Badgers Return Home on a Roll

Wisconsin (7-0, 4-0 Big Ten) hosts Northwestern (3-3, 2-1) today, at 81,318-seat Camp Randall Stadium (Field Turf). Kickoff is set for 11:02 a.m. CDT.

The game will be televised live by ESPN (Mark Jones, Bob Davie and Holly Rowe). Wisconsin Public Television (Mike Heller and Scott Nelson) will air the game on a tape delay basis at 10 p.m. on Saturday.

The game also can be heard live on the 46-city Wisconsin Radio Network (Matt Lepay and Mike Lucas). WIBA (1310 AM, 101.5 FM) is the rightsholder in Madison.

Saturday will be Homecoming for the Badgers, who are ranked sixth in the latest Associated Press Top 25 Poll and seventh according to the ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll.

Wisconsin improved to 7-0 overall and 4-0 in Big Ten play after erasing a 17-7 fourth-quarter deficit and defeating fifth-ranked Purdue on the road. DB Scott Starks' 40-yard fumble recovery for a TD with 2:36 left to play was the difference.

The Wisconsin defense, which ranks No. 1 in the country in scoring and No. 2 in the nation in total defense, held Purdue to just 17 points, 24.8 points below its season average entering the game.

Northwestern, which did not play last Saturday, has won two straight games (over Ohio State and Indiana), both at home and in over-time.

UW vs. Northwestern Series Info

- Wisconsin leads the all-time series 53-31-5 ... the Badgers have dropped their last two meetings with Northwestern and have not defeated the Wildcats since 1999 (the two schools did not play each other in 2001 or 2002) ... NU won last year's meeting 16-7 in Evanston ... UW is 6-6 against the Wildcats during the Alvarez era ... Wisconsin is 4-1 all-time against NU when the Badgers are ranked in the top 10 nationally ... the winner of the UW-Northwestern game has won at least a share of the Big Ten title six times since 1993

Still Standing

UW has started the season with seven straight wins for only the second time since 1912. UW's only other 7-0 start since 1912 was in 1998. The only three 8-0 starts in Badger history were: 1998, 1901 and 1897. Wisconsin joins USC, Oklahoma, Auburn, Miami (Fla.), Utah and Boise State as the only undefeated Division I teams left this season.

Badgering D

Wisconsin leads the nation in scoring defense (8.0 ppg) and is No. 2 in total defense (222.4 ypg). The Badgers' five touchdowns allowed this season are the fewest in the nation. Here's where the UW ranks nationally in several defensive categories ...

Category	Avg.	NCAA
Scoring	8.0 ppg	1st
Total	222.4 ypg	2nd
Pass Effic.	88.45	3rd
Passing Yds.	141.9 ypg	4th
Rushing	80.6 ypg	8th

Play of the Game

DB Scott Starks, whose 40-yard fumble return for a TD with 2:36 to play provided the winning margin for Wisconsin last Saturday at Purdue, was named the Walter Camp

Wide receiver Brandon Williams had seven catches for 84 yards vs. Purdue last week and leads the Badgers with 20 receptions this season.

Football Foundation National Defensive Player of the Week. Starks' play also is under consideration this week as the Pontiac Game Changing Performance. Finally, Starks was named the Big Ten Defensive Player of the Week.

Among the Best

The Badgers moved up to No. 6 in the Associated Press poll and No. 7 in the ESPN/USA Today coaches poll. Wisconsin has not been ranked as high as sixth by the AP since it was No. 4 on Sept. 10, 2000. UW has not been ranked as high as No. 7 by the coaches since it was sixth on Sept. 17, 2000.

In the first BCS standings, released this week, Wisconsin was sixth behind USC, Miami, Oklahoma, Auburn and Florida State. Purdue and Michigan are also in the top 15 of the BCS rankings.

Making Plays

QB John Stocco has completed 32-56 (.571) passes for 371 yards, three TDs and one interception the past two games (wins at Ohio State and Purdue). Stocco engineered comeback victories in both of those games, including a seven-play, 73-yard scoring drive that took just 2:31 late in the fourth quarter at Purdue. That drive allowed the Badgers to pull within 17-14 with 5:29 remaining to play.

Streaking

UW has won back-to-back road games over top-20 ranked opponents the past two weeks for the first time in school history.

Wisconsin's victory at Purdue last Saturday was its third come-from-behind win on the road this season. The Badgers' 10-point deficit at Purdue was the largest fourth-quarter lead they have erased since trailing Northern Illinois 17-3 in the final stanza of an 18-17 win in 1992.

UW's win at Ohio State was its third straight in Columbus. UW is the first team to do that since Illinois won four straight at OSU between 1988-94. It is the first time in UW history that the Badgers have won three straight in Columbus.

Head Coach Barry Alvarez

- guided UW to back-to-back Big Ten titles in 1998 and 1999 (hadn't happened at Wisconsin since 1896-97)
- bowl record of 7-2 (.778)
- coached the three winningest teams in school history

When Alvarez arrived in Madison in 1990, Wisconsin had compiled a 9-36 record during the previous four seasons and attendance at Camp Randall Stadium had dipped to an average of 41,734 per game (54 percent of capacity). The program sorely needed a boost and got it when new Director of Athletics Pat Richter hired Alvarez from Notre Dame, where he had been an assistant coach under Lou Holtz.

Alvarez's coaching career began at the high school level. He served as an assistant at Lincoln (Neb.) Northeast High from 1971-73 before taking over as head coach at Lexington (Neb.) High from 1974-75. His last prep coaching stop was at Mason City (Iowa) High

100 victories at one conference institution

- has coached five national award winners, including Ron Dayne (Heisman, Doak Walker, Maxwell), Jamar Fletcher (Jim Thorpe) and Kevin Stemke (Ray Guy)

Barry Alvarez, the winningest football coach in Wisconsin history, has completed 14 seasons at the head of the program he transformed from a perennial second-division finisher to one that is nationally respected and is a fixture on the postseason bowl scene.

Alvarez, whose overall record with the Badgers is 99-67-4, became Wisconsin's Director of Athletics in April of 2004. He is one of just two people (UAB's Watson Brown) at the Division I level who serves as head football coach and athletic director.

Alvarez's list of accomplishments at Wisconsin is remarkable. Consider just a few of the most notable ...

- winningest coach in school history
- coached three Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions
- only Big Ten coach ever to win the Rose Bowl in consecutive seasons
- needs one win to become just the 10th coach in Big Ten history with where he was head coach from 1976-78 and where his team won a 4A state title in his final year.

Iowa's Hayden Fry hired Alvarez as an assistant coach in 1979. The Hawkeyes played in six bowl games (two Rose Bowls) during Alvarez's eight years in Iowa City, compiling a 61-33-1 mark in the process. Alvarez's stand-out player with the Hawkeyes was LB Larry Station, a two-time All-American and two-time Academic All-American.

Alvarez left Iowa after the 1986 season to become linebackers coach at Notre Dame. He was promoted (linebackers to defensive coordinator to assistant head coach) by Holtz each of his three seasons as the Fighting Irish went 32-5 and won the 1988 national title. While in South Bend, Alvarez coached All-America linebackers Michael Stonebreaker, Ned Bolcar, Cedric Figaro and Wes Pritchett.

Alvarez grew up in Langeloth, Pa., a small town among the coal mines and steel mills in western Pennsylvania. He starred as a prep linebacker and went on to play at Nebraska (1965-67) for legendary head coach Bob Devaney. Alvarez was the leading tackler for the 1967 Cornhuskers, who led the nation in total defense and created a school-record 40 turnovers. Alvarez played in both the Sugar and Orange Bowls at Nebraska (the Cornhuskers were 25-7 during his three varsity seasons). Alvarez earned his bachelor's degree in 1969 and added a master's degree in 1971, both from Nebraska.

Alvarez's family includes his wife Cindy, daughters Dawn (Mrs. Brad Ferguson) and Stacy (Mrs. Mike Delzer), son Chad, grandsons Joe and Jake Ferguson, Jackson Delzer and granddaughter Grace Delzer.

