COMPLAINT MADE BY AG STUDENTS UPHELD BY BOARD

1926 Badger to Devote More Space to College of Agriculture

Members of the Badger board decided at a meeting Tuesday afternoon that the protest of the students of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics department in regard to the space given their activities on the 1926 Badger summary cards was just and that suitable action should be taken to remedy the condition.

The meeting of the board was called specially to consider the protest made by the agric and home-ec students at a meeting of the Agricultural college federation last Friday evening.

Federation Rated as Equal

The Badger board decided that the Agricultural college federation should be rated as an equal of other campus organizations and should have a separate page in the 1926 Badger.

It was pointed out that the officers of the Little International, the annual stock show engineered by the Saddle and Sirloin club, will be specially well taken care of under the revised plans of the board.

The board also decided that the 1926 Badger will give the Agric-Hill debate a position equal to that of the joint debate and the other forensic activities of the university.

New Policy Announced

Other intercollegiate agricultural activities, such as for example as stock-judging teams, will receive suitable recognition in the 1926 Badger and will be entered in the senior summaries independent of the present summary cards. Agric and Home-E seniors can get these facts into their summaries by handing them in at the Badger office on the second floor of the Union building.

"It will be the policy of the Badger board to give a better position and more importance to all agric and home-ec activities," the board said yesterday. "The board feels that under the new arrangement these activities will be very well taken care of."

FREAK FORDS WILL PARADE SATURDAY

Season Passes to Theater Will Be Given As
Prizes

The parade of campus Fords and freak cars of all kinds has been scheduled to start immediately after the finish of the cross country race from the lower campus Saturday morning. All owners of cars who will try for the prizes offered by A. P. Desormeaux, manager of the Strand theater, will park on the lower campus before or during the race and immediately after the finish will start the parade.

The cars will drive west to Park street, turn left to State and proceed down State rounding the square and back out to the university district. Any freak car of any make is eligible for competition for the three prizes and each contestant will receive a pass for two for the Strand productions next week.

Any inscriptions on cars which will show up in the pictures to be taken during the parade should be in white on a black background, stated Dr. M. E. Diemer, university photographer.

The pictures will be shown at the Strand next week. However, contestants may have inscriptions painted in any way to compete for the prizes.

Judges of the parade will base their decisions on the originality of the inscriptions, the appearance of the cars in general and the appearance of the occupants. Three prizes will be awarded by Mr. Desormeaux to the winners in the form of passes to the Strand good for one year, six months and three months for the first three places.

STREET CAR DRAGS FORD FOR 30 FEET

Pushed 30 feet by a street car on the corner of State and Frances streets last night, John L. Duke, driver of a Ford roadster, narrowly missed being seriously injured in the collision.

Duke was driving west on State street, and attempted to swing at the corner in front of an eastbound street car when the car caught his rear left wheel and dragged him several feet down the street before it could stop.

No damage was done to the car outside of the rear wheel being torn off from the hub. He is not covered by insurance, but said that he would bring suit against the street car company for damages done to the car.

DEADLINE SET FOR CARNIVAL POSTERS

Many Expected to Compete
For Additional
Prizes

"All those who intend to enter posters in the Homecoming carnival poster contest must get started on them as soon as possible in order to have them in by the deadline, November 5," F. R. Lathers '26, art publicity chairman of Homecoming, said last night.

According to Lathers, the theme must embody the idea of the Homecoming carnival, which is to take place at 9 o'clock November 15 in the men's gymnasium. The admission will be 50 cents.

"The posters drawn to advertise this carnival must present the carnival atmosphere and each one must incorporate some place in its make-up the Homecoming button design," Lathers continued. He further stated that this design of the button may be large or small, as the artist chooses, and may be placed at any point on the poster.

Lathers gave the requirements which the carnival posters must fulfill. Dimensions are to be 28 by 36 inches, and they may be drawn on wall board. The artist may choose his own medium.

"In past years," Lathers said, "only one loving cup was given and that a small one. This year three extra large cups will be given for first, second, and third places. This contest is open to all and we expect every student in the art department, as well as those outside who are interested, to enter a poster in this contest.

"This year's Homecoming carnival will be made up of a collection of high-powered vaudeville acts representing the cream of Wisconsin's stage talent. Organizations such as Haresfoot, Union Vodvil, the Wisconsin Players, as well as talented individuals about school, will enter acts in this show," he said.

Frosh Women to
Be W. A. A. Guests
At Camp Randall

W. A. A. will give a party for all freshman women tomorrow at Camp Randall. The group will meet at 5 o'clock at Lathrop for a short excursion tour over observatory hill and then out for the field. A hockey game will be played before the dinner that will be given at 5:45 o'clock.

Esther Fifield '25, president of W. A. A., will speak on membership to the organization and the possibility of the numerals of the new class upon the championship plate. W. A. A. and college songs, led by Ernestine Tromel '25, will be sung around the fireplace.

Gwendolyn Drake '26 is in charge of the party. Her committee chairmen are Irma Milde '26, food; Harriet Graham '26, hike; Alberta Johnson '26, entertainment; Ernestine Tromel '25, music; and Alice Drews '26, publicity.

All those who desire to join the party should sign the poster in Lathrop as soon as possible. Dinner will cost 25 cents.

STUDENT MISSING FOR THREE DAYS, LOCATED IN IOWA

Writes Father Explaining Reason For His Sudden Disappearance

Word was received yesterday from the father of Eugene Dixby, '26, who had been missing since Sunday, telling of a letter from his son mailed at Clayton, Ia., according to Dean Goodnight's office.

Father Wires Dear.

The telegram read:
Received letter from my son, Eugene Dixby, mailed in Clayton, Ia. Has he applied for tuition refund? If so, has he given any mailing address? Says he left because he was near a nervous breakdown. Thank you for any information.

RALPH E. DIXBY.

Dixby has not withdrawn from the university, it was learned at the registrar's office yesterday. He would have to have withdrawn before he could have obtained a rebate on his tuition, the registrar stated.

Roommate Blames Nervousness.

"He left because of his nervous trouble and not because of any financial difficulties. In his typewriter was a half-finished English theme and most of his clothes were in his room," said Raymond Bablatsch, '28, his roommate.

Dixby spent three semesters at the University of Michigan before entering as a sophomore this fall. His home is in Lakewood, Ohio.

PEP BAND IS TO REHEARSE TONIGHT

Plans For First Appearance to Be Completed at Meeting in Music Hall

The Pep band will hold a rehearsal at 7:15 o'clock tonight in Music hall. A constitution will be drawn up and plans for the first public appearance of the band, which will be Saturday, will be discussed.

George Walsted '25, varsity cheer-leader, will be on hand to work out some ideas in regard to the service that the band will be to the coming athletic events, and it is imperative that every member be present to get his final instructions, according to Walsted.

Through the cooperation of the athletic department, uniforms, consisting of sweaters and caps, will be issued to the members in the near future.

"This organization has been formed, and will become a permanent part of Wisconsin's traditions, the Red Wagon, which was so successfully revived last year," Walsted said. "In addition, the band will prove to become a big factor at pep meetings, pep fests, team sendoffs, and receptions by furnishing such occasions with 'pep' music," he said.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT Y. W. C. A. DINNER

Arrangements are being made to accommodate 500 people at the annual fall friendship banquet of the Y. W. C. A. to be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the dining room of the Lutheran cathedral.

A large attendance is expected as nearly all the tickets have been sold, according to Helen McMurray, '26, of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. "The purpose of the banquet is to get all the new and older university women together in order to promote friendship and an understanding of campus affairs," Miss McMurray said.

BUSINESS STAFF

Students who wish to try out for positions as business assistants on the staff of the Daily Cardinal may apply at the office between 8:30 and 5:30 o'clock today.

FIVE STUDENTS HURT IN SMASH ON DRIVE

Five students were injured and severely cut last night, when the car in which they were returning from a picnic on Picnic Point struck a tree along the drive. Those injured were Ralph Burki '27, Ralph Meade '27, Marjory Smith '26, Richard Yeo '27, and Loris Gunerson '28. Burki and Yeo were forced to stay in the hospital over night because of the severity of their injuries. The others returned to their homes.

TWO DAYS REMAIN TO FILE PETITIONS

All Publicity Must Be Presented to Daily Cardinal By Tuesday

Only two days remain in which candidates for election may file petitions, the elections board warned students last night. All petitions must be filed by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the office of the dean of men if the names are to go on the ballot.

All publicity and advertising matter for the Daily Cardinal must be published before next Thursday and the board has set Tuesday afternoon as the deadline for all such material.

In answer to numerous requests to the policy the board will pursue in the matter of publicity the following statement was issued:

"Each candidate for president of a class and each candidate for prom chairman must submit a statement of 100 words giving his reasons for running for office. Reference may be made to activities the candidate has engaged in, but the statement will be substituted for a general list of activities. The object of this statement is to give voters something more on which to base an opinion than a mere list of committees. This statement is required of each candidate for the above offices; no option is possible."

The offices to be filled at the election are:

President, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms from each class, senior, junior, sophomore and freshman.

