UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN.

VOL. IV.—No. 5.]

MADISON, WIS., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1894.

[PRICE THREE CENTS.

ANNUAL RECEPTION IS HELD.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGER THAN EVER.

THE CLASS OF '98 VERY NUMEROUS.

Leuder's Orchestra Furnishes Music—Members of the Faculty Receive.

The reception given by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. to the new students, Saturday evening, was a success in every way. The students began to arrive shortly after eight o'clock and before nine several hundred were in the hall. The supply of printed cards proved inadequate and ordinary slips of paper had to be used as labels. The reception committee consisted of: President and Mrs. Adams, Prof. and Mrs. Hendrickson, Prof. and Mrs. Birge, Prof. and Mrs. Jackson, Prof. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. Parkinson.

The class of '98 seemed to be out in full force and if any estimate of its numbers can be made from those who wore cards proclaiming them to be in that class, it is certainly the largest in the history of the university. Everyone was busy greeting old friends and making new acquaintances. Many persons ought certainly to be forgiven if they are unable to remember everyone whom they met Saturday night. Leuders orchestra was stationed in the gallery and played selections throughout the evening.

LIBRARY CHANGE.

It has been decided to move the economic library from its present place in the law building to the university library. The books will be placed in the first three alcoves on the west side and the books now occupying those alcoves will be arranged in the gallery. The change is made in order that the books on economic subjects may be made more accessible to the large number of students using them.

SYNOPTICAL LECTURES IN BIOLOGY.

The course in biology will consist of weekly lectures by Professors Barnes and Birge, throughout the year, commencing Wednesday, September 19th, at 4 p. m., in room 42, Science hall.

During the first half year the lectures will be given by Prof. Barnes and will deal with plants. An account of the construction of the different groups of plants will be given, with special reference to their adaptation to the conditions in which they grow and the work the organism has to perform. Commencing with the simplest plants, it will be shown how and for what purposes increasing complexity is attained by the vegetative parts and how the work necessary to the existence of the individual is carried on. In like manner the development of sexuality will be traced and the gradual differentiation of reproductive organs and of reproductive phases in the life history of plants will be explained. The endeavor will be to treat these subjects in language so simple and so free from technicality that any intelligent student can profit by the course. No text-book will be used as none covers the ground traversed by the course. Full outlines of the lectures will be prepared and distributed to the class, and these should be supplemented by copious notes. A quiz-conference on the lecture of the preceding week will accompany each lecture.

SPIRITS, OR WHAT?

It was to a considerable extent a university crowd which gathered at Turner hall last night to witness the spiritualistic seance of Miss Anna Eva Fay. Members of the faculty were noticed in the large crowd, and there were enough students present to give considerable vigor to the university yell several times when it was given. Front seats were at a premium and were occupied for the most part by some of the enterprising "fellows." One of the exciting features of the evening was the unanimous election of Fred Kull, '94, of the committee of two to sit upon the stage during the evening. The other was Mr. O. D. Brandenburg of the Democrat.

Those who attended the seance with the expectation of seeing miracles performed outside of a cabinet, spirits floating in mid-air, and the like, cannot say that their hopes were realized. But to those who were willing to be content with marvels of a little less pronounced type the performance was very satisfactory. The usual surprising feats of the playing of bells, tambourines, and the like, after Miss Fay had been securely fastened in the cabinet, by the committee, were performed unusually well. Some feats which were newer were also introduced. On the whole the entertainment was very satisfactory and much enjoyed by the large crowd present.

PLAYS AT THE FULLER.

Some star attractions will be seen at Fuller's ere '94 becomes a part of the past. Among them may be mentioned:

Rose Coughlin September 29th.
Mrs. James Brown Potter and Kyrle Bellew October 6th.

Salvani October 10th.
Nat Goodwin November 26th.
Charles Dixon November 29th.

Sol Smith Russell December 11th.
That is certainly a choice theatrical collection from which to choose for an evening's diversion during the next twelve weeks.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Interesting Talk by Miss Bradshaw.

