UNION DRIVE REACHES TOP WITH $100,000

Workers Pleased at Result—
Success Makes Memorial
Building a Campus
Reality

The Memorial Union drive went over the top last night, with $100,000 turned in, and more still to be accounted for.

"Seven weeks ago, when we started work on this campaign, everybody told us that it couldn't be done," said "Hap" Baker, general chairman of the campaign. "We were even assured that with the help of the faculty the desired quota could not be reached. But we went to work with an able and untiring bunch of canvassers, and now the receipts from student body alone have put the thing across by a safe margin."

Baker Well Satisfied

"The work of the organization of over 600 members has been almost beyond comprehension. The canvassing personnel alone has worked with almost unheard of zeal and faith. Every executive feels that nothing can amply compensate their constant energies through the past seven weeks," continued Baker.

Professor Gardner Pleased

"I'm indeed happy to hear the good news," said Prof. Edward H. Gardner last night, when he was roused from a sound sleep to answer the phone. "I never had a doubt in my mind but that Wisconsin would measure up as she always has in the past."

"I have enjoyed working with the students to put across this stupendous undertaking. I have become acquainted with a fine group, who will stop at no obstacle to arrive at success. I cannot express the regard and appreciation I feel for the work of the entire organization; it has continued to function unhesitatingly—regardless of difficulties."

"The success of the student campaign is welcome news to me," said Prof. Frank C. Sharp, who was in charge of the faculty campaign. "We are more anxious than ever to show the students that the faculty is backing them in every way. The success of the student drive has made the faculty more determined not to be found lacking in making the 'home' for Wisconsin spirit a reality."

Fourteen Survive Debating Tryouts

The following men survived the semi-final tryouts for the varsity debating squad, according to an announcement last night: Balliet, Blake, Brown, Blume, Gerholtz, Gleason, Heft, Hentzen, Karel, Meyer, Nerud, Moreau, Seering, Rogers.

From these men and the members of the last year's squad in school, the personnel of the teams that will debate Washington and Missouri in January will be chosen. The material displayed indicates a successful debating season for the ensuing year.

JUDGES SELECT NINE ACTS FOR UNION VODVIL

Candidates for Union Vodvil have been narrowed down to less than a dozen acts, according to Carl Bronson '22, production manager, after he had received the first reports from the judges of the tryouts. Tryouts were held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in Lathrop.

Following is a list of acts which will be considered in the final tryouts, the dates of which will be announced in a few days:

1. Alpha Omicron Pi.
2. Kappa Alpha Theta.
3. "The Trifles," presented by the Red Domino, Twelfth Night, and Edwin Booth dramatic societies.
4. Bill Kellet and Mary Wendnagel in a song and dance offering.
5. Butts Brothers and Dot Kramer.
6. Glee Club Quartet.
7. Mahoney and Taylor.
8. "The Medicine Man," by Alpha Gamma Rho.
9. "The Toll of the Desert," a melodrama.

There are still several groups to try out and after these primary eliminations, seven or eight acts will be selected for appearance in the show, the exact number depending upon the time required for the entire production.

"The judges based their decision in these preliminary tryouts upon the following basis: talent and ability, originality, and ability to be adapted to a variety type of show," said Bill Purnell '22, one of the judges. "On account of the great number of acts trying out and the quality of each of them, the judges found no little difficulty in arriving at their decisions."

The judges of the tryouts were Dick Tyrrell '22, Ralph Scheimpflug '23, and Bill Purnell '22.

Y. M. C. A. Will Build Next Spring; Funds Already Subscribed

Work on the first unit of the new university Y. M. C. A. building will begin next spring, it was announced by Frederick E. Wolf, general secretary, at the fortieth anniversary membership banquet held at the association building last evening.

Money has already been pledged for the first unit, which is to cost $150,000. It will be erected on the lakeshore, back of the present building—the first of three units. Its architecture will harmonize with the Memorial Union building.

Leo H. Kohl, president of the university Y. M. C. A., presided over the banquet, which was attended by more than 500 persons. Manley Clark '22 was elected vice-president of the association to fill a vacancy, during the business meeting, which was followed by several speakers.

Y. M. C. A. work in China is already paying big dividends in friendship for Americans, said Prof. Edward A. Ross, in a brief talk, later in the evening.

Prof. Moses Slaughter and F. O. Leiser told of the first little association building on Langdon street back in 1899.

The Rev. J. Sherman Wallace discussed the relation between church and Y. M. C. A.

