MANY TEAMS TO COMPETE IN RELAY RACES

"W" Dance Friday Night to Precede Carnival on Saturday

Three Middle West military academies have already entered teams in the prep school relay races that will be a new feature of the fourteenth annual Relay Carnival, to be held Saturday night at 7 o'clock in the gym annex. The carnival was postponed from Friday to Saturday night to bring the academy teams into the competition. St. John's, Delafield, Wis., Shattuck, Fairbault, Minn., and Culver, Culver, Ind., are the military schools that have already agreed to send relay teams.

The "W" club dance, usually held after the carnival, will be staged Friday night at the Studio and Woman's building, since the enlarged program for the carnival will need more time to complete it. Arrangements for the dance are in the hands of "Moose" Hanson, '19, and the ticket sale will open today in the Candy shop. Tickets will sell at $1.50, including war tax, and a limit of 300 has been placed on the attendance. "W" men will receive complimentary tickets.

Two high schools, 24 fraternities, sororities, and three literary societies have entered for the relay races. The high schools are Madison high and Wisconsin high. More entries may be received before tomorrow noon, the time set for closing. All fraternities and sororities must have their teams listed by this time.

The sororities will be represented in the relay events by men of the university. Each organization was given the privilege of choosing its own team captain from the several cross country and track team stars and these men will decide the personnel of their teams. There will be four men on each of the squads. The starter will run a half mile, the second man one-sixth mile, the third one-fourth mile and the last will race a mile.

One squad, the Achoth team, is made up entirely of famous alumni track athletes. The captain is Arlie Shardt, '17, and he has chosen for his colleagues "Doc" Elsom, '19; Urech, '18; and Peterson, '18. Shardt is a celebrated ex-Badger distance man who holds the university record in the mile. He has run that distance in 4:22. That he is still going strong is shown by the fact that only last Friday in a two mile race held at Chicago, he pressed Joey Ray, the famous amateur distance runner, for first place.

Elsom was captain of the Cross Country team last year and Urech and Peterson are both former var-

HAREFOOT HOLDS TRYOUTS TONIGHT

An important change in the announcement of the Haresfoot club regarding chorus tryouts was made when the place of tryout was changed from Music hall to the concert room at Lathrop. The tryouts will begin promptly at 7:00 p. m. All men competing for chorus parts who were notified by the Haresfoot club to appear for further tryouts, as well as men who have not hitherto reported at any meeting and who desire to take part either as a principal or a chorus member in "Mary's Lamb," will appear at the same time at Lathrop tonight.

PRESIDENT BIRGE ASKS SUPPORT OF RELIGIOUS MEET

Gives Endorsement to Conference to Be Held Here March 4-7

"The Religious conference next week will bring before the students matters of first importance both to the university and to individuals," said President Birge in endorsing the all-university meet to be held here March 4 to 7.

"The relations of higher education and religion have been intimate ever since the middle ages," continued the president, "and this intimacy, both official and unofficial, has been both natural and inevitable. For higher education and religion are the two great agencies which aim to shape conduct and modify character by long range motives which reach into the distant future."

President Birge expressed himself in favor of this movement to bring before the student body the claims of the higher and better things of life through the agency of the national leaders and speakers obtained for the meet.

"Every university student should deliberately and intelligently take a position toward religion, as he has done toward higher education. The nature of that position must depend on himself; but he can not honorably escape the duty of determining that position. Our conference this coming week is to aid him in this duty."

Under the direction of the general chairmen and the central university committee plans for the meet are rapidly going forward. It is now certain that President M. L. Burton of the University of Michigan; President Ozora Davis of Chicago Theological seminary; Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago; Miss Bertha Conde, national student Y. W. C. A., secretary; and A. J. "Dad" Elliott will be among the speakers.

If the committees' attempts are successful there will also be one of the leading representatives of the Hebrew church. Plans are being made for a monster choir representing all the city churches and all the musical organizations in school to furnish music for the convocations.

Two new speakers have been obtained for the conference. They are Dr. A. R. Todd of Chicago and Dr. E. S. Tittle of Evanston, Ill., both of national fame as speakers and religious leaders. Dr. Todd was formerly a professor of sociology at Minnesota university and is now engaged in social service work in Chicago. He will speak Friday evening on "Women in Industry." Dr. Tittle is university pastor at Northwestern university. He brings with him the richness of a two years' experience with the American Expeditionary forces.

