THE MADISON CAMPUS

Founded in 1849, the University of Wisconsin-Madison is a public land-grant institution of approximately 39,000 students. It provides teaching and research in basic humanities and sciences with professional education in a wide range of fields.

Located on beautiful Lake Mendota, the Madison campus is the largest, oldest and most diversified of the 27 campuses which make up the UW system. The Madison area includes five large lakes which provide recreational activities galore for the outdoor sportsman.

UW-Madison is a Big Ten University offering outstanding academic and cultural resources. Madison is located about three driving hours from Chicago, and five hours from Minneapolis.

HISTORY OF THE WISCONSIN FIELDHOUSE

The Wisconsin Fieldhouse was a project of then Athletic Director George Little when he arrived at Wisconsin in 1925 and became a reality in 1930.

In 1927, Little proposed to the athletic council and regents the plan under which the fieldhouse was to be constructed. This proposal met the approval of the board, after two previous attempts had failed; one of those having passed the Legislature only to be vetoed by Governor Zimmerman.

The original layout had contemplated a $650,000 building to house both an indoor training facility for intercollegiate teams and the required program of physical education. The portion to be used for intercollegiate athletics was estimated at $385,000.

This intercollegiate portion is represented in the present facility that houses both the basketball teams and wrestling squad. Its actual cost was somewhat more than estimated, totalling $434,000 with construction completed in September of 1931.

The structure would be a part of Camp Randall Stadium, standing on the south end of the field, with concrete stands built against its north wall. The fieldhouse contained a basketball floor with a seating capacity of 12,000, a complete track facility, and room for indoor football and baseball training.

In April of 1976, the State Building Commission approved $718,000 for the renovation of the fieldhouse. The project was aimed mainly at improving the seating facility and allowing for other activities to be presented in the building. Permanent bleachers were added to the north, south and west sides of the court with portable seats and a stage area on the east side. This effort brought the seating capacity to 12,204. New locker rooms and a training facility were constructed under the west side seats in addition to renovation of existing locker rooms. A new lighting system was added in 1977 to make the Wisconsin Fieldhouse one of the best facilities in the Big Ten.

DR. KIT SAUNDERS, Director of Women's Athletics

Widely recognized as an advocate of athletic opportunities for women, the University of Wisconsin is fortunate to have Dr. Kit Saunders directing the 12-sport women's intercollegiate athletics program. Her personal commitment to the growth of women's athletics, and her ability to integrate the goals of the athletic program with those of the educational system, make her the infusing spirit behind women's athletics at Wisconsin.

Beginning her fifth year as Director, Kit has had a long association with UW athletics prior to its organization as an intercollegiate program in 1974. She served as the sports coordinator for eight years while women's sports were still part of the Department of Physical Education. She is also a former UW women's tennis coach, and lecturer in physical education.

Under Kit's leadership the athletic program has experienced increases in funding and participation. Wisconsin teams have enjoyed the benefits of excellent coaching, fine facilities and adequate budgets, while participants have had the opportunity to achieve their individual athletic potential as part of a growing program. In addition to the tuition scholarships already offered, full scholarship funding throughout all 12 sports is available this year adding another dimension to UW women's athletics.

Kit's contributions to the Madison community and the State of Wisconsin include membership in the Madison Altrusa Club (women's service club), Madison School Superintendent's Human Relations Committee, and a board member of the Madison West Side YMCA. She was also appointed to the Governor's Commission on Wellness.

TAMARA J. FLARUP, Director of Women's Sports Information

Beginning her second year as the women's sports information director at Wisconsin, Tam has the responsibility of disseminating all information and publicity materials for the 12-sport women's program.

Coordinating sports results, planning brochures and preparing publicity materials and features concerning UW athletics make the job of sports information multi-dimensional, and the rewards great. Tam also assists in fund raising activities, and assists the Women's Intercollegiate Sports Booster Club (W.I.S.) in their publications and promotions.

A 1975 journalism and physical education graduate of Iowa State University, Tam is completing her Master's degree in educational communications and public relations from Glassboro State University in New Jersey. She was formerly the women's sports information director for the Jayhawks at the University of Kansas.

JANET TAPPON, Athletic Trainer

Although in her first year at the helm of women's athletic training, Jan Tappan is not a stranger to Wisconsin sports medicine.

She worked as student trainer three years while completing her Master's degree in physical education with an emphasis in sports medicine from Wisconsin in 1977. Last year she was one of two women responsible for the medical care of women athletes at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut.

Utilizing the modern training facilities available in Camp Randall Stadium, Jan provides for the prevention, care and treatment of injuries for all Wisconsin women athletes. She also has training rooms in the Wisconsin Field House and Natatorium. All are equipped with the finest therapeutic modalities and rehabilitative apparatus.

Jan will also supervise a staff of student trainers responsible for covering all practices and competitions of the 12 Wisconsin women's sports. She is a NATA certified athletic trainer, and a native of Menomonie, Wisconsin.

