DANCE OPENS ACTIVITIES OF PROM TONIGHT

Pre-Prom Affair to Feature
Special Acts; Will Sell
Tickets at the Door

The annual Pre-Prom dance, the first event of Prom activities, will be held at Lathrop hall this evening at 9 o'clock.

An eight-piece orchestra with Willard Sumner '22 and Cecil Brodt '22, and three special acts consisting of some of the best vodvil ability on the campus, will feature at the dance.

To Sell Tickets at Door

A ticket sale will be held at the door, contrary to report, until the limited amount has been disposed of. The tickets, which were placed on sale throughout the university district, have been selling fast and it is believed that the sale limit will be reached early in the evening.

"This is an all-university social event," said "Doc" Dorward '23, who is in charge of the dance, yesterday. "Because it is called a Pre-Prom dance does not mean that it is limited to Prom goers. For many, it will be the last big social event of the season, and for this reason the party will be limited as to numbers only."

Arrange Three Features

The three feature acts which have been arranged by a committee headed by Mord Bogie '23, are expected to furnish the maximum in entertainment for those attending the dance. David Mahoney '22, and Jess Cohen '24, will appear first on the program. Katherine McCaul '25, in the second act will present several song numbers; and a skit, "Far Apart," will conclude the program. Those taking part in the latter number are Mary Wendnagel, "Duke" Dorsey, and "Doc" Dorward.

The dance will begin promptly at 9 o'clock. The hall will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. Intermission will take place at 10:30 p. m., when the special acts will be given.

Governor's Illness Postpones Meeting

The Fellowship meeting that was to have been held last night was postponed on account of the illness of Gov. John J. Blaine. His talk, "How we can serve the State," will probably be given at some future meeting, according to Leo Kohl '22, president of the "Y."

All persons on the editorial, reportorial, and business staffs of The Daily Cardinal will meet at the Badger studio, 21 E. Main street, Saturday morning, at 12:45, for a staff picture.

FEATURES AT PROM DANCE

MARY WENDNAGEL

Mary Wendnagel '24, will be featured tonight at the Pre-Prom dance in a spicy skit with "Doc" Dorward '23, entitled "Far Apart." Clever songs, dances, and bits of comic by-play will form a part of the act.

Miss Wendnagel, besides having considerable experience in amateur vodvil entertainments, is an accomplished pianist and dancer.

WILL COMBINE ELECTION DAYS

Committee Approves Single
Date For Y. W. C. A.,
S. G. A. and W. A. A.
Elections

A resolution providing for a general election day for Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., and S. G. A. organizations was adopted January 5 by an election committee of Keystone, composed of Ellen Correll, president of S. G. A., Auta Lyman, president of Y. W. C. A., and Mabel Winter, president of W. A. A. General election day is to be the second Friday in March.

The plan recommended to Keystone by the committee follows: All three organizations will arouse interest and heavier voting if there is a general election day.

In spite of the fact that the membership of W. A. A. and Y. W. C. A. has not the all inclusive quality of S. G. A. membership, the committee feels that the duplication of membership is great enough to accrue benefit from a single election day.

Since the election date set by W. A. A. depends upon the fact that heads of sports begin to serve in the spring, the date set for those final elections has had to be given special consideration.

For S. G. A. this change is suggested to enable it to fit in with a general plan.

During the last week in February nominations are to be made as follows:

Three instead of four nominations.

Hockey For Girls Inaugurated Here By W. A. A. Members

"Ice hockey for girls," is the slogan of 25 co-eds who have organized to play on the lower campus hockey rink. Katherine Ely '22, and Elizabeth Kirk '23, who started the movement, have secured permission from the athletic department to use the rink from 3 to 4 o'clock on Mondays and Wednesdays, and from 12:30 to 2:30 on Saturdays.

"Bob" Blodgett '23, who is a member of the men's hockey team, will coach the first game Saturday.

At W. A. A. meeting Tuesday night, a number of girls expressed their desire to play, and this noon all who are interested in the organization of puck teams among women will meet in the S. G. A. office at 12:30 to discuss rules of the game.

Outing club credit will be given for ice hockey, just as it is for skating, according to Miss Kirk. "Outing club is enthusiastic about getting up the teams, and we will co-operate in every way to make the plan a success," she said.

Kohl to Represent Nine Universities At National Meet

Leo Kohl '22 has been chosen by colleges and universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakotas, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan, to represent them at a convention of all institutions of higher learning of the country at New York, February 10, 11, and 12.

The purpose of the convention is to discuss problems arising in colleges, particularly the question of athletics. The convention proposes to establish a stronger bond of union between the colleges of the East and West, and to break up the old antagonistic feeling that has existed.

Kohl will explain the work of the convention on his return.

Badger Club to Hold Ice Party

A skating party on Lake Mendota, with supper on the opposite shore has been booked for the Badger club tonight. Members will meet in back of the Y. M. C. A. at 5 o'clock, and return at 8.

On Sunday David Owen, New York, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer movement, will address the club. Mr. Owen has been Y. M. C. A. secretary at Dennison university, Dennison, Ohio, for a number of years. He is now making a tour of colleges and universities of middle western states. Last summer he was in England where he studied economic conditions with Sherwood Eddy.

No Dates After 10 On Saturday—Dean

Official announcement has come from the office of the dean of women that no 11 o'clock or 12:30 permissions will be given university women for Saturday night, Jan. 14. The 10 o'clock rule will be strictly enforced.

PICK VOCATION AND STUDY TO SUPPORT SELF

—ROE

Dean Urges Women to Prepare For Vocational Life
at Convocation
Yesterday

"Have college women of today, in the face of all the attractions and pleasures which face them,—have they the character, in the old fashioned sense, to deny themselves and face the rigors of intellectual and vocational life?" was the question put by Dean F. D. Roe before the convocation for freshman and sophomore women held in Lathrop parlors yesterday afternoon.

