DEBATERS IN FIRST CLASH HERE FRIDAY

Initial Contest is Scheduled
With Missouri Team
Now Coached By Perstein

The first intercollegiate debate of the season will be held this Friday evening in Music hall between the universities of Missouri and Wisconsin. The question to be debated is, "Resolved, that the Kansas Industrial Court Plan for Adjusting Disputes should be adopted throughout the United States."

Wisconsin will be represented by the following men: Carl R. Rogers '23, W. R. Brown '22, and Carroll Heft '22. Heft will be the closer.

Negative to Missouri

At the same time that the affirmative team debates here, Wisconsin will send a negative team to Missouri where the same question will be debated. This team is composed of Harold Seering '24, Martin Kriewaldt '22, and Thomas Amlie '22, closer.

Prof. G. N. Merry, the head of the department of speech at the university of Iowa, has been secured to act as judge of the local debate. J. P. West of the Wisconsin speech department will go to Missouri to act as judge there. Prof. A. P. Haake will be chairman of the evening at Music hall.

Perstein at Missouri

The Missouri debating teams have been coached by I. Arnold Perstein, an old Wisconsin debater, and for this reason the coming debate will have more than the usual amount of interest in forensic circles.

Last year saw a revival in the interest in debating, and those interested in debating are looking forward to even a more successful series of debates this year. The charge of 25 cents for admission will be used to defray the expenses of the debate.

Two Professors Head Local Wilson Foundation Drive

Prof. John R. Commons and Prof. E. A. Ross are to head the committee at the University of Wisconsin that is to assist in raising a fund of $1,000,000 known as the Woodrow Wilson foundation. The organization is non-political, and its purpose is to perpetuate the ideals of democracy and human freedom, as expressed from time to time by eminent Americans. The income of the foundation will provide rewards for those who give service of merit to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice — awards similar to the world-renowned Nobel prizes.

A free-will offering will be asked of the people on January 16, at which time all interested in the establishment of the Wilson foundation may go to the local headquarters of the organization and make their contribution.

SPEAKERS WHO WILL OPEN ATTACK ON PERSTEIN'S MISSOURI DEBATERS

CARL R. ROGERS

Carl R. Rogers '23 will open the intercollegiate debate against Missouri at Music hall next Friday evening. Rogers comes from Lisle, Illinois, where he had considerable debating experience. This will be his first appearance at Wisconsin.

Harold A. Seering is the only

sophomore on the two teams which will debate Friday. He will open the debate for the negative at Missouri. He was a member of the state champion debate team two years ago, and at that time he also won the state extempore speaking contest.

Twelfth Night Begins Work On Three One-Act Playlets

Merry Music and Dancing Speeds Time on Special

"From Weebleton to Wabbleton is 18 miles," but from Waukesha to Jefferson Junction was less than that for the gay students on the second division of the Milwaukee special returning to Madison on Monday night.

Gene Juster sat perched up on the back of the green plush coach at one end of the parlor car brandishing his violin enthusiastically, "Bud" Buell strummed rhythmically on his banjo, some one else played a saxophone and dancing couples swayed about among the green pivoting chairs.

"Get out of here, you students that don't belong," commended an irascible conductor. There were only 12 parlor car checks but the car held an easy 150. After pruning the coach to its rightful occupants, who were perfectly willing to have company, the conductor locked the doors and the crowd surged back to the plebian day coaches, unequipped with orchestra and dancing space. The trip from Jefferson Junction to Madison was long and wearisome.

Octopus Copy For Prom Number Due

Final copy for the Prom number of the Octopus will be received today in the Octopus office not later than 6 o'clock. Short jokes and Prom satire are especially in order according to Octopus editors.

Will Be Presented at Open Meeting at Lathrop January 14

An atmosphere of Spanish romance and hard work will for the next two weeks envelop the concert room at Lathrop hall where Twelfth Night dramatic society is to rehearse the three one act plays which will be presented at the open meeting January 14.

Two of the plays are Spanish in setting, "A Sunny Morning," by Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintoro will be coached by Irma Borchers '23. The characters in this play are:

"The Birthday of the Infanta" is a Spanish tragedy dramatised by Stuart Walker from a story by Oscar Wilde. The scenery and costuming in the play will be particularly effective, according to Andrea Kiland '22, who will coach. The characters are:

Infanta, Lillian Bresler '23; Duchess, Laures Owen '23; Count, Keith Davis '24; Chamberlain, Harold Benston '24; Fantastic, John Boffel '23; Moorish page, Larry Norem '22.