EDWINA QUALLS, Head Coach

In her second year as Wisconsin women's basketball coach, Edwina Qualls has turned the Badger basketball program around. Qualls inherited a squad with a 5-13 record upon coming to Wisconsin in 1976 and upped that record to 7-14 in her first year. Last season, her first recruiting year, Qualls guided the Badgers to a 14-10 record. It was the Badgers' first winning season in three years.

The 1977-78 Badgers won their first Wisconsin State Championship and finished third in the Midwest Regional Championship, marking the team's first appearance at Regionals.

Edwina's extensive coaching experience includes a seven year tenure at Richard C. Lee High School in New Haven, Connecticut. She compiled an 82-15 high school coaching record while leading her teams to the Class L State Basketball Championships in 1974 and 1975. Her team was runner-up in the 1976 state tournament. In 1975, Edwina was selected "Coach of the Year" by the Connecticut High School Coaches Association.

A native of Connecticut, Edwina received her bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Southern Connecticut University where she also served as the assistant basketball coach to Louise O'Neill's nationally ranked Southern Connecticut women's basketball team. She was also the women's assistant basketball coach at Yale University in 1974-75.

With a two-year record of 21-24, Wisconsin basketball boosters are looking forward to many more winning seasons with Edwina Qualls.

MARNIE DACKO, Assistant Coach

New assistant women's basketball coach Marnie Dacko comes to the University of Wisconsin with outstanding credentials as both an excellent player and coach.

Marnie was an intercollegiate basketball, softball, volleyball and tennis player, and competed in three AIAW national basketball championships for Southern Connecticut State College, where she also received her B.S. degree. She was a candidate for the U.S. Olympic basketball trials, and is the Southern Connecticut State College all time leading scorer and rebounder. Her coaching experience includes numerous basketball camps on the Eastern Seaboard.

DENNIS SIMPSON, JV Coach

An assistant coach for the UW women's basketball team since 1976, Dennis Simpson takes over this year as head coach of the women's JV basketball team.

A 1972 graduate of Western Kentucky University, Dennis earned his B.A. degree in Sociology with a minor in Recreation. Before coming to the UW, Dennis taught at two high schools in Louisville, Kentucky, where he also served as assistant men's basketball coach. Since his arrival in Madison, Dennis has participated in several youth oriented programs, in addition to his responsibilities with the UW women's basketball program.

1978-79 WOMEN'S BASKETBALL PROSPECTUS

Beginning her third year as Wisconsin's head women's basketball coach, Edwina Qualls sees her team's entrance into national prominence in the offing.

Recording its first winning season in three years at 14-10, the Badgers also topped all teams in the State of Wisconsin, and finished third in the MAIAW Region V Basketball Tournament.

"Our strong finish last year indicates the experience our freshman and sophomore starters gained throughout the season," Qualls said. "With the addition of three talented recruits, Wisconsin will definitely be one of the most formidable teams in the Midwest."

The recruits joining the young team this season are Kerry Karst of Lincoln, Nebraska, Michelle Lowman of New Haven, Connecticut, and Ann Hall of Lomira, Wisconsin.

Karst is a 5-11 forward who averaged 20 points per game while competing in the high school ranks. She was recently named Female Prep Athlete of the year by the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star newspaper, and earned a berth on Nebraska's Super State volleyball and basketball teams.

Loman is a 6-2 center who led New Haven's Lee High School to back to back Class L State High School Championships. She averaged 14 points, 10 rebounds and eight blocked shots as a prep player.

Wisconsin's Ann Hall led Lomira to the Class B State Championship in 1978 averaging 17 points and 13 rebounds per game. Qualls is impressed by her passing and play-making abilities, and feels Hall at 5-11 will add strength to the guard court.

Qualls expects these three recruits to fuse their talents with returning six-footers Linda Gough of Elgin, IL, and Ginny Vorwald of Bloomington, WI. Vorwald was the second leading rebounder for the Badgers last season averaging 8.2 per game, and is Wisconsin's all-time leading rebounder with 384 in two full seasons. Other starters returning are Kelly Camp of New Haven, CT, and Dot Whalen of Madison. Camp was the second leading scorer averaging 13.7 points per game.

The squad's leading scorer and rebounder, Pam Moore of Madison, will not be returning this season instead electing to pursue full-time training in track. Qualls admits Wisconsin will miss the talents of the freshman star who averaged 16.3 points and nine rebounds per game, but believes the scoring talents of Karst and Hall will fill the vacancy.

An upgraded schedule shows Wisconsin opening the season with national power William Penn College. Seven Big Ten schools are also on the agenda, as are Nebraska, Iowa State, Marquette, Detroit and Chicago Circle.

Qualls feels the tougher schedule will test Wisconsin's talents against the top schools in the Midwest, and the Badgers will show their readiness for competition with nationally ranked teams.

With more height under the basket, increased rebounding strength, and added speed in the line-up, Wisconsin may place its name before the basketball public as a team to reckon with.

Season tickets for the 10-game schedule are priced at $10 and $5 for students college age and under.