Prom chairman from the junior class.

One graduate, five seniors, three juniors, and two sophomores in the student senate.

Nine student court members recommended by the heads of various departments and colleges.

One recommended member of the Union board from the sophomore class.

Four sophomores on the Badger board.

REPORT OF ELOPEMENT OF CO-ED IS UNTRUE

The reported elopement of a woman from this university with a missing cashier of a Chicago insurance company has been found to be entirely wrong.

What led to the fact of the co-ed's connection with the case was that the missing cashier, Ralph Bigelow, kept a so-called "girls' directory," where he had listed the names, addresses and telephone numbers of over 50 women, and wherein the co-ed's name was mentioned.

A search was started for the girl as companion of the cashier, but it was discovered that she had missed none of her classes, and only had a slight acquaintance with the man.

WISCONSIN PLAYERS TO GIVE "ROMANCE"

"Romance" by Sheldon will be presented by the Wisconsin players at an open meeting on October 23 in Lathrop parlors.

Margaret McGovern '27 and Thomas W. Morony '25, two of the probationary members who are presenting this play, will have the leading roles.

"A new plan, instituted this year by the Wisconsin players," Hazel Weingandt '25, president, said, "will arrange for laboratory presentations of plays the first and third Thursday of every month.

TICKET SALE FOR WISCONSIN GAME STIRS MICHIGAN

Letter Received From Wolverine Annual Says "Rottenness" Occurred Here

The Michigan-Wisconsin ticket sale, which netted Wisconsin students 500 tickets for the game and consequently heaped a great deal of adverse criticism on the university athletic association, has produced equally stirring effects on the University of Michigan campus.

2,500 Tickets Sent.

Notice to this effect was communicated to the Daily Cardinal yesterday in a letter from the Michiganan, the student year book of the University of Michigan. The letter says:

"The Athletic association of the University of Wisconsin asked for 2,500 tickets for the game. These were sent to it by the Michigan athletic association. Where did the other 2,000 tickets go? They went to the alumni of Wisconsin supposedly. If there is any rottenness it would seem that it was in Madison and not at Ann Arbor."

The writer of the letter holds that the tickets intended for the Wisconsin alumni are not reaching them but that "probably half of them will find their way into the hands of Michigan rooters." Many of the alumni tickets are obtainable in Detroit where the writer says they have been sent for distribution by the athletic association of this university.

Absolute Check Impossible.

Attention was first called to the so-called "rotteness in the ticket distribution" for the Wisconsin-Michigan game, when an alumnus of the universities of Wisconsin and Michigan made public the complaint sent to him in a letter from a Wisconsin student to the effect that "500 seems a niggardly number of tickets for Yost to send Wisconsin, and there is a rage here as well as at Ann Arbor."

Wisconsin's stand in the matter was made clear in an editorial which appeared in the Daily Cardinal of Tuesday, October 7. It placed the blame on those students who buy up tickets to sell them to outsiders. It said in part:

"An absolute check cannot be kept. It is up to the spirit of the students here to buy only those tickets which will be used by them and not to send any to Michigan."

The reason more tickets were not ordered for the game was, according to the editorial, because the athletic association "believed that they would not be able to sell any more than were sold two years ago and sent their order for this year's game accordingly."

MAN MURDERED IN LITTLE ITALY

Soft Drink Parlor Proprietor
Shot Down Yesterday Afternoon

Pete Sousa was murdered late yesterday afternoon in a cigar store at 724 West Washington avenue. This is the third murder this year to take place in Little Italy.

No one except a negro living next door heard the shot, and it was not until 4 o'clock that the body was discovered. Patrolman Burr K. Funnel noticed a crowd gathering before the pool hall and upon investigating discovered the body which was lying at the bottom of a flight of three stairs.

Sousa had evidently dragged himself that far in an attempt to gain help, but had become unconscious before he was able to get any further.

He was immediately rushed to the General hospital, but the surgeon found that he had died while lying in the store.

The police have arrested Mike Riola, the proprietor of a poolroom at Park street and Washington avenue. With suspicion directed at him, Riola has remained silent, refusing to talk about the murder.

DAILY REPORTS OF ALL BADGER TEAMS

RED WAGON DAYS MEAN REVIVAL OF BADGER TRADITION

Glorious Old Wisconsin Spirit Lives Again in Loyal Demonstration

"Red Wagon" days are back again. Today the old red wagon with a brand new coat of shiny red paint made its first appearance of the season in front of the gym.

To upperclassmen this means that the old Wisconsin spirit will be overflowing the rest of the gridiron season and on through the year.

Tradition Revived.

Last year, the first time since the war, the red wagon was brought into use. It is a symbol of Wisconsin's undying spirit. It signifies that the student body is behind Badger teams win, lose or draw. When the students get behind that wagon to haul teams to and from the station the team knows that Badgers are for them and for them strong.

For the benefit of the freshmen it might be well to explain the tradition of the Red Wagon. In days gone by the student body would gather en masse and haul the team to the station when they left for an enemy camp. When the team returned, either conquer or conquered, the students would be at the train to meet them with the Red Wagon.

The most outstanding example of this form of school loyalty was when the team returned defeated from a tilt with Illinois. They intentionally took a train that would arrive in Madison at 4 o'clock in the morning so that they would not have to meet the students after their defeat. To their surprise the entire student body, Red Wagon and all, were there to meet them. That is what "Red Wagon" days meant to old Wisconsin students.

Revival Big Success.

After an elapse of several years the "Reg Wagon" days were revived last year with tremendous success. Teams were hauled to and from the station and the old Red Wagon took its proper place in the hearts of all loyal Badgers.

The Red Wagon will be used for the first time this fall when the team leaves for Michigan.

Madison Men Hear

C. F. Hatfield, Head of Ad Club, Speak

"Sell Madison to the people of Madison," were the words of Chas. F. Hatfield, president of the community advertising department of the Associated Advertising clubs of the world, before the members of the Madison Advertising club Wednesday noon at the Loraine hotel.

Mr. Hatfield urged the use of conventions as a means of advertising Madison.

"Madison has excellent opportunities to make it a real convention city" said Mr. Hatfield. "The state university, the good roads of Wisconsin, and the natural beauty of the city itself make Madison an ideal place for a convention. Don't buy conventions."

"Cultivate tourist camps within the city, and treat the visitors with a 'glad hand spirit.' Community spirit is the only spirit that will advertise your city to the best advantages, and in order to do so, every person and business organization must be willing to do their part."

Mr. Hatfield has been president of the Community Advertising department of the Associated Advertising clubs of the world since the organization of that department eight years ago.

Mayor I. M. Kittleson was present at the meeting and was made an honorary member of the local club.

President William Miller and Secretary Arthur Towell announced the program for the winter meetings.

Postpone Hearing for Alleged Frat Bandit

The preliminary hearing for Fred Rettine, 27, captured early Sunday morning in a fraternity house and charged with burglary, was continued one week by Judge O. A. Stolen Wednesday.

Badgers' Best Passer

ED. WILLIAMS

Williams is back in practice after recovering from his injuries. Williams, who formerly played quarter and who has been shifted to halfback, is being used to call signals quite frequently in practice. It is possible that Ryan may use Williams or Larson at quarter against the Gophers Saturday instead of Doyle Harmon.

GYM TEAM GETS LITTLE OVATION

Men Work Hard and Practice Consistently For Wisconsin Spirit

No cheering thousands, no waving flags, no playing bands, no mighty yells uttered from a multitude of throats rend the skies when the gym and fencing teams win first place in a meet. The reward is but a few slaps on the back, and a mere "Atta boy, fine, ole man." The object is to bring honor and glory to Wisconsin. The cry is Wisconsin first, always.

Since the beginning of school 40 frosh and 12 upperclassmen have been working out daily from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock with the hope of making a position on the gym squad. The work is strenuous and much practice is needed before a man can become proficient. Six times as much practice is needed for a gym meet than is needed in preparation for any other branch of sports.

Only three men of last year's squad are back, and a whole new team will have to be rounded into shape. The material looks promising and the men are putting their utmost energy into their work.

The rings fly, tumblers whirl in the air, figures swing on the horizontal bars, Indian clubs flash, metallic sounds come from the flashing foils,—the gym team works.

Major Butters Hears La Follette Over Radio

Major Charles E. Butters of the state banking department was roving over the country Monday via the radio. He picked up Kansas City where a concert program was in progress. Suddenly a familiar voice broke in. It was the voice of Sen. La Follette who was speaking in Kansas City. Major Butters states that the address of Sen. La Follette could be very plainly heard.

NEW ADDITION TO PRESS BOX FOR VISITING SCRIBES

Reporters Can at Last Write Their Stories in Comfort

BY GEORGE DENNIS.

Many people were surprised as they came into Camp Randall last Saturday to see the new addition to the press stand at the top of the east side of the stadium. Some questioned its purpose and some thought it was the beginning of the new addition of the 24 rows of seats in the stadium.

Room Needed

To those who are at all acquainted with the press box it is all too evident why an addition is being made. All last season and so far this season 60 or more reporters have crowded and shoved their way into the little shed way up in the top of the stadium and attempted to write their stories. To make more room for these knights of the press box, called for the building of an addition to the present press stand.

