SEND TEAM OFF FOR FINAL GAME AT 7.25 O'CLOCK

Band Will Lead Early Parade Down to C. & N. W. Station

At 7 o'clock this morning there will be a mass meeting on lower campus prior to marching to the Chicago and Northwestern station to send off the team to the last game of the year.

The band will be out for the send off. Coach J. J. Ryan and Capt. M. P. Below '24, will give short speeches from the train steps. At 7:25 o'clock the train leaves for Chicago.

"Go Get Chicago"

Early yesterday morning squads of men with white wash and brushes were painting signs and the slogan "Go Get Chicago," on windows, fences, and machines in the student district. Many of the machines bearing this slogan will go to Chicago today or tomorrow. A 133-piece band will march onto Stagg field tomorrow afternoon. The money raised by passing the bucket between halves of the Michigan game is defraying the expenses.

Band Sings Alone

Between the halves tomorrow the band will play Varsity through twice, the first time the Wisconsin rooters are to sing, but the second time it is played the band will sing it alone, Major Morphy announces.

Members of the football team will not meet at the gym and go to the station with the procession. Instead the men will go directly from their houses to the train. Ryan says. The wagon will not be used in the parade.

Chadbourne Looted of $35 Cash During Dinner Last Night

About $37 was stolen from various rooms on the second floor of Chadbourne hall last Wednesday night. Open windows, disturbed dresser drawers, and cigarette smoke which was noticed immediately after dinner were evidences of a visitor between six o'clock and twenty minutes after six.

The fact that watches and other jewelry lying carelessly on the dressers were left undisturbed indicates that the thief was in need of ready cash.

Some of the residents of Chadbourne who are working on the Badger staff had turned in their subscription money amounting to $44. to the office just before dinner.

LUTHERANS ENTERTAIN C. R. C. AT DINNER

The campus religious council was entertained by the Luther Memorial church last night at a dinner and social meeting in the dining room of the new cathedral. The meeting is the first of a series to be held during the year by the constituent bodies as a means of exchanging ideas in working out the problems confronting religious workers on the campus. The first fall conference to be held at the university will be conducted by the council the first week in December. The conference will consist of an afternoon and a night meeting both conducted by the same speaker.

Paul Hunter Still Holds 3 Tickets For Chicago Game

Of the 58 applications for Chicago tickets on hand at the gymnasium office Wednesday, there were only three left at 6 o'clock last night.

Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales, has notified all holders of applications to call for their tickets at once.

Those which remain uncalled for will in no case be sold, but will be held until after the game.

Hunter will be at the Cooper-Carlton hotel in Chicago Saturday morning, and will have the remaining applications with him.

Follies Tickets On Sale Today

Tickets for the 1923 Haresfoot Follies dance which will be held next Friday, in Lathrop hall under the auspices of the Haresfoot club are now on sale at the University pharmacy and at Morgan Bros. The sale will be limited to 250 couples.

The price of the tickets is $2, and includes, three acts, "Why All Our Girls Are Men, Yet Every One A Lady," which gives a true representation of what goes on behind the scenes of a regular Haresfoot show, Bill Purnell in "Just Filling In", and an act and song by Jack Cornelius supported by 20 men from the Haresfoot dancing classes.

SIXTEEN SELECTED IN DEBATE TRIALS

Speakers to Compete in Midwest League and Triangle Meet Chosen

Sixteen men survived the preliminary intercollegiate debate tryouts held last night in preparation for the two debates between the midwest debating league and the Minnesota-Northwestern Wisconsin tri-

From the 33 contestants the judges from the speech department selected:

G. H. Bell L 1; R. H. Bennett L 1; B. F. Bullinger L 1; H. E. Cheever L 1; C. C. Frenseen '25; J. C. Fritschler L 3; E. M. Goodman L 2; H. J. Katowitz L 2; L. A. Mallory '25; B. G. Masslich '25; C. W. Meyer '24; G. W. Mitchell '25; H. Morse L 2; C. J. Muth '25; A. H. Nicolaus L 1; and H. J. Sporer '25.

The semi-final tryouts will be held two weeks from Thursday on the afternoon and evening of December 6. Besides the 16 successful contestants, two representatives elected from each literary society of the campus will enter the contest. The winning debaters of the semi-finals will finally argue in the final tryouts in which all the Varsity debaters of last year will take part. Twelve debaters will be chosen for the varsity squad.

Although several co-eds signified their intentions of trying out, only men entered the preliminaries, and prospects for any women representatives are fading.

Broadcast Program of Grid Banquet From Daily News

The program of the football banquet to be given at the Hotel La Salle, at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening by the University of Wisconsin club of Chicago is to be broadcasted.

Broadcasting will be from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock through the Chicago Daily News station, WMAQ.

On this same evening from 7:20 to 8:00 o'clock the university broadcasting station is giving a university educational program.

Professor E. M. Terry said that radio enthusiasts will be unable to hear the Chicago station as the university station will drown it out. However, the program here will be over by 8 o'clock leaving a half hour to listen in on Chicago.

SEATS FOR "MIXED MARRIAGE" GO ON SALE

The mail order sale for "Mixed Marriage," the Wisconsin Players' offering at the Parkway week after next, is now open the manager of the production announced last night. The box office sale will open November 30. Organizations and groups that expect to attend the performance in a body are advised to order tickets early in order to obtain choice seats, Kenneth Gardner '25, business manager, states.

TO ARRANGE FOR LOST CHICAGO GAME TICKETS

Students who have lost their tickets for the Chicago game should call at the gymnasium this morning where their seat numbers will be looked up.

NO MORE ARRESTS IN "BOOZE" CASE MADE BY POLICE

Shaughnessy Declares Rumors About Student Implication Are Unfounded

No further arrests in the booze confiscation case had been made up to a late hour last night the office of chief of police reported.

The supposition that the liquor was intended for student consumption seemed to have been based on the fact that the car was seized while in the university district.

Destination Unknown

Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy was asked last night if the Madison police department knew where the whiskey was bound.

"We do not know," he replied, "and we have no indications that it was intended for university students. Such rumors, I believe, are based upon the fact that the arrest was made in the student quarters."

No New Investigation

Dean Scott H. Goodnight declared last night that no investigation is being made in this latest booze incident. Rumors were abroad yesterday that one student house was under surveillance, but this too, was denied by the dean.

Madison and Milwaukee papers yesterday gave the "expose" front page space under glaring headlines.

LITERARY CLUBS CUT MEETS SHORT

Many Members Go to Chicago Game, Leaving Few to Attend Debates

With a large number of the literary society members attending the Chicago game, the programs of the societies for tonight are short. Debates upon the class election management, debate judging, and grid-graph admission will be the principal items under discussion.

Hesperia will devote the major portion of the time to a debate on the question, "Resolved, that Wisconsin class elections be placed in the hands of a faculty election committee."

Philomathia offers a complete program consisting of four tryout speeches or orations by new members and a one man-team debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the Athletic board was not justified in raising the admission price to the grid-graph display."