DR. HOLMES GIVES ADDRESS TONIGHT

"From Monarchy to Democracy in Industry" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community church of New York, under auspices of the Wisconsin Social Science club in the university gymnasium Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Prof. M. C. Otto, of the philosophy department, will preside.

Dr. Holmes was the speaker at an all-university convocation in the university gymnasium three years ago. He is a powerful lecturer, being recognized as one of New York's most effective speakers. The meeting is free and open to the public. An open discussion will follow at the close of the address.

BADGER TOSSERS IN HARD FIGHT TO TUMBLE OHIO FIVE, 31 TO 27

Y. W. C. A. AIMS TO REACH 1,000 MARK

Set Goal in Drive to Increase Membership of Organization

In order that the university Y. W. C. A. may send its full quota of delegates to the national convention to be held in Cleveland during April, the organization is making a drive for membership today and tomorrow. The goal is 1,000 members, and women will be on duty both today and tomorrow to receive memberships. No dues are taken, membership being attained by enrolling the names of the women.

A convocation for all women students is to be held Friday noon 12:45 in the concert room of Lathrop to discuss the questions to be taken up in the national convention in April. The principal one is the matter of membership in the association. Under the present rules, Catholics, Unitarians, and Christian Scientists are excluded, and a movement is on foot to expand the membership until it is on a personal basis, excluding no one. Both sides of the question will be discussed by competent leaders and authorities in the Y. W. C. A.

In order that Wisconsin may have a representative vote at the convention, the membership is to be raised to 1,000. Each delegate to the convention goes representing 100 women, each delegate having an individual vote in deciding the question of membership.

GREEN BUTTON TO GIVE 'MOCK PROM'

All university women may vote for Prom chairman for the Mock Prom to be given by the members of Green Button as an opening feature for freshman week-end, Saturday, Feb. 28, from 3 until 5 o'clock in Lathrop hall. Candidates in the field are Dorothy Bacon, the "Lounge Lizard," Joy Shadbolt, the "Athlete," "Billy" Bresler, the "Jazz Hound," and Eileen Smith, the "Phi Bete." Each candidate will give a short campaign speech at the beginning of the dance, after which the voting will take place.

"The voting will be absolutely on the level," stated Marjorie Severance, president of Green Button. "There will be no stuffed ballots allowed, but if you want your candidate elected, you must be there promptly."

The grand march will begin as soon as the leader has been elected, and will be followed by a variety of Prom features and stunts. Prom favors will be given out during the afternoon and refreshments of ice cream and cookies will be served.

The tickets for the Mock Prom are in the form of a Green Button tag and are on sale in Lathrop hall for 25 cents. The committee heads in charge of arrangements for the party are: stunts, Isabel Capps; publicity, Gertrude Heller; tickets, Cleo Parsley; and floor committee, Mildred Klann.

SELECT NOMINEES FOR W. A. A. POSTS

The results of the nominations for officers for W. A. A. are as follows: president, Marcia Hinkins, Margaret Shephard, Margaret Swift; secretary, Auta Lyman, Mabel Winter, Grace Gleerup; treasurer, Adreana Dexter, Dorothy Kropf, Sada Buckmaster, and Louise Fritsche. The elections will take place in two weeks.

Stop Attack of Buckeyes Early, But Margin is Close

Wisconsin mounted another notch in the conference basketball standing last night by a hard earned victory over Ohio State five, 31 to 27.

The playing of both teams was erratic, with flashes of scrappy, brilliant attacking livening up the periods of slow play. The Badger five had less snap and dash as a result of Saturday's hard battle with Illinois, but superior teamwork pulled the tossers out on top.

Teams Guard Close

Close guarding featured the play of both quintets, and Captain Knapp, who on Saturday repeated his conference record of ten field goals, was held to two baskets.

"Tony" Zulfer was the individual star of the encounter, ringing the basket for seven markers, as many as his four mates gathered together. Knapp, Taylor, and Caesar each caged two baskets and Weston contributed one.

Wisconsin's supremacy in scoring from the field was offset to some extent by Francis' accurate throwing for the Buckeyes from the foul line. The Ohio forward caged 11 free throws out of 13 attempts, while Taylor, Zulfer, and Knapp only counted three points from ten tries.

Ohio Gets 8 Goals

The Badgers registered 14 field goals to eight for the Ohioans, and in the second half held the visitors to two baskets. Both teams tightened up in defensive play in the second period, the Badgers leading the session by two points, 12 to 10, as they led at the close of the first half, 19 to 17. The entrance of "Chic" Harley, famed football star, into the Buckeye lineup in the last five minutes of play failed to boost the visitors' stock in the face of impenetrable defense of the Badgers.

