I. PROBLEM ASSIGNMENT

The content of an appraisal report is determined by the decision for which it will serve as a benchmark and the limiting assumptions inherent in the property, data base, or other factors in the decision context.

A. Statement of Issue

The purpose of this appraisal is to estimate the fair market value of Campbell Tree and Land Co., Inc., if sold for cash, as of December 31, 1983. The valuation is that of a cash-cycle business enterprise functioning as a going concern.

B. Definition of Value

1. Fair Market Value

The most appropriate value definition for this appraisal is fair market value as stated below:

> The most probable price in cash, terms equivalent to cash, or in other precisely revealed terms, for which the appraised property will sell in a competitive market under all conditions requisite to fair sale, with the buyer and seller each acting prudently, knowledgeably, and for self-interest, and assuming that neither is under undue duress.
> Fundamental assumptions and conditions presumed in this definition are
>
> 1. Buyer and seller are motivated by self-interest.
> 2. Buyer and seller are well informed and are acting prudently.

3. The property is exposed for a reasonable time on the open market.

4. Payment is made in cash, its equivalent, or in specified financing terms generally available for the property type in its locale on the effective appraisal date.

5. The effect, if any, on the amount of market value of atypical financing, services, or fees shall be clearly and precisely revealed in the appraisal report. [1]

2. Appraisal Problems Inherent in Going Concern Value and Best Use

A Christmas tree farm is a manufacturing enterprise which combines land and seedlings in a process which requires a long-term, controlled agricultural process involving cultivation, spraying, shaping, and harvesting. At an appropriate time, harvesting must occur when the tree is of prime size for marketing or it will outgrow acceptable Christmas tree size and revert to low value pulpwood or a negative value for species unsuitable for pulpwood which comprise about 75 percent of Campbell's inventory. As a Christmas tree, the wholesale price is $9.30 to $12.50 per tree. Presently, in central Wisconsin, there are many large harvests of 22 to 25 year old red pine and white pine forests being made for pulpwood from plantings that were originally intended for the Christmas tree market. Alex Katovich, the District Forester from Wautoma, has stated that the average harvest in these plantations on a 50 percent cut, is 17 cords per acre. If it were a 100 percent cut, that would be 34 cords per acre. At the present stumpage price of $16 per cord, the yield would be $544 per acre. This would yield a value of $0.54 per tree, based on a standard of 1,000 trees per acre. The only difference between the red pine being harvested for pulpwood and the Scotch pine, red pine, or white pine being harvested for Christmas trees is the intense and specialized management and cultivational techniques being used by those who are knowledgeable in the industry. The tree itself has very little value; it is the entrepreneurial talent which creates the value.

Since there is a potential oversupply of suitable trees, the critical factor is marketing management and a continuous, sequential series of plantings and harvests which will shift the inventory of growing trees toward the changing varietal preference of the Christmas tree consumer. Presently, this shift is toward spruce and balsam and away from Scotch pine. The growing process is labor intensive and failure to fertilize, spray, and trim annually results in heavy attrition of trees due to disease or to misshapes which destroy marketability. Thus, future profitability requires continual reinvestment in a long-term growing crop as well as maintenance of wholesale buyer contracts by having an adequate supply each year.

The cost of such maintenance is a high reinvestment risk which is only justified by cash flows from annual marketing of all trees in the inventory of marketable size. The business, which is highly dependent on efficient management and marketing, is essentially a fixed cost, variable revenue enterprise with a cash cycle of 10 to 15 years.

Risk management and climate needs of alternative species require dispersal of the crop geographically and reduction of fixed cost requires that adequate economies of scale be achieved by adding sales from leased land and contract marketing to a basic core of suitable, owned properties. Farming operations require specialized equipment and buildings which have little salvage value separate from the going concern value. The most probable buyer of a Christmas tree operation is likely to be a tree farm operator who wishes to expand a business already equipped with equipment, storage facilities, and other elements of management space. Therefore, going concern values contain within them the real estate values of individual parcels and Christmas tree farm pole buildings. Only the residential rental units and salvage value of tools and equipment represent peripheral assets which might also be sold for salvage value.

Since Christmas tree farms seldom sell in a thin market of entrepreneurs, the market approach to value is difficult to apply. Christmas trees grow on marginal sandy soil with little prospect of higher and better agricultural use. In this case, the nursery site is in Racine County, the bulk of the Christmas trees are in Waushara County (the sand country), while the Douglas fir is in Bayfield County where the climate is temperate due to Lake Superior.

