Issues AND Answers

DO YOU FEEL THAT THE HOSPITAL HAS GIVEN YOU THE HELP THAT YOU THINK YOU SHOULD RECEIVE?

"Yes, I think so, but not entirely. I don't get to talk to my Doctor as often as I would like."

J.

"It seems the doctors have too many patients and so they can't spend enough time with the individual. There seems to be a difference of opinion over liberty privileges among the doctors. Some are lenient, some are strict."

Anonymous

"I do feel that the staff are sincerely trying to help us overcome our hangups. But I also feel that the responsibility lies within the individual as well as the hospital staff."

Jim

"Yes. By having trust in the doctors and staff much more is accomplished."

Anonymous

"No. I have asked several times for treatment of my feet and have not received it."

Anonymous

"Yes I do. I seem able to cope with reality in life. The only way I can prove this is for the establishment here to let me go on the outside, because the hospital is an unrealistic world -- to me at least. The help I got here was through the patients, not the doctors."

Diana

"I think there should be more contact between doctors and patients."

Anonymous

"I think that the hospital should provide patients with a doctor, therapist or social worker more often."

Linda

"I think the hospital stinks."

Anonymous

"I think the Program is pretty much of a failure and I'm ready to leave anytime!"

Geo.

"Yes I do, because I'm alot better now then I have been for a long time. I really do believe this place helps."

Anonymous

"No. All they are doing is holding me here and not giving me any treatment."

Clay

"I feel that the hospital has many different individuals and therefore needs to meet each and every need as it arises. All they can do is to take a chance that they have hit upon the best course of treatment for each individual, but that the individual should give the administration the chance to try out a particular form of treatment before saying that one or another would not work."

Anonymous

"Yes, I feel they are giving me the help that I need by leaving me alone to work out my own problems and situations."

Wayne

"They help to a certain extent, but they could use alot of improvement. I'm speaking for the alcoholic ward."

Anonymous

"No. Unless you ask someone on the staff something, they just ignore you. At times they just give you a cocky answer."

Anonymous

"The hospital can give us guidance. We have to help ourselves."

Anonymous

"No. I should be back home in a true family situation and so should everyone else."

BLOND VENUS

My companion, my idol, my love,
 So beautiful as if come from above,
 Not riches, fame nor a pirate's booty,
 Nothing can compare with your beauty.

Cleopatra was lovely but shy,
 Mark Antony can tell you why.
 Queen of Sheba's figure was her boast, King Solomon she visited and he was her host.

Salome danced, shimmying, shaking and slim,
 And to Herod's audience--she pleased them.

But to me , my love, you are these four in one,
 This is where your beauty 'has' just begun.

You are my Blond Venus
 With a rosy red complexion;

Your hair is golden tawny, flaxen and yellow;

Your eyes are like sunlight on miniature pools of water;

Your lips are the color of peach perfume.

HOMEWARD BOUND

I've traveled down the road of no hope
 Now there is hope.
 I've seen all the gray clouds of summer,
 Now I see the sunshine of fall.
 I've been lost in a private world of misery,
 Now I laugh in a world of friends,
 It can be--can't it?

To question my own worth
 At present from birth.

To try so damned hard, and then to fail
 To prove my worth, but to no avail.

I have rammed the brick wall
 Till I began to bawl.

I'm tired of fighting
 This world is so biting.

To receive the shaft
 For my fated past.

To feel hell's pain
 Which can't be explained.

I have been truly honest
 But no reward was promised,
 I try not to despair.

But why, no really cares?

I am just optimistic
 Turned around pessimistic.

I can not explain why's my fate
 For who's the power for it's create?

It's hard not to be bitter
 If not, things may be better,
 I will try and continue to the best of my ability
 To give this hard existence some type of credibility.

As soon as I quit
 Myself I have bit.
 Into myself to be crawling
 Would indeed be most "appauling."

U.S.--MADE DRUGS COST LESS IN OTHER NATIONS

The following article was published in the Appleton Post Crescent Oct. 18, 1972, and was written by Arthur E. Rowse.

Washington--If medicine is one of your major costs, you might consider moving to Ireland while you recuperate. American-made drugs can often be purchased there for much less than in this country.

Evidence that this is no blarney comes in a study of drug prices in nine countries by Edmond M. Jacoby Jr. and Dennis L. Hefner of the Social Security Administration here. They used industry and government lists of prices charged druggists by manufacturers.

Their analysis showed that prices for the same medicines ranged as low as one-fourth and frequently only one-half of what druggists in this country pay despite the cost of shipping the products overseas.

For example, 100 tablets of Lilly's Darvon, the most proscribed drug in the United States, cost $7.02 here but only $1.66 in Ireland.

