He will arrive in Madison at 5:30 o'clock this evening, from Chicago. Members of the Sigma Delta Chi chapter will have dinner with him at the Delta Pi Delta house at 501 North Henry street at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Broun is dramatic critic of the New York World and dramatic editor of Vanity Fair. His reviews of the theater are syndicated throughout the country, and at present his articles are being published in the Cosmopolitan and American magazines.

Before he turned to dramatic criticism Mr. Broun was a sport writer. He has covered the recent Dempsey fights. While waiting for the Dempsey-Gibbons fight in Shelby, Mont., last summer he "discovered" Patricia Salmon, a dancer, and through his telegraph stories she was given place in the "Follies".

He has interviewed Wells, Chesterton, Conrad and other foreign authors, who have visited this country in the past years. Another outlet for his journalistic ability has been in "Seeing Things at Night", and other books.

From Madison Mr. Broun goes to Cincinnati, Ohio, which is the next stop on his mid-western tour.

SWINNEY LEADS GLEE CLUB AT HOME CONCERT

Nethercut Accompanies Song Stars Tomorrow Night in Madison Program

Prof. E. Earle Swinney, director, and Robert Nethercut '24, accompanist and president, will lead the Glee club at the only home concert of the year, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, in Music hall.

Tickets will be placed on open sale at the door. The price of admission is 50 and 75 cents. No seats are reserved, but groups may have specified blocks set aside.

Professor Swinney is a former pupil of Herbert Witherspoon, New York vocal teacher. Since he came from the University of Illinois and assumed directorship of the club in 1918, he has lead the campaign to raise the standard of college glee club music and to create a taste for good music among students.

He brought the organization to the height of its musical achievement when it won the Intercollegiate Glee club contest at Chicago last year. In his opinion, the present club is even better than that of last year.

Nethercut has been accompanist of the club three years. After studying organ under Lewis A. Valentine, he became organist of the First Congregational church, Wauwa-Robert Nethercut tos, and is now (DeLonge Photo) organist of the local Unitarian church.

During the Intercollegiate Glee clubs contests held in Chicago the past two years, he was accompanist for the ensemble concerts given by all the clubs in the competition. He is also a former president of Sinfonia, honorary musical fraternity, and is a member of the American Society of Organists, and the National Association of Organists.

BAND TO GIVE CONCERT IN GYM ON MARCH 23

A band concert will be given in the gymnasium at 3 o'clock on March 23. If the student response is large enough, Major E. W. Murphy, assistant professor in the Music School, has plans for continuing these concerts without charging admission. If the gym is scantily filled on Sunday, free concerts will be discontinued, it was announced.

Express Different Opinions on Rough House Initiations

A number of persons have expressed opinions, pro and con, regarding the rough type of the ordinary fraternity initiation. Here is what some persons say:

Thomas E. Jones, director of athletics—"The regular initiation is something a fellow remembers. I have been through a great many of them myself, and have enjoyed them all. They can be overdone. An initiation should not be planned at a time when it will interfere with any athlete's regular participation. It must be kept in its place."

Mildred A. Rieck '24, "I think rough initiations are terrible! They certainly cannot do any one good, and they may do some one great harm. There should be no place

"Inside Dope" and Spicy Stuff, Fill Next Proletarian

The Proletarian will make a second appearance in two weeks, Stratford Corbett '27, editor, announced yesterday. The first issue of the magazine, an unofficial student publication, made its appearance last Tuesday, and the total run of 1,200 copies was sold out in 30 minutes.

"After the street advertisements for the last issue appeared, volunteer contributors came with a whirlwind of splendid 'inside dope' too late to run, however," the editor said. "The stuff is so exciting and spicy, and our organization so much better prepared to handle it, that we can't resist making our second paper a larger-sized issue."

"All the copy will be written around local activities this time while the editorial page will adopt the slogan 'To hell with good nature', and will discuss the snobbery of sorority women, and other pertinent or impertinent matters. Like the first, the second edition will be limited to a thousand copies or so."

SENATE TO DRAFT REFERENDUM PLAN

Election Committee Will Formulate Proposal For Election of Badger Officers

A Badger election referendum for the naming of the Badge, board, editor and business manager, was turned over to the elections committee last night, by the student senate at the special meeting so that it might be drafted in final form.

If the referendum is voted upon favorably, sophomore members of the Badger board will be chosen in open class election; the retiring editor-in-chief and business manager will automatically become members of the board and two faculty members will be appointed.

The senate voted last night to send one senior and one junior to the Midwest Student conference, Knoxville, Tenn., May 1. Harold Seering '24, president of the senate, was the senior chosen, and Wes. W. Dunlap '25, the junior.

Varsity Jamboree arrangements were left in the hands of a senate committee which is to confer with Dean S. H. Goodnight. There is some uncertainty as to the advisability of holding the Jamboree. The tentative date is May 3.

Permission was given the Union board by the senate's action last night, to elect two alumni advisory members. They are not to have a vote, but are to help the board cooperate to a greater degree, with the Memorial union organizers.