A large representation of upper-classwomen as well as many freshmen and sophomores, was present at the meeting, which was held especially for the underclasswomen as part of the Woman's Vocational conference.

Dean Nardin Speaks

Dean F. Louise Nardin introduced Dean Roe to his audience, and indicated in a few words what phase of vocational work were most interesting to women. She stated, also, that a woman, like a man, in entering a profession always asks herself: "Am I the kind of person best fitted for this vocation? Is my training the kind to fit me for this work? What are its rewards?"

"But the woman, in addition to these questions, always asks another," continued Miss Nardin, "and that is, 'How will this work fit me for my ultimate work in my home?'" The same thought was carried further by Dean Roe when he declared that marriage was one of the chief difficulties in vocations facing women as a sex.

'Forsake Parasitic Life'

"Traditionally, women have always been drudges, ladies, or spinsters," said Dean Roe. "It has been a tradition that many women should lead a parasitic life, but I have a great abhorrence for the college trained woman, who goes out to become a parasite."

That every woman should be able to support herself, and should come to college with the purpose of

Name Ticket Prices For Pre-Prom Play

The mail order ticket sale for the Pre-Prom play which will be presented Thursday, Feb. 2, at the Parkway theater will open January 20.

The tickets will be sold at the following prices: evening performance, downstairs, $2.00; lower balcony, $1.50; upper balcony, $1.00; loges, $2.50; matinee, downstairs, $1.50; lower balcony, $1.00; upper balcony, 50 cents; loges, $1.50.

Owing to the fact that most fraternities and other groups prefer informal dress at the play the evening performance will be informal. Some groups, however, are planning to attend in tuxedos.

Bob Gerholz—Well, fellows, I'm going to do as Mr. Brader wishes in this matter. You see I haven't a tux.

Lee Edwards—My girl is in the hospital, so I guess it's dressing gown and bridge for me!

Tom Wood—You can't rent a tux, so now you know what's what with this baby.

Rodney Welsh—Phyllis likes my green flannel shirt SO well and, as I'm importing her clean from Los Angeles, I must please.

University Opens "Rendezvous" Today As Eating House

The Rendezvous is no longer a tea room. It opens today as a student eating house where meals will be served three times a day. It will be under the direction of Miss Elma Becker, formerly dietician of the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, and now assistant to the director of halls and commons.

It is the latest thing in eating places, imported from France by Miss M. C. Little, director of halls and commons, and the only one of its kind between Chicago and Denver.

The Rendezvous which was formerly a tea room at 1515 Monroe street, has been bought by the university and will be under the supervision of the halls and commons. They will conduct it with two objects in view; first, as an eating place for the two hundred students who live in Wingra park, and second, as a place where students in the institutional management courses may receive practical training.

The room has been done over in the style of French cafes with benches along the walls and small tables for two which slide back and forth. The china, as well as the walls and furniture, are in motifs of black enamel and pink tea roses. The Black Hawk tea room in Chicago is in this style, but this is the first of its kind in Madison.

Cafeteria breakfast, table d'hote luncheon, and dinner will be served at moderate prices. Tea will also be served during the afternoon. Tables may be reserved or the entire place taken for private parties. All of the pastries and much of the food will be taken directly from the main kitchen at Chadbourne.

"We do not want the students to feel that this is one of the expensive tea rooms," said Miss Little, "neither do we want the other cafeterias to feel that we are running in competition with them. We are

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BADGER QUINT IN CONDITION FOR MICHIGAN

Three Big Ten Teams
Break Into Race
This Week

Big Ten conference basketball games this week end will be featured by the entry of Indiana, Illinois, and Purdue into the pennant race; the first named against Northwestern Saturday night, and the other two against Michigan and Northwestern, respectively, on Monday evening.

The Badgers are being sent through a series of strenuous practices in preparation for the Michigan game. The team is working nicely, and all of the men are in good shape, with the exception of Irish, who was reported as being on the sick list yesterday afternoon. It is not known whether or not he will have recovered sufficiently to allow him to get into the game tomorrow night.

The game promises to be one of the best that will be seen on the local floor this season. Coach Mather has a big, rangy team, and, since Miller is back in the lineup, a high class brand of ball is being exhibited. The seats were put on sale to the students yesterday afternoon, and the majority of tickets had been sold by night. Those that are left will be sold to the public today.

Illinois Should Win

Illinois should not have much difficulty in registering a win over Ohio State in the opener Saturday night. Coach Winters has uncovered a remarkable center in the sophomore Stillwell. He has a habit of being able to locate the basket from almost any angle, vying with the famous Carney in shooting. Coach Trautman, Buckeye mentor, claims to have a much better team than last year, however, and it must be admitted that any aggregation that can win from Michigan on the latter's floor must possess considerable power.

The Iowa-Minnesota tilt at Minneapolis will be an interesting one, with the Gophers fighting to retain their position in the 1,000 per cent column. The Hawkeyes are given the edge, although Dr. Cook's five may spill the dope as they did against Northwestern last week. If Iowa is victorious, it will only strengthen the statement made by Dr. Meanwell at the beginning of the season to the effect that the conference winner this year will not have survived its schedule without a defeat.

It appears that Northwestern will receive another set-back at the hands of Indiana on Saturday. The Purple cagers are even weaker than had been supposed, as evidenced in their game with Minnesota. Levis should have a better team than last year, when the Hoosiers led the conference until the final games. Badger followers cannot help but be interested in the success of Indiana, as their coach starred under Meanwell only a few years ago.

