MINNESOTA TEAM DOWNS WISCONSIN WOMEN DEBATERS

Invaders, Advocating Continuance of R. O. T. C. Win
Annual Debate

"I have a hunch that Minnesota wins." With these words, the judge, Arnold Michael Olbrich, handed the decision in the Minnesota-Wisconsin Women's Intercollegiate debate to the negative team, represented by Minnesota. "Resolved: That military drill and instruction in the state universities of the United States should be discontinued," was the question under debate last night in the Lathrop concert room.

Norma Gaulke Outlines Case
The one point of agreement in the argument of the two teams was that national preparedness is necessary, since the ideal of peace on earth has not yet been attained. The first speaker for the affirmative, represented by Wisconsin, was Norma Gaulke '28. Miss Gaulke set forth three contentions as the platform of her team: first, military training in the state universities is contrary to the highest aims of our educational system; second, the military training offered through the R. O. T. C. is not sufficient to train officers; and third, the training offered is not an adequate preparation in case of an emergency.

In the three speeches of the negative, represented by Agnes Thorvilson, Adeline Ebling, and Beryl Bearman, it was set forth first, that there is a need for national defense; second, that the R. O. T. C. provides sufficient training for reserve officers, for which purpose it is maintained; third that to forbid military training in state universities would be to infringe upon state rights.

Advocate Arbitrary Teaching
The remaining speakers for the Wisconsin team, Aline Ziebell '27, and Matilda Geil '27, attempted to show that the trend today is to teach, not how to fight but how to keep from fighting. They advocated the teaching of arbitration and political science instead of military science to college men. They maintained that the time and money expended on the R. O. T. C. could be better put on the maintenance and improvement of the regular stand-

ST. PAT RIDES IN STATE THIS YEAR

Theaters Offer Free Passes to Reward Deserving Band
Members

The engineers' St. Pat parade will take place Saturday at 1 o'clock, rain or shine. As usual, the assembling point will be at the lower campus from which the procession will go up State street to the square, around the square and down Wisconsin avenue, and then return by Langdon street.

Upon hearing that the time was officially decided, St. Pat himself agreed to it and then set off to make peace with the gods in hopes of getting sunshine and blue skies for the event. As yet he has not submitted his report.

Besides arranging for the weather, St. Pat has so far exerted himself this year that he is to have a big sedan to ride around the route in. This is quite an innovation, for in the past he rode in anything that happened to be handy.

In honor of the event, two Madison theaters have decided to reward some of those who have toiled in order that this year's parade might be even greater than any of those before. The Orpheum is going to give a theater party for 30 deserving members of the band. Inasmuch as there are to be 35 pieces, it is expected that competition will run high for the free admits.

The other theater which is giving a theater party for workers is the Madison. It has decided to entertain 20 of the hardest workers in the drawing classes.

Day By Day With The News

By C. O. S.

The sympathy of the nation goes out to the Mississippi states, battling against the floods which rise higher and higher in Southern Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Mississippi. Farm homes along the rivers have been deserted by over 30,000 people. To add to the discomfort and danger of the refugees, tornadoes and driving rain have struck these states coupled with almost freezing temperature.

Cold

The weather situation yesterday: 16 below zero weather at Georgetown Lake, Wyo.

Snow fell throughout Middle West.

Below-freezing temperature expected in Southern Wisconsin last night.

Prospects for sunny skies and near-baseball weather are predicted for Saturday by the weather bureau.

A Mis-Trial

A mistrial was declared yesterday in the Ford-Sapiro libel suit. The jury which has heard the testimony of Sapiro during the past few weeks was dismissed by Judge Raymond and a date for a new trial will be set. Prejudice on the part of the jurors has been claimed by Ford's attorneys.

Cuba's President Here

Gerardo Machado, president of Cuba, has arrived at Key West, Florida, and is enroute to Washington where he will pay his respects to President Coolidge.

