GUIDE FOR VOTING IN ELECTIONS ON FRIDAY IS READY

May Be Secured at Bascom
Hall and at the Union Building

Voters' guides, containing the qualifications of all candidates for offices to be filled at the general election next Friday, are ready for distribution today. They may be obtained at the office of the registrar in Bascom hall and at the Union building.

The number of copies printed this year was limited since the freshman and sophomore classes will have no use for them, their offices being filled by default, according to an announcement by the election committee.

List Voting Booths.

The locations for the booths for the students in the different colleges are as follows:

Agricultural and Home Economics students will vote in Agricultural hall; engineers in the Engineering building; medical students at Science hall; students in the Commerce course in Sterling hall. Students whose names begin with A and up to M will cast their ballots in the Biology building and those from M to Z in room 101 Bascom hall.

Although it is stated in the booklet the law students will vote with Letter and Science students, a booth will be stationed in their own building for their use.

Polls Open at 9.

All first year law and medical students will vote as juniors and second and third year students in these schools will vote as seniors.

The polls on Friday will open at 9 o'clock and will close at 5 o'clock. The elections committee will have jurisdiction over all the offenses committed in violation of the regulations with power to impose penalties.

Outstanding points in the regulations are printed in the guide. Personal solicitation of voters by a candidate or by his supporters is the extent to which any candidate may go in his campaigning. This cannot take place in the polling place, any room, hall or part of the building designated as such.

Advertising which the committee finds was done with the intent of disqualifying a candidate is strictly prohibited.

SUBSCRIPTION WAITS FOR RECEIPT RETURN

A semester's subscription is waiting at the Daily Cardinal business office for the student who walked off with both receipts yesterday afternoon. If this student will return one of the duplicates, so that his address may be ascertained his Cardinal will start immediate delivery.

SORORITY EXCHANGE DINNERS OPEN TODAY

The list for the Exchange dinners, the first of which is to be held this evening, were compiled yesterday at a meeting of the Pan-Hellenic association in the S. G. A. library. The meeting was presided over by Jane Pierson, president.

Union Board Aids "The Mollusc" By Delaying Dances

In order that there may be no conflict with the presentation of "The Mollusc" by the Wisconsin Players on October 31 and November 1, the Union board has agreed to start its weekly dances at 10 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock.

The play will start at 8:15 and will be over by 10 o'clock, according to Kenneth Gardner, business manager. Gardner stated that the number of tickets for the production is limited to the best seats in the concert room.

Tickets can be obtained from Gardner by calling B 8 or at a booth in Bascom hall today, Thursday and Friday. The tickets sell for $1 and 75 cents apiece. All are reserved.

German Instructor to Tell Club of Berlin Adventures

Mr. G. C. Schuchard of the German department will give an illustrated talk before the German club at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Lathrop parlors. The subject of his talk will be "Recollections of Berlin," a discourse on the adventures and impressions of the speaker who spent his student days in the German capital.

Oscar Briggs '26 will play two selections on the piano, "Grillen," and "Nachtstuck," by Schumann. Assembly singing of German folk songs will be conducted by Dr. B. Q. Morgan. At the close of the program the members and guests of the club will have the opportunity to converse informally in German.

The German club, or Deutsche Verein, was organized in 1896 by Prof. E. Voss. Professor Morgan was president for many years but new officers were elected in June. They are Erwin T. Mohn, instructor, president; and Waldemar Groth, rad, secretary.

Concert Club Has 38 Members; Will Give Concert Soon

With 38 men singing in the Concert club, eight of whom were members last year, and the others having received training in the second club, the chances of developing a successful organization are good, according to Prof. A. E. Swinney.

"The present group of men is developing a very good tone quality," said Professor Swinney. "The parts are well balanced and the work of the organization thus far surpasses that of any club I have trained in the past seven years."

Several of the numbers to be given this year are nearly ready for presentation. The club will be in shape to present a program in two weeks.

The first concert will be given via radio from WHA, the university station, November 9, according to J. H. Murphy, manager.

The following men have been selected to sing:

W. F. Anderson, G. S. Bartleson, H. L. Baumgarten, J. E. Blomgren, H. F. Brandenburg, Don Cannon, Hugh Conine, C. R. Gordon, S. M. Gunderson, H. F. Haney, C. M. Harrison, P. G. Jones, F. V. Kongenberg, E. Lanardson, A. E. McGrath, C. R. Elsholm.

ORCHESTRA HAS LARGE AUDIENCE IN CONCERT HERE

Enthusiastic Crowd Greet
Minneapolis Musicians in Concert

By D. C.

A very enthusiastic audience greeted the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra last night when that organization appeared at the armory to offer a varied program which embraced the works of Dvorak, Tschai-kowsky, Beethoven and Wagner. The orchestra has a membership of 80 skilled musicians directed by the baton of Henri Verbrugghen.

The opening number on the program was Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E minor, "From the World." The first movement which was introduced by an adagio which lead into an allegro movement, was on the whole done very satisfactorily.

The largo of the second movement was charmingly done. The English horn solo was exceptionally well performed and much praise is due the artist for true musicianship.

Beethoven Work Well Played
The scherzo of the third movement was dashed off in brilliant fashion. In this the strings showed good work.

The closing allegro was shouted forth by the drums and trumpets, the whole orchestra coming in with incisive sounds.

