FAREWELL BUT NOT GOODBYE

THE LAKE GENEVA OBSERVER & BAY LEAVES

VOL VI SEPTEMBER 1ST 1938 NO 34

A wonderful tonic, the exercise from golfing, swimming, tennis,

EVERYBODY'S GOING TO THE FAIR THIS WEEK

FAREWELL

NOT GOOD BYE

Come on up, Summer, Fall, Winter or Spring!

FAREWELL BUT NOT GOODBYE.

Vacations are about over for most of our Summer residents. Some are fortunate enough to linger on late into the Fall and then go to Florida , California or other resort communities for the Winter. Most of us , however , must get back to the office and again take our place in active business. The sunshine has been a wonderful tonic, the exercise from golfing , swimming , tennis, or hauling up and holding the sail into the wind , has put most of the vacationers in the best of physical condition.

Now for school or college, the office or store for a hard year of work. Whatever you do , you should do a better job for having had your vacation under such ideal conditions.

BEAUTIFUL FALL AHEAD.

The Autumn coloring around the lake is beyond description. If you haven't been up here on a Fall day you must certainly plan to come up as often as possible. Jack Frost does a wonderful job in mixing the colors and applying them.

There are still a lot of fish to be caught this Fall. After the boats are put away, comes the fishermen's chance for his favorite sport. Horseback riding on a Fall morning is great sport.

WINTER SPORTS

Williams Bay has made preparations for the last two Winters for Sports, but unfortunately there has not been enough snow for real tobogganing and skiing. Iceboating has been great . Plan to come up for a few days of Winter Sports. Lake Geneva city is paying more attention to Winter Sports and with good snows will make a bid for Winter guests. Fontana also has some plans in the making.

Come on up, Summer, Fall, Winter or Spring!

EIGHTH ANNUAL ALL LAKE SWIM AT LAKE GENEVA LAST FRIDAY.

The editor has seen most of the last seven meets held on the lake and feels that this one was without doubt the very best yet.

As viewed from aboard the private yacht of Mr. G.W. Mc Kee, the scene was a real picture. Before us who were fortunate enough to be guests of the Safety Patrol was a wide panorama. In the foreground were the two swimming piers, all gaily decorated, loaded with swimmers of all ages, eager for his or her turn in the contest. The officials all in white made a contrast to the brown bodies of the swimmers.

In the background on the terraced beach were thousands of spectators gaily dressed.

Mr. S.B. Chapin, the Founder of the Water Safety Patrol, had a broad smile on his face as he stood watching the meet, and well he might for through the work of the Patrol, some 8,000 boys, girls and grown ups learned to swim and 6,000 have taken life saving tests to prepare for helping those in distress. Truly a great idea, carried out superbly.

R.E. Mc Nally, General sec'y of the Y.M.C.A. was the announcer; H.C. Paterson, Director of the Safety Patrol was Referee and Starter; Judges were, Ned Merriam (L.G.); John Featherstone (F.); M. Quinn (FO); Roy Johnson (Wms B.). Clerks: Mrs. H.C. Paterson and A.E. Bergman, Director of Recreational Activities for Lake Geneva City. Mayor Walter M. Ledger, Lake Geneva, presented the awards.

Stories of 100 Years Ago Around Geneva Lake

Under the heading, "Sixty Years Ago," this series of articles giving reminiscences of pioneer life at the head of Geneva lake was written 40 years ago by Cyrus Church, pioneer settler, for The Observer, the first newspaper published in Walworth. The Walworth Times and Bay Leaves and Lake Geneva Observer, are cooperating in reprinting these interesting stories of early days.

FARMING ON BIG FOOT PRAIRIE

Having nothing to do but read the papers I will use a little time to write about the commencement of farming in the spring of '37.

VanSlyke had two bushels of spring wheat, the first I ever saw. He wanted to sow it on an Indian garden, and selected one a little east of where the old mill afterwards stood. He said to me, "You can take that old plow and root up the ground a little and sow that wheat." It was the poorest excuse for a plow I ever used, but I did the best I could with it, and then asked him for a harrow. He said I would have to make one. So I made an old style V harrow with wooden teeth—not a particle of iron about it—but it did the work all right. I then sowed the wheat—the first time I ever did that kind of work. Not doing well it wasn't harvested.

I think there had been eight or 10 acres in small patches about the head of the lake, that had been used by the Indians for gardens. This was said to be the work of squaws. They were very nicely cared for, containing large, high, round hills—no appearance of any rows. They planted year after year in the same hills and kept it perfectly clean, not a weed to be seen. They raised a small kind of black corn, called "squaw corn." For a granary, they selected a dry, gravelly spot, dug a hole, put the corn in and covered it with a flat stone, and it was safe from thieves.

