GYM OVERFLOWS WITH IMBIBERS OF BADGER SPIRIT

ATHLETIC TICKET SITUATION SCORED BY E. R. SUMMERS

Rhodes Scholarship Candidate Expresses Sentiments of Engineers

E. R. Summers, Rhodes scholar candidate and senior in the engineering school, forcefully expresses his sentiments on the present athletic ticket situation in the following letter to the Daily Cardinal. Summers reveals how the student body and the university in general suffered through the alleged inefficiency of the athletic department. His letter follows:

"Records compiled by A. V. Millar, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, show that an average of 25 per cent of the students of the College of Engineering were absent from classes on the day of the sale of tickets for the Chicago football game.

"The situation came up for discussion in the recent faculty meeting, and a general feeling of indignation was expressed. The gross inefficiency of the athletic department has seriously interfered with the work of the other departments of the college."

Dean Millar expressed the view that the athletic department has no more right to hold the students for five or six hours than has any other department in the university. Obviously no other department of the university would be given the privilege which the athletic department seems to take.

Lack Executive Ability.

"A failure to meet the ticket situation shows a lack of executive ability on the part of the athletic heads. If the line up of the students was not anticipated, there still remains no excuse for the fact that no steps were taken during the day to relieve the situation. Any department transacting the business of the athletic department can afford to place men at several ticket booths,—at least the man who sells the tickets should not be required to answer telephone calls.

"The total time wasted by the students amounts to a rather stupendous figure. If 2,000 students waited an average of three hours, a total of 6,000 hours of time was lost on the part of the students. The loss on the part of the students was counterbalanced by a gain of about 10 man hours on the part of the athletic department. Anyone can testify that the time of 2,000 students is worth more than the corresponding time of three or four members of the athletic department. Any department should be able to sell 4,000 tickets in less than half a day if efficient means were used.

Poor Sportsmanship.

"Long waits in the line encourage poor sportsmanship on the part of the sufferers. Some of the more nervy ones always manage to crowd in at the head of the line. This is obviously unfair to the more honest students. If the athletic department cannot provide more booths, the waiting lines should be policed. However, if the ticket sale was carried out in a respectable manner, the satisfaction of the students would obviate the necessity of policing the waiting line, because there would be no long waiting line."

CAMPUS SOCIETIES JOIN TO RUN DOWN THIEF

Several of the leading university societies have joined in an attempt to locate the thief who has been pilfering the fraternities and sororities of the university. Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, McDonald's and Schrieber's rooming houses as well as several others have been entered and ransacked in the past 48 hours, with a loss of money and jewelry. The police thus far have been unable to find the one to blame for the robberies.

Program Proceeds Will Send Band to Chicago Game

The proceeds from the official program of the football game today will be used to send the band to the Chicago game. Copies of the program will be on sale at the cross country race this morning and at the game this afternoon.

The program contains a complete lineup of Wisconsin and Notre Dame players and substitutes, including their names, numbers and positions in addition to sketches and pictures of Coach Knute Rockne and Captain Adam Walsh and the Notre Dame team.

Other features of the program include pictures of the Notre Dame squad and of the Wisconsin freshman team.

CLUBS CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY

All City Factory Whistles Will Blow For 5 Minutes Tuesday

A minute of silence, followed by taps, presentation of colors, and the placing of flowers at the foot of the flag by patriotic organizations will mark the celebration of the seventh Armistice day next Tuesday. The program will be held at noon in the southeast part of Capitol park under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

The first evidence of the celebration will be from 11 o'clock until 11:05, when every factory whistle in the city will blow. An hour later, just at noon, the entire city will be silent for a full minute. Following this silence, two buglers will sound taps from the height of the Capitol roof.

A guard from the William B. Cairns post of the American Legion, bearing the colors of the 32nd division, will march down the stairs of the southeast pavilion to Capitol park. After the presentation of the colors, there will be a five-minute talk. The speaker has not been announced. Then, one by one, representatives from schools, churches, patriotic and civic organizations will file past the colors and place on the color stand, or on the ground nearby, wreaths of flowers. After this homage has been paid, buglers will sound, "To the Colors." The guard will retire with the colors.

Organizations which have announced their intention of placing wreaths are: Chamber of Commerce, Sons of Veterans, Naval Reserve, W. S. G. A., G. A. R., American Legion, Officers' Reserve Corps, Woman's club, and parochial schools.

More groups are expected to participate and will be announced later. Professor Ray S. Owen is trying to get in touch with others and any whom he does not reach should communicate with him.

Combined Bands Will Entertain at Game Today

The combined first and second bands, numbering 145 men, will be on hand at the game this afternoon for the first time this fall, according to word given out at the band office. The band will be arrayed in their cardinal capes and will march to and from the game.

"We have spent a lot of time in drilling during the last week," Major Morphy said. "The band at the Notre Dame game is expected to be one of the best appearing units of the last few years."

The practice of carrying megaphones, which was instituted at the Minnesota game, will be continued throughout the season and the band cheering unit will function as before, according to Major Morphy.

Y.M.C.A. WORKERS REPORT $1,118 AT FIRST LUNCHEON

Professor Gardner Tells Campaigners to Keep Three Facts in Mind

The raising of $1,118.50 by Y. M. C. A. workers, almost before their campaign had started, was pointed to by Ellis Fulton '25, director of the campaign, both as a presage of success and as cause for renewed stimulus, in a workers' luncheon yesterday at the association building.

F. S. Brandenburg '09, Prof. E. H. Gardner and Fulton told the campaigners to spare no effort in their attempts to "sell the Y."

Mr. Brandenburg, who heads the Democrat Printing company, said, "Your enthusiasm can not help being contagious."

Professor Gardner declared that the worker should constantly bear three things in mind: first, the Y. M. C. A. is endorsed by President Birge and the faculty to an extent out of comparison with the support that similar organizations receive at the hands of authorities in other universities; second, it is organization that wins; third, solicitors must have courage, especially when confronted with a "No."

To Fred Ahrbecker '28, goes the honor of having raised the first $50 worth of subscriptions. The first fraternity in this class is Alpha Kappa Lambda, which has raised $76. The total to date is $1,118.50.

Another workers' lunch meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. today. Fulton declared that the meeting would be over long before the beginning of the Notre Dame game.

THETA SIGMA PHI OPENS NEW LIBE

Latest Popular Fiction Can Be Obtained For Two Cents Per Day

A rental library of the latest popular fiction is being opened today by Theta Sigma Phi, woman's honorary journalistic fraternity, at South hall. In addition to fiction there are plays, biographies and poetry. The books are kept in Prof. W. G. Bleyer's office, on the third floor of South hall and may be obtained for a rental fee of two cents a day.

Reviews have been written of the books by members of Theta Sigma Phi and appear in the Capital Times every Saturday. The library consists of 50 volumes at present and more books will be added from day to day as they come from the publishers.

Included in the library are "How to Write Short Stories," Ring Lard-

Judges Announce Homecoming Poster Contest Winners

Winners of the Homecoming carnival poster contest have been chosen by the judging committee, according to Frank Lathers '25, chairman of the art publicity committee for Homecoming.

The winners are Richard Yeo '27, first; Gladys Bartle '25, second; and Elsie Heise '26, third. Eight other contestants were given honorable mention. The judges were Herbert Brockhausen, Professors Colt and Stebbins and Miss Wilson.

Posters entered will be placed in some of the business houses on the square for exhibition. Thirty-five drawings were entered this year being the largest collection ever turned in.

UNIVERSITY GETS $550,000 ESTATE

$200,000 For Union Memorial; J. S. Tripp, Prairie du Sac, is Donor

The estate of the late J. Stephen Tripp, Prairie du Sac, amounting to some $550,000 has come into the hands of the Regents of the University of Wisconsin, as a result of the death of the last beneficiary, according to M. E. McCaffrey, secretary of the regents.