There is a certain romance about the press box that is hard to resist once it is tasted. As soon as the kick-off is over twelve sets of telegraph instruments flash their messages to all the leading newspapers in the country. Sixty hard-working reporters follow the ball play by play, while their assistants pound the typewriters in a frenzy so that the telegraph operators may have a legible copy.

Within a half hour after the game is over all the leading papers in the country have a complete story of the game and all because sixty reporters with the assistance of an invention of Morse were up in the press box at work. Papers in the East, papers in the West, all have their story of the game from twelve telegraph keys and sixty reporters. That is the romance of the press box.

Harris Runs Third in Scoring Column of Grid Warriors

Jack Harris, captain of the Badger grid team, is third in the scoring column of the conference, including Notre Dame teams, with a total of 25 points. Ralph Baker, Northwestern's sophomore football star, heads the list with 33 points. Lorber, Indiana, who topped the list last week, failed to get any points against Louisiana.

Grange, Illinois, who headed the list last year, stands fifteenth in the column. The first 15 scorers follow:

T.D.	P.t.	G.G.	T.
Baker, NW.	4	6	1
Lorber, Ind.	5	0	0
Harris, Wis.	4	1	1

MICHIGAN BASKETEERS BEGIN PRACTICE WORK

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 15.—Varsity basketball practice for this season will start tomorrow night when Coach Mather meets the court men in the Waterman gymnasium.

Regular practice will be held four nights a week for the entire squad, although it is probable that the six members of last year's team may be asked to report twice a week until next month.

The Squad will practice in Waterman gymnasium until the varsity floor is installed in the Yost field house.

Wilcox Tells K. C. Club of Commission's Work

The purpose and work of the Industrial Commission was the subject of a talk given today by F. M. Wilcox, chairman of the state industrial commission at a luncheon of the Knights of Columbus club Wednesday noon at the club house.

Show Much Promise

ROLLAND BARNUM

Barnum, well-built sophomore on Ryan's varsity squad, may develop into a valuable threat man. He is a fair punter, a good passer, and is second to Harris in line plunging.

VARSITY HARRIERS LOSE THREE MEN

Hopes For Victory Not So Bright After Marquette Game

The varsity cross country squad is going through a very hard week of training in preparation for the meet with Minnesota this week end. Coach Burke is working the men very hard and making them run five miles every day at a fast pace. The meet this Saturday will not be a very easy one, as the Gophers have every one of their men back and some of them, especially Brown and Jacobson, are very good. Brown, in the meet here last year, took first place and finished way ahead of all the Badger runners. Jacobson took fourth place in the same meet.

Badger hopes do not appear as bright as they did after the brilliant victory over the veteran Marquette team. All of the Wisconsin men are in the best of condition for this contest and as a result they collected the honors. Yet, with one of the big races only two days off, two of the men are out and a third is nursing a badly swollen ankle. Link, a member of last year's varsity, is out with a badly inflamed heel; his Achilles tendon being the cause of the trouble.

Carter, one of the best on the squad, is out with a weak heart. He started the Marquette race, but fainted only a short distance from the finish. When he fell he was running among the first. Schafer, a new man on the team but most promising material, is trying hard to get his swollen ankle in shape for the race Saturday. The loss of these men would mean a lot to the team and their chances for a victory over the Gophers. The team looked mighty good in their first race and it is hoped that these men will round into shape.

Coach Burke will again run team men. Those who will wear the Cardinals are Captain Piper, Perry, Bergstresser, Petaja, Kubly, Cohen, Schilke, Schafer, and either Schutt, Eklund or Campbell.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY TEAMS DEVELOP WITH PRACTICE

Material From All Classes Looks Promising as Elimination Approaches

Hockey among the women by this time is almost in full swing. With the increased number of practices certain players are beginning to stand out as individuals from the 215 that are enrolled. Since squads will be picked October 21, material from all classes has been pretty well looked over.

No radical changes from last year will be made among the upper classes since few new players of special worth have turned out. Among the freshman forwards are Charlotte Anderson and Katherine Petri, both scrapping hard for center position. Ethel Haskins is showing her sister's ability as a fighter, although she is playing an offensive rather than a defensive game.

Charlotte W. Wagner as wing is fast and has a strong drive. Ruby Tinsman, across the field as the other wing, is also fast, especially on recovery. Katherine Sherman and Vera Kahn seem promising players.

In the back field are June Deadman, halfback and, as her name suggests, a dead shot, Elizabeth Grabben, Laura Linden, Helen Orcutt, and Marie Marquette. With a little more practice in learning to keep their positions and in tackling sooner, they should soon develop a tight defense.

Among the new sophomores that should turn into good players are Adah Bass, right inside; Evelyn Hamer, full; Estelle North, wing, and Winifred Wise. The nucleus of last year consists of Evelyn Tough, center half, supported in the back field by Marion Rhode, full; Josephine Winter, forward, and Virginia Mead and Elizabeth Milne, both fast wings. The sophomores seem to stand a good showing this year.

Detroit Alumni Plan Pep-Raiser Before Big Clash

A football banquet as a pep-raiser of the Michigan-Wisconsin football game to be placed at Ann Arbor a week from Saturday will be put on by the Detroit Alumni association at 7 o'clock the Friday night preceding the game at the Oriole terrace, Detroit.

The feature of the banquet will be speeches by the coaches and members of the team. There will be dancing to the music of the Theis Oriole orchestra, and entertainment by the Oriole terrace cabaret.

Reservations for the banquet close October 22 and should be sent to Willard Saunders, secretary-treasurer of the alumni club. Tickets are $2.50.

Local Collection Asked to Account for Funds

Demands that Harry Cooley, Madison collector, make an accounting of his collections for the Loti firm of Gunderson Bros. and Thompson Co., are made in a suit filed by the company in circuit court here Tuesday.

McQuillan, Grid Star, Reported Near Death

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—Stricken with quinsy, pneumonia, and nephritis several days ago, Gordon McMillan, Minneapolis, star punter on the West Virginia university football team, was in a critical condition today.

Attending physicians including Dr. C. W. Spears, head football coach at West Virginia held little hope for his recovery. McMillan's parents arrived at his bedside this morning.

DAILY REPORTS OF ALL BADGER TEAMS

RYAN LOCKS GATE WHILE AT WORK FOR GOPHER TILT

Crowd Kept Out While Coach Juggles Players in New Lineup

Practice last night was so secret that Coach Ryan's best friend or even President Birge would not have had a chance to get in. It is just as well that no onlookers were allowed because Ryan can get in his best work unhampered by curious spectators who are willing to help but nevertheless hinder.

Leitl Out

"Butch" Leitl, who has been shifted from his old position at tackle to fullback, was in "civies" on account of an injured arm received in Tuesday's scrimmage with the frosh. It is doubtful whether Leitl will round into shape to see action in Saturday's fracas or not. Just how serious a loss this will be to the team is not known as Leitl has not been used at full in any of the preliminary games so far but he was in the first string lineup in the sessions this week and would undoubtedly have seen action against the Gophers.

The ghost ball and arc lights were used last night and Ryan sent the team through a real workout. A great deal of time was again devoted to the fundamentals of the game, especially running interference.

Frosh Used

Coach Sundt's frosh were again sent against the varsity to try out Minnesota shifts. Last night the lineup was practically the same as Tuesday's with the exception that Captain Harris was back in his old position in the backfield. Ryan used only a few men in the scrimmage and spent most of the time ironing out the faults of the first string material. One new shift in the lineup was the running of McCormick at end and putting Kaski in at tackle. However, these two boys did not go so well in their new positions.

Last night saw a different team than the one that played against Coe or worked in scrimmage the fore part of the week. The team had the old fight that has been missing all season and if they tear through Spaulding's men with the same determination that they charged that frosh line last night there will be little doubt as to the outcome.

Work on Ends.

The long hours that Ryan and Lowman put in training the ends and backs to run interference and block were not wasted. On every play the frosh tacklers were swept aside and Doyle Harmon or Pat MacAndrews went through the line or around the ends for big gains. Harris was back to par on line plugging and the fighting captain should tear holes in the Gopher line in spite of the fact that Minnesota has the best line front tackle to tackle in the conference. The whole team seemed to have a complete change of heart.

Eddie Williams was out in uniform heaving passes to get his tossing arm into shape in case he will be needed in the tilt Saturday.

Coach Gunderson of the All-Americans is drilling his protégés hard on Michigan plays to be used against the varsity next week. Particular attention is being paid to the "Steger back" play which is a consistent ground gainer for the Wolverines.

Out With Injuries

"BUTCH" LEITL

Leitl, who started out the season in the line, and who was later transferred to the backfield, will be out of the Minnesota game on account of a shoulder injury received in scrimmage Tuesday night.

So It Seems
Wisconsin will beat Minnesota Saturday by a surprising score!

According to a recent announcement, 342 degrees were granted during the past year by the graduate school. Undergraduates are too prone to forget that there are other branches of the university than the ones in which they are studying. Another important department of the university is the extension division which usually has an enrollment of more than 25,000 students.