Purple is Weak

The Michigan-Illinois game at Urbana on Monday night will be one of the most interesting of the season. Last year the Wolverines, although rated as the poorer team, gave the Suckers two beatings, which prevented Illinois from having a clear claim to the conference championship. The outcome of the tilt will give Wisconsin fans an opportunity to see how their team stacks up with the Suckers, at least as far as comparative scores against Michigan are concerned.

The ill-fated Purple are certain to be forced further into the cellar when they finish with Purdue in the Boilermakers' initial game of the season. Lambert's quintet is ac-

Badger Tankmen Will Meet M. A. C. Here Tomorrow

Pick Coach Steinauer's Swimmers to Triumph For Second Time

Coach Joe Steinauer on Thursday sent his swimming squad through their last hard workout before the Milwaukee Athletic club meet tomorrow afternoon at the gymnasium tank. The relay team that will represent Wisconsin has been making exceptionally good time in their event during practice.

The men who starred in the meet of December 22, in which Wisconsin walked off with the honors by a 40 to 28 score, will be depended upon to hold their own again in the return engagement of these two squads. Lineups of both squads will be practically the same.

There will be a handicap on the visiting team, as the M. A. C. tank is a 50 yard pool, while the local one is but 40 yards.

The M. A. C. will present a stronger lineup than the one that last faced Wisconsin. Many changes have been made which have benefited the team's scoring powers and M. A. C. followers are expecting their team to give the Badger squad a hard tussle for honors.

The men upon whom Wisconsin will depend in the various events are as follows: George Bennett '23, Bill Collins '22, J. J. Lamboley '22, "Hap" Davies '22, "Rudy" Lederer '24, H. E. Czerwonsky '24, and others.

The M. A. C. will use Thompson, Koch, Reineking, Hildebrande, Mayer, Bach and others in an effort to upset the Badger swimmers.

Chicago Has New Quintet, But Men Show Good Form

CHICAGO—Under the guiding hands of Coaches Nels Norgren and Dr. Molander, the University of Chicago basketball team is fast rounding into shape for the strenuous campaign of the conference season. Games already played have given the coaches an excellent line on the aspirants for the Varsity team.

Forty men responded to the call for basketball candidates, but after two weeks of hard practice the squad was reduced to 25.

The strength of the squad has been augmented by the addition of three men who have already had collegiate experience. They are: "Mit" Romney, who was a star forward on the University of Utah quintet two years ago; "Johnny" Bryan, who was a powerful guard on the 1918 Maroon five, and Bruce Shepherd, a flashy forward from the Kalamazoo College team.

Bros Heads Gopher Sextet; Play Here

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Chester Bros, of Minneapolis, has been elected captain of the University of Minnesota hockey team. He is a senior in the engineering college. A tentative schedule for the Gophers has been drawn up and includes a game at St. Paul on February 1, with Notre Dame and four games with the University of Wisconsin—two at Madison, January 20 and 21, and two at St. Paul, February 3 and 4.

knowledge to be the strongest aggregation in the conference. Captain While it playing an even more spectacular game at running guard than he did last year. In the game against Butler college he, alone, made enough points to beat the Pagemen, who had formerly defeated Wisconsin and Chicago.

Presenting— DOUGLAS GIBSON

Douglas N. Gibson, Cumberland, Wis., is the new find who is so adequately filling the center position on the Wisconsin basketball team this season.

Gibson played basketball for three years on the Cumberland high school team before entering the university. Last year he was a member of the Frosh squad, but his ability was not regarded as being exceptional then. This year, however, he was tried out as center on the Varsity, and is filling the position with the capability of a seasoned veteran. He plays a big part in the famed Meanwell defense, and in the games played thus far, has vied with the forwards in point getting.

If Gibson continues to travel at his present pace there is no question but that he has a future in basketball. He will be eligible for two more years of conference competition. He is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

KAPPA SIG, PHI SIG QUINTS WIN

Alpha Sigs Swamp Theta Chis
in Basket Play Last Night

The strong Kappa Sig quintet walloped Zeta Psi last night by an 18 to 5 score, and remained undefeated in the race for the cup. Meyers made most of the points for the winners with Morrison a close second.

The Phi Sigs, also undefeated, took an easy game from the Sig Phis, 8 to 2. The winners of these two games, together with the D. U. five, are showing up best as competitors for the four cups which will be awarded at the close of the season.

All of the games last night were won by large margins. The Alpha Sigs defeated Theta Chi by a score of 13 to 1. The Theta Deltas forfeited to Lambda Chi, and the Psi U.'s to the Delta Chis. The T. K. E.-Pi Kappa Alpha game was postponed.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Chicago Athletic association swimming team won from Northwestern 43 to 25.

SCHOOLS SENT INVITATIONS TO RELAYS HERE

Announce Prospective
Captains For So-
roriety Races

Invitations to the Sixteenth Annual Wisconsin Relay carnival which will be held in the gymnasium annex on Saturday, Feb. 25, are being sent to prospective entrants by Coach Mead Burke, manager of the carnival.

Varsity and freshman athletes, track and field men from minor colleges, normal schools, high schools, and academies will compete in various events. The carnival, which began purely as an intra-mural meet for only University of Wisconsin students, has now become the biggest indoor track and field meet in the state.

Girls to Choose

Sororities have been asked to enter teams of four men as usual in their relay race. Alpha Phi won the event last year. The first runner will travel one-sixth of a mile, the second will go a quarter, the third a half, and the captain will run a mile.

The list of scheduled events for college men includes a 40 yard dash, 40 yard high hurdles, 45 yard low hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump, 16 pound shot put, and pole vault.

Academies to Enter

Academy events will be a 40 yard dash, running high jump, and 12 pound shot put. Four men will each run one-sixth of a mile in the relay race for the Wisconsin state college championship. A high school relay championship race and an academy relay are also carded.