At the death of Mr. Tripp in 1915, his will provided that when the last beneficiary died, his estate should go to the University of Wisconsin "to be used as the Regents see fit." The Regents and the trustees have been cooperating since the death of Mr. Tripp so that practically all the mortgages and bonds have been approved by the Regents.

"It is very unusual for a man of whom we know comparatively little, to leave so large a sum with no stipulations," declared Mr. McCaffrey. "Furthermore he never even attended the university."

Stephen Tripp went to Prairie du Sac in the pioneer days as a lawyer. He started taking care of the farmers' money in an old safe in his office, and for 50 years he was a banker at Prairie du Sac.

Little is known of the earlier life of Mr. Tripp and there seems to be no apparent reason for the bequest other than an appreciation of the work it is doing.

As the fund is still in the hands of trustees awaiting final settlement, the Regents have not decided what it will be used for. The only action they have taken is to rule that the first $200,000 earned on the principal will be given to the Memorial Union.

SPIRIT SOARS AS MOB CHEERS TEAM BACK TO VICTORY

Snake Dance is Fitting Culmination to Year's Peppiest Meeting

Men, women, green caps, a motley throng; spirited songs, deafening yells, inspiring talks; the famous Wisconsin spirit worked up to a fighting frenzy. That was the pep meeting held in the men's gymnasium last night as a prelude to the Notre Dame game this afternoon, a meeting that will go down in the annals of Badger athletics as putting the spirit of the cardinal and white on the topmost rung of the fighting ladder, and pouring out from the gym thousands of students, pepped up to an almost unbelievable enthusiasm, who cavorted madly down the street in a riotous snake dance.

Certainly if the meeting last night was any indication of the outcome of the game today, Notre Dame's scalp is well directed to the belts of the Badger warriors.

Team Set to Win.

"Notre Dame is only human, they can be beaten. Wisconsin is not going out on that field tomorrow to hold the score down, but, like a true Wisconsin team, to win! If the team does not win, you may be certain that the boys have all done their best," said Jack Ryan, coach. "The team has improved both in football and in spirit during these two weeks since the Michigan game, and this mass meeting tonight will go a long way toward putting the keenest edge possible on the team's fight tomorrow. Wisconsin is generally considered to be the underdog, but strange things can happen on the football field."

Irv Gerber '25, was the master of ceremonies. After the pep band played "If You Want to Be a Badger" and "Hot Time," and after Shorty Walsted led some snappy cheers to warm up the crowd, Irv opened the string of short talks by saying that he was well pleased by the turnout. "This is primarily a pep meeting," he said, "for the revival of Wisconsin's spirit. The jam in front of the ticket office last Monday indicated beyond doubt that there is still that same old spirit at Wisconsin."

The team walked through the excited crowd to the platform while the students sang Varsity and uncorked an ear-splitting locomotive. Captain Jack Harris stepped forward with some words of encouragement. "The great Notre Dame team has, in late years, put down all their opposition in the east, and at the same time has usually lost one game a season to a western team. This is usually Nebraska, but we are going to do our best

Notre Dame Fans Undaunted After Weary Itinerary

Here they come—those cars with the light blue and gold bunting, the laughing, jostling crowds with the gay arm bands of Notre Dame, the fathers and mothers up for the game, catching some of the vim and spirit of their own college days.

Here they come, trooping down State street, crowding Lawrence's for a hasty bite, filling the hotel lobbies, 5,000 of them.

You hear them betting on the game, asking for dates, calling old acquaintances, and asking the way to the stadium.

You see them following the band to the gym and scoffing in friendly fashion. You see them at the mass meeting looking on and patting us on the back even if they do not yell.

The Badgers scoff back and kid them about the game and tell them to be careful.

The weather is cold and crisp—real football weather—the band is playing, the crowd singing. Everyone is pepped-up for the game and backing his own team.

Br-r, Sniffs, Sneezes Makes Us Pine For Red Flannels

Br-r-r-r! for once the weather man did not kid us. He promised us some cold weather and look what we got. Even the students from Lapland are wheezing about in their big bear coats, wondering what the folks at home would think of so sudden a change from veritable summer weather to icicle temperature.

The Rocky mountains may think it's a nice practical joke to pass the buck on us and slip over a couple of cold waves when we're not looking, but it's not so funny as it looks when you've spent the last piece of filthy lucre on football tickets, railroad fare and what-not for the glory of Alma Mater and haven't the wherewithal for the red flannels as yet.

No longer will the college boys be able to rate "hot stuff"—rather it will be "cold material" for style decrees that we keep abreast the changing fashion and temperature. So saying, old jargon gives place to the new. But, to return to the weather—such an unique, scintillating subject for conversation—it surely has worked wonders in the last day. Instead of the gay colored, light-apparelled figures of last summer's array, bulky, furry, muffled up bundles now hurry up the hill, and the only indication of life inside are the little trails of steam left behind as the occupants exhale the snappy air.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDCONTENDERS FOR TITLE BATTLE AT CHICAGO TODAYBig Ten Leaders on Last Lap
of Title Race; Stagg Confident

The Big Ten title chase today will narrow down to two and possibly only one contender. Two potential championship teams will clash this afternoon and after the smoke of battle has cleared one of them will be eliminated.

The most important battle in the middle west is the Illinois-Chicago game. Coach Stagg has been working his men to the limit this week in an attempt to perfect a defense against open field work and passing of America's greatest back, the famous Red Grange. In Ponderik and Henderson, Stagg has two of the classiest linesmen in the conference, barring none.

When Michigan and Northwestern clash today fans will see for the first time in years a Purple team that will enter the game with a fairly even chance of winning. This year, due mostly to the efforts of Ralph Baker, star back, the Northwestern eleven has been a menace to all the teams it has played and has also won four of its five games.

Ohio playing Indiana will fight desperately to remain in the 1,000 per cent class. The Indiana team has failed to show any strength and was defeated by a large score in its games with Chicago and Northwestern. Dope has it that the Buckeyes will still find themselves in the championship class after today's engagement.

Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue play non conference teams and should win their games.

MADISON HOCKEY CLUB
LEAVES FOR CHICAGO

The Madison Hockey club consisting of members of the physical education faculty, graduate students, and other interested Madisonians will play its first match game with the all-American team at Washington park, Chicago, this morning.

The All-American team which toured England last year was chosen at the school annual intercity tournament last year at Philadelphia and represents the best hockey material in this country.

Members of the club making the trip to Chicago are Misses Alice Brownell, Frances Hellebrandt, Dorothy Waterman, Carol Rice, Alice Gall, Isne Hoggan, Cynthia Wesson, Margaret Hatfield, Grace Gilchrist, Helen Skinner, Jean Gordon-Smith, Kate Staley, Mesdames Walter Meanwell, William Tenney and Roy French.

To float around a dance floor to the inspiring strains of syncopated music, to lose track of time and place in a dreamy haze, to—but why go further. Come up and try it.

Is Bogie Man Silent Mascot
of Catholic Grid Warriors?

Purple and Gold Feared in 1917 Even as Today

By JACK BURKE

The days immediately preceding the last Wisconsin-Notre Dame grid battle in 1917 brought the same flock of pre-game bogies to the Wisconsin camp that have prevailed here during the past week.

"Deep concern over Saturday's game has become prevalent in Badger quarters with the coming of reports concerning Notre Dame's strength," read the opening paragraph of the Daily Cardinal's sport comment on the day preceding the game.

After a week of shakeups in line and backfield the Badger team faced their second battle of the year decidedly the underdogs, according to contemporary press comment.