Lake Mendota is gradually changing its temperature for the worse and canoeists will do well to take care that they may not be given a sudden plunge into the water which they may find too cold to swim in any great distance. This is the time of year when every one who goes on the lake should adhere to the university rules of the lake, copies of which may be obtained at the gymnasium or in the files of the Daily Cardinal at the Union building.

The mud-slinging has already started. Class politics are really too petty to warrant mud-slinging on the part of those that take part in them, and the subsequent forming of enmities. Students will do well to realize that they get a lot farther by using straight methods than they can by slamming the other fellow. National politicians may do it, but national politicians as a rule should not be taken as shining models.

TRADITION HOLDS

The oars of six college crews rested on the water. It was at the start of the Poughkeepsie regatta. Wisconsin's eight was there waiting for the crack of the starter's gun. Then faintly from far up the river came the sound of the "Varsity Toast." Observing an old Wisconsin tradition, that of singing "Varsity" before every athletic event, the Badger delegation was singing out the "Toast" in hopes that it might be heard by that crew waiting at the start.

It was heard and as one of the members of the crew said it gripped them and made them want to give all they had in the race. And they did.

Last Saturday at the Coe game that tradition was set aside when the crowd was asked through the cheerleader to omit "Varsity" before the kick-off. Many were indignant at this request of the coach. A communication elsewhere on this page perhaps expresses what is the popular feeling.

But now Coach Ryan has withdrawn his request and "Varsity" may be sung as usual. The coach explains his stand by saying that certain persons who have the interests of Wisconsin at heart suggested that the "Toast" sounded like a dirge or a prayer, instead of an inspiring battle cry.

Replacement of "Varsity" at the kick-off by a fighting song with more pep was suggested. Coach Ryan is of this opinion but does not want to trip up a tradition of as old standing as singing "Varsity" before the kick-off.

From the point of view of the fans, "Varsity" seems to be the song, and the only one, which should be sung before each game. But if the coach and the team feel that it does not give the necessary spirit, that it really is too much of a dirge, it might be supplanted with "On Wisconsin" or some other Wisconsin song, new or old, which does have the pep which "Varsity" undoubtedly lacks.

ADVISORS' ADVICE; DOES IT HELP?

Not infrequently have students reached the last month of their senior year, glowing in the expectation of graduating with their class, only to discover from the dean that they have been wrongly advised and that they lack one or two credits which are necessary for graduation. Not a summer session goes by, accordingly, without having in its enrollment a dozen or more men and women who should have graduated the preceding June had it not been for a measly credit or two.

Where does the fault lie? It is only too apparent that it lies with the university advisors. The average advisor knows less about a college course than the majority of students know. Constantly students are accepting the words of their class officers on perfectly good faith only to be forced to change their entire course after a few weeks of a semester have passed simply because the class officers do not fully know the requirements in the various courses—even, sometimes, the course in which they themselves are teaching—and do not make sure that their advisees schedules are correctly planned.

The expected retort would be that it is the student's job to watch out for his own credits and requirements, to see for himself that he will be able to graduate at the proper time. But then why in the world have advisors? In many instances advisors do more harm than good, and at best they are little more than a check upon the student. The authorities might say that if students used their heads they would not fall into errors which would make it necessary for them to change their program after the semester is well under way or to go to summer school in order to acquire an added credit for graduation. But in many instances students who have been barred thus from graduation at the last minute have been Phi Beta Kappas, and presumably such students have brains enough to see to their own schedule.

When advisors O. K. programs, it should be with the understanding that come what may, their advisees should be allowed to graduate, and that if it is discovered in May that such and such a senior has sufficient grade points and credits for the college in which he is but not sufficient for his chosen course he should be granted his diploma.

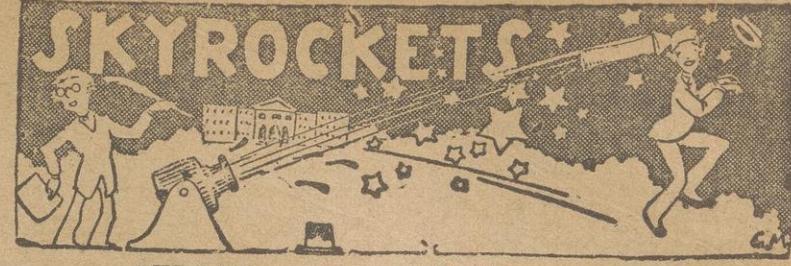

Otherwise, let the dean or the advisors sign contracts with the students that the latter will graduate if they carry out their schedule as planned at the outset of the last semester.

And by the way, as a side issue, it might be a splendid idea if advisors and teachers kept their office hours now and then.

PETTY THIEVERY

Soon there will be appearing in the paper announcements of the thefts of various and numerous articles of student apparel that had, in many cases, been carelessly hung up on hooks in a hallway, and now and again of some especially expensive articles that had been forcibly taken from the hook where it had been locked. Always at such occurrences, there follows a denunciation of student honor, when the real facts of the case warrant otherwise.

Professional petty thieves make a practice of visiting public buildings, university buildings and the like, for the purpose of rifling pockets in the cloakrooms and making away with whatsoever strikes them as profitable. Each year students here lose considerable as a result of their own negligence and thoughtlessness. Overcoat pockets were not meant for valuables. Further, if the individual values his new tophat, fur piece, or hat, it will be taken into the class room where an eye can be kept on it. Individual alertness and care is all that is required to circumvent petty thievery.

Hair Driers Subdue Dripping, Stringy Locks For Co-eds

Girls! rows of girls! girls standing, girls sitting. Hair! wet hair, partly dried and stringy hair! What can these words signify except the room in Lathrop hall created especially for the purpose of transforming girls with wet hair into girls with dry hair.

Lathrop is a changed place this year. Instead of having four worn electric driers to perform the process of drying the hair of the thousands of Wisconsin co-eds, there is a whole row of brightly polished tin driers all around the women's dressing room which is just across from the swimming pool. The whole arrangement of the women's showers and dressing rooms on the ground floor was changed this summer and into these improvements crept these new hair driers.

The driers have a very intricate construction. In the first place there is a tin tube which extends all the way around the room, and which is directly connected to the power plant. At intervals just so far apart, holes are cut in the tin

Badger Announcements Dropped From Airplane

ASSOCIATE EDITOR BRAVES STORM IN PUBLICITY STUNT

Bernardine Chesley '26 Rides Aloft to Scatter Cards

It wasn't raining rain alone yesterday afternoon, but 1926 Badger announcements, too.

Circling over the city in an airplane piloted by Lieutenant Overly, formerly of the United States air service, Bernardine Chesley, '26, associate editor of the Badger, dropped 5,000 announcements urging students to "Buy Wisconsin's Wonder Book" and to "Wallop Minnesota."

Some Have Wiese's Autograph.

A large number of these announcements bore the autograph of Otis Wiese, '26, editor in chief of the Badger. All those who found an autographed announcement will be given a free 1926 Badger if they present these slips to the editor by Friday night. The names of the lucky persons will appear in Saturday's issue of the Daily Cardinal.

The course of the airplane was from Wisconsin avenue and Langdon street, to the lower campus and from there over to Camp Randall where it descended. Because it was raining at the time of the flight, the airplane went only approximately 150 to 200 feet up in the air.

To Fly at Gopher Game. The lower wing of the plane bore the sign "1926 Badger." Saturday afternoon the "Badger plane" will make its last flight in the Badger cause over Camp Randall during the game.

GRAD GETS CONTRACT FOR BADGER ENGRAVING

H. H. Brockhausen, manager of the Brock Engraving company, and a graduate of the class of 1923, has been chosen by the 1926 Badger to do all the Badger engraving.

Mr. Brockhausen has been in the art and engraving business for the past year and a half.

This part of the year book work is far ahead of schedule, according to Otis Wiese, '26. All the engraved plates for the art work are already completed and the rest of the work is well under way.

BADGER WILL FEATURE ALL UNIVERSITY EXPO

The all university exposition, which occurs every four years and which will be held again next April, will be featured in the 1926 Badger. Chairmen of the various committees, pictures of exhibits and an editorial review of the exposition will be included in the volume. The Badger will appear on the campus in early May and is expected to have the first account among the campus publications of the exposition. Arrangements have already been made for exclusive pictures.

WOMEN TRANSFERS ARE TO MEET AT BANQUET

The Intercollegiate club for women transfer students is to hold its first banquet at 6:30 o'clock, October 21, in the Barnard dining room. Tickets for the banquet will be on sale beginning Wednesday noon at the W. S. G. A. office. Martha Williamson '25, president, asks that tickets should be procured early in the week. Dean Louise F. Nardin and Miss Mary Anderson will be guests of the club for the evening.

GRAD OF 1923 MADE EDITOR ON JOURNAL

Harold E. McClelland, '23, has been promoted to city editor of the Wisconsin State Journal. Mr. McClelland is a graduate of the department of journalism in the university, and was formerly news editor of the Daily Cardinal.