In the lanky Kennedy at center, Ohio had an advantage in the tin-off and started the scoring soon after the first whistle. Receiving the ball after the jump, Fogle caged one from in front of the basket, but Zulfer looped one in from under a few moments later. Taylor missed a free throw, but Francis pitched one in on his first chance. Fogle shot a high one from the side, and Ohio had the lead, 5-2. Zulfer again came through with a pretty shot from under the basket. Francis tossed another from the foul line and the score stood 6-4.

Keep Lead After Start

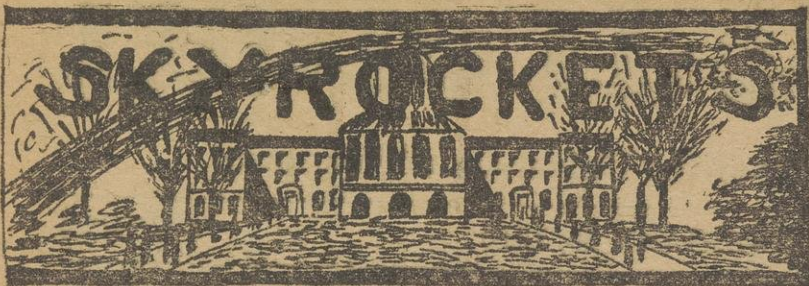

At the jump-off the Badgers worked the ball to Knapp, who looped one from the side, and Taylor shot a long one a few seconds later giving Wisconsin the lead, 8-6, which she kept by a narrow margin until the final gun.

After ten minutes of play, in which the Badger five was fighting hard to take the offensive from the Buckeyes, Nemecek entered the Ohio lineup at right guard and

SEYMOUR RESIGNS CARDINAL BOARD JOB

The resignation of Whitney N. Seymour as president of the Cardinal Board of Control was accepted by the board at its first regular meeting of the semester yesterday afternoon. Lowell J. Ragatz, vice-president, succeeds as president, and under the student senate rule providing for the filling of board vacancies, Owen L. Scott, managing editor of the Cardinal last year, was elected vice-president of the board.

TEA-DANCING

The Old-Timer Speaks—
"The good old U has lost its pep,
Twill soon, I fear, be lying dead.
Tea-dancing made it lose its rep,
The shimmy and the vile one-step.
The old traditions have not been kept
From manly sports the studes are led;

The good old U has lost its pep,
Twill soon, I fear, be lying dead."

THE Young Co-Ed—

"WHO wants to sit out in the cold
And watch a silly football game?
I'd rather much do something bold,
Like dancing; and tight my partner hold,
Like the bunny walked and the jelly rolled.

Athletics and such are too darned
tame,
Who wants to sit out in the cold
And watch a silly football game?"

The Mis-led Man Speaks Out—

"Lord knows I'd like to do what's right
And back my brothers in a scrap.
But, gosh, the women! They're a fright.
They'd dance all afternoon and night,
And we can't give 'em up, by a gol-durned sight.
And she will not skate in an evening wrap.
Lord knows I'd like to do what's
right,
And back my brothers in a scrap."

Father Time—

"Before the women came to school

Wisconsin's spirit was widely known.

But now most every man's a fool
And follows women's slightest rule
And-dancing while the tea grows cool.

What a different aspect now is shown.

Why, before the women came to school,

Wisconsin's spirit was widely known."

An order forbidding them to go

A Leap Year Romance

How could you do it Mabel? Tell us the secret. How do you make them love you so. These questions were asked yesterday in an exclusive co-ed gathering in Lathrop Hall. Well, says Mabel, I'll tell you. It was just this way. Dick and I went to the show the other night you know. After the show, Dick, as usual, asked me if I didn't want something to eat. I told him no, that late meals didn't agree with me. Then he asked if I didn't want some candy or something and I says no, I was getting tired of candy. You see I knew Dick just wanted to buy something and he had just been telling about the high cost of living, so I thought maybe he was worried by it. Well, as we were walking down State street I saw a crispette sign, so I says to Dick, what are crispettes? and Dick says, I don't know. Let's buy some. So he bought me two packages, which we ate on the way home. Gee! Dick says. You are a wonderful girl to get me to buy those dandy crispettes, it makes me want to hug you. Well, I says, you can if you want to. So he did and when he had his wonderful strong arms around me I looked up into his eyes and says, Oh, Dick, this is so sudden. Dick says, Oh Mabel, is it really true that you would be my wife. And I says, sure as your life I would Dick. So he kissed me and says, that's a bargain, and don't you know—Dick's kisses are just like those crispettes—so crisp and sweet you just want more of them all the time.