Begin Breaking Prairie

As soon as grass started so that cattle could live, teams came up from the Wabash country to get jobs of breaking prairie. Four dollars an acre was the price paid. Three teams came first, not less than six pair of cattle to the team, and splendid cattle all of them. They had large covered wagons, and brought plenty of provisions. There were seven men, and a better feeling lot of fellows it would be hard to find. At home anywhere, they enjoyed life like princes.

They got a job of breaking 125 acres for VanSlyke on what was later the Crumb and Bagley farms, and a portion of it now occupied by the village of Walworth. After selecting a camping ground, which was only to place their wagons where they would be convenient to water, the first thing they did was to cut a large white ash tree and burn it to charcoal in a coal pit. They brought bellows, anvil and hammer with them for sharpening their plows. They had three plows which would cut 22 inches, and were calculated to turn a furrow two feet wide. This was the first breaking done in Walworth.

Soon after they commenced work, a man by the name of Comstock, living on the southeast part of Rock Prairie, came down to get one of them to break a little prairie for him so that he might perhaps raise something to live on. They told him they could not afford to go there for so little (it was about nine miles), but he was so anxious that they told him if he would give them $5 an acre for what they could break in one day, they would come with the three teams the following Monday.

Do 12 Acres in Day

It was more than he wanted, but he accepted the offer. Comstock was a Vermonter and knew nothing about prairie breaking. He thought they would break probably some three or four acres. They drove over there on Sunday, and early Monday morning they went to work. By sunset they had 12 acres broken and nicely done. Comstock paid them $60 in gold, according to contract, and threw in lots of profanity with it. This was the first breaking done on Rock Prairie.

A man by the name of Wadhams took the contract to break 500 acres, 100 on each of the five farms from Walworth corners to the state line. The first furrow commenced at the corner stake in Walworth village and ran along the center of the road to the state line, two and one-half miles long. After 20 acres had been broken on the Wood and Clark farms, they changed their minds and had no more done. The other 400 acres was finished during the season. I think they had four teams, with from six to eight yoke of oxen to the team.

No crops were raised this year except a few vegetables in the Indian gardens.

Godfrey Arrives With Horses

About June 15, Thomas Godfrey came to the head of the lake with his family, having driven all the way from York State with a span of horses. He located a claim on the west side of the prairie and made arrangements to build a house on it. Accordingly one pleasant morning he took Thomas Featherstone, John Reader and myself, and went to build the house. It seemed a long way across the prairie. The horses were worn out with the long journey, and the flies were very troublesome.

But the scenery was beautiful. Such a rich growth of grass, interspersed with the most lovely flowers, and many bright-plumaged birds that were new to us and have long since disappeared with the Indians. Then there were the trees on the edge of the prairie, covered with the rich green of early summer. All combined, produced an enchantment and a charm that my pencil cannot describe.

We crossed the prairie and in the edge of the timber commenced cutting logs for the house. By night we had it up about as high as my head. Thomas Featherstone and I stayed there that night, the others going home with the team. We slept inside the house on some dry grass and covered with a blanket. As we lay there and viewed the beautiful starry heavens, I could not help thinking as did the child, "Twinkle, twinkle, little star. How I wonder what you are."

In the morning the team came, bringing us something to eat. In a few days the house was completed and the family moved in. It was the first house on the prairie.

One of the outstanding qualities of the Lake Geneva Young Men's Christian Association is adaptability. Organized more than fifty years ago to meet a particular need for religious and cultural help to a group of young men in the community the Association has adapted its program to the needs of each succeeding generation and has expanded it to include many fields other than those originally thought of.

Fifty years ago the Association limited its activities to conducting a weekly meeting for about twenty young men and to maintaining a one room meeting place which served as reading and game room. As the years passed and as other needs became apparent other services were rendered. There were evening classes in mechanical drawing, bookkeeping, penmanship and manual training. The Association maintained the first circulating library which later became the foundation of the present public library. Many of the services which began out of the initiative and enterprise of individuals and volunteer groups eventually became the concern of public agencies in the community, as for example, public library, adult education classes, physical education and public recreation. The YMCA pioneered and demonstrated in these fields until popular acceptance made them a part of community responsibility.