CAMPUS WONDERS WHO WILL BE CHOSEN QUEEN

Campus folks are speculating as to who will have the honor of being chosen partner to the chairman of the twelfth annual Military ball, which will be held in the capitol on April 4. While they whisper, nod, and shrug shoulders, Cadet Colonel Howard B. Lyman '24, sits in a dark corner of his room, chin resting on his hands, pondering deeply.

PETITION BRANDS CASHMAN ATTACK AS UNJUSTIFIED

Requests Regent to Cease Criticism or Resign From Board

Sen. J. E. Cashman is asked to "cease to trammel freedom of thought at Wisconsin," or resign from the board of regents in a petition being circulated among the students. The signers of the petition charge that the senator's recent speech before the board of regents, concerning activists of two professors, is unjustifiable and tends to destroy free thought at Wisconsin.

In his speech before the regents last Wednesday, Senator Cashman is said to charge Prof. Carl Russell Fish with friendliness with Great Britain, and Prof. Pitman B. Potter with teaching partisan politics. The students fostering the petition are George J. Fiedler '25, Ralph E. Axley '24 and Harold E. Cranefield '25.

Hope Question Settled

"Senator Cashman raises the issue whether professors may teach what they believe or what administrative officials want them to teach" said Fiedler last night. "Senator Cashman has a right to his opinion on Anglo-Americanism and the Bok peace plan, but he has no right to influence what professors teach."

"The only limitation at Wisconsin should be that imposed by law, such as teaching religion. Even if Senator Cashman's charges are true, his attack can not be justified under the right of academic freedom. "I hoped that the principle of freedom was settled two years ago when Upton Sinclair was allowed to speak," said Fiedler.

The petition reads: To Senator Cashman, member of the board of regents.

"Resign From Regents"

Whereas we believe that the first requisite of good educational policy is academic freedom,

And, whereas we believe that your recent speech before the board of regents concerning the legitimate activities of two of our most authoritative professors is unjustifiable and tends to destroy free thought at Wisconsin, to discourage original study, and tends further to destroy the value of an education at the University of Wisconsin.

We therefore request that either you cease to trammel freedom of thought at Wisconsin, which you must uphold if you assume to administer an institution of learning, or that you resign from the board of regents.

Quaint Nooks and Corners of World to Greet Tourists

Who needs the magic carpet of Tangier, or the winged golden sandals of Hermes, or the seven league boots of Jack the Giant Killer to fly to the quaint nooks and corners of the earth, when the second annual Tour Around the World will be held in Lathrop gymnasium, at 8 o'clock Saturday night?

National booths exhibiting native products, pictures and clothing of 12 different countries will be shown. Attendants of the booths will be dressed in national costume.

George Millard '26, is exhibit chairman, and is assisted by Tsutsumi Obana, Japan; Chia Shao, China; Koorshid, India; Louis Petroff, Bulgaria; Raymond Bassett, Romania; Roberto Galaz, Mexico; Vojlav Strela, Czechoslovakia; and Cecil Russell, New Zealand.

Special programs in the separate booths including talks on the life of the country represented are being planned by the chairmen. The exhibits have been sent for by the foreign students especially for the occasion.

ENGLISH ACTRESS TALKS MARCH 21

Theta Sigma Phi Brings Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale to Madison

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, English lecturer and author, will give an address in Music hall March 21 on "The Modern Stage and the Rising Generation" under the auspices of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalism fraternity.

Formerly an actress of some note, she played with Sir Henry Irving in his revival of "Robesierre," and with Sir. Charles Wyndham, Sir. John Hare, Sir. George Alexander, Sir. Johnson Forbes-Robertson and Miss Ellen Terry. For three seasons she was with Charles Froham, theatrical producer and the New Theater company.

Mrs. Hale spoke on the subject of the "Girl of Today and Woman of Tomorrow" in Town hall, New York city, January 13, 1923. Other subjects upon which she has been lecturing are "Women in Parliament," "The British General Election and Its Lesson," "Women and Internationalism," and "The Community Theater and the Rising Generation."

This is her twelfth American tour. A few weeks ago she appeared in Madison as the guest of the Civics club.

Books written by Mrs. Hale include "Little Allies," "The Nest Builder" and "What Women Want."

FOREST FIRE DEVICE INVENTED BY DUNLAP

A moisture-meter to put on the floor of the forest to keep the forester forewarned of danger of forest fires is the latest invention, credited to M. E. Dunlap of the Forest Products laboratory.

If the instrument records that the blanket of leaves in the forest is nearly dry enough to spread a fire, and if the weather bureau says that several more hot, rainless days are coming, the forester gathers about him his available supply of fire-fighters.

A piece of rattan, by its shrinking and swelling tells how wet the leaves are. The rest of the hygrometer is a gauge which registers this behavior to the one thousandth of an inch.

SYLLABUS OF MUSIC HISTORY PUBLISHED

The first "Syllabus of Music History" ever written has been published by the University of Wisconsin Press. The syllabus was written by Dr. C. H. Mills, director of the school of music, and Miss Evelyn Benham, who teaches history of music.

In outline form, the syllabus gives the most important points, persons and events connected with the history and development of music from the beginning to the period of modern music. This outline is now being used in the school of music as a supplement to lectures and textbooks in the music history course.