Very well played was an andante from a quartet in A by L. Van Beethoven. This work was admirably orchestrated for a string orchestra by Mr. Verbrugghen, who is making the arrangement did not fail to preserve the true character of the composition.

A true piece of art was the playing of Siegfried's Rhine Journey, from "Die Goetterdaemmerung," by Richard Wagner. It was possible to form a very vivid picture of Brunnhilde and Siegfried in their love adventure. The dramatic scene occurs when Siegfried plunges through the fire and awakens slumbering Brunnhilde. This was well portrayed when the orchestra reached a great climax.

TO HOLD TRYOUTS FOR PROM PLAY

Wisconsin Players and Prom
Play Tryouts Are Same
This Year

Tryouts for Wisconsin Players as well as for the Pre-Prom play are to be held from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock Wednesday and Friday afternoon. Persons wishing to try out are to sign up this afternoon in Bascom hall or in the men's gym from 11 to 12 o'clock and 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock.

"The Rescuing Angel" by Clare Kummer has been selected for the prom play this year and the books are now on reserve at the library. These tryouts which are to be given before Miss Johnson's advanced dramatic students class are for Wisconsin Players as well as for those who desire membership in the organization.

LITERARY MAGAZINE MAKES DEBUT ON CAMPUS ON TUESDAY MORNING

New writers will make their debut and old writers will give encores when the Literary magazine comes out next Tuesday, national election day.

"We are following our policy formulated last spring," said John F. Weimer '25, editor, "that of bringing out new campus writers and of presenting each month an article written by a faculty member."

An innovation which the Literary magazine is introducing this year is a series of anonymous articles, impressions of university life, under the heading of "Mirror, Mirror, Tell Me True." All faculty members and students are invited to contribute to this department. "We

Michigan Defeat Has No Effect on Iowa Ticket Sales

Wisconsin students have kept the faith.

In spite of the fact that the football team was decisively defeated last Saturday by Michigan, students of the university turned out Monday to buy tickets for the homecoming game with Iowa and broke all records for first day sales.

Total sales for Monday were 5,119, the highest ever recorded for a Wisconsin football game for the first day. The figure last Monday for the Notre Dame game was 4,969.

Student applications are being received this week for the Iowa game. Open sale will begin next Tuesday on the Notre Dame game, allowing Monday for students to call for their tickets for the game with the Irish.

CAR HITS CO-EDS, INJURIES SLIGHT, ACTION WITHHELD

Excited Driver Smashes Bicycle and Runs Down?
Co-eds Yesterday

Action in regard to the arrest of an automobile driver who ran down two co-eds, a boy on a bicycle and Frank R. Fuller, 824 W. Johnson street, yesterday afternoon at the corner of Park street and University avenue, had not been taken last night, according to the police department. None of the persons hit were injured seriously.

The co-eds were Juanita Douglas '26, cut over the eye and bruises, and Frances Forester '25, body bruises. Mr. Fuller suffered body bruises and injuries to one arm. Miss Douglas was taken to the office of Dr. H. M. Kay where the cut over her eye was bandaged.

Smashes Bicycle First.
The car first struck a bicycle ridden by Francis Cross, 1442 Chandler street, demolishing the wheel but not injuring the lad, who is a student at Central high school. After striking the bicycle, the car careened into the three who were injured, according to Mr. Fuller. They were standing in front of the Menges pharmacy.

Report to Police.
The driver of the car was a middle-aged man and not a student, Mr. Fuller stated. Young Cross reported the smashing of his bicycle to the police along with the license number of the car.

Police stated that the license had been issued to a man living outside of Madison, according to records at the statehouse.

Seven new girls were admitted to membership at the meeting. They are Misses Marylyn Horten, Wilite Hanisch, Laura Craneheld, Veryl Schult, Elna Mygdal, Hortense Hanson, and Romana Bachuber.

STUDENT DIRECTORY NOW ON THE PRESS

The university directory is now on the press, according to Miss Martin, assistant registrar, who has charge of the publication of the directory.

BADGER OFFENSESecret Practice Started, Squad
Must Improve Tackling and Interference

That Coach Ryan intends to waste no time in getting at the cause of the weakness of the Badger offense is shown by the fact that yesterday afternoon he took his squad into the stadium in secret practice and started scrimmage work against the freshmen.

The scrimmage was preceded by a short drill on passing, after which he took his first squad and started work with signal formations to improve the interference work on line plunging and end runs.

New Zest in Players.

The spirit of the coaches and players at Camp Randall is far from one of hopelessness. The men, realizing that a better attack and a better defense must be presented against Notre Dame, have gone into practice work with a zest such as preceded the Minnesota game.

Coach Lowman continues to work with the ends in hopes of training an able running-mate for Steve Polaski. Burrus will probably have recovered from his injuries in time to start against the Catholics, should the coaches decide that he can fill the place. Last Saturday's game gave Long a great deal of experience and he may show improvement enough this week and next to hold down the other wing position in good style.

Hay Ready for Field.

Loads of hay have been drawn on the sidelines at Camp Randall to be spread on the field in case of rain. The next two games are home games and the coaches are anxious to have the field as dry and firm as possible.

Nelson is out of practice for several days, nursing minor injuries received in the Wolverine game. Straubel and Leiti are still out with injuries.

William Tell Could'nt Equal
Skill of Rorison, Marksman

Hitting the bull's eye just came natural to William A. Rorison '25, and that is why he has excelled in rifle marksmanship. Rorison who is president of the Rifle club, holds both state and national honors in rifle competition.