Alice Gerstemberg's incomparable farce, "The Pot-Boiler," will be the third play on the program. Marjorie Boesch is coaching and the characters are:

Authoress, Mildred Miller '22; Novice, Alice Frick '23; Father, Vincent Conlin '23; Hero, Richard McCaffery '24; Heroine, Jane De la Hunt '23; Villain, Richard Gibson '23; Vampire, Geraldine Kaepfel '23.

PROF. GILMORE APPOINTED TO ISLAND POST

New Vice Governor to Succeed
Wood as Head After 9 Months, According to Reports

Prof. E. A. Gilmore of the university law school has been made vice governor general of the Philippine islands, according to a formal announcement made by Secretary Weeks at Washington on December 22. Professor Gilmore will become the aide of Gen. Leonard Wood, recently made governor general of the islands.

In Line for Governor

It is reported, also, that should General Wood carry out his original plans, Professor Gilmore is slated to take his place and become governor general of the islands.

When General Wood accepted the governorship of the Philippines, he asserted that he intended to hold the position for a period of only one year. If he resigns next October as he expects to do, Professor Gilmore as vice governor general will be his logical successor, in accordance with precedents in which the vice governor has succeeded the governor general.

Will Complete Semester

Professor Gilmore will complete his semester's work here and will sail for Manila in February. Several members of the law school faculty will conduct his courses during his absence. Professor Gilmore has obtained a leave of absence from the university and will return to teach here after his work in the Philippines is completed. He will remain in the Philippines during the present Harding administration.

The appointment of Professor Gilmore has been expected here several months following a conference last summer between the professor and President Harding in Washington. In addition to his position as vice governor general, (Continued on Page 8)

Vanity Cases and Memo Pads Are to Be Prom Programs

Programs for the 1923 Prom will consist of vanity cases for the ladies and memorandum pads for the men, it was announced today by Marjorie Severance '23, chairman of the program committee.

The contract, which was awarded to the Elliott company, Philadelphia, specifies a dark brown leather case with the words "U. W. 1923 Promenade" embossed on the cover. Besides consisting of a vanity case, the favor for the ladies will contain a coin purse and a case for calling cards.

The favors for the gentlemen will consist of a memorandum pad on one side with a pencil and a case for calling cards on the other.

Upon distribution on Prom night a ten page program will be enclosed in these favors. The printed programs will include the list of dances, quotations, and the list of patrons and patronesses.

Yes, this is the university all right. There are classes in a building on a high hill. There are pharmacies, restaurants, and houses. But what? Why? How? Two or three days since life was much, ah! so much more vivid and confusing? Let us see,—there was Chicago, lights, liquid and music; there was Milwaukee with the same brilliance, a similar dampness, and as moving orchestrations. BUT the details! There you have us on the hip. Try as we may, there are but a few fragmentary bits of picturesqueness to be pulled from a hazy, but memorable conglomeration of sleepless and fruitful experiences.

Who was it, now? Ah, to be sure! A certain energetic and not too graceful cheer leader was the gentleman who shook our hand and apologized for his inability to step the light fantastic with us. Oh, no! no! He certainly was not! That was not the reason. It was merely that he felt it his duty to direct the orchestra.

Now that we recollect, it was at the same place, or was it? (Yes, it must have been, since we all left in the same wagon.) Anyway the rotund and rudy and very popular entertainer about school was obsessed with the kindest, yea, even affectionate feelings toward the contents of evening gowns. But somehow he left the floor after a while, accompanied, of course, and strangely enough not by his friends.

It is peculiar how democratic we all are. One evening on the curb at the corner of Michigan and Congress, it was our pleasure to witness a most spirited and brotherly game of African dominoes between a certain long-locked campus youth and some one who seemed to be an officer of the Newsboys union. The youth was most generous, even with the bits of green we lent him.

We seemed to have missed something from all that can be gathered at the post-holiday-mortems. There is a "little place on Second street . . . you order coffee and get . . . they call her Lucille, and she ought to be in high class vaudeville."

The most dilirious and editorial member of our campus intelligentsia seems to have been greatly influenced by one of the new novels—Three Soldiers. It was in Milwaukee that he came upon three soldiers in someone's rear yard. The artist in him would come out, so he wove a most delightful tale out of the experience. Unhappily he had the great misfortune to find his soldiers quite dead before the story began.

Being, on paper, gentlemanly, we have refused to reminiscence regarding the sights and sightliness of the softer sex enacted during our journey abroad. A hint tossed you is sufficient,—sorority sisters playing the Dolly sisters on the Eve; College Inn confusion of things abandoned, including hair-nets; terpsichorean athletes at the Athletic club; female balloonists at the same place; front-row, feminine envy and scorn at the Follies matinee, and futurist impressions of slippers, elbows, lip-sticks, and metal-cloth wrinkled and awry.

