB TO HOLD WELCOME FOR 59 INITIATES

New Members Chosen From 100 Candidates at Tryouts

Fifty-nine new members elected to the French club will be welcomed into the society at a meeting to be held at the French house, 1105 University avenue, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The new members were chosen from 100 candidates at the tryouts held in Bascom hall last week. The tryouts were based on the candidate's ability to understand, to speak and to read French.

Because of the large number of applications for membership in the club elections were restricted to those passing the tryouts most satisfactorily and to French majors, according to Mary Aspinwall '24, secretary of the club.

Students elected to club membership are as follows: Vera Albee '24, Martha Alexander '24, Dorothy Anderson '23, Leontine Andrews '25, Doris Bennett '24, Frances Bromley '24, Leona Burkhardt '23, Marie Carpenter '24, Isabel Cary '24, Mariana Chandler '23, Lucile Coffey, Dorothy Evans '25, Mildred Fish '23, Ida Fitzgibbons '23, Rosalyn Frank '25, Helen Geller '23, Alice Gilbert '25, Bessie Gold '23, Grace Goldsmith, Carol Goodyear '23, Beth Harrison '25, Dorothy Hadigg, Evelyn Hilpertshauser '25, Mary Hopkins '24, Helen Hutton '24, Viola Jenson '23, Alice Johnson '24, Elsie Kimmell '24, Mabel Kimmel, Dora Kinney, Gladys Krostu '25, Phyllis Lockwood, Gladice Love, Edna Low '24, Winnifred Lowe, Helen Lyons '25, Jessie McClymont '24, Margaret McGovern, Marion Moehlenpah '23, Dorothea Moeller '25, Inez Marrow '23, Virginia Newell '23, Eleanor Norton '24, Janet Osborne, Ruth Parkhill '23, Ruth Powers, Forrest Proctor, Mary Randolph '24, Virginia Reznor '25, Marion Rugg, Lucille Salintine '25, Louise Schieffelin, Margaret Sickels '23, Claire Sires, Walter Taintor, Helen Wright '24, Helen Wood, Grace Pfleuger '23.

Robin Hood a Chump Beside Wisconsin's Own,—An Editor

"Robin Hood was a proud outlaw,

Whiles he walked on grounde,
So courtyse an outlaw was he one,

Was never none yfonde."

So runs a description of England's Robin Hood.

The Robin Hood of Wisconsin, however, was not an outlaw, nor was he nearly so carefree a soul as the old Robin, he couldn't be, for he was an editor, and surely it were a paradox to call an editor care-free!

Robin Hood, who was a former Wisconsin student, is back in Madison for some weeks. He was a student in the department of Agricultural journalism, but left school during the war. Like the Robin Hood of old England, when fighting started he couldn't stay out. Accordingly, in 1917, Hood entered the service, where he remained for two years.

After he returned from the war he decided that life had not been eventful enough, and that after the mild exercise of the army, he needed something really strenuous, so he became an editor. He went to Texas, where he began editing a country weekly. Later he bought two others and successfully ran all three for some time.

How he must have envied his predecessor with the same name, who had nothing to do but hold up people and rob them, and keep himself and his band clothed and fed, and evade the sheriff, and a few other such simple things. His task was nothing compared with the innumerable duties and care of the Wisconsin Robin Hood as editor of three country weeklies.

Mr. Hood later became interested in publicity work, and after marked success in the south as publicity director he returned north. His stay in Madison is indefinite. Hood is a graduate of the School of Agriculture here.

fore the meeting and will be called on by one of the personell workers.

The next meeting of the personell will be held October 26 in the Chemistry auditorium. Those students who suscribed last year will not be called upon again, but if their payment notices fail to reach them, checks are to be sent payable to G. L. Gilburt, bursar to the Memorial Union headquarters 731 State street.

Dairy Science Club Will Show "White Bottle" Film

"The White Bottle", a motion picture, will be shown under the auspices of the Babcock Dairy Science club at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Agricultural auditorium. The movie, which has been presented in many of the large cities of the country, and which is being brought to Madison for the first time, advertises the food value of milk, a subject under much discussion at the present time.

Edward H. Farrington, professor of dairy husbandry, will give a short talk preceding the picture.

All students and the general public are invited by the club to attend. Admission is free.