Fifty years ago the attendance at Lake Geneva YMCA activities ran a few hundred. This year the attendance will run well over 60,000. Today's services have many ramifications which include some of the features of a club, an inn, an athletic association, a church, a school, an employment agency, a welfare association, a town hall, a health center, without being exclusively any of these. The Association maintains a completely equipped building, a small staff of full time workers and a large corps of volunteer committees and groups. It stands in the midst of modern community life extending practical ministrations to youth in this generation just as it has to youth of past generations.

The full page advertisement in every issue this Summer has been favorably commented on by many of the readers. Dick Horlick has made riding popular around the lake.

Specializing in lessons for children he has secured the interest of many parents, who had given up riding.

One of his pupils, Billy Jo Glick, niece of Mrs. Booth who leased the Breen home on the lake this Summer won the blue ribbon for Junior Horsemanship and trophy at Wilmot, Kenosha Co. Fair.

Dick plans to remain until about Sept. 15th and later if necessary

The postponed annual meeting of the Geneva Lake Home Owners Protective Association was held at the Big Foot Country Club last Saturday.

Wells Church, B.F. Bills and R.B. Whitaker were elected as Directors.

William M. Spencer, President, claims that the Association will devote their efforts to carrying out the primary purpose of the Association as given in the Articles of Incorporation: "to promote, preserve, maintain, improve, protect, and develop the Geneva Lake Region for residential purposes."

Mr. Spencer proposes to make it a real factor in the community in doing just that.

Mrs. Claudine Alvis and children, Billie and Boris, of Glendale Calif. leave this week after spending two months vacation with her sister, Mrs. Earle S. Nelson of the Birches and Williams Bay.

POSTCARD COLUMN

" Lake Geneva Observer " readers will soon scatter to many states and many will visit other countries during the intervening months before we get together again as the " Lake Geneva Family ".

If you keep the editor informed as to your address during the Winter copies of " Bay Leaves " will be sent to you.

Better still " Will you put " Bay Leaves ", Williams Bay on your address book and send post cards from wherever you happen to be and send a message for the readers which will be published in a column entitled " Post Card Column? ".

THE TRANSITION PERIOD

Delivery during the next week or two is a problem. Will you help by informing the editor as to your wishes in the matter of delivery? Do you wish it delivered here at your Summer home or at your winter address?

No paper will be published on September 8th. The work of getting out the paper every week during the Summer has been strenuous as stated in " June Province's " column on April 18th it is a one man newspaper. 1500 copies were delivered June 16 and since then 1100 copies each week.

MORE CORRESPONDENTS WANTED.

Next Summer it is hoped that some one from each subdivision or Club will be correspondent so that more of the activities of the many groups might be recorded.

A good start has been made this Summer and the editor certainly appreciates the fine spirit that has been shown by the readers.

Will you kindly send articles, poems that you have written, historical material, etc.?

" JOIN THE LAKE GENEVA FAMILY "

So many readers have made the remark that the " Lake Geneva Observer " is read by every member of the family and has done much toward making a feeling that we are after all one big family on Lake Geneva, that the editor is adopting the slogan " Join the Lake Geneva Family ".

The endeavor will be to keep up the friendships made during the Summer months throughout the year.

This Summer many new subscribers have been added to the list. Next Summer many others who have had occasional copies have wished to " Join the Lake Geneva Family " early in the season.

BETTER DISTRIBUTION NEXT YEAR.

The distribution problem has been a serious one this Summer. A study is being made of the problem and the plan proposed is to have the lake zoned into several parts and a boy given direct charge of a zone and be responsible for it. The " Summer Welcome Number " will again be delivered about June 15 to all homes on the lake and in those subdivisions having lake shore privileges. The boys will stop at all homes to which the " Summer Welcome " number will be delivered and ask if they wish to become subscribers for the Summer. The editor would like to contact boys who would like to have charge of their zones next Summer.

100 Years ago articles appreciated

Many readers speak of the series of articles. W.C. Dean who published " Williams Bay Observer " 40 years ago called on the editor last week. He lives in Madison and is well and hearty and still interested in Temperance Work.

Appreciation is hereby given to F.J. Mc Gay, editor of Waiworth Times for his cooperation.

THE BELFRY PLAYERS

BELFRY PLAYERS TO END SEASON WITH MYSTERY PLAY

After years of hard work, preparing a suitable atmosphere for the presentation of stage plays, building a reputation in the Southern Wisconsin area, creating an interest in the Drama never before accepted as a possibility, the Belfry Players can well sit back and admire their own accomplishments. This summer's season has proved beyond a doubt that there is a potential audience for stage plays provided the plays prove of enough interest. Attendance for "STAGE DOOR" has been the highest in the history of the group. Several hundred people were turned away because of lack of seating space. In the future reservations will be taken care of long before a play opens in order to accommodate as many as it is reasonably possible to seat.