Inter-fraternity, inter-sorority, inter-company, and inter-literary society relays will give Badger athletes an opportunity to compete.

Prizes consist of gold, silver, and bronze medals in the open and academy events. Cups, banners, and gold watches are offered to winners in other competitions.

The Arlie Mucks traveling trophy will be awarded to the winner of the open shot put event. It is at present held by Guy M. Sundt.

Amherst Hockey Players to Play Nine Opponents

AMHERST—Nine games are listed in Amherst's hockey schedule. A trip invading New York State, where Hamilton and Cornell will be played on successive days, is a feature. The season opens when Dartmouth will be met at Hanover.

Amherst will adopt the six-man style of hockey play this year, and fortunately has six veterans who won their letters last year to rely upon. No coach has been appointed but the team will be assisted at various times by alumni who played hockey in college.

CHICAGO—De Paul university defeated the Lombard college basketball five, 31 to 30.

THE SOCIAL CRAZE

THE Board of Regents and the Board of Visitors have brought up the matter of social life in general at the university and the dance mania in particular.

The criticism offered is entirely justified.

It is discouraging that conditions have reached the point of state-wide notoriety. The silliness and futility of the system have been apparent to many on the campus for some time. Now the people of the state are taking notice and are speaking their minds.

The university is sorely suffering from an overdose of society. Social indulgences have passed the stage of pleasure and useful diversions to that of an end in themselves. Students are "going out" for society just as a few "go out" for studies and many "go out" for extracurricular activities.

The university is fast becoming a fashionable resort for the socially solid and those ambitious to attain eligibility to the circle of the socially solid. The university is getting cluttered up with students whose sole motive in attending is to be able to cut a big figure in society back home.

Inevitably the university is feeling the effects such a condition. Scholarship is dragging along. The dizzy whirl is turning the heads of a large minority of the students away from the real things of the university to visions of dress suits, abbreviated evening gowns, and jazz music that usually comes at a good price.

The authorities are talking about legislating on the subject. Some propose that the number of dances be slashed down. This might help. But the Terpsichore-maniacs would probably step out as often as ever, going the round of the few parties that would be authorized. This would mean congestion, and congestion might encourage a revival of the toddle, which thrived on reduced floor space.

Others propose that the scholarship of a group determine the number of dances to be held. If a good standard were required the students would not have time to hold parties. This proposal sounds like a skillfully concealed scheme to clamp the lid down on all parties. May the saints preserve us from such heresy!

Legislation might help, but legislation cannot abate the nuisance. This lies solely in the hands of the students. It lies in a recognition of the folly of excess and a determination down the line to return to sanity. It lies in a realization that this is an educational institution which rightfully demands first the faithful performance of academic work, and, second, the participation in some useful activity that will develop the character of the student and redound to the credit of the university. It lies in the proper appraisal of social life which is essential to all men and women, particularly men and women of the age of college students, but which loses its charm and usefulness when carried to absurd excess and blinds the eyes of its devotees to the real business of university life.

It is, therefore, primarily a question of student sentiment behind a movement to cut down the number of dances, to eliminate the parties altogether, to give first attention to the class room and to support enthusiastically the athletic, forensic, dramatic, and journalistic interests of the student body.

It is inconceivable how Wisconsin spirit can be interpreted in any other light.

PROTECT THE SKATERS

ICEBOATS and automobiles have been having a merry time on the lake recently. Some thrilling feats have been accomplished and as yet no fatalities have been reported. On several occasions the exuberance of sport has caused the occupants of some of these boats and automobiles to breeze into the midst of skaters, seriously endangering life and limb.

Some arrangement is needed to protect the lives of the skaters and at the same time preserve the rights of those who like to sail around in boats. A definite part of the lake should be marked off for the skaters and no boats or automobiles should be allowed within this area.

COLLEGE REPUTATIONS

THE deeds of our lives are as grass; the wind passes over them and they are gone." Such is the destiny of the acts of most of us—fading memory, occasional recollection, and then oblivion. Not even the evil that men do lives after them for long.

Thus the sad alumnus, returning to his alma mater after a decade of enforced exile, may muse to himself. There is no memory of the campus great of ten years gone by in the minds of the present generation of students. Football player, editor of The Daily, President of the Union, Michiganamua—their fame is dim no matter what they were. It may seem a strange thing that those who walk the campus now and judge all men by what they do on that same campus, ordinarily judge the graduate not by what he has done here, but by what he is doing in the world of affairs.

But it is ludicrous to ask that what a man does during his college career should make him immortal, or even cause his memory to be revered for long. He works for temporary reputation, for the value of meeting his fellows, for the experience which comes from doing the work of the campus, for the good of a campus which must have that work done.

Taken by and large, the experience the activities man gets is of far more use to him than any puny fame would be even though it should be lasting. College is an anteroom to life. If he can prepare himself, in this anteroom, to succeed in actual work of the outside world, what more should he ask? Is it a right and proper thing that college reputations face and die.—Michigan Daily.

BADGER CLUB

All university men and women are cordially invited to the meeting of the Badger club, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Dan Owen of New York city, secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, will be the speaker.

Y. W. VESPERS

Prof. M. S. Slaughter will speak at the Y. W. Vespers to be held Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in Lathrop parlors. Gladys Haskins is the leader for the evening.

ATHENAE MEETING

Athenae Literary society will meet tonight in 401 Bascom hall for revision of the constitution.

Y. M. Tutors Coach Students on Exams

"How to Prepare for an Examination," will be the topic taken up for discussion by tutors at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Printed material will be given out, and the topic will be taken up in detail at the tutoring classes.