Coach Richards meanwhile was frantically juggling backfield and ends in a last minute attempt to stop the vaunted passing attack of the Catholics. Every night saw a new lineup desperately facing the fastest backfields available from the ranks of the freshman and all-American teams.

The day of the game saw the Indiana team invading with the largest squad of men that they had ever sent out on a single athletic trip. Last minute comment conceded that the Wisconsin line would be impregnable, but it was feared that the Notre Dame backfield, which averaged seven pounds less in weight than the Badger offensive machine, would run away from the Cardinal squad.

Notre Dame was not without some apprehension as they faced their opponents at the kickoff. In every previous contest with Wisconsin they had been beaten by large scores. Their main hope was admitted in the men behind the line, all of whom were renowned punters and passers.

The game itself was marked by many nervous fumbles on both sides. Early in the first quarter the Catholics snatched a Badger fumble on the seven-yard line, but failed to gain a score in four tries. The Badgers retaliated shortly after this with a march toward the purple and gold line which carried them

Notre Dame Fans
Arrive By Trains,
Automobiles, Air

Notre Dame has arrived.

Beginning the influx, sedate Cadillacs and less sedate Fords, bearing the license plates of Indiana and flaunting the Blue and Gold of the Indiana university, began to arrive early Friday morning. Saturday special trains will augment the delegation with their cargoes of grid fans from throughout the midwest, and even the air may bring its quota of rooters.

Early Friday morning the first delegates from the Hoosier school made their appearance, preceding their team which went through a light workout at Beloit Friday afternoon. Although inclement weather may diminish somewhat the number of Notre Dame delegates that were planning to make the trip by car, a majority of the Notre Dame student body is expected to see the game.

The names of those men who have made the varsity and freshman swimming squads, will be posted in the gymnasium Monday morning, Coach J. C. Steinauer announced yesterday. Time trials for the freshman ended Thursday evening, by which time all of the large number of prospects had ticked off their records by the coach's reliable stopwatch. The squads will be picked purely on a time basis.

FRAT MERMEN ENTER
WATERFALL CONTEST

Deadline for entries in the interfraternity water basketball tournament has been set for November 12, announces Hugh Folsom, chairman of the committee appointed to arrange details of the competition. The entry fee will be $4 and Coach Joe Steinauer is treasurer. The tournament will start November 17. Practice hours have been set for 5:30, 6, 6:30 and 7 o'clock. All play will be under N. C. A. A. rules. The time of halves has been set at eight minutes. Six regulars and six subs may be used in one game.

GRIDIRON PUPILS
CHALLENGE THEIR FORMER COACHES

Duke Dunne and Uteritz Point Northwestern Eleven For Yost Battle

It is getting to be quite a fad for pupils to challenge the strength of their masters on the gridiron. Last week Bert Ingwersen, Hawkeye mentor, opposed his former teacher, Bob Zuppke of Illinois fame. This week it seems that pupils are not discouraged by the disastrous results of Ingwersen's attempt at overthrowing his old instructor since the Northwestern coaches, former pupils of "Hurry Up" Yost, will attempt to show their former coach a few tricks.

Uteritz and Duke Dunne, two former Wolverine stars, have been working night and day to get the Purple team in shape to oppose their alma mater. Both of these men know Yost's tactics perfectly and have been preparing the Northwestern eleven accordingly.

In another section of the country the same thing is still going on. Iowa seems to specialize in stars of former teams.

Wisconsin Men earn $50,000 through this "Y" service!

"EVERY one of the forty young men from Sparta who is attending the University is wholly or partially earning his own way," said Dr. Spencer Beebe, who spoke for the fathers at the recent banquet which filled the Gymnasium with 600 fathers of Wisconsin students.

"Some of these boys are sons of the most well-to-do families, but they are making self-reliant men of themselves by earning as well as spending while in college. This training is one of the finest things they are getting out of their University life."

"I should like to see facilities provided so that every student who has grit enough to work for part of his college expenses should have the opportunity — we'd turn out bigger men!"

"TOP and think a minute of the men who are leaders; builders of Wisconsin spirit. Is it fat checks from Dad that keep these men in school? In a few cases, yes; but if you get to know these men you'll find that most of them do all sorts of things, from minding children to writing for a string of newspapers. They're more than "paying the freight"; they're developing resources and strength that bring them success on the campus, and will bring them larger success when they leave it."

Whether a job means the difference between staying in school and going home, or whether it's just a backbone stiffener, come in and talk it over with Miss Rosenberry at the "Y"!

Over 280 permanent jobs were found for Wisconsin men last year; besides 1,426 temporary ones. These jobs were worth $200 to $225 to the students. That would make over $50,000 in the pockets of Wisconsin men. That's where $450 of the $5,000 we are asking you for will go; pretty high returns on the investment, isn't it?

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDBADGERS READY FOR ROCKNE'S POWERFUL
NOTRE DAME MACHINECoach Ryan Makes Changes in Line and Backfield to Meet
Strong Catholics

With the first chill winds of winter scurrying across Camp Randall on the eve of Wisconsin's renewal of relations with Knute Rockne's Notre Dame football machine, Jack Ryan has made his tentative choice of players to start for the Badgers. The revamped team, after two weeks of tense practice sessions, has imbibed a new spirit. Backed by one of the peppiest exhibitions of student spirit given in years to a losing team, Ryan's charges enter the game today with a great deal to gain.

Followers of the Cardinal look for a comeback so strong that the Notre Dame team will be held to a low score, or even defeated if the breaks of the game favor Wisconsin.

Changed Lineup

The lineup for the game given out by Coach Jack Ryan last night indicates that there will be plenty of new faces in the old and new positions. Capt. Jack Harris is appointed to fill the position of right tackle, where he has been working out for the past week and a half.

Ryan was not so sure last night of the backfield he would start, but it seems certain that McAndrews, McGivern, Barnum, Doyle and Leo Harmon, and possibly Larson and Kreuz will see action in the backfield.

Teckemeyer at Center

The lineup, as announced, is as follows:

Blackman, l. e.; Nelson, l. t.; Miller, l. g.; Teckemeyer, c.; Biebelstein, r. g.; Harris, r. t.; Burrus or Long, r. e.; Doyle Harmon or Larson, q.; McAndrews or McGivern, l. h.; Barnum or Leitl, r. h.; Leo Harmon or Kreuz, f.

Polaski may be inserted at end in case the other ends cannot stop the end attacks of the fighting Irish.

If the stiff wind of yesterday continues today it will be a point in favor of Wisconsin. Notre Dame has made many of its counters this year by the aerial route, but a stiff gale would make a successful air attack nearly impossible. Punting, too, may be erratic, especially if the wind shifts to a crosswise direction.

Stadium to Be Filled

It is certain that a crowd of more than 30,000 persons will witness the game. Hunter reports that nearly all the tickets are sold. Notre Dame partisans will number about 12,000 persons, according to Hunter's estimate.

The teams will be about evenly matched as to weight, but the Irish have a distinct advantage in speed. If the wind dies down there ought to be a punting duel between Leo Harmon and the Notre Dame punters.

IRISH GAME SEAT
PLAN UNCHANGED

Spectators at Minnesota Game in Seats Half Hour Before Kickoff

Seating arrangements for the Notre Dame game will be exactly as they were for the Minnesota game. Coming early is as much an advantage to the individual as to the spectators in general. Frank Nickerson, of the department of education, says this is one of the salient points which he hopes to impress on the student body.

"At the Minnesota and other Big Ten stadiums, the spectators are all in their seats by 1:30, although the games do not start until 2 o'clock," Mr. Nickerson states.