Athenae's main event will be a team debate on the question "Resolved, that all future debates in Athenae be unjudged." The meeting will conclude with a general society discussion of some extemporaneous topic.

Foreign Flashes

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Chancellor Stresemann in the reichstag today announced the state of siege would be partially lifted. He thanked America for her active interest in the reparations problem.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—As a result of Premier Poincaré's declaration of yesterday, the British feel that they have won a diplomatic victory over France. The agreement has complicated the British election scheduled for Dec. 6. Supporters of David Lloyd George claim it is a "gag" to help Prime Minister Baldwin win the election.

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, famous for his contested discovery of the north pole, today ended his striking career with a 14 year prison sentence for using the mails to defraud. He is held on bond of $75,000 in connection with his spectacular oil promotions.

Promise "Ducky Dance" at Drake

The last word in metropolitan entertainment will be offered at the Drake, Chicago's exclusive hostelry, on Saturday night. The Drake dance is going to be "ducky," according to the managers.

Collegiate spirit will be rampant, for Wisconsin, Chicago, Northwestern and Iowa will be there en masse to invite their collegiate souls.

Benson's orchestra, a rival of Cohen's and Chudnow's directed by Ralph Foote, will strive to please the Madisonians.

The Humphreys, dancers of reputation, will do their steps for the benefit of the company.

They are worth noticing press notices say.

APIS CLUB GIVES PROGRAM TODAY

State Wide Honey Week Commemorated Here in Agricultural Hall

As a wind-up for the sweetest week in the year, the Apis club will hold two programs at 4 o'clock and at 7 o'clock today in Agricultural hall to commemorate the state-wide Honey week which began last Monday and continued through Saturday.

The club expects from 400 to 500 public school children to visit the display in the afternoon. There will be a program of a three-reel movie on bee-keeping problems and life, and a crystal gazing demonstration by Dale Welch. Ernest E. Ehrgott '25 will handle live bees.

The exhibit will include all stages in the manufacture of honey from the flower to the completed product. Eight kinds of candy made from honey will be on display. In the evening a humorous monologue, "A Dutchman and His Bees," will be given by V. S. Milan, grad.

Specials to Carry Largest Crowds in Years, Roads Say

According to the officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Chicago & Northwestern railways, the special and regular trains to the Chicago game will handle the largest crowd of rooters in years. Ample accommodations and complete equipment have been provided on all trains, with the main crowd leaving Madison at 1:30 Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning. Both the Milwaukee and Northwestern have specials leaving at 1:30 Friday. Other specials over the Milwaukee leave at 5:30 Friday and 7:30 Saturday morning, with returning specials leaving the Chicago Union station at 6:05 Saturday, 2:15 Sunday morning, and 7:30 Sunday evening.

Northwestern specials leave at 5 Friday afternoon, and 7:25 Saturday morning. Extra accommodations will be provided on their regular returning trains as no specials are planned from Chicago to Madison.

FIRE LEAPS FROM MAN-HOLE ON STATE STREET

Fire leaping from underground through the small openings of the manhole on State street at Gilman last evening aroused much inquiry and curiosity among the pedestrians. Crossed wires caused the insulation of the electric wires to ignite, and the fire spread rapidly underground down State as far as Lake street. Electricians were at work soon after the report of this freak fire.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO MEET TOMORROW

The Madison branch of the association of university women will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the headquarters, 12 E. Gilman street for its regular program. A short business meeting has been called immediately before the program.

TICKET SCALPERS APPREHENDED BY SALES OFFICIALS

Purchasers Traced and Names Will Be Given Over to Authorities

Tickets that were scalped have been purchased by the Athletic department and the persons who originally bought the tickets have been found out. The applications for the tickets were made in alumni envelopes and the department is now at work to find how the various parties obtained these envelopes because they are not alumni of the university.

The cases will be turned over to the federal authorities of Madison to be dealt with since scalping of tickets comes under their jurisdiction. Last year there were several convictions for similar offense.

Tickets at Premium

"We had no trouble with scalping for the Minnesota or Michigan games because we had plenty of tickets for all who came," said Paul F. Hunter last night. "It is a lack of tickets for the Chicago game which is bringing this trouble."

Numerous telegrams have been received by students from business men. One of these reads thus: "Can get twenty dollars for two tickets Saturday's game. Wire can get them."

No estimate can be placed upon the value of the tickets because of the demand for them. Travelling men at the various hotels in Madison last night were ready to pay any price to obtain admission to this historic battle at the Midway tomorrow.

Use Check Up

Wisconsin was allotted a certain number of tickets at a certain price and the department orders that the price remain the same to all.

"We know where every ticket has been sent," said Professor Jones last night. "A check-up will be taken and every means will be employed to bring the offenders to a speedy trial," he concluded.

PURNELL TO SELECT SCENES AND COSTUMES

Gordon Wanzer '24, general chairman of Union Vodvil, accompanied by Bill Purnell '23, production manager, left for Chicago last night to obtain scenery and costumes for the 1923 Union Vodvil production.

"The very best scenic artists in the city will be consulted, also Chicago's leading theatrical costumers such as Lester and New York Costume company," Purnell said. "Emil Young, famous producer, has generously offered to give his advice and aid in the selection of the scenery and effects," he added.

HONORARY ART FRAT INITIATES MEMBERS

Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, initiated Catherine Rice '25, Ida Gray '25, and P. B. Stebbins, faculty member last evening. Initiation was held at the home of the president of the fraternity, Mrs. Tuttle, 1206 Grant street.

Secret Service Warns Merchants of Counterfeits

City merchants were warned yesterday by a department operative of the United States secret service to watch out for counterfeit $10 bank notes, as it is an offense to have such currency in one's possession or to pass it on. This is the third day that the investigation has been going on since the discovery that a flood of these notes had been "passed" in Madison. Counterfeit notes turned in up to Wednesday night reached 30 and it was estimated that the total will exceed $500. Although it is believed that most of the counterfeit bills have been gathered up, other scattered instances of the "shovers" activities continued to come to light.

EXPERTS WORK ON YEARBOOK PLANS

Bundscho Company Typographers to Aid Fulton Design Good Advertisements

The 1925 Badger will have the benefit of consulting typographers to see that every detail of balance, layout and type is perfect, according to the plans of its editor-in-chief, Ellis J. Fulton.

The J. M. Bundscho company have been secured by Fulton during his recent trip to Chicago for the display of Wisconsin's annual to take charge of the work. The idea of the planning a university's yearbook is an innovation.

"The company works in co-operation with the advertising managers of some of the largest firms in the country, and together they seek to get the most attractive display possible," said Fulton.

The company designs advertising for firms with nation wide reputations such as Bunte's, Marshall Field's the Apperson company, Libby's, the Lytton company, and Swift's.