The groups have been largely attended. Classes scheduled and tutors for tonight are: accounting, J. Currie Gibson, 409 Sterling hall, 7-8 and 8-9, "amortization and sinking funds"; English, L. C. Stevens, 360 Bascom hall, 7-8 and 8-9, "construction of sentences"; Mathematics, R. W. Babcock, 62 Bascom hall, 7-8 and 8-9, anything desired being taken up; French, J. H. Wilson, 301 Bascom hall, 7-8 and 8-9, Chapters 20-23; Spanish, R. C. Phillips, 212 Bascom hall, "important principles and idioms"; Chemistry, V. L. Bohmson, 253 Chemistry building, 7-8 and 8-9, "nitrogen and its compounds." Information concerning the discussions in mechanics can be obtained from Allen Halline.

Third Music Memory Contest

(A movement to acquaint Madison with the best music, through a contest in naming selections from hearing them. Open to everyone without fee or restrictions.)

EIGHTEENTH SELECTION
(For the week beginning January 15th.)

Ballade in A Flat, by Frederic Chopin (Born near Warsaw, Poland in 1810; Died in Paris, 1849)

Kinds of Popular Music.

There are two kinds of popular music. One kind is typified by the dance-music of the day: easy, fluent, perhaps melodious, but with no qualities of depth or significance to give it permanence. The other kind is made up of music classical in form and in beauty, but so perfectly expressing a musical idea as to make its appeal virtually universal, reaching the musical expert as well as the ordinary listener. In this sense Chopin's Ballade in A Flat is one of the supremely popular pieces of music of the world.

A Composer for Piano Only

The vogue and success of Chopin (ch like in sh; pin a French nasal not found in English) is the more remarkable that, alone among the great composers, he voluntarily restricted himself to compositions for a single instrument, the piano. Yet the restriction was perhaps not so ill-advised, for in Chopin's day the old piano of the Eighteenth Century was taking on both the sonorous power of the organ and the brilliance and effectiveness of the orchestra. Not capable of the variety of the organ or the orchestra, it had the advantage that almost anybody could purchase it and have it in his house; and piano compositions today reach a larger number of performers than any others. Chopin's intensified study of the piano rendered him a pre-eminent master of style, and there is no other composer who excels him in what we call the idiomatic character of his piano works.

An Innovator.

Chopin was a poetic genius of the rarest kind, unhampered by tradition and classical forms. He was a great inventor, not only as to the piano and its technique, but as to music itself. He is a supreme master of style, a fascinating melodist, and a most original manipulator of rhythm and harmony. His treatment of accompaniment in the left hand, his wide-spreading broken chords, his turns and grace notes, all marked a decided advance on the strictly classical school. It is noteworthy that he loved to set himself a prescribed form or rhythm, such as waltz, mazurka, polonaise, tarantelle, and the like, as if to see how infinitely he could vary within the limits set him. But on the other hand we have his preludes, rondos, scherzos and ballades, in which, as in a rhapsody or fantasia, his imagination was left to roam at will. In the Ballade, moreover, we find Chopin the innovator, for no other composer before him had used that title or form.

The Ballade, A Story.

The Ballades, as their name suggests, represent a sort of narrative style, and in the case of the present composition, we are told that Chopin had a definite idea in mind when he composed it. It was suggested by the poem called Undine, written by his Polish compatriot Mickiewicz. In folk-legend, the Undine is a wave-fairy who marries a mortal and receives a soul when her child is born; but she returns to the water if he angers her while on the water. Traces of this subject-matter are to be seen in the undulation of the broken octaves preceding the second subject, in the splashing waters suggested by the second half of the first subject, in the smooth flow of the initial theme; and there is storm and agitation in the working-out.

The Music Analyzed.

In form, the ballade is a sort of improvisation on two main subjects, both very beautiful, the second playing the chief role in the development section. The whole composition is a typical example of Chopin's mastery of all the varied possibilities of the pianoforte, and calls for the utmost virtuosity in the performer. He must have a speed which does not dim his clarity, a singing tone which is caressing rather than insistent, grace and delicacy combined with power, and a diversity of style which ranges from grave to gay. The A Flat Ballade is a masterwork by a master of the piano.

Dr. Frank Crane's Appreciation.

Chopin's music has always appealed to the poetical side of his listeners. This Ballade has been interpreted again and again. One of the most imaginative descriptions appeared on April 14th in the Chicago Daily News, from the pen of the noted writer on general topics, Dr. Frank Crane. He writes in part: "This composition is a picture of Paradise. That is, to me. I am no musician except in my heart, as I lack skill, and all I can boast is some tremendous loves. And this Ballade is one of them, perhaps the chiefest."

(Explanatory notes on the seventeen preceding selections will be found in Wednesday papers of the past sixteen weeks. Material on the nineteenth selection, Pizzicati, from Sylvia Ballet, will be printed in next Wednesday's paper. Copies of all issues may be found at the newspaper office.)

elementary law, physical geography, physiology and hygiene, and community life. The expense is to be defrayed by scholarships provided by worker's clubs, trade unions, and men and women who believe in the extension of education to industrial workers. The only requirements for admission are good character, good health, and the evidence of ability. Scholarships will be offered so that working people may leave their trade for a year and attend college.

WEATHER

The storm in the east is passing into the north Atlantic this morning. The rainfall was heavy in the north Atlantic states. Much colder weather follows east of the Mississippi. The temperature fell below zero in the upper Mississippi valley. The barometer continues high in the plateau region with zero temperatures in Utah. Light snow flurries are falling on the northern plains, where the temperature is rising.

Girl Jury Tries Soph on Charge of Stealing a Kiss

Carroll Robb '24 is to have the unique experience of facing a jury of 12 women. The crime wave which has noticeably increased within the last week has baffled the authorities, but—the cause has been discovered. A syncopated court has been in session at the city Y. W. C. A., in preparation for the musical comedy, "Springtime," to be presented at the Parkway a week from Saturday by the John Rogers Production company for the city Y. W. C. A.