Therefore, the proper valuation method for this long-term manufacturing and maturing inventory process is the income approach. This method is consistent with the appraisal recommendations of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Ruling 59-60 which identifies the fundamental factors and methods which should be analyzed to arrive at valuation of a closely held business. The assumptions of the income approach are directed to all the factors to be considered according to Section 4.01 and 4.02 of Section 2031, Revised Ruling 59-60. These IRS rulings are those described by Wisconsin Code for arriving at valuation of a closely held business, page 56B of Wisconsin Divorce.

Personal property will be valued at book value, a generous assumption since salvage value of these specialized tools is minimal. Pole barns will be valued for moveable value and nonrelevant buildings, specifically rental residential units, will be valued for their rental value at their isolated locations.

The assemblage of properties representing trees of various ages and species on all lands which are not swamp or hardwood have their best value as part of the Christmas tree production system. Highest and best use of each property is as a component--a collective process--rather than individual ownership, with exception of rental residences.

Therefore, the value of a going concern is the net present value of Christmas tree operations, plus the net present value of cost recovery from peripheral sales of services and equipment, plus the income value of rental residences, plus book value of equipment and the moveable value of demountable pole buildings. Trucks and other vehicles are included at book value.

3. The Income Approach

The discounted cash flow approach to value is the most appropriate method to use when an income stream fluctuating over many years can be generated from managed intensive use of the land. This income estimate may be developed by allocating to the real estate that portion of the total income derived from operation of an ongoing business in which the real estate is a contributing component. [2] The real estate provides access to a business opportunity and is not the opportunity itself.

II. PROPERTY ANALYSIS

A. Subject Property Description

1. Legal Description and General Information

The subject property, Campbell Tree and Land Company, Inc., consists of 58 separate parcels in nine counties of Wisconsin. These parcels vary in size from 12 to 206.5 acres and total 4,757 acres, with 3,022 acres plantable for the growing of Christmas trees.

The dispersion of farms from Racine County in the south to Bayfield County in the north spans a distance of some 350 miles; however, the operations in these distant areas are specialized with plantations of Douglas fir, which have a very long growth cycle, being the furthest north in Bayfield County. Otherwise, the majority of operations and 77 percent (3,680 acres) of the owned lands are in Waushara County. The company office and headquarters are located in Wautoma in north central Waushara County.

The non-Christmas tree acres are primarily forest land containing mixed hardwoods, aspen, oak, red pine, and jack pine. Most of the forest acreage has minimal commercial value. The other non-Christmas tree lands include lowlands with swamp hardwoods and swamp conifers.

Access to all parcels is good with only a few parcels having no road access. Generally, access roads are close to towns and provide good linkages to major highways.

Soil types are primarily sand and sandy loams, and limited suitability for Christmas trees reflects the professional opinion of George Wilcox, whose letter stating inspection of the subject lands is found in Appendix B. The particular soil type for each farm is noted in the data sheet for that farm in Appendix A.

Exhibit 1 lists each parcel by county, township, farm name, total number of acres, and plantable acres. The legal description for each parcel is shown on the real estate tax bill and can be seen in Appendix A. Each farm in Appendix A has several descriptive sheets attached--a summary identification sheet, real estate tax forms including a legal description, a township map locating the boundaries of each farm, and an aerial photo of each farm. Appendix A is organized alphabetically by county, township, and farm name. Exhibit 2 displays the geographical distribution of farms in Wisconsin comprising Campbell Tree and Land Company. Appendix C shows the distribution of farms by county.

Assets to be valued include owned lands and trees, trees on leased land, moveable business structures, and corporate personalty such as equipment, and rental property. These items will be detailed in the valuation section of the report. Exhibit 3 is a summary of book values of corporate personalty, from details provided in Appendix D.

2. Specific Assets Excluded

The focus of this appraisal is on the Christmas tree operations of Campbell Tree and Land Company. This will not include personal assets of Ron Campbell such as Tree Land Corporation or other personally owned real estate. The Christmas tree operations do not include the trucking company which is a separate corporation.

B. General Scope of Business Operations

The majority of Campbell Tree and Land operations are devoted to Christmas tree production with 70 to 80 percent of the sales revenue derived from the sale of Christmas trees. The other sources of sales revenue and company operations are related to the Christmas tree business. They include:

- Christmas tree production (wholesale and retail)
- Transplant nursery and planting services
- Chemical and merchandise sales
- Land clearing and wood sales
- Custom services (shearing, spraying, etc.)

The other sources of sales revenue are incidental to the Christmas tree business but require some elaboration here.

See Appendix D for detailed listing of items from Smith and Gesteland's Depreciation Schedule for Campbell Tree and Land Company's Federal Income Tax Statement as of December 31, 1983.