"Chinese Revolution Inescapable"—MacDonald

"The position of the Labor party in England is that a revolution was inescapable in China. Great Britain, France, and America have been engaged for years in educating China. It was natural that the intelligentsia should forment a revolution and that this education should alter the Chinese psychology and impel them on to nationalism. This nationalism the Chinese would not realize save through a revolution."

It is Ramsey McDonald, Britain's former Labor premier speaking on the significance of the Cantonese ty in China. The labor party of England is sympathetic with the nationalists for one of the objects of the revolution is to raise the status of the Chinese laborer.

To Consider Fixed Easter Date

A League of Nations committee is seeking to place Easter on a fixed date. The Church of England is agreeable, the Roman church may consider it, but the Greek church is against all change in the tradition which has made Easter a movable church festival.

The Italy and Hungarian Treaty

The recent treaty of friendship signed between Italy and Hungary may be regarded as a treaty of friendship based upon discontent. Although Italy and Hungary are not neighbors, both are ambitious. Mussolini seeks power in the Adriatic region. Hungary looks hungrily upon her lost territory in Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania.

Other significance may be found in the treaty if the hatred between Italy and Jugo-Slavia is considered. Should a war between these two nations occur and should Hungary have sufficient strength, she could attack Jugo-Slavia from the rear and thus that nation would be hemmed in between two allies.

Those who fear immediate war must realize, however that neither of the nations concerned have sufficient financial resources to wish to foster a war. Moreover, the psychology of the people is such, as pointed out by Frank B. Simons, noted European correspondent, that a statesman would run great risk in precipitating a conflict. Even the mighty Mussolini would not be immune should the tide turn against him.

Perhaps Coolidge wishes to come to the Middle West to discover if Sinclair Lewis pictures this section correctly in "Main Street" and "Elmer Gantry."

SENIORS MUST PAY DUES TO OBTAIN CLASS PROGRAMS

—RUSCHA

More Than 600 Members of '27
Have Not Paid $5 Assessment

Gordon Ruscha, treasurer of the senior class, announced yesterday that members of the class who have not paid their dues will not be permitted to buy the class programs and invitations.

"At the present time 604 seniors have paid their dues, amounting to $3,200, but since the class numbers about 1200, more than 600 are still in arrears," said Ruscha. "At the last meeting of the class it was unanimously decided that all seniors would have to pay dues, and at a recent meeting of the Executive committee of the class it was decided that all who have not paid their dues could not get the class programs and invitations."

"Not a Co-op Ruling"

"The Co-op has no jurisdiction in this matter, and it is not a ruling of the Co-op. They are under strict orders to sell no programs unless the class card signifying that the senior has paid his dues is in the files"

For the convenience of the class, dues are now payable at the administration building at the office of Miss Alice V. Kin, in the student employment office. At the time of the sale of programs, dues will be payable at the desk in the Co-op, where the invitations and programs are on sale.

Will Send Letters

During the next week letters will be sent out to all the seniors, giving them information about the programs. Ruscha concluded, "We want to explain that the Co-op is in no way able to make exemptions from this ruling, because only in this way is it possible to have a fair and just distribution of the senior dues."

Franks Entertain Sophomore Class

President and Mrs. Glenn Frank are giving a reception for the members of the sophomore class from 3 to 7 o'clock, Saturday, April 30, at the university executive home, 130 North Prospect avenue. Edward P. Cole, president of the class of '29, will receive with them.

The Franks desire that each university sophomore attend the function, whether or not he has received his invitation.

As far as registration records permitted, cards were sent, but it is possible that there may have been errors in classification and addresses. A note may signify a student's intention to attend or he may telephone Miss J. M. Wilkinson, secretary to the President, (U 26) or call at her office, room 161, Bascom hall.

More Night Letters -- But This Time From Haresfoot

DEAR PEOPLE OF JANESVILLE:

It was very nice of you to close down your business houses Wednesday afternoon and to meet us at the station with the band. We sincerely hope you enjoyed our performance as much as your vociferous applause indicated.