The same 100 ampicillin pills sold by Bristol Myers cost American druggists $21.84 but cost Irish druggists only $9.31. The 100 pills of Doriden (glutethimide) that cost U.S. druggists $3.00 cost only 92 cents for pharmacists in the Emerald Isle.

Pfizer charged $20.48 in this country for 100 tablets of Terramycin (ox-tetracycline) but $7.74 in Ireland.

Similar price differentials were found for other countries and drugs. In only a few cases were prices overseas higher than they were in the United States, according to the study.

Most of these cases involved antibiotics. For example, Lederle's Achromycin (tetracycline) was selling for $5.34 in the United States and $10.54 in Denmark. Before a government price fixing suit, the wholesale price in this country was $14.94.

The price comparisons were disclosed by Senator Gaylord Nelson (Dem-Wis.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee which has been investigating drug pricing and safety for several years. Nelson introduced a bill designed to break up what he called "monopolistic exploitation" of American consumers, especially the poor and elderly.

His bill (Amendment 1659) would force firms holding exclusive patents to license drugs if the average price to consumers is higher than five times the direct cost of manufacture or higher than the average price for the same drug in foreign countries.

One of the specific drugs mentioned by Nelson is Thorazine, a widely used tranquilizer known generically as chlorpromazine. He said Smith, Line and French, a U.S. firm, charged the Defense Department $32.62 per thousand 25-milligram pills that cost only $2.60 in Canada.

He said the markup on Valium, another tranquilizer, was 1,300 per cent of the manufacturing cost and 13,000 per cent of the raw material cost.

His subcommittee has found that doctors, often ignorant of differences in drug quality and price, are pressured by drug industry advertising and salesmen to prescribe expensive brand products when less expensive generic products are available.

Drug companies consistently top the annual list of industries rated by the Federal Trade Commission by profit ratios.

Yet numerous surveys have shown that drug prices vary considerably from store to store. And an increasing number of stores are now postint current prices as well as base-prices required by the Price Commission. So it may pay consumers to shop around before leaving a prescription to be filled.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

The social worker's primary interest is to keep the patient in touch with his family and community during the period of hospitalization. Anticipating the time when you will leave the hospital, the social worker will assist you in your preparation to return home and to your work, and in picking up where you left off.

At the time of admission you social worker will meet with you and your family to explain about the hospital, your treatment program, and try to gather information which will be of help to our staff in formulating your individual treatment program and discharge plan.

During your hospitalization your social worker will be available to talk with you about your discharge plans as well as keeping your family appraised of your progress. With the shortened length of hospitalization, your discharge and aftercare (treatment after you leave the hospital) becomes a vital part of your total recovery. Therefore, plans should be made for your aftercare treatment well before you are ready to leave the hospital. Your social worker will talk with you about the mental health resources in your community and provide you with names, addresses and phone numbers, and may even arrange an appointment if you wish.

WHAT SHOULD THE AVERAGE PATIENT LOOK FORWARD TO AFTER HIS OR HER RELEASE FROM THE HOSPITAL?

Most often patients return to the situation from which they came. This means that they would go back to their family, old job, and generally pick up where they left off. The social worker might be helpful here in arranging transportation, aftercare, and sometimes housing and employment or even temporary financial aid until you get back on your feet.

WHAT IS THE AVERAGE LENGTH OF STAY? DO MANY PATIENTS RETURN TO THE HOSPITAL?

The length of stay for a patient varies with the individual and his circumstances of course, but the average is about two months. Sometimes the court specifies the length of hospitalization, as with a 30 - 60 - or 90 day observation. As for the return rate, it runs around 30% which compares with the national averages. Returning to the hospital for further care sometimes in one's life is not a disaster as some would imply! We return to a general hospital for a recurring physical problem as needed, and the same should be true for emotional problems.

IS FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE?

Not from our hospital. Financial family assistance generally comes from one's county department of social services. Our hospital social worker can give you specific information about this kind of aid if necessary. Our hospital, however, has no funds for this purpose.

WHAT ABOUT FOLLOWUP CARE?

Followup care (or treatment that you receive) I feel, is the most important component of your total recovery. When you return home and to work you will have stresses and problems--because that is part of life. With out-patient followup care one can find support, emotional first aid, and be helped to bridge the minor upsets and perhaps avoid further hospitalization. Followup care is never a routine matter but depends on the individual, his needs and his community. This is why your social worker endeavors to assist you with these matters.

Exit Interview

Do yourself a favor! Please return those books you see lying around on the piano, table or book case, or ask a fellow patient if he has borrowed them. If he has not and you wish to read them come to the Patients' Library and check them out in your name. Unfortunately, many people do not apparently think it is important to return mislaid books. But it is for this reason. We are trying to give fair library services to everyone and when a book is not returned you are depriving an interested person of reading a book which may be specifically suited to his needs at a special time.

Should you receive an over-due slip for books you have checked out and have mislaid them, please inform us that you have them. We can then take other steps to recover the books.