Those with tickets in sections A to P or in boxes A to J should enter from Breeze terrace. For boxes K to X enter large gate M from Breeze terrace. For seats in sections and boxes Q to R, enter

RIFLE TEAM MEETS
RIPON MARKSMEN

The Wisconsin rifle team engages in its first match of the season this morning at 10 o'clock when it meets Ripon in the armory gallery. The Ripon team composed of seven men, arrived last night. The team will shoot from two positions, prone and standing. Coach Shire's men seem to have the edge on the Ripon marksmen and a win is expected.

So It Seems

Watch Wisconsin make a comeback this afternoon!

It seems like a revival of the good old days at Wisconsin with the pep meeting, "varsity out," and the town all agog on the day of a battle into which Wisconsin enters distinctly the underdog. Just a crowd at the game does not matter, it is the spirit and fight displayed by the crowd that gives animation to the team.

There will be noise this afternoon. Wisconsin has nothing to hold; everything to gain. To hold Notre Dame to a low score will put Wisconsin on the football map; to beat them after the showing made so far this season would electrify the followers of football over the entire country.

Well, there's the dope. If Wisconsin ever had a chance to come back it is today. Let's back 'em up from the stands and make the stadium roar with Wisconsin spirit.

The poetry yesterday morning seemed to strike a chord, for today we received the following from contributing versifiers:

OTHER VICTORIES OVER

CLEAR RECORD IS
GOAL OF BADGER
HARRIERS TODAY

Team is Handicapped By Loss of Petaja, Star
Runner

The last dual meet of the season for the Badger cross country team will be run this morning against the University of Chicago harriers. The Badgers have already defeated Marquette, Minnesota, and Michigan, and a win today would give them a clear record for the season.

The start and finish of the race will be in front of the gymnasium, and it will be started promptly by the referee, E. T. Jones, at 11 o'clock. The course to be covered will be the usual 4.9 miles along the lake drive. The record for this course was established by George Finkle in 1921 at 25.53.

Petaja Is Out

Wisconsin will be somewhat handicapped by the fact that Petaja, one of the best runners on the squad, will be unable to compete because of a sore leg. Bergstresser, who will run, is also bothered by a bad ankle.

Captain Piper will again wear number one and should be one of the first to cross the finish line. Other men whom Coach Burke has confidence in are Kubly and Perry. These two men have been doing wonderful work in all of the meets this year, and should give a good account of themselves. The other men to run for Wisconsin are Bergstresser, Cohen, Schilke, Schwenger, Schutt, Campbell, and Link.

Piper Considered Good

The Maroons this year are coming up here with a well balanced team. In their last meet they lost to Notre Dame by only one point. Captain Bourke is the one who took first place in the meet last against the Cardinal hill and dale men. Levine took third last year. Besides these they have Hoke, Coop, Marley, and McNeil.

This will be the last home race for Captain Piper, Perry, and Bergstresser. These men have been on the Cardinal team for the past three years and have always done good work.

And another:

Twenty-two men in a pile,
They are holding the ball for a while,
When they pull 'em away,
One crowd will yell "Ray!"
And torn shirts will make the referee smile.

SEW IT SEAMS.

FROSH HARRIERS
OUTSTRIP FIELD
ON WET COURSE

McKee, Payne, Reeves, and Klevay Tie; Time is 16:01

Battling against a strong wind and running on a wet course, McKee, Payne, Reeves, Klevay of the freshman cross country team tied for first place in the annual interclass harrier race yesterday afternoon over a 2.9 mile course, leading the freshman harriers to a 15 to 66 point victory over the sophomore class. These men made the remarkable time of 16:01 and according to Coach Meade Burke, varsity coach of the hill and dale, these men will make a very fine addition to next year's cross country squad.

Approach Record Time.
The record time for the course is 15:44 made by Clayton Cassidy in 1923 and it is probable that if these men had been sorely pressed they would have come very close to shattering the existing mark.

Following them came Johannes '28, Kotz '27, Robarge '28, Rickinson '26, Eastman '27, Chapman '28 in the order named. Chapman, who was handicapped by a bad leg, may be counted to be among the leaders in the annual turkey race which is next on the program of intramural cross country races. Earl Elleson another star was unable to start the race due to injuries.

Burke Enthusiastic.
"The freshman team this year consisting of the four men who tied for first and Chapman and Elleson forms one of the best balanced freshmen teams we have ever had in the university," declared Coach Meade Burke after the run.

NUMERAL MEN ASKED TO HOLD LINES TODAY

"W" men and numeral men are requested by the cross country managers to hold the lines at the finish of the cross country meet with Chicago today. George Walsted, varsity cheer leader, requests those interested to meet him for instructions in front of the gymnasium at 10:30 o'clock.

An instructor in a class the other day wrote on the blackboard—in an attempt to emphasize a point—the strange word "enviroment" and then pronounced it as he spelled it. At any rate, it is one consolation that the members of the class recognized his error. Such is education.

NICE GOING, BAND

The university regimental band is insufficiently thanked for the work which it puts in for the sake of the interests of Wisconsin. Few realize how much work is entailed in the getting up of the various numbers and the marching. For several afternoons this week the entire aggregation practiced marching on the lower campus pointing, as the team is, for the Notre Dame game.

By and large these men go unthanked for their efforts. At Michigan the appearance of the Wolverine band creates a sensation in the stands and cheering section which rivals—even equals—that of the appearance of the team. Certainly the Wisconsin band is on a par with the Wolverine.

It might be suggested that, instead of marching down the cinder track to its stand on entering the stadium for a game, the band march directly out onto the field. There is no question that it fully deserves such prominence.

In 1915 the University of Wisconsin band journeyed to San Francisco for the exposition which was being held in that city and there received such an ovation as has seldom been given such an organization on such an occasion. Wisconsin's band is much better known outside of Madison than it is in Wisconsin's library.

So that if those who have been trying to study in the library during the hours when the band was practicing on the lower campus allowed a few whispered curses to issue from their lips at the interruption, they should remember just what the significance of those practices was and should be ready, as the rest of the student body will be, to give that group of 150 players a real ovation and real support at Camp Randall this afternoon.

PARENTS AND VISITORS

How many times have you journeyed to the infirmary to visit a friend there only to discover that some other friend had been there before you and that you were repaid for your efforts by a closed door and the suggestion that you come some other time? It is not an infrequent occurrence, and not a few students have wondered at the ruling which permits only one person to visit each student on a given day.

It is not difficult to see that there is reason in such a rule when the patient in question is too seriously ill to stand the strain of entertaining more than one person a day. But in the case of a patient who has a broken limb, it is not apparent just why an indefinite number of visitors are not permitted to see him so long as they follow each other in succession and abide by the limit of hours.

When questioned about the matter, the infirmary authorities replied only that the rule is the rule and that if a visitor wishes to be sure of seeing a patient he can make an appointment to that end by calling the infirmary before 2 o'clock. Further information or explanation was not forthcoming.

The Daily Cardinal believes, however, that when a patient is not too seriously ill, it would be advisable to allow more than one visitor to see him during an afternoon, of course with the understanding that, since the rooms are as small as they are, only one visitor be admitted at a single time.

INTER-FRATERNITY FOOTBALL

The other day we saw an inter-fraternity football game. We had not seen such football since grammar school days: the uniforms were tennis shoes, jerseys, khaki trousers (even a pair of once-white knickers)—no headgear nor other paraphernalia of the inter-collegiate game. Between halves a number of the members of both teams called for cigarettes; one end was even seen to smoke one during the game. The punting was ridiculous, the tackling atrocious, the passing fair.