Campbell Tree and Land Company started their own nursery in 1976 due to a lack of availability of quality transplants for field planting. To help sustain the nursery, nursery products have been sold to others. At the present time, over 50 percent of the stock goes to Campbell Tree and Land, 20 percent is sold to the Kirk Company on a contract basis, and the balance is sold to other local small growers. Planting services are primarily the custom planting of trees for customers who buy nursery stock. Shearing services are performed mainly for people who have purchased nursery stock. If time is available, the trained personnel with their specialized equipment will shear trees for others on a per hour basis. Other services are mainly utilization of specialized equipment such as the Hi-tractors used for spraying, the Royer land clearing machine used to clean up old plantations, and the Mist Blower used for chemical control of diseases and insects.

Merchandise sales consist of chemicals and paints along with shearing supplies such as knives and leggings. Campbell sends out mailings to growers throughout the United States, but 90 percent of these sales are made to growers in the state. Merchandise sales increase the volume of items purchased and allow for lower unit prices due to quantity orders. The wood sales are simply a by-product of general land maintenance.

Campbell Tree and Land is one of the few tree companies in the state which has diversified into other revenue producing areas. The diversification is a direct result of Ron Campbell's contacts in the industry and his merchandising skills. Without his entrepreneurial skills, these additional sales and services would not be expected to continue to contribute revenue to the Christmas tree operations.

III. VALUATION OF THE SUBJECT PROPERTY

A. Summary

The valuation of the subject property consists of four parts: (1) Valuation of Christmas tree operations using a discounted cash flow model to determine the net present value; (2) Valuation of rental property owned by Campbell Tree and Land Company; (3) Valuation of those supporting business structures consisting of the pole and storage buildings which could be dismantled for separate sale; and (4) Valuation of corporate personalty consisting of office equipment, field equipment, shop and yard equipment, and vehicles owned by Campbell Tree and Land. The valuation of the Christmas tree operations is the most complex and will require the most explanation. The other three parts will be treated primarily at book value as a typical custom of joint venture dissolution agreements. The following sections will detail each component of the total valuation. (See Exhibit 4.)

B. Valuation Methodology

1. Valuation of the Christmas Tree Operations

The discounted cash income before income tax or debt service payments is the most appropriate method by which to value the economic product of Christmas tree operations of Campbell Tree and Land Company. In the income approach, the present value of the projected net income stream. Present value is the purchase of a set of assumptions about the future by discounting cash flow projections at a discount rate which reflects the risk inherent in these projections.

When income stream projections are irregular and complex, a discounted cash flow model provides the appraiser with a practical procedure for translating the irregular projection into a present worth estimate. In this appraisal, the diverse effects of various factors on future income are resolved into an effect on each periodic installment of income. Each periodic installment of income is discounted individually at an appropriate rate, and the total of these discounted present value figures represents the present value of the right to receive the anticipated incomes.

Exhibits 5A and 5B show the net income model for Campbell Tree and Land Company. Footnotes to the net income model can be found in Appendix 5C. This model is a summary of numerous other calculations and schedules. To aid the reading of these calculations, a flow chart (Exhibit 6) is provided showing the steps taken and linking these steps to corresponding exhibits. The reader is referred to the Appendices E through N for supporting schedules to the net income model.

FOOTNOTES AND ASSUMPTIONS FOR GROSS INCOME MODEL
CAMPBELL TREE AND LAND COMPANY

a. Gross Income - Owned Lands: To arrive at an annual dollar figure for owned land the following steps were taken:

1. A detailed inventory of existing trees in the 58 owned farms was taken by species and age. In most cases, the original number of trees planted are listed. See Appendix E.

2. Based on the life cycle of growth of each species and known shrinkage factors, a harvest schedule was projected for all existing trees. See Appendix E.

3. Using a computer data base, the total annual harvest of existing trees by species was derived. See Appendix H.

4. Added to the existing tree harvest schedule was a projection of plantings anticipated from 1984 to the year 2000. From the projected plantings, harvest projections were made. The total number of trees expected to be harvested by each species, from existing trees and projected plantings, were combined in a summary schedule. The bottom three lines of the schedule in Appendix F are the important ones:

   Total No. Trees Harvestable per Year (by Species)

   Times: Unit Price per Tree

   Equals: Annual Gross Income Expected (by Species)

5. This final line of Gross Income was summarized for each species and shown in Appendix G. The summary figure from this schedule is annual gross income for owned lands.

b. Gross Income - Leased Land:

1. The same procedure that was applied to owned land was utilized for leased land with the following related schedules used to derive the annual gross income figure for leased land:

   Appendix I: Existing Tree Inventory and Projected Harvest Schedule for Leased Land
   Appendix J: Worksheet for Gross Income Calculation for Leased Land

c. Gross Income - Contract Land:

1. The same procedure for owned land and leased land was applied to contract land trees to determine gross income. The related schedule is:

Appendix K: Worksheet for Gross Income Calculation for Contract Land

d. Gross Income - Nursery Sales: Approximately 50 percent of the production from the nursery goes to Campbell Tree and Land with another 20 percent being sold to the Kirk Company on a contract basis. The remaining nursery stock is sold to small local growers. These sales are expected to increase at about five percent per year.

e. Gross Income - Wood Sales: Wood sales are simply a by-product of general land maintenance and land clearing by Campbell's personnel during the off season. These sales are expected to increase at five percent per year based on projections of the land which must be cleared.

f. Gross Income - Planting Services: Planting services are mainly the custom planting of Christmas trees for customers who buy Campbell's nursery stock. This service is expected to drop at the rate of five percent per year.

g. Gross Income - Shearing Services: Campbell Tree and Land Company has trained personnel and proper equipment and will shear Christmas trees for others on an hourly basis. These services are expected to increase at about ten percent per year.

h. Gross Income - Other Services: These services utilize specialized equipment and include spraying and land clearing. They are expected to increase at 10 percent per year.

i. Gross Income - Merchandise Sales: Merchandise sales is the sale of items related to the Christmas tree business and mainly consists of chemical and paint sales along with shearing supplies such as knives, and leggings. Campbell sends out mailings throughout the United States; however, 90 percent of these sales are made to growers in the State of Wisconsin. Merchandise sales are used by Campbell to increase the volume of items purchased in order to get quantity prices. These sales are expected to increase at about five percent per year.

j. Operating Expenses: Operating expenses are detailed in Appendix L. The base year expenses for 1984 were determined by averaging the last two years of actual operating expenses from Campbell Tree and Land Company's income statements.

k. Real Estate Taxes: Real estate taxes for 1983 were used as the base year and increased at the rate of six percent per year.