Satire Section of Badger is Taken Over By Octopus

The entire satire section of the 1926 Badger has been taken over by the Octopus staff under the direction of Gordon Lewis, '25, editor-in-chief of the humor magazine.

This has been done to make this section more representative, of a higher quality, and larger than ever before in the history of the Badger, it was announced by Otis Wiese, '26, the editor of the Badger, last night. The whole Octopus staff has been working on the section for the past month and will continue to do so until the section is complete.

"The idea is entirely novel and we hope it will set a precedent for future satire sections of the Badger," Wiese said.

Miller Completes Text in Railroad Transportation

Classes in railway transportation are using for the first time a text written by S. L. Miller, assistant professor of the economics department. For the past several years students have been using the mimeographed notes which Professor Miller compiled from time to time. He has spent two years in the writing of this book.

In this new text, which was off the press just in time for use this semester, particular stress is placed on the history of railroad development. Professor Miller has analyzed in detail the economics of railroad development and has brought the material up to date by a very thorough treatment of governmental regulation, including the Esch-Cummins act.

Professor Miller, who has been connected with the university for the last 10 years, teaches courses in railway finance, railway problems, and traffic rates.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—A valuable collection of objects used by the Yakuts, a tribe of northern Siberia, has recently been acquired by the department of archaeology and ethnology for the Peabody museum at Harvard university. The collection shows the primitive customs of the people. The clothing is made entirely of horsehide or reindeer hide, with the fur left on. There are also wooden traps which work on the same principle as the bow and arrow. The trap is set and held in place by a trigger, which is released by the animal.

TWO SECTIONS OF BADGER TO HAVE NEW LAYOUT

Summaries and Senior Pictures Will Have Harmonious Layout

The 1926 Badger will have two new features in its scene and senior sections.

The scene section will be pictorially and reproducibly different from that of any university annual, explains Otis Wiese, '26, editor-in-chief.

Full page views of campus scenes with a special adaptation of art work will be used with the object of presenting the spirit and the atmosphere of the campus rather than to make mere pictorial reproductions, says Wiese.

New Senior Pages

"It is hoped that the scene section in the 1926 Badger will not necessarily establish a precedent but that it will at least give food for thought and suggest new avenues of presentations to editors of future Badgers," he states. "The artistic treatment is such as will satisfy the most exacting of art connoisseurs."

In the senior section of the 1926 Badger the page arrangement is entirely new and the art work has been planned to be especially harmonious with the photos of graduates.

The page arrangement will permit each summary accompanying a picture to be exactly opposite the photo, thus avoiding any confusion as to the identity of seniors.

In the section the art work, while designed especially to accompany the pictorial layout is subsidiary to the presentation of the pictures. The art is also harmonious and unified with the other art work of the book.

New Summary Cards

Also a radical departure in the senior section will be the standardized form of the accompanying summary. Seniors for the first time in the history of college annual administration have been given a printed summary on which to check their activities. This printed summary is indexed by the editorial office and directly given to the printer to be copied for the book, thus avoiding any errors of transcription that might occur in the editorial office.

To further make the senior section complete and accurate, six Madison photographers have been given the names of all seniors and also graduate students receiving degrees next June and two-thirds

Four Days Remain to Hand in Senior Badger Summaries

"Senior summaries must be in within the next four days," Otis Wiese, editor of the 1926 Badger, said yesterday. "Only 125 have been handed in, and it is necessary that the remaining 1,400 be in by October 20."

Any students who expect to graduate in January or at the end of summer school may have their picture and summary in the Badger. If sittings are not completed with any one of the seven authorized photographers by October 20 the picture will not be in the Badger.

A fee charge of $1.50 to cover the cost of engraving should accompany the summary, besides the receipt from the photographer.

WILL HAVE ONLY 100 COPIES ON SALE IN SPRING

Subscription Tables and Solicitors Will Continue Drive Until Tuesday

That old excuse, "there is no use to subscribe now, I'll do it later," is entirely wrong, and it is absolutely essential that all persons who wish to be sure of getting their 1926 Badger must subscribe before October 20.

Limited Spring Sale

Although the business manager does not deny that there will be an open sale in the spring, it is denied that there will be an unlimited sale at that time. There will be only 100 extra copies ordered for this sale, and the demand for these copies will necessitate their costing $6 a piece.

"The sales to date show that the students do not realize the seriousness of not subscribing now," Ben Anderson, '26, business manager of the Badger, said yesterday, "for the deadline will absolutely be October 20 and the sales are far behind. If the students are without money at the present, they should borrow or earn some before that time or stand the chance of being without a Badger in June."

Canvass Till Monday

The table at the top of the hill where subscriptions are being received will be there for the next few days, and the rooming houses, fraternity and sorority houses will be canvassed until October 20.

The Badger office will be glad to send a solicitor to any person's house if they only call the office.

MANY POSITIONS ON BADGER STILL OPEN

Editors are still wanted for the 1926 Badger.

Although the announcement of Badger appointments for the major positions on the staff was made yesterday, there are still many big positions waiting to be filled, according to the editor of the Badger. Among these are the positions of forensics editor, men's athletic editor, music editor, assistant editorships, and places within the various departments.

All further appointments will be made on the basis of the personal interviews which the editor-in-chief will have with each person who applies for work on the Badger in the fall. These interviews will be arranged for within the coming week.

NORWEGIAN COMES ON SCHOLARSHIP

Picked Wisconsin From Four Colleges in America For Further Study

Anton Brandzaeg, graduate student from the Norwegian National Institute of Technology at Trondhgen, Norway, has come to the university under a scholarship from the Norwegian institution, to study engineering.

Although he has been in the United States for only a little over two weeks, he has been very much impressed by the differences in the two universities.

"We have a club somewhat similar to Haresfoot in Trondhgen," he said. "Only men take part in the plays which are not musical comedies, but satirical and humorous plays. The glee club is particularly active, and during the summer months it tours Sweden and Denmark as well as Norway."

Expressing his interest in student publications, Mr. Brandzaeg declared that there were no daily student publications in Trondhgen, but that a weekly magazine, student owned and controlled, was published. In addition to news, the magazine contains literary and humorous efforts.

Mr. Brantzaeg chose this university through the recommendations of the international bureau of education. Four scholarships are issued yearly by the Norwegian Institute of Technology, and are generally scholarships in residence, but occasionally exception is made in special cases to allow the student to go abroad. Mr. Brantzaeg is the second student from the Norwegian Institute of Technology to come to the university, the other being Anderson in 1922.

The Reader's Say-So

WE HAVE WITH US TODAY.

Editor, The Cardinal:

Yes, a new organization has appeared upon our campus in an unexpected quarter. We have another institution—The Pep Band. This band has a real work to do and Major Murphy says that that is to make lots of noise. The men who compose this new addition to our numerous musical organizations are starting something—Wisconsin's first "Ballyhoo" band. This group is to send off the teams and meet them again, to do stunts between halves at games, and first, last, and always, to be noisy. There should be no feeling that this band is unnecessary or a rival of either the First or Second bands. Each has its work to do—there will be no friction between them. All that this band needs, to be an established success—they have talent, enthusiasm, and the will to do—is your support. It is solicited.

Wisconsin Tradition.

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

Although I was present throughout the entire period of the Coe game last Saturday, I somehow failed to hear the announcement to which this communication has reference, but I did most certainly observe the omission of "Varsity" at the kick off. I am informed that this omission was at the request of Coach Ryan, and that it was so announced before the game.

I am aware that the word "tradition" has been rather over-worked at Wisconsin, especially by such bodies as the Student Senate (of which I was formerly a member, lest anyone think me over-hasty in my charges), which has been known to create or destroy so-called "traditions" on very short notice. But of all the customary performances of Wisconsin students, the one which most merits the name, the one which is in the truest sense of the word a tradition of the university is the singing of "The Varsity Toast" at that tense moment just before the kick-off. To the best of my knowledge, it is a tradition as old as the history of football at Wisconsin. Certain I am that it is our best loved tradition. Certain I am that no man or woman is a true Badger who does not thrill to the solemn cadences of that majestic hymn, every measure of which vibrates with reverence for the spirit which is Wisconsin, for the highest and best of Alma Mater. Certain I am that every grad and former student from Paris to Shanghai will agree with me that such a tradition is not to be lightly overthrown.

As far as I can ascertain Coach Ryan offered no explanations of his request. Coach Ryan owes every Badger an explanation. We are all willing to co-operate with him in any measure which will brighten our prospects for that long delayed, but now, I firmly believe, imminent championship. And although we do not claim any right to be admitted to secret practice, I think we are amply justified in inquiring the, as yet secret, reasons for forbidding "Varsity."

I know that the coach acted in perfectly good faith, and I imagine that he has some theory about the psychologically ill effect of "Varsity" at just that moment. But Mr. Ryan is a Dartmouth man, I believe, and so we are further justified fied in demanding not only an explanation of his theories of psychology, but the confirmation of them by the most interested party, namely the team. If our own Wisconsin team will publicly confirm through these columns the soundness of Coach Ryan's theory, my objections at least will be permanent.

ly withdrawn, and "Varsity" at the kick off will become a sanctified memory with me, associated with the names of Wisconsin's heroes since Eddie Gillett—my earliest recollection.