DEAR CO-ED:

Be sure to persuade Ed to take you to "Meet The Prince" either this or next week end. You'll laugh at John Moran's humor; you'll throb at the handsome hero; you'll absolutely palpitate at the dashing

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORTS FAVORABLY ON NEW FIELD HOUSE

Der Tag!

"Meet the Prince" Takes
Final Victorious Stand
Against Enthusiastic Audiences Beginning Tonight

The initial Madison showing of "Meet the Prince!" 29th annual production of the Haresfoot club, will be presented at the Parkway theater this evening. Tomorrow's matinee and evening performances will conclude one-half of the Madison showings.

The latest and current Haresfoot show, having completed a road tour through all of the principal cities of the north central states, has been adjudged the best of the Wisconsin presentations and has been ranked by critics with the best college shows ever presented.

Comments of the press praise the spirit of youth which delightfully permeates this fast moving comedy farce of the popular student tour theme. The expertness of the dancing, the humor of the lines, the colorfulness of the costumes and scenery, and the haunting themes of the melodies have all come in for their share of praise.

Walter Whitworth, dramatic editor of the Indianapolis News saw "Meet the Prince!" and declared that it "was the best all around collegiate show presented here in the last few years." Eight universities give their impersonation shows there yearly!

Fresh from a showing at Janesville Wednesday evening, in which the lines, dancing, and songs were brushed up for the final and all-important showings here, the Haresfooters will probably be at their best.

The costumes have all been dry-cleaned after the road shows, the freshness restored to the scenery, and effects, and the brass of the orchestra polished—all pointing at a first rate home showing.

Besides the showings tonight and tomorrow, Haresfoot will repeat next week with its three final appearances of 1927.

GIVE HALF PRICE TO LATHROP LATE-COMERS

This weekend the Wisconsin Union is offering special prices to Haresfoot theatre-goers at its regular Lathrop Board dances. All couples arriving late from "Meet The Prince" will be granted admission at half price. Frank Rohrer's and "Bunny" Lyons' orchestra will play on Friday and Saturday nights respectively.

Bill Must be Passed by Finance Committee Before Going to Senate

The legislative battle for an adequate athletic field house at Wisconsin went into the second round yesterday as the bill providing a $300,000 appropriation toward the building of the field house was reported favorably by the senate committee on education and public welfare.

The bill was immediately re-referred to the joint committee on finance, by which it will have to be approved before going to a vote in the senate.

Bill at Crucial Point

Consideration by the finance committee is regarded as a crucial point in the progress of the bill by its supporters, who believe that the appropriation is fully justified by the state of antiquity into which university indoor athletic facilities have fallen at the present time.

Carl Johnson, chairman of the field house committee, Louis M. Hanks and State Senator George Sauhoff have been especially active in furthering the bill, and George E. Little, director of athletics in the university, has compiled numerous statistics to show how far the men's gymnasium misses fulfilling the needs of an up-to-date physical education plant.

Little Champions Plans

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Little appeared before the hearing of the senate committee on education Wednesday.

"While I do not believe that athletics provide the only method of character-building," said Mr. Little, "certainly they provide one very good method, probably the best method for building character in a state university. Iowa, Michigan and Illinois have thought enough of their young men to give them huge field-houses. Wisconsin cannot conscientiously do otherwise."

As now planned, the proposed field house will be built half from appropriation of the legislature and half by the sale of bonds which will

PLAYERS ELECT MEYERS, HUGHES

Konnak, Retiring President,
Predicts Era of Success for Club

Sam Meyers, Law 2, was elected president of the Wisconsin Players at a meeting last night and will carry the work of the organization when it goes into its new quarters in the Bascom theater next month.

His fellow officers, elected at the meeting are Helen Hughes '28, vice president; Esther Johnson '28, succeeding Jane Gaston '27, as secretary and Richard Church '27, as treasurer in a joint office; and Perry Thomas '28, continuing as business manager.