Are we telling you what the others did? Not at all. We are merely playing the palmist, the clairvoyant. We speak to you of yourselves, we tell you of your past. Your present? You best know that. The future? Ah, dear reader, only Heaven and the Dean are concerned with that.

Our experience left us in some doubt as to the ethics of the generation, particularly at holiday time. But our conscience was eased when the Kappas assured us that they found Milwaukee too tame and somnolent for dignified notice.

TO THE BELLES
Ring out, wild bells, against the sky
To drown the noise,—turn out the light.
I saw Milwaukee New Year's night,
While others say day dawn in Chi.

Ring out, you wild bells, anyway
I heard of many things unsaid;
Well, after all, the year is dead
And what I saw I cannot say.

(Ring off!) I mean I'd rather not Go further. It's disturbing, quite—
I saw Milwaukee New Year's night,
As to the moral—I forgot . . .

OSCAR WILDEST.

Turtles Speed One Mile in Four Years Experiments Show

A mile and a fraction in three years 11 months and 19 days is high power turtle speed, according to results of a test being conducted by Prof. Arthur Sperry Pearse, of the Zoology department.

Professor Pearse, who has been experimenting with turtles for four years, has 166 tagged turtles tramping about on the muddy shores of Lake Mendota. Occasional trips are made to find the shell-backs and study their actions and distance covered. The average distance covered by 166 turtles during a period of five months was 115 yards.

A report of Professor Pearse's results has been sent to the American association for the Advance of Science and confirmation of the statement that record time is being made on Mendota shores has been received.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

VARSITY FIVE BETTERS PLAY ON STATE TOUR

Gibson Stars Against Strong Cream City Quintet

Basketball followers who chanced to be present at either the Milwaukee or La Crosse games saw the first real exhibitions of play that Meanwell's team has given this year. The improved showing has revived hopes for a successful beginning of the season when the Badgers meet Iowa in their first conference tilt of the year.

The Milwaukee game was played against a brilliant quintet of stars selected from former Wisconsin teams and from the Bright Spots, the crack Cream City aggregation. A fair sized crowd congregated in the auditorium and witnessed a game which was close at all times and which was filled with sensational shooting, passing and dribbling.

Gibson a Good Center

Any Wisconsin fans who felt skeptical as to Gibson's ability to fill the center position would certainly have received a pleasant surprise had they witnessed the game. The husky pivot man not only out-jumped his opponent, but kept his team in the lead by scoring six baskets at times when the score was either close or knotted.

Most of the Normal's points were made at times when the Cardinal defense allowed itself to be drawn forward, and the flashy Knapp would steal in for a short shot. Meyer's team fought desperately as the end of the game drew near, but Meanwell's team had settled into a nice steady pace, and a comfortable lead was maintained until the end, the final score being 23 to 19.

At Best In La Crosse

The following night the Badgers put up their best exhibition of the year, and beat Tubby Keeler's La Crosse Normal team 24 to 21. The defense played up to its usual standard, while the offense was far better than it has been at any time this year. The men seemed to have finally found their shooting eyes, and pierced their opponents' defense with ease.

After the La Crosse game, the team disbanded for the holidays, and were not called together for another practice until Monday. Since then they have been sent through a series of hard practices in preparation for the Nebraska game tonight.

Rollie Williams' ankle gave him considerable trouble in both the Milwaukee and La Crosse games. His running and floor work was hindered and he was forced to limp around the floor. It is to be hoped that the injury will have mended itself during the week of rest.

Hockey Candidates Meet Today Noon

With the announcement of a tentative schedule for the Varsity hockey team, a meeting of all candidates will be held in the trophy room of the gymnasium this noon.

The men will elect a captain for the coming season, and equipment will be issued to all men who are trying out for the septet.

The tentative card of games follows:

Jan. 14—University of Michigan at Madison.

Jan. 20 and 21—University of Minnesota at Madison.

Feb. 4 and 6—Minnesota at Minneapolis.

The possibility of playing these games depends upon weather conditions. Other contests may be scheduled.

Football Season Closes With Dope Upset In Far West

Two big upsets closed what has probably been the greatest college football season of all time.

Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college walloped Centre, 22 to 14, on the Texans' home gridiron in the first game that the Colonels have lost during the past grid season.

Washington and Jefferson upset all advance dope, and in what was predicted would be an easy contest, held California to a 0 to 0 count in a gruelling battle. The Bears, champions of the country in 1920, maintain a clean record of wins, however, and their claim to a nationwide title must be recognized despite their inability to beat W. & J.

Center was scored upon for the second time this season when it went down before the Texas steers. The team was completely overwhelmed by Coach Bibie's unheralded eleven. Texas led in the first period when it scored a safety. A Centre back was downed behind his own goal line.