And yet here was real sport—sport for the love of it, sport in its purest and best sense. There was plenty of friendly rivalry, also much laughter and chaffing. Lots of fight, but none of the win-at-any-costism which has sometimes envenomed inter-collegiate sport.

Spontaneous intra-mural sport where there is not too much organization, not too serious competition is a great thing in the university, both from the point of view of the individual and of university society as a whole.

Y. M. C. A. is Employment Agency on Large Scale

BY THE SECRETARY

Y. M. C. A. Employment Office

"Have you any permanent jobs today?" is the constant inquiry at the employment office of the Y. M. C. A.

"No, but we always have odd jobs."

"All right, I'll take one of those," is the invariable reply. Although 125 men have been given permanent positions, with 700 men waiting work there is still a large number of them to be placed.

The permanent positions consist of anything from tutoring in commercial subjects to taking care of children in the afternoon or evening. The temporary jobs are largely for cleaning of all kinds. Though there is no limit to the kinds of work we have occasional call for fence painters and models for sketch classes in art.

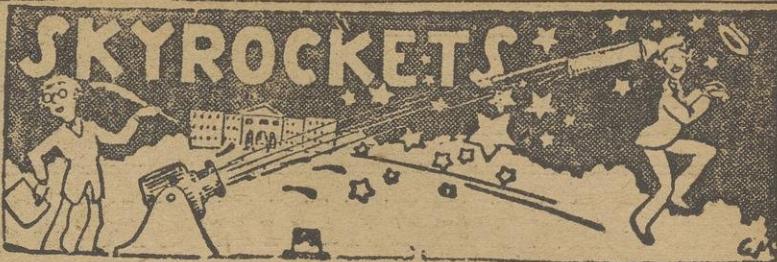

At 10:30 o'clock the morning of the Minnesota game we received this S O S call from a distressed mother, "My maid has been taken ill so that she can not work this afternoon. I need someone to stay with my son during the game. He can wash dishes while my boy is asleep. I have a houseful of guests and I can not go to the game unless I can get help."

A boy was found who wanted work and much needed assistance was given to both the mother and the student.

A very dejected looking girl came in the other day and inquired, "Could you possibly find me a boy to wash dishes over the week-end? My roommate wants to drive to Chicago with me and she can't go until she is certain that the dishes will be done. We've asked about a hundred girls and none of them will do it."

A man was found within a half hour to take the job so that the girl went to Chicago with a clear conscience and a man earned his meals during the week-end.

Special efforts have been made this year to organize the employment bureau to take care of this type of emergency work, as well as the regular calls for temporary work. Two hundred and seventy-five odd jobs have been given out up to the present time. They generally net cash and average 45 cents an hour. So with 15 or 20 hours of work a week, a student may help himself materially.

We hear that the seats in the stadium will be steam-heated for the ensuing game. The cheerleader will control the valve, thereby being able to have a prompt response to the request "everybody up."

The athletic department, following its usual policy of catering exclusively to U. W. students, will have only one ticket taker and one gate open at 1:45 tomorrow afternoon, as Mr. Hunter remembers that the crowd didn't arrive until 1:48 in 1917. Besides we have 256 more tickets this year!

SOMETHING NEW.

The annual joke about the definition of the word "mankind"—embracing as it does women" was pulled in Psych lecture yesterday afternoon. The laughter was Hectic—as usual.

The University Pharm is trying to collect rain insurance claiming that all their customers rushed out of the store at 10 last night without paying, to laugh at people wading waist and knee deep in the State-Lake.

Our modesty prevents mentioning the name of one fair co-ed who, endeavoring to get to "the alley" before 10:30, fell flat in the pond at 10:34. Cap't. Isabel was called, but she was rescued by a street car before the Cardinal could be transported to the scene.

Land-Grant College Association Meets in Washington, D. C.

The thirty-eighth annual convention of the Association of Land-Grant colleges will be held in Washington, D. C., during the coming week.

At the present time the Association includes engineering, agricultural and home economics colleges. All of the colleges that are represented in the association were first financed by a grant of land from the federal government.

Dean F. E. Turneaure will represent the College of Engineering at the national convention. Representatives will also be sent from the College of Agriculture and course in Home Economics.

STORM-WRECKED TREES PROTECTED BY WIRING

Due to the damage done to several of the trees on the upper campus during heavy winds lately, a force of men has been put to work wiring the trees so that no further injury will be done. Several of the trees were split in a recent storm so that wiring was the only possible way of saving them, A. F. Gallister, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said yesterday.

CLUB PICTURES DUE WEDNESDAY

Deadline Set For Badger Space
For All Campus Organizations

All organizations who wish to have a page in the 1926 Badger must make their reservations at the office in the Union building by Wednesday, according to John Stuart '27, organization manager. Reservations may be made by calling him at Badger 186 or at the Badger office. The number of organizations who expect to be represented must be known in order to reserve the proper number of pages.

The deadline for pictures and material is November 20 and by that time all group pictures and data must be in. All settings must be interior settings, except in cases where the groups are too large to have an interior picture taken. These groups must secure special permission from Otis Weise '26, editor-in-chief.

"We have a new system for checking up on all the pictures and data," said Frances Cobabe '26, who is division chief of organizations. "The secretary of each organization is responsible for the taking of the picture and the filling in of the data. This eliminates mistakes that might result from careless filling in of the data."

Lyden Professor Explains Muscular Action to Medics

Prof. W. Einthoven of Leyden university, Holland, aided by slides, showed Wednesday night in Science hall before medical students the work that has been accomplished by eminent men in the measurement of muscular reactions when stimulated.

"When a stimulus is applied to a muscle, an electric current results. This current brings about a state of tension of the muscle which causes it to expand or to contract, depending whether the stimulus is positive or negative," Prof. Einthoven explained.

He compared the functioning of muscles to that of a steam engine, because the electric response of a muscle resembles the valve of an engine, while the mechanical reaction is like the work of a machine. The heart, as has been proved by tests upon frogs and rats, acts just as any other muscle. Prof. Einthoven said, "It is certain that the electrical effects precede the mechanical effects of a stimulus upon the muscles, according to a certain group of physiologists, but this theory does not stand all the tests."

HISTORY COURSE BOOK PUBLISHED BY PAXTON

"A History of the American Frontier" is a new book that has recently been published by Prof. Frederic L. Paxton, chairman of the history department, for the use of students in his course, the history of the west. The period of history covered by the book extends from 1763 to 1893. Ten copies of the history are now on reserve at the university library desk for students in the course.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Phi Delta Gamma, national professional forensic fraternity, has installed a chapter at the University of Minnesota. The fraternity was organized at the University of Iowa last year on a strictly professional basis, and plans to do for forensics what Sigma Delta Chi has done for journalism.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Freshman group meetings are held by the underclass department of the Michigan union. At the end of the year the Intramural department awards five sets of numerals to members of these groups who display the greatest interest and abilities in the activities.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Because of the condition of the city drinking water, students at the University of Indiana bring milk bottles with them to classes, filling them with university water, and returning to their homes after classes to enjoy sips of the odorless beverage.

BOULDER, Colo.—A rotten egg fight took place recently between the freshmen of two well known fraternities at the University of Colorado. During the ten minutes in which the contest lasted each team threw one crate of rotten eggs. A very effective Grecian parade accompanied both the challenge and its acceptance.

LAFAYETTE, Indiana.—Freshmen scholarship awards are offered annually by the Pan-hellenic council at Purdue university to the fraternity freshman class that has the highest average for the two semesters, and also to the freshman having the highest individual average.

EVANSTON, Ill.—In order to see their employees better trained, eighty-one Chicago firms and corporations have appropriated funds to the sum of $199,950 to assist in the building of the Hall of Commerce at Northwestern university.