"I have always liked to enter rifle shooting matches ever since I made our high school team," said Rorison. "I had no idea I would make our high school team when I tried out, but I thought there would be no harm in trying."

In their first high school meet at Davenport, Rorison won a high percentage medal for his shooting, and later was elected captain of the team. After this he tried for the Winchester junior rifle corps medal which required 100 perfect targets, and won honors as a marksman, sharpshooter, and expert rifleman.

His university career started at Wisconsin in 1921 when he qualified as a marksman and later, in 1922, won the university rifle championship. At this time he also out-shot other men in the gallery competition and was one of four to receive honors.

Rorison was elected captain of the university rifle team in 1922. He was captain of the team in 1923 when it won the national collegiate championship, and in 1924 when the team won second place in the state meet, Rorison tied for first place in one of the state individual matches.

This summer Rorison went to Camp Custer, Michigan, and shot third place in the Sixth Corps Area R. O. T. C. He was awarded a medal for skill in the 200, 300 and 500 yard shots.

From Camp Custer he was sent to represent Wisconsin in the Sixth Corps Area at the national rifle matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio. There Rorison placed in the navy match and in the rapid fire matches. He also won the expert rifleman's badge there.

Rorison was given a certificate at Camp Perry which entitles him to teach the use of rifles and pistols.

British Voters Riot On Eve of Election Day

LONDON—Today, the last day of the election campaign, is being devoted to intensified canvasses and torrents of speeches by all the parties. Political tempers have been growing steadily hotter and show no sign of cooling.

Several meetings last night were marked by violent disturbances and the police in some instances were called. The worst occurrence occurred outside a hall in Battersea, where a blow aimed at the Conservative candidate Viscount Curzon, missed him but felled a companion.

So It Seems

Varsity football takes a back seat this week in the interest of gridiron fans and the annual frosh-soph game is in the limelight. The annual grudge battle between the yearlings and the sophs seems to give promise of real football this year.

These battles are always hard fought. The frosh realize that it is one chance for them to show their wares before the student body, and win for themselves prestige that will help them in making the varsity squad next year.

The frosh team is strong this year, in spite of its lack of weight. Tappert and Crowfoot have shown up well in practice, and Van Horn, of Milwaukee, is one of the best passers at Wisconsin since "Shorty" Barr.

Van Horn has a wonderful high school record. He played four years of football at Milwaukee, three years of track, two years of baseball, and three years of basketball.

Money taken in at the gate Saturday afternoon will be used to send the frosh squad, the all-Americans, and the band to the Chicago game November 22. Admission price is 50 cents.

Notre Dame will bring a band of 60 pieces for the Wisconsin game, while Iowa will bring a band of 75 pieces.

Daily Cardinal readers may be rendered superior service again this week by the sports staff. Last week four men represented the Daily Cardinal at Ann Arbor. This week negotiations are being made to send two men to Champaign to cover the Illinois-Iowa game to report the Hawkeye strength and also to tell Daily Cardinal readers first hand about the great Red Grange.

RAY KUBLY.

Ray Kubly now looms up as one of the best cross country men in the conference. He has been doing wonderful running on the harrier squad, and it is the first year for him in the conference. He took second place in the Marquette meet, first in both the Minnesota and Michigan meets, and has broken several course records.

COACH NELSON WANTS MORE ALL-AMERICANS

Coaches Nelson and Jack Ryan want all men who have had any football experience to come out for the all-American squad, as men are needed to assist in developing the team for the fray with Iowa. Also there are not enough men from the sophomore class to form an eleven to play against the frosh in their annual game November 1st. It is a rule that all men playing in this game must be out at least two weeks before the game to get in condition so that there will be less danger of injuries. Captain Klinger urges all loyal sophomores to report at Randall field Monday so

Expenses of Intramural
Athletic Department

Total receipts from the grid-graph games in 1923 amounted to $1,900 according to Frank Nickerson, business manager of athletics. The money was used by the intramural department to defray a part of its expenses, which totaled $2,160.

"The admission price has been increased to 50 cents by the athletic board which is composed of students, because the total revenue from the showings last season was not sufficient for intra-mural expenses," says Mr. Nickerson. "The student body would have to bear the expense in some other way if this plan had not been adopted."

Figures of the athletic department denoting intra-mural expenses of the last year follow:

ATHLETICS IN THE COLLEGIATE WORLDN. S. I. A. PUTS STEINAUER ON ITS
ADVISORY BOARDAssociation is Active in Three Fields, Does Excellent Work

Joe Steinauer, varsity swimming coach, is one of 22 prominent professional swimmers who have been recently elected members of the advisory board of the National Swimming Instructors' association.

This nation-wide organization was started in 1916, but dropped because of the war, and since revived. Coach Steinauer was a charter member.

Active in Three Fields.

The activities are confined at present to three fields: producing the entire stock of life savers for the nation's public beaches by authorizing coaches on the board to qualify applicants on the board tests; increasing the present membership by bringing into the organization all swimming instructors and even exhibition swimmers, and publishing a monthly magazine on swimming, beginning this month.

Swimming is rapidly approaching the status of a major sport, and this association by promoting college swimming is a very efficient way of organizing the sport to attain this end. Other lines of athletics are endeavoring to obtain such an organization as this, but they have as yet made no such striking progress.