The two-point margin held good until the end of the first half with no more scoring done by either squad. In the third quarter, "Bo" McMillin and his Kentuckians did their only scoring. The Texans retaliated with two touchdowns in the Snoddy and McMillin went across third quarter and one in the fourth. The line for Centre's two markers, Wilson, who made two touchdowns, and Went were the scorers for Texas.

Capt. Stein, linesman, and Erickson, halfback, were Washington & Jefferson stars in the tie game with California. Effective work by these two men enabled the easterners to play the Bears to a standstill.

Two breaks of the game, which California failed to take advantage of, were high points in the contest. The Bears had the ball on W. & J.'s 40-yard line early in the contest, but after a march down the field, failed to go over. In the last five minutes another chance was lost when a forward pass failed.

Four Ski Men Enter Championship Meet

Although they have had little opportunity for practice thus far, four Wisconsin ski jumpers have entered in the National Championship meet to be held on the Norge Ski club slide at Cary, Ill., on January 22.

The men are Capt. Hans Gude, Sverre Strom, Tom Norberg, and Sven Kvaven. They will compete in a cross country meet at Chicago on January 21, and on the following day will journey to the Norge slide.

A distance of one foot took the title from Gude last year. He jumped 127 feet while Champion Sig. Steinwall went 128 feet to win. Strom won individual honors in a dual meet here with Minnesota last year. Norberg placed sixth in the 1921 national meet.

If there is sufficient snow by Saturday, the first meet of the season will be held on the Muir Knoll slide. A dual meet with Minnesota and the Mid-Western meet will probably be entered by the Wisconsin team.

Badger Ski Tourney Is Again Postponed

The ski tournament originally planned for next Saturday has been indefinitely postponed because of lack of snow, according to Montrose K. Drewry, president of the Badger Ski club.

Thomas Norberg '23 and Sverre Storm '22 will be Wisconsin representatives at the International meet at Cary, Ill., January 21 to 26. Two other ski men to make this trip have not yet been chosen.

Pennsylvania, running Davis, Landers, Maxam, and Eby, won the American college championship sprint medley relay at the Penn relays last year.

Hockey Rink Ready For Practice Games If Weather Permits

A 100 by 200 foot hockey rink has been boxed off and flooded on the lower campus and will be ready for practice games as soon as the weather permits. So far it has been too warm for the water to freeze.

In previous years a rink has been maintained on the lake, but last year the athletic department raised hockey to the rank of a minor sport, and it was decided that a rink on the lower campus would be easier to maintain.

"We will be able to keep the public off the rink and provide better ice for the hockey players," said Director T. E. Jones, of the Athletic department.

A hockey game has been scheduled for January 14, but unless the rink freezes so that the team can practice it will have to be postponed.

The Athletic department will provide a warming house on the lake for skaters and will maintain a cleared space for skating. The ski and toboggan slides will be ready as soon as there is enough snow to cover them.

TRACK MEN MEET NOTRE DAME IN FIRST DUAL MEET

Five Meets Are Scheduled For Indoor Season; One At Madison

Preparing for their first meet of the season with Notre Dame on February 18, Coach Tom Jones' Varsity track squad yesterday resumed work with a vim after the holiday slump. A great number of cinder candidates are now working out daily in the annex, and with the wealth of material at hand, an excellent team should result.

Five Meets Scheduled

Five meets and a frosh-varsity contest are on the schedule for the season. In picking the squad to journey to the Catholic's stronghold, a meet will be held between the freshmen team and the Varsity squad on February 11.

The next event in which the Badgers will take part will be the annual Drake Relay carnival which is held at Drake college, in Iowa. This meet is scheduled for February 25. On March 4, the team will go to Urbana to contest in the Illinois relays, and, in their one home performance of the season, the Badgers will take on Iowa in the annex on March 11.

Conference Meet at Evanston

The wind-up of the indoor season will be the annual conference meet at Northwestern on March 18. Tryouts for Sigma Delta Psi, honorary athletic fraternity, will be held on March 24 and 25.

The star performers in the distance runs this season from present indications will be George Finkle and Mark Wall, assisted by Carl Rossmiessel, Douglas Moorhead, Thomas Daniels, Arthur Knutson, and Earl Schneider. Finkle, from his showing in cross country this fall, will be a world beater in the two mile event this year, and Wall is always dependable in the mile. Although this department suffered more than any other through loss by graduation of Dennis Mobley, Brothers, and Noble, it promises to be one of the mainstays of the team in the coming meets.

In the pole vault Wisconsin this year retains all but Wilder of last year's championship crew. Merrick, McClure, and Hamann of the veterans have been working at this event, and Krieger and Tomlinson, two sophomores, are making strong bids for berths on the new team.

