The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

An Oneida Hunter

One time a young man was going hunting and he went in the woods thinking about what he might kill and how much he would get for his kill. Then he saw a fox curled up on a log. So this man was approaching carefully carrying his gun. He wanted to shoot the fox and he is still thinking how he is going to use the money. Finally he set down his gun. He is still thinking about how he will use what he will get for the fox pelt. At last he said, "I guess I could get on a train and go any which way." At that the fox got scared and that fox just took off any which way.