Ohio Yearling Grid Team Has Many Captains

Enough former high school football captains are on Ohio State's freshman grid squad to round out two full elevens. As if to indicate the high standard of yearling material, only 17 of the 22 have managed to battle their way into the first string frosh squad.

The former high school captains are Burke Wentz, Kenton, William Hunt, Toledo Scott, Albert Redman, Chillicothe, J. Paul Barklow, Piqua, Tim McCarthy, Fremont, Charles Michael, guard, John Lycett, Salamanca, N. Y., Paul Boxwell, Xenia, William E. Stewart, Columbiana, W. E. Stoller, New Philadelphia, Robert C. Borders, Sandusky.

Paul Kates, Columbus South, Wothington Scott, Wellston, Merrill Krafthefer, Gallipolis, John Murphy, Columbus East, Paul Mitchell, Lima Center, D. Lephart, Greenville, B. F. Evans, Windham, William R. Jenkins, Columbus, William Reed, Columbus West, William Burtner, Harrisburg, and Thomas Jenkins, Jackson.

Marty Karow, a Cleveland back-field man, is captain of the yearlings.

SOCER CHAMPIONSHIP MAY GO TO U. OF CAL.

University of California, Nov. 22.—The University of California's chances for the soccer championship were strengthened by the victory over the Clan McDonald team by a score of 4 to 0 on Saturday. The California back field was equal to the strain of the driving clasmens. Much of the success of the game was due to the spectacular playing of A. W. Hood '24 and D. B. Wong '26. The Blue and Gold team has had a successful season so far, defeating all the teams it has played except the Barbarians.

New $11,000 Fire Truck Will Arrive Next Week

The new Seagrave truck for the Madison fire department is expected to be delivered next week, it was announced today by Ald. Roy H. Proctor, chairman of the fire and water committee. The truck was shipped from Columbus, O., a week ago. The price was $11,000. A rebate of $1,500 was allowed for the old truck now in use at No. 2 station, Broom and W. Johnson sts.

Close Kenosha Theatre In U. S. Revenue Claim

KENOSHA, Wis.—The Strand theater here was barred and padlocked on Wednesday by agents of the federal internal revenue department. The theater, the government claims, has failed to pay taxes on admissions since January, 1922, the total delinquency being placed at $4,000.

New Arc Light Plans Before Council Body

Matters pertaining to the placing of arc lights on street intersections in the outskirts of the city will be considered at a meeting of the street lighting committee Thursday night.

Matson Resigns U. S. Internal Revenue Post

WASHINGTON—The resignation of Francis G. Matson, deputy commissioner of internal revenue, was announced today. He will retire on Dec. 1.

"HEAVENLY TWINS" PROVE TERRORS ON GRIDIRON FOR CAPITAL COLLEGE

Milton Ladd, manager of George Washington U. grid team, talking to the McLean twins.

When John and George McLean appeared for football practice at George Washington University they were immediately dubbed "the heavenly twins" due to the fact their father is a minister. But the other players soon found there was nothing blissful in playing against them. They have proved stars of the U. S. capital team. Milton Ladd, son of Sen. Edwin F. Ladd of North Dakota, manages the team.

DEDICATE BIG STADIUM AT U. OF CALIFORNIA

University of California, Nov. 22.—From a stand draped with the flags of the allied nations, President W. W. Campbell will unveil the memorial tablets of the University of California's Memorial Stadium at the dedication exercises this afternoon, and will release the great American flags which conceal the entablature above the main gate bearing the words "California Memorial Stadium." The stadium is to be dedicated to those Californians who lost their lives in the Great War. Among the prominent speakers on the program is James R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, who will give the memorial address.

Brown County Passes

Drastic Dance Hall Law

GREEN BAY, Wis.—An ordinance regulating "dance halls and pavillions, amusement parks, carnivals, street fairs, bathing beaches, and other like places of amusement" was passed by the Brown county board yesterday. The vote was 41 to 6. A section of the ordinance makes it a misdemeanor for children under 16 years of age, unaccompanied by parents, to attend any of the places except bathing beaches.

A New Hat for the Chicago trip

The many-times creased slouch hat you have been wearing for the many years past is still all right for school wear—but when you go down to Chi you will want to look your best. We suggest one of the new models our hat department has just received. Come in and see them.

TOUGH BATTLES
ARE SCHEDULED
FOR SATURDAYMany Beaten Teams Will Play
But Hard Fights Are Expected

Despite the fact that most of Saturday's games are between teams which have already suffered defeat, some of the hardest battles of the year are expected to take place. Each section, however, will see some team engaged in a struggle to keep its slate clean and unmarred by defeat.

Illinois and Michigan, both unbeaten in the Big Ten, take on Ohio and Minnesota; Yale plays Harvard for the championship of the Big Three, and California engages Leland Stanford to decide the supremacy on the coast. In addition Syracuse travels westward for an inter-sectional combat with Nebraska; Army and Navy tangle in their annual traditional game, and Notre Dame goes East to meet Carnegie.

One of the most closely watched games will be that between Syracuse and Nebraska, as it will afford an opportunity for comparison of the quality of football played in three sections of the country.

Illinois, now leading the conference, met Nebraska early in the season and defeated the Cornhuskers, one of the leaders in the Missouri Valley conference. Nebraska later beat Notre Dame, who in turn had defeated Princeton and the Army. Syracuse is one of the strong teams in the East this year and should the Nebraskans win, it would prove conclusively that a superior brand of ball is being played in the Midwest.

Knute Rockne's eleven, with a long string of scalps dangling from its belt, meets Carnegie Tech in what should prove an easy victory for the Irish. Beaten but twice in the past two years, and both times by Nebraska, Notre Dame has met the leading teams of the East and Middle West and taken them into camp with ease.

Yale and Harvard, enemies for years, meet to decide the championship of the Big Three Saturday. Yale is unbeaten this year, while the Crimson has lost once and tied once, both times with supposedly inferior teams. The Bulldogs downed Princeton last week and chances are they will repeat tomorrow.

The Navy goat and the Army mule parade at West Point Saturday and then rush into a battle to the death. Army pulled out on the long end of a 14 to 17 score last year and promises to scuttle the Navy craft by a larger majority tomorrow.

University of California, champions of the Western coast for the past three years, meets Leland Stanford with a long string of victories. A win will give it clear title to the western crown and make the Bears the team to meet the Navy at Pasadena in the Tournament of Roses.

GAMES SATURDAY
Notre Dame at Carnegie Tech.
Yale at Harvard.
Wash. and Lee at Centre.
Navy at Army.

West
Wisconsin at Chicago.
Illinois at Ohio.
Minnesota at Michigan.
Purdue at Indiana.
Iowa at Northwestern.

Leland Stanford at California.

COE BATTLES CORNELL
IN HOMECOMING TILT

Both Coe and Cornell, football squads will complete their training tomorrow for the annual homecoming clash which will be played on Coe field Friday afternoon. Both teams are in fine shape, their trainers say, and a bruising game is anticipated.