Although the team this season has a scarcity of experienced sprinters, Captain Knollin and Spetz have been showing their usual speed in practice, and new dashmen may be developed from

TEAM MEETS NEBRASKA IN LAST PRELIM

Tonight's Game is Last Played Here Till Jan. 14

The final battle before the opening gun of the Big Ten conference struggle is fired will take place tonight at the University gymnasium when Coach Runy and his Cornhuskers canter onto the floor for an evening's entertainment.

It is impossible for Meanwell's team to have too healthy a respect for the invaders. Nebraska entered the Missouri Valley conference last season, and distinguished itself by stepping into second place, winning nine out of ten games. The team was fast on offense and powerful on defense, holding its opponents to the low average of 19 points a game.

Have All Star Men

Three of Nebraska's players were either placed or given mention on last year all-conference teams. With a number of veterans back, combined with the big candidates from the freshman team of a year ago, the Cornhuskers are looked upon as the most serious contenders for the championship of the Missouri Valley conference this season.

As far as the Badgers are concerned, the question of a victory tonight seems to be full of "ifs." In the game against the La Crosse normal, the team appeared to have come out of its mid-season slump, but it is not known whether or not the improvement was permanent. A great deal also depends upon the form that Taylor displays. The ex-captain "hasn't been hitting," and this fact has handicapped the entire team, as he is the most experienced and one of the headiest men on the squad.

Williams Will Start

Rollie Williams is almost certain to start the game, in spite of the fact that his injured foot is not entirely mended. In the Milwaukee normal game the injured member gave him considerable trouble, and he was relieved in the La Crosse tilt as soon as it became practical to make a substitution. Doctor Meanwell will probably do likewise tonight, as his services will be essential in the two conference games which will be played within the next few days.

The team which plays Nebraska will be the same that is to open the conference schedule on Saturday night, and tonight will be the last opportunity that fans will have of seeing the five in action until January 14, when Michigan plays here.

Intra-Mural Indoor Track Schedule

Non-Varsity All Around meet—January 7, at 2 p. m.

Inter-Class meet—January 14, at 2 p. m.

Inter-College meet—January 21.

Frosh-Varsity meet—February 11

Illinois Telegraphic meet (tentative)—February 18.

among the novices in the coming weeks. In the quarter mile, Johnson, Spetz, and Wade are clipping the cinders in good style.

In the half, Wayne, Ramsey, Blodgett, and Holbrook have come forward to fill the gap left by Clyde Nash, last year's captain. The hurdles will be safely taken care of by Captain Al Knollin, George Stolley, and Newell.

For the field events the Badger squad has Guy Sundt and Hans Gude in the shot put, Pete Platten and the Gibson brothers in the high jump, and Sundt, Woods, and Capen in the broad jump.

"My All-Conference team would be ten Varsity men and 'Shorty' Barr," said Coach Richards at the conclusion of the Wisconsin football season.

BACK AGAIN

AFTER a holiday of a few days 7,000 students have come back for work.

The return from the Christmas vacation is always a great event in the life of students. Especially does the occasion affect the freshmen and seniors. For the freshmen the vacation marks the first breathing spell from the hectic atmosphere of the campus. They are enabled to view the university from a distance. They are enabled to compare the standards and ideals which dominate the university with the standards and ideals which prevail in the so-called world of reality. If they are thoughtful, they will pass judgment on these comparative values. They should place themselves definitely on one side or the other of the differing standards, if they find the standards to differ. If they decide that the university has certain well defined ideals which are needed in the world they should come back to their work with new loyalty and stronger sense of duty. They will be true to these ideals while in the university.

For the seniors the return after Christmas is no new experience. But while the sense of novelty may have worn off, the return this year had a deep significance for the seniors. It was the beginning of the end of the journey for them—in many instances the last time they would enjoy the thrill of coming home. The next five months will be thoughtful months for the seniors. Most of them will regret the passing of each day that brings them nearer to the last day. They begin to realize that there is much more than empty words in this talk about school spirit. They begin to get sentimental. They think back over the past and live over in imagination their joys and disappointments. They recall the many things they left undone and privately wish they had it all to do over again. Their consolation lies in the fact that there still remain five months of it—five months to enjoy the companionship of their best friends, five months to work in the spirit they should have worked during all the four years, five months to live under the incomparable spell which the university sheds about her children.

Yes, the Christmas vacation and the return after New Year are good things for the school.

ANOTHER CLUB

LAST year some women organized a club. They called it the Friday Night club. They did not rush to the Senate or S. G. A. for recognition and break into print, with the solemn announcement of the election of the following. They might have given a tea or two, but they got along without a dance or a box at Prom. Their pictures were not in the Badger. They probably did not wear pins or keys.