Mrs. Marsh
Librarian

A phrase soon to be heard around the hospital is "EXIT INTERVIEW" and the person who is speaking is Mr. Mark Millard, a student at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. He started to work at the hospital as a volunteer and now, on his own volition, feels that the patients should and could possibly have a voice in the policy making here at the hospital. Therefore he is going to take a random sampling of patients and test a questionnaire that he worked out for this purpose.

He feels that the patients that are ready to leave the hospital may have some suggestions to improving the place, but are afraid to voice their opinions. In this way an advisory board of patients could give the patient the "IN" to register a complaint, gripe, suggestion. The thinking behind this idea is that the idea is the most important and not the person that said it.

While here, patients could become involved with the administration staff to make this a better place, and if they are able to point out some of the weaknesses and strengths of the hospital, then the purpose of the advisory board would be noticeable. There is the feeling that the patients are in a better position to know what is good for themselves and they should be able to voice their opinions in a constructive manner.

It is with talking over the idea with the Social Service Staff that the okay was given and Mark soon hopes to start talking with patients here. There is no guarantee that a board of patients will be instituted to help in formulating policy or the government of the hospital, but only that there may be a group of patients that can come up with the ideas to improve the conditions or aid with constructive thoughts in making of policies with the staff.

A PARODY

It was the night before discharge, and all through the wing.
 Not a creature was stirring,
 not a word, not a thing.
 Items were sent to the discharge
 office with care,
 In hopes that by morning,
 I would be leaving from there.
 The Aides were over there in the Nurse's Station,
 Hoping for 7 o'clock
 with eager anticipation.
 There they had coffee
 and were reading the paper, Wondering what next
 would be my new caper.
 I lay on my bed reading a book,
 They stole upon me to peek a quick look.
 When all of a sudden
 there was a great clatter,
 I ran from my room
 to spy out the matter.
 There stood the Aides next to the door,
 Their coffee urn tipped over and spilt on the floor.
 The Nurse stood there next to the slop,
 Yelling to an Aide to go get a mop.
 Soon the excitement was nearly over,
 I returned to my bed and went under the cover.
 It was a few hours later, it appeared,
 When I woke up to daylight,
 morning was here.
 I got up, got started,
 and went to the bathroom,
 There I showered, and shaved,
 and finished to groom.
 I went to the cafeteria
 to catch a quick bite,
 To get out of here
 was no longer a fight.
 I met all my friends
 when from their rooms they came,
 I greeted them all
 and called them by name.
 Good morning there Jim, and John,
 and Joe,
 Today is the day that from this joint I will soon blow.
 Nary a word did I speak for the rest of the morning,
 I would soon leave this place without further warning.
 So the rest of the day,
 I tried to be kind,
 'Cause soon I would leave
 all my best friends behind.
 Minutes passed by faster than fast,
 The moment arrived, it was my last.
 Through the door I went,
 saying without fear,
 "Please keep my room open,
 I'll be back next year."

Happy Birthday

SUNFLOWER

A flower I know
That changes at the sun's approach,
And in the vain endeavor,
To live his life, has parted, one by one,
With all a flower's true grace, for the grace
Of being but a foolish mimic sun;
With rag-like florets around a disc-like face,
Men call the flower 'the sunflower'
sportively.

CORRECTION IN NAME

A correction is in order on the usage of a name in the last issue of CUE.

Rev. David Carlson, the now chaplain here, became Ira Carlson, a long-time employee who is in charge of the greenhouse. This interviewing reporter from CUE made the error.

In conclusion, a quotation from the Bible might be appropriate to compare the "mission" of the two men--one a pastor and the other a gardener.

"And he spoke to them many things in parables, saying: 'Behold, the sower went out to sow. And as he sowed, some seeds fell by the wayside, and the birds came and ate them up. And other seeds fell upon rocky ground, where they had not much earth; but when the sun rose they were scorched, and because they had not root they withered away. And other seeds fell among the thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked them. And other seeds fell upon good ground, and yielded fruit, some a hundredfold, some sixtyfold, and some thirtyfold. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!'" Matt. 13:3-9.

A HALLOWEEN PARTY

The dance in the Canteen on the night of October 28th was a sight to see! There were some nice costumes put up by Hughes Hall A and B and by the Tellurian Community. And if you would have been there, it would have been hard to choose the winners for the prizes, because there were some amusing and clever costumes. You really would have had to laugh at them.

To choose the best costumes was difficult because I thought that it took lots of hard work to get the costumes together in just a short time. But there were good ones, funny ones and it was hard to pick out the best.

Here are the people who won the door prizes: Jerry and Prizes for their costumes were won by Jerry, Bryan,
Steve, Cindy, Rene and Jeannie

So let's give all these people and the others in costumes a big hand and give them all congratulations for trying.