The mass meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. at Library hall yesterday afternoon was largely attended and very interesting. Miss Ida Bradshaw, of Milwaukee, state secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was present and gave a very interesting gospel talk. She took as her text the words, "What seek ye?" After the talk those interested in Bible study met to form classes in which to pursue such work.

Mr. Marcus C. Ford leaves next Tuesday to continue his studies at Harvard university.

UNIVERSITY REPUBLICANS.

CLUB ORGANIZED FOR FALL CAMPAIGN.

DELEGATES ELECTED FOR STATE CONVENTION.

Enthusiastic Meeting—Club to Do Active Work.

There was a very large attendance at the meeting of the College Republican club, which met last Saturday evening. The meeting was for the purpose of electing the officers for the coming term and for electing the delegates to the republican club convention, which meets at Milwaukee Wednesday, the 19th inst. The meeting was addressed by E. J. Henning on the issues of the campaign. Officers were elected as follows:

President—G. M. Sheldon, '95.
Vice President—S. T. Walker, '95.
Secretary—W. G. Hatwell, '95.
Treasurer—T. P. Silverwood, '96.
Senior Law—G. W. Bunge.
Junior Law—Carl Jefferson.
Senior—W. R. Graves.
Junior—W. T. Arndt.

Sophomore—J. S. Gilbertson.
The following delegates were elected:
Harvey Clark, '95; A. T. Rogers, '95;
S. T. Walker, '95; E. J. Ohnstad, '96;
R. A. Elward, '95.

It is expected that the club will take an active part in the fall campaign and that it will do a great deal to arouse interest among the students.

FOOTBALL AT OTHER UNIVERSITIES.

Today's Chicago Tribune contains articles on the prospects of the different western college teams. At Chicago it is not expected that Carr Neel can play full-back this fall on account of the injury he received at Newport. Knopp is expected back about Oct. 1. Nearly all of the other old men are back. Everything seems to be gloomy at Northwestern as the captain, business manager and most of the team will not return. There seems to be little hope of getting a team ready for the game with Chicago Oct. 6. Hayner is expected to return to Lake Forest and to play end on the team. Hunt, center, H. Thorn, guard, and D. Williams, full back, will not return. Prospects at Illinois are said to be bright although little is given out in regard to the team.

Alward and Stickney, Chicago Athletic association's half-backs, will not play on the team this fall. In all probability Noyes, last year's full back, will not play. Stevenson will be back at center. Culver and Van Doozer, who played with Northwestern last year, will probably play on the athletic association this fall. J. Flint will play on the team but his brother will play with Chicago university. Nearly all of the old men will be back at Beloit this fall. J. M. Hollister, of Williams and Michigan, will coach the team. Bunge, one of the guards, is at Wisconsin this fall and as the others will not return, the center will be weakened considerably. Atkinson will play full back and captain the team.

Nothing is reported from Minnesota. DePauw expects to have a fine team this fall. Good prospects are reported from Wabash.

CONGREGATIONAL RECEPTION.

The reception to be given to the students by the First Congregational church this evening has been postponed indefinitely, owing to the concert to be given at the Presbyterian church at that time.

Pierson Halsey, Cornell, '95, of Milwaukee has entered the junior law class.

Fred Kull, '94, has returned to the university to take up the study of law.

The Cardinal has received the first number of the Scarlet and Black, a weekly published by Iowa College.

Mr. George T. Kelly, of Eau Claire, has been spending several days in the city with Phi Delta Theta friends.

Mr. George H. Baxter, of Lancaster, has been spending a few days in the city visiting Rho Kappa Upsilon friends.

J. E. Webster, '94, and W. J. Richards, '93, have located in Pittsburgh, in the employ of Westinghouse Electrical company.

Mr. Henry Vilas will remain in the east two weeks longer and visit his friend, Mr. Marcus Ford, at Cambridge, Mass., after Sept. 19th.

Gregg Connell, ex-'96, is visiting friends in this city on his way to Chicago, where he will continue his studies at Rush medical college.

Remember the social at the M. E. church this evening. All students are cordially invited and will be made welcome. A good place to get acquainted.

The seminary in English literature meets each Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6. The subject this year is a study of the poetry of Robert Browning. It is open to graduate students and properly qualified seniors. Last year five professors and an attorney or two were members of the class.