PALO ALTO, Calif.—Stanford women in assembly went on record as endorsing three principles: the stand which the Men's Council has taken in prohibiting the drinking of intoxicating liquors among students; the unwritten law forbidding university women to smoke; and interest in campus elections whether they concern women alone or the entire student body.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Co-eds of the University of Missouri will have to cheer for their teams alone. The student council and the director of athletics have asked the students to refrain from having dates for the games.

Long or Short?
Two Heads of Hair Better Than One, Says Paris

Five Minutes Makes This Change

NEW YORK—Two heads are better than one—particularly if one head has long hair and the other short.

For a while it did look as if there might be some necessity for taking a stand on this hair question, and come out definitely for or against the bob.

Latest importations from Paris in the way of evening and afternoon gowns do seem to be against the bob. Their dignified lines and gorgeous fabrics demand a formal coiffure.

And sports clothes and morning frocks continue to demand the youthful bobbed head.

There were indications of a deadlock until the hair merchants saw a splendid opportunity for service. They are going in seriously for transformations that really transform.

Now a woman may be bobbed in the morning and flaunt a Grecian bun, a psyche, a mess of curls or any form of coiffure she likes in the evening.

Armand Blatt, one of the leading creators of hair styles in New York, says: "Undoubtedly a great many women will bow to Paris and let their hair grow, but the really clever woman will manage to sacrifice neither style nor comfort."

The time limit on transformations is said to be one minute—less time than most long haired women take to wind up their locks.

LOCAL MAN HEADS BADGER TEACHERS

C. J. Anderson is Elected;
Gosling Hits Move to Raise
School Age

MILWAUKEE—C. J. Anderson of Madison was elected president of the Wisconsin Teachers' association as the end of the first day's session of the convention which brought 8,000 Badger teachers to the Milwaukee Auditorium for the general meeting yesterday.

Mr. Anderson is a member of the state board of education. He succeeds Miss Lillia E. Johnson of Eau Claire.

Other officers elected by delegates to the assembly meeting are:

First vice president, R. E. Balist, Sturgeon Bay.

Second vice president, D. W. Wright, Oshkosh.

Third vice president, Miss Emma Jacobson, Walworth county.

Secretary, E. J. Doudna, Madison (re-elected).

Treasurer, G. F. Loomis, Kenosha (re-elected).

Three members of the executive board, Lillian McCormick, Superior; Thomas E. Sanders, Racine, and Frank Head, Manitowoc, whose terms had expired, were re-elected.

At the assembly meeting the discussion of the compulsory school age limit, was precipitated by Miss Annette Rosenthal, who read a recommendation of the resolutions committee that the age be extended from 14 to 16 years. Under prevailing statutes children in communities for vocational training may leave school when they are 14 years old. Where there are vocational schools children must attend until they are 16.

A motion that the recommendation be accepted was protested by Supt. T. W. Gosling of Madison who declared that his experience as teacher, principal and superintendent had convinced him that boys who had no desire to continue their studies were better off working than attending school.

The question was dropped with a vote to approve extension of the age limit without specifying any particular age. * * *

What Your "Y" Money Buys for Wisconsin

Religious Leadership, $750

"The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. fill a very general need in supplying an opportunity for religious worship and work, not sectarian in character but open to all, regardless of race or creed. Twenty-five years of experience have taught me that a state university is no more godless than any other place; its character ideals are as high as those of any other institution of learning," says Dean Goodnight.

10,000 Wisconsin people are influenced by the annual Religious Conference, and many more by smaller study groups throughout the year.

Services to Students, $785

The human touch that thinks of serving men sick in the infirmary; that meets freshmen at trains and steers them over the first few bewildering, lonely days; that studies the problems of foreign students and quickly responds to whatever peculiar needs arise; that provides social opportunities for men coming to Wisconsin for the Short Course—all these and many other services the "Y" unobtrusively carries on all the year long.

Association Hall, $2500

"The Memorial Union and the Y. M. C. A. have in common the purpose of raising Wisconsin life to higher levels. The Y. M. C. A. is here on the job now, and has been for many student generations; it has been and still is the only 'get-together' center on the campus, as well as the chief service institution," is the word Prof. E. H. Gardner sends.

Have you seen the new writing and social rooms on the second floor? And enjoyed the fireplace and the big davenport, the piano and the victrola while you're resting a bit after dinner? Come in!

"The Wisconsin of which we dream will come into being only through the development of the sense of responsibility in each student, and of the fullest degree of leadership of which he is capable. . . . Toward this goal the Y. M. C. A. has been earnestly working," is Mr. Gardner's final word of endorsement.

TUTORING COURSES GIVEN AT Y. M. C. A.

Classes Will Be Organized
When Enough Applications
Are Filled Out

Tutoring courses for men, who need help in their studies, are now open at the Y. M. C. A., according to C. V. Hibbard, general secretary. Several students are being tutored in German now.

"Any students who feel that they need help of this kind should file their applications at the Y. M. C. A. immediately. Special tutors and other facilities will be provided as soon as there are enough applications to warrant extensive activities of this sort," Secretary Hibbard said.

A course in the life of Christ is being conducted every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the association building by Mr. Hibbard. Within a few weeks the usual Sunday morning arrangements of having outside speakers will be made.

Petting Parties Are Version of Old Courtships

MILWAUKEE — The morals of the modern youth are no worse than those of the bygone days, youth has its fling now as then and the petting parties of today are only the modern version of the incidents of long ago when the reins were wrapped around the whipstock and the old gray mare was allowed to ramble home, according to E. G. Doudna, secretary of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association in a talk today at the annual convention here.

The only difficulty now, Mr. Doudna said, is that youth and its escapades get too much publicity. Youth today travels at no speedier rate than in other days, he added. The present day youth should be commended rather than criticised for its frank expression of life on which fathers and mothers of today were silent when they were young, according to Mr. Doudna.

"All this talk by reformers about children going the wrong route is mere dictum and largely misinformation," Mr. Doudna asserted. "There were flappers in our mothers' day, but the older generation hesitate to admit it. The social situation is better today than it was in the days following the civil war."

Woman Killed By Auto; Driver Fails to Stop

PLATTEVILLE — Mrs. Joseph Huntington, 45, wife of a Darlington, Wis., merchant, was killed almost instantly Thursday at 6 p. m. by a speeding motor car on highway 23 between Platteville and Belmont. Mrs. Huntington, was in a car driven by her husband when engine trouble developed. They stopped and Mrs. Huntington alighted on the pavement. Another automobile, moving east toward Belmont at a high rate of speed, struck her and the driver failed to stop. The woman was brought to Belmont and was dead.

Some Sigh, Others Frown; But We Like Green Volumes

When you see a student leave 101 Bascom with a pale green little volume watch him and you will see that he hurriedly and eagerly looks up a name. After he finds it he either frowns or looks satisfied. The chances are that a large percentage of the hundreds of students who receive directories first look up their own name to see if it is spelled right.

The tremendous task of proofreading over 7,000 names, telephone numbers, and addresses was directed by Miss Georgia M. Martin, assistant registrar. Her corps of workers in conjunction with that of Miss Blanche F. Noer, university editor, checked over the whole book to make it as accurate as possible.

As long as the 9,000 directories last, students may get them at 101 Bascom, which is open every afternoon between 2:30 and 5 o'clock. The directories differ from those of last year in that they have a list of chairmen of departments, a list of administrative and service departments, and a list of the janitors for all university buildings and their telephone numbers.

Miss Martin and Miss Noer are busy now working on the directory which will contain names, addresses and telephone numbers of the faculty. They do not know when these will be issued. A limited number of cloth-bound volumes for deans and department chairmen will be printed.