FACTS ARE GIVEN BY JONES ABOUT CHICAGO TICKET SALE; COACH RICHARDS ALSO TALKS

Bynner Chats On Chinamen and Art; Lectures Tonight

"It's a nice room isn't it," remarked Witter Bynner, leading the way into the living room of the Van Hise house where a fire was glowing in the grate and the long French windows let one see the grey mist and bare branches of the outdoors. "Come over here and sit down, I want you to see on this map where I have been traveling and to show you some pictures."

The tall broad shouldered "poet" dropped down in front of the fire and we sat there on the floor and looked at the pictures and the map of China, and talked about poetry, politics, art, Amy Lowell, Chinamen, and cock-tails—some of the sundry things he will talk about tonight when he gives his lecture in Music hall on "A Poet's Impression of the Orient."

Three Years in China

"My book of translation of the poetry, the golden age of Chinese poetry, will come out very soon," declared Mr. Bynner. "I had intended to spend a year in China translating, but I have spent three years working with my collaborator, Dr. Giang of Peking university. One must live in the country itself in order to understand and do justice to its poetry."

"More popular than any collection over here is the book I have been translating. The Chinese carry it around in their pockets everywhere."

Mr. Bynner referred frequently to his "brother," a handsome young Chinese student whose picture he had with him. This lad helped him in carrying out his work in China. Half of the proceeds of Mr. Bynner's two months' lecture tour will go toward his "brother's" university education. This delightful relationship is a Chinese custom followed by many interested foreigners.

Tells of Jap Situation

Speaking of foreign relations led Mr. Bynner on to speak of the Japanese-Chinese situation.

"You simply don't get the news over here. What have the papers over here printed about Britain's policies as practised in China? Not a thing. It is my duty to tell all I know of affairs that people know nothing of, over here. Well, tomorrow night I shall devote a portion of my talk to a discussion of that nature. I shall be delighted to hear questions after the lecture."

"No, I shall not read directly from my poems except by special request, though I will intersperse my talk with bits of translation from the Chinese poems I have been studying."

Additional Tickets to Be Sold Today—Council of Forty to Make Investiga- tion

Due to the urgent call for tickets from the student body an extra section of seats was built at Stagg field to provide accommodations for Wisconsin supporters. Coach Jones brought back 1,152 additional seats which were placed on sale yesterday afternoon at the gym.

Seats were given out to those who were in line Wednesday and received numbers on the waiting list. Enough tickets have been secured to provide for all these people. The ruling of the athletic department is that all applicants who were given preferential numbers must call for their seats before 1:30 this afternoon. After that time they will have to take their chances in the open sale.

Approximately 400 seats will be available for open sale today. The sale will be limited to students and to Madison town people. A careful record will be kept of those who get seats and there will be no duplication.

Of the 1,152 additional seats secured by Coach Jones, 927 are excellent seats in front of the boxes and sell for $3.50. They are in fact 50 seats. Two hundred and twenty-five seats are cheaper seats on the end.

Coach Richards' Opinion

"The ticket fiasco," as he termed it, was severely denounced by Coach John R. Richards yesterday in an interview with a representative of the Daily Cardinal.

"The students of the university should have first chance at the tickets," he stated. Football is a student sport. It could not live without the support of the students, and if I were running the sale students would get as many tickets as they needed before tickets were sold to alumni."

"The alumni association of Chicago has 300 members. The organization got 3,000 tickets, supposedly for distribution among Wisconsin alumni. As far as anyone can find out, however, the alumni outside of the association got no chance at the tickets. Many have been writing to Madison stating that they cannot possibly obtain tickets in Chicago."

"Three years ago those who managed the Chicago sale were found to

CLEAN UP

This ticket selling is going too far! Furthermore it is in a h— of a muddle. Talk is rife from all sides and we, the students of this glorious institute are getting rook-ed unmercifully.

It ought to be cleaned up by cleaning up the Athletic Dep't only who is there big enough to take on Tom Jones and Big John?

The Student Senate?
Anyhow we should clean up something, 'cause we are mad.

What I propose is let everybody have a ticket merely by paying for it. I went down there yesterday A. M. and there was ashes all over the side-walk where the guys had built fires to keep them warm as they waited all nite in line. Again did you see all the holes out in Langdon street that they had dug to sleep in?

What I want is more tickets. I'm as good a scalper as the next guy, only give me a chance.

Freddy Crane: I'm thankful I don't have to buy gas for Freddy's car.

Gus Tuckerman: Darned if I know what I'm thankful for.

People Should Live 100 Years, Doctor Says

New York Man at 99 Says
Mosaic Law On Age is Wrong

NEW YORK — A movement to educate the people of the world to live 100 years is suggested by Dr. Stephen Smith, 99, who declared in an address to members of the American Public Health Association last night that the Mosaic law limiting the span of life to three score years and ten was all wrong.

