PREFACE.

We present to our patrons a new Directory of the City of Madison, hoping that it will meet with their approval.

A thorough canvass of the city has been made, and every effort used to obtain the names of all persons who should be represented in a Directory.

The General Directory shows 3,312 names, an increase of 412 over 1872, and from which an estimate of the number of people living in the City may be made.

The Classified Business Directory is a complete mirror of the business and manufacturing interests. The Miscellaneous Department shows the City and County Official Lists, and the various Public Institutions.

To those who have extended to us their aid and patronage, our thanks are due.

THE CITY OF MADISON.

HISTORICAL AND BUSINESS REVIEW--ITS PROGRESS AND PROSPECTS.

MADISON is the seat of justice of Dane county, and capitol of the state of Wisconsin. The junction of the Prairie du Chien division and the Madison branch of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, at the crossing of the Madison branch of the Chicago & North Western Railway, also the southern terminus of the Madison and Portage Railroad. The city is pleasantly situated on an isthmus about three-fourths of a mile wide, between lakes Mendota and Monona, in the center of a broad valley, surrounded by heights from which it can be seen at a distance of several miles. The streets are well provided with substantial side-walks, usually kept in good repair, and afford many attractive promenades and drives. The principal stores are located around the Capitol Park, upon either side of which are fine business houses and blocks, and many of them of beautiful design and finish. The capitol building is a beautiful stone structure, standing on an eminence of seventy feet above the level of the lakes, in the center of a public park of fourteen acres, and contains the very valuable State Historical Library, and collections of the Academy of Science, Arts, and Letters (its cost was $500,000). The new United States Court House and Post Office is a costly and handsome edifice. The newly appointed United States District Judge resides here, and much business is done in the court recently organized. The streets which lead from the Capitol towards the cardinal points descend gradually to the shores of the lakes, excepting the one which extends westward to College Hill. On this eminence one mile west of the Capitol and about 125 feet above the lakes, is situated the University of Wisconsin, which has 20 professors and instructors, a good law department, and a department for females, with a building expressly for them.

PREFACE.

We present to our patrons a new Directory of the City of Watertown, hoping that it will meet with their approval.

A thorough canvass of the city has been made, and every effort used to obtain the names of all persons who should be represented in a Directory.

The General Directory shows 2,760 names, an increase of over 500 over 1872, and from which an estimate of the number of people living in the City may be made.

The Classified Business Directory is a complete mirror of the business and manufacturing interests. The Miscellaneous Department shows the City and County Official Lists, and the various Public Institutions.

To those who have extended to us their aid and patronage, our thanks are due.

THE CITY OF WATERTOWN.

HISTORICAL AND BUSINESS REVIEW—ITS PROGRESS AND PROSPECTS.

WATERTOWN is beautifully situated on both sides of Rock river, in the northern part of Jefferson county and the southern part of Dodge county. It is on the line of the La Crosse division of the C., M. & St. Paul Railway, 43 miles from Milwaukee and 152 from La Crosse. A branch of this line extends from Watertown to Madison, the Capitol of the State, distant 37 miles. The Chicago & North Western Railway passes through here, terminating at Green Bay, 112 miles north.

Watertown was laid out about the year 1836. In 1840 a part of the town was laid out in blocks and town lots, Milo Jones of Fort Atkinson being the surveyor. After that the town took a fresh start, and the surrounding country began to settle up with farmers.

The streets are laid out at right angles, and are broad and pleasant. One of the crowning glories of the city is the profusion of shrubbery everywhere prevalent, lining the streets on either side, and in the door yards forest and ornamental trees vie with each other in giving a home-like appearance, and in the spring and summer there is such a wilderness of foliage as to almost obscure the houses. The streets are well provided with substantial side-walks, usually kept in good repair, and afford many attractive promenades and drives. The principal streets are Main on the east, and West Avenue on the west of Rock river, upon either side of which are fine business houses and blocks, and many of them of beautiful design and finish.