Helen Martin '27 and Frances Lohbauer '27 were elected to membership in the club.

Meyers is filling the office of Harold Konnak, Law 2, who has acted as president of the organization for the past two years. The retiring president formally installed the incoming officers.

Konnak outlined the work of the club during its past years and predicted an era of success for it when he said, "In the past the members of this organization have worked under great handicaps with all the odds against them. Next year will mark the culmination of our efforts. You will have the new theater in which to develop potentialities of Players to the fullest extent. All that the members have worked for in the past has come and the extent to which this organization can progress is unlimited. I wish you all success and confidently hope for great things from the organization."

College Hills and Shorewood to Unite as Single Village

Shorewood Hills is to be the name of the newly proposed village to be made up of two Madison suburbs, Shorewood and College Hills. The residents of these districts have come to the conclusion that some $6,000 dollars paid in taxes as parts of the city of Madison, could be saved through the formation of a separate, and village form of government.

These districts, lying west of the University on Lake Mendota are two of the more exclusive residential parts of town. A survey of property has been taken as well as a census of individuals.

Although a number of informal meetings to discuss the subject have been held from time to time, it was not until the last few days that definite action has been taken. A petition signed by the property owners of the sections in question has been obtained.

3 Wisconsin Men Will Attend Iowa Social Conference

The university will be represented at the National Conference of Social Work and kindred groups, to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, from May 8 to 18, by President Glenn Frank, D. D. Lescohier, professor of economics, and J. L. Gillen, professor of sociology.

President Frank will address the conference of the National Probation Association, the evening of May 10, on "Youth and the Current Moralities."

Prof. Lescohier will speak May 14 at the meeting of section II of division X—"The Immigrant" on the subject, "Our Newest Immigrants—the Mexicans."

SENATE COMMITTEE FAVORS FIELDHOUSE

"Will Increase Intramural Fund"

Many people have lost sight of the fact that Wisconsin, almost alone among Big Ten schools, has built her stadium without asking the alumni for aid, said Mr. Little yesterday. For the past 25 or 30 years, football receipts have had to pay for a great stadium, make up the deficits in 15 other intercollegiate sports, none of which fully pay their way, and support as much of an intramural program as could be devised with the facilities at hand.

Building of the new field house will, therefore, not only give all university men a better opportunity for exercise but will take some of the financial burden off football and increase the funds available for use in intramurals, Mr. Little stated.

NEW GLARUS.—William Figy, 21, and Ida Bohren, 22, New Glarus, were granted a marriage license at Freeport.

Madisonians Garner Various Awards at State Art Exhibit

Jim Chichester '29, with his "Portrait of Mr. I. T. C. Dissinger," and Prof. R. S. Stebbins of the Applied Arts school, with his "Portrait," won the honor of having their canvases hung in the Fourteenth Annual exhibition of Wisconsin painters in the Milwaukee Art Institute.

A. Nicholas Colt, an instructor in Applied Arts at the University of Wisconsin last year, won the $100 award and the Institute medal with his "Portrait of Solomon Levitan."

Two other Madisonians had their canvases exhibited, Dell M. Rindy with her "Flower Study" and "Flowers in a Bowl;" and Mrs. Jessie K. Chase with a "Decorative Panel."

Prof. O. F. Hagen of the department of history and art criticism served on the jury of selection and awards which judged the 584 canvases submitted, only 106 of which were exhibited. The exhibition opened April 6 and will close on April 30.