CITY LECTURE COURSE.

The City Lecture course of the M. E. church will present an especially attractive program to the citizens of Madison this winter. The Schumann quartette will open the course Oct. 25, and will be assisted by Miss Cora Edsall, reader, and Miss Alice Leslie Watson. The other attractions are John DeWitt Miller, Nov. 17, lecture; the Chicago Rival Concert company, in December; Brooker T. Washington, who delighted the audience at Lakeside this summer; Hon. Ignatius Donnelly; Rev. Gonsaulus, with a new lecture.

The large increase in attendance at the university this year is most gratifying. While most institutions were expecting a still greater falling off than in the previous year the increase at Wisconsin will probably be greater than it has been for a number of years. The new students in the college departments will number about 350. The entering class in the law school will be about 125, while the increase in the school of pharmacy is correspondingly large.

It has been generally thought that the effects of the hard times would be felt more this year in the colleges than last but this theory has been disproved in our case at least, and reports from other institutions as near as we can make out show a similar state of affairs. Judging from the present figures the total enrollment in the next catalogue will exceed 1,400.

With its new buildings, increased attendance and additions to our faculty the University of Wisconsin takes its stand pretty close to the top of American institutions of learning.

After this issue the Cardinal will be delivered only to those who have subscribed for the paper. All those desiring to have the Cardinal delivered to them should notify the business manager at once, or leave the subscription blanks which accompany this issue in the boxes in Science and library halls. All such orders will receive prompt attention, and all subscribers should notify the business manager if they fail to receive the paper.

The new scheme of a fall field-day is a worthy one and should receive the hearty support of all athletes. The proposed class contests will give additional interest to the events and the training the men will receive during the fall term will better prepare them for the more important work of the spring. With steady and earnest work the university should send a team to the next Chicago meet second to none in the west.

One of the enterprises of Leland Stanford University is a laundry. Several of the students are employed in it and work is done much cheaper than at an ordinary laundry.

TAKE CARE OF THE EYES.

Forty-Three Diseases, and More Than Half Are Contagious.

Everybody should have his own bed, towel, sponge and soap, make his hand toilet in running water, live and sleep in well ventilated rooms, and come under the cleansing, refreshing influence of outdoor air and sunshine at least one hour every day of his life, for the health of his eyes, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. Roller towels, family wash rags and the habit of using a bath or basin of water a second time produces more diseases of the ear and eye than all the fevers on the list of plagues. There are 43 diseases of the eye, and more than half are contagious. Fully 25 per cent. of the sore eyes among babies and young children and 11 per cent. among adults are preventable. The most common disease, granulation of the lids, is contagious, and should be quarantined. In the surgical wards of public and private institutions towels are frequently burned, and bandages and dressings always the moment after use. Cataract patients are put in separate rooms in isolated wards. In all serious cases surgeons change their clothes and often wear inclosed spectacles. Considering the pricelessness of sight, too much care cannot be taken of the eye.

The following simple method enables a patient to see a cataract in his own eye and note its growth and development, probably better than any oculist can observe it for him. Cataract is said to be due to the gradual deposition of oxalate of lime in the substance of the crystalline lens, at first in small spots and streaks, sometimes in one part and sometimes in another. The deposit gradually increases until it penetrates the whole of the lens, causing blindness. The remedy, then, is to remove the lens, and after its removal the patient needs a substitute in the form of highly magnifying spectacles. All that is necessary to enable the patient to see his own cataract for himself is a piece of card and a needle—a visiting card will do very well. Pierce a clean, round hole near the middle of the card and hold the card up to the light close to the eye, looking preferably in the direction of a piece of blue sky. With the card near to the eye the patient will not the small hole pierced by the needle, but he will see a comparatively large, faintly illuminated field, with his cataract projected upon it. He is, in fact, observing the shadow cast by his cataract on the retina at the back of his eye. With a small puncture in the card the shadow so thrown is comparatively sharp. But with a normal eye an evenly illustrated field of clean disk will be seen. The patient may thus map down his cataract and settle for himself whether it is extending and whether he will have an operation or not. None of the oculists seem to have known of the method, and there may, consequently, be some advantage in making it public.