Uh-huh, crispettes are on sale down at the corner of State and Gorham. Get your fellow to buy you some of them and see what he does. They are really so different.

FOR A YEAR-ROUND COACH

"ZUPPKE Starts Spring Gridiron Workout," says a headline in the Daily Illini. February—and Illinois begins practice with over a hundred men out.

Such an early start may seem to many a little premature and unnecessary, but Illinois evidently believes in the old adage that the early bird catches the worm. Its theory cannot be said to be without foundation, for the Illini carried off the conference title last fall.

It wouldn't be a bad idea for Wisconsin to adopt a little of Illinois' initiative—or more correctly stated, it would be fortunate if Wisconsin had the facilities to follow a similar course. But when the state fails to make adequate provision for athletics, Wisconsin finds herself considerably handicapped when she bucks up against those schools that have enjoyed the privileges of proper accommodations and an all-year-round coach. Wisconsin is the one big contender in the conference that has not an all-year coach. Chicago retains her Stagg, Minnesota her Williams, Ohio her Wilce, and Michigan her Yost.

These schools recognize the necessity of keeping the coach throughout the year and accordingly make such provisions. It is unreasonable to expect that in a few months a man can whip a squad into the same class as that team that has been drilled all through the spring.

Yet, that is what Wisconsin's powers-that-be think. They fail to appreciate the economy, the necessity of maintaining a regular coach throughout the year. One can easily understand that a man who is allowed to devote his entire time to football has a chance of turning out a team that is superior to the team of that man who is forced to spend most of the year in some other employment.

Another gridiron season approaches. Illinois has started spring practice. When will Wisconsin start to talk football?

RAPPING THE TEA DANCERS

EDWARD S. JORDAN, '05, president of the Jordan Motor Car company, and a phenomenal business success, has sounded the death knell of our apparent immunity from the wiles of "tea dancing" and "jazz." His remarks were directly in line with the broadsides which have recently been hurled by a number of western universities against the onslaught of this new dominating diversion.

"How long," queries Mr. Jordan, "will the red-blooded men of Wisconsin, fine, brawny fellows who went to bat for the United States in the war stand for the substitution of tea dancing for athletics?" It is assumed, then, that the trouble lies with the men.

The Cardinal has not become addicted to the use of ouija boards, but feels quite secure in confirming the prophecy of a contemporary as to the best method of eliminating the evil.

It may be true that some avenues of our college life are still outside the pale of the influence of "jazz;" yet the craze seems so ingrained and prevalent as to need united action in order to accomplish its abolition or diminution.

In Madison, if anywhere, the pleasurable offerings of nature throughout the year are unequalled at any other American university. But alas! the modern duo seeks its amusement over the fragile tea cup and to the tune of "jazz."

Mr. Jordan's well put question can be answered quite correctly at Wisconsin, as elsewhere, by reiterating: "When the man who indulges replaces a jelly-bean back-bone with the real stuff—when he regards real work, in and out of the classroom, and not fussing, as coming first."

The BULLETIN BOARD

NOTICE ON SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS

Special examinations will be held in March for the benefit of those who were prevented by illness or quarantine from taking the regular final examinations of last semester. This will be the only opportunity to remove incompletes which will be offered to such students; if they do not take these examinations they will be conditioned or failed as their case may require. Dates and hours will be announced March 4, 1920. All who wish to take the final examinations at this time are instructed to notify the secretary of the faculty, 151 University hall, in writing, on or before noon of Monday, March 1, indicating the course or courses in which examination is desired.

Attention is called to the fact that only those students will be admitted to these examinations who were excused by the clinic from the regular examinations, and that these examinations are not open to students who were conditioned in the first semester.

M. H. HAERTEL,
Secretary of the Faculty.

BADGER SKIERS ROMP OFF WITH MEET, 776-536

Minnesota Artists Are No Match for Local Talent

Wisconsin trotted off with the laurels in the Badger-Gopher ski tourney Monday by the decisive score of 776 to 536. Sverre Strom, sophomore in the Engineering school, was high point man for Wisconsin, with a score of 182. Strom also starred in the standing jump, making 78 feet and landing perfectly. His victory was a surprise as he was not in the best of condition because of injuries received in the Illinois state meet at Cary a week ago.