Well Known Men on Board.

The list of the board members is a very representative one. All of these coaches are well known and competent, many having written books on swimming.

Five of the Big Ten are represented: E. Wallace McGilvray, Chicago; D. A. Armbruster, Iowa; J. C. Steinauer, Wisconsin; Niels Thorpe, Minnesota; and Tom Robinson, Northwestern.

The list is headed by the Olympic coach, Frank J. Sullivan, Princeton, and these follow: George Kistler, University of Pennsylvania; L. B. Handley, Women's Swimming Association, N. Y.; Arlo R. Eason, Brown university; Thomas L. Goss, University of Notre Dame; Miss Gladys Van Fossen, Hamlin university; C. A. Werner, Portland, Ore.; John T. Taylor, A. M. A. A. U.; Vance Vieth, Mack Sennett, Inc.; Miss Marguerite A. Miller, Louisiana university; Sidney C. Hazelton, Dartmouth college; Lou Breker, Central Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles, Calif.; James R. Taylor, Columbus Athletic club; Charles Holmoyd, Pittsburgh public schools; Harry G. Stevens, Case School of Applied Science; Com. W. E. Longfellow, American Red Cross, and C. Lawrence Walsh, Pittsburgh high schools.

Grid Jottings

Big Ten stadiums are being built larger every year. The biggest crowd ever at Columbus was 78,000 for the Michigan game in 1922. The Yale bowl holds practically the same crowd. The bowl at New Haven is a single deck affair completely circling the field. The Ohio State stadium is a double decked horse-shoe. The Illinois stadium has held 67,900 and is a double decked, two sided affair, with temporary seats at both ends. The Wisconsin stadium will eventually seat 72,000. Its capacity is now approximately 40,000. The new Minnesota stadium will seat 54,000 when it is dedicated later this fall. Michigan's enlarged stadium on Ferry field now seats 45,000. Chicago can seat 35,000 and Iowa 30,000.

FIRST FOUR GAMES
SHOW IRISH HAVE
POWERFUL ELEVENDefeat Lombard, Wabash,
Army, and Princeton in Easy Fashion

The huge total of scores compiled by Notre Dame in their first four games again indicates that Knute Rockne's great grid machine is as good as in past years, despite the statement of Rockne that his material was but average this year, a fact that makes fans, dopesters, and opposing coaches look more than ever for new tricks from the versatile mind of the wizard of South Bend.

At the beginning of the season Rockne declared his material to be somewhat below the average. Followers of the game immediately began to look for new Notre Dame grid tricks. Lombard was the initial game for the Catholics, and although the smaller school put up a game fight, Rockne's men swept to a 40-0 triumph without being forced to resort to their bag of tricks. The following week Wabash succumbed by a 34-0 count to end the preliminary season for Rockne's men.

Opening their big time schedule with the traditional game with the Army at the Polo grounds, New York, Notre Dame presented a bewildering attack to win from the West Pointers in a bitter battle 13-7. The victory was a costly one for the Hoosiers, however, as Captain Walsh, stellar center and one of the main cogs in Rockne's machine, was so severely injured as to be kept from the game the following week with Princeton.

Supposedly handicapped by the loss of Walsh, the Irish left for the Princeton fray, and presenting a more dazzling attack than ever, smashed through the heavier Princeton team for a 12-0 victory. Triumph again proved costly when quarterback Stuldreher was so severely injured that Rockne definitely declared him to be out of both the Georgia Tech and Wisconsin games.

Minus the services of two of his best stars, Rockne will send his men against the powerful Georgia Tech Saturday in the only major home game on the Notre Dame schedule. Although the loss of the two Irish stars gives the Tech crew a possible edge, the coaches of the southern school are working their men madly as they fully realize that as with all great coaches, Rockne is most dangerous when pressed the hardest.

The Catholics' mentor says but little, but football dopesters feel that the shrewd Notre Dame wizard is pointing through this contest to the Wisconsin game the week following, as the meeting of the premier team of the mid west, if not of the nation, with one of the most outstanding teams of the "Big Ten" will not only be an acid test of the real ability of the average conference team, but will make athletic history. Wisconsin is the first major conference team to take on the great Hoosier eleven since its ascent to the heights of the mighty as a grid machine.

Harris, D. Harmon
Rank High Among
Big Ten Scorers

Doyle Harmon and Jack Harris, Wisconsin halfbacks, rank high in scoring this fall. Harmon is eighth on the list and Harris follows closely in tenth place.

Ralph Baker of Northwestern now leads "Red" Grange of Illinois by one point.

The table of points for the ten men scoring highest follows:

Baker, NW.....	4	7	4	43

Badger Coaches
No. 8—Guy Sundt

The record made by Guy Sundt, frosh football mentor, while he was wearing the Cardinal colors is still well known to all Badgers the country over.

"Tuffy" Sundt first achieved athletic fame at Stoughton high school. He was and is yet the best athlete to ever graduate from that prep school. Sundt played three years on the track team and two on the football, basketball and baseball teams. This is a record of all around proficiency that few prep school athletes ever establish.

When Sundt entered the university he went right on winning athletic laurels. He won his class numerals in football, basketball and track and proved to all the coaches that he was going to make athletic history for Wisconsin.

His sophomore year he was elected captain of the football eleven but resigned to let Chuck Carpenter, an old Badger gridiron star who had returned from the war, hold the captaincy. During his college career he won three letters in football, three in track and one in basketball. His senior year he was again elected captain of the football team and piloted one of Wisconsin's most successful teams.