Coe's team will present a different lineup next season as the result of the graduation next June in which five of the youngsters who will leave

Grid Graphs

By ORIE

Well, they just left for the Windy City—may they "knock-off" the Maroons in grand style!

The squad will work out on Stagg field today to get limbered up. It's a good thing the Midway is plenty long, because there's going to be plenty of passing done in that game Saturday.

Go Get Chicago—the old slogan about 10,000 Badgers will carry onto Stagg Field at two bells Saturday. Keep yelling little verse, and we'll do it—Ryan says we will, so do we.

Chicago has a bunch of stuff ready to work on us. He had some plays worked up for the Illinois game, but on the eve of battle, Harry Thomas was declared ineligible, so they were never displayed. It is just a case of the Badgers following the ball and beating the Maroons on the jump.

In Pyott, Zorn, Harry Thomas and John Thomas, Stagg has a beautiful bunch of backfield men. They made some good holes in that Illinois line, and when they can do that, it means we'll have to play some exceptional ball to hold them.

Several Illinois fans were remarking about the Wisconsin line after the game down there, and said, "Wisconsin will have to play better ball in that line if they expect to hold Chicago's backfield." With the aggressiveness the line has shown all week, we'll hold them—just watch.

Some of the men on the Varsity who are playing their last game in a Cardinal uniform are: Capt. Marty Below, Tom Nichols, Russ Irish, Bieberstein and Sid Eagleburger. They've done nobly fellows, so let's give them all they have coming to them at Chicago, by fixing Wisconsin Spirit in their minds for the rest of their lives, by some good cheering and singing. LET'S BEAT CHICAGO!

ARMY-NAVY GAME SHOULD BE CLOSE ONE, DOPE SAYS

The rival captains, "Dinty" Mulligan of the Army, and Art Carney of the Navy.

Usually comparative scores are so indefinite as to be worthless in comparing rival grid teams after a hectic season. But these figures may give a good line on the respective merits of the Army and Navy teams that are ready for their annual battle Nov. 24. Yale licked the Army 81 to 10, Princeton and the Navy played a 3 to 3 tie. Yale picked Princeton 27 to 0. Which would give the Army a 7 to 0 victory over the Middies. But perhaps the game might well be played.

BADGER GRIDDERS
LEAVE TODAY FOR
MAROON'S CAMPTo Practice Today in Chicago
For Last Tilt of Season

Ready for the Maroons, set to prove to the world that Badgers are fighters and winners, the Wisconsin squad left Madison for Chicago this morning.

After a week's work packed with the stiffest drill in Coach Jack Ryan's catalogue, the Cardinal is in shape for the tilt tomorrow, a tilt which all fans in the West will be watching with interest.

Practice in Chicago

The Badgers will taper off the season's practice this afternoon with a light workout in Chicago. Hard work has been the order at Camp Randall for the past few days.

Despite the hard season through which the Badgers have gone through they are in excellent physical condition. A team, practically unharmed, will fade the Maroon eleven tomorrow afternoon. The injuries which Taft and Irish sustained to their hands in the Wolverine game a week ago are sufficiently healed as to enable the stars to be in the lineup.

Same Backfield Starts

The same eleven men who faced Michigan last Saturday at the kick-off will probably start tomorrow's classic. The backfield, with Williams, Taft, Harris, and Schneider going in the same winning fashion which so swamped Michigan, should topple the Chicago team.

Certain it is that evry ounce of fight left in the Badgers will be used against the Midway eleven, for Wisconsin has taken the short end long enough. Should they play as they did in the fatal Michigan game victory is theirs.

WANT OFFICIALS TO RECOGNIZE
SOCCER SPORT

Members of the soccer team had supper together at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday to discuss the present status of the sport at Wisconsin.

At present, the men interested in soccer are playing purely for the love of the game, but they hope to have the athletic department give them adequate recognition in the near future.

Coach Schlatter announced at the meeting that Director Jones has promised to make arrangements for a game between Minnesota and Wisconsin just as soon as the terms can be drawn up. Minnesota has had a soccer team for years and has played with other universities that have recognized soccer as sport.

The men gathered around the table on Wednesday night represented practically all corners of the world including China, Belgium, Spain, Mexico, Hungary, Argentine, besides several of the states which were represented by one or more men.

The members plan on getting together more often, probably every other Wednesday. At those times more will be heard about soccer in other countries. All soccer enthusiasts are urged to watch the bulletin board for announcements and join the rest at the gatherings.

OLD "W" MEN STAR
AS PROFESSIONALS

Rollie Williams, Rowdy Elliott, "Fat" Smith Meyers, and a half a dozen others who have won glory at Wisconsin, will be in the fighting front of the Horlick-Racine line when this team meets the Chicago Cardinals in the Comiskey park on Sunday. Both teams are members of the national professional football league.

GO GET CHICAGO

It's the last game of a big season. For the last time during this academic year the student body will be able to give the football team a big send-off. For the last time this year Wisconsin rooters will be able to let their yells resound across a gridiron. For the last time the 1923 eleven will line up for the initial kickoff. And when that final whistle blows there will be no regrets; it will have been a great season; every Badger on the team and in the stands will have fought his hardest.

This morning, when the team rolls out of the station Chicago-bound it is going to have an ovation the like of which has not been seen hereabouts. Every man-jack, or rather every man-ed and co-ed of us is going to be at the station to help in that send-off. A good many of us can not see the game; that is no reason however, why we should not make up for our absence at Chicago with greater spirit this morning. If you are going to the game, there is no reason why you should not join in at the send-off as well.

Chicago seems confident. Let's show them what Wisconsin has; let's show the team what a force is behind it. This morning is the time. Let's go get Chicago.

THE MONOPOLY PERSISTS

It seems impossible to move the powers that are running the grid-graph to pity or to reason. There is to be no cut in the price of admittance to the grid-graph tomorrow. The athletic department needs money; 50 cents is what is charged at other universities; 50 cents it will be.

There has been a great deal of talk off and on about commercializing athletics. It is true that they must be commercialized to a certain extent. Much though we would like to, we can not very well go back to the time of ancient Greeks and have athletics for athletic's sake; it is obvious that we must have money in order to carry on.

All very well and good. But, must we profiteer in order to carry on? The stadium is well under way, a new tank has been installed in the gymnasium, the freshman and all-American teams are being sent to Chicago. Those who remain are taken advantage of by a private monopoly.

It is a small thing in itself, yet the spirit behind it does not seem right or just. The actual cost connected with operating the grid-graph is not a fair part of the profits. The Union board dances and concerts are given at as near cost as possible simply so that the student may be entertained. The Union board is interested in acquiring funds for the Union building, yet it realizes that it is serving the student body before anything else. What about the grid-graph? Is it serving the student body before anything else?

ADVERTISING, MORALS, CO-OPERATION

Every now and then a member of the so-called older generation breaks forth in print or otherwise with some scathing denunciation of the so-called younger generation. We youngsters are flayed for carrying on the way we are thought to carry on; we are said to be unruly, up to all sorts of mischief the like of which our elders have never heard of, and we are generally lambasted for being "fast."