A number of bad falls were experienced by the jumpers. Hans Gude, one of the Badgers' best men, was considerably bruised up. McKay of the opposing five suffered a severe sprain of the right ankle in his second jump.

A call for voluntary women entries from the crowd was answered by two students attired in feminine apparel who cavorted foolishly for a few minutes and received the approbation of the spectators.

The ten contestants, five from each institution, and the scores made by each are as follows:

Strom, W.	182
Ihlen, W.	130
Norberg, W.	164
Christianson, W.	150

city track men. Shardt will run the mile; Elsom, the half mile; Urech, the quarter; and Peterson, the one-sixth mile distance.

On each fraternity team are entered six men who will run one lap each.

Much competition is expected in the individual events in which are entered both the varsity and freshmen cinder stars. Especially has much interest been aroused over the shot put competition which promises to be very strong, for the winner of this event will receive and hold for one year the traveling "Mucks Trophy." This cup was presented by Arlie Mucks last year for the purpose of promoting competition in the shot put event among the athletes of Wisconsin. It was held for the first time by Guy Sundt, who will try for it again next Saturday night. Other contestants entered are Kelsev, Herzfeld, Bethke, Sears, Schildhauer, Gude, Noble and Tobell.

Arlie Mucks, '17, is a former Badger athlete who holds the world's indoor shot put record and represented the U. S. in the Olympic games last year in that event.

Awards of cups and other prizes will be made to winners of various events.

TIGHTWADS OR GRAFTERS?
To the Editor of The Cardinal:

What kind of men have we here at Wisconsin? Are they tightwads or is their main object in life grafting? They are not giving their university the proper support nor its women a square deal. There seems to be a movement on foot at present to eliminate bad spirit and crooked play from university activities. The result of figures alone shows that the men do not do their part and are making money off of the university body. Why not take these facts into consideration?

S. G. A. is supposed to receive 50 per cent of the profits from all university mixers. The average profit from one mixer alone is $150 and usually there are five mixers given during the year. This would make the total year's profit $750. Last year the amount turned over to S. G. A. as their half of the profits from the entire number of Union mixers for the year was $187.61. No S. G. A. representative has ever seen the books of account. Are they getting a square deal? Figure it out for yourself.

In regard to supporting school institutions, is there anything that is more important than our yearbook, the Badger? Why should men not support it as heartily as the girls? It was found at the beginning of the year that in order to finance the book all organizations would have to pay for their pages. All such organizations have been asked to comply with the request. Who supports the book? Mortar Board, the girls' honorary society corresponding to White Spades and Iron Cross, agreed to pay without raising any objections. On the other hand, White Spades, Iron Cross, and Star and Arrow, all organizations having a larger membership than Mortar Board, refused to pay for their pages! As one of the arguments White Spades men have been known to say, "The editor of the Badger is a White Spades man, therefore White Spades should have a free page." Inter-sorority bowling pays for their page, but inter-fraternity bowling refuses, saying they should have their page for nothing. Why should not all inter-fraternity athletics pay for their space? They are not all-university activities nor of all-university interest.

In the university drives where there has been competition between men and women, the men have fallen down on their quota. Even last year during war time there were 50 per cent more men than women in school. This year there are 100 per cent men than women. Have we not heard men say, "I did not subscribe because the girl who asked me was not good looking?" Is not this fine spirit and co-operation from the men of our university? In a co-educational school why do the men leave the women to play the straight game and give the strongest support? Is there not something radically wrong with the men?

LUCILLE E. CHASE.
FRANCES RYAN.

Editor's note—The charge relative to the share of profits from mixers received by S. G. A. is not substantiated by the facts, as the following statement from the treasurer of the Union board shows:

"It has been customary for the Union board from time to time to pay over to the S. G. A. one-half of the net profits from mixers. There has been some discussion relative to the amount of this sum, and Union board wishes to set out these figures which were audited by E. J. Brown, financial adviser and auditor, on June 16, 1919. The books are open for inspection by any or all students at any time upon application to the treasurer.

ON UNIVERSAL TRAINING

To the Editor of The Cardinal:
I do not presume to speak for the 1,300 bonus students at the U. W., but as long as you have expressed a desire for a discussion of the question of universal military training I can give you the opinion of ONE bonus student.