SOCIETIES REVIVED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Greek letter societies will again take their places on the various campuses of colleges and universities of South Carolina where, since 1897 they have been made impossible by the state law, following the repeal of the non-fraternity legislation on May 31. It is supposed that many of the former fraternities will revive their South Carolina chapters. Among those which were discontinued in 1897 were: Chi Psi, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu, Chi Phi, Kappa Sigma, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

WISCONSIN CINDER STARS LEAVE FOR KANSAS AND OHIO

McGinnis, Kreuz, and Mile
Relay Team Go to Lawrence

Wisconsin's delegates to the Ohio and Kansas relays will leave town at noon today, Coach T. E. Jones accompanying the squad which goes to Kansas, and Guy M. Sundt that which goes to Columbus.

The entries as announced last night for both relays follow:

Ohio relays—mile team race, John C. Zola '27, John W. Petaja '28, Charles L. Bullamore '28, Robert B. Schwenger '27; 220 yard low hurdles: Ralph B. Pahlmeyer '29, 120 yard high hurdles: Arthur C. Stehr '27; javelin throw: John P. Mayer '29; Willard L. Momen '29 will enter the high jump, and the hop, skip and jump at Ohio.

K. U. Entries

Kansas relays—Charles E. McGinnis '27, high jump, pole vault, and 120 yard high hurdles; Robert L. Kreuz '27, javelin throw; one mile relay, Gilbert J. Smith '27, Trevor C. Dougan '28, Harwood L. Stowe '28, and Jack P. Kanalz '29. All-around improvement of the Wisconsin squad this year has prompted the large number of entries in the Kansas relays, where competition is usually a bit keener than that at Ohio. Last year, Kreuz won the javelin throw at Ohio State with a toss of 193 feet 9 1/2 inches, while John Kuck, Emporia State Teacher's college star, was winning the same event at Kansas with 206 feet 6 1/4 inches.

Fight It Out at Kansas

McGinnis is favored to put up a great fight for the pole vault and high jump honors at Kansas, though he is entered in a field which makes no bones of clearing 13 feet in the vault and 6, 5 in the high jump.

Great things are expected of the mile relay team which is performing at Kansas. Iowa, gifted with a pair of great 440 yard dash men, won the event last year in 3:20. The lineup of Dougan, Stowe, Smith and Kanalz, however, should prove equal even to such a terrific pace as this.

At Ohio, the mile race team is shooting at a second consecutive title in its event, while Pahlmeyer, Stehr, Momen and Mayer will carry on in the special events.

Ticket Sale for Grad Club Dance Will be Limited

Plans are being completed for the Graduate club dance to be held Friday, April 29, at the College club. The dance committee, consisting of George Bryan, chairman, Elsie P. Briggs, Walter Banfield and Eva Seen announce a good ticket sale but the number of available tickets has been limited to insure against overcrowding.

Dean and Charles S. Slichter of the Graduate School and Mrs. Annie S. Pray, hostess of the College club, will chaperon.

Tickets for the dance may be bought today of members of the committee or at the graduate office, 264 Bascom hall.

That other dead body found between the pumping station and the coal pile belonged to the guy who asked us how we liked the weather. Two gone.

Tomorrow, the natives of two states will watch Wisconsin athletes go through their prize paces. Kansas gets the best of it, for there Chuck McGinnis, the wonder man of high jump and Red Kreuz, extra super star javelin heaver, are scheduled to do their tricks. At Ohio, the mile race team, Art Stehr and Ralph Pahlmeyer, hurdlers, will uphold the ancient Badger custom of winning or knowing the reason why.

And your friend Jupited Q. Pluvius has just strained three water buckets this week trying to get Randall diamond into good shape for the first conference baseball game Saturday. We understand, unofficially, that Coach Lowman has ordered four canoes for the base-runners. Nothing like preparedness. What?

Perhaps you noticed that Purdue hung a snappy little fire sale tag on Michigan's baseball title ambitions Wednesday. In spite of the fact that the Wolverines made more hits and fewer errors than Purdue, they lost, something strange indeed in the annals of athletic history. As it happened, the one Michigan error permitted two honest Purdue runs to hobble across the plate, giving the oilmakers nothing more than a 2-1 advantage for nine innings of labor.