A year of preparation was necessary to complete the syllabus. An outline of modern music is now being compiled by the authors to be published in separate form.

PROFESSORS INVENT USE FOR CORN COBS

Corn cobs and other waste products may be utilized now for materials to make airplanes, by a process invented by Edwin B. Fred, professor of agricultural bacteriology, and William H. Peterson, professor of agricultural chemistry. The process is the result of experiments begun during the world war when the government was in need of acetic acid for "doping" aeroplane wings to protect them from moisture.

WOMAN'S COMMERCE MAG APPEARS MONDAY

The woman's number of the Commerce magazine will appear on the hill Monday. This is the second time that the women have undertaken the job of putting out the magazine themselves.

"Personnel Equations" by W. W. Stuart, personnel manager of the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission company of New York city will be the main feature of this issue.

The magazine will include an alumnae directory of all the women graduating from the department since 1900. The directory will give present addresses and the kind of work alumnae are engaged in.

Few Critics Approach Broun's Wisdom, Says Professor Cooper

Both intelligent and sprightly is the way the dramatic criticism of Heywood Broun, expert of the New York World and Vanity Fair staffs, who lectures here tonight, is characterized by Prof. Louis A. Cooper, of the English department and teacher of dramatic criticism.

Mr. Broun will lecture at Music hall at 8 o'clock tonight, under the auspices of the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity. He will give his "Confessions of a Dramatic Critic," a lecture which is rapidly adding to his fame.

"The characteristic criticism of Mr. Broun is indeed worth while both for its thought and its entertainment," Professor Cooper said yesterday. "I have always found his work filled with wisdom and intelligence, and at the same time lightness and plausibility. There are many other capable critics of the day who might be said to be in a school with Mr. Broun, but few of them approach his combination of qualities.

"Above all, Mr. Broun is versatile. He has developed himself from a writer of sports to an intelligent critic of drama. I remember that not so long ago Ethel Barrymore was playing in New York, and when she heard that M. Broun was to review her play, she said 'I don't want a sport writer criticizing me.' Mr. Broun has had considerable experience and uses it intelligently for the betterment of all his work," Mr. Cooper said.

The critic will arrive in Madison

Care Required in Sending Students' Grades to Parents

When the proud or disillusioned parents of a student receive the little card bearing the grades for the semester they probably do not realize the amount of time and care that have been spent in accurately recording the grades of approximately 8,000 students.

The final grades are recorded on the class cards by the instructors. These are sent direct to the registrar's office, of College of Letters and Science and graduate students, to the assistant dean in the College of Agriculture students, and to the advisers of College of Engineering students.

Miss G. M. Martin, the assistant registrar, so said yesterday as she outlined the course taken by the grades from the time they are recorded by the instructor until they reach the student's home.

These cards are checked up as to course number, credits, grades and the signature of the instructor. Then they are alphabetized to get the grades of each student together.

The report slips are prepared in advance. The courses are entered on them from the students' program, envelopes are addressed to the parents. After the grades, grade points and credits have been transferred from the records to the reports, the statistician compiles the averages. Then the cards are mailed out.

"aWa" Letters and Numerals Asked; Outline Track Letter Requirements

Six members of the hockey team were recommended for "W's", one for "hWt", one for a 1924 numeral, and eight for 1927 numerals by the Athletic board at their meeting Tuesday night. Regulations were made regarding the awarding of letters for track competition.

Hockey men up for "W's" are Captain Johnson, M. V. Harris, Emmett Moran, William Ritchie, Chester Gross and George McLean. George Fish was recommended for an "hWt", Rudolph Noer, manager, for a 1924 numeral, and 1927 letters were asked for Fred Teich, William Lidicker, Karl Jansky, Leon Emmert, James Mason, Harold Ruf, Alfred Moorehead, and Robert L. Earle, manager.

Requirements Outlined

On motion by By Barwig, J. L. Hall '25, was recommended numerals for swimming.

All members of the track squad who have fulfilled the following requirements will be awarded the official "W" it was voted:

To men who win one point in an indoor or outdoor conference meet, or in Penn, Drake, Illinois or Kansas relays; to relay men winning first in indoor conference or Kansas relays, or first or second at outdoor conference, Drake, Illinois, or Penn relays; to men who have won a total of ten points; points won by relay teams are to be divided evenly among the men on the team.

It was decided that "aWa" letters should be awarded in track on these points:

To men who have won a fraction of a point in an indoor or outdoor conference meet, or in Penn, Drake, Illinois, or Kansas relays; to each member of the team who has competed on a relay team which has placed either second or third in the meets; to men who have won a total of five points in conference dual, triangular or quadrangular meets.

TRACKSTERS TO GO TO INDOOR MEET

24 Badgers to Represent Wisconsin in Conference at Evanston

Final workouts of the indoor track season in preparation for the conference games which will take place at Evanston on Friday and Saturday, March 14 and 15, will be held in the gymnasium annex this afternoon.

Twenty-four tracksters have been chosen to represent Wisconsin in the nine events, and the cinder path men will leave Madison for Evanston on Friday morning.

Preliminary trials will be held on Friday night to determine which athletes can qualify for the final competition on Saturday night.