While in school Guy won the Pierce trophy for being the most useful man on the team. He also won the Arlie Mucks trophy for proficiency in shot putting for four years in succession, a feat that alone would bring fame to any man. In addition to these honors Sundt was elected to membership in Sigma Delta Psi, honorary athletic fraternity, was president of the "W" club for two years, president of the senior class, elected to Iron Cross and also belonged to White Spades and Stars and Arrow, a frosh athletic organization.

After being graduated from Wisconsin Sundt was athletic director at Ripon college from 1922 to 1924. While there he turned out some teams that stacked up with the best in the Mid West conference of which Ripon is a member.

This fall Guy Sundt came to Wisconsin to take charge of the frosh football aspirants. His is a great responsibility in that the start that men make in university football depends upon the quality of coaching that the men receive.

WITHINGTON NAMED
AS HEAD FOOTBALL
COACH AT COLUMBIA

Percy Haughton, Columbia football coach, died in harness Monday. He was stricken while directing his men at practice. His place was filled yesterday by the appointment of Dr. Paul Withington, former Badger grid mentor.

Withington was coach here at Wisconsin in 1917, replacing Bill Juneau. His appointment was a great surprise to most followers of the grid teams.

Haughton, who had won fame for himself at Harvard, seemed to be on his way to greater prestige Saturday, when Columbia defeated its old rival, Williams. He was considered to be one of the football authorities in the country, both as a coach and a critic. He was 45 years old. His death is a severe blow to the lovers of the game, as he was known and respected everywhere.

Women Candidates
Asked to Sign Up
For Volley Ball

"Defend your class."

This call is issued to freshmen and sophomore women who are interested in volleyball and have not signed up for class teams. So far only nine women in the freshman class have signed up for places on the freshman team, and about the same number are out for the sophomore team.

In order to arouse interest and enthusiasm in this sport, a volleyball spread will be held at 5:30 o'clock tonight at the Camp Randall field house. All women interested in volleyball and who wish to attend the spread are asked to sign up immediately.

Class teams in volleyball will be chosen by the managers and Miss Decker, volleyball coach. Special practices for all teams are scheduled for this week. The seniors will hold a special practice on Saturday morning from 11 to 12 o'clock at Camp Randall. The class managers who have been elected to take charge of the class teams are, Clara Hartman '28, Emily Connant, '27, Myrtle Oating '26, and Kathryn Shattuck '25. Fidelia Pease '26 is the W. A. A. head of volleyball.

PEKING.—Edward Bell, the American charge d'affaires here, died this morning as the result of a stroke suffered last night.

Ferdinand L. Mayer, first secretary at the American legation will succeed Mr. Bell as charge d'affaires in the absence of Dr. Jacob Schurman, American minister, who is in the U. S.

ENTRIES WANTED
FOR FIRST BIG
INTERCLASS MEETTrack Coaches Are Interested
In Getting Line on Men

More entries are wanted by Coaches Burke and Berg for the first interclass track meet of the season at Camp Randall on Friday, October 31 at 3:30. The reason for the meet is that the track mentors want to get a line on the material they will have to work with this year.

Anybody except "W" men are eligible to enter, and Coach Burke would especially like to see men from the track, gym, and swimming classes turn out for this meet. All of the events will be run off, including the 100, 200, 440, 880, ½ mile, 1 mile, 2 mile, high and low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot, discus, hammer and javelin.

Entries in Before Thursday.

The points made by the men entered will count toward the winning of class numerals, with five points for first, three for second, and one for third. In order to get numerals, a man must have 10 points.

As few of the entrants will be in good condition, good marks are not expected to be made, although some surprises may be sprung. The meet will be in direct charge of David Taub, varsity track manager.

"We would like to have all of the entries in before Thursday," said Coach Burke yesterday. "In this way it will save some time and also give us an idea of how many men are really interested."

The men can sign up on the bulletin board in the track office in the gym. Quite a few are already entered, and those who are expected to make good marks are Elleson in the distance runs, Van Horn in the javelin, McGinnis in the pole vault and high jump, and Reeves in the distance runs.

Most of those who are signed up are yearlings, and more upperclassmen are wanted in order to stimulate more interest. More entries are wanted especially in the weight events.

PARIS—Conversations between Finance Minister Clementel and the Morgan interests for a loan will be resumed, according to the present understanding, after the meeting of the French parliament and the American election, which will take place the same day. J. P. Morgan is returning to Paris tomorrow from Southern France for personal reasons and not to confer with the finance minister, it is stated.

It won't be long before the choosing of the prom queen will be the agitation rocking the campus.

There's nothing like a little game of political basketball with the slush fund question. The loving parties and equally loving candidates seem to be having the times of their young lives investigating. Almost as good as the rushing season.

Eamon de Valera's done it again. Yes, he's been arrested. He gets that way with almost as much regularity as Lenin used to have his death reported.

Chicago seems to be making a little progress with its subway project. Perhaps it will have the matter completed by the time the Memorial Union building subscription is all taken.

THE REASON WHY

It is a never failing source of wonder to thinking persons in the university and out that many comparatively small colleges, especially in the east, which are supported entirely by endowment funds raised by subscription, can still secure several millions of dollars for new endowments, while the University of Wisconsin, which has never before called on alumni, has not, after five years, attained the goal of a million and a half dollars to build the Memorial Union building.