"Moses himself proved the falsity of the law by living forty years beyond his allotted time," he said. "He died apparently in good health for it was written that 'his eye was undimmed and his natural force unabated'."

The normal and potential life of man, he added, was 100 years and every child born was adapted in physical construction and function to live a century. Deaths occurring at an earlier age were due, he said, to conditions incompatible with the construction and function of human organism, and by proper education of the people through the association, such conditions could be changed.

Common sense, he asserted, would carry people to their hundredth birthday.

"For instance," he said "I would advise the lady who cannot digest eggs to cut them out; the man who yawns too much to walk a mile, thus pumping dead air out of the lungs and fresh air into the lungs; and the young woman with weak ankles to change her peg heeled and pointed toed shoes for the sensible kind like her grandmother wore."

Speaks On Klinger's Works to German Club

In an illustrated lecture last night the life and works of the late Max Klinger, German master-sculptor, etcher, and painter, were described by Prof. Frederick Bruns of the university German department before the German club in Lathrop hall. Prof. Bruns said: "George Meredith's saying, 'Life is worthy of the muse,' is true of Klinger."

He described the sculptor as being an idealist, comparing in daring, originality, and eccentric imagination with Michael Angelo. The German club is an organization for the promotion of the German department. Lectures, songs, and games constitute the regular program.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BADGERS SET FOR BIG TEN HARRIER MEET

Cross Country Men to Race at Indiana Tomorrow

Dominated by a spirit of optimism and a determination to do their best for Wisconsin, the Badger cross country squad left Madison at 4:10 yesterday afternoon for Bloomington, Indiana, where they will meet the pick of Western harriers tomorrow morning in the annual conference championship event.

The Badger squad's outstanding characteristic is its greenness. Captain Wall is the only man entering the meet for Wisconsin who has taken part in a conference race before, and none of the other men have had experience in cross country work of any sort previous to this season. Schneider is a sophomore who will be running for the first time.

Team Hopes for Win

In spite of its newness at the game, the team has been successful in all its dual meets this season, and will endeavor to keep its slate clean Saturday.

"New men have come through before," says Coach Burke, "and it is very possible that they may again."

The men are all in perfect condition and are eager for the race. In spite of the extremely unfavorable weather which has prevailed since the team's last meet with Chicago, the squad has worked out faithfully, running miles along the lake shore to plow through snow and mud.

A let-down in training at this time would have been fatal to Wisconsin's hopes for a place in the big meet, and realizing this, the men went at their work with all the more determination. As a result, they are at the height of their form, and in fit shape to compete with any group of runners in the conference tomorrow.

Hoosiers Have Hard Course

The course over which the race will be held is perhaps the most trying of any in the Big Ten. It is an even five miles, and since it was laid out by the Hoosiers this fall, it is unfamiliar to all the entering schools except Northwestern, which tried it in a dual meet last Saturday, and, of course, the Indiana squad.

The course starts in front of the gym and leads northward through the very hilly and wooded country which surrounds Bloomington. In one place the path rises 200 feet in less than one quarter of a mile, much steeper and longer than the Madison upper campus. In expectation of this, the Badger squad has concentrated on hill work for the past week. The footing of the course is partly cinders and partly sod, the finishing stretch back to the gym crossing a half mile of golfing green.

Twenty Chosen to See Chicago Game

Twenty men chosen from the freshman football squad will watch the Chicago-Wisconsin game from the sidelines of Stagg field Saturday afternoon. The score of players is enabled to make the trip because of a $300 donation made to the team by Union board.

Men who will be taken are Koch, Teckemeyer, Tuttle, Allard, Kingston, Harmon, Rippe, Pulaski, Diebold, Graham, Smedal, Radke, Harris, Millman, Nolte, Collins, Carter, Miller, Ward, and Munkwitz.

E. D. Ries, University of Chicago, holds the record for the 40-yard swim. He went the distance in 19 3-5 seconds.

Kelly, with 93-5 seconds, holds the world's record for the 100-yard dash.

Varsity Gym Team Has Hard Workout; More Men Wanted

This week has seen the beginning of intensive practice for the Varsity gym men. There is still a chance for all who are eligible to practice and try out for the squads. The regular hours of practice are Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. Each man is required to be present on at least two of these afternoons.

All men who are eligible are requested to come and try out for the squad. The team will be picked on Friday, Dec. 16, which is to represent the university in the meet with Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. on the following day.

The trials will consist of one set exercise on each of the following apparatus: side-horse, horizontal bars, parallel bars, and rings. There will also be tumbling contests. The men who try out will also have to do one optional exercise on each apparatus. Coach Schlatter is trying to get the Milwaukeeans to include in the meet, events in club swinging and fencing, both with foils and broadswords. Both an individual and a team championship will be awarded at the meet.