Chancellor John D. Wiley

There are few things that I enjoy more than seeing the faces of our loyal fans as they cheer

Wisconsin to victory at Camp Randall Stadium. Your loyalty and dedication makes any Badger athletics event a truly special occasion.

We have many victories and championships to celebrate and remember, and, more importantly, our student-athletes earn more academic honors than any other university in the Big Ten. We are proud that our coaches, staff and student-athletes have represented the university and the state with class and dignity.

Athletics has always been an important avenue for the university to connect with its alumni and friends. I am committed to helping ensure that our teams achieve the highest standards of excellence, not only in performance, but also integrity, values and character.

John D. Wiley

Chancellor John D. Wiley received his bachelor's degree in physics from Indiana University in 1964. He attended graduate school at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and received master's and doctoral degrees in physics in 1965 and 1968, respectively. He joined the technical staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N.J., from 1968 to 1974, and then spent a year at the Max Planck Institute in Stuttgart, Germany, as a recipient of the Alexander von Humboldt Senior U.S. Service Award for Research and Teaching.

Wiley joined the UW-Madison faculty in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering in 1975. His research and teaching focused on a variety of topics related to semiconductors and other materials, and processes important to the electronics field. He is a co-founder of several highly successful research centers, including the Center for X-ray Lithography and the Engineering Research Center for Plasma-Aided Manufacturing. From 1982 to 1986, he chaired the Materials Science Program, a graduate-level, interdepartmental-committee program for master's and doctoral degrees.

From 1986 to 1989, Wiley served as associate dean for research in the College of Engineering, with oversight responsibility for all aspects of graduate study, grant submission, agency liaison, research infrastructure and centers, and technology transfer. From 1989 to 1994, he was dean of the UW-Madison Graduate School and the university's senior research officer.

Prior to his appointment to the university's top position, Wiley served as provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs, which carries the responsibility of chief operating officer and deputy chancellor. As provost, he worked closely with deans, faculty, academic staff and student committees in the exercise of shared governance and the overall management of the institution.

Wiley was named UW-Madison's 7th chancellor on January 1, 2001. As chancellor, he has aimed to enhance the university's role in creating a new, more viable economic future for Wisconsin while opening avenues to innovation and learning. He also has worked to amplify the Wisconsin Idea—the belief that the boundaries of the campus are the boundaries of the state and beyond—and to build on the research and teaching strengths that have made the university so rich in accomplishment and tradition.

Wiley has presided over unprecedented growth on the west side of the campus, which is being transformed into one of the nation's great health-sciences centers. He also has mapped an east-side redevelopment that will create a vibrant arts-and-humanities district to anchor the lower State Street area, with an expanded Elvehjem Museum of Art, new classroom buildings and additional music-performance space. Wiley believes that the arts and humanities are an integral component of the research enterprise.

"Nurturing an environment of creativity—encompassing industry, the arts and individual expression—is important for attracting and keeping these very mobile, highly sought, knowledge-based workers within our borders," Wiley says.

The chancellor has been a leader in efforts to expand on-campus student housing to meet demand, stem high-risk drinking and integrate athletics into the mainstream of university life. Wiley has reached out to the private sector by creating the Office of Corporate Relations to serve the increasing needs of the business community and to help build a more prosperous Wisconsin economy.

"The Wisconsin Idea offers a shared medium through which we can help the state achieve its maximum potential as a participant in a world economy that embraces learning and the advancement of knowledge as much as it does material production," he says.

Jamie Pollard Deputy Athletic Director

Jamie Pollard was named deputy athletic director for the UW-Madison in 2003 and serves as the No. 2 administrator in the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics. He is responsible for the overall administration of the Badgers' 13-sport, $60 million athletic department and represents Barry Alvarez at all national, conference and university meetings when necessary.

Prior to being named deputy athletic director, Pollard served as the division's chief financial officer and senior associate athletic director. He developed a comprehensive strategic financial plan ("Keeping Big Red in the Black") that increased the division's operating reserve to $7 million and allowed the university to move forward on the $107 million renovation of Camp Randall Stadium. He also assisted with the development of the school's inaugural preferential seating program that is generating more than $9 million annually for the athletic program and he helped negotiate a multi-year, multi-million dollar contract for media and marketing rights that is the largest collegiate contract in the country.

Pollard has been the sports administrator for the men's and women's basketball programs since 2001-02 and served as the Tournament Manager when the UW hosted the 2002 NCAA Men's Basketball Midwest Regional.

In the fall of 2003, Pollard was selected by Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal as a recipient of its "Top Forty Under 40" Award. It is given annually to the 40 most influential and creative individuals in sports under the age of 40. Pollard is the first college sports administrator honored by the magazine. Pollard is the president for the Collegiate Athletic Business Managers Association (CABMA) and was chosen by his peers as the 2002 Business Manager of the Year.

Pollard is the campus chair of the Partners in Giving campaign that benefits more than 300 non-profit organizations. He led the 2003 campaign for the Athletic Department, which resulted in a 100 percent increase in participants and a 78 percent increase in contributions.

His other intercollegiate administration experience came as associate athletic director for administration at Maryland (1994-98) and associate athletic director for internal operations at St. Louis (1989-94).

Pollard, the 1987 NCAA Division III national champion in the 5,000-meter run and a two time Division III All-American, has a B.S. degree in business administration from UW-Oshkosh (1987). Pollard and his wife, Ellen, have four children, (Thomas, Annie, Maggie and James).

Cheryl Bailey Sports Admin.

Cheryl Bailey is in her 15th year at UW-Madison and third as senior associate AD for sports administration.

Bailey is also the school's senior woman administrator for the Big Ten and NCAA. She supervises a number of Badger sports and the compliance department. Bailey is the direct administrator for men's and women's hockey.

Bailey was hired in 1990 at the UW as an associate AD for women's athletics. She completed a four-year term (two as chair) with the NCAA Women's Basketball Committee in 2004, and is in the midst of a four-year term (2002-05) on NACDA's Executive Committee.

The former director of athletics for women's sports at Denison (1983-90), Bailey served that school as an assistant professor and women's soccer (11 years) and track (nine) coach. Bailey has a B.S. degree from Slippery Rock State (1977) and an M.A. from Ohio State (1983). She has three children: Kelly, Kenny and Peter.

Doug Beard Administration

Doug Beard, a college sports administrator in the state of Wisconsin since 1987, is in his second season on the UW's senior-level administrative team as associate athletic director for administration. Beard supervises the budget and finance, event management, food and beverage service, human resources and sports medicine units.

Beard joined the UW staff in 2001 as assistant AD for event management as well as helping administer the department's internal operations. He was promoted to associate AD in 2002. Before coming to Wisconsin, Beard worked at UW-Milwaukee from 1989-2001 and UW-Stout from 1987-89.

Beard, originally from Kennebunkport, Maine, has a B.S. degree in business administration from New Hampshire (1985) and an M.A. degree in athletic administration from Kent State (1987). His wife's name is Patricia and his stepdaughter is Lindsay.

John Chadima Operations

John Chadima began serving as the department's associate AD for operations in 2003. He is in charge of managing capital projects, including the renovation of Camp Randall Stadium, and supervising the facilities, maintenance and strength and conditioning staffs. He is the department liaison with University Ridge Golf Course and continues to supervise the administrative operations of the football program.

Chadima was previously the director of football operations (2000-03) where he was responsible for coordinating team travel, scheduling and maintaining the sport's multi-million dollar budget. Chadima had similar duties from 1990-97 as the team's administrative assistant. He was the UW's director of facilities and events from 1997-2000.

Chadima has a B.S. degree (1988) in physical education with an emphasis in athletic administration from Iowa. He also studied in the master's programs at both Iowa and Wisconsin.

Our spicy cheese queso isn't just for chips anymore.

Our spicy 3-Cheese Queso is a delicious dip. But it makes an even better burrito. Conduct Code

In order to keep Wisconsin football games as enjoyable as possible for our fans and their families, we ask that you respect others around you. If a ticket holder's conduct endangers or disrupts players, coaches, officials or other patrons, the University reserves the right to remove the ticket holder from the premises. No refund will be made in such cases. Stadium violations (body passing, throwing objects, and possession of alcohol 21 or older) and object passing may result in a $181 fine.

