BALLOONS TO FLY AT C. I. P. A. ANNUAL BALL FRIDAY EVE

Prof. Johnson Wants Students, Especially Journalists, to Turn Out

Hundreds of bright colored balloons, dim lights, and real music will feature the big annual C. I. P. A. ball which will be held at the Woman's building Friday night in connection with the convention. The dance is for delegates, and any university students who wish to attend.

"We want journalism students especially to turn out," Prof. E. M. Johnson, director of the convention said. "Members of the school of journalism are the hosts and they should be on hand to help with the entertaining. They will have a good time doing it, too."

Press club is in charge of the ticket sales. The tickets come in coupon books and include, besides those which entitle the holder to attend all convocations and round table discussions, admission to the convention banquet, the big five-act vaudeville stunt, a movie, and the ball. The coupon books are $1.25 each.

Dolphin club is holding an exhibition this week end. A coupon is included for this. The movie will be a story of newspaper life according to Prof. Johnson.

Old Timers Scrapped Over How Wisconsin Should Be Spelled

The name of this state as it now is printed on the letter heads of this university was not fixed definitely until Jan. 1845, by the legislature.

The spelling was not decided without a struggle, however, because Governor Doty insisted on spelling it "Wiskonsan." As soon as he was out of office, the legislature had their own way about how it should be spelled, and they made it good.

However, we nearly wore an "M" on our sweaters instead of a "W", as most of the early explorers wrote home that they were spending the summer in "Misconsin," "Meskounsing," or "Ouisconsin."

PROF. GILLIN ATTENDS RESEARCH CONFERENCE

Acting as one of the two representatives of the American Sociological society, Prof. J. L. Gillin, recently attended the conference of the National Research council in Chicago. Human migration is now being studied as a subject of research by this society and the National Research council.

NARDIN WILL HELP START SORORITIES

There Are No Groups Desirous of Starting Sororities Now

"We are willing to aid any group of girls who desire to start new sororities in the university," said Dean F. Louise Nardin. "We are in favor of sororities because a group like that is more compact, manageable, and the life in a sorority house is more homelike."

"I am sorry to say that I do not know any group of girls that wishes to become a sorority at the present time," Miss Nardin stated. "We are willing to aid any group of girls who wish to form professional sororities although the National Pan-Hellenic association will not aid such groups. I believe though that girls wishing to form such groups should consider the fact that a number of girls who are studying the same thing and who live in the same house are likely to become narrow," she added.

"We do not take the initiative of starting sororities, however. The girls must first come to us and then we will do all we can to help them."

Joint Debaters Get Ready For Annual Classic

Preparations are rapidly going forward for the presentation of the Fifty-third Annual joint debate to be held Friday, December 8. The participants this year are Hesperia Literary society, last year's winner, and Athenae Literary society, the challenger.

The subject for the contest is "Resolved, That the United States enter the League of Nations." The affirmative team representing Hesperia is composed of Edmund T. Hamlin '26, Harold Crane '25, and George J. Fiedler '25.

The Athenae representatives of the negative team are Edgar J. Smith '24, Eugene P. Meyer '23, and Henry W. Blake '21.

KEEP ON LEARNING, O'SHEA TELLS YOUTH

Early Maturity Due to Over Emotional Stimulation; Found in Low Races

The chief problem of any nation is to keep its young people in a learning attitude for an increasing long time as the nation grows older, said Prof. M. V. O'Shea, in an address delivered Monday night before the Englewood Woman's club at Chicago.

"The young of the chimpanzee is docile and is teachable for a longer period than any other form of animal life, and it advances much farther than any of them in intelligence."

"In human life, the young reach mental maturity among the lowest races much earlier than among the highest races. The strongest, most efficient and most prosperous nation is the one in which the young are plastic and teachable for the longest period," he said.

Professor O'Shea maintains that the chief factor that leads to the decline of a nation is the rapid and too early maturing of the young.

"Investigations being carried on at Harvard, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, and elsewhere apparently show that mental maturity can be reached too early through emotional over stimulation. Emotional over-stimulation means the paralysis of the intellectual development. This has overtaken nations in the past and in the present in the Old World, and what has happened a thousand times will happen a thousandth and first time if conditions are the same."