Indulge me, Mr. Editor, a little further: If Coach Ryan's objections to "Varsity" at the kick-off are psychological—and if he foresaw in the Coe game such a desperate struggle that he must needs employ every aid at his command, even though it necessitated the overthrow of our dearest tradition—why did he begin the game with the second team?

BLEYER ADDRESSES PRESS ASSOCIATION

Says Inaccurate Reporters Are Destroying Sound Public Opinion

"The ignorant, incompetent reporter or copy-reader who day by day gives tens of thousands of readers inaccurate news, the food of opinion, is destroying the basis of sound public opinion, and without sound public opinion, based on truth, not on half-truths or unintentional falsehoods, democratic government like ours cannot long survive," said Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the course in journalism who addressed the Inland Daily Press association in Chicago Tuesday on "The Importance of Maintaining High Editorial Standards."

In discussing the qualifications of a reporter, Professor Bleyer pointed out that there are now no definite requirements for admission to the practice of journalism, and that the untrained and often ignorant reporters are filling our newspapers with inaccuracies which cannot always be corrected by the desk men.

As a remedy for this, Professor Bleyer suggested that definite requirements for admission to the practice of journalism should be established, such as educational qualifications, and a test of the candidate's ability to use intelligently the knowledge he possesses, in order that the character of his judgment as to news and its significance can be ascertained.

"In short, what newspaper work needs most today is to be given a more definite professional status," continued Professor Bleyer. "It needs a greater feeling of solidarity among all newspaper writers and editors, from the "cut" reporter to the editor-in-chief.

"It needs generally accepted standards of admission and standards of practice like those of other professions. It needs more general recognition by the public at large of the fact that competent, intelligent newspaper writers and editors, as purveyors of the food of opinion, are absolutely essential factors in the success of our republic, its government and society," he concluded.

GREEKS CO-OPERATE IN BUYING OF COAL

Twelve cars of coal, about 300 tons in all, will arrive in Madison today and be distributed among a number of fraternity and sorority houses that have co-operated in purchasing in large quantities, according to James F. Lowe, '25, who, with Ferdinand Kojis, '24, originated the idea.

It was thought that by throwing all their orders together and ordering the coal in car lots a considerable saving could be effected. Altogether 1000 tons were ordered and they are to be delivered in 300-ton lots throughout the winter. This made possible a saving of more than three dollars a ton.

The firm from which the coal was ordered is the one that supplies the university.

Dairy Course Has Record Enrollment Present Semester

Ten per cent larger registration than ever before in the winter dairy course offered in the College of Agriculture for students from creameries in various parts of the state has been announced by E. W. Farrington, professor of dairy products in the university.

Several new machines have been installed in the plant, according to Mr. Farrington, as well as new methods of instruction in butter making, cheese making, ice cream, dairy and laboratory instruction. In this way better instruction can be offered than ever before and it is estimated that better equipped students can be graduated from the course.

From the 3,000 creameries situated throughout the state 4,000 students have already put in application for registration. They begin work November 5 and return to their factories in the spring.

BADGER APPLEMEN TO GET GRADING LESSONS

C. Kuehner, horticultural extension worker of the College of Agriculture, states that Badger applemen will be able to get first hand information on the grading of fruit. This will be carried on through a series of demonstrations in various counties where apple raising is an important agricultural industry.

FICTION MOST POPULAR AMONG LOCAL READERS

That fiction is the most popular form of literature among the people of Madison was proved by the statistics received from the public library. During the last year, 5,509 books of fiction have been drawn from the library. Literature, fine arts, sociology, history, biography, and philosophy, range from 150 to 500 books respectively. Miss Smith, the librarian, stated that most people read novels for the sociology they contain instead of reading a text on the subject.

MANY ENROLL IN VOCATIONAL COURSE

Take Advantage of Spare Time to Study Typing and Shorthand

That university students find it profitable to be able to take dictation and to typewrite is evidenced by the fact that a number of them are taking courses in shorthand and typing at the Vocational school during their spare time.

No definite figures as to the number of students who are taking advantage of the opportunity thus afforded them are obtainable, as the students attend the regular day or night classes of the institution and no differentiation is made between them and the vocational students. However, the number of co-eds exceeds the number of university men, and most of them attend the evening rather than the daytime classes.

Instruction in numerous vocational courses is offered, but there are no university students in any

50 ENROLL IN HALL'S CONSTITUTION COURSE

More than 50 lawyers, school teachers, members of women's clubs, business men, and others have enrolled in a course in constitutional problems, given in Milwaukee, Friday nights, by Prof. A. B. Hall, under the auspices of the University Extension division.

Work in this course, which will take up such contested questions as the power of judicial review, the due process clause, and related problems, will be given full university credit.

The class is conducted in the Library building, and will continue throughout the present semester.

other than these two courses. This fact is indicative of the value which students place upon these commercial courses in connection with their academic work.

Courses in shorthand and typing are offered in practically all high schools, but many high school graduates did not realize their value while they were in school. As a consequence, some are willing to devote a portion of their leisure time to those pursuits.

College Women to Discuss Problems of Modern Co-ed

All women graduates of the university are invited to attend a conference with the regents of the College Women's club Saturday noon. The meeting will deal with the social and scholastic problems of the co-ed.

The conference is being held independently of the regular alumnae meeting in order to devote more time to discussion. Each woman is asked to bring a list of questions dealing with particular problems which will be answered by the regents.

Regent Theodore Krenshage will present various bills which are to be introduced into the legislature and will explain any questions concerning them.

All women who expect to be present are asked to call Mrs. George A. Chamberlain, member of the committee at large, early in the week to make table reservations for the luncheon.

WILSON ATTACKED BY LA FOLLETTE

Denounces Him For Not Adhering to Policy of "Absolute Neutrality"

ST. LOUIS—Addressing a gathering of 10,000 men and women here Tuesday night, Sen. La Follette, independent candidate for president, assailed the foreign policy of the Wilson and Harding-Coolidge administrations and denounced President Wilson for not adhering to his 1914 policy of "absolute neutrality."

Mr. La Follette spoke in the Coliseum, the same hall which had resounded with acclamations at the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson for his second term as president, when the shadow of America's participation in the great world cataclysm hung above the assemblage which had cheered itself hoarse in acclimating the great Democratic liberal.

As in Cincinnati Mr. La Follette outlined his scheme for a foreign policy and the hall which had witnessed the nomination of Mr. Wilson rocked with applause for the man who was the outstanding opponent of the Wilson war policies.

Assails Four-Power Pact

John B. Leahy, understood to be a representative spokesman of the St. Louis Irish group, presided and Sen. La Follette was introduced by R. T. Wood, independent state chairman.

Sen. La Follette declared he was convinced that America's foreign policy today was being dictated by the same forces that were responsible for the abandonment of American neutrality during the World war. He summed up these forces in the phrase: "Private monopoly system," and said he was convinced that American neutrality was abandoned through the influence of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. La Follette attacked the present administration's foreign policy especially the four-power treaty negotiated at the Washington disarmament conference.

All Traditions Violated

After declaring it was time to return to fundamental American traditions in the conduct of foreign affairs, as well as domestic policy, Sen. La Follette said:

"Today there is not one of the fundamental principles that has not been ignored, violated or utterly rejected. Those who have controlled our foreign policy during the last 10 years have departed entirely from American traditions and American principles and permitted our policy to be shaped by the imperialistic maxims and precepts of European diplomacy."

While he thought it true that our departure from traditional American policy began with William McKinley, following the Spanish war, and the breach was broadened under Roosevelt and Taft, nevertheless, he said, it was his opinion "that the complete abandonment of the true American foreign policy came under the administration of Woodrow Wilson and has been continued and expanded under the present Harding-Coolidge administration."

Crediting Mr. Wilson with having tried in the first two years of his term to live up to his anti-imperialist platform, the speaker pointed to the late president's "absolute neutrality policy" in 1914 as "a true American policy," which, had it been adhered to, would never have drawn this country into the war.

"We would be free from every form of foreign entanglement," he continued. "Sixty thousand American boys would still be alive. We would not have a colossal war debt. We would be free from our heavy burden of taxation. We would have no problem of caring for hundreds of thousands of wounded, diseased and shell-shocked veterans. We would not have American agriculture prostrate and demanding speedy relief."

"We would have no such concentration of wealth in the hands of a few as we witnessed in recent years. Above all, we should have preserved our proud distinction of a nation steadfastly devoted to peace."

The Fatal Error

"Had the plain principle of international law announced by Washington and Jefferson been followed, we could not have been called upon to declare war upon any of the belligerent nations of Europe. The fatal error came in the failure of President Wilson to treat the belligerent nations of Europe alike, the failure to reject the unlawful 'war zones' of both Germany and Great Britain. Wilson was sincere when he declared:

"I do not doubt that President ed for absolute neutrality. I know the influence which surrounded him

At the Parkway

J. Warren Kerrigan,

and which, day after day, month after month, brought the heaviest imaginable pressure to induce him to abandon his position of neutrality and throw the strength of the United States openly on the side of the allied governments.