Smoke-Free Facility

Smoking is prohibited in all state-owned buildings, including Camp Randall Stadium. Designated smoking areas are located within the stadium perimeter.

Entry / No Re-entry

Please enter the gate printed on your ticket to allow for the most efficient entry to the stadium. Gates open 90 minutes prior to kick off. Fans may not leave the stadium and then re-enter during the game. If an emergency arises, check with gate security.

Stadium Renovation

Camp Randall Stadium, the fourth-oldest college football stadium in the country, is in the midst of a $107 million renovation project that will fully conclude in 2005. The project will include:

- increased seating capacity to 80,112 (in 2005);
- creation of new and wider concourses to provide safe and convenient fan access;
- renovation of old (and addition of new) restrooms throughout the facility;
- installation of three video replay boards plus improved sound and lighting systems;
- addition of private suite and club-level seating areas on the east side of the stadium;
- construction of a new ticket office with convenient on-site parking
- development of a consolidated office building for athletic department staff
- expansion of accessible facilities for disabled fans and visitors.

Three levels of suites and club seats were added to the east side of the stadium, along with permanent lighting for late afternoon and night games.

The one at the north end of the stadium (left) is 50 feet wide and 170 feet long and boasts two 23-by-44-foot ProStar video replay boards. The one in the southeast corner (right) is affixed to the new five-story athletic department office building and features a 13-by-23-foot replay board.

The south end of the stadium has been closed in, creating a complete bowl. In the left corner of the photo you can see the top of the five-story athletic department office building.

FOREVER SPORT

Focus is on Health, Fitness with Badgers in Training

Bucky Badger says it's never too early to learn about health and fitness and he invites Badgers of all ages, shapes and sizes to "Badgers in Training: Health and Fitness for Families." Kids and parents alike can benefit from learning about healthy living and seeing those principles in action through Badger student-athletes and Wisconsin athletics.

Participants can watch the Badgers on the grass, the ice and the basketball court and learn how to reach the top of their game from sports and fitness specialists. Kids can brush up on athletic skills in sport-specific clinics led by staff from the UW Health Sports Medicine Center and adults can learn about injury prevention in youth athletics.

Kids 18 and under will be admitted free to all Badgers in Training events.

Schedule of events

Men's soccer, Friday, Oct. 22, 7 p.m.
(gates open at 6 p.m.)
McClimon Soccer Complex

Bring the whole family to watch the Badger men take on Michigan in this Big Ten match. At 6:15 p.m., kids grades K-8 can join in a free soccer skills clinic offered by UW Health Sports Medicine Center staff. Meanwhile, adults can attend a presentation on injury prevention for youth soccer players by Dr. Thomas Best, team physician for UW Men's soccer and hockey. During intermission, a "Badger Brain-Teaser" quiz will test kids' health smarts, with prizes awarded. Adult admission is $5, kids 18 and under admitted free.

Kids' Day at the Kohl,
Friday, Oct. 29, 11-2 p.m.
(Wisconsin public schools in-service day)
Kohl Center

No, tricks, but plenty of treats are in store at this pre-Halloween bash. Meet Badger coaches, student-athletes, and get your picture taken with Bucky. Kids' Day at the Kohl offers loads of fun, from interactive games and activities to locker-room tours and a chance to hang out with the Badgers. Immediately after activities for Kids' Day at the Kohl wrap-up, the action will hit the ice when the women's hockey team takes on St. Cloud State at 2:05 p.m. Kids will have the chance to perform game-day duties, like running the scoreboard, playing the music and reporting on the game from media row. Admission is free to all the day's activities.

Basketball double-header,
Sunday, Nov. 7, noon (doors open at 11 a.m.)
Kohl Center

Badger women get the ball moving at noon in an exhibition game against Wisconsin AAU, a select group of former Badgers and professional players. More hoops action starts at 3 p.m. when the Badger men present an intrasquad scrimmage. During the women's half-time, staff from UW Health will demonstrate basketball skills and drills and attendees can pick up a free poster after the men's scrimmage for an autograph session with the players. Basketball fanatics in attendance at the double-header will receive a special DVD with information on basketball drills, conditioning, injury prevention and nutrition for peak performance. Adult admission to the exhibition game is $7; kids 18 and under admitted free.

Badgers in Training is sponsored by the Campus Information and Visitor Center, the UW Athletics Department and UW Health Sports Medicine. Registration for the pre-game skills clinic at the Oct. 22 soccer match is recommended but not required. Registered attendees are guaranteed clinic admission. To register, call (608) 265-2100 or e-mail gobucky@athletics.wisc.edu.

For more information on Badgers in Training, contact the Campus Information and Visitor Center at (608) 263-2400 or visit www.uwbadgers.com.

OK, smartypants. Test your knowledge of Badger football trivia at www.redcarpet.wisc.edu.

Take the Red Carpet Trivia Challenge each time there's a home football game and become eligible to win prizes. Five winners will be selected from all correct entries received by noon on the Wednesday following each home game. Winners will receive a Red Carpet Tee, cap and other fan merchandise. If you're not selected you can still win. All correct entries received will be entered into a drawing for a grand prize on Nov. 10 (after the last home game). Go to redcarpet.wisc.edu to take the challenge and find the answers to past challenges.

This week's challenge:

Q: What was the score of Wisconsin's most one-sided victory in the program's 115-year history?

One entry per e-mail address per game. More than one entry from any e-mail address will void all entries from that person or e-mail address. Winners will be notified by e-mail.

Volleyball

The Badgers wrap up the first half of the Big Ten Conference season with two matches in the state of Michigan. Wisconsin (11-5, 5-3 Big Ten) took on Michigan State (6-10, 1-7) last night in Jensen Field House on the MSU campus. Tonight, the Badgers travel to Ann Arbor, Mich., for a match against the Wolverines (14-5, 4-4). First serve is at 6 p.m. in Cliff Keen Arena.

The Badgers are coming off their first Big Ten sweep of the season with wins over Indiana and Purdue this past weekend. Wisconsin moved into tie for fourth place in the league with the wins.

Men's Hockey

Wisconsin (2-0-0, 0-0-0 WCHA) opens league play when Michigan Tech (0-2-0, 0-2-0 WCHA) visits for games this weekend. Wisconsin is 16-2-0 in its last 18 meetings against Michigan Tech.

Wisconsin, which scored 11 goals last weekend in its two games vs. Mercyhurst, scored 10 or more goals in a weekend only once last season. The UW collected 14 goals Nov. 7-8, 2003 at Michigan Tech.

Women's Hockey

The women's hockey team (4-0-0, 4-0-0 WCHA) heads out on the road for a Friday-Saturday series against Ohio State (3-1-0, 2-0-0). Wisconsin leads the all-time series 16-2-5. The Buckeyes are looking for their first victory over the Badgers in the OSU Ice Rink, as Wisconsin is 7-0-3 in Columbus, Ohio.

Wisconsin has scored 31 goals in four games to start the season — 11 more goals than any other start in Wisconsin's history.

Men's Soccer

After splitting a pair of games last weekend, the Badgers returned to Madison for a conference match-up against No. 22 Michigan (8-4-2, 0-2-0 Big Ten) last night.

Senior tri-captain Nick Van Sicklen was named National Player of the Week by College Soccer News on Oct. 11 after scoring five of Wisconsin's six goals against UW-Milwaukee and Penn State and assisting the sixth.

Women's Soccer

The women's soccer team (11-4-1, 5-4-1 Big Ten) will close out its season with four non-conference matches, beginning this week against UW-Milwaukee at 3 p.m. Thursday in Milwaukee and UW-Green Bay at 1 p.m. tomorrow at McClimon Soccer Complex.

Robbie Earl scored the game-winner in the third period on Friday then added two assists on Saturday as UW swept its season-opening series with Mercyhurst last weekend.

UW extended its season when it beat Michigan State on Oct. 15 to clinch a spot in the Big Ten tournament, which runs Nov. 4-7 in Columbus, Ohio.

Men's & Women's Tennis

Having wrapped up competition at the Michigan Invitational last week, the men's tennis team heads back to Ann Arbor, Mich., this week as it takes part in the ITA Midwest Regional Championships, Oct. 21-26.