HERMANN URGES 100 PER CENT WEARING OF CAPS

Tomorrow morning the freshmen will pack their green caps for the winter months. All freshmen were urged yesterday morning by H. R. Hermann '27, class president to make today a 100 per cent freshman day by wearing the cap. Few green caps were in sight on the hill yesterday.

BIG CROWD HEARS ORCHESTRA PLAY AT ARMORY HALL

Gilbert Ross Entertains in Concert With Symphony Orchestra

The Chicago Symphony orchestra conducted by Frederick Stock, and assisted by Gilbert Ross, son of Prof. C. A. Ross, violin soloist, played to a large audience at the university armory last night.

Gilbert Ross played the first movement of the "Concerto for Violin, in D Major", from Tchaikowsky, Opus 35. This movement was applauded by the crowd.

Plays Opera Music

"The Land of the Sky-blue Waters," by Cadman played by the orchestra, as an encore, was the most popular work given. "Molly on the Shore," a lilting song of Irish origin composed by Percy Grainger, and "The Irish Washerwoman," a jig composed by Walter (Piper) Jackson in the eighteenth century and transcribed by Leo Sowerby, were the unusual numbers on the program.

The orchestra played the overture to Weber's opera "Der Freischutz," Franck's "Symphony in D Minor" and closed the program with the prelude to Wagner's "Mastersingers of Nuremberg," "Die Meistersinger."

WILSON ATTACKS STUDENT EVILS

Declares Students Lack Care For Their Moral and Social Welfare

That man is not only a physical and intellectual creature but also and more important a moral and social creature, was a statement by J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley, California who spoke at the University Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock last night on "Religious Education of the Modern Universities."

No physical injury or mental ignorance could compare in his mind as a misfortune to the slightest defect in a man's moral and social development. He said that the greatest problem of this age was the fact that the present educational system absolutely failed to take into account the moral and social phase of man.

Students Irreverent

In concrete terms that means that when a man comes to college there is no one who care for his moral and social welfare. "One of the greatest sins of college life is irreverence," Dr. Wilson declared. That man's constitution as an animal or a physical being does not lead to a full development of the moral and social sides of his nature.

Suspension of 75 out of the 79 sophomore medical students at Ohio university because of cutting their afternoon class to celebrate Armistice day has been announced.

Thetas Must Have Their Little Fire; Nearly a Fad Now

The Thetas not to be outdone by the Alpha Phis held their little fire at 2:30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon.

The affair was attended by most of the students who were expected at 2:30 classes but who much preferred the pleasure of watching the fire department do their stuff.

The chimney is blamed for the smoking conflagration consisting of a blaze in two places of the shingle roof. The firemen produced some very excellent ladders and put the fire out in short order without even breaking a window.

When interviewed last evening one of the sisters gave out the information that the total damage was nil.

HAREFOOT DANCE TO BE COLORFUL

Eight Big Floodlights and Two Spotlights Will Be Used

Eight big floor lights and two spot lights, all of different colors and perched on the side walls and hanging from the ceiling will furnish the lighting effects for the 1923 Haresfoot Follies dance which will be held in Lathrop hall and concert room next Friday night.

Calvet Dedrick '25 has been appointed to take charge of the decorations for the dance, and promises that the Follies dance will lack nothing in splendor and attraction that a fall promenade at Wisconsin should have.

The impression that the Haresfoot Follies is merely a vodvil show was corrected last night by Gordon Arey '25, chairman, who stated that the Follies show is in the main a dance with entertainment at intermission time, between 10:30 and 11 o'clock when three acts, one a make-up act by Tom Moroney and John McCausland, the second named "Just Filling In" by Bill Purnell, the last an act by Jack Cornelius and the "Awkward Squad" of twenty light-footed dancers from the Haresfoot dancing classes will be given under the direction of the Haresfoot club.