Charles A. Dean recently appointed manager of the American Olympic team which will compete in France this summer will act as referee and starter, and he will be assisted by a large corps of officials.

While it is doubtful whether the Badgers will be able to win the Big Ten championship in the conference meet at Northwestern, it is expected that Wisconsin will be among the leading teams.

Illinois, by virtue of its victories in dual meets and its good showing in the Illinois relay games, appears to have a well-balanced team, while Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin have an outside chance to win the title.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN PRELIM TOURNEYS

132 Prep Cagers in District Meets to Determine Tournament Entries

One hundred and thirty-two Wisconsin high school basketball teams enter the preliminary district tournaments today to determine the 16 best teams to play at Madison in the ninth annual state championship series March 26, 27, 28 and 29. The tournament this year is under the supervision of Norman Clark '24, general chairman. He is working in conjunction with an advisory committee headed by "Doc" Meanwell.

"When these high school men visit Madison they form opinions of the university which influence them in choosing their Alma Mater," said Clark in reference to the attitude of students toward the tournament, "and it is the obligation of every Wisconsin man, whether vitally interested in prep school basketball or not, to extend to these visitors a hearty welcome when they are here. They will return to their local centers enthusiastic over our hospitality, or disappointed because of our lack of interest in them. They will form one of the large mediums for the spreading of Wisconsin's reputation throughout the state high schools. While they are here we shall devote our efforts to make them want to come again."

TRAINING RULES FOR WOMEN'S TEAM MADE

Women belonging to the various squads and teams are required to keep the following training rules: each must have three regular meals a day, except on Saturday and Sunday when sleep may be substituted for breakfast; eight hours of sleep, starting not later than 11 o'clock, are required, except for one week end night.

GYM TEAM WILL GO TO CONFERENCE MEET

Coach Schlatter is taking six gymnasts and three fencers to the conference meet at Chicago, March 15th. Captain Stevens and Schmidt form the nucleus of the squad and are expected to place well up among the leaders. The other men making the trip should gain experience that will prove valuable in next year's work. It takes years to develop a strong gym team, and the men on the squad now will improve in rhythm and poise with consistent practice, according to Schlatter.

Schmidt Thrills Crowd With Exhibition During Iowa Game

For the first time this year Wisconsin students saw Huck Schmidt a true gymnast in every sense of the word, do his stuff. Between halves of the Iowa-Wisconsin game, Schmidt, with two other members of the gym squad, performed feats on the horizontal bar that brought forth screams of excitement from the fair sex, and rounds of applause from the masculine portion of the audience. The giant swing that closed the performance called for perfect coordination of muscle, mind and body.

Schmidt had mastered the basic principles of the art before coming to Wisconsin, and during his training here he has added a polish that has made him the rival of the leading conference gymnasts. In the estimation of Coach Schlatter Schmidt is the best all around gymnast that has ever performed for Wisconsin.

The competition will be stiff as he will be competing against men who are contesting in one event only. Schmidt is completing his second year of successful conference competition, and has one year more ahead of him. If his ability increases as steadily in the future as it has in the past he will be beyond a doubt head and shoulders above other conference gymnasts. In the third which is slated for 7 o'clock.

The Weston and Elliot aggregations are thought to have the edge in their respective battles. Neither of these teams have been defeated as yet.

Iowa Scoring Ace

H. H. JANSE

Janse is Iowa's star forward and is being considered by many coaches and sporting writers as pick for first all-conference basketball quintets.

VARSITY MATERIAL IN FROSH SQUAD

Freshmen Basketeers Practicing Since November in Last Week of Work

This is the last week of practice for the frosh basketeers. They have been working since last November under Coach George Lewis, and many good men have been developed. The captain will be elected some time this week.

Some of the men should prove to be good varsity material. Several of them have performed very consistently all season.

Martell, a Two Rivers boy, has showed up exceptionally well at forward. He was on last years all-state high team, and is fast and one of the best shots on the squad. Hargett, from La Crosse, played the other forward position. He is also an all-state man and was a good running mate for Martell.

The guard positions were held down by Otis, Cramer and Dopp. Cramer, from Slinger, is a hard man to get around. Otis and Dopp are both former stars on Madison High teams. They played a good heady game at the other guard position.

Brooks, who hails from Kentucky played center like a veteran. He is tall and rangy, and will be a good addition to next years varsity. The other man who was used at center was Hawley, a Beaver Dam youth. He was out for part of the season with a broken arm which he received in football, but showed up very well at the end of the season.

Other men who have done good work on the squad this year are Young, Peoria; Stehr, Madison; Harris, Superior, and Garton, Sheboygan, at the forward position. The extra guards were Bain, Indiana; Barnum, Indiana; Jones, Indiana; and Miller from South Bend.

Sweaters will be awarded to eight men and numerals to seven others. Coach Lewis has drilled the men hard, and some of them should help Wisconsin on to another basketball championship next year.

THREE GAMES TODAY IN INTRAMURAL PLAY

Three games are scheduled for today in the Wisconsin Intramural basketball league. The Westons and Smiths are to meet in the first at 5:45; the Knolls and Tebells will meet in the second at 6:20; and the Daveys and Elliots are to engage in the third which is slated for 7 o'clock.