Three members of the Wisconsin women's tennis team traveled to Minneapolis on Thursday to compete in the ITA Midwest Regional Championships. The competition runs through Tuesday, Oct. 26.

Men's & Women's Swimming/Diving

After a one-week break, the men's and women's swimming and diving teams will head to Iowa City, Iowa for a dual meet against the Hawkeyes. Competition began yesterday and continue through today.

The women defeated Iowa 172-87 last year, while the men won 172-116.

Olympic swimmers Adam Mania and Carly Piper are expected to return to the lineup after missing the first dual meet for the FINA World Swimming Championships in Indianapolis.

Men's Rowing

Wisconsin opens the 2004-05 season with a trip to the world's largest two-day rowing event, the Head of the Charles, this weekend in Boston.

Wisconsin placed 10th in the championship eight and ninth in the championship four at least year's Head of the Charles.

Each week in the Badger Gameday Program, senior defensive back Scott Starks will give us an inside look at what it's like to be a UW football student-athlete. Starks is a four-year starter for the Badgers and is third in career pass breakups at UW with 51. He is also a two-time Academic All-Big Ten honoree and was named to the CoSIDA Academic All-District 5 team in 2002.

This season he has been one of the catalysts of a Badger defense that leads the country in scoring defense. He leads the team with nine pass breakups, is tied for third on the squad with 32 tackles and has added two fumble recoveries (one for a touchdown) and an interception.

Emotions

Most grown men are afraid to show their emotions. We feel as if only women are allowed to do so. I hope this does not make me sound soft, but the long trip to Purdue brought out some emotions in me.

First, the long bus ride gave me time to reminisce. The bus ride reminded me of my first years playing football. Every year, my JFL (Junior Football League) team would go to nationals in either Georgia or Florida. And every year we only raised enough money to take one bus to our destination. I would always try to sit next to the cute cheerleader in the back of the bus. Yes, that does sound exactly like something a guy would do, but that's how I was when I was a youngster.

But as I thought about these earlier moments, it brought me to the realization that I do not know how many more football games I will have the opportunity to play in. It made me almost enjoy the five-hour trip ...

even though the cute cheerleader was replaced by Tony Paciotti and Dan Buening.

When I first began playing ball, I thought I would play forever. Now that I'm getting older and more mature, I realize that it will end some day. I am thankful for every moment so far.

One would think that after a win like the one we had on Saturday, there would be no tears in the Badger locker room. But there were several tears from me. Yes, I cried and I'm not afraid to admit it.

The tears of joy that I expressed stemmed from a few things. The most important reason is that I can't and never will understand why God loves me so much. He could have chose anyone to recover that fumble in the end but He chose me. Some people may call it luck, but luck doesn't pop the ball out millimeters before a guy hits the ground and places the ball at a stand still right in front of me. I believe that was definitely God.

Next, I realized how much I loved every person in that locker room. Not to mention my family that drove to the game to sit out in the cold and watch me. Ed, Ed II and Angela Starks without a doubt love me. But getting back to the guys in the locker room, each one of those guys put it all on the line for me, and I put it all on the line for them. I remember Jimmy L (Jim Leonhard) hugging me like a blood brother and saying, "I love you man!" I could tell he meant it.

The last reason the tears appeared was because Alvey (Coach Alvarez) always tells us to "not be afraid to show your emotions," and "don't be afraid to tell people you love them. At that moment, I just felt a lot of love from God, my family, the fans, my teammates and coaches. And I was not afraid to express my love and emotions.

Scott Starks was named the Big Ten Defensive Player of the Week after recording nine tackles, an interception and returning a Kyle Orton fumble for the game-winning touchdown with 2:36 remaining last Saturday in the Badgers' 20-17 win at Purdue.

Every boy dreams of scoring the game-winning touchdown.
They also dream that the right person sees it.

At American Family Insurance, we know that most boys who strap on the pads don't end up winning the national title, but they do all learn a few lessons. Like how to run a down-and-in. How to pick up a blitz. And how to play until the final whistle is blown. When you play sports, you don't just learn how to be a better athlete, but a better person. And as a network of agents dedicated to teamwork and taking care of people, we're proud to sponsor athletes of all ages — no matter what drives them to succeed. WE BELIEVE IN THE POWER OF SPORT.

If you were President of the United States, what initiatives would you execute?

#21 Levonne Rowan, Jr., DB

There's a lot of things I would do, including end the war. I also would try to give money to the poor and reduce taxes for them. Anything to help the poor, I would do. On the lighter side, I'd like to throw out the first pitch at baseball games.

done. There are people out there that we could some day help with a little research. I just don't see the point of not conducting (as much) research when it could be done.

#4 Chuckie Cowans, Sr., DB

If I were President, I'd like to try to help out the homeless—get them off the streets, feed them and get them back to the way they used to be before they became homeless. I would set up programs to get that started and help them out. You see these people on the streets, and you know they didn't live like that at first. I always want to give back by helping others out. To me, giving is everything.

#43 Andy Crooks, Fr., LB

I'd like to see some of the jobs overseas moved to the United States. People here deserve those jobs. Also, I'd be very adamant in protecting the rights of the second amendment (right to bear arms). I believe strongly in it. I've always hunted, and I believe people should have the right to bear arms. If we took that away, then only criminals would be the ones with guns.

#75 Morgan Davis, Sr., OL

Pay college football players. Some states have already been trying to get that rule passed. We put in long hours, and sometimes that scholarship check isn't enough (to get by). It doesn't even have to be a lot. I took a class with a professor who was on the athletic board. She figured out that with the minimum hours we put in each week, we only get around $1.20 an hour. That's pretty low pay for the value we provide others at this university.

#24 LaMarr Watkins, Jr., LB

My first initiative would be to stop the flow of troops going to Iraq and start bringing them home instead. I personally know some people that are about to go over there, and they're really scared. Some presence in Iraq is fine, but we don't need thousands of troops there. We need to let their government start taking control of their country. In addition, I'd like see more stem cell research being costs, that's wrong. Everyone should have a chance for a college education.

#72 Joe Thomas, So., OL

I want to see national parks protected. It's important to me because I spend a lot of my free time camping, fishing and hunting. It's important for Americans to have a natural setting to go to and get away from the cities. I also would like to see if we could add some more national parks.

In each game program this season, we will be running an excerpt from the new book Third Down and a War to Go: The All-American 1942 Wisconsin Badgers, written by Terry Frei and published by the Wisconsin Historical Society Press. The book chronicles the 1942 Badger football team, including Frei's father, Jerry. Through extensive research and interviews with the remaining Badgers, their families, and combat comrades, Terry Frei tells the often heart-wrenching story of this band of brothers, describing their successes and losses both on the football field and in service to their country.

Excerpt Four

Not long after Wisconsin's glorious 1942 season, the Badgers in the Army Air Forces Reserves dispatched their team cocaptain-halfback Mark Hoskins-on a mission to Chicago. Hoskins brashly made an appointment to see a general in the Fifth Army headquarters. When he was called into the office, Hoskins asked, "Sir, when are we going to be called in?"

The general told Hoskins to pass along a message to his teammates and fellow prospective pilots: "Don't worry boys, we'll take care of you!"

A little over a year later, Mark Hoskins had flown thirty-three missions in Europe as a copilot in B-17 "Flying Fortress" bombers. He was told that after one more trip over enemy territory, he would move up from copilot to pilot.

The weather was cloudy and terrible on his thirty-fourth mission, to Budapest. The planes couldn't hold formation. Some of the B-17s turned back. Hoskins's plane continued toward the target. The German fighter pilots, excited to encounter a lone bomber, pounced and fired.

Suddenly, Hoskins's right engine was on fire.

Hoskins could see the flames, smell the cordite, and sense the crew's time running out.

The pilot yelled to abandon the plane.

Hoskins scrambled down to the nose, joining the navigator and bombardier, expecting to follow them out the opened hatch.

But they were struggling with the little door. They yanked and shoved and twisted, yet couldn't get it open as the flames burned and the smell grew stronger. If they didn't get out soon, they wouldn't get out at all, and their frenzy showed they knew it.

Hoskins pulled them away from the door.

