HE NEVER CARES TO WANDER FROM HIS OWN FIRESIDE.

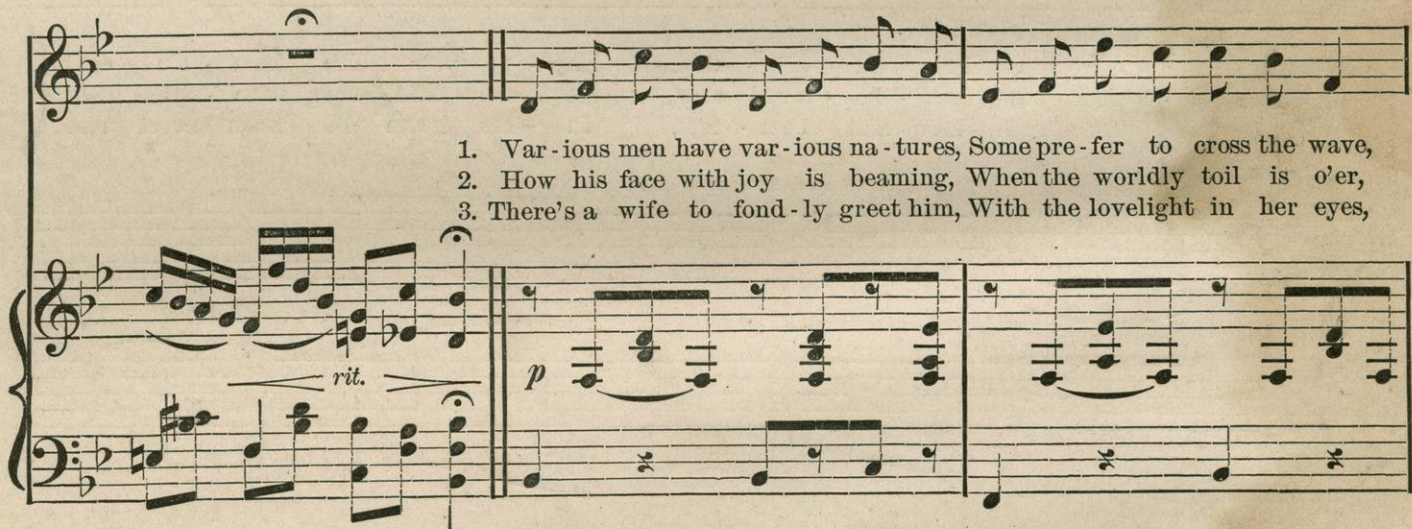

By FELIX McGLENNON.

Arr. by MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

Andante moderato.

mf

1. Var - ious men have var - ious na - tures, Some pre - fer to cross the wave,
2. How his face with joy is beaming, When the worldly toil is o'er,
3. There's a wife to fond - ly greet him, With the lovelight in her eyes,

O'er the world they like to trav - el, For fresh scenes they seem to crave,
As with ea - ger step he hast - ens, To his hum - ble cot - tage door, There're the chil - dren 'round their dad - dy, Home to him is Par - a - dise!

To their birth - place some cling fond - ly, And their hearts are in one spot,
 Lit - tle chil - dren, run to meet him, Plead ing for a fond ca - ress,
 Ba - by's arms are round him cling - ing, Ba - by's lips to his are pressed,

See the man whose home is E - den, Hap - py in his hum - ble cot!
 There a - mongst his well - be - loved ones, He can find true hap - pi - ness!
 All is peace and love and com - fort, In his home he finds sweet rest!

Chorus.

He nev - er cares to wan - der from his own fire - side! He nev - er cares to ram - ble or to roam;..... With his children on his knee, He's as hap - py as can be, For there's no place like home, sweet rall.

home!..... no place like home, sweet home!.....