It is understood that the attendance was pretty good despite the thousand and one distractions and attractions of the traditional Friday night.

They organized to study newspapers and magazines of the better sort. They met to keep abreast of the world of affairs. The week's happenings were reviewed and discussed and the best thoughts and opinions appearing in the best periodicals were considered. In a short while the members acquired a good stock of information about the world in which they lived and they gained a bowing acquaintance with the big problems which they and their children would have to tackle in a few years. Visitors and prospective "pledges" who dropped in to the meetings marveled at the intelligence of the older members.

For some reason or other the club did not start up again last fall, but probably will do so shortly.

In these columns of late much criticism has been expressed of the ever increasing multitude of senseless and silly organizations which play havoc with the student's work, eat up his time and energy, and give little or no returns. In the case of the Friday Night club there seems to be but one criticism to offer, namely—there are not enough clubs of this character.

The women have the right idea. More students, including the men, should catch up with them.

Highbrow, some will say. Such a taunt emanates only from skulls agitated by an irreducible minimum of brains. Some brows need considerable heightening.

THE BUSINESS OF LIVING

If a number of the students were asked what each expected to get out of the courses being studied, a variety of answers would be received. Some might expect help in business, others increased power for service in the community. But the fundamental reason, bigger than any that that might be named, should be back of any effort in the college course. Every student must learn the business of living, and until he has mastered the business of life, his chance for success in the world is limited.

Do you ever stop to think, after completing an assignment in any subject that you are taking, of the relation of the things you have just learned with the business of living? How will you be able to make use of the knowledge you have gained?

Each lesson should be connected in some way with your living. A few moments of thought on each assignment will make the work easier, and will develop an interest in the course which you were never able to discover before.

Too many students think of this classroom work as simply a means of passing an examination. Unrelated facts crowded into the brain will be of no particular value. A mind is not a storage place for unrelated facts, but a means of producing work if given facts in a logical order.

In doing your next assignment, think back and try to realize the value of the work in the work of life.—Purdue Exponent.

Local Professors Address Historical Meet at St. Louis

Professors F. L. Paxson, W. T. Root, and M. Rostovtseff, of the history department of the university, were speakers at the annual convention of the American Historical association, which was held in St. Louis, December 27 to 30. About 300 historians from all parts of the country attended the convention.

Dean Charles H. Haskins of Harvard, who instructed in the history department at Wisconsin from 1890 to 1902, was elected president of the society for the coming year. Prof. Edward P. Cheyney of the University of Pennsylvania is vice-president, and Woodrow Wilson, second vice-president.

"The purpose of the annual meetings is the presentation of papers by members of the society, and discussion," said Prof. Carl Russell Fish, who attended the convention. "The main topic this year was the teaching of history in high schools."

Part of the entertainment was a formal dinner given by the trustees of the Botanical Garden of St. Louis at the Jefferson hotel. Ambassador Jean Jusserand of the French embassy, who was president of the association last year, was chief speaker. Planters hotel was the headquarters of the convention.

The meeting next year will be at New Haven.

Critic Is Pleased With New Years' Orpheum Offering

By PROEHL H. JAKLON

If the quality of the first bill for the new year at the Orpheum is indicative of the kind of vaudeville this theater intends to offer for the coming year, Orpheum patrons will unite in praising the management for its New Year's resolution.

Most every act contained something new and refreshing, and the show as a whole made a distinct impression. Although a few of the acts fell down in certain parts, this fact may be overlooked when the show is reviewed as a whole.

Wilhart Trio

An act which opens with the rapid-fire adventures between a man and a trick automobile. The automobile, which is apparently a cross between a machine-gun and a soap box, saves the act from falling into the conventional bicycle type of offering. Another man and a girl complete the trio.

Daley and Shevlin

Two girls who have voices that harmonize and abilities that put them across without the assistance of hokum. The novelty songs which they introduce have just enough twang to make them interesting, affording at once relief from the tiresome bla-a-a about Tennessee and "Tucky."

Sammy Lee and His Lady Friends

Every kind of dancing in the book. The offering is scheduled as the headliner and really fills this position. The scenery and trappings are bright and new, but to get back to the dancing—Russian, Spanish, Broadway, and Hawaiian varieties are dished out in such quantities that the male members of the act are somewhat subordinated. The Hawaiian number will be the one talked about. Clang. Clang.

Marston and Manley

Joe Miller's original joke book revamped. Lots of singing and talking, and, strange to say, the man does the talking. We couldn't figure out whether the pinch-back suit was make-up or simply the man's street clothes.