He told himself he was a blocker again, leading a sweep for Elroy Hirsch or Pat Harder. Against Notre Dame or Ohio State, it didn't matter. He backed up, charged at the little door, and hit it with his shoulder.

Not only did the hatch open, but Hoskins flew through it and found himself in the skies over Hungary. Stunned, he managed to pull the ripcord and begin to float to the ground, where he would take his chances.

Then he saw the German fighter plane, presumably the one that had nailed the B-17.

The pilot, his guns at the ready, was flying toward Hoskins, who was a floating and defenseless target.

It was June 27, 1944.

Mark's wife of less than a year, Mary, was his long-time hometown sweetheart. Mary had lined up a job teaching kindergarten in the upcoming school year, and she was staying with her parents for the summer in Lancaster.

The man from the local depot was delivering the telegram, and in the male-oriented world of the time, he thought it best to make the delivery to Mary's father, an attorney. "My father wasn't home yet, and my mother went and answered it," Mary recalls. "She came back to the table and looked kind of funny, but didn't say a word about it. Pretty soon, Dad came in the front door with the Hoskinses." They shared the news.

Mark was MIA.

Wisconsin Traditions

Badger nickname

The athletic teams' nickname (Badgers) was borrowed from the state. The territory was initially dubbed the "Badger" state. The reason for the moniker was not because of badgers in this region, but instead because of an association with lead miners in the 1820s. Prospectors came to the state looking for minerals. Without shelter in the winter, the miners had to "live like badgers" in tunnels burrowed into hill-sides according to folklore.

Bucky Badger

Badgers in various forms have been recognized as the school mascot for decades. The version currently known as Bucky, sporting a cardinal and white striped sweater, was first drawn in 1940 by artist Art Evans. At that time, the badger went by names like Benny, Buddy, Bernie, Bobby and Bouncey. Art Lentz, the department's publicity director, had the idea to bring the mascot to life.

Praise to thee our alma mater
U-rah-rah, Wisconsin!

The original badger mascot was too vicious to control. On more than one occasion, the live badger escaped his handlers. It was decided in the interest of fan and player safety that Wisconsin's mascot be retired to the Madison Zoo.

The Badger Yearbook replaced the live badger with a small raccoon named Regdab (badger spelled backwards) and passed it off as a "badger in a raccoon coat."

In 1949, a student in the university's art department, Connie Conrad, was hired to mold a paper-mache badger head. Cheerleader Bill Sagal, of Plymouth, Wis., was directed by homecoming chair Bill Sachse, to wear the outfit at the homecoming game. A contest was staged to name the mascot. The winner was Buckingham U. Badger, or Bucky. The name came from the lyrics in a song which encouraged the football team to "buck right through that line."

Bucky Badger has persevered through the years, even surviving a threat by then assistant attorney general, Howard Koop, in 1973. He suggested that Bucky be replaced by Henrietta Holstein, a loveable cow. Koop argued that "kids love cows. A generation could grow up supporting the university and Henrietta Holstein." Koop's effort to overthrow Bucky failed.

Bucky even survived a cameo appearance by former Sports Illustrated writer Rick Telander. In preparation for a book about the department, Telander wore the Badger costume at a 1991 volleyball game. Telander overcame "terminal claustrophobia" in his first and only act as Bucky.

Bud song

An integral part of any Wisconsin band performance is the playing of the Bud song. The tune is a spinoff of the song "You've Said It All," a jingle with words and music originally written by Steve Karmen for Budweiser beer commercials.

The song has become legendary at the University because of its polka-like rhythm. Band director Michael Leckrone said the song's popularity got started at a 1975 hockey game. "The crowd wanted to hear a polka," he said. "I didn't have any polkas. We had, just by accident, added this beer commercial to the tunes we play. I told the band if we substituted the word "Wisconsin" for 'Budweiser' it would work."

Leckrone said the song became a football tradition after a 1978 come-from-behind victory over Oregon. "Wisconsin was behind by three touchdowns, and the crowd was really dead. I played the song to get everyone pepped up. About 20 seconds after that, Wisconsin scored a TD. I played it again, and we scored another touchdown. From then on, the band could never play enough 'Bud,'" said Leckrone.

Fifth Quarter

The Wisconsin band has become famous for its post-game celebration called the Fifth Quarter. Win or lose, fans sing, dance and cheer with the band as they play traditional favorites like "On, Wisconsin" and the Bud song. Originally, the post-game concert was designed to give the fans something to listen to on their way out, but it developed into a post-game party as the band built in audience-participation activities.

Motion W

When Coach Barry Alvarez came to Madison, he decided that the helmet logo needed to be updated to signal a new era. He entertained 15-20 designs in 1990 before Rayovac artist Rick Suchanek developed the "Motion W," which originally included a tail at the back of the logo. Alvarez thought the tail was a bit much, but when it was removed, decided to go with it. The University bought the rights to the design, and the logo has been adopted by all other UW sports.

"On, Wisconsin"

The school's fight song was originally composed in 1909 by Chicago's William Purdy, and the words were written by Carl Beck. Purdy and Beck had been fraternity brothers at Hamilton College (Clinton, N.Y.) and were roommates in Chicago. Purdy was going to submit the song for consideration to win a $100 prize that the University of Minnesota was offering for a new football song. When Beck heard the music, he offered to write words and suggested that Purdy offer it to Wisconsin, where Beck had once studied. The song was an instant hit on campus and spread throughout the world.

Some 2,500 schools have adopted the music and changed the words to suit their needs. "On, Wisconsin" was sung for the first time at the 1909 homecoming game vs. Minnesota.

The music was adapted by Band Director Michael Leckrone in 1969. The original version had been played virtually unchanged since its inception. "I got a lot of flak for the change," Leckrone said. "The old version was one you had to wait on. I wanted to generate immediate crowd reaction, so I stepped it up a bit."

Paul Bunyan Axe

The most-played rivalry in Division I-A football continues this fall when Wisconsin and Minnesota meet. The UW-UM series is the nation's oldest and has been played continuously since 1907. The game has alternated sites between the university campuses since 1946. Much prestige was always associated with the game, and the significance was emphasized with its place on the schedule. Between 1933 and 1982, the Wisconsin-Minnesota game was always the final regular-season contest for each school.

The series took an added twist in 1948 when more than state bragging rights were on the line. After a 16-0 setback that season, the Wisconsin letterwinners group, the National "W" Club, presented Minnesota with an axe wielded by Paul Bunyan. He was the mythical giant of midwestern lumber camps. Each year since, the winner of the annual battle between the Big Ten rivals is presented with the axe, complete with scores inscribed on the handle, for display on its campus.

"Varsity"

The traditional arm-waving at the end of the song, "Varsity," was the 1934 brainstorm of then-band leader Ray Dvorak. He saw Pennsylvania students wave their caps after losing a game. Dvorak later instructed Wisconsin students to salute UW-Madison President Glenn Frank after each game.

Saturdays at Camp Randall

During the Barry Alvarez Era, Wisconsin home football games have become an extraordinary event. Alvarez has led the Badgers to a 51-28-3 home record, including undefeated home slates in the Rose Bowl seasons of 1993 and 1998. The UW has averaged more than 75,000 fans a game since 1993.

Those fans not only get to enjoy the action on the field, but they are also entertained by the nationally renowned Wisconsin Marching Band. Under the direction of Michael Leckrone, the UW Band performs impressive pre-game and halftime shows. The band is probably best known, however, for its "Fifth Quarter" post-game celebration. Fans typically remain in Camp Randall Stadium after games until the band's audience-participation gala is completed.

In addition, Bucky Badger and the UW Spirit Squads are always fan favorites. The entire atmosphere, which undoubtedly includes the best fans in the country, makes Saturdays at Camp Randall a unique experience.

This is the Big Ten Conference

The Big Ten Conference is an association of 11 world-class universities whose member institutions share a common mission of research, graduate, professional and undergraduate teaching and public service. Intercollegiate athletics has an important place within the mission.