There are several men who have already shown ability in gymnastics. On the horizontal bar, there are Kubosch, Hamman, Krieger, Bumer, and Pfeleger. The parallel bars hold more possibilities, Kubosch, Koch, K. Hoelz, A. Hoelz, Golley, Hamman, Bumer, Porth, Stevens, and Pfeleger. Those who are practicing on the side-horse are Kletzien, Tucker, Hansen, Kocf, Holcombe, and Stevens. The ring acrobats are Porth, Kreiger, Luden, Hamman, and Stevens. The tumbling artists are Kitchen, Vogumill, Kubosch, Tucker and Stevens.

August Desch, Notre Dame athlete, participated in the Olympia games. He was on the 1921 Notre Dame football team.

Two Soccer Games Played This Week

Two soccer games have been played this week. All the other games scheduled for the week have been postponed, on account of the poor condition of the field.

On last Tuesday, the Red Crescents defeated the Black Triangles in an evenly matched game. The victors had a full eleven to compete with their opponents' six men, who put up a good fight in the slippery mud which covered the field. On Wednesday afternoon, the Red Wings overcame the Red Circles in a close game, the score being 1 to 0.

Freshman Women Defeat Sophs, 72-49

With a score of 130 points the freshmen women's swimming team beat the sophomore team, which had a score of 85. The senior team won the junior-senior match with a score of 72 to the junior score of 49.

The final all-class handicap meet will be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30. The team which has the lowest score will be given enough points to be on an equal basis with the team having the highest score. The team which wins the handicap meet will be given ten points in addition to the score won in the preliminary meets.

West Has Track All-Americans

The following westerners made the All-American college track and field team: Kirksey, Leland Stanford, 100 yard dash; Emory, Illinois, 440 yards run; Paddock, U. of So. California, 220 yard run; Wells, Leland Stanford, 220 yard hurdles; Butler, Dubuque, broad jump; Merchant, California, hammer throw; Pope, U. of Washington, discus throw; Hanner, Leland Stanford, javelin throw.

VARSITY GRID STARS LEAVE FOR CHICAGO

Team is Determined to Finish Season With Victory

Resolved to close the 1921 season with a victory, nearly 35 members of the Wisconsin grid squad left this morning for Chicago where they will engage the Maroons in the Mid-Western football classic on Saturday.

Coach John R. Richards yesterday afternoon declared that his men were in good shape for the clash which will drop the curtain on football in this section. A light workout with no scrimmage was engaged in as the last home practice for the eleven. The team is scheduled to go through a snappy signal drill on Stagg field this afternoon.

Hold Frosh Helpless

Battles with All-Americans and a freshman squad have served to keep Varsity on edge this week. Freshmen, working Maroon plays for all they are worth, were unable to pierce the first team line with any degree of success.

Reports from the Midway training camp indicate that Chicago has undergone a week of snappy preparation for the Badger invasion. Coach A. A. Stagg has had every one of his regulars worked into a fighting mood, and the Maroon eleven is determined to win the third of the five games to be played on their own stamping grounds. Fourth-quarter victories have characterized Wisconsin's previous success against the "Old Man's" teams. "Al" Davey was the distinguished figure in the last two wins. His 65 yard run in 1919 and his dropkick in 1920 produced the deciding points.

MAROON ELEVEN IS DRILLED FOR AERIAL FOOTBALL

(Special to Daily Cardinal)

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—With only a few days remaining before the formidable Badger machine comes to Stagg field for its annual clash with the Maroons, Coach Stagg drilled his proteges tonight in an effort to perfect the team play. A light rain fell throughout the practice session which severely handicapped the men in handling the ball, and made speedy runs impossible.

Most of the period was spent in trying to perfect an effective defense against the much touted Badger aerial attack. The freshmen opposed the Varsity and got away with a few passes, but the majority of the heaves were either battered to the ground, or intercepted. After the scrimmage the team ran through a signal drill for an hour.

The game should be the most interesting held this year on Stagg field. For the past few years the Wisconsin-Chicago game has been hotly contested, and as the two teams are about on a par this season, Saturday's clash should be well worth seeing. The team whose forward wall proves the superior, should, no doubt, be returned the victor. If the Badger linesmen can outcharge the Maroon forwards, and smash the secondary defense, they should be victorious; but this is very unlikely, as the Chicagoans have shown themselves to be a strong defensive aggregation.

Saturday's game will mark the final appearance of five of the Maroon stars, as Captain McGuire, tackle, "Fritz" Crisler, end, Charlie Redmon, guard, Bobby Cole, halfback, and "Death" Halliday, end, have completed their three years of conference football competition.

Philo Program Is Postponed; Other Programs Tonight

The meetings are open to all interested in the subjects discussed.