REGENTS TO CONSIDER NEW BUILDING PLANS

A tentative building program for the coming biennial at the university is practically ready for consideration at a special meeting of the board of regents, according to J. D. The special meeting will take place some time this month.

TWO ACCIDENTS REPORTED HERE

Man Overcome By Gas and Woman Injured By Gun Shot

Two accidents, one a shooting and the other a case of partial asphyxiation, which followed each other within a space of two hours here yesterday afternoon, nearly caused the death of a man and a woman who are in the General hospital today.

Mrs. W. W. Winton, 50, a widow, formerly a nurse connected with the contagious hospital, shot and wounded herself shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon while she was packing a trunk in her home, 320 North st., preparatory to departing for Florida.

Albert Buol, 36, single, 905 St. Paul ave., a laborer employed by the city, was discovered in the basement of his home at 6:10 last night in a semi-conscious condition, the result of inhaling fumes from a gas stove.

Both Mrs. Winton and Mrs. Buol will recover, it is said.

Mrs. Winton had recently rented her home for the winter months and yesterday she was preparing to leave for the south for the winter months.

A few minutes after 4 o'clock, a man who was passing the Winton house, heard the screams of a woman within the home. He ran to the home of Mrs. Edward Phalen, 316 North st., a neighbor, and summoned her.

Entering the widow's home, Mrs. Phalen and the man found her seated in a chair in a fainting condition.

Police Drivers John Arnold and Patrick Burke who responded to a call sent to headquarters, took the woman to the General hospital.

Dr. A. G. Hough, 1251 Williamson st., a brother of Mrs. Winton, was called to care for her.

Investigation at the hospital showed that the woman's abdomen had been grazed by a bullet which is said to have been discharged from a revolver while she was packing it away in her trunk.

Mrs. C. M. Campbell, upon returning from downtown at 6:10 last night, detected strong odors of escaping gas fumes in the home. She rushed to the kitchen, but found a jet in the gas range to be closed. The gas heater upstairs was likewise closed, she found.

Running into the basement of the home she found the source of the fumes, an open jet in the laundry stove, and laying on the floor nearby was her brother, moaning, in a semi-conscious state.

Acting Sgt. Carl Seeman who was notified at police headquarters of the affair, sent Drivers Arnold and Burke to the home.

Buol was removed to the General hospital, where artificial respiration was applied with the police pullmotor. Within a short time he rallied from the effects of the gas and was declared out of danger unless pneumonia develops.

For several years he has been rooming at the home of Mrs. Campbell, his sister.

Dog Has Hysteria on Finding That Badgers Defeated

Whoever said dogs do not have feelings the same as humans do, just listen to this tale of how a little dog went crazy as a result of a football score.

Earl "Keg" Driver, assistant coach of the freshman team, attended the Michigan game on Oct. 26 and left his dog, Peggy, with one of the neighbor boys. The boy brought the dog up to watch The Capital Times gridgraph.

All through the exhibition Peggy stood by with her ears perked up waiting anxiously for the final score to be announced, and when that fatal moment arrived she was suddenly taken with fright disease.

She ran across the street, succeeded in narrowly escaping the menacing wheels of an approaching automobile, circled around two or three blocks and finally broke into the second flat of a house.

The poor, afflicted puppy tore wildly around the house, frightening the occupants. Finally, spying an open window, Peggy jumped out and broke her leg.

Dr. C. A. Deadman, veterinary surgeon, was called to the

One Company Invests Quarter Billion To Relieve Country's Housing Shortage

Population of Seattle or Indianapolis Could Be Housed in the Homes the Metropolitan Life Has Helped Nation Build

New York, N. Y.—By investing almost a quarter of a billion dollars in housing projects since December 31, 1919, a single corporation has assisted in the building of dwellings and apartment houses that would furnish comfortable and up-to-date shelter to the inhabitants of a city approximately the size of Seattle or Indianapolis. These cities, according to the 1920 Census, are credited with populations of about 315,000.

The company making this investment in American homes is the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The investment has been made to carry out the policy, adapted by its directors, of relieving the housing shortage that prevailed after the war.

In the four and three-quarter years since this policy was put into effect, through its correspondents and direct, the company has made more than 33,000 housing loans. Houses and apartments to accommodate 65,099 families were built with these loans or are at some stage of construction at the present time. Since the general practice is to accredit a family with five members, the houses built with this assistance would accommodate well over 300,000.

Apartments at $9 a Room

The fact that about a quarter of a billion was loaned to assist in housing does not mean that dwellings in Seattle or Indianapolis are not worth more than half a billion

Type of artistic home constructed in Detroit, evolved by co-operation of architects, contractors and investors

—for the Metropolitan loans not more than 50 per cent of a conservative valuation on the real estate pledged as security for the investment. Further the policy of the company has been to make loans on homes ranging from $4,000 to $16,000 in value.

In addition to loaning funds to assist others in building, the Metropolitan, receiving authorization from the New York legislature, demonstrated that apartment houses could be built to rent at a profit for $9 a room by planning, financing and building apartments for more than twenty-one hundred families in Greater New York, which are rented at this figure.

Not only is this rental paying a fair return on the investment but, it is expected, will also amortize the cost of the property at a fixed rate.

This work, of assisting in home building, has been carried on in forty states. Leading financial correspondents in these states have co-operated in placing these investments. Millions have been loaned in Detroit, to cite only one of the many cities in which the company has been active. There a special type of artistic home was planned that could be built at a reasonable figure. This type was evolved by architects, builders and a newspaper working in harmony.

SECRETS OF MEN FOUND IN POCKETS

Cleaners Interpret Wily Ways of Men From Articles in Clothing

Cleaners are convinced that there will never again be an era of knighthood, for discoveries made in the pockets of student's suits, disclose the wily ways of the so-called masculine sex.

Compasses guide the modern Lochinvar from the secluded spots, to which he has enticed his lady fair to tell her of his love, back to the more crowded highways. Nail files and tweezers prove that the modern hero is not without protection. Visions of implements concealed in his innermost pockets, flash before him, as he hears her whisper: "Oh Jack, you're so brave."

Carelessness and oversight on the part of people who fail to empty the pockets before sending clothes to the dry cleaners, fill the rubbish boxes of the cleaner's shops with every conceivable article. Money, fraternity pins, rosaries, beads, rings, brooches, and keys are not infrequently found. Valuables are removed and held until claimed.

If through oversight, some article remains on the garment and goes into the cleaning processes, it can never be regained. At the Panatorium, when the clothes are put into a machine containing a solution of gas and benzoin soap, any loose object is pulled out, and as the dirty gas passes out of this cleaner it runs through a strainer. The centrifugal force of the strainer cleats the gas and cloths the dirt. It is in the first process of cleaning, where gas and benzoin soap are used, that explosions may occur, and it is therefore important that special effort is made to remove any article which might ignite.

State Association Meets For
First Time in Loraine
Hotel

To provide the public with the full service it is entitled to, gas and electric companies must become up-to-date merchandisers as well as engineering experts, must use more advertising space, must employ expert salesmen and must make their offices and display rooms more inviting to their customers.

That was the gist of the remarks made by John St. John, vice president and general manager of the Madison Gas and Electric Co., in addressing the first joint meeting of public managers and commercial department heads ever arranged by the Wisconsin Utilities association here Friday. The conference is being held in the Loraine hotel and has attracted more than 100 representatives from the different public utility companies of Wisconsin.

"Not only should utility companies become modern merchandisers," said Mr. St. John, "they should above all be educators and informers of their customers. We know that gas and electric appliances are emancipators of women in that they are taking the drudgery out of housework. Therefore, companies must follow up all sales with expert information service. Users of appliances must be taught how to get the best service from them with the least amount of gas or electricity."