Founded in 1896, the Big Ten has sustained a comprehensive set of shared practices and policies that enforce the priority of academics in student-athletes' lives and emphasize the values of integrity, fairness and competitiveness. Big Ten universities provide in excess of $76 million in athletic scholarship aid to more than 8,500 men and women student-athletes who compete for 25 championships, 12 for men and 13 for women. In 2003-04, the Big Ten distributed over $115 million in revenues to its 11 member institutions. Conference institutions sponsor broad-based athletic programs with more than 270 teams.

- Big Ten Universities are members of the nation's only conference whose constituency is entirely composed of institutions that are members of the AAU, a prestigious association of major academic and research institutions in the United States and Canada.

- Big Ten Universities host more than 70 Nobel laureates as faculty, students or researchers.

- Big Ten Universities enroll students of whom over 41 percent have graduated in the top 10 percent of their high school class, while 74 percent graduated in the top quarter of their class.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE FOOTBALL INSTANT REPLAY FACTS

- The Big Ten Conference, with the unanimous support of its head football coaches, forwarded a recommendation to the NCAA Football Rules Committee last winter and was granted the right to experiment with instant replay on a one-year trial basis.

- The Big Ten Conference collected data from 68 televised football games in 2003. The study showed there would have been 42 replay opportunities in the 68 games, approximately .65 replays per game. The rate of reversal was 54 percent, or 23 of 42 reviews would have been overturned. On a base of 10,800 football plays in 2003, 8-12 plays (of the aforementioned 23) could have been viewed as having a significant affect on the game.

- The Big Ten instant replay model and the NFL instant replay system are different. In the Big Ten model, only the Big Ten Technical Advisor, working in the press box, can stop a game to review a play. Unlike the NFL model, in the Big Ten neither the coaches nor the game officials on the field may ask for a review.

- In order for a play to be changed the Technical Advisor must have indisputable video evidence that an error occurred. Television broadcast of the game will be the sole source of whether there is indisputable video evidence.

- The types of plays that are reviewable include plays that are governed by the sideline, goal line, end zone and end line, passing plays, and other detectable infractions, such as forward progress with respect to first down.

- Throughout the conference, the Big Ten had more than 8,500 student-athletes playing on over 270 teams in 2003-04. Those student-athletes received in excess of $76 million in direct financial aid.

- Big Ten student-athletes graduate at a rate of 10 percent higher than all Division I student-athletes.

- The Big Ten recognized 1,894 Academic All-Big Ten honorees during the 2003-04 academic year, the highest total in the last decade. Over the past five years, the Conference has annually acknowledged more than 1,500 student-athletes as Academic All-Conference honorees.

- In the past 10 years (1994-95 through 2003-04), the Big Ten claimed 41 NCAA team championships including 25 since 1998-99.

- Big Ten athletic programs have won more than 185 team national championships and 1,100 individual NCAA titles. In 1999-00, the Conference celebrated six NCAA team titles (men's soccer, women's volleyball, wrestling, men's basketball, fencing, men's gymnastics), the most for the Big Ten in the last 10 years.

Where Badgers Gather
Before and After the Game

For a student who wants to participate in intercollegiate athletics at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, one of the greatest opportunities available is an athletic scholarship. With the support of a scholarship, a student-athlete is able to take full advantage of the academic and athletic experience.

Many UW alumni and friends have chosen to contribute to the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics by establishing endowed scholarships. These funds, managed through the UW Foundation, provide annual income for scholarship support, while the principal remains in perpetuity to benefit the Division. These scholarships have a tremendous impact on the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as they benefit today's student-athletes and also those in generations to come.

The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial scholarship support for Badger student-athletes. Our student-athletes, coaches and administrators thank you for your tremendous support of Wisconsin Athletics.

It is through the support of dedicated volunteers that the University's sports program is so successful. No group better represents this commitment than Bucky's Ambassadors. This group of volunteers spends hours leading tours, handing out schedules and posters at games, assembling media kits and direct mail projects, acting as hosts and crowd controllers at special events, and many other personal and group activities. Look for the Ambassadors dressed in their Bucky jackets or red Badger vests at each Badger game. Thank them for a job well done. If you're interested in joining the Ambassadors, please call 608-262-7234.

The Wisconsin Department of Athletics has a number of teams that regularly contribute to the city via outreach programs. The Madison community is truly supportive of the UW-Madison athletic teams and their student-athletes.

In appreciation for that support, many student-athletes volunteer frequently in community service projects. Every season, the football team works together on a community service project to give back to Madison.

Among the projects that the Badgers have participated in recently were landscaping and cleanup days in the Eric Circle, Allied Drive, Vera Court and Harmony Park neighborhoods. The team has also participated in several walk-a-thons to raise funds for charitable causes as well as projects with Habitat For Humanity and Hammer With A Heart. Players and coaches make visits throughout the year to the UW Children's and Veterans' Hospitals, area schools and numerous other charity functions.

GOOD WORKS

Former UW fullback Cecil Martin (left) was named to the American Football Coaches Association "Good Works" team for his community service in 1997 and 1998. He was cited for establishing an offseason program for players to visit the UW Children's Hospital. Martin also served as a mentor at the Southside Community Center, where he tutored and played with children.

Martin continued his charitable support as a member of the Philadelphia Eagles where he won the team's 2000 Ed Block Courage Award.

He also was named an "Unsung Hero" by the NFL Players' Association and was featured on the Fox Sports All-Madden Team as one of the National Football League's "good guys."

"THE MAGIC OF SINATRA"

In the upcoming year, unquestionably musicians throughout the world will be commemorating the 90th anniversary of the birth of one of the greatest entertainers of all time, Frank Sinatra. Sinatra was long acclaimed as the world's leading performer of popular music and an artist who set the mold for all others to fill. He enjoyed a brilliant career that spanned nearly five decades and established himself as a musician without peer. It was assured that Sinatra's legacy would never die; however, he has recently been rediscovered by new generations, most of whom were not even born when "The Voice" was at the peak of his fame. Today you can see Sinatra in TV commercials, hear his voice on television, radio, and the movies. His recordings continue to be reissued and, almost monthly, new publications tell of his life and his achievements. He was the "Chairman of the Board" ... "Old Blue Eyes" and the epitome of "The Swinger." The Wisconsin Band pays tribute to this legendary performer with a few songs that will forever be a part of ... The Magic of Sinatra.

At Pre-Game the band will salute the 2004 Wisconsin Badgers ... welcome the team and fans from Northwestern University ... and present a special concert arrangement of a tune featured by the inimitable Doc Severinsen and his orchestra ... Bob Sebesky's "Brass Roots." The Pre-Game will conclude with the traditional presentation of the National Anthem and the introduction of Bucky Badger to Camp Randall Stadium.

VITAL STATISTICS

Name: Matt VandenBoom
Badger Bio: 1980-82
#39, Defensive Back
Birthdate: 04/18/60
Current Residence:
Appleton, Wis.
Status: Married

There are shining moments in Badger history that those who were there will never forget and for those who are too young, the story will never get old. On a warm September day in 1981, the unranked Badgers were set to open their season at Camp Randall Stadium against No. 1-ranked Michigan. The Badgers pulled off the upset in a dramatic 21-14 game that included a career-high three interceptions by Matt VandenBoom. The defensive back went on to earn first-team All-America status that year and captain the squad in 1982.

VandenBoom's heroics have been told in stories for nearly 25 years and it's a story he has surely told his 18-year-old son, Timothy, as he prepares to begin his own Wisconsin experience.

"Tim sees Wisconsin as an excellent academic institution and really wants to get his degree because of the excellence that it can provide him," said VandenBoom on his son's choice to attend the UW next fall. "Clearly, he's been around the Badgers his whole life and enjoyed growing up in the environment."

A two-time Academic All-Big Ten honoree, VandenBoom knows just what Wisconsin can provide a student.

"Academically, I was really prepared for the challenges and opportunities I've faced in my career, but adding the football experience to that has provided a more well-rounded experience," explained VandenBoom. "It is hard to duplicate the intensity of a football experience in a normal academic curriculum. I see it as a real privilege to have participated in football in addition to getting my degree from the University of Wisconsin."

After earning his degree, VandenBoom was drafted by the Buffalo Bills and played three seasons in New York before returning to Wisconsin's Fox Valley. As a certified financial planner, VandenBoom is putting his Wisconsin education to work helping people add value to their lives.