The Weston and Elliot aggregations are thought to have the edge in their respective battles. Neither of these teams have been defeated as yet.

BOWLING TOURNEY TITLE AGAIN WON BY PHI SIG FIVE

Triangle and Alpha Chi Sigma Runners-up in Fraternity Contest

Phi Sigma Kappa won first place in the interfraternity bowling contest for the second year straight defeating Triangle three games on the last round of the finals. Their bowling on the last night proved them the best team in the league and indicated that they should be able to compete with any team in the conference.

Lange High Man

The high three game total for the finals was made by Triangle with 2646 pins. Herb Lange, Triangle, won the high individual game total making 662 pins. Phi Sigma Kappa bowled the high single game at 971 and Herb Lange, Triangle, rolled the high individual game of 248.

Tournament Standings

The team pin averages for the finals are Phi Sigma Kappa 842, Triangle 832, Sigma Phi Epsilon 809, Beta Theta Pi 807, Alpha Chi Sigma 798, Zeta Psi 769, Delta Tau Delta 762 and Phi Gamma Delta 759.

Hitting the High Spots with Ken

With an adding machine in hand an ardent fan counted the number of shots taken at the basket in the Iowa-Wisconsin dispute.

Wisconsin threw the ball at the hoop just 70 times. That's not quite two a minute. Forty of these tries came in the first half.

Ohio tossed the ball basketwards 33 times. Of these only 13 were attempted in the second half.

Certainly can't accuse Wisconsin of stalling. Of their 30 tries in the second half 20 were made in the last five minutes of the game when they were nine points in the lead. That's four a minute.

With the tide running against the Hawkeyes the Iowa coach substituted, according to the scoreboard, Speed for Duhm, at right guard, but it did no good.

Do you remember way back in 1915 when during a football game with Minnesota here a large section of the bleachers fell hurting several people? Then was begun first real serious talk of a concrete stadium.

From the University of California comes this regarding the crew prospects. "Reports of good times are coming from the water." We wonder if the tea served was pink.

Water Basketball Team Gives Game to Chicago Cagers

The Wisconsin water basketball squad has forfeited last Friday's game to the Chicago team, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Paul Eschweiler. During the game, won by the Badgers 8 to 6 in an overtime period, there was a dispute as to whether one of Chicago's baskets was made.

The Wisconsin team met after the game and decided the basket was fair, thus giving the game to the Maroons 8 to 6, not counting the score made in overtime.

The water basketball team finishes the season with a creditable record. A win was registered over Iowa, Minnesota forfeited, and two games were taken from the Milwaukee Athletic club water scrapers.

THE PENALTY FOR THINKING

A short time ago the son of the president of Rochester university was put out of a class in ethics at that institution for having "too far advanced ideas." The young man is reported to have said that he was an anarchist, that he did not believe in law because law meant forcing people to do what they ought to do of their own accord, that he was an atheist, an iconoclast; he was put out for arguing with the instructor on everything which the wise man taught. What else the man in question may have said or done is not generally known. He may have solved problems which the sages have never solved and which the instructor was afraid to give out; he may have been disagreeably blatant, said things which may have shocked any good and fearful New Englander who might be teaching in an institution in New York. Yet he was put out of the class for having ideas which were too far advanced, for endeavoring to get at the fundamentals of life, for trying to rise above the lowly plane of American thought to the lofty level of Greek philosophy. And this in an institution of learning!

Again we say, in the name of heaven, what is this thing which men call education?

THIS SMALL WORLD

What is the itinerary of the average student's day? He's up at 8 o'clock, let us say, and on the hill until the noon hour. At the breakfast table he rushes through The Cardinal and at the luncheon hour he reads the headlines of the Tribune, finds out how many conference or world records have been broken since he looked at the sport page the day before, chats with his friends about his latest date or the above mentioned records and is off again to a one-thirty. The rest of the afternoon is spent at the Union building and in sorority alley on "activities." At dinner he talks about a prospective date, the news which the sport page of the next day will contain and he spends the evening at a moving picture or card table and over the books. Investigation, however, has shown that he spends little more than two or three hours "over the books."

Is this itinerary unfair? Perhaps it is unfair to some, but certainly not to the average student. This is his life; this small bit of space constitutes his world, his small world. It may be that during the course of the week the average student has read a few magazines; the Post, Cosmopolitan; has glanced through the National Geographic, has dipped into some theater magazine or even the World's Work or some Review. With this superficial reading he has been entirely satisfied. He knows the world.

Ah yes, he knows the world, but what a miserably small part of the world indeed! A glance at the desk of any student will show pretty fairly what that student reads. Take a look at your desk. Listening in on student conversation will show pretty fairly what students are thinking about. Listen in on your own conversation.

Yes, we live in a huge world; but how pitifully small it really is

Annapolis doesn't seem to mind very much dropping its students because of delinquencies in scholarship. The naval academy dropped 103 midshipmen who were unable to pass the midsemester examinations, 77 of whom were in the first year class and none of whom were seniors. The poor students are pretty well sifted out by the time the fourth year rolls around.