The obvious explanation is that Wisconsin has not so many wealthy alumni, but while it is quite probably true that the percentage of wealth in a graduating class from this university is not so great as in a class from some of the older eastern universities, yet surely the total wealth represented in a class of more than a thousand from Wisconsin is bound to be almost as great as that of a class of a few hundred from any college.

A not so flattering but far more reasonable explanation would be that Wisconsin, as a university, has not so strong a hold on her alumni. Granting that such a condition exists, what is the reason? Is it not because, during undergraduate days, too much emphasis was placed on fraternity and sorority loyalty—group loyalty—and too little on class loyalty and through the above class loyalty on Wisconsin loyalty? To many alumni contact with their fraternity is a very real, a very close contact, but contact with the university is too large, too vague to be vital. There is a widespread feeling that responsibility for the welfare of the fraternity is personal, but that responsibility for the welfare of the university belongs only to the state.

In order to get away from this condition we must foster and develop all institutions which make the unity of the university tangible. Every undergraduate must be made to feel that as a student at the University of Wisconsin he has something in common with every other student at the university—comradeship, a common ideal, a common purpose. Classes in the university should be more than mere academic divisions, more than loose organizations of more or less antagonistic groups. More class activities, more general class meetings would throw together the different groups and promote better understanding and better unity; such activities would emphasize the idea of university spirit as distinct from group loyalty. For many years, football games and other athletic events were practically the only institutions which roused in undergraduates Wisconsin loyalty.

Now we have Varsity Welcome and Varsity Night. Let us cherish these traditions and develop others of equal value.

FORD VS. BICYCLE

In these strenuous days when so many students have either motor cars or Fords, the rest of us have a pretty hard time getting around without being run over. Motor cars are bad enough, but should every student have a bicycle, the conditions would be ten times worse.

This is the problem at Oxford and Cambridge. There every one rides a bicycle, co-eds and all. It is no unusual experience to be borne down upon by a flock of twenty or thirty bicyclists when trying to cross a street. The bicycles have become so numerous that, at some of the colleges, parking space is at a premium. One often sees in the entrance of some college, a dozen or so of bicycles piled up against the wall which bears this inscription, "DO NOT LEAN BICYCLES AGAINST THIS WALL." How the owner of the bottom wheel ever regains his property is a mystery. Perhaps he takes the top one!

Worse than the omnipresent bicycle is its elder brother, the motorcycle. These monstrosities haven't even a speaking acquaintance with a muffler. They tear down the narrow streets of the university towns, "hooting" at the corners, but never slowing down. In Oxford last summer one even forgot to turn the corner and caved in the whole front of a house.

Maybe these painted Fords aren't so bad after all.

Things of Note on the Campus

By M. K. ANKLESARIA

Prof. Cattell, of the Columbia university and a noted psychologist, said in his recent lectures that a student's class education ought to be only 30 per cent. The remaining 70 per cent he must get from outside.

If that is true then the presence of the International Club and the Epworth League on the campus affords a good opportunity to the students of liberal education and the world movements to broaden their minds and at the same time pass a good, recreational social hour, making new acquaintances.

The International Club brings noted speakers of different nationalities. There they have talks and music of different countries. The information received is first hand. Everybody has a chance to express his views in the general discussion.

The Epworth League is the like kind of institution. It meets Sunday evenings at the Wesley Foundation, has dinner and then discussion of a live topic of world interest. Last Sunday's discussion centered round the resolution "The religion of Jesus was fit to be the universal religion."

You ought to have been there to see the exponents of five great religions hatch out their best: Christianity, love; Hinduism, sacrifice; Buddhism, kindness; Mohanimedanism, faith; Zoroastrianism, purity of mind; body and soul—and all that was done in a calm, sane state of mind. It reminds one that with the progress of knowledge there is no place for my people or my religion.

The conclusion reached was that "the true Christianity of Jesus was too strong for the west; as to the east, it was practised under different names for ages. In that, there is more truth than poetry.

It pays to go to these meetings. They are abodes of intellectual food and inspiration where the world gets together.

Dear Mr. Skyrockets:

Who is Methuselah? Do you s'pose he would like my telephone number? But maybe he's too old for me anyhow. What I started to tell you is a joke Prof. O'Shea sprang in Education II.

He was upholding the old-fashioned dances and all at once he yells out just like a preacher, "What is there romantic in present day dances, anyhow?"

We all sorta hissed, you know how classes do when they don't believe the prof. and he continues,

"Absolutely nothing, it's down right possession."

Sincerely,

LENA.

(I'm getting more familiar.)

Lena, we love you. Send telephone number at once, and who to ask for, and what have you. Thank for the picture.

The Reader's Say-So

MORE PINK TEA.

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:
Must Wisconsin students be continually reminded of their tendency to further "Pink Tea Wisconsin"? To those of us who were present at the Stock pavilion last Saturday afternoon the display, or rather lack of display, of spirit was rather surprising. Contrasted with the showing of the gridgraph of the Michigan game two years ago it surely was a mighty quiet affair. Then even in the face of inevitable defeat all cheered as wildly as if we were out at Camp Randall. But Saturday a few of us who did try to get some enthusiasm in the game were frowned at and laughed at by the others as if we were violating some Wisconsin tradition. Is it possible for Wisconsin students to cheer only when the team is winning or when the team is in front of them on the field? Was the gridgraph showing Saturday an exhibition of the feeling of the student body toward the team? If so, it is no wonder Wisconsin lost Saturday.