British Will Not Take Up Debt Cancellation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Great Britain does not intend to bring before the conference the question of inter-cancellation of allied war debts. This was stated by one of the spokesmen for the British delegation.

"The United States did not indicate any intention or desire of submitting that matter to the conference," he added, "and the British are wholly unprepared to discuss it if it should be brought up. We brought with us no financial experts. We shall not raise the question and it is for the United States to raise it, if it comes up at all."

TO MEET IN WASHINGTON.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—Washington was selected for the tenth annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. next May 15.

Potato and Cabbage Markets Unsettled

Unsettled conditions prevailed in the potato and cabbage markets during the past week, the state department of markets says in its weekly review. Car lot shipments are reported to be decreasing fast, with the potato movement half of that a week ago. Crop movements of potatoes from principal sections is said to be about 75,000 cars. With demand moderate haulings at most shipping points were light, the department reports. Wisconsin prices ranged from $1.25 to $1.50 for bulk stock warehouse prices to growers. Nearly four times as many shipments of cabbage were made during the preceding week, as during the past seven days, the report declares. Total movement amounted to 547 cars of which 94 were Wisconsin. Marked gains in price were noted during the period with Danish type in Wisconsin advancing from $30 to $32 to a range of $45 to $50 with an active demand. Chicago and St. Louis markets were strong. Onion shipments increased slightly over the previous week, 324 cars going forward, one-third of the number shipped last year at the same time. Cheese receipts at Wisconsin points for the week show a much heavier reduction than usual, amounting to 1,000,000 pounds, the report says. Wisconsin's apparent trade output was 3,547,000 pounds, an increase for the week of 534,243.

MORE ON THE TICKET QUESTION

THAT the Athletic department is somewhat at fault in the handling of the ticket sale for the Chicago game is shown by the recent developments in the situation. A mail order sale would have greatly facilitated the handling of seats to the game and would have done away with the bulk of the complaint. It would have effectively prevented scalping. It would have positively done away with discriminating in the distribution of tickets. It would have given an accurate record of where every ticket went.

With cheap seats to the game being openly scalped by Madison merchants, the situation is pitiful. When these merchants were approached by representatives of the Daily Cardinal who asked to see these "scalped" tickets they were told to hand over their money first. Madison merchants by such practices are openly countenancing and encouraging the "scalping" of tickets, and are refusing to aid in the prosecution and bringing to justice of the offenders. They certainly deserve our unstrained criticism for the direct slap in the face they are giving the students of the university. They are commercializing on Wisconsin spirit.

The Council of Forty is undertaking an investigation into the facts of the ticket scandal. They are collecting evidence which will be given to the student body from time to time. Any evidence that can be given the council to help place the blame or clear up the difficulties should be volunteered to them.

Certain it is that the whole affair was poorly managed. Certain it is that the student body is considerably aggravated at the treatment it has received. And this is not the first time the students have registered a kick.

Some method in ticket distribution would clear up many of the difficulties. A priority list would help. A mail order sale would unquestionably do away with much of the trouble.

But the great point at issue is that students who support the team in all its games should have first and paramount consideration above any other interest or group of interests. This the student body justly insists upon.

LET THERE BE FOOD

WHEN university women living at university dormitories and paying board there, are obliged to pay for meals at Lathrop and other cafeterias, something seems to be wrong.

According to a number of the women of Barnard and Chadbourne, this deplorable state exists at the present time. By being obliged to eat elsewhere is meant that many of the residents of these dormitories would at other times rather pay for a meal outside than eat the food served them by the department of halls and commons.

What is wrong with the way the university feeds its dormitory residents? Last spring most of the women at Barnard were poisoned slightly by food served; the incident occasioned many conflicting stories, but was finally dropped without any definite action when all of the women recovered.

Although prices have come down considerably, the women are paying the same for their board that they did last year.

In spite of the fact that it costs the women just as much, the food served at present is disgusting to a considerable number. The meals, which were far from excellent at the beginning of the year, were gradually improved; but it seems that when the food began to agree with the women, the improvement ceased. During the last week or two a good portion of the meals have been unfit. On no few occasions women have come to the dining room and after seeing what was being served, left to eat elsewhere.

Something is radically wrong when lunches of scant portions of tomato soup and reheated croquettes are served, when lemon drops take the place of a dessert, and when bread is served to a table of a dozen women in allotments of five or six slices. With conditions such as these, it is not surprising that residents of the dormitories pay again at a cafeteria or go without a meal.

There must be some cause for this condition. If it is done to cut down on expenses, it might be well to remind those responsible that the commissary is a bad place to start drastic economy.