Graduates Should Not Forget
Retailing in Choosing Vacation

EDITOR'S NOTE

The following is an article by Norris A. Brice, director of the New York School of Retailing.

In a recent address before a group of college students in one of our eastern universities, the president of a large department store in the middle west declared that the time had come for college trained men to pay more attention to the field of retailing. That the merchant today must rely upon the trained mind in order to secure the assistance necessary to solve the daily increasing complex problems of the department store. During last spring, it is estimated that three times as many merchants as in previous years the first time an executive of a large department store the first time an executive of a large department store in New York city sent a special letter to the members of the graduating class of an eastern institution, stating the opportunities that existed for the right type of college man in department store work. It is a safe estimate that during the last year more college graduates entered the field than in the previous 25 years. Retailing today is the field of opportunity for the right type of college trained man or woman.

The problems of retailing with the increase in the size of the store are becoming increasingly more difficult. The question has arisen, "Where is it possible to secure the trained mind that will assist in solving these problems?" The retailing field is the place for the young man or woman who is able to observe closely, analyze keenly, think straight and reach the decision that should be made under particular circumstances. These are the executive qualities that merchants are looking for but it should be borne in mind that these qualities alone do not spell success. A college graduate may possess executive qualities but without qualities of adjustment he will likely fail. The latter qualities should be emphasized in our colleges. The lack of these account for the large percentage of failures of college graduates in business. The chief qualities of adjustment are as follows:

The college graduate should be able to adjust himself to conditions that daily arise.

Secondly, he should be able to meet people well and make people like him.

Thirdly, he should have the patience to master the details of the situation.

For years it was believed that a college trained man to deliver a stated product. This is an erroneous idea. A college degree is, as it were, a new tool in the hands of the young man entering retailing. This new tool should not be brandished before fellow workers, but should be kept in the background. It should be easy for the college graduate to develop the qualities of observing closely, analyzing keenly and thinking straight. At the same time, it is necessary for the college graduate to realize that what is taught in the class room will not take the place of actual experience behind the counter or on the floor. The class room will only assist in mastering fundamental principles and in developing executive qualities but experience must be secured in the laboratory of the store. Patience becomes a virtue in acquiring this practical angle.

There are more opportunities in retailing for college trained men and women than in any other line of commercial activity. It is safe to state that in one of our large department stores there are more positions paying $5,000 a year and upwards than in the largest bank in New York city. The president of a prominent Fifth avenue store stated recently that he had over 50 women in his employ drawing $5,000 and upward. Figures prove that college graduates with the patience to get experience, with the ability to adjust themselves and with executive qualities would have a more rapid advancement in position and salary in retailing than in any other field. Promotion comes as quickly as the graduate is prepared to take it. It is well for the college graduate to investigate closely his adaptation for and the opportunities offered in the new profession of retailing.

EPITAPH
Here lies the body of Dorothy Fern,
Who vamped a man from a friend of hers;
Her friend had spirit but lacked finesse,
And that's why Dorothy's here I guess.

THERE IS NO REASON for so many short people at this university when we have such a wonderful extension department.

GREAT LITERARY FIND
The expedition down the valley of Wang-Chowfi led by that valiant explorer, Wun Low, unearthed, in the once beautiful ruins of the city of Omro, near the banks of the Shinnibee river, the works of that oldtime favorite lyric writer, fuzzduzz. Among the musty manuscripts was found what Wun Low claims to be the shortest and most ancient poem known, the Antiquity of the Microbe, which follows in full.

Adam
Had'm.

Did you ever climb wearily out of bed with a funny taste in your mouth, and sit with your head in your hands, trying to steady the furniture as it reeled past

As I Did?
And trail over to the faucet and gulp down buckets of water

As I Did?
And see yourself all pale, and have your hand shake so that you could hardly shave

As I Did?
And register a solemn vow that, NEVER, would you eat one of those cursed sandwiches after 1:30

As I Did?
BILL SAYS—Let's make this our slogan. "NOBODY BEATS US ON OUR OWN FLOOR, INCLUDING CHICAGO."

I'M OUTA LUCK said Kitty Corner, as she read the above, as my man is an engineer.

HOW ABOUT IT GIRLS?
My English theme was done by somebody else,
The grade it gets belongs to somebody else.

I didn't write it—it was written for me,
That's soft for me but hard on somebody else.
If my instructor knew 'twas somebody else.

He'd make it blue for me and somebody else.

MOCK INITIATIONS
Editor, The Cardinal:
M. H. E. writes that now and then there comes an opportunity for justifying the existence of fraternities and cites as an example the searching for two black cats by fraternity pledges.

Does M. H. E. know who provided the funds to send the freshmen basketball squad to Iowa? Does he realize who provides rooms and food for high school athletes who come to compete in contests at Madison? Does he know who brings the alumni back to the university at Homecoming? Has he ever stopped to think, as he rested in his comfortable bed during the C. I. P. A. convention, just who was sleeping on the floor in order that high school students could have a decent bed and receive a favorable impression of Wisconsin? If he can fairly answer these questions, he will know a few small facts justifying the existence of fraternities.

M. H. E. chooses one incident of one fraternity with which to give destructive criticism concerning the 60 fraternities at the university. Why not treat the matter fairly and judge only the fraternity who committed this unpardonable sin?