BEWARE OF NO-CUT THANKSGIVING RULE

In accordance with law and custom all university exercises will be suspended on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 29, 1923. BRACKETT AGAIN ATTENDS CLASSES IN UNIVERSITY

Agrees to Testify on Junior Election and is Re-instated

Action by the student court has resulted in the reinstatement of Max A. Brackett '25 to the university. The action followed Brackett's agreement to appear before the court at a date to be fixed. He was suspended for failure to comply with a summons to appear at a hearing on Junior election frauds.

Brackett was re-instated Friday afternoon. He waived his request for an apology from the court when that body agreed to allow him to resume attendance at classes without first appearing before it.

President E. A. Birge said last night that the incident is not unlike many that have to be settled by faculty action.

Governor John J. Blaine in commenting on the rumor that he had intervened in Brackett's favor said that it was entirely a university affair. The governor declined to make any further statement of his attitude on the matter.

HOMESICKNESS WHY STUDENTS DROP OUT

Hard Studies, Finances and Sickness Other Reasons, Explains Hiestand

Since the issuing of the last student directory, 87 students have withdrawn from the university according to W. D. Hiestand, registrar.

"The reason why most people leave," said Mr. Hiestand, "is because of intense homesickness." Other reasons he gave for the withdrawal of many students was sickness, the change of weather, and the fact that students do not take proper care of themselves when away from home.

"Some people," Mr. Hiestand said, "come up here with an idea that they can elect any subject they wish but when prescribed a certain number of required studies, they withdraw."

"Some students cannot stand the strain of work in connection with their regular curriculum, and there are still others who simply cannot make two ends meet, finding the cost here much greater than they had anticipated."

Mr. Hiestand called attention to the student loan fund for all students who earnestly wish to complete their education, and cannot for lack of funds.

University of Wisconsin alumni in Monroe will meet on December 10 to form a local alumni association and to discuss plans for increasing the fund for the proposed Memorial building. Alumni in Walworth county will also meet in December at Elkhorn for the same purpose. Nearly a score of these alumni clubs have been formed in the state to support the Memorial Union campaign.

Dean S. H. Goodnight will speak at the Monroe association which will number about fifty. William McGrath '00, is in charge of the arrangements for the meeting. Paul Weirich '01, will act as deputy on the committee.

The meeting at Elkhorn will be presided over by Jay Page '97. Officers for various alumni organizations will be elected, in addition to those for the Memorial Union association.

POLICE BAFFLED BY MURDER AT U. OF C.

Chicago police were still at a loss on Sunday to explain the murder of Freeman Louis Tracy, former University of Chicago student. Tracy's body was found on a street near the Chicago campus where it had apparently been thrown from a moving automobile. He had been shot through the temple. All efforts to find a clue that would bring the murderer to light proved unsuccessful. Theories of labor troubles, jealousy and despondency were investigated but proved fruitless.

Trips to Indian mounds in the vicinity of Lake Mendota are conducted each summer for the benefit of summer-session students at the University of Wisconsin.

A collection of 221 rare books has been presented to the University of Chicago. More than 105 of them were printed before 1550.

IRISH HERO STAR IN FRAT ROBBERY

Two Burglars Escape With $100 From Sigma Nu House

This is an epic, and it celebrates the heroism of a man whose name says he is Irish? The time of the epic is last week end. The characters are three members of the Sigma Nu fraternity and two robbers, who left just $100 richer than they entered. Besides, each got a new watch. Now for the story.

The hero is Thomas Morony, who with Russell Nixon and Robert Jones, was a guest at the Sigma Nu house. Morony saw a burglar leaving the house and gave chase. The thief jumped over a fence, and Morony followed but the robber had disappeared, and Tom returned to the house.

At the house, things were pretty lively. When Morony entered, he found Nixon and Robert Jones being held up by a second burglar. At the sight of Tom, the thief turned and fled. The robbers are believed by the police to be members of an organized gang as several other fraternity houses were entered.

A total of 7,633 students enrolled in the University of Wisconsin at the opening of the new year this fall.