The publication of the memoirs and letters of Franklin K. Lane and Walter H. Page and other documentary evidence gives us a picture of the insidious methods which were used to induce the president to abandon his declared position.

"It is my opinion that the private monopoly system was primarily responsible for the abandonment of our national foreign policy; that this system forced us into the World war; that this system is now driving us at breakneck speed along the paths of imperialism that lead inevitably to war and to the ending of free government at home as well.

"I was convinced at the beginning that we abandoned our policy of neutrality through the influence of J. P. Morgan & Co., the fiscal agent of the British empire, who, in the early spring of 1917, turned loose the press and agencies of propaganda to drive us into the war."

Scholarship Helps Many Women Get Summer Education

The Florence Simms scholarship fund, which under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. sent eight factory women through the last summer session here, will benefit a much larger number next summer, according to Isadore Clissold '25, student industrial chairman for the Y. W. C. A.

Florence Simms was the Y. W. C. A. industrial secretary on the national board which started the industrial movement in that organization. She did such notable work during her term of office that the committee in charge of the fund decided to dedicate it to her.

The fund which put the girls through school last summer was raised on the hill by the city Y. W. C. A. campaign under a "special day plan," whereby different organizations took special days for the raising of their quota.

Translate Byrne's Monographs Into Arabic Language

Prof. Eugene H. Byrne of the department of history has recently received a copy of a commercial periodical published in the Arabic language which contains several of his monographs on medieval trade between Italy and Syria.

Professor Byrne was sent by the university to Europe two years ago and while there he found and brought back to this country many records of early medieval times. Some of these are in the document room of the library and others are in his possession.

Occasionally the board of regents sets aside a certain amount of money which is used in historical research in Europe. It was through this grant that Professor Byrne was enabled to make the research which resulted in the writing of the monographs which have been translated into the Arabic tongue.

Weekly Bulletin to Record Future Campus Activities

The office of the dean of men has instituted a method by which all university students will become acquainted with the campus activities which are expected to take place in the near future. This has been done by means of a bulletin which is issued each week.

In this weekly bulletin the day and the date of each activity is given in chronological order. Notices for this bulletin should be sent to 201 South hall, office of the dean of men, by Thursday morning of the preceding week. All campus activities, and any activities which the students in general will be interested in are recorded in the bulletin.

CO-EDS CRAVE MUSIC AFTER VIC IS STOLEN

"Where is my wandering Victrola this evening?" wail co-eds at 428 N. Muray St. The poor girls have no jazz, they cannot dance, they are lost. And all because they lent their music box for the graduate party in Lathrop last Saturday night.

Someone with a mean sense of humor or a deflated pocket-book evidently slipped it in a vest pocket at an opportune moment and walked out after apparently convincing the policeman at the door that his corpulence was natural. However that may be, it is gone; that is certain.

The girls are busy following up several promising clews and when the culprit is found he will certainly be sentenced to thirty days solid rock breaking. Of course if the Victrola should happen to appear on the front porch some morning, no questions will be asked.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Are men more intelligent than women when it comes to a knowledge of political subjects? R. L. Mott, instructor in political science at the University of Chicago, thinks he has proved this statistically through an examination given students entering his class. In the grading of the examinations the average was 31, the highest 65, being made by a man, and the lowest, 12, by a woman. While the study of civics was shown to be a distinct benefit in this examination, women who had studied civics made lower averages than men who had not.

Queen Victoria Marks Dead

Below: Queen Victoria Marks, pedigree dachshund. Above: Guy P. Dodge, 322 State st., owner of the dog; Mr. Dodge's father, Newell H. Dodge, 1127 W. Johnson st., and one day's "catch" of rabbits which Queen Victoria rounded up.

THE PET of State st., Queen Victoria Marks, pedigree dachshund, owned by Guy P. Dodge, attorney, is dead, and the whole neighborhood is mourning her loss.

Once upon a time, the Queen was a haughty four-legged creature, who made no small business of living up to her name. But even the queens of dogs are apt to fall, and one day, some three years ago, a great hulk of an automobile descended upon the pride of the street and broke her left fore leg.

The leg was amputated by Dr. C. A. Deadman and since then the brave, pathetic, little Queen Victoria has limped around on three legs with half of the fourth dangling in mid air. She could still romp around with the children, and was a great favorite with them.

Seventeen years ago, Queen Victoria was purchased at a dog show in Chicago by Mr. Dodge. She comes of a famous line of German dachshunds, some of her ancestors having been Ashold Hobo Marks and Rose Queen.

The Queen was particularly valuable as a rabbit hunter in the days before she was injured and accompanied her master on all of his hunting trips.

Having reached the grand old age of seventeen, Victoria became par-tically paralyzed. Dr. Deadman was again called to the rescue and this time put the faithful hound out of her misery forever. Flowers cover the grave of Victoria and a stone marks her place, but State st. will not find another such Queen for many a day.

PYTHIA TO MIX SOCIAL EVENTS WITH MEETING

Mixing social events with literary meetings is the plan of the Pythia Literary society for the next year. It was voted at the last meeting to have one meeting in every six a social gathering.

Any girl wishing to try out for Pythia may sign up from 2 to 4 o'clock today or tomorrow in Lathrop hall. Tryouts will be held tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in 35 Music hall.

"It is not necessary that a girl be particularly talented in any art, but if she possesses the interest she will be welcomed to Pythias," Eileen Blackey '25, president, said.

A challenge was sent from Rockford college, to the winning team in the Castalia-Pythia debate, to come to Rockford and debate their team.

Octopus Coupon Sale System is Successful on Hill

The new coupon system conducted by the Octopus proved very convenient and successful during the hill sale of the October issue yesterday, according to Clark Hazelwood, business manager.

Regular subscribers can now get their Octopus on the hill as soon as they come out instead of waiting a half day as they experienced in mailing subscriptions. The coupon card consists of a detachable slip for each number of the magazine and is as good as cash to any solicitor.

Anyone wishing to exchange his mailing subscriptions for coupons can do so at the Octopus office, and anyone wishing to subscribe now can get the remaining seven issues for $1.30.

The hill sale of the Octopus could not be estimated exactly but has already exceeded the number sold of the October issue last year, according to Hazelwood. The total subscriptions number between 900 and 1,000.

ACCUSE RAILROAD HEAD OF GRAFT

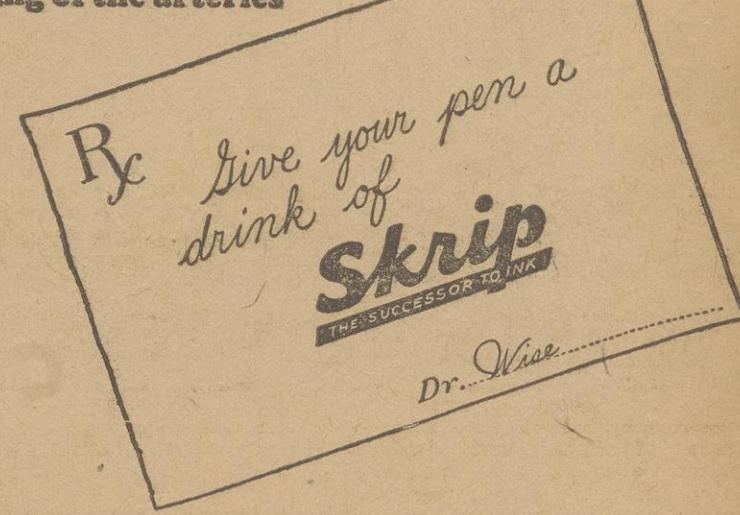

Claim Canright Was Given 100
Shares of Union Food
Stock

MILWAUKEE—Garfield S. Canright, head of the railroad commission's securities division, was presented with 100 shares of Union Food Stores Co. stock at about the time the company received a state permit to sell its securities in Wisconsin. Sylvester R. Rush, special federal prosecutor, declared Tuesday in his opening address to the jury at the trial in federal court here, of 16 executives and agents of the company on fraud charges. Mr. Canright received one dividend on this stock, Mr. Rush said, but later returned it to the company. The prosecutor did not specify whether the gift was in common or preferred stock. The preferred stock had a par value of $10 a share, while the common stock never had any set par value.

In connection with revelations at the company's bankruptcy proceedings that $3,000 had been paid Edward Grieb, city real estate agent, for services in connection with the company's application for a stock selling permit, Mr. Rush expressed "belief" that this money had been paid to Mr. Grieb with the intention on the part of officials of the Union Food Stores Co. that it would be used for "taking care of" the securities division.

ZR-3 ARRIVES AT LAKEHURST, N. J.

Sets New Record; Flies 5,000 Miles; Up Over Eighty Hours

LAKEHURST, N. J.—The glimmering bulk of the ZR-3 hove into sight of the naval air station at Lakehurst at 9:16 a. m. today.

She made a beautiful landing. She drove straight over the air-drome to the far edge of the field where she headed around and skirted the station for a quarter of its circumference, before nosing downward into the breeze and coming to a stop before the airdrome.