Searching for two black cats on a cold winter night surely does make a pledge realize the hardships

My man can surely handle a pen—
It's happened once and soon will again.
My English theme was done by somebody else.

Jezebel.

A GOOD SALESMAN
A sweet young thing went into a store and asked the clerk the price of a certain pair of gloves. The clerk being quite charmed with her, replied: "one kiss." The S. Y. T., a little astonished and surprised, reflected an instant and said. Very well—give me three pairs, and my grandmother will pay you tomorrow.

B.

ALL WE CAN SAY to the above is that the clerk was mighty lucky he wasn't selling shoes to a centipede.

WHAT FAMOUS CHARACTERS SAY
"What more could be fairer?"—Roundy.
"By gollies, now, folks."—Prof. W. A. Sumner.
"Hurry up with that initiation."—Dean Goodnight.

Could I find him underwears,
Who banishes from school carousers.
I'd steal upon him unawares,
And scamper thither with his trousers.

DISILLUSIONMENT
He noticed her at once as he approached the bench where she was sitting. She was unusually pretty and intelligent looking, but wore, withal, such an air of sadness and melancholy that the young man paused. Here was a place, he thought, where a few kind words would avert a tragedy.

"Why so pensive, little girl?" he asked.

Slowly she raised her big blue eyes to him, then her rosebud lips parted, "What, M-m-e pensive? H—."

AT LEAST the Phi Psi's are not interested in any of the girls down Sorority alley. They shovel their walks only towards State Street.

May Bell.

CLEANED UP
Woman—I hear your husband left home.
'Nother—Yes, that's all he did leave.

If the men who live at the Square and Compass house attended school as often as their dog does there would be no need of them ever worrying about the outcome of the semester.

Majors in English Not to Call Home

Various names, truly distinctive and literary, have been suggested by faculty members of the English department. But the names will not be printed until the best one has been chosen by the committee. The five best ones with the authors' names will appear in print at the close of the contest.

SOPHIE TUCKER SAYS AUDIENCES AID PEP

"It's the audience that does it, that is, some audiences," said Sophie Tucker of her enthusiasm for the stage and the people in front of the footlights.

"You don't have to work if you have an audience like I get in Madison," she said. "They speed you along. If an audience really enjoys what you have to give it, and comes right back at you, there's no work, only enjoyment. You enjoy them."

"But when you know the minute you come on that everybody out in front is not only with you but sometimes a little ahead of you,

Seeks Daughter; Finds Another

A world wide search is being organized for Eleanor Aylesworth, 16 year old high school girl who disappeared mysteriously from the home of her guardian, Harry Harkness, in Binghamton, N. Y. Search in New York and nearby states has been unavailing.

BOTANY PROF. TALKS TO GRACE CHURCHMEN

Prof. George S. Bryan of the botany department delivered an illustrated address, "The Trail to Pozuzo," before the Grace Church Men's club at the Guild hall Tuesday night. Last winter Professor Bryan spent six months in the interior of Peru as a member of the botanical expedition sent out by the Field museum of Chicago.

Forksville, Pa., who is aiding in the search, followed what seemed a promising clue and found, instead of his daughter, another lost girl. Suffering from aphasia, she wandered into a rural section not far from Binghamton. Aylesworth was able to restore her to her parents before going on with the search for his own child.

A theory that the girl was kidnapped for ransom from her millionaire guardian has been discredited by the fact that no demands for money have been made. No other reason for her disappearance has been assigned.

A complete description of the girl was given in Binghamton as follows:

Sixteen years old. Weight 110 pounds. Height 5 feet. Light brown hair, not bobbed. Large blue eyes. Light complexion. When she disappeared she was wearing a black velvet hat, turned up on four sides; a long light tan coat, with heavy black fur collar; navy blue dress, black silk stockings and black pumps.

ROSS TO TALK IN SPITE OF PROTEST

Minneapolis School Authorities Reject Ministers' Objection to Lecture

In spite of the protests of 24 Minneapolis ministers, Prof. E. A. Ross, of the sociology department, will address students of West High school, in that city, this evening. Professor Ross will speak on the topic, "Is the World Growing Better or Worse?"

Charles Richardson, instructor in the science department of the high school, has informed the dissatisfied ministers that the address will be given regardless of their protest.

Dr. William B. Riley, pastor of the First Baptist church, Minneapolis, and known as a leader of the fundamentalists, summoned 23 other ministers and brought about action, resulting in an protest being sent to the West High school officials urging that Professor Ross be prevented from speaking on the subject chosen. The high school officials refused to sustain the objection.

Existing League Is Impracticable, Says J. V. Fuller

The present form of the league of nations was characterized as impracticable by Prof. J. V. Fuller, in an address before members of the Knights of Columbus luncheon club Wednesday noon in the club-house, East Wilson street.

Professor Fuller declared that the league was an association of the victorious nations of the World war formed to guarantee the fruits of victory.

"A league in which all the nations of the world are not on the same basis can not be successful," Professor Fuller maintained. "The present covenant is an integral part of the peace of Versailles and the treaty of Versailles is, in my opinion, an integral part of the league."