FOR TONIGHT

TONIGHT one of those really good opportunities incident to college life is before the students—it is the opportunity to spend a worth while evening with a worth while man.

"A Poet's Impression of the Orient." A title cannot even suggest the vast power of personality that will meet those who go to hear Witter Bynner's lecture at Music hall. Bynner, among the foremost of our consistently good contemporary poets, is at home when he is speaking to a student body. He is then in a world that is of sincere interest to him.

Bynner is a poet and man of letters of distinction, a reader of rare ability, and a thorough student. For a year he buried himself in the depths of the Orient, hardly speaking a word of English, and he brings with him his impressions. And then, just to hear Bynner is well worth an evening. Madison and its changing students are dear to him and he returns here year after year.

The Forensic board, which has arranged for the program this evening, is rendered the students a real service by bringing men of Bynner's calibre to the city. The students can show their appreciation of this by being at Music hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

A. secretary, "even though she does not need the help of the Y. W. C. A., ought to have some interest in its work because the organization is so worth while to the girls that do need its help."

Last year $1.00 was the membership fee which each girl paid who became a member. This year a new plan is to be tried. There are no membership dues, but every girl on the campus, whether a member of the Y. W. C. A. or not, will be asked to give her support.

Says Railroads Arc "Strangling" U. S. Marine

CHICAGO—Petitions of the larger roads of the U. S. except those south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers which are asking the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to lower rates from eastern points to the coast were to be heard before Examiner William Disque today. The petitions allege that coastwise steamship lines charge lower rates to carry goods through the Panama canal than the railroads do to carry shipments across the country. Representatives of steamship lines are ready to contest the petitions on the grounds that the railroads are no reducing rates for public benefit but for the purpose of strangling the merchant marine.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the last 24 hours was 45 at 1 p. m. and the lowest was 37 at 4 a. m. Rain .03. Sun sets at 4:33.

Rain and warmer weather in the eastern states, snow and colder on the plains, accompany the storm that is crossing the central states this morning. A secondary low with unsettled weather prevails in the Rocky mountains. Temperatures below zero attend the high barometer in western Canada.

before the game with Ohio State, but he has worked out with the squad during the last week, and Stagg will be able to use him if the Maroons are pushed.

Milton Romney is a sure bet for quarterback. The Salt Lake flash has shown signs of being one of the best pilots at Chicago since the days of "Pete" Russell. He is a good punter, ball-carrier, accurate field goal kicker, and heaves passes with accuracy and distance. Romney was the youth who upset Princeton when the Maroons twisted the Tiger's tail nine times a few weeks ago.

He was stopped by Illinois, however, and if the second-string fullback, Thomas, had not battered the Illini line so consistently, Chicago would have been forced to swallow defeat by the cellar champions.

Romney Displaces Cole

"Bobby" Cole, erstwhile quarter, has been shifted to a halfback job since the advent of the sensational Romney. Cole is a valuable man in any position. He would be able to handle the team with excellent generalship if Romney fails to choose the right plays against Wisconsin.

More than 30,000 persons will witness the biggest clash of the season. Although Chicago has been defeated once and the Badgers were held to a tie by Michigan, interest in the contest is at fever heat. Thousands of Wisconsin students and alumni will throng the Midway today waiting for last-minute glimpses of the contending warriors.

Betting odds are said to range about even in Chicago.

Students Kick on Ticket Sale; Communications Swamp Office

Editor Daily Cardinal:

Mr. Jones' explanation as to the disposition of the tickets for the Chicago game is entirely unsatisfactory. The student body is urged to back the athletic enterprises, and if it fails to do so is accused of lack of spirit.

We have attended baseball games when our teams were not always winners and the same may be said for basketball. We have given the teams our support. Quite a few of us have not been able to see a Chicago-Wisconsin football game during our four years in school due to the contract that is in existence between the two schools and our limited finances. This year when the reduced railroad fare has made it possible for us to go to this great game, we find ourselves barred by what seems to be a most inconsistent method of ticket distribution.

The mail order method, which met with so little criticism at the time of the Homecoming and Michigan games, seems to have been the fair way of handling the situation. On the other hand we read that 3,000 tickets have been sent to the Chicago alumni association, 1,000 to the Milwaukee alumni association, and 2,500 have been scattered by mail order to alumni throughout the country, leaving less than 2,500 for the students at the university and these on the bleachers. Is that justice?

It seems as though it were now too late to correct conditions for this year, and many of us who had planned to cheer our great team to victory in their last competition while we are in school will have to listen to returns at the gym as we have in the past three years. We hope that arrangements for the disposal of next year's tickets will be done on a more fair and equitable basis.

ROBERT BOERNER '22.