KUBLY WINNER IN ANNUAL 2 1-2 MILE TURKEY DAY RACE

Covers Course in Fast Time of 12:49; Hardy Takes Second Place

Ray R. Kubly, L. S. 2, was awarded the turkey and the Elsom Trophy when he won the annual turkey race held yesterday noon over a two and one half mile course. Kubly made the distance in the fast time of 12 minutes 49 seconds. The race was fast and close, runners crossing the finish line in rapid succession after Kubly's win.

Wins Elsom Trophy
The trophy, a cup which Dr. J. C. Elsom awards each year to the winner of the turkey race, will remain in Kubly's possession for a year, and his name will be inscribed on it.

Hardy, finishing second in the run, was awarded the goose, and Butz, a sophomore tied with Lister, another second year man for third place. The men received a rooster and a duck.

Weather Ideal
Shafer, winner of fifth place received a hen, and Hockberg won the egg, an award or last place.

The race was run under ideal weather conditions, the air being cold and snappy and the ground in fast condition.

The men who showed up particularly fell in the race will probably be on the cross country squads of future years. The best time was made by second year runners who have two years of service yet.

Illinois Wants To Meet Michigan, Yost Says

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Illinois will be added to Michigan's 1924 football schedule, if a date can be arranged. Coach Yost announced today. The statement was in answer to published reports that Illinois especially desired to meet the Wolverines next year. "Michigan has games scheduled for next season with Iowa, Ohio State, Wisconsin, and Minnesota," Yost said.

Fans Favoring Division Of U. W.-Chicago Games

Wisconsin residents outside of Madison have become interested in the referendum conducted by the Madison Association of Commerce relative to the opinion of football fans as to whether Wisconsin's contract with Chicago, under which the Badgers play all games with the Maroons at Stagg field, should be continued. A group of 20 Dodgeville fans forwarded a ballot favoring the division of games or discontinuance of games with Chicago. Practically all ballots returned favor that proposition.

CAGERS MEET FROSH IN PRACTICE FRIDAY

GYM CLASSES MEET IN RACES TUESDAY

Contest to Be Followed By Other Important Pre-season Tilts

The afternoon and morning gym classes will meet in what is to be the first of a series of pre-Christmas intra-mural track activities Tuesday afternoon in the Gym annex. Following it, the inter-class sophomore-freshman meet will be run off December 8. At their last meeting the yearlings ran off with the laurels and determined to erase that mark of victory, members of the sophomore team are already pointing themselves toward this event. From the standpoint of watching an exhibition of talent this meet should prove to be the most interesting because of the prowess of the members of both squads.

The inter-mural activity that arouses more interest than does any other is the inter-fraternity contest. This will be run off December 14, and in it the Pi Kappa Alphas, winners of the cup last year, will defend that honor against stiff competition from the other Greek men.

Patents Granted To Many By Government

Patents issued to residents of Wisconsin for week ending Nov. 20 as reported from the office of Clarence J. Loftus, Marquette Building, Chicago, are:

Arthur L. Bem, Manitowoc, truck Rolland T. Case, La Crosse, apparatus for forming dental inlay castings; Wm. J. Fitzgerald and A. B. Cadman, Beloit, machine for making concrete or the like; Julius P. Heil, Milwaukee, fluid hoist; Roy O. Henszey, Oconomowoc carburetor; Sylvester H. Hunt, Milwaukee, steering mechanism for self-propelled vehicles; Nels J. Jacobson, Phillips, game, Alfred M. Jones, Milwaukee, compressor for molding machines; John McLeod, Downing, boat; Henry C. Miller, Milwaukee, loose-leaf binder, Russell E. Oakes, Waukesha, card holder; George T. Schorer, North Freedom, apparatus for separating fibrous and non-fibrous materials in food products.

Five honorary degrees were conferred by the University of Wisconsin at its 70th annual commencement exercise.

Meanwell to Hold Open Game For Benefit of Fans

The first opportunity for basketball fans to get a glimpse of the varsity in action, will come Friday afternoon when an open practice will be held. The freshmen will oppose the first string men in a regular game.

In order to make the practice more interesting to spectators and to give them some idea of how the 1923-24 team will look in actual contests Coach Meanwell arranged the game. All practice heretofore this season has been closed to outsiders.