WASHINGTON WEATHER.

Washington Star: "Mighty hot, ain't it," exclaimed the man who was standing on the curbstone on Pennsylvania avenue.

"Yes. I don't see why you stay where it is so warm. Got an appointment?"

"No. It's just my curiosity. I want to be here to see it when the asphalt melts and runs into the sewers."

TIME TO BUILD THE FIRE.

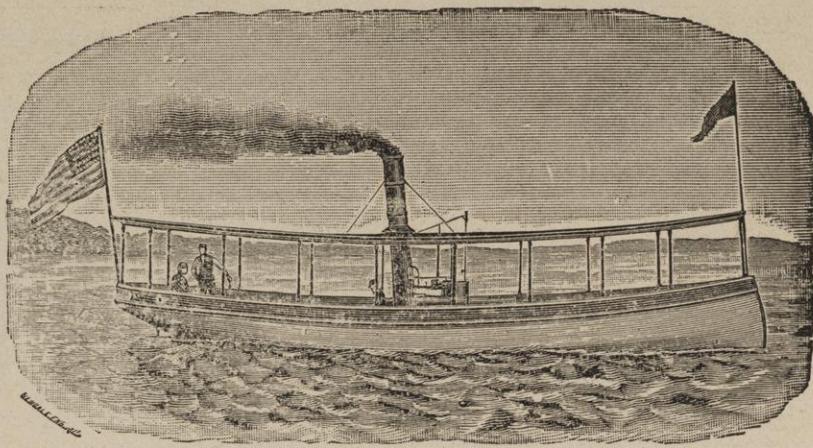

Boston Journal: Mrs. Striker—Don't you believe in the union of labor?

Mr. S.—Of course I do. Why, my dear, if there were no union of labor, the greed of capital with its iron heel would—

Mrs. S. (interrupting)—That's all right; suppose you get up and build the fire, and I'll cook breakfast.

THE PEARY EXPEDITION.

News was recently received by the steamer Falcon from the Peary expedition in the arctic regions.

The story of the expedition is very thrilling. The first incident was the birth of Mrs. Peary's baby September 12th, 1893, a month after the Falcon left last year. During the month of October last fearful storms swept over the Falcon harbor, smashing a launch and washing away large quantities of oil intended for use for illuminating and heating purposes. Various scientific observations were pursued all winter. The meteorological observations were the most successful. On March 6th last, the main expedition started across Greenland to Independence bay, the farthest point north reached by Lieut. Peary, on his previous journey. The eight men, Lieutenant Peary, Entriiken, Astrup, Dr. Vincent, Lee, Davidson, Baldwin and Clarke, with twelve sledges and ninety-two dogs, met with frightful weather almost from the time of starting. After a week Dr. Vincent was so used up that he had to return.

The storm reached its worst point during the equinoctial gales of March 20th. The party was then in camp about 50 miles from Anniversary lodge in a temporary house at the head of Bowdoin bay.

The thermometer dropped to 55 and 60 degrees below zero, and remained so for two days, while the gale, blowing about 50 miles an hour, buffeted the party. Davidson and Lee were badly frost bitten, and Astrup, the Norwegian, gave out from hardship. The dogs perished in great numbers and froze into solid blocks. After the storm was over, the whole party returned to Anniversary lodge, where they left three sick men, together with plenty of supplies from the base of operations. Then the four healthy ones, Lieut. Peary, Entriiken, Clarke and Baldwin, started again and continued onward for fourteen days. But the dogs continued to die and those left were unable to drag the sledges and provisions. The party was so weakened by exposure and the time occupied in traveling was so long as to render it impossible to reach Independence bay in time to accomplish anything. Consequently Lieutenant Peary decided to abandon his attempt to cross Greenland and return to headquarters, which were reached April 20th.