"It has been charged by the proponents of the league that the United States sabotaged the organization and the opponents declare that the European nations, framing a league to use the United States as a tool, are responsible for the sabotage of the league."

Professor Fuller defined the Monroe doctrine as "pernicious," claiming that if the United States were to adhere to such a principle, other nations could demand that they be given the same privileges in other parts of the world. France, he stated, would have a right to proclaim herself the dominating nation of Europe and England could maintain her right to the domination of central Asia.

Chloroform is Not as Safe as Ether For Anaesthetic

Statistics show that ether is six times less dangerous as an anaesthetic than chloroform, according to Dr. Louis Fauerbach, who spoke at a meeting of the Dane County Medical society Tuesday night at the University club. He compared the values of chloroform, ether and nitrous oxide.

"The nauseous after effects of ether make it a drug to be avoided merely because it is disagreeable," Dr. Fauerbach said. "The death rate in cases where chloroform is used is comparatively low, but this is because it is used only in cases where the patient is in the best

Cure For Drug Evil Lies in Limitation of Production

LOSE cooperation of social and official forces marks the latest offensive in the campaign against the narcotic drug evil. Years of unceasing warfare have not sufficed to even check it in the United States. Leaders in the movement are now united in an effort to bring about limitation of poppy growing and opium production. These things may be done only by other nations, particularly Great Britain, Persia and Turkey. So, one angle of the new attack is to arouse public interest here to the knowledge that only in this limitation can real progress be made; without this limitation the drug evil cannot be abolished.

According to figures gathered for the Secretary of the Treasury by a special committee appointed to study the narcotic drug problem, the 2,000,000 drug addicts in this country consume more opium, heroin, morphine and cocaine than all the nations of Europe combined.

Recorded importations of opium for legitimate medical and scientific use were a little more than 100,000 pounds a year shortly after the Civil War. They have now increased to more than seven-fold. Ninety per cent of these importations are said to reach addicts indirectly. The chart does not cover the operation of smugglers. It is authoritatively stated that the opium smuggled into American seaports and across the Mexican and Canadian borders have equaled every year the amounts introduced through lawful channels, thus doubling the figures shown on the chart.

That the United States is not hopelessly enthralled by the lure of stimulants is shown by a survey of the less vicious drug and stimulant field. Use of alcohol as expressed in whiskey, beer and wine drinking has decreased. Use of caffeine, a drug having definite pharmacological properties, as expressed in coffee drinking, has decreased in the last three years for which government figures are available. The drug caffeine constitutes 1.5 per cent of coffee by weight. Taking this as a basis of computation, coffee importations have dropped sufficiently to decrease caffeine consumption from 21,255,952 pounds in 1920 to 18,626,816 pounds at the end of 1922. Tea has shown a large decline in popularity, dropping to a per capita consumption lower than at any time since 1830.

This tea situation is disturbing the foreign tea interests and was one cause for the recent visit here of Sir Charles Higham, representing tea interests.

possible physical condition.

"Nitrous oxide as an anaesthetic is effective in cases where extreme muscular rigidity is not necessary," he pointed out.

Other speakers were Dr. R. L. McIntosh, who spoke on "The Treatment of Skin Diseases," and Dr. Ira L. Sisk.

"The influence of diet and heredity is a big factor in curing skin diseases," Dr. McIntosh said. "External treatment has been almost entirely ignored with the exception of parasitic disease."

STUDENT SOCIETIES GIVE FINANCIAL REPORT

"The majority of organizations have turned in their financial reports for the first semester," Alfred W. Peterson, student financial adviser, said yesterday.

"The reports are required at the end of every semester by action of the Student senate."

All clubs not affiliated with a national organization must turn in a report as to their financial condition, or they may have their books audited by the adviser, or both.

The governor referred the request to the board of pardons, which informed Kirkwood that there is no law that will permit the substitution.

QUESTIONNAIRE SENT TO C. I. P. A. SCHOOLS

A publication survey has been sent out to members of the Central Interscholastic Press association by the journalism department.

Its purpose is to secure information regarding the activities, equipment, organization, and needs of the school publications belonging to the association, so that the C. I. P. A. may be helpful to all members.

The information obtained from this questionnaire will be used to find out which schools are using superior methods which will be of interest to other members of the association, to learn how the Scholastic Editor and C. I. P. A. may bend their efforts to render the most needed services, and to determine equal classifications for all C. I. P. A. contests.

THE SCHOOL OF
CHEMICAL ENGINEERING PRACTICE
OF THE MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

A GRADUATE SCHOOL offering a course of study leading to the degree of Master of Science, with field stations in the plants of six different companies. These companies produce steel, pulp, paper, caustic soda, chlorine, heavy acids and salts, sugar, gas, ammonia, benzol, etc.

The more important unit operations of chemical engineering are studied systematically by means of tests and experimental work on full scale plant apparatus.

The work is wholly educational and independent of control by the plant managements. The attention of the student is directed exclusively to the study of Chemical Engineering.

The total number admitted to the school is limited and the students, studying and experimenting in small groups, receive individual instruction from resident professors. For entrance requirements and details address R. T. Haslam, Director, School of Chemical Engineering Practice.