Sherman said, "War is hell," and we boys that served across the sea agree perfectly with Sherman. But you say, what does "war" and "hell" have to do with universay, or compulsory military training? Just ask one of the dough-boys who never got across, and if he tells you the truth he's got to admit that he too got a sample of "hell." Just the mere fact that men have been in a position where they were herded like so many cattle is "hell" enough for anybody. I say away with your "hell" unless you have war along with it—awa with your compulsory military training in time of peace!

We boys went across to fight Prussianism, but I for one am just as ready to fight Prussianism over here as I was over there. Compulsory military training is a scheme to Prussianize America. It is the same sort of plan that Bismarck persuaded Germany to adopt, and it is enforced by exactly the same kind of arguments. Are the supposedly intelligent citizens of the U. S. going to copy after the Prussians in this matter? Well, we know what happened to the Prussians, and we are indeed fools if we go and tumble into the same pit.

There are other more or less minor reasons—compared to the Prussian argument—why universal military training is undesirable. It would cost about one billion of dollars annually—an unnecessary financial burden to lay upon the American people who are already weighed down with a war debt of 30 billions. It would waste months of valuable time of the young men at a most important stage in their lives. Also the sentiment of the people as a whole—the fathers and mothers—is against compulsory military training unless it is absolutely essential to the safety of the nation.

What America needs is not compulsory military training, but a strong, comprehensive program of education, Americanization and the teaching of democracy. The carrying of arms, either by the individual or by nations, depends upon the false theory that might makes right. The highest thought of the world knows that eventually RIGHT, not might, shall triumph. To that end let us all line ourselves up according to that principle. Instead of advocating a "preventative" which will more likely lead to war, let us rather get behind the League of Nations which is the best antidote for war that has been discovered up to the present time.

ELBERT D. DISSMORE.

BADGER FIVE DOWNS
OHIO TEAM, 31 TO 27

Fogle took Kennedy's place at center. Zulfer and Francis scored in succession, and then Caesar brought a roar from the crowd by dribbling the ball almost the length of the floor and dropping it through the net. Wisconsin now began to force the play more steadily and kept the board ringing with shots. Zulfer and Wirthwein both speared the basket at the end of the half, ending the period in favor of Wisconsin, 19-17.

Check Attack in Second
The Badgers solved their opponents' plays from the start of the second half, and the jump-off left the ball in their possession more often. Knapp led his mates in a fast passing game, and Weston opened the scoring with a neat throw. Taylor caged a free throw and Knapp made his second field goal. Wisconsin called time out with the count standing 24 to 19. An exchange of fouls and baskets by Zulfer, Slyker, and Caesar brought the score to 29-22, and Wisconsin again called time out. Francis tossed in another from the foul line, and Harley went in for Wirthwein. Francis added another gift shot, but Zulfer returned with a basket. In the last few minutes the Badgers played a clever passing game that completely baffled the Buckeyes, who resorted to long and wild shots at the basket. Referee Young called a foul on Caesar as the gun sounded, and Francis' unerring eye in the free throw raised the final score to 27 against the Badgers' 31. The lineup and summaries:

WISCONSIN, 31 OHIO, 27
Knapp..... rf Francis
Taylor..... lf Wirthwein
Zulfer..... c Kennedy
Weston..... rg Fogle

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

W. E. Meanwell, who coached the Badger basketball team for six successful seasons, is again winning laurels as coach of Missouri university, which has just scored its fourteenth successive victory by defeating Kansas. Meanwell coached the Wisconsin basketball teams from 1911 to 1917. During this time Wisconsin had four conference championship teams, two of which were undefeated.

It will be held Saturday afternoon from 3 until 5 in Lathrop.

Wisconsin Girl Gardener

Miss Ruby L. Hawn, who graduated from the College of Agriculture last June, is doing landscape gardening in California, according to word received by friends of Miss Hawn who are now in the university.

This Badger girl might be called "the woman with the hoe," only that the work of mowing lawns, cleaning up neglected corners, pruning, watering and cultivating, caring for the potted plants on verandas and balconies, and supplying bouquets for the sunroom, library, and lobbies of the hotel, keeps her so busy, there's no time left to putter around with a hoe. She and her assistant put in about eight hours a day—unless it rains.