Now and then some one of our fellows has risen up in righteous indignation, rebutted all arguments of our elders, told them a thing or two about their own conduct and the wave of criticism on both sides has temporarily quieted.

Two incidents which have taken place within the last few weeks cause one to stop and think, make one wonder whether each side has not at least a bit of foundation for its criticism. Several weeks ago one of Madison's theaters ran a vaudeville dance act with its regular feature picture. Along came the local police matron and said that the dances were vile, disgusting and gave them a few more slurring epithets, and what happened? The police matron was quoted here and there, her opinion was generally advertised about the city and campus, and such crowds flocked to the theater to see the "indecent" act that the manager had to put on an extra show each day and said that he had never made so much money on a single attraction.

This week another so-called indecent show came to town. It was advertised as being so bad that its author would not put his name to it. The title and the bill boards lead one to believe that the picture was racy, very racy. The opening night the theater running the picture did a record business. Organizations attended the show en masse.

It is beside the point to say that neither of these attractions, especially the latter, was as indecent as it was heralded to be but was, in fact, stupid. The fact stands that anything which is advertised as being a bit risque, a bit indecent attracts unusual attention. It is hard to say that the attention accorded it is greater among the youngsters than among the elders. That is also beside the point.

The question, however, is this. Are we living in a time when the world will chase madly after a show, a book, or indeed anything that is off color? Evidently we are. You may say that that has been the way of the world since time immemorial. That statement may be true, but it is no excuse for circumstances. We pride ourselves on advances which have been made in science and in other fields. What about an advance in our moral standards?

Let the youngsters and the elders get together, instead of looking at and flaying each other from a distance, and work for a little moral advance.

Other Editors Say—

(From the Beloit News)

University of Wisconsin co-eds call upon federal prohibition authorities to dry up the student district at Madison. But they reject a scheme of socially boycotting student boozers.

Perhaps parents of the girls in school will have stronger views. There's going to be a lot of protest heard from parents unless the conditions laid bare in the expose by The Daily Cardinal are cleaned up.

Prohibition officers alone can't do the dry-cleaning, however. There has been an absence of reports from Madison of any really vigorous disciplinary action by university officials supposed to be responsible for maintaining a wholesome social environment.

The attitude of the student newspaper in roundly condemning the booze orgies is a healthy sign that student leadership of the better type frowns on these conditions and wants to eradicate them.

Usually when these things get into the papers, the press is assailed as "unfriendly" to the university. The criticism is unjust. If a healthy sentiment at Madison will eradicate the conditions that lead to unfavorable advertising for a great school of which the whole state is proud, then it won't get that kind of advertising.

The University of Wisconsin deserves a better reputation than the bacchanalian bloc in its student body is giving it.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY TO PLAY TUESDAY

Gilbert Ross Appears on Program as Soloist; Stock is Director

The Chicago symphony orchestra, with Gilbert Ross appearing as violin soloist, is coming to Madison November 27, under the auspices of the Madison orchestral association. The orchestra will play in the men's gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock.

Tickets for the Chicago symphony orchestra are now on sale at Hook brothers' music store, corner of State and Mifflin streets. The price of the tickets for university students is $1.50 and for the general public $2. There is no choice of tickets. Those buying their tickets first will receive the best accommodations.

"Frederick Stock is one of the really great conductors of the country," says Prof. Arnold Dresden, secretary of the association.

"During his 18 years of conductorship Mr. Stock has brought a high degree of success to the Chicago symphony orchestra. Before he became conductor he was a member of the orchestra, playing the viola. Under the conductorship of Theodore Thomas he became assistant conductor. Later when Mr. Thomas died, Mr. Stock took his place."

The Minneapolis symphony orchestra was brought to Madison October 23 by the association, and plans have been made for the re-appearance of the same orchestra, April 1.

Jews To Celebrate Feast Of Illumination

The Feast of Illumination, known also as the Feast of Maccabees or Chanukah, will be celebrated Dec. 2 to Dec. 10 by Madison Jews. A centuries old custom, that of lighting candles in the homes, beginning with one candle on the first night and increasing the number daily until eight are lighted on the last night, will be followed. The feast originated in the year 165 B. C. In this year, Judah, the Maccabee, with a small army overcame the Syrian king and freed the Jews of his rule.

REACH 2,000 MARK IN BADGER SALES

Prospects of Winning Trophy in Competition With Ilio Dwindle

The 1925 Badger subscription drive has barely passed the 2,000 mark, reports compiled by Willis G. Sullivan '25, business manager, show.

Wisconsin's hopes of winning the Maplesden Trophy dwindled during the early part of the week as returns from solicitors showed that only slightly more than one quarter of the student body had taken subscriptions for the Badger which will, according to exhibits displayed during the campaign, probably be far superior to anything ever produced at Wisconsin.

"The subscription price will be held at $4 for a few days longer in the hopes that it will stimulate interest in the drive and give us a chance for the trophy and a successful book," Henry Smith '25, associate business manager who will be in charge of the circulation work during the coming week, said yesterday.

"Solicitors have reached practically everybody, but they are urged to try again since returns show there is still room for a lot of work."

Individual scores in the competition for Badger staff awards to be given to solicitors obtaining the highest number of subscriptions will be added up late this week.

Solicitors must have all books in to the Badger office for checking by Saturday night. Those wishing to enter the competition can secure books at The Badger office. The small number of subscribers to date shows that solicitors still have an opportunity to attain the highest mark in the badge competition.

5 ATTEND MEET OF SIGMA DELTA CHI

Joseph F. Lawler '24 Was Official Badger Delegate at Convention

The Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, was represented by one of the largest delegations at the ninth annual convention held on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the University of Minnesota. Five men affiliated through the Wisconsin chapter were in attendance.

Of ten national offices in the fraternity, five will be filled by Wisconsin men.

Joseph F. Lawler '24, president of the Wisconsin chapter, was official Badger delegate. He was accompanied by Roy L. French '23, instructor in the journalism department, who was elected to the national executive council and who has been a member of the fraternity since 1913.

R. R. Barlow, Wisconsin graduate and now chairman of the journalism department at the University of Minnesota, was elected second national vice-president. William E. Drips, Wisconsin graduate and editor of the Wallace Farm journal, was elected alumni secretary. Arthur Brayton, and Prof. W. W. Murphy, both graduates of Wisconsin, were also placed on the executive council. Murphy and Brayton were not at the convention. Brayton is now editor of the Merchants' Trade Journal. Professor Murphy is instructing journalism at the University of North Dakota. Lawler was named chairman of both the constitutional revision committee and nominating committee at the convention. George Green '22, was with the Badger delegation.