Cliff Clark

A knockout. Clark has both the appearance and the line that puts him in a class by himself, and although his number took the required time, the audience would have willingly listened to him much longer.

"The Wonder Girl"

A talkative girl who goes through a bunch of tricks assisted by a rope. A novelty at least.

AT THE PARKWAY

Fiske O'Hara with his never deserting smile, opens a four days' engagement at the Parkway tonight, offering, as is his custom, a story of romance, wit, love, adventure and song, under the direction of Augustus Pitou, Inc. "The Happy Cavalier" is the catchy title of the new play, it is in four acts and Anna Nichols is the playwright in the case.

"The Happy Cavalier" is said to be a glowing story, rapid in action, bright in dialogue, with a fine, courageous hero and a beautiful, though spoiled heroine. It is a play of flesh and blood characters, of individuality and power, real people walk through its scenes and real motives and emotions direct the movement of the story. To tell the plot here would be inadequate and would merely have the effect of destroying the interest of those subsequently seeing the play.

In Barry O'Brian, Mr. O'Hara is said to have a congenial role and carries a sense of reality across the footlights, and since all the world loves a lover, any audience, especially the female portion of it, experiences a thrill of sympathy with him.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Two feature acts share headline positions on the new vaudeville bill which comes to the Orpheum on Thursday for the last half of the week. "A Modern Cocktail" offered by six dusky players in good comedy, few songs and unusual dancing steps, featuring Naomi Hunter and Margaret Ford, in a vocal surprise will be the features, backed up by such well known acts as Joe Tilyou and George Rogers in "Show Me"; Russ Leddy and company in "Surgeon Louder U. S. A."; Bob Jones, songs and stories; Sawyer and Eddie in the act; different and Pathe News, together with Aesop's Fables.

Nebraska Is Mighty Foe For Badgers

Veteran Team to Meet Wisconsin Quintet Wednesday

Wisconsin's university basketball quintet will meet a serious contender for a Badger defeat here tomorrow night in the university gymnasium when the Nebraska quintet takes the floor against the Cardinal-jerseyed basket tossers. The Cornhuskers lost but one game last year and were only prevented from taking the Missouri conference title by a team which had won one more game, but which had lost as many.

"I consider Nebraska just as good as any Western conference team," Dr. W. E. Meanwell said this morning.

The Varsity five is in good shape except for Williams, whose foot is in bad condition yet. The usual lineup will be worked against the Nebraska team. All of the invader's team are veteran players. They are: Haberly, Capt. Smith, Hal-lard, Hoy, Schappers, Munn, Warren, German and Hartley. Schommers and Reynolds, Chicago, will referee.

7,000 Hunting Licenses Issued During Year

Approximately 7,000 hunting licenses were issued during the past hunting season, about the same number as issued in 1920, according to County Clerk George J. Fjelstad. A hunting license costs $1 nowadays. About a dozen women were among Dane county hunters this year.

Besides this, 583 persons purchased trapping licenses at $2.50 a piece. This brought $1,457.50 into the state and county coffers. Three hundred and sixty-six hunters applied for and received deer-tags, which cost a quarter apiece.

Would Extend Fire Limits in Madison

Extension of the fire limits on the east side of the city as proposed in an ordinance to be introduced by Ald. Thomas Quinn, Jan. 13. Skating Good; Ice is Solid and Smooth

Ice—two lakes frozen solid—in perfect condition for skating and ice boating, greeted the Wisconsin students returning from Christmas vacations.

After the severe cold of Christmas night, Monday morning found Mendota and Monona lakes frozen to a depth of six inches. The ice, with the exception of a rough edge near the shore, is smoother than it has been for several years.

Those who were in Madison during the holidays spent much of their time skating and ice boating. From the crowds gathered on the lakes yesterday and last night it is apparent that the returning students are losing no opportunity to enjoy the ice while it is here.

Purdue and Kansas Beat Eastern Fives

Purdue defeated Colgate, 31 to 26, in an inter-sectional basketball game Monday. White of Purdue was the chief point scorer, and O'Connor starred for Colgate.

The University of Minnesota quintet went down before the Kansas team, 32 to 11. The Kansans demonstrated superiority on both defense and offense.

Campaign For New Home Is "Y" Feature

University Institution Has Expanded, Says
F. E. Wolf

By F. E. WOLF
Sec. U. W. Y. M. C. A.

The University of Wisconsin's Young Men's Christian Association has added another successful year to its already remarkable history. Founded in 1881 by a small group of men, its celebrated its Fortieth Anniversary in November with the largest membership banquet in the history of the institution. Under the leadership of Frank L. "Red" Weston, the last academic year was closed in June, all branches of the work having an efficiency unknown in other years. The Religious Conference led by G. Sherwood Eddy in March was one of the most successful ever held. The largest delegation in the history of the institution was sent to Lake Geneva in June and the year was closed with the institution of a sustaining membership and the inauguration of a sustaining membership banquet held on commencement morning at which time the alumni were given special representation on the board of directors.