She looked like a silver-gilded ball on a Christmas tree as she settled downward head on. She came so slowly that she looked like an inanimate object, suspended by some invisible force.

Immediately that she snubbed fast, her navigating officers and crew disembarked. Officers climbed into her hull and cabin with mechanics to begin an inspection of the gas bag's duraluminum structure and motors.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship and president of the Zeppelin Co., jubilantly declared as his feet touched the concrete floor of the airdrome:

"Gentleman a new world's record—5,006 miles of continuous flight."

"The first part of our voyage was fine," Dr. Eckener continued. "The last part was full of heavy weather. From 5 a. m. Tuesday to 5 a. m. today we battled against the weather with a velocity of 55 to 60 miles per hour."

Sailed 80 Hours

It was 80 hours, 45 minutes since she sailed from Friedrichshafen, Germany, bound for this country with 28 Germans and four Americans and destined for delivery at this station as the largest dirigible ever constructed and flown.

Her non-stop flight was estimated by officers of this station at 5,000 miles. The previous records were 4,500 miles set by the French dirigible Dixmude in 1923 and 3,500 miles set by the Zeppelin L-59 during the World war.

Thousands Watch Arrival

Thousands of persons lined the main highway leading into the field. Motor cars were parked in squadrons by the roadside. Excited groups of officers and civilians scattered about the air-drome rushed to the point where the signal bearers were heading.

Four hundred sailors and marines equipped with landing tackle marched on the field with their officers, ready to deploy along the drag ropes. Mot cars laden with heavy tackle and heroic letters in blue and canvas were made ready to indicate the spot chosen for the landing.

New York Crowd Goes Wild
NEW YORK—Cut of the North-eastern sky today came a vision such as struck terror into the hearts of combatants in war-time—a German dirigible of monstrous size, her sides gleaming in the uncertain light of the early morning.

So arrived the ZR-3, Goliath of the air, fashioned in the famous Zeppelin works in Germany, and destined to take her place alongside the Shenandoah, one of the main units in the air forces of the American navy. Crowds hurrying to work halted in groups in the streets and looked upward as the giant Zeppelin, escorted by two airplanes, sailed over their heads.

The Zeppelin passed swiftly over Brooklyn. Hats were tossed into the air and general bedlam broke loose.

Isaac Abrahamson of Cambridge made a hit with the crowd with the rendition of several humorous selections. E. J. Onstad told of the organization work that is being done in behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign. The La Follette-Wheeler quartette comprising A. T. Torge, Andrew Neilson, Otto Jahn and Bob Maffett was heartily applauded. Otto Neupert presided at the meeting.

Next Tuesday a meeting is to be held at Deerfield at which Harry Sauthoff will be the speaker. Tonight Senator John C. Cashman will speak at a meeting in Arlington.

MISCHA ELMAN TO PLAY HERE SOON

Won Great Popularity on First Musical Invasion of Far East

Mischa Elman, world-famous violinist, has been engaged for an appearance here on November 11 at the Christ Presbyterian church. Mr. Elman's engagement was secured through the efforts of the All-Star Concert Series. This will be his first appearance here in three years.

At this recital Mr. Elman will present one of his inimitable programs that have won his popularity with both professionals and laymen. For lovers of classics there will be sonatas by Nardini, Vivaldi, Beethoven, or Handel. Admirers of technical fluency will enjoy Mr. Elman's rendition of the great works of Wieniawski or Saraste, while the less sophisticated will derive pleasure from the delightful lyrics which he includes in his repertoire.

During the season 1920-1921, Mischa Elman was engaged for a concert tour of the Far East and Orient. He was the first world-famous violinist to visit that part of the globe in his artistic capacity and was hailed not only as a master musician, but as a special envoy to establish more firmly the bonds of goodwill and co-operation between the East and West. His tremendous successes there not only paved the way for other musicians of note, but brought him an invitation from the leading impresario of that territory for a tour there again last summer.

Tickets for the recital at the Christ Presbyterian church on the eleventh of next month went on sale yesterday at Hook's Music store.

Morgan Will Speak at Ad Club Dinner Tonight in Y. M. C. A.

Miss Beatrice Morgan, advertising manager of the Harry S. Manchester department store, will speak at the Ad club dinner to be held at 6 o'clock tonight in the Y. M. C. A. She was a delegate at the world advertising conference which convened last summer in London. The experiences she had there will be the subject of her talk before the club.

This is to be an open meeting for the Ad club to which all advertising classes and students interested in advertising are invited by the president, Clarke Hazelwood, L. 2. Other officers for the year are Ellis Fulton, '25, vice president; Luther Brooks, '26, secretary, and Ralph Crowley, '26, treasurer.

Moonshine-filled Flowers Cause of Bootleggers Arrest

Etta Foster, 33, tenant of a cottage on the shores of the Yahara river at Interlake, town of Blooming Grove, recently in focus of public attention because of her arrests on liquor and disorderly house charges, was sentenced to serve 90 days in the Milwaukee house of correction by Judge O. A. Stolen in superior court Wednesday.

The woman, who before her divorce several years ago, was known in Madison as Mrs. Etta Stevenson, was arrested in the raids Saturday night when state prohibition men found moonshine secreted in the Morning Glories that entwine about the lattice work on the front porch of the cottage.

D. Mc Michel, 27, of no fixed abode and said by police to be a professional car thief, was sentenced by Judge Stolen to serve three years in the Green Bay reformatory for theft of sedan here Saturday night. Mc Michel was nabbed by Patrolman Casper Lottes on the South Side as he was wheeling a stolen car toward Chicago.

The sentence of Etta Foster may also lead to action by Asst. Dist. Atty. Philip Sanborn to secure the forfeiture of a heavy bail furnished by her last spring when she was arraigned for possessing booze. Under terms of the bond a conviction for a second offense while she was being held for trial was to result in such a forfeiture.

These conferences are held all over the United States. An article explaining the nature of this work will appear in the next issue of the Wisconsin Law Review, this article consisting of the address made by William Draper Lewis at the meeting of the Wisconsin Bar association last June. Professor Page expects to be back the end of this week.

VARIETY OF JOBS OFFERED TO MEN

Y. M. C. A. Employment Division Places Many in Good Positions

Every kind of work from dishwashing to piano playing has been made available to students through the employment division of the Y. M. C. A. this fall. Work such as furnace tending, dishwashing, and the like is the most prevalent, but occasional calls for musicians and others adept in some special line are received.

So far 277 jobs have been obtained for men students by the Y. M. C. A. since the opening of school, according to Miss Katherine Rosenberry, employment secretary. Of these 110 have been permanent positions and the remainder have been temporary. Permanent positions have been comparatively scarce this year, Miss Rosenberry said, but temporary work has been about equal to the demand.

House cleaning comprises the majority of the part-time work, and janitor service has taken the greatest number of those who desired work for the entire school year. Many students are specializing in serving for banquets and other social affairs.

LAW ASSOCIATION PLANS NEW WORK

Dances, Mock Trials, and Banquet to Be Included in Club Program

Members of the Law school have reorganized the Law school association and intend to carry the work on along different lines than has been done in recent years.

"The association is not a new idea here at Wisconsin," said Clark J. Hazelwood L 2, secretary-treasurer of the association, in commenting on the reorganization yesterday, "but we intend to give it a number of new functions this year," he said.

Any member of the university taking subjects in the Law school is eligible to membership upon the payment of a fee of $1. Members of the faculty are also members of the association. George R. Rüdiger L 3, is the president. The association maintains a club room for smoking and reading in the basement of the Law building. It has always managed the lawyer's banquet which is held early in the spring as well as the Law school smoker which will take place sometime in December.

In addition to these functions the association will introduce the Harvard system of mock trials. This system divides the members into small groups, which have regular trials and argue on points of law. The upperclassmen act as the court and lowerclassmen act as the audience and witnesses. The association will also put on a lawyer's dance this year.

AUSTIN, Texas.—"Analysis of the honor pledge," declared Otis Rodgers, law student at the University of Texas, in addressing the freshman class on the honor system, "shows that students are given a number of rights, and that each of these rights carries with it a corresponding duty." During quizzes and examinations, students are free from interruption and whenever they wish to leave the room, they are free to do so. At the same time the student pledges himself not to receive aid or to give aid.

DAWSON CHOSEN TO LEAD CAISSON CLUB

The Caisson club, the R. O. T. C. field artillery club, held its first meeting last night at 615 North Lake. Cadet Major George Dawson was elected chairman for the coming year. Plans for the coming year were discussed and a large membership is expected. The organization sponsors the annual horse show and plans to organize a polo team are under way. Both military and social activities are included in the club's calendar for the year. President Dawson will announce committees within a few days.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind.—Wabash college is going to have a band which will rival the navy bands in appearance when the new uniforms of the band members arrive. The Student council has purchased 30 sweaters to complete the natty uniform of white trousers and the famous "Gob" hat. The sweaters are scarlet with a big 11-inch "W" on the front and a lyre on the left sleeve.