James W. Brown, editor of Editor and Publisher, was elected honorary national president. T. Hawley Tapping of Michigan, former national secretary, was elected national president. Ward Neff, Chicago publisher and retiring national president, was presented with the jeweled Wells Memorial Key given annually to the most active worker in the fraternity in honor of Chester Wells who was elected national president at the Wisconsin convention in 1913 and who is now dead. George Pierot of Detroit, former treasurer was elected national secretary.

The 1924 convention will be held in Indiana.

The Sigma Delta Chi efficiency cup, which is given annually to the most active chapter of the fraternity by Prof. F. W. Beckman of Iowa State College, was won by Iowa State. North Dakota was runner up with 92.7 points as against 95.5 points.

The social program consisted of luncheons and dinners given by the Minnesota chapter, the Minnesota Union and the Minneapolis Times and Tribune. Theta Sigma Phi, national journalistic sorority, entertained at a dance given Tuesday night at the Delta Delta Delta house. The sorority also published a humor paper "The Gerc" for the delegates.

The Minneapolis Journal published a convention special edition while delegates were inspecting the newspaper plant.

Edward Price Bell of The Chicago Daily News and former conductor of The News London bureau of The News, W. A. Frisbie, former editor of The Minneapolis News, and many other prominent journalists addressed convention functions. The ninth convention was the first which Lee A. White of the Detroit News, historian of the fraternity, did not attend. Prof. H. H. Herbert, former second vice-president and director of the Journalism school of Oklahoma, is taking his doctor's degree at Wisconsin this year.

Regent Advises For Extension Division House in Milwaukee

Plans for the new buildings to house the Extension Division in Milwaukee will be recommended by Dr. Gilbert S. Seaman, head of the regents' sub-committee for this division at their meeting here on December 5.

The property under consideration according to reports is the old Milwaukee university school, formerly the German-English academy at 558-568 Broadway. The committee reports that this property is most suitable, both from a practical and business standpoint.

The property comprises two three story buildings. There are 23 classrooms, two assembly halls, a gymnasium, and a swimming tank, as well as office rooms. It is understood that $150,000 is being asked for each building, but as this is the sum that has been appropriated for the purchase, only one building can be purchased until the next appropriation can be made.

PLAN TO BUILD W. A. A. COTTAGE

Begin Construction Soon on Lake Mendota Drive Near Tent Colony

"Plans for the building of a W. A. A. cottage on Lake Mendota drive, for the use of active and alumnae members of W. A. A. are completed and the erection of the cottage is to begin in a very short time," Nina Faris '24, president of the W. A. A. cottage company said yesterday.

"Sufficient funds have been raised through the sale of $10 certificates to W. A. A. members to provide for the building of a $3,500 cottage on land granted by the university for the purpose," Miss Faris said. "The land is located along the lake shore where the tent colony sets up camp every summer."

"The cottage is to be 28 by 30, with a large porch across the front. The living room, 18 by 30, will have fire places, window seats and four large book cases."

Members cooperated this summer in drawing up plans for the cottage. All alumnae members of W. A. A. were reached by letter and invited to join the company by the purchase of a $10 certificate, or as many as they wished to buy. In this way, enough money has been obtained so that the building of the cottage may begin immediately. The cottage will probably be finished early enough next summer to enable active and alumnae members to occupy it during the summer session.

World Crop Failure Predicted For 1924

The predictions of modern prophets are often forgotten in the hustle of business of today, but a prophecy made three years ago by Sir Willimaain Beveridge, director of the London School of Economics has been recalled. Sir William predicted a world failure of crops in 1924, basing his declaration on a claim that every 15½ years there is a world crop failure. The last lean year, he said, was in 1907, and a study of the experience of 300 years shows that the next world failure is due in 1924.

Madisonians Are Generous In Contributions, Committee Statement Says

Madison citizens are contributing generously to the collections being made by the local committee for German relief, a member of the committee stated yesterday. The committee accepts donations every Wednesday at Turner hall when boxes of clothing and food destined for Germany are packed.

Last week, six boxes were packed and shipped while it is expected that at least eight will be packed this week. The committee packed five boxes yesterday. Donations of money as well as of clothing and food were received, increasing the fund on hand which will cover the expense of shipment. Some money is also expected to be forwarded. The boxes packed here are sent to hospitals, orphanages and old peoples' homes.

BUCKEYE HARRIERS CONSIDERED STRONG

Recent Victory Over Illinois and Michigan Raises Ohio's Chances

With the annual Big Ten cross country championship race just a few days off Ohio State's chances have been brightened materially by its recent victory over the harrier of Illinois and Michigan in a triangular meet at the hilly Ann Arbor course.

Dr. F. R. Castleman, Buckeye coach, was especially pleased with the showing of Russell Payne, running this fall for the first time as a varsity man. Payne finished neck-and-neck with Walter Wikoff, diminutive Buckeye distance star, at the end of the five mile grind.

The Buckeyes are hosts to the conference again this fall over a new five-mile course, beginning and ending in the Ohio stadium. From the upper deck of the stadium the runners can be followed for practically every foot of the five miles. Thirteen teams so far have entered the championship meet, which will be run November 24 as an added attraction to the Ohio State-Illinois home-coming football game.

Illinois, Michigan, Ames and Ohio State loom as the strongest teams entered.

Professional matters relating to applied arts were discussed. Plans for carrying applied art into preparatory schools were advocated.

GERMAN FLIERS EXPLORE NORTH POLAR REGIONS

Crew of German plane and the craft in which they circled arctic regions north of Spitzbergen.

Air conditions that Capt. Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, and his crew will face when they attempt their flight to the north pole next summer, were faced by the crew of a German plane which has just completed a series of flights north of Spitzbergen, from which the Amundsen expedition will start. The German fliers took photos of arctic ice formations and currents.

Amundsen and his men, with three planes, will travel north from the island by boat until forced to halt and then establish a base from which their flights will be staged.

New Alimony Clerk

Board Creates New Position
Wednesday; Hansen To Select Person

Herbert Hansen, clerk of the circuit court, was granted authority by the county board last night to appoint another deputy clerk whose special duty it will be to care for the alimony department of the court office. Salary for the position was placed at $75 a month.

Creation of the office of alimony clerk was made necessary by the rapid increase in alimony accounts which, under a recent statute, must be cared for by the clerk of the circuit court. Last year Mr. Hansen's office cared for 140 such accounts. These cases involved the handling of nearly $18,000.

Mystery Wreck Baffles Police; Seek Injured

One or more persons may have been injured early this morning when a Reo sedan crashed into a telephone pole just this side of the old Starkweather creek bridge on Atwood avenue about 4 a.m. One wheel and the fenders were ripped off, the radiator was caved-in, and the windshield broken as if some person had been thrown directly through it. The license plate had been taken off the car, hampering police investigation. Officer Clarence Bakken stated. He inspected the wrecked car. The owner of the car is known by police, he said.