Robb has been charged with carrying a lady's point lace handkerchief and stealing a kiss. He was brought before the court last night for the first time, and a jury consisting of 12 of Madison high's prettiest girls, presented this sentence:

"You stole a kiss, then come to us; Return it here, we'll make no fuss."

The jury consists of the following girls: Beatrice Schroeder, Bernice Johnson, Elizabeth Lyman, Janet Hamilton, Eleanor Wooster, Catherine Hancock, Viola Anderson, Dorothy Strass, Esther Solder, Helen Kraefe, Margaret Minch, and Gertrude Hovermon, chaperoned by Mrs. Charles Shomo.

Chess Enthusiasts Organize; Plan to Have Tournaments

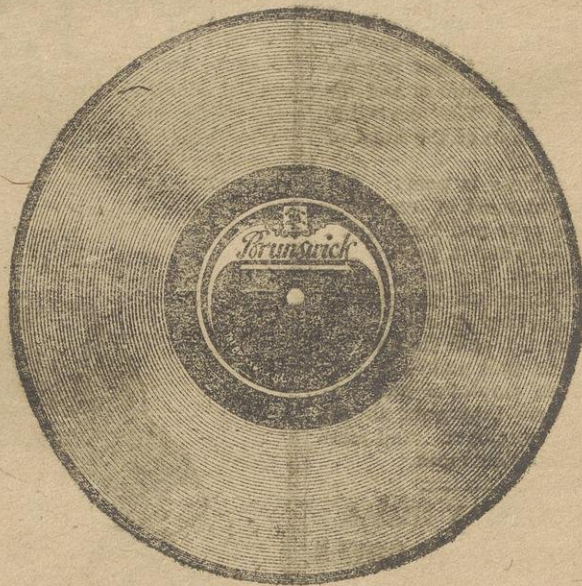

The University Chess club, representative of the chess players at the university, and open to all regular students who play the game, was organized Wednesday at the university Y. M. C. A.

Inter-scholastic tournaments and all-university tournaments are now being arranged. Novel features will be included on all of the club's programs, and chess playing members of the faculty will give instructions pertaining to the fine art of the game.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Jan. 18, 7 p. m., at the university Y. M. C. A. All chess players who are interested in this club are urged to attend.

GIRL WORKERS' SCHOOL IS IDEA OF BYRN MAWR

Bryn Mawr college intends to open a school for women in industry this summer and will co-operate with organized labor in and about Philadelphia in providing educational facilities for women and girls actually engaged in factory work. An eight-week course is planned, to consist of such subjects as English literature, history, economics, government, labor movements, industrial organization, el-

Society News

Student social activities are at a standstill from this week end until Prom festivities begin. Only two dances have been approved by the office of the dean for this week end, and they will both be held tonight.

In view of the fact that no dances are approved for Saturday night, no university women may have permission to be out later than 10 o'clock that evening.

Dance to Be Given

By Padger Staff

Shaded lights will decorate the Elizabethan room tonight for the initial dancing party to be given by members of the 1923 Badger staff. Plans have been made for a large number of guests, and it is expected that nearly one hundred couples will be present. Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Sumner have been invited to chaperon the party.

Greenblatt-Block Marriage

The approaching marriage of Miss Valeria Greenblatt to Isadore M. Block, both former students in the university, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Greenblatt. Miss Greenblatt was a junior in the university last year. Mr. Block, whose home is in Oshkosh, was a student here in the year 1917-18.

Pre-Prom Dance Will

Have Clever Stunts

Guests at the Pre-Prom dance this evening will be highly entertained by the variety, and cleverness of the several song, patter, and dance stunts which will be presented during the evening. Miss Mary Wendnagel and "Doc" Dorward, with George Dorsey, will give a short skit, and Miss Katherine McCaul, unaccompanied, will appear in a novelty act. Dave Mahoney and Jess Cohen will open the evening's program with songs and patter. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mosier have been invited to act as chaperons.

CLEAN TACTICS IS BUSINESS NEED—GILMAN

Professor Speaks on Methods at Rotary Club Yesterday

"Business Methods and Correct Practices," was the topic discussed by Prof. S. Gilman, before the Rotary club at the Park hotel yesterday.

"Clean cut business practices and standards are more necessary in the business world today than they have been for some time. Unfair competition can be beaten by the establishment of human relationship and a personal code of ethics. A business man can give his employees a mimeographed code of ethics, but unless the code is his own personal sentiment it will do no good."

"A business man will never get the right atmosphere in his business unless the people that are directly and indirectly under him feel that they are being treated right. There must be a leader in every business that dominates the situation and makes a definite stand on business standards of high nature. An organization of low standards cannot get the results that a real organization with a personal code of ethics and human relationship firmly established can."

"The man at the head of the business must put his whole character into his business. He must put his thumb print on his business and his employees will say, 'We certainly have a grand old man at the head of our organization.'"

"You say business is poor. Remember this, that most of our great inventors were poor and faced hard problems. It is when a problem is hard that we must put our entire character and force into the work."

Joe Ford, secretary of the French Battery Carbon Co. said that in his experience a firm that makes no distinction between employer and employee is the firm that gets ahead. He urged the employer and employee to get together more.

MEN TO PORTRAY IDEAS OF MODERN CO-ED DRESS

EVANSTON—Sorority women at Northwestern have asked fraternity men to dress dolls to be submitted in a contest. The prize will go to the fraternity which exhibits the doll that "best symbolizes the modesty of modern girls."