EXHIBIT 6

FLOW CHART FOR VALUATION OF CHRISTMAS TREE OPERATIONS USING NET INCOME MODEL

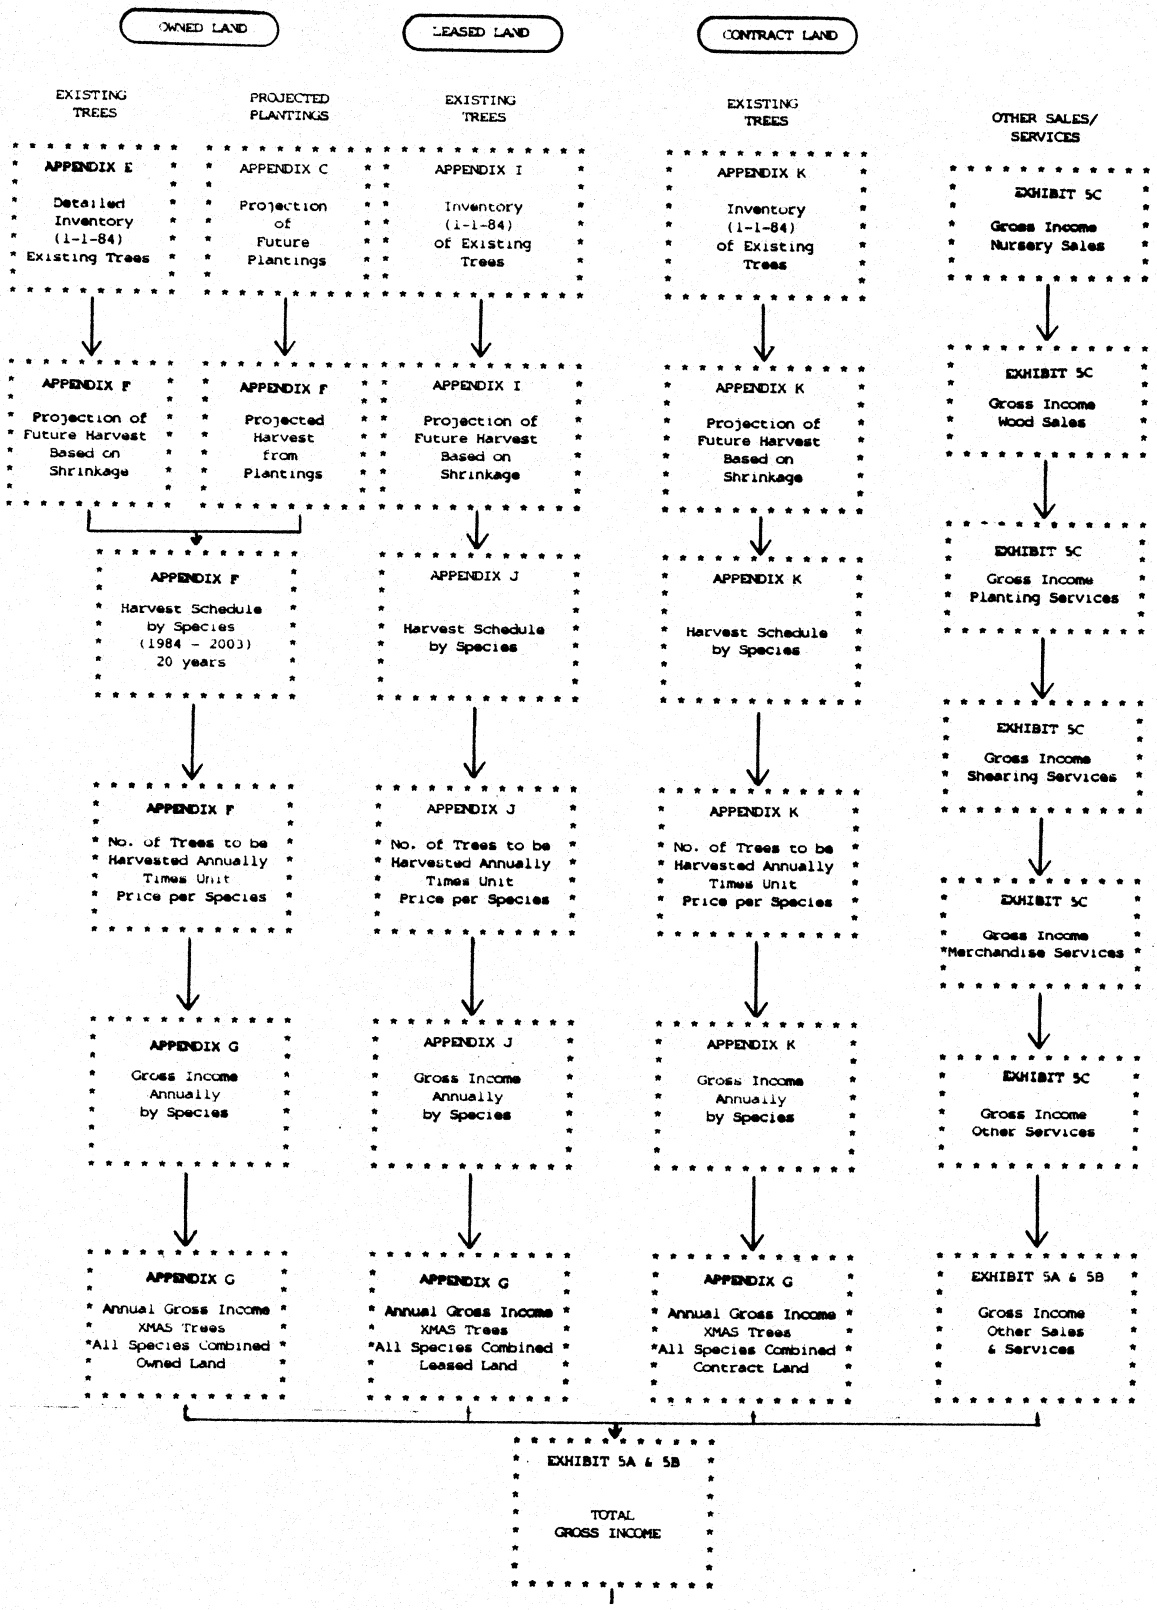

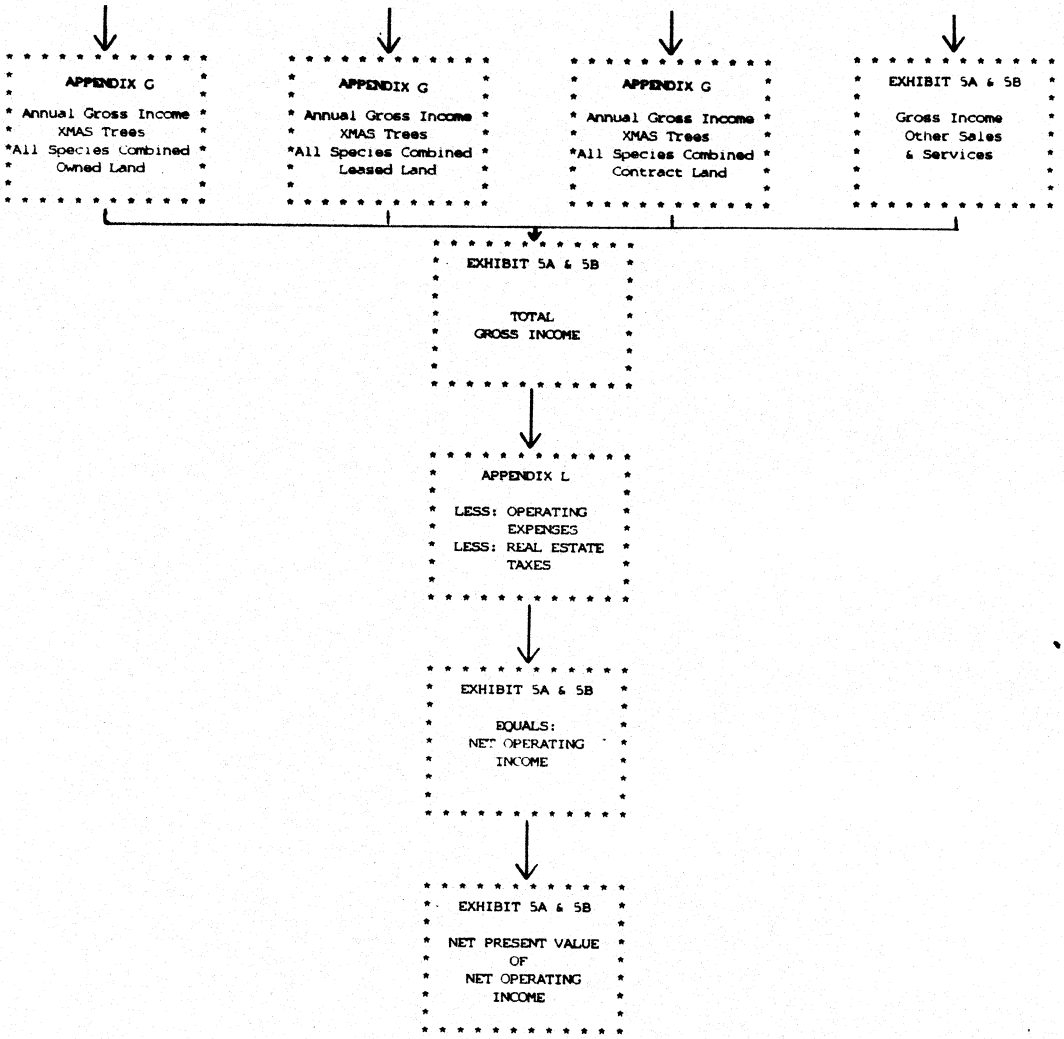

EXHIBIT 6 (Continued)

For Campbell Tree and Land Company, income is derived from the sale of Christmas trees at the time of harvest. It is not correct to impute a value to an immature Christmas tree. Income is realized fully and only at the time of harvest and sale. Christmas trees have very long life cycles. These specific life cycles are shown by species in Appendix M. The average rotation period for tree production is approximately ten years with some species taking as much as 15 years or longer to fully develop. The harvest period may last five or six years as shown in Appendix N. This long rotation period exposes the trees to many natural risks including fire, frost, disease, drought, insect infestation, and natural predators. To allow for exposure to these risks, a shrinkage, or loss factor must be applied to the original number of trees planted. From the operating history of Campbell Tree and Land, this shrinkage on the average, with good cultivation methods, has been the following:

- 53 percent of original plantings survive and are harvested;
- 65 percent of original plantings are harvested if replanting those trees lost in the first growing season takes place;
- 72 percent of trees which survive the first three growing seasons are harvested.

This income model takes into account income anticipated over a ten-year cycle for owned land, leased land, and contract land as well as income derived from other sales and services related to the Christmas tree operations.