The party had been absent about forty-five days and only got 130 miles away. It started with ninety-two dogs and returned with only twenty-six, after having abandoned all the sledges on the way. It covered only a quarter of the distance necessary and never made more than twenty miles in any day. The members of the party claimed that their experience in equinoctial gales was worse than that of any previous arctic explorers. All had very narrow escapes from being frozen to death. Entriiken had both feet badly frost-bitten. Davidson was sick for months after the experience. After the party gained health, other explorations in the neighborhood were organized. Astrup made a survey of the unexplored part of the coast of Melville and chartered 100 miles of it. He had a native crew of five men to help him.

Lieut. Peary and wife made a sledge journey to Olrike bay, 100 miles distant. Entriiken and Dr. Vincent started to try and reach Kane's winter quarters at Littlejohn Island but the ice broke up, compelling them to return.

The auxiliary expedition which sailed from here July 7th, on board the steamer Falcon, met with very much ice and the steamer was seriously hampered in its operations. She had extreme difficulty in making her way through the ice floes and only sighted Bowdoin bay July 23d. Then the ice pack thirty-five miles wide prevented communication with the shore until August 11th and the steamer only anchored in Falcon harbor on August 20th. She found all the Peary party in good health and spirits and glad of an opportunity to return home. While going north the Falcon searched the Carey Islands, Cape Faraday and Clarence head, but found no traces of the long-missing Swedish explorers, Bjorling and Kalsgenius, who sailed from here in June 1892, in the schooner Ripple. Their death is now regarded as certain.

The Falcon secured some relics on Carey Islands and buried a skeleton supposed to be that of a sailor. The ship started on its return trip August 26th.

Lieutenant Peary decided to remain another year in the north and try to cross Greenland next year. Lee and Hanson agreed to remain with him. He accompanied the Falcon as far south as Cape York, where he discovered a magnificent iron meteorite. He hoped to put it on board the ship and send it to the United States, but found the ice blocking the ship which made it impossible to get to the land and therefore gave up the attempt.

Messrs. C. B. Welton & Co. Make an Announcement.

C. B. Welton & Co., who carry one of the largest stocks of clothing, hats and furnishing goods in the city, commenced doing a strictly cash business Sept. 1st. Cash buyers will now receive the full benefit of their money; the large stock of new goods which they are now opening is being marked down to prices that are really astonishing.

All goods on hand previous to this fall's purchase have been marked down to correspond with the low prices placed on the new ones—the discount made illustrates the difference between a credit and a cash deal. No one should think of buying clothing this fall without first looking at their goods and prices. The high grade of their goods has been fully maintained but the prices are unquestionably the lowest ever made on first-class clothing. Under this new deal all goods are marked in plain figures and as the prices made are the lowest possible to make, no deviation will be made under any circumstances. People who are not posted can buy as cheap as the expert. The increase of their business during the week seems to indicate that the people like the new deal and appreciate the low prices and fine selection of clothing now offered them by this firm.

The College Book Store has an immense stock of second-hand books this fall. You will do well to call and look them over.

ATTENTION, STUDENTS.

The new clothing store at 228 State street with an entire new stock of clothing and gent's furnishing goods, is the headquarters for the students. Special rates will be given to all of them. Call and convince yourself.

NOTICE.

Dodge's Biology and Asborne's Calculus have just been received at the Co-op.

Gentlemen: Now is your opportunity to buy patent leather shoes at a bargain. C. L. Gill & Co., 13 South Pinckney street, are having a special sale on these goods this week. See their window for styles and prices.

If you want to be "in it," clean a window a minute—BON AMI the MODERN CLEANER. Cleans windows, show-cases, silver, copper and brass. Warranted not to scratch and contains no acid. Leave order at 118 North Henry street. H. Caesar, agent.

—Don't forget the concert Monday evening. It's a rare treat. Such musicians as Prof. Parker, Miss Moore, Mrs. Ainsworth and Miss Clugston, were pleased with the recommendations of the company.

—A few printed copies of the Class Pageant as acted by the senior class last spring, may be obtained of W. W. Allen, 228 Langdon street, for twenty cents each.

SINGERS, ATTENTION!!

There are vacancies to be filled in every part of the U. W. Glee club.

Applicants are requested to apply to Prof. Parker, room 15, or to Prof. Sire, room, 5 Ladies' hall.