It is a far cry from the opening performance of "PETTICOAT FEVER", the opening play this summer, the night when first nighters entered the theatre to the tune of hammers pounding the last spokes into the roof of the new addition.

Since then "POST ROAD", "NIGHT MUST FALL", "MR. PIM PASSES BY", and "STAGE DOOR", all plays of varied atmosphere, offering an unusual assortment of stage sets, have found their places in the hearts of Belfry Theatre-goers.

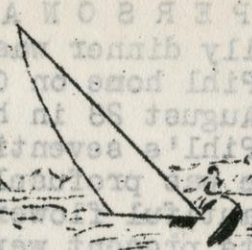

And now, to top the season, a mystery play of popular appeal, a play classes by Ashton Stevens and Charles Collins, Chicago Drama critics as the best of its kind, will close this summer's schedule. "THE NINTH GUEST" dramatically reveals the plight of eight prominent people, invited to a modern penthouse for the "most unusual party ever staged in the town". Those taking part will be: Mrs. G. Reitz, Peg Buckles, Betty Singer, Edwin Ebbinghausen, Gene Douglas, John Zuzga, Bob Birdsall, Frank Segrist and William Shaw.

Eli Popa, who earlier in the season staged "POST ROAD" and has been quite active in Belfry productions ever since, is hard at work putting the final touches to the play and preparing the most unusual set yet seen on the Belfry stage this summer. Work on the production has been speeded up considerably to get the play ready for the special showing on Sunday, September 4, for Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stevens of Chicago and Delavan Lake, and their invited lake shore friends. The regular run of the play begins Sept. 7 and continues thru September 10. Reservations are already coming in. It is evident that play enthusiasts are making sure that their seats will be reserved for them far enough in advance.

A birthday party was celebrated in honor of the eighth year of Puppy Doodle Steele, Wednesday, August 31. The guests present were Billie Baxter and David Fletcher, Lake Geneva, and Jack Houquette, Neenah. Warren Valley, Wms Bay, played the accordion for the children, who later enjoyed a boat ride and a swim in Lake Geneva, and a ride on Rob't. Kenyon's pony.

THE 97TH WALWORTH COUNTY FAIR

Opening at Elkhorn on Friday morning to the marching tunes of the East Troy High School Band, which will enter the main gate at approximately 9 A.M. to officially open the Fair, which will continue through Labor Day.

The Fair will provide a picture of local agriculture at its best. Farmers have an abundance to show from their herds, flocks and fields.

Farm machinery manufacturers will exhibit all types of equipment while automobile dealers will show their latest models.

F. I. Porter, Secretary, states that the exhibition buildings will be taxed to capacity and that tents would be needed to house the overflow in the poultry, cattle, sheep and hog departments. Girls' exhibits and demonstrations will fill the space allotted to them.

A feature of the exhibition will be a steam engine made entirely of glass and which operates just as any other steam engine, except that all working parts are visible.

SHERIDAN RACE LAST SATURDAY

The 64th Sheridan Regatta was won this year by A.F. Gartz sailing Big Foot Too. Jack Vilas closely followed him in.

The race receives its name from one gotten up in honor of General Phil Sheridan who was a visitor at the lake in the home of Charles Wilson, editor of Chicago Journal, back in 1874, won by Nettie owned by J.S. Rumsey.

Mr. N.K. Fairbank and others secured subscriptions from his lake shore friends and bought a beautiful silver yacht for about $200 to be raced for each year in a course extending the length of the lake.

General Sheridan came back in 1875 to witness the race called in his honor.

Nettie won in 1875 and '76. In '78 Whisper, in 1889 and '90 Viking, '91 Expert, '92 Tatler, '95 Lorna.

The Trophy was patterned after the yacht owned by J.S. Rumsey, "Nettie."

The late Dr. O.L. Schmidt sailed the Senta eight times in this famous regatta and won six times.

CEDAR POINT PARK NEWS

Fishermen who like their pickerel should have their innings on Delavan Lake next season. The town of Delavan stole a march on the sportsmen of Lake Geneva, which in this case includes Williams Bay, Fontana and other towns on Lake Geneva, when they bought all of the pickerel in a private lake 16 miles outside of Elkhorn.

The conservation department of the state will sein this lake on or about October 5 and all pickerel in the nets will be put into tanks and transported to Lake Delavan. It is believed something like a thousand pickerel, weighing from one pound to 26 pounds each, will be brought in the draw.