This was Homecoming day in 1921. It was estimated that 23,000 persons attended the game with Minnesota. Neither team was a favorite in prophecies as to the outcome of the game.

"I understand that plans are being made for such an organization, which will promote school spirit and interest in activities and give the new men a better start in the affairs of college," he said. "Any such organization will have the full support of the Y. M. C. A."

"I had a hard time in getting settled during my first year in college and can appreciate the need of something of this kind. To be a success and carry out the aims for which it is formed, the movement must come from the men themselves and not be pushed upon them by anyone," he said.

GRADUATE ENGINEERS IN 4 FOREIGN NATIONS

Wisconsin engineers of the class of '24 are already scattered throughout 16 states and four foreign countries though graduated from the university only three months ago.

China, Turkey, Norway and Canada are the foreign lands that have been invaded by men who not so long ago frequented the steps of the engineering building, defying their traditional enemies, the lawyers, across the campus.

Practically every section of the country is represented by the 16 states that are now the addresses of scores of civil, chemical, electrical, and mining engineers who are doing everything from mopping turbine rooms to structural steel work.

The electrical engineers have a large representation taking the student courses with the General Electric company in Schenectady while public service corporations, electrical concerns, telephone companies and power organizations claim a large number of Wisconsin alumni.

COLUMBIA, Mo. — A violin which was carried through the Civil war, first by a Union officer and then by a Confederate mountaineer and which has been played in concert halls and in mountain cabins, is now in the possession of a co-ed at the University of Missouri. Last summer while visiting in the Blue Ridge mountains, a man 86 years old gave her the violin.

DE LONGE DISPLAYS JUNIOR ACTIVITIES

Second Series of Photos Show Leaders and Events of Class of '26

The second of a series of photographic displays intended to awaken the interest of students in important affairs of the campus will consist of pictures of the juniors who are candidates for class officers and pictures portraying the big junior activity, the Badger, and prom. These photographs will be placed on display by the DeLonge studio late this afternoon in the window of the store west of their establishment.

The aim of the series is to show events of the university and people on the campus who are builders of the spirit of "On Wisconsin." This is expressed in the caption at the top of the display. Beneath this is the word "forward" representing the spirit of the class of '26, and photographs representing the Badger and the prom, outstanding junior activities.

To the left and right of this central grouping are the photographs of the candidates of both tickets for class officers. From each photograph a colored ribbon leads to a name on the ticket below, making it possible to see just who is running for each office.

In the middle at the bottom of the layout is a large question mark. The display is artistically made up in red and white with suitable frames for all the photographs. It is absolutely non-partisan.

ENGLISH BIBLE HAS HIGH LITERARY VALUE

"I wonder how many students realize the wealth of literary value that lies in the English bible or recognize a small percent of the biblical allusions in English literature," asks Prof. H. B. Lathrop, teacher of the course in English bible study, known as English 48.

This course has been offered by the English department for 20 years, the first class being made up of not more than a dozen students. The enrollment has been steadily increasing, that of the last semester reaching 41.

Pupils of every division of the university are represented. Study is confined mostly to the Old Testament, emphasizing the stories of heroism in the earlier books and the depth of poetic feeling of the later writings. Many portions, especially from the Psalms, are memorized.

The date, 1650, is carved within the box of the violin.

HOME EC WOMEN DO ACTUAL WORK

Practice Ideas Learned in Class Room Concerning Manage- ment of the Home

In a small, white cottage at the foot of the hill on which the Home Economics building stands, five women, all taking the Course in Home Economics, are getting practical experience each week in the management of the home. The five students live at the house and do all the work from Monday noon until Saturday noon.

At the beginning of the week they rearrange all the furniture to suit their tastes. This floor plan forms part of their report at the end of the week. Besides cooking and cleaning, they launder all the household linen. In order to gain experience in social responsibilities, a semi-formal dinner for guests is given every Thursday evening, and a tea is held on Friday afternoon. A time study and a cost study is kept by each woman and form a part of her weekly report.

The work at this cottage is under the supervision of Miss Bernice Dodge, an instructor in the Course in Home Economics. Before graduation each woman taking the course is required to spend one week in this practice cottage.

STATE COLLECTS $7,000,000 FEES

First Ten Months Brings in Huge Motor License Fees

Nearly $7,000,000 has been collected during the first ten months of the present year from motor vehicle license fees, according to the annual report of the automobile division of the secretary of state's office. This represents an increase of $3,000,000 over collections last year.

Collections during the ten months totalled $6,751,430.89, the report declares.

The growth of the motor license work in the state is shown, it is pointed out, by the fact that in 1905, the state collected $1,492 from motor license fees, compared with the nearly $7,000,000 this year. In 1906, only $1,774 was collected from this source.

The growth in numbers of vehicles also is shown by the fact that the first year recorded, there were 1,492 registrations, compared with 530,377 during the first ten months of this year.

In 1906 1,174 cars were registered, in 1907, 1,481 and collections amounted to $2,704; in 1908, 2,045 cars and fees, $3,075; in 1909, 3,040 cars and $4,708 in fees; in 1910 5,979 cars and $18,338 in fees. The subsequent growth in the motor industry is indicated by the following tabulation of registration and fees.