It is thought that some of the "symbolic" ideas will be astonishing to the co-eds. The plan was conceived to allow the men their much longed-for opportunity to offer constructive suggestions regarding women's dress.

Fritschler Chosen U. W. Legion Head

John C. Fritschler '24 of the Law school, who will receive his diploma from the hill this year, was elected commander of the University post of the American Legion for the coming year at a meeting last night in the Law building. Other officers elected were Ephriam L. Peterson, vice-commander; John Sheldon, adjutant; John J. Kolb, finance officer; Idrys Hughes, chaplain, and John C. Davis, sergeant-at-arms.

Lester W. Brann '22, retiring commander, urged the men to cooperate to their full power during the coming year in increasing the membership of the post.

The post will meet on the first and third Thursdays of each month in the future. It is planned to supply entertainment for every meeting. The next meeting will be held on the third Thursday of February because of the intervention of examinations and enrollment.

by electricity. Individual soap and brush holders, which assure absolute sterilization, and which were devised in the Mayo dental clinic, have been installed. Another feature of the operating rooms is the efficiency dental cabinet, which contains about a dozen trays. The apparatus for each patient is placed on a separate tray and as each is treated the tray is returned to the sterilizing room. This room is outfitted with an Auto-clever high pressure sterilizer which sterilizes by means of steam from a heated and prepared liquid heated by electricity.

Doctors Will Install New Modern Offices

Modern in every detail with efficiency sterilization the keynote are the new offices of the Drs. T. F. and G. F. Kennedy in the First National bank building. The arrangement and installing of the scientific apparatus, the decorations and color scheme were planned in detail by the Dental Efficiency Engineers, Harry J. Bosworth Co., of Chicago, represented by E. C. Cameron. The doctors will both have two operating rooms and will be able to take care of patients in record time. Special indirect lighting effects have been arranged throughout the operating rooms, which are finished in white enamel, blue decorations, and blue and white linoleum on the floors. Specially prepared oil cloth paper which can be washed has been used on the walls. Discipline Committee Takes Action; Report Since December 5

Since its report of December 5, the committee on discipline has taken the following actions:

An Agric freshman, found guilty of dishonesty in Chemistry 1a, must do ten extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the year.

An L. and S. sophomore, found guilty of dishonesty in English 30, must do ten extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the semester.

An L. and S. freshman, found guilty of dishonesty in English 1a, must do eight extra credits toward graduation, and is placed on probation to the end of the semester.

An L. and S. senior, found guilty of gross plagiarism in connection with an essay awarded a university prize, was indefinitely suspended from the university. On an appeal the committee on appeals sustained this action.

Three students were reprimanded for taking books from the libraries in improper manner; the student in one case signing the name of another person. The committee proposes to inflict severe punishment for such offenses in the future.

Kaderabek is New Square Club Head

A meeting of Square club was held at the Guild hall of the Grace Episcopal church Tuesday with a banquet and elections of new officers.

The new officers elected were: E. J. Kaderabek '23, president; Roy C. Phillips, grad, vice-president; H. V. Funk, secretary; F. E. Schmidt '23, treasurer; Ralph Ballietto '23, junior member of the board of trustees.

The banquet was prepared by the ladies of the Grace Episcopal church, and music was furnished by John Kolb 23, manager of the Badger orchestra.

Methodists Present Comic Opera Tonight

Arthur Sullivan's one act comic opera, "Box and Cox," and Paul Bliss' airy little cantata, "Pan on a Summer Day," was staged at the First Methodist church Wednesday night under the auspices of the choir.

Sergeant Bouncer, Box the printer, and Cox the hatter were impersonated by Joel Swenson, tenor; Dr. Frederick L. Browne, baritone, and Emerson Cole, bass. Mrs. Eugene Stewart, soprano; Mrs. Frederick L. Browne, mezzo, and Miss Merle Gibbs, contralto, sang in the cantata.

Ordinance to Extend Fire Limits Planned

An ordinance, proposing the extension of the fire limits, in a number of directions, is said to be under consideration by one or two aldermen. Building Commissioner Dean points out that the entire district around the Milwaukee road from Lake Monona to Murray st., should be included in the zone. On Henry st., frame buildings may be erected on one side of the street, while restrictions are placed on building on the other side, because the side toward the square is in the fire limits. The limits line runs down the middle of the street. The same is true in the foud, five and six hundred block on E. Washington ave. On Brearly st., the limits extends to the middle of the street between Williamson and Washington ave. The same is true on Williamson between Blount and Brearly, and on N. Hancock st. from E. Washington ave. to Lake Mendota.

HELEN KELLER HERE MONDAY

"Tell the blind and deaf, the cripples and those who suffer, that no handicap is too great for them to overcome. Tell them that beauty and joy does not come from without, but that it is born in the mind and heart."

This is the message of joy that Miss Helen Keller, blind, deaf and formerly dumb, has for all. When this famous woman began her tour of the Orpheum circuit, a short time ago, she said it would be a memory trip for her, that she has been in all the cities on the Orpheum circuit with the exception of one.

Miss Keller's engagement at the Orpheum theater, here, starting on Monday night, will be one of the season's most important bookings. She is accompanied on her tour by her lifelong teacher and friend, Mrs. Ann Sullivan Macy.

Hougen Discusses Bucher Process at Chemistry Meeting

The Bucher process for the conversion of sodium carbonate to sodium cyanide was explained to the members of the Chemistry club at a meeting last night by Prof. O. A. Hougen, of the chemical engineering department. Professor Hougen told of his war time experiences in a plant in Virginia where the Bucher process was tried out.

"This process has not yet proved successful because of the enormous cost of apparatus, labor, and material, nor has a suitable solvent been discovered. The cheap labor which was employed in the Virginian plant was the direct cause of several avoidable accidents," Professor Hougen said.