Announcement was made at the closing session of the Accountants' section of the Wisconsin Utilities association that the state tax commission is adopting a new valuation policy toward the public utility properties, which the section declares will be unjust and discriminatory unless the policy is carried out against all property owners.

this year to beat Nebraska to it. If Notre Dame expects a practice game tomorrow, it will be the toughest practice game they will ever play." The armory went into an uproar as the team filed out and the band played "On Wisconsin."

Williams Speaks.

Rollie Williams '23, who is now freshman coach at the University of Iowa, was noticed in the crowd and cheered up onto the platform. "Notre Dame is one of the strongest elevens in the west. They are unbeatable,—so the papers say, but one can never tell. You have a coach to be proud of and a team to be proud of. If a team loses there is always a lot of criticism, which is but natural; and if a team wins the coach and the players are all heroes, which is also only natural. But criticism comes much too easily. The whole student body is the team, and the outcome of any game depends on them. Without support the team can do little or nothing, but with support it can work wonders."

Frank Cosgrove, L3, brought howls of joy from the assembled throng. "A number of few have been spreading the false statement that Wisconsin spirit is on the wane. This meeting tonight has put the lie to all this nonsense. I know and believe that in the veins of every Wisconsin student flows that red blooded spirit that has made Wisconsin—Wisconsin. Carry the spirit of this meeting out with you to the snake dance, on the campus tomorrow, in your class rooms, and above all carry it with you on Camp Randall tomorrow afternoon. Show the Notre Dame followers that Wisconsin has a spirit that is unexcelled by any other school in the country. I believe that the clock is set and the

Madison Man Has Read Bible Thirty Times

It is said that Dwight L. Moody, the famous evangelist, during his life time read the Bible clear through from "cover to cover" 50 times. This is a record that very few have ever attained. There is a retail coal merchant W. P. Habberton of Mt. Carmel, Ill., who is very close to making the same record as he has read the Bible through for the 48th time and is now on the 49th reading. Mr. Habberton has been in the retail coal business 40 years and is one of the successful business men of his city.

He applies business principles to his reading as he does it on a schedule, reading three chapters every week day and five every Sunday. On this schedule he can accomplish one reading of the "Good Book" once each year.

His nearest known competitor in this unusual occupation is a Madison, Wis., man who has read the Bible through 30 times.

Who is this Madison man? The Capital Times would like to know. If you can furnish any information concerning him call the City Editor at Badger 2200.

hour struck for Notre Dame's defeat."

Marshall Diebold '25, captain of this year's basketball team, and Lester Kissel '25, both emphasized the fact that the whole student body is the team, and that it is the supporters of the team who are largely responsible for its success or failure. "We don't need any individual stars," said Diebold. "We are out to win, for we're the team. We have to win a battle against alumni and outsiders who think that the spirit of the cardinal and white is dying out. We must win the next three games."

With Wisconsin spirit flinging out her colors for the whole football world to see, with the Badger team on the field and in the stadium straining its utmost to give every ounce of fight, who can tell what will be the outcome of today's battle with the unbeatable Notre Dame gridiron?

PLANS ARE UP TO GOVERNOR

—SACHTJEN

Current Reports Indicate That
Gordon Will Go to Civil Service

Will Herman W. Sachtjen, state prohibition commissioner, elected to the assembly from the Madison district, resign when the legislature convenes?

This question was put to Mr. Sachtjen today and he was non-committal on the subject. When he announced his candidacy for the assembly in Dane county, Madison, Mr. Sachtjen said that he would resign as prohibition commissioner if elected.

"I will abide by the wishes of Gov. Blaine," said Mr. Sachtjen today. "I will be guided by the governor's wishes."

It was significant, however, that influences close to the governor yesterday inspired a story appearing in a number of state papers to the effect that Mr. Sachtjen would resign.

Reports were current at the state capitol today that L. A. Gordon, who yesterday resigned as assistant secretary of state under Secretary Fred R.immerman, will be appointed acting secretary of the state civil service commission by Gov. Blaine during the time the state legislature is in session. In this event, Senator A. E. Garey, member of the legislature would relinquish his post as secretary of the commission temporarily. The reports could not be confirmed.

EPISCOPAL STUDENTS.

Episcopal students are requested to attend the annual parish meeting at the St. Francis clubhouse at 7 o'clock Sunday night. A cost supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

At least 80 men are taken care of each week during the winter and Capt. Griffith declares that in every case these men are anxious to obtain work. Also, that for the most part they are young men. Shelter is asked usually for one night only, and in order to discourage dependency, the men are told that if they do not obtain work within a day, or two at the most, they must leave. The organization is also taking care of ex-service men for the Legion.

The annual tag day of the volunteers will be held Saturday, Nov. 8. The quota to be reached on that day is $5,000 and all Madison people are asked to do their share toward carrying on this work.

Official taggers will carry brown boxes with blue labels upon which Volunteers of America has been printed. Any other kinds of boxes are unofficial.

Taggers are asked by Capt. Griffith to procure their tags and boxes from B. Buckman, bond company, located on the ground floor of the Beaver building between 4 p. m. and 9 p. m. on Friday.

WISCONSIN PLAYERS CHOOSE SEVENTEEN

Seventeen students have been chosen members of the Wisconsin Players after performing in front of Miss Johnson's advanced dramatic production class. Final tryouts for those who have already tried out but whose election is doubtful will be conducted Thursday afternoon in 451 Bascom hall. Those elected are Ethel Druse '25, Maxine Walker '26, Lois Bacon '26, Loraine Cheeseman '26, James Van Wagenen '26, Russell Winnie '27, Harold Konnak '27, Louise Durham '25, Marian Spater '27, Ewart Merica '27, Thomas Moroney '25, Wells Sherman '25, Vaughn Winchell '25, Richard Church '27, Blanche Buhlig '27, Margaret McGovern '26, and James McGuire '27.

BIRGE WILL ADDRESS WESLEY FORUM SUNDAY

President Birge will address the Wesley forum Sunday evening at 7:30 upon "Reading the Bible." Doctor Birge was for many years a regular teacher of the Bible in one of the churches of Madison and has always been a constant advocate of scripture reading.

Among other speakers to appear on the program next week is Prof. Steve Gilman, whose address will complete the present series. This series will be followed by three upon "Religion and Science," in which Professors Kahlenberg, Guyer and Lobeck will speak and open their respective subjects to discussion in the forum.

Official taggers will carry brown boxes with blue labels upon which Volunteers of America has been printed. Any other kinds of boxes are unofficial.

Taggers are asked by Capt. Griffith to procure their tags and boxes from B. Buckman, bond company, located on the ground floor of the Beaver building between 4 p. m. and 9 p. m. on Friday.

HOMECOMING NOVEMBER 15.

Bankers Request Decreased Deposit Interest Rates

The bankers of Wisconsin are asking the state to decrease the interest rate which the state is asking of banks in Wisconsin on state deposits.

The question was brought before a meeting of the state board of depts in the governor's office this afternoon. A committee named by W. H. Doyle, Platteville, president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association presented the position of the bankers to the board.

Three per cent is now being paid by the banks on state money in state depositories. Before the war the rate paid on state deposits was two and one-half per cent. The bankers are asking a return to pre-war conditions.

Ex Governor of N. D. Goes to High Court

FARGO, N. D.—John Burke, U. S. treasurer during the Wilson administration and former governor of North Dakota, was assured of election to the North Dakota supreme court at noon today. When 1,118 of the state's 2,160 precincts were returned, Burke had an unofficial plurality of 22,473 votes. The vote:

Burke 59,511;

Fiske 37,038.

The missing precincts only tended to increase his majority.