JANIS CONSIDERED GREAT COMEDIENNE

Artist to Appear Here Monday
Given Favorable Comment
By Critics

BY ADRIAN SCOLTEL

The Imitable Elsie Janis known throughout the world as a great comedienne, loved by the American soldier, adored by all who love to live and laugh, a movie star, mimic, leading lady in musical comedy, comes to Madison, Monday, Nov. 26, under auspices of the All Star Concert Series management.

New York Times describes her appearance there on Nov. 2 as a "deliriously happy evening." Other papers make comments which must be just as pleasing. During Miss Janis' career of marked popularity she appeared on the legitimate stage in Madison as leading lady in several of the old favorite plays in the days before the war.

The Stage World thinks Miss Janis' venture upon the concert stage as evidence of "puzzling perversity" but the concert gained an immeasurably greater following when Miss Janis moved into it. Her New York debut in Concert was on Nov. 2. The following are some of the comments made by New York's best critics:

"At Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon Miss Elsie Janis delighted an enthusiastic audience with a program of songs, dances and imitations. She said the only reason she termed her entertainment "a concert was because it was given in a hall and not in a theater." There were a number of moments during the "concert when she was a serious artist, especially during her series of French character songs, which reached its climax when she impersonated a girl of Montmartre, and sang her song. It was a tremendously vivid bit of acting and realistic to a high degree. You could read in the girl's face her life story with all its suffering and its modicum of happiness. Stephen Rathbun - New York World.

"Anybody who wants to know which was best of them all will have to inquire elsewhere. Each one was the best. Each one was good enough to make a Broadway reputation for any newcomer who might have the fortune to do it as well. And so marvelous is the mimetic art of this comedienne that she seemed to change her physical appearance to suit any character by a mere matter of brushing her hair this way or that, putting a rose into it or taking one out, putting on a pair of earrings or draping a shawl about her shoulders. By James Craig in Evening Mail.

"It was a bubbling, youthful, irresistible Elsie Janis, one who had never done finer things in a long career of distinction. Probably the touching little ballad about an English girl who went through life singing her tra-la-la-la no matter what happened is one of the very best she has done." - New York World.

OIL PAINTINGS EXHIBITED HERE

Clear, vibrant color and a flat, mosaic-like effect are two of the most striking characteristics of a group of oil paintings, the work of students of the Broadmoor art academy, Colorado Springs, which is now on exhibit at the state historical museum.

The pictures in this exhibition represent various styles of painting and are studies rather than finished pictures. The influence of Chinese art is strongly felt in this group, due to Mr. Birger Sanzen, instructor to the classes in landscape painting, who believes that the desert is our orient, and that the West is to be the site of the future school of American landscape painting.

Miss Louis Strong, formerly of the university, has charge of the Broadmoor art academy.

This exhibition of oil paintings circulated by the American federation of arts, was produced for exhibition here by the Madison art association, and will be on view until November 30.

GREAT PROGRAM

By CHATTY

The Chicago theater program for this week holds so many unusual attractions that even if students weren't going to the metropolis for the game they would do well to make the journey if only for the sake of seeing some of the shows being presented there. An astonishing list of attractions which is being put on there; in fact, it out does New York's.

The first show which catches the eye is "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," with the unrivaled Lionel Barrymore. You remember seeing that exceptional actor of an exceptional actor family, here last year in "The Claw." We like him even better than his much-praised brother and, although we have not heard anything about this vehicle, we'll warrant that it is one of the finest shows in the country. He is supported by his new leading lady, Miss Irene Fenwick, who is no slouch herself.

Probably you have seen "Merton of the Movies." Goodness knows it has been on the boards long enough. But if you haven't seen it you'd better take some of your precious time in the Windy city and drop in at the Blackstone theater. It's one of the best comedies that has come out of New York since "Lightnin'" left a few years ago.

In the line of musical shows you have Irving Berlin's second annual "Music Box Revue." When we say Irving Berlin, we've said enough. You know what his revues are if you know anything about musical shows. "The Gingham Girl" has been having a long run at the Garrick a fact which should recommend it. We haven't heard very much about it otherwise. As for "I'll Say She Is" at the Studebaker there is even less dope on that. But we'd chose any of the others if we were going to have the choice to make.

There are three other plays running in Chicago of which we have been hearing much lately. "Children of the Moon" leads off the trio. It's been making quite a sensation throughout the country and really has an exceptional cast. Then there is Don Marquis' "The Old Soak" which made a winning run on the Great White Way. It's at the Princess. A product of a member of our generation and, we are pretty sure, a graduate of one of the eastern colleges, "In Love With Love" has turned out to be a pleasant little comedy despite the discouraging reports which heralded its advent. It ought to be a good bet.

Oh yes, and there's the 1923 Passing Show featuring Ted Lewis and—oh well, there are others, but you can't go wrong on any of the above.

Airplane Wrecks
So Does Picture

"THE BROKEN WING"

Presented at the Madison.

Featuring Kenneth Harlan.

Produced by Preferred Pictures.

This picture is another one of those back-to-nature Mexican fiascos dealing with an airplane wreck, the inevitable handsome aviator, a beautiful Mexican senorita, the bold, bad leader of the bandit gang, the thrilling rescue and all the consequent events combining to form a highly improbable and dull piece of entertainment. Kenneth Harlan, the hero, is pictorially interesting, and with the role he has he can do little but exercise this one talent.

The trouble, for a change, does not seem to be with the plot, which in this case looks like it might have been made into presentable material with proper handling, for most of the elements of a first class production are there. The director however, evidently has chosen to turn out his picture with a minimum of time and effort. The action, what little there is of it, is slow in coming, and the feeble attempts at humor fail dismally. The picture does not live up to its stage presentation.

As for the thrills and excitement implied in the advance notices, their realism may be judged by the fact that even the small boys up front were forced to utter a guffaw at the death-defying escape. Miriam Cooper hardly seems to be the appropriate person to grasp the rope ladder of an airlaine in motion.

Walter Long seems to be making good as a comedian as well as a

"FLAMING YOUTH"

Presented at the Strand.

Produced by First National.

Featuring Colleen Moore, Milton Sills, Elliot Dexter.

By HIT and MISS

Two thousand students wearing out shoe leather waiting to get in, civic societies of the town wearing out their voices in protest—and all over a few petting parties not as good as the usual run in the movies.

The name and the advance publicity were the most flaming part of the entire production—which all goes to show that it pays to advertise. The crowds speak.

Colleen Moore was attractive in her part, if such a type exists anywhere but in the modern-attempting-to-be-sensational-author's mind. We fear that she would have difficulty in finding proper playmates in the middle western universities.

The dramatic scenes were tense, so tense that only a movie could have blended them all into a happy ending. The pathos in connection with the mother was over drawn, and the returning spirit of dead ones speaking through the lips of others is old stuff. Likewise hard to believe.

The swimming party which might have been interesting was a bit too hazy. The flaming parties were very much the same as we see in most of the modern society plays today—no new features.

Milton Sills, lover of two generations, played his usual straight forward he-man part well. We wonder, though, if Pat's tactics, rather more than obvious, would have really brought the results in life as we know it.