The reversion value of the trees remaining at the end of the first ten-year cycle was estimated by running the net income stream out another ten-year cycle for trees of owned land only. This second cycle was discounted by first calculating the net present value of the second ten-year income stream and then calculating the present value of that lump sum. The capitalization rate used in the net income model was researched and determined to be 22 percent. [3]

NPV OF OWNED TREE SALES NPV OF LEASED TREE SALES NPV OF CONTRACT TREE SALES NPV OF OTHER SALES AND SERVICES	$1,333,320

2. Valuation of Rental Property

a. Rental Property Description:

1. Sturtevant Property - Racine County

Improvements include two homes which are rented as three apartments:

a. First home: Net rent = $225/month

b. Second home: Net rent (downstairs) = $275/month
Net rent (upstairs) = $235/month
$510/month

c. Total net rent - Sturtevant Property: $735/month

2. Krueger Property - Waushara County, Dakota Township

Improvements include a house, barn and machine shed, and three house trailers in poor condition.

a. House and barn: Net rent = $175/month

b. The machine shed and barn are used to store equipment for Campbell Tree and Land 0

c. Three house trailers are used for migrant workers; no rent is collected. Inside of trailers are uninhabitable. 0

d. Total net rent - Krueger Property: $175/month

b. Rental Property Valuation:

Small rental properties are valued by capitalizing the net income with a net cash-on-cash rate which is low, no more than 6 percent since the buyer expects to achieve the balance of his return from income tax benefits and long-term appreciation of home values. Moreover, buyers of these small properties are not knowledgeable about investments providing better returns and prefer tangible local properties they can manage in their spare time.