Kornhauser to Attend State Relief Conference

Alexander Kornhauser, president of the Alexander Kornhauser Co., will be among the Jewish leaders from Wisconsin who will attend a state conference at Milwaukee on Sunday, Jan. 22. Julius Rosenwald and General Abel Davis of Chicago will be among the chief speakers. Plans will be laid for raising Wisconsin's quota of $200,000 for the relief of Jewish war sufferers in central and eastern Europe.

Over 200 Register For Mayor's Body

Over 200 men had registered at the Madison employment office by noon today in the registration of the unemployed conducted by the mayor's committee. Of these registering the largest number were machinists with a considerable number of common laborers and men who worked on farms during the summer. Only a few drifters are registering, but a considerable of retired farmers, who while wanting work are not in need.

"The registration of the unemployed which is being conducted in Madison this week," said R. G. Knutson, the member of the industrial commission who acts as director of the employment offices of the state, "represents an attempt to get accurate information as to the number of men out of work and the cases of greatest need."

Bear Baiting Is Halted; Owners Held For Cruelty

Bear baiting which has developed into a popular sport among Kentuckians living in Forest county, Wis., ended today when A. E. Frederick, state humane officer, swore out complaints against Henry McMillion and John Conn of Crandon, charging cruelty to animals.

McMillion owned a bear which he announced would challenge any dog in the surrounding country. The first canine to accept the challenge and engage in battle on the fair grounds took the count on the first blow from Bruin, Mr. Frederick said here today.

The next, however, an air dale owned by Conn was said to have gone into the fight with all intentions of defeating his opponent, and winning the privilege of engaging in battle with a wildcat, which the victor was to fight. He was finally killed, but the wildcat-bear contest will not be staged, according to Mr. Frederick, who says that he is commencing court action against owners of the animals.

LIT SOCIETIES TO HOLD DEBATES IN FINAL MEETINGS

Tonight Ends Semester's Activities; Philos to Give Mock Trial

All of the hill literary societies will meet this evening for the last time this semester. Debates have been scheduled in all of the societies, and in some instances other special features have been added.

Hesperia will devote its entire program period to a consideration of the Four Power Pacific Treaty. This question will first be taken up as a topic by H. C. Walther '23. The question of whether this treaty should be ratified by the United States senate will be taken up in debate form. The affirmative will be composed of Harold Hartwig '25, L. P. Richmond '23, and Helmuth Kletzien '25. The negative will be discussed by L. M. Boyce '22, V. H. Roick '23, and Edward Sobey '25.

The question, "Resolved, that the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations should be extended on a national scale," will be taken up in Athenae's meeting. This question is virtually the same one that was debated in the last intercollegiate contest, and the club feels that a repeating debate will be all the more interesting. The affirmative will be discussed by W. R. Reitan '23, A. H. Nicholas '25, and G. H. Bell '25, while the negative will be debated by M. H. Steinberg '23, Edgar Kapp '24, and Eugene Meyer '25. Herman Wendroff '22 will also discuss the results of the Disarmament conference.

Philomathia will hold a mock trial. The proposition to be brought before the court has to do with the stealing of a joint from the Athenae rooster by a Philomathia team. This trial was scheduled for last week but was necessarily postponed. The attorney for the prosecution says that the postponement has enabled the rooster to recover sufficiently to defend himself.

The program of Philomathia will also include a debate on the question, "Resolved, that a pass or fail grading system be adopted at the University of Wisconsin." The affirmative will be upheld by G. Tomlinson '24, J. Sarles '23, H. Sporer of R. Ludden '24, M. Stangel '25, and J. Harrington '25.

Orph Has Funny Spots This Week; Dance Act Good

By H. C. T.

If you like to laugh and don't mind just a few old jokes, go to the Orpheum this week. Although the show is good in most respects, the impression remains that if the headliner—"Melo Danse"—came last, things would run more smoothly.

The Melvilles

Colored lantern slides projected on a woman who poses. A good start.

Wilson and Wilson

Two black men who make the usual disappearing remarks and get away with unusual ease.

Melo Danse

Song—dance—song—dance entitled "A Whiff of the Follies." The dancing is very well done and the costuming is consistent as well as varied. With the aid of a green spot-light a loose jointed person put on an eccentric number that was quite successful. The girl and the man who dance have good coordination, but what we started to say was that this act would go better if it came last.

Al Abbott

Half a dozen hats, an accordion, and a man make up a burlesque on the ultra-rural. Abbott's novelty songs are entertaining and his method of presentation quaint.

Yorke & King

Up-to-date vocabulary in an ancient setting—the name of the act is "The Old Family Tin-Type"—is an offering that surprised. Evidently the man and the woman have learned the psychology of humor for nearly all their stuff had the necessary incongruity and the essential nonsense. They are good.

The Gellis

Two and a half men who are real acrobats. Such whole-hearted applause is drawn by few offerings.

The Orchestra

Special mention is due Mr. Skelton and his group for the way they handled a very difficult first-night, since most of the acts had intricate cues and directions.

4 Electric Furnaces Built For Research

Four types of electric furnaces are being constructed for use during the second semester in the course in electric furnaces of the department of chemical engineering of the university college of engineering. All of them were designed in the department and constructed at the university largely by students.

A special resistor electric muffle furnace which will stand a temperature up to 3,600 degrees Fahrenheit, is unique in that it combines all the advantages of a gas furnace with the higher temperature and temperature control possible in an electric furnace. This furnace is fitted for investigation of refractory materials, and heat treatment of metals over the highest temperature range. As it will operate continuously at 2000 degrees F. with only four kilowatts, at a cost of but 6 cents an hour or one-fifth as much as it costs to operate a gas furnace under similar conditions, this furnace is economical to use.