In the end a moral was brought home—a fact certainly not included in any of the publicity about the picture.

The picture as a whole would not give cause to a minister to devote an hour for a Sunday sermon, or a sorority to devote an hour for a chapter meeting discussion of the problems and progress of flaming youth.

"heavy" and this picture plainly shows his capabilities. But his work alone fails to save "The Broken Wing."

NO Unusual Shows
Booked Next Week

By SAPPY

The coming week will bring nothing sensational to the Madison theaters.

The Majestic will run Zane Grey's "To the Last Man," for the whole week. It is a Paramount picture of the life of the west, a "gripping" love story, featuring Lois Wilson and Richard Dix. As an added attraction the Majestic will show a vaudeville skit with three singing and dancing girls.

Jackie Coogan will reign supreme at the Madison for the whole week in "Long Live the King," in which we will be able to see Jackie climb from rags to riches of the fairy land of kings and regal splendor.

"The Steadfast Heart" will be shown the first part of the week at the Parkway, featuring Marguerite Courtot and Mary Alden. Wednesday night will be the joint recital of Paul Althouse, the noted tenor, and Arthur Middleton, the well known baritone. Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be shown the picturization of Balzac's "The Magic Skin" under the name of "Slave of Desire," featuring Carmel Meyers, Bessie Love and George Walsh.

For the first part of the week the Strand will present Dustin Farnum in "Kentucky Days," which promises all that its name implies. For the second part of the week, the Strand patrons will see their old friend Constance Talmadge in "Dangerous Maid" a melodramatic romance of England at the time of the dukes and duchesses of old.

The Orpheum has some very attractive bills for the entire week. The first part of the week will feature the Barr twins, the famous "dancers" and Bert Baker and company in their fun novelty "Prevarication." For the second part of the week, the Orpheum announces as the feature the whirlwind musical production Benny Barton's Revue in "A melo-de-menu" which brings singing girls and a seven piece with it three famous dancing and orchestra.

but he sure is one sweet warbler when he trembles them lips in the Chicago football banquet Haresfoot show. Hhhu?"

Lester again is responsible for the costuming of the Parkway prologue, this time Ernie Evans' "Ripples of 1924." The Haresfoot club picks the best in the business.

Guinea Pigs Promised Good Treatment by Bacteriologists

A comfortable home and considerate attention will be given to five score more guinea pigs just arrived at the state laboratory of hygiene, according to M. Starr Nichols, assistant bacteriologist, who is making many experiments with the animals.

The new arrivals have come all the way from the town of Ringle, a distance of 150 miles, and the frightened squeals and scamperings which many students head as the little travelers were carried up to the fifth floor of South hall, was only their way of asking what all the commotion was about.

"The new comers need have no fear for themselves, however, Nichols said. "The recently discovered methods of making tests to determine the virulence of disease germs will prevent the death of the guinea pigs. If the germs of a disease are given to a pig, he is also given an anti-toxin against it, and therefore does not contract the disease. We are able to determine the virulence of the germ by observing the character of the spot which appears at the point of injection."

"We are much better satisfied with the new methods of making the tests, not only because it saves the extra expense of buying more guinea pigs, but especially because their use helps us in our efforts to treat the animals with all the care and consideration possible."

ROUGH WATERS DRIVE CREW TO INDOOR DRILL

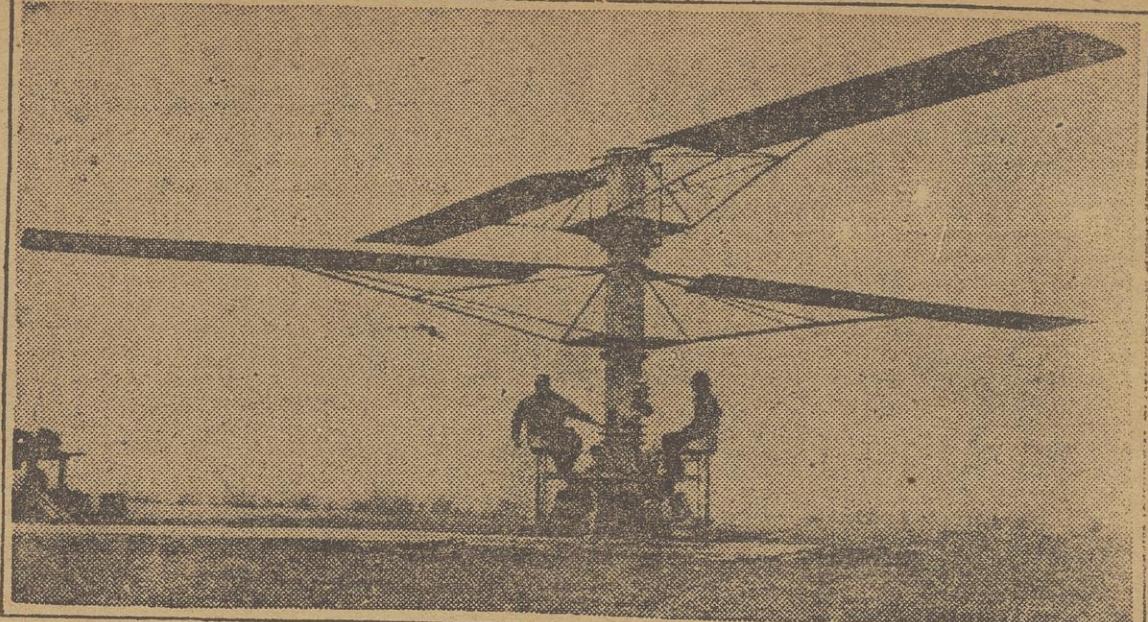

With the storing of the sculls varsity crew activities have ceased for the first semester. Cold and rough weather forced the rowers off the lake November 5. At that time there were nearly two full crews working daily. At present there are a few men working on the machines in the annex, but intensive work will not begin until the second semester, according to Dad Vail, rowing coach.

The freshman crew will not be organized until the second semester when it will begin work on the machines with the varsity.

"If the varsity shows up well this spring when we get on the water we will undoubtedly go to Poughkeepsie for the eastern races," Vail said in answer to the question of making the trip. "The success of the crew depends a great deal upon how early we can get on the water. If we are delayed as we were last year we will not be in top form at the time of the races. I feel that to go to Poughkeepsie would be to add a new incentive to rowing."

NEW HELICOPTER CAN STAND STILL IN AIR, SAY MAKERS

Builders of this new Perry helicopter, erected at Lombard, Ill., say that it will prove in public tests shortly that it can not only fly straight up and sideways but can stand still in the air for many minutes while choosing a landing. It has two pair of airplane wings, one pair superimposed on the other. The two sets revolve in opposite directions. The wing spread is forty-four feet and the central portion of the craft stands sixteen feet from the ground. Its inventors claim it can rise in a space 100 feet square, and can lift a dead weight of 3,500 pounds.