Married for 20 years to wife, Amy, VandenBoom is happy living in Appleton, Wis. watching his sons, Timothy (18) and Daniel (6) grow.

"It's a comfortable place to come back to and a great place to raise a family and enjoy life."

Living just hours from Madison, VandenBoom and his family are season ticket-holders and are looking forward to attending the Badgers' final games at Camp Randall this season. Serving as an officer for the National W Club, he is given a unique opportunity to stay connected with the University.

"It provides a great opportunity to not only assist the University through the support arm of the W Club, but also to build relationships with athletes from other eras, which is a unique and fulfilling experience," commented VandenBoom. "It adds depth to my experience and a link to the University."

While fostering relationships with former athletes through the W Club, VandenBoom is also close with several of his former teammates.

"There is always a hunting or fishing trip that pulls us together. Some of my most endearing friendships have come from my years in Madison and I'm very thankful for that."

The University of Wisconsin-Madison will celebrate 30 years of Women's Intercollegiate Athletics during a weekend of festivities in Madison on Saturday-Sunday, January 29-30, 2005.

All women athletes and coaches who have contributed to the rich history of women's sports at Wisconsin are invited to attend. This is a celebration for women athletes, coaches and athletic department staff who competed after July 1, 1974, when UW women's sports were officially incorporated into the varsity program.

Women's sports participation at the University of Wisconsin began in 1895 when Coach Andrew O'Dea consented to coach a women's boating crew. Women's basketball was introduced at Wisconsin in 1897. Badger yearbooks from before 1920 show women's teams receiving honor letters and wearing athletic sweaters, but these were interclass teams and not intercollegiate teams.

It wasn't until 1970 that the recreational play days of the past 70 years gave way to a club sport program that allowed for more elite competitive opportunities for women athletes. Kit Saunders was appointed the first Women's Club Sports Coordinator with a budget of $2,000 in 1971-72.

By 1973, it was clear that the Women's Sports Club budget could not be adequately funded by the Intramural Recreation Board, and additional funding through the University was sought by Saunders. Another impetus for women's athletics appeared on the scene at this time in the form of Title IX of the Educational Amendment's Act of 1972. Similar to Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which banned discrimination based on race, Title IX applied to discrimination based on sex. It became the single most important factor in the gains in women's sports nationally.

UW Chancellor Edwin Young appointed a committee to study women's athletics in 1972, and again in 1973. The committee proposed the first changes in facility usage, remodeling and scheduling which would allow for women's sports participation on competitive teams, faculty participation, and non-competitive recreation. The committee's recommendations resulted in the remodeling of facilities which would provide women with soap, showers and towels in more than one building for the first time on the Madison campus.

The Athletic Board approved the inclusion of the 12-sport women's program on March 1, 1974. The sports, Director of Women's Athletics Dr. Kit Saunders, and a budget of $118,000 officially moved into Camp Randall Stadium on July 1, 1974. During that first year of competition, the Badger women's teams won one national championship and competed on the national level in three other sports.

All this at a time when no scholarships were offered female athletes. Players often had to buy their own uniforms or share with other sports (Basketball, volleyball and track all shared the same uniforms).

The NCAA had no interest in sponsoring women's athletics so national championships were organized by the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW). The Big Ten Conference also did not officially sponsor women's athletics, although unofficial championships were held in each sport until 1981.

Partial scholarships were first provided to the women's basketball team in 1976. By 1977-78, there were 62 total scholarships with basketball, volleyball, track and swimming each receiving eight.

In 1981-82, the NCAA and Big Ten Conference officially recognized women's athletics and sanctioned national and conference championships.

For the 10th anniversary of women's athletics in 1984, the budget for women's athletics had grown to $1 million. In 1994, that figure was up to $3.5 million.

Today, the women's sports program at the UW has a budget of $8,863,628 million including 455 women's team participants and scholarship equivalencies of 120.34 (197 student-athletes).

All 12 women's sports are fully-funded with the full NCAA complement of scholarships and coaches. Support services include full-time academic advisors, athletic trainers, strength and conditioning coaches, and athletic communications staff.

Note: Former athletes and staff should register at uwbadgers.com 30th Anniversary page for more information.

Each year the Badger Fund faces the challenge of funding the athletic scholarships and facilities available to the 750 student-athletes who represent the University of Wisconsin. Because the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics is a self-supporting entity and receives no state tax dollars for its $50 million annual budget, the generosity of alumni and friends is vital to our continued success.

To learn more about how you can help, as well as ticket and parking benefits available to athletic donors, please contact the Badger Fund at 608-262-1000.

Ahead of the Class

Two recent former Badgers are making their presence known on Sunday's, each contributing greatly to their new teams with strong play, new attitude and a rejuvenated conviction for the game of football.

Lee Evans and Alex Lewis are both making a name for themselves as they are making an impact as rookies on their respective teams. Once playing together for the Badgers, now foes on the field, they both are striving to be the best at what they do.

As one of four wide receivers taken among the first 15 picks in the 2004 NFL Draft, Evans is in his first season of NFL action. So far this season, he has 10 catches for 248 yards and one touchdown. He is averaging 24.8 yards per catch and is second on the team, behind Eric Moulds, in receiving yards and receptions. The 13th pick overall has hauled in receptions of 46, 55 and 65 yards. Last weekend, playing against fellow Bedford, Ohio, native and former Badger Chris Chambers, Evans had two grabs totaling 32 yards as the Bills earned their first win of the season. Evans was the first wide receiver taken by the Bills in the first round since Eric Moulds in 1996.

On the defensive side, Lewis, a fifth-round pick, has had a substantial impact for the Detroit Lions defense. Lewis has 17 total tackles (13 solo and four assisted), one sack and an interception. This former standout Badger linebacker has played his way into the defensive rotation as a rookie and is only getting better. Last week against the Packers, Lewis managed to record four tackles (two solo). In the previous week, Lewis sacked Falcons' quarterback Mike Vick and picked off one of his passes, returning it 33 yards to set up the Lions' go-ahead touchdown.

Now, Evans and the 1-4 Buffalo Bills travel to Baltimore to face Ray Lewis and the Ravens defense as Lewis and the Detroit Lions go to the Meadowlands to battle another former Badger linebacker, Nick Greisen and the New York Giants.

NOTES

✓ Thus far, Chris Chambers has 22 catches totaling 179 yards. Chambers has grabbed two touchdown scores and is averaging 8.1 yards per catch.

✓ Starting running back Michael Bennett is expected to return this week for the Minnesota Vikings after sitting out the first five games of the season with a right knee sprain.

✓ Jamar Fletcher of the San Diego Chargers is seeing extensive playing time as a nickel back. He has played in all six games, recording 10 tackles. On Oct. 10 vs. Jacksonville, he had an interception, four tackles and two passes defended. Last week against the Falcons he recovered a T.J. Duckett fumble on the first play of the second quarter.

✓ New York Giants running back Ron Dayne is sharing the load this season with Tiki Barber. In Dayne's first five games he has 31 carries totalling 83 yards and one touchdown.

✓ Former Badger kicker and current Washington Redskin John Hall has kicked seven field goals, while adding on six PATs to help lead the 'Skins in scoring.

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame

These seven former Badgers have received the highest honor the game of football affords. They have been inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. They are the greats of the game and their achievements are documented at the College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Ind.

Pat O'Dea (elected in 1962), nicknamed "The Kangaroo Kicker," was a two-time All-America fullback and punter between 1896-99. He was also a two-time team captain.

Robert Butler (elected in 1972) was a three-year letterwinner at tackle and won all-league (1912-13) and All-America (1913) laurels.

Pat Harder (elected in 1993), an All-America fullback, was the Big Ten's scoring and rushing champion in 1941.

Dave Schreiner (elected in 1955), the two-time All-America end, was the Western Conference MVP in 1942.

Pat Richter (elected in 1996) was a two-time All-America end and led the nation in receiving as a junior.

Marty Below (elected in 1988), a rugged right tackle, earned All-America praise as a senior.

Alan Ameche (elected in 1975) was the 1954 Heisman Trophy winner and a multi-year All-American in the classroom and on the field.