Movie Hoax Spoils Vamp Ambitions of Fair Ohio Co-eds

COLUMBUS, O.—The University of Ohio almost lost some of its most talented fair members when they signed their names for services in the movie world before three judges, whom they thought to be of the Artercraft Motion Picture company.

The girls had been called by long-distance and told of the arrival of these so-called solicitors, so if they were interested in acting they might have a chance to show their merit at a given place before these important men.

The time arrived with all parties present, the girls anxious to hear of their fame and the wonderful actors telling of the allurements, possibilities and opportunities of the stage. After all arrangements had been made and the girls had signed their names, they found that some clever college boys had been playing a joke on them, and instead of listening to beguiling actors of an unknown world, they had been absorbing the imaginative stories of just ordinary men in everyday life.

MEET OF DEANS STRESSES NEED OF DORMITORY

Many Problems Concerning Student Activities Discussed

Some of the most important and interesting problems concerning the conditions and life of university men were considered at the conference held this last week-end in Champaign, Ill., attended by the deans of men of ten of the large state universities of the middle-west.

A round-table discussion was held on each of the subjects, giving the deans an opportunity to express their ideas and to hear new ones. Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men at Wisconsin acted as president of the conference, and Dean Louis Strauss, Michigan, was secretary.

Dean Strauss of Michigan led the discussion on the "Housing Problems of Men," and it was in this connection that the only resolution was passed. The members of the conference went on record as recommending dormitories for men, to be built and maintained by the universities.

A discussion about "Student Standards of Scholarship, Personal Integrity and Character," was led by Dean Stanway Colter, of Purdue University. Dean Thomas A. Clark, who is an authority on fraternity conditions throughout the country, discussed that situation. Dean Clark believes that fraternity standards have deteriorated since 1916, and that a serious effort of national and active officials is necessary to get these standards back to where they were.

Prof. Rietz of Iowa, who represented Dean Robert Rienow of that university, reported on a survey of health supervision system of students. He disclosed in this survey, that Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa lead in this work.

Dean Nicholson of Minnesota university spoke on the different methods of student support of activities in various institutions, but the proposed plan of taking a fee of $5 from every student entitling them to most of the student activities, was opposed because of the objections of the athletic departments, which find it difficult to take care of the seating situation.

Dean Clark of Illinois, who, with his assistant, Dean Garman of Illinois, acted as host, was elected president for the year. Dean Goodnight was elected secretary for a three year period, and Prof. Rienow of Iowa was elected third member of the executive committee.

NEAR EAST RELIEF DRIVE UNDER WAY

Quota of $14,500 Set as Goal to Be Reached by Madison

The big drive for $14,500, which is Madison's quota to be raised for the Near East Relief fund, is now on. Prof. L. S. Smith, college of engineering, is chairman for the university in the campaign.

"Hunger knows no armistice" is a slogan adopted in the national campaign, and it well expresses the terrible conditions existing in Armenia at the present time as a result of the barbaric cruelties of the Turks.

"The need is so appalling that we cannot permit any obstacle to stand in the way of accomplishing our goal in any county in the state," said Mrs. E. H. Byrne, chairman of the woman's organizations. "We are expecting every county ultimately to make 100 per cent of its quota."

University contributions will be credited toward the quota for Madison. Pledges for $60 each are sought by the various chairmen, since this is the sum necessary to save a child from starvation for a year and is made in the form of monthly pledges of $5.

PROF. JASTROW GIVES ADDRESS ON OCCULTISM

Talks to Large Audience on Mysteries of Thought

"Occultism and Its Survivals," was the subject of the first of a series of lectures given by Professor Jastrow of the University of Wisconsin to a crowded audience yesterday afternoon in University hall.

"Intellectual and emotional thought have characterized human minds and have formulated questions in regard to fate, the nature of the universe, the avoidance of evil, and belief in another world since the beginning of reasoning," said Professor Jastrow.

Professor Jastrow based his presentation on explanations and examples of alchemy, astrology, astronomy, oracles, auguries, superstitions, folk lore, magic, dreams, witchcraft, miracles, and theosophism.

"Alchemy demands not only practice but system and requires both the practical and theoretical elements to make it mysterious and yet forcible. Astrology is the occult study of astronomy and exemplifies a personal interest in human faith," said Prof. Jastrow.

"Oracles and auguries grow into an elaborate system and present day superstitions represent only older types of thinking which was characteristic of past notorious customs and habits. To control fate and to understand the constitution of things motivated many occult practices of past fame.