Editor Daily Cardinal:

The Cardinal on Wednesday printed an article by Coach Jones in which the disposal of 9,250 tickets was accounted for. Of this number of tickets, the alumni and football team received 7,595, according to Jones' own statement. This leaves 1,655 tickets for the student body, an amount which last year was not enough to accommodate the Wisconsin students.

According to Coach Jones' statement there were 1,700 tickets sold on Tuesday morning. This along with the 7,595 tickets sent to alumni and team would take care of the 9,250 tickets received from Chicago. And yet he announces that 1,000 additional seats will be put on sale Wednesday morning. On Wednesday morning one student stood within 150 people of the booth. He had arrived at that place at 6:30 in the morning. And yet when the ticket sale was closed he did not have a ticket. It is impossible to say that more than 350 tickets were sold Wednesday morning.

The statement of the sale of tickets in Tuesday's Cardinal and the notice in the gym stated that there would be 5,000 seats placed on sale for the student body on Tuesday morning, and that seats of from $1.50 to $3.50 would be on sale. Why should the alumni have 80 per cent of the tickets and all the good ones? Who supports the team in all its preliminary games when the alumni are never heard of? Why is it that when 3,000 students are willing to pay their way to Chicago they are unable to get seats and are forced to stand out in line for two or three hours waiting for a possible chance to get seats that the athletic department knows very well it is unable to give them?

Who has a greater right to tickets than the student, and the people of Madison who support the team all the time and not at one or two of the big games? And the statement of Coach Jones' goes on to say that the tickets for the alumni were disposed of before the student sale on Tuesday. This goes to show that the alumni were given first choice and those tickets which were too poor to give to the alumni were left to the students and outsiders.

How much longer is the student body going to allow the Athletic association to put such deals over on it as it has this one and the one at Homecoming last year?

MELVIN C. PIERCE '22.

Editor Daily Cardinal:

What's the matter with the Athletic department? What's the matter with their system of selling the tickets for the Chicago game? The situation is inexcusable. Students are given the last chance to procure tickets instead of the first.

Then why don't they have enough to go around? Why can't the alumni get their tickets after the students' sale is over? Why give 3,000 tickets to Chicago alumni? Let them get their tickets in Chicago.

Who is supporting the team, the alumni or the students? There would be a fine lot of people at the games if only the alumni supported the team.

Then when the question of getting the tickets is answered, why don't they form a plan to sell the tickets so they will be dealt out fairly and squarely to each and every student that wants one? There is no excuse for the long line of unsatisfied people both today and yesterday. I cannot speak from experience of yesterday's line, but I can of today.

I was in front of the gym at 6 o'clock this morning and I was in the latter part of the nineties in line. At 9 o'clock I was about 147th in line, and at 9:45 I was about the 120th person who had not secured tickets! What does that mean?

It means simply this. People were sold two tickets, but they were sold two tickets several times. I know of one man in particular that was seen to go in the line ten different times.

Is this any way to run a sale? It most certainly is not. Perhaps some of the students have heard the remark that one of our professors made about Wisconsin spirit. I can assure you that it was not complimentary to us. Instead, quite the opposite.

Surely we should have more spirit and respect for others in our make up than some of the students have shown these last two days.

Those students who are not guilty of obtaining their tickets by fraudulent means should not allow those who are to continue to do so.

If there are more tickets on sale tomorrow, let's go over there with the idea firmly fixed in our minds that we will not get our tickets by cheating and that we will not allow everyone else to. And, above all let us have the hearty co-operation of the athletic department.

WOMEN WILL CONFER WITH GOV. BLAINE

Progressives of State to Ask Representations on Commissions

Dr. Jean M. Cooke, Darlington, and Miss Ada James, Richland Center, were named to head a committee of women to confer with Gov. J. J. Blaine concerning the appointment of women on state commissions, at a meeting on Wednesday of the Progressive Women of Wisconsin. Dr. Cooke is chairman of the 1922 campaign committee. Organization of women from the 71 counties of Wisconsin will be the task of Dr. Cooke.

"It is not our purpose to push men out of office for the sake of electing women," said Miss Gena Thompson, association's secretary. "It is our duty to see that the best man for the office gets the office, and if he is not available, then we will see that the best woman takes his place. The progressive woman voters of the state are watching their representatives."

With 25 roll calls of the 1921 legislature, women at the conference checked the votes on measures of interests. Conference delegates are to return to their counties with these questions for women: "Somebody was elected in your district. Who was he? How did he vote? Did he represent you? If not, what influence prevented it?"

Mrs. C. D. Rosa, wife of Judge Rosa of Beloit, voiced one of the problems facing women in choosing representatives.

"When men depend for their livelihood on the big interests, their influence on his vote must be watched."