The owner of this private lake dickered with the fishing interests of Lake Geneva, but his request for 30 cents for every pound of fish taken from the lake was more than the Lake Geneva folks cared to pay. Because these fish after they are put into Lake Delavan will become public property, if you can catch them, the state will do the seining without charge.

Keep in touch with the happenings in the Park and Wms Bay, by getting

An effort is to be made in Madison when the legislature meets again, to extend the non-resident fishing licenses to the same period that the resident license holds good for. Certain lawmakers feel that the non-resident who pays $3 should have the same length of time for fishing as do the natives of the state. This would permit fishing through the ice in the winter.

Another attempt is to be made to have weekend $1.00 fishing license. Lawmakers feel that thousands of weekend visitors and resorters to Wisconsin would buy a weekend fishing license for $1.00 if such a license were available.

The Williams Bay Village Board has promised the Building Committee of Cedar Point Park its hearty cooperation in keeping up the high standard of building now in that subdivision. Col. John E. Atkins, president of the Board, speaking for his followers, says NO building permit will be issued for Cedar Point Park, until the building committee of that section has approved the plans. This cooperation speaks for a better and bigger Cedar Point Park.

Owners of lots in Cedar Point Park, which now are cluttered with broken down trees, can have them removed if they contact Verne MacKenzie, general utility man in the park. Because they are on private property, caretaker Moeller can offer no help in removing them. Moeller and his aids have done a fine job in cleaning up the parks and roads of the Association after the big storm of a week ago.

It won't be long now before the summer residents of Cedar Point Park will return to their year-round homes. There will be much news of interest and importance to Cedar Point Park people happening all the year round. Since "BAY LEAVES" is a semi-official informer of the doings in the Park a suggestion is offered that all who can should subscribe to this paper and get it the year round. your news in "BAY LEAVES".

Many of the readers have asked about the "Fish Line Store" advertisement which has appeared in every number since the paper was started six Summers ago.

"Bay Leaves" idea came from the fact that the two grocery stores in Williams Bay were getting out weekly advertisements. Henry Granzow of Granzow and Peterson firm has for many years given much attention each week to thinking up material for their advertisement and in getting it ready for insertion in "Bay Leaves". The editor made a proposition to both stores that if they would give them to him he would start a local paper, mimeograph style. They accepted the proposal and in a small way "Bay Leaves" got a start.

Fish Line Store got its name from E.L. Fish, a Whitewater grocer who opened a grocery and market at the present location with a local young man Robert N. Anderson as a partner. Later E.M. Iverson, who had been connected with College Camp purchased the E.L. Fish interest and became a partner with Robert Anderson.

The name has continued and become a byword for good groceries .

Elgin Club, Aug. 23-

Dear Mr. Van Epps-

"I am enclosing check for two subscriptions to the Lake Geneva Observer-Bay Leaves, which we have found exceedingly interesting. I have been able to give my brother Neil Bosworth, a former Lake Geneva resident, much pleasure by forwarding the newsy little paper to him.

He has always loved Lake Geneva and has longed to return, however, on account of illness, he has been unable to make the journey from California.

To him the coming of the Many people express surprise on their initial visit to the Fontana Community Library, at the number of books on the shelves. Although the room is somewhat small, it houses some very good reading material.

There are 3091 volumes, not including reference books. There is a set of "The Americana" in 22 volumes; and an Encyclopedia Britannica in 25 volumes; Redpath's History of the United States in 12 volumes; there is a copy of the "Volume Library" and of Outline of Science.

Each year the State Reading Library Circle Board sends out a Wisconsin Reading Circle Annual giving a list of accredited books. Pupils in Wisconsin schools receive credit for reading these books.

The Fontana Library has 345 books which appear on this list and these books are marked according to grade and group, and are so arranged on the shelves.

While library funds do not permit the purchase of all the latest books, there are some, lately purchased which are very popular. Two juvenile books recently put into circulation are autographed copies of "Ferdinand and Grammar Can't Be Fun" by Munro Leaf.

The library is open the following hours- Tuesday, 7 to 9 P.M., Wednesday 3 to 5:30, Thursday 3 to 5:30, Saturday 2 to 4.

Mrs. James Hanna,
Librarian.

"Observer"-Bay Leaves" must seem like a breeze from the lake and I am sure nothing could give him more pleasure than to receive it regularly, so I am sending with my subscription one for him.

The articles concerning the lake history are most fascinating to those of us who have from childhood, spent happy summers on its shores. It is interesting to note that several of our cottages in Elgin Club have had five generations enjoying the summers here. "Edith Bosworth Levering."