"Often the masses of the people were left in ignorance for the advantage of unscrupulous leaders who ruled them with the club of magic and deliberately withheld scientific explanation.

"Medicine men and priests were once masters of secret lore and developed the mystic arts of black or evil and white or good magic. Perhaps religion and medicine have been the greatest sources of superstitious theories. The former analogy that medicine to be effective must be of the most drastic composition is shown in the scene of the witches' cauldron in Macbeth.

"Wisdom should be gained by the lifting of a mysterious veil or a draught from an enchanted fountain rather than by studious desire to gain knowledge was for long a cherished fancy.

"Analogous reasoning is of a simple type to the logician. It often is a direct outgrowth of superstition.

"There is a popular idea that certain people are gifted with extraordinary powers not bestowed to the common throng and from this theory arise the terms, medicine man, medium, and go between. Witchcraft was a direct outcome of this belief.

"There are many occult practices and beliefs which are now relegated to the museum of mental curiosity which are looked upon with interest and incredulity in modern days but so often are ancient ideas correlated with present trends of thought and action, that occultism must have respectful attention.

"Dreams were held once to be a proof that the soul had wandered during the night and that the dream either represented a past or future experience. Thus if one dreamed of a zebra he might expect to live a checkered career.

"Madame Blavatsky first introduced theosophism into the United States and it is still organized in various sections of the country. By this belief human beings are supposed to attain intercourse with Diety through physical means. Seances, clairvoyance, and spiritualism are common in our country.

"People who believe in thought transmission still, however, resort to telephones and telegraphs for important messages. Some people have minds so open that nothing remains in them. Logic and psychology demand clear threads of modern thought."

Professor Jastrow was enthusiastically received by his audience, who still have seven correlated lectures which will complete many phases of the subject already introduced.

WHITE STRESSES NEED OF SERVICE AT BADGER CLUB

"I don't see how educated Americans can be satisfied complacently to secure merely their own satisfaction when such an insistent call for world service is being made today," said Harry W. White, Y. M. C. A. worker in India, who was in the "Y" service with British troops in Palestine, and who addressed the Badger club Sunday night on "The Challenge of the Changing World."

Sketching conditions in China, the speaker had the highest praise for the work of Jack Childs there. He stressed particularly the great need for occidental ideas to permeate into India.

In touching upon Russia he asserted that it was failure of the allies to give moral and material support to the revolution in its early phases which must be blamed for the fall of Russia into the grip of a bolshevik tyranny that is more sinister than ever was the autocratic grip of the czar.

TEXAN COMES TO WISCONSIN FOR ECONOMICS

Director of Experiment Station Here to Study

"Wisconsin is very popular with Texas students," says B. Youngblood, M. A., director in the Texas Agricultural Experiment station located at College Station, Texas, who has come to the university to enroll as a student in economics.

Attracted to the University of Wisconsin by the noted men which the Wisconsin faculty includes, a relatively large number of Texas students come every year to Madison. This is especially true of economics students since there is as yet no department of economics in Texas university. Mr. Youngblood has enrolled as a student here in order to take back to the Lone Star state the benefits of his work in agricultural economic research which is one of the biggest fields in the educational world today.

The enormous size and great riches of Texas make her economic problems great, and the need for agricultural economics in Texas colleges is keenly felt. Texas yields the biggest crop of any state in the union and is the largest field for agricultural distribution; its resources are abundantly rich especially in oil, cotton, and ranching facilities.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment station is a branch of Texas university, and does the same sort of extension work as is done from this institution. There are about 1,700 men enrolled in the college, and the work there covers practically the same ground as is covered here in the College of Agriculture. The greatest need now is for more agricultural economics.

Thursday

E. C. Patterson, president of the Warner Patterson Lens company, Chicago, and former advertising manager and vice president of Collier's magazine, will speak at the commerce convocation Thursday afternoon and at the Advertising club dinner Thursday evening.

Mr. Patterson will speak on "Advertising as a Profession." He has been an unusually successful advertising manager, and during the time he was connected with Collier's he was the first to bar from its columns patent medicine advertising and wild-cat securities. Besides being successful in the business field, Mr. Patterson has established an enviable record in sporting circles. At the age of 19 he held the strike-out record in the New York and Pennsylvania baseball league. In 1915 his Mercedes car, driven by De Palma won first place at the Indianapolis speedway.

Mr. Patterson will be the guest of the Advertising club at a dinner at the Capitol hotel Thursday night, at which local advertising managers will also be guests.