What women of Wisconsin accomplish in the next election is going to be noted by women of other states, Miss Thompson believes. She said that since Wisconsin was the first to ratify the suffrage amendment, and first to pass the Women's Rights bill, other states look to her for leadership.

Mrs. John J. Blaine remarked that "the campaign is not only going to educate women in practical politics, but it is going to enlighten our men about some things."

URGES JUST COMPENSATION FOR FARMERS

Efficient Market System Based on Equilibrium—Nordman

An efficient marketing system which will serve to relieve the present industrial depression depends upon provision for just compensation to be given the farmer as well as the middleman and retailers, Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, says in a statement today.

"The most immediate problem in marketing is to create a good market for farm products and manufactured commodities, and conditions for the farmer will not improve," he says, "until consumers are in a position to earn enough so as to make an effective demand for the farm products.

"The equilibrium in trade relations will not be attained until people in the city have an opportunity to find remunerative work outside of urban industries, and relieve the over-supply of labor in these industries, giving themselves and others a chance to earn in proportion to their worth.

"If the producers receive less than their just compensation trade relations are thrown out of balance, marketable products do not find an effective demand, a surplus forms, markets are glutted and unemployment follows.

"The only remedy for this situation lies in establishing conditions under which economic laws will function normally and without interruption. The essential condition of a normal functioning of economic life is exchange based on just values given and received. This is true of wages for services as well as prices of products."

Jones Gives Facts On Ticket Sale; Richards Talks

have committed frauds and aided 'scalping.' It hurts football to give the students the same raw deal every year.

"Many letters, applying for tickets, came to the office addressed to me. I turned all these applications over to those in charge of the sale, and I suppose they were handled like any other alumni applications. Perhaps these were assigned to me personally in the report given out by Mr. Jones and would account for the extra tickets alleged to have been given to me.

"The students have a right to find out exactly from the records just where every ticket went."

Coach Jones Talks

In a statement to a Cardinal reporter last night Coach Jones said he wanted the student body to know all the facts of the case. "As soon as the rush is over," he said, "we want some responsible and fair-minded students to go over all our records and see everything that has been done."

"Criticism has been made on the sale of tickets for the Wisconsin-Chicago football game that adequate provision has not been made for Wisconsin people. Few of the people who are offering these criticisms know anything about the problem of handling a sale of this nature. In the first place it is largely a matter of estimating the demand some two months before the contest. The best basis for this, of course, is the report of previous sales on this contest. In 1917 the number of student tickets sold were 910 and public 178, making a total of 1,088. In 1919 we sold 1,348 for the Chicago game. In 1920 a total of 3,200 were sold. With this as a basis we asked the Chicago management to reserve for Wisconsin supporters the entire east stand, a total of 8,000 seats.

"The Wisconsin alumni living in Chicago, who in previous years had taken from 1,500 to 2,000 seats, this year took 3,500. The number originally asked for for the Madison sale was 5,700 and an addition to this was made at 1,150, making a total of 6,850, which is more than the combined sales of 1917, '19 and '20.

"If all the tickets that have been bought at the open sale were used by Madison people, the demands of those who really care to see the game would be taken care of. However, in spite of every precaution on the part of the department, more than 50 per cent of the tickets bought are sent to out of town people.

"It may be of interest to those whose orders have been returned to them and who have not been able to secure seats, to know that the Athletic department at Chicago has turned down requests amounting to $30,000 for this same contest."

Facts of the Case

The following facts were presented to the public concerning the disposal of the tickets procured from Chicago: 4,800 seats were received at the gymnasium Friday and were left untouched until Sunday. Of this lot, 1,000 were $3 seats. The disposal of this block of good seats was also accounted for: 400 went to the team, 100 to the regents and athletic council, nearly 100 went to the various football coaches, and the remainder went to members of faculty, townspeople, and alumni who had ordered and paid for tickets for the entire football season some weeks before the season opened. Many of these orders were in before September 1st.

Seven hundred and fifty seats were secured Wednesday morning, 700 of these were placed on open sale at that time. They were largely cheap seats with some box seats selling for $4. In all, 6,702 seats have been handled by the athletic department.

Contrary to a rumor prevalent on the campus, the tickets which were in the hands of the Chicago alumni association did not come through the hands of the athletic department here, but were obtained direct from Coach Stagg.

mittee consists of Tom Coxon '22, Council of 40 Acts.

At a meeting of the Council of 40 this noon held to investigate the ticket sale a committee was appointed to collect data. The chairman, Evrard Caluwaert '22, Everett Jones '23, Joseph Holbrook '22, and Fred Brewer '22.

The council is investigating in particular the "scalping" situation. Any people selling tickets for more than the regular price will never again be sold a ticket to any Wisconsin athletic event.