Year	Vehicles	Fees
1911	6,152	$20,189

CHAMPION OF WOMEN'S RIGHTS TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. Carrie Chapmar Catt, who was probably the most prominent woman in the recent fight for women's rights in politics, will speak on "Men, Women and Politics," at 4:30 o'clock, November 12, in the University armory, at a public university convocation under the auspices of the Dane County League of Women Voters. Mrs. Catt spent seven months of last year in traveling through South America organizing women there into leagues for securing women's rights. The public at large is invited to attend the meeting.

MAY ROBSON HERE IN OWN PRODUCTION

Will Show at Parkway Satur- day in "Something Tells Me"

Among the dramatic offerings for the coming season is that of May Robson, whom Augustus Pitou, Inc., will present at the Parkway theater on Saturday, November 1st, for two performances in her newest offering, "Something Tells Me," written by Miss Robson. "Something Tells Me" has no overdrawn characters, no unheard of situations, nothing in the whole play which could not occur in any place in the world and several of the most interesting situations are founded on facts.

Miss Robson, as "Jane Meredith," is just a facsimile of women you meet every day whose good nature is always predominant and to all who know her, she is perfect.

A delightful love story runs through the play and "Jane" finds that love is worth all the money in the world. Miss Robson is supported by an excellent cast.

RADICALS RESULT FROM CONDITIONS

Miss Clara Taylor, Grad, Tells Women of Y. W. C. A. Industrial Group

"Radicals are not born, but made by the conditions that surround them, so we should condemn the system that produces radicals, and not the individuals," said Miss Clara Taylor, grad, director of the Bryn Mawr summer school for industrial girls, before a meeting of the student-industrial group at the Y. W. C. A. last night.

The Bryn Mawr summer school gives to 100 girls working in industries over the entire country a formal education so that they may understand the fundamental economic problems and have a broader cultural life. Girls from the western coast learn to appreciate the problems and attitude of the industrial girls in the east in her vastly different environment. Last year these girls represented 22 trades.

The first experiment at Wisconsin in higher education for girls in industry was tried last summer, when eight girls working in Madison attended the Summer Session. They lived in Barnard hall.

Fritz said today, that she choked her 2-weeks-old baby to death. George Tobias, her husband, was held to a grand jury three months ago on a charge of assault and battery after neighbors told the police they found Mrs. Tobias lying in the yard of their home, apparently having been beaten.

Ascertain Posture Defects By Means of Silhouettograph

"Already, now please hold that position for one minute. There, that was fine," and the subject breathed a sigh of relief.

It might be a scene with a photographer; it might be the request of a rotogravure reporter; it might be—but—just now it is the favorite occupation of members of the women's department of physical education as they "shoot victims" by means of the silhouettograph for the first time.

A silhouettograph, nothing more or less than a camera, has just been installed on the fifth floor of Lathrop hall. This machine will be used in obtaining posture tracings and back contours in physical examinations. It does all that the schematograph did and more, being equipped with an ingenious device whereby the area of the negative exposed can be increased until it includes the entire five by seven plate, or decreased to one twenty-fourth of that size.

The silhouettograph is made by casting a brilliant light behind a white screen against which the subject stands, and then merely photographing. Grades of posture are thus obtained. In an ordinary examination three such exposures are taken. To obtain a photograph of the back, the spinous processes being marked, a black screen is dropped in front of the white one and the light is radiated from in front. From a study of a photograph of this kind it is possible to classify the case and to determine the type of exercise desirable.

Two minutes are required for the development of the silhouettogram. "There is no discrepancy in the result thus obtained as is possible with the schematograph, for the camera takes just what is there," said Miss Waterman of the corrective department.

The silhouettograph has been in use at Harvard university for the past two or three years. At present it is also in use at Smith college and the University of Minnesota. Although the initial cost of installation is rather large the upkeep is almost negligible.

REQUESTS FARMERS TO GROW OWN PEA SEED

E. J. Delwiche who is in charge of the upper Wisconsin branch experiment stations for the College of Agriculture, makes the significant statement that Wisconsin pea growers are going to face a shortage of seed next year when they come to plant their pea crop.

Delwiche claims that it is now time for the Wisconsin farmers to grow their own seed since dry weather has hit the seed crop of the past season in Montana, Idaho, and Washington.

Because Wisconsin's principle sources of seed are reduced it is necessary that the farmers raise their own. Delwiche advises those

DR. ELY GOES TO WASHINGTON MEET

Will Speak to Representatives of Land Colleges on Agri- culture Future

Dr. Richard T. Ely of the economics department has gone to Washington where he will address a convention of Land Grant Colleges and Experiment stations on "Land Valuation and Its Agricultural Future," at the New Willard hotel on Nov. 13.

Dr. Ely recently returned from a tour of inspection of Montana farm lands. A party consisting of Dr. Ely, Prof. B. H. Hibbard, Dr. George S. Wehrwein and Prof. M. L. Wilson made this tour during the first two weeks of the month, with the object of studying properties which the Fairway Farms corporation intends to buy or lease. The aim of this corporation is to help men from farm tenancy to ownership.

The itinerary included Minneapolis, Minn., Fargo, N. D., and Sydney, Bainesville, and Culbertson, Mont.

A basket social will be held in the Estes school Thursday evening. L. A. Gordon will be the speaker of the evening. Estes school is about ix miles east from the square on highway 30.