Sturtevant Property: $735/month x 12 months = $ 8,820/year

Krueger Property: $175/month x 12 months = 2,100/year

Annual Net Income: $10,920/year

VALUE OF RENTAL PROPERTY: $\frac{$10,920}{6\%}$ = $182,000

$2668.69 + 300 = \sim\$3000$ R&I taxes Insurance or $\frac{7920}{.06}$ $132,000

3. Valuation of Business Structures

Going concern value includes site improvements necessary to support operations so that no additional value recognition is ordinarily required. However, the multiple sites at remote locations which characterize the Campbell Tree Christmas tree operation might permit resale of one or more of these buildings, particularly the prefabricated industrial pole buildings, which can be relocated at considerable moving expense. Conversations with Dan Lucy of Wick Building Systems indicated that cost of dismantling and relocation could negate the value of materials salvaged and relocated. However, we have chosen to recognize salvage values of metal siding, truss poles of $2 per square foot over and above the going concern value which includes contribution of buildings at their present location.

a. Description of Business Structures

1. Shop Buildings

Improvements consist of two connected buildings.

a. Smaller Building

Age: 30 years
Construction: Cement block, concrete floor, metal roof
Size: 60' x 30' = 1,800 Sq. Ft.
Cost per Sq. Ft. according to Marshall & Swift Publication Services: $9.16/Sq. Ft.

Cost to Replace New: ($9.16/Sq. Ft. x 1,800 Sq. Ft.)	= $16,488
Less: Depreciation of 75% (30 years/40 year life)	= (12,366)
VALUATION:	$ 4,122

b. Larger Building

Built: 10/1/79 for $38,395 without heat and electric, or $48,268 with heat and electricity
Construction: Industrial pole, cement floor, metal roof
Size: 40' x 80' = 3,200 Sq. Ft.

Cost of 10/79 was trended up to today's cost by Marshall & Swift using a Class S Industrial Storage Building: (10/79) 1.218 / (12/83) 1.006 = 1.211 (Trend Factor)

Cost to Replace New: $48,268 x 1.211	= $58,453
Less: Depreciation of 16% (4 years/25 year life)	= (9,352)
VALUATION:	$49,101

2. Pole Buildings

Improvements consist of two pole buildings specifically designed for housing equipment for Christmas tree operations. A locational depreciation factor is used to account for the special purpose function of these buildings.

a. New Pole Building

Built: 11/83 at a cost of $38,791
Size: Main Area = 54' x 153' = 8,262 Sq. Ft.
Extended Area = 90' x 153'
Construction: All metal pole building, gravel floor, no heat, electricity.

Cost to Build New:	= $38,791
Less: Salvage Value ($2/Sq. Ft. x 8,262 Sq. Ft.)	(16,524)
	= $22,267
Less: Locational Depreciation of 25%	(5,567)
VALUATION:	$16,700

b. Older Pole Building

Built: 9/1/76 for $15,355
Size: 52' x 96' = 4,992 Sq. Ft.
Construction: Metal pole building

The cost of 9/76 was trended up using Marshall & Swift for a Class S Industrial Pole Building. The trend factor used is 1.51.

Cost to Build New: $15,355 x 1.51	= $23,186
Less: Locational Depreciation of 15%	(3,478)
Less: Depreciation of 32% (8 years/25 year life)	(7,419)
VALUATION:	$12,289

3. Garage/Storage Shed

Age: 30 years
Size: 30' x 30' = 900 Sq. Ft.
Construction: Cement block, cement floor, heat, electricity
Cost to Build New (Marshall & Swift)
$4.70/Sq. Ft. x 900 Sq. Ft. = $ 4,230

Less: Depreciation of 90% = 3,807

VALUATION: $ 423

4. Airplane Hangar

Campbell Tree and Land constructed the building on 10/2/77 for a cost of $10,325 and blacktopped the area on 9/2/77 for $2,500. The City of Wautoma owns the underlying land. Because the land is not owned and there is very little market for such a building, minimal value can be appraised to this building. Value is merely the salvage value of the opportunity to rent the building at $100 per month for five years or:

Present Value of $100 monthly for 5 years at 12% annual interest = $ 4,495

VALUATION: $ 4,500

5. Summary of Business Structures Valuation

Shop Building - small	$ 4,122
Shop Building - large	49,101
Pole Building - new	16,700
Pole Building - old	12,289
Garage/Storage Shed	423
Airplane Hangar	4,500
TOTAL SALVAGE VALUE OF BUSINESS STRUCTURES BEYOND GOING CONCERN VALUATION	$ 87,135

4. Valuation of Corporate Personalty (Equipment)

Going concern value generally includes contribution of tools and equipment. However, the unique asset of Campbell Tree and Land Company is the revolving inventory of trees planted to sustain a given level of annual sales so that the most probable buyer may be a firm expanding its existing tree operations and thus already equipped. In that case, office and field equipment would be surplus from which salvage values could be realized. For these purposes the salvage values of corporate personalty for Campbell Tree and Land shall be taken as depreciated book value as stated on the depreciation schedule as of December 31, 1983. [4]

Office Equipment	$ 24,087.41
Field Equipment, 4 yrs or more	148,155.48
Field Equipment, 4 yrs or less	707.97
Shop & Yard Equipment	33,732.80
Transportation Equipment	119,802.43
TOTAL VALUATION - CORPORATE PERSONALTY	$326,486.09

[4] Depreciation schedules from Smith and Gesteland for December 31, 1983.

IV. VALUE CONCLUSION

The estimated fair market value of Campbell Tree and Land Company, as of December 31, 1983, is:

Net Present Value of Christmas Tree Operations	$1,684,453
Net Present Value of Rental Property	182,000
Value of Business Structures	87,135
Book Value of Corporate Personalty	326,486
Final Value	$2,280,074
Final Value (Rounded)	$2,280,000

TWO MILLION TWO HUNDRED EIGHTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

($2,280,000)

The value is $1,684,453, which is $353 per acre as a going concern. It can be restated in value per acre to explain why a going concern is a higher and better use of the property. Dividing the total value by net plantable productive acres is $477 per acre ($1,684,453/3,022 acres). If $200 per acre is assigned as a generous value to the scrub timber and waste land of 1,735 acres, the value of this is $347,000 ($200 x 1,735 acres). The going concern value is $443, or $450 per acre [($1,684,453 - $347,000)/3,022 acres]. This compares favorably to the fair market value of good Christmas tree acreage of $375 to $425 per acre, as shown in the list of recent sales in Appendix O.

Highest and best use is that which brings a higher value. The higher value is due to the going concern use.

Going concern value, therefore, justifies the initial premise that Christmas tree operations is the highest and best use for the total set of properties.

NOTE: The Lietz Farm: Proximity to Pleasant Lake with some views would suggest recreational home sites. However, deep holes in terrain and ravines greatly restrict siting of a home, septic tank, and well. The part of the parcel not planted as a tree farm has been on the market for six years at $1000 per acre with no offers. The wholesale value of such land is $200-300 per acre.

Note: The Reilly Farm has 1100 feet of commercial frontage on Highway 21, East of Wautoma. Property value might approach $1500 per acre based on past sales but platting of site would slow absorption and would require a wholesale valuation at $750 per acre or less and is not material to valuation of the total enterprise.

APPENDIX B

STATEMENT FROM GEORGE WILCOX ON

HIGHEST AND BEST USE OF LAND

WILCOX & Associates
OF WISCONSIN INC.

May 22, 1984

Linda A. Wolfer
Landmark Research Inc.
4610 University Avenue
Suite 105
Madison, WI 53705

Dear Linda:

Per our phone conversation, enclosed, please find the data sheet that you requested. We have clasified the soils according to the soil map as done by our soils office in Waushara County, portions of course have not yet been officially mapped and we have given the best indications we can on those.

Those in the Town of Rose of course are heavier soils and when discussing this with the soils man he described them in the 40's range of the difinitions that are also included. Those in the Town of Wautoma are basically in that Richford class of soils with varying degrees of slope.

As for your question directly as to higher and better use, I would have to say as a general statement, that the planting of Christmas trees is probably the highest use of the property. As you can see on the data sheet most of the properties are quite small in relation to a viable agricultural unit and would not support irrigation farming. Also some of the property in the Town of Rose with heavier land include a great amount of stone on the property and therefore could not be used for irrigated farming.

If you were going to talk in terms of recreational property, prices of course, vary greatly, as they do in any situation, however in the Town of Wautoma we have large blocks of property partially wooded priced under $500.00 an acre. It would be difficult to clasify any of this property as prime recreational property because it is set as a working Christmas tree planation.

PHONE (414) 787-4626 P.O. BOX 671 WAUTOMA, WI. 54982

Thank you for your inquiries and if we can be of any further service to you, please do not hesitate to contact this office.

Sincerely,

George E. Wilcox