The present scholastic year beginning in September has been marked by some unusual circumstances. The organization of hundreds of the leaders of the school in the drive for the $100,000 for the Memorial Union Building which required an attendance upon coaching classes three nights a week. This made a heavy drain upon the leadership usually available for purely association work. The association was very glad to make this sacrifice and did its full share of the successful completion of that task.

The association work, itself, is this year in the hands of the following officers: Leo H. Kohl, Marshfield, President; Manly H. Clark, River Falls, vice-president; Wilson Trueblood, New York City, secretary; James Buxton, Platteville, treasurer and chairman of the finance campaign; Americanization work, Oscar E. Baker, St. Croix Falls; Badger Club, Edwin J. Schueler, Prairie du Sac; Boys' Work, Roy E. Sorenson, Milwaukee; Deputation Teams, Birney F. Miller, Omaha, Nebraska; Discussion Groups, and Sunday Morning Classes, Charles P. MacInnis, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Religious Conference and Church Relations, Robert P. Gerholz, Merrill; Foreign Student Work, Ray E. Baker, Conrodia, Kansas; Freshman Welcome and Handbook, Henry J. Katz, Milwaukee; Sick Visitation, Loran S. Clark, Wisconsin Rapids; Social, Clifford O. Bruden, Eau Claire. The president of the Junior Council is Worth E. Shoults, Alexandria, Va.; of the Sophomore Commission, Gamber Tegtmeyer of Milwaukee; and of the Short Course, Victor Gerber of Chippewa Falls.

The most outstanding feature of the past year's work has been the progress made towards the new building. The board of directors have gone on record as favoring the harmonization of the new "Y" building with the Memorial Union Building as soon as that structure is commenced. With this in mind, elevations have been drawn which harmonize both structures and it has been decided to build both of the same material. This will give the University of Wisconsin, a men's equipment which will not be surpassed anywhere in America or the world.

Vilas Estate Largest Handled During Year

The estate of Dr. Charles H. Vilas, who died about a year ago, was the largest handled in the county probate court during the year 1921. Dr. Vilas left $320,557.87 in personal property, and $17,500 in real estate.

Other Madison men who left large properties are George Raymer, whose estate, as recorded in the county court was $87,660.98; Willet E. Main, who left $32,160 in real and personal property; and Dr. James A. Jackson, whose estate was appraised at $25,448.

Varsity Track Men Defeat Milwaukee A. C. Fish Dec. 22

Coach Joe Steinauer's swimming team opened its season on December 22 by handing the Milwaukee A. C. aquatic squad a severe drubbing in a one sided meet, held at the latter's pool in Milwaukee. The Badger squad scored 40 points out of a possible 68 and took five first places out of eight. In no event was Wisconsin blanked.

Lambole, Czerwonsky, Colling, and Bennett starred for Wisconsin, each annexing a first place. The former also took a third in the 220 yard swim and swam on the winning relay team. Bennett also held down the anchor position on the four man combination. Gilbreath, a new man also added to Wisconsin's points with two second places, in the 220 and the 100. Huebner, Koch, Ellincott and Lederer also placed well in their events.

The relay team, composed of Lambole, Davis, Ellincott, and Bennett, swimming in the order named, flashed across a winner by a close margin in the time of 1:45. The Intercollegiate world's record for the event, held by Yale, is 1:39, which speaks well for the Badger squad for with several more weeks of intensive training before the conference meets begin, they should be able to get this time below the figure made in the recent meet with the M. A. C. Steinauer should be able to get his men in shape so that they will be able to cut several seconds off their time in the first trial meet.

The following men placed in the meet with the M. A. C.: 50 yards free style, Lambole, first, time :27; 220 yards swim, Gilbreath, second; Lambole, third; plunge, Huebner, third; fancy diving, Colling, first; Koch, second; 150 yards backstroke, Ellincott, third; 200 yards breaststroke, Czerwonsky, first; Lederer, second; 100 yards free style, Bennett, first; time :59 2-5; Gilbreath, second; 200 yards relay, each man swimming 50 yards, Wisconsin first; time 1:45. (Lambole, Davis, Bennett and Ellincott); M. A. C. second.

Nolen is City Planner For Asheville, N. Car.

John Nolen, city planning expert of Cambridge, Mass., and well known to Madison business men, since his preparation of a zoning plan for Madison in 1909, and because of his articles concerning the city, has been engaged by officials of Asheville, N.