Radio Coverage

For the 11th year in a row, exclusive radio coverage of Badger football can be heard on the 46-city Wisconsin Radio Network. The Department of Athletics and Learfield Communications / Badger Sports Properties entered into an agreement for radio broadcast rights for football and basketball in 1994.

WIBA-AM (1310 AM) and WIBA-FM (101.5 FM) are the rights holders in the Madison market, and WTMJ (620 AM) carries the games in Milwaukee.

Television Coverage

It's easy to follow Badger football through the Big Ten's comprehensive television package. Most Wisconsin games will be selected for live TV coverage on either ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 or ESPN Regional.

All Badger home games are televised on a delayed basis by Wisconsin Public Television (WHA-Madison, WPNE-Green Bay, WLEF-Park Falls, WHWC-Menomonie, WHLA-La Crosse, WHRM-Wausau and WMVT-Milwaukee). Broadcast across the state educational network, the football replays on WPT air most Saturdays at 10 p.m. WPT and Badger sports have been partners for more than 25 years.

The Barry Alvarez TV Show

The "Barry Alvarez Television Show," produced by Learfield Communications / Badger Sports Properties and WISC-TV, is a 30-minute program of highlights, interviews and features on Badger football.

The show airs twice on Sunday in the Madison area on WISC-TV at 10:30 a.m. and on UPN14 at 10:30 p.m. The show can be seen statewide on Fox Sports Net North at 6:30 p.m. on Monday.

uwbadgers.com

The Department of Athletics has made a strong commitment to bringing its news straight to the fans. The Badgers' Web site (uwbadgers.com) produces news updates multiple times daily to keep fans up-to-speed on the happenings in the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Web users can tune in for live video streaming of media news conferences, chat with coaches, staff and student-athletes, order tickets online or listen to live radio broadcasts of games.

■ ALL-TIME TEAM

In conjunction with the centennial celebration of college football in 1969, Wisconsin fans selected the school's all-time team. The 11-man unit features 1954 Heisman Trophy winner Alan Ameche, who was voted "All-time Greatest Player."

ALAN AMECHE (1951-54): 1954 Heisman Trophy winner ... set NCAA career rushing mark (3,345)

KEN BOWMAN (1961-63): 10-year NFL career with Packers ... played in East-West Shrine Game

HOWARD "CUB" BUCK (1913-15): Labeled by some as the best lineman of his era ... consensus All-American

PAT HARDER (1941-42): Second pick in NFL draft ... MVP of Chicago Tribune College All-Star Game

ELROY "CRAZYLEGS" HIRSCH (1942): Set many receiving records with Rams ... eventually served as Badger A.D.

DAN LANPHEAR (1957-59): Madison native was a 1959 All-American before pro career with Oilers

ARLIE MUCKS, SR. (1914): All-American on gridiron and silver medalist at Olympics (discus)

PAT RICHTER (1960-62): Hall of Fame inductee both on field and in classroom ... former Badger A.D.

DAVE SCHREINER (1940-42): First two-time All-American ... three TD catches in one quarter still a school record

RON VANDER KELEN (1962): Passed for 401 yards vs. No. 1-ranked USC in the 1963 Rose Bowl

ROBERT "RED" WILSON (1946-49): Big Ten MVP in 1949 ... played baseball for the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers

#40 Elroy Hirsch

Elroy Hirsch played only one season (1942) at UW, but he was one of the most beloved sports figures in school history. Hirsch, nicknamed "Crazylegs," rushed for 786 yards for Wisconsin's 8-1-1 team in 1942. He starred for nine years with the L.A. Rams and later served as UW's Director of Athletics (1969-87).

#83 Allan Shafer

The memory of former quarterback Allan Shafer is continued with the "Living Memorial" Scholarship that is given in his name. Shafer was fatally injured during the 1944 Wisconsin-Iowa game. Shafer is one of two Badgers (Jay Seiler is the other) to die from a football-related injury.

#35 Alan Ameche

Alan Ameche, the 1954 Heisman Trophy winner, was a three-time All-American and ended his career as the NCAA's all-time rushing leader. He led the Badgers to the 1953 Rose Bowl and rushed for 133 yards in that game. The four-time NFL Pro Bowl pick was inducted into the College Hall of Fame in 1975.

#80 Dave Schreiner

Dave Schreiner, the two-time All-America end, was named Western Conference Player of the Year in 1942. Schreiner lettered three years at the UW as an end, both on offense and defense. He is a member of the National Football Foundation and W Club Halls of Fame. He was voted to the UW's all-time team in 1969.

What Every Badger Fan Should Know

With increasing numbers of NCAA rules governing outside intervention in recruiting, coaches cannot afford to have any extra "help" in recruiting elite student-athletes to the University of Wisconsin. The penalties are too severe.

Here are some tidbits of information concerning you and Badger athletics ...

You are a "representative" of the UW's athletics interests (i.e., booster) if any of the following apply:

- a) you are an alumnus of the University of Wisconsin;
- b) you have ever made financial contributions to the athletics department, to an athletic booster organization of the UW, or to a UW athletics program;
- c) you have ever helped to arrange employment of enrolled student-athletes and/or National Letter of Intent signees;
- d) you have ever been involved in any way promoting the Badger athletic program.

Once an individual is identified as an "athletics representative / booster," the person retains that identity forever, even if that person no longer contributes to or supports the athletics program.

NCAA Bylaw 13.01.5 states: In Division I, a representative of the UW's athletics interests is prohibited from making in-person, on-or-off campus recruiting contacts, or written or telephonic communications with a prospect or the prospect's relatives or legal guardians.

A prospect is any student who has started classes for the ninth grade. In addition, any student younger than ninth grade could become a "prospect" if they receive any benefits from an institution or a booster. Student-athletes enrolled in preparatory school or two-year colleges are also considered prospective student-athletes.

What Can You Do?

If you know of a high school or junior college student-athlete who might want to attend the UW, the only permissible activity for a representative is to call the appropriate UW coach.

Extra Benefit Rule

A representative of UW athletics interests cannot provide an "extra benefit" to a prospective or enrolled student-athlete. An extra benefit is any special arrangement by an institutional employee or a booster to provide for a student-athlete or a student-athlete's friend or relative not expressly authorized by NCAA legislation. Some examples of prohibited activities are:

- a) providing gifts or reduced cost services;
- b) providing a loan, or arranging for or co-signing a loan;
- c) employing relatives or friends of a prospective student-athlete as an inducement for the enrollment of the prospect;
- d) providing use of an automobile;
- e) providing rent-free or reduced-rent housing;

f) providing tickets to an athletic, institutional or community event;

g) entertaining or contacting a prospective student-athlete or a prospective student-athlete's family on or off campus;

h) promising to provide any of the above;

According to NCAA rules, the University of Wisconsin Athletic Department reserves the right to withhold any benefit or privilege associated with their athletic department (i.e., booster clubs, ticket privileges, etc.) from individuals that are involved in a violation of NCAA legislation.

Employment

NCAA rules are such that opportunities for your interaction with student-athletes are very limited. One of the best opportunities for alumni or friends of the program to assist student-athletes financially and provide them with a valuable internship experience is through employment. A representative of athletics interests is permitted to provide employment for student-athletes under the following conditions:

- Compensation can't include any remuneration for value or utility that the student-athlete may have for the employer because of the publicity, reputation, fame or personal following that he or she has obtained because of athletics ability;
- Compensation for only work actually performed; and
- Compensation at a rate commensurate with the going rate in that locality for similar services.

Today's athletes, tomorrow's leaders

BOB RASHID

Badger student-athletes excel in the classroom and in their sports because they are surrounded by a strong support team. The University of Wisconsin Foundation is a member of that team. We work with people like you on behalf of Badger athletics to provide opportunities for financial assistance. Your support enables student-athletes to concentrate on studying, training and competing. It's an investment that pays off in today's competitions and tomorrow's careers.

You can help Badger athletics through a variety of gift options including endowments and deferred gifts. Through an endowment, your gift is invested to provide annual scholarship aid for student-athletes while the principal is conserved. Thanks to you, Wisconsin's winning tradition will continue into the future.