Will Play Regularly
The closed practice policy was followed last year and has been adhered to this fall also. The present system of air tight defense requires team play development that is nearly as intricate as football. For this reason it has been necessary to exclude all outsiders from the practices.

Coach Meanwell realizes that the student body is anxious to see the practices and has arranged to hold open practice at regular intervals until the playing season begins. Friday's game with Coach Lewis's yearlings will be the first of these tilts.

Seats Will be Up
"We are anxious to have as many students out to the preliminary game Friday afternoon as possible," Gordon B. Wanzer '24, varsity manager, said yesterday. "Seats will be put up to accommodate the spectators and everything will be done to give the practice the appearance of a real game."

Prospects for a championship team this fall are none too bright with the loss of three main cogs in last year's quintet to be overcome, but the squad is in as good shape as it was at this time last year. Coach Meanwell has three men back who have been under fire in championship tilts, and, with these to build on he will undoubtedly have his five up near the top in March.

Three Veterans Back
Captain Gibson, Spooner, and Elsom are the three veterans, Barwig and Diebold also have played parts of games but were kept on the bench last year most of the time principally because Tebell and Williams were stars of the super-calibre type. Varney, at forward, is the other squad member who has been playing regularly in practice. Five of these six men will start in Friday afternoon's tilt.

The game Friday will begin promptly at 4 o'clock.

BOWLING MOST ATTRACTIVE OF WOMEN'S SPORT

Knocking down tenpins in Lathrop bowling alleys seems to be a more attractive way of earning gymnasium credit than any other sport for women, according to post-registration statistics. More than 450 will roll the balls this week.

Interpretive dancing under the direction of Miss Margaret H'Doubler calls the artistic folk to fill her classes with a total number of more than 300, while folk-dancing, this year an alternative for gymnastics, has brought 240.

Basketball stands third on the popularity list with about 300 enrolled. Of the sports of its kind, it is the most popular among university women, for swimming and indoor baseball follow in enrollment figures.

If facilities permitted, perhaps the new sport this year, rifle-practice, would outstrip all others, including bowling. Many girls were turned away because the classes were already filled.

Golf and horseback riding, although their enrollment figures are low, perhaps because of the instruction fee, have their ardent supporters. Even the thought of ice and snow could not keep a goodly number from signing up for canterers along the drive.

Deer Getting Scarce In State; Ask Rigid Law

BIRCHWOOD, Wis.—That a closed deer season for about five years with alternate seasons thereafter is needed is emphasized by the fact that but 80 deer have passed through Birchwood this season from the forests north of here. In one season nine years ago approximately 2,000 deer were brought through Birchwood. Some protection should be given the deer, old hunters declare. Many advocate a closed season for five years, alternate seasons to follow the closed period, and but five days to hunt each year.

Many Races and Special Stunts
Will Feature
Meet

Because of the Haresfoot Follies and the many other attractions this coming week-end, the time of the Dolphin club exhibition has been changed from 8 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock, this Friday and Saturday night in the Lathrop hall pool.

Included in the program are races on all of the standard strokes, several stunt races, such as an egg and spoon race, and an umbrella race, diving, a life saving exhibition, a double oar race, stunts and a medley relay.

The plunging event promises to be one of the chief attractions of the meet as the two entrants, Eloise Blakeslee '26 and Lois Barry '25 have each plunged the length of the tank. It will be merely the matter of time that decides the winner.

A FINAL WORD

Those who sat in the Maroon stands at the Chicago game know what sort of cheering the Wisconsin rooters made. It was immense, that cheering; its volume and spirit was something the like of which a similar crowd of Badger fans has not put forth in a long time.

So it was at the grid-graph in the gymnasium. Although there were fewer fans at the armory for this game than for either of the other two conference tilts which were played outside of the city the cheering was such that it made every one present proud to hear.

True it was that Friday morning when the team left for the Windy City the entire student body did not turn out to bid it God-speed. Nevertheless, those who did turn out made past exhibitions pale with their enthusiasm.

We are on the right road, men and women of Wisconsin. At last we are looking up and supporting projects which are as much our own as they are the actual participants. Now let's keep up the old fighting spirit right through the basketball season, the baseball season, Prom and every campus undertaking, until the last whistle blows at the end of this academic year.

ANOTHER COMEBACK

Speaking of the grid-graph, we are glad to know just where the money which has been taken in by the athletic board from this source of revenue is gone and is going. We are glad to know that the athletic board has at last found a way out of the difficulty it has had in securing funds for intra-mural and all-university sports.

When students were besieged by the button committees at Homecoming time they were told that the money which was made from the button sales was to be used to defray the expenses of the intra-mural, all-university sports and especially Venetian night and the Interscholastic day. A large sum was made on the sales. Now students are told that grid-graph profits will also be used for this event. Thus one would be lead to believe that Interscholastic day and other all-university affairs of a like character will not be stinted by lack of funds and should be by far the best ever staged.

One is also lead to believe that with this increased amount of funds at the disposal of the athletic board the toboggan slide this year should be what it was five or six years ago, the skating rink might become a pavilion.

We could go on. But we will spare you an innumeration. Every one is looking to see these profits of the grid-graph, added to those of the button sale, put to excellent use.

And while we wait, we can not help saying that we still believe that the price of admission to the grid-graph was twice as high as it should have been.

THE ARTLESS DODGER

Complaint has been registered against students for posting bills on telegraph poles in order to advertise publications or the activities of other organizations. It is a more or less serious charge. Linemen are endangered by the tacks used in posting these bills as can readily be seen.

We are a people gone mad over advertising. Necessity, being the mother of invention, has made the advertisement one of the biggest factors in modern life. Consequently we are willing to endanger lives, to litter country and town and mar whatever beauty either may have for the sake of selling our wares. Therefore an advertiser is at a loss to know what to do when he finds that the law forbids his tacking bills to telegraph posts or littering the university campus with dodgers. Warning against both of these practices has been issued time and time again, yet no heed is taken. Monday dodgers were handed out to students and as a result the campus looked as though a snow storm had struck it. Yesterday the case was the same.

There are plenty of efficient and inexpensive advertising methods besides these two illegal practices. They have been suggested through these columns before. Perhaps if the university authorities take some drastic action against the users of dodgers the abominations will disappear. This and yesterday's warnings may be sufficient to stop the posting of bills on telegraph poles. But if they are not, perhaps it will be best for city authorities to take action in regard to such offenders also.

Other Editors Say—

COLLEGE SCANDALS

From Yale and the University of Wisconsin comes word that drunkenness at homecoming celebrations is to be investigated and some measures taken to prevent a repetition of disgraceful scenes on those occasions.

Numerous other universities, during the present season of such occasions found it necessary to attach to invitations to their graduates a specific request that they bring with them no liquor. Some college fraternities emphasized this hint by announcing that liquor would not be tolerated in fraternity houses.

The size of the universities which have taken up this matter upon their own volition and the nature of the problem adds some weight to the charge of the head of the civil service bureau of this country that he liquor enforcement agency of the government is a failure and that the claims of its head are untrue.

It would hardly seem possible that so open a use of liquor as to become a scandal at meetings of college men could occur if the federal officers were making any honest effort to stop it at its source.

This is no college boy prank which is under scrutiny. The men who return to these gatherings are the leaders in their communities, or the coming leaders. They are the graduates of these universities, trained for big things, capable of big tasks.

As far as the mental training is concerned, they stand out above the crowd and are the finished product of our great educational system.

Were the matter confined to an isolated case, it would be of little moment, but if the charges made at these colleges are true, it was a general practice at these homecomings for men to bring limitless supplies of illegal liquors and to indulge in the most disgraceful orgies.

"The annual drunk is over" was the bold announcement of the college daily at the University of Wisconsin.

If the "best brains" of the country indulge in open flaunting of the laws of the land, defy decency and plunge into illegal excesses on a scandalous scale, what is to be the hope of the future?

If education does not train men to have some regard for law and some self control, is it worth while?

Drunken men in the days of the open saloon were held in a great deal of contempt. There is little difference between the addled brain of a doctor of philosophy and the maudlin thoughts of the man who cannot write his own name.

The universities may do something in the way of preventing public exhibitions of a disgraceful character upon their campuses. But who will undertake the task of making their graduates respect law for the sake of law?

That is the even greater scandal—that men who have trained for leadership flaunt the law of the land openly and without shame.

COLUMBIA IS TO ABANDON EXAMS

Dean Goodnight Calls it Bad
Policy and Favors
Tests

Would there be any strenuous objections if the approaching midsemester examinations and the not-so-distant finals were to be omitted? There would be.

But at Columbia university even the faculty have decided that it would be a good thing to abolish exams! A recent editorial in the Spectator, the college paper, declared that exams cause the student to shift his responsibilities, that he becomes less interested in making the most of his abilities because he slights his daily work, and depends upon the exam.

Sentiment aroused brought about a meeting of Columbia's faculty and the student court at which it was agreed that midyear and final examinations ought to be done away with. The reasons given for this action were the slackness during the term, the failure of students to study throughout the year, and dishonesty in examinations. Definite plans to end exams have not yet been completed, but it is known that all students with averages over 80 will not be required to take written examinations.

Should Wisconsin try the same kind of plan? What about it?

Dean Scott H. Goodnight expresses his opinion on the subject, "It is a bad policy. I am heartily in favor of examinations at Wisconsin. If the class is properly taught there is no reason why a student should let his work slide and still 'get by'. Those students who come from high schools where they are exempt from finals if they have a certain average would be the ones in favor of abolishing examinations. And as for dishonesty, of course, the student who has not kept up his daily work will have to use dishonest methods if he wishes to pass the exams. I am in favor of the final, the midsemester, and the frequent weekly quiz to keep the student up in his work."

John D. Cunliffe, director of the School of Journalism at Columbia, said when the matter was up for discussion, "In the School of Journalism we have practically eliminated exams in courses demanding a large amount of writing."

Prof. W. G. Bleyer, director of Wisconsin's Course in Journalism advocates the same plan. "Exams are relatively unimportant in our department," he says, "because all our courses require a great deal of writing except a freshman survey and a senior course in the history of journalism. But in lecture courses such as these exams are needed. Exams are the only means of telling how much the student knows, and they give the student a review of the course. You lose a great value if you abolish exams."

"Conditions in the East, however, are not the same as they are here. It is a recognized tradition that eastern colleges expect heavy cramming for exams, and the majority of students have tutors and coaches for the finals."

Dean George C. Sellery of the College of Letters and Science, declared, "Examinations are a necessary correlation of the semester's work. And there are very few cases where a student can afford to neglect his daily work."

F. E. Turneure, dean of the College of Engineering, was in accord with the idea that some courses were not so dependent upon exams as were others. He cited certain courses in the College of Engineering.

"Truth Serum" Test Will Be Made On Prisoners

NEW ORLEANS—Dr. R. E. House of Ferris, Tex., credited with having discovered that persons under the influence of scopolamin, will tell the truth when questioned, expected today to give a demonstration at the parish prison here before the New Orleans Medical society, police and newspaper men, with volunteer prisoners as the subjects. The "truth serum" is nothing more than the drug administered by obstetricians to produce "twilight sleep." Dr. House said that in Texas several years ago he asked the husband of a patient under the influence of the drug to get him a certain article. The husband returned and reported that he could not find it, whereupon the patient without opening her eyes told him where to look for it. Dr. House thereafter questioned the patients while under the influence of the drug and in 1921, after numerous experiments made public his discovery.

GRESHAM—Dedication of the new Presbyterian church here has been postponed until next spring. First services were held in the edifice on Sunday.

For the first time in the history of the University of Texas, coeds sat in a special reserve seating section at the all-university rally. A girl cheer leader was appointed to lead yells.

Begin Diphtheria Case Treatment In Schools

Toxin-anti-toxin treatment for diphtheria will be administered in all public schools, beginning today at the Longfellow and Washington schools. The treatment is being administered under the supervision of the Madison Parent-Teachers' association. The inoculation will not be made compulsory but only on the agreement of the parents, Dr. E. V. Brumbaugh said today.