Our esteemed fellow sport aesthete of the State Journal gives one whole column of unstinted praise to H. E. "Dad" Vail, Wisconsin crew coach, whom he credits, quite truthfully, with being a unique and strong character in Badger sports. We add, rather humbly, that Dad Vail is not only sympathetic and understanding and stern, he is also a man who knows rowing from bow to stern, whose crews have been known and feared at Poughkeepsie for many years, most especially since the Wisconsin eight of 1923 stroked into an astonishingly close second place behind Washington's prize winning huskies. In other words, Dad, like John D. knows his oil.

ELECTION PARTY TO BE HELD AT CALVARY

An election party will be held at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening at the Calvary Lutheran University church. Student council officers for the coming year will be elected preceding the basket supper sponsored by the Girls club.

"Freshman Week," intended to give new students a better start by acquainting them with the aims and ideals of the university, and by completing physical exams and intelligence tests before the beginning of classes will be inaugurated next September at Ohio State University by about 3000 Frosh.

Hawkeye Coaches Hail From Four Corners of U. S.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Exponents of the best types of football from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the middle west will guide the University of Iowa squad through the 1927 season.

Appointment of Ed Walker, famous Stanford end, will bring one of Glenn S. ("Pop") Warner's finest students to augment the Hawkeye staff.

At the helm will be Burton A. Ingwersen, head coach since 1924 who learned his football under the crafty Bob Zuppke of Illinois. Ingwersen's first assistant is Chester I. Mead, Iowa guard on the championship teams of 1921 and 1922. Mead was a pupil of Howard Jones, now Southern California coach.

From the Atlantic seaboard will come Frank H. Wickhorst, captain and all-American tackle on the Navy's undefeated eleven. Wickhorst is a product of Oak Park, Ill., high school but learned the finer points of football as an eastern player.

Justin M. (Sam) Barry, who developed fine teams at Knox college a few years ago, continues as end coach while Rollie F. Williams, Wisconsin's all-western half back in 1922, takes charge of the Hawkeye backfield men as he did in 1925 and 1926.

CHICAGO U. W. CLUB TO HONOR DIRECTOR LITTLE

A stag dinner and smoker in honor of George Little, will be given by the University of Wisconsin Club of Chicago on Friday evening, April 29 in the main dining room of the Straus building, Chicago. The purpose of the meeting is to give everyone a good opportunity to become acquainted with Mr. Little and his work as Director of Athletics at the university.

HOLD PRACTICE FOR CO-ED CLASS TEAMS

Practice for class track teams for women is being held from 3:30 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock Mondays and Thursdays and at 11 o'clock on Saturdays. Junior and senior women are urged to come out as more of these classes are needed for class teams.

CHI EPSILON ELECTS SIX TO MEMBERSHIP

At a meeting of Chi Epsilon, honorary civil engineering fraternity, held at 6 o'clock in the Capitol cafe last night, William J. Chadwick '27, Harry R. Janicki '27, John A. Oakley '28, James L. Buckmaster '28, and Arthur Frazier '28 were elected to membership. Prof. Leonard S. Smith was awarded honorary membership, and spoke upon the relation of an engineer to his community.

PRES. FRANK TO TALK IN TWO ILLINOIS CHURCHES

President Glenn Frank will speak at 4 p. m. Sunday, April 24 in the First Congregational church, of Evanston, Ill. He will also speak at 7:30 p. m. in the First Congregational church, Wilmette, Ill.

WINSLOW, Ill.—Verne Moar, Broadhead, teacher in the schools here, and Miss McCoomis, another teacher, here were married in Chicago recently.

3 WOMEN STUDENTS GIVEN EMBLEMS

Three university women were awarded senior Red Cross life saving emblems by Miss Elizabeth Hastie of the Women's physical education department for having passed their swimming tests earlier this spring. The women are Lois Savage '28, Dorothy Robinson '27 and Kirsten Ringe. The latter is a native of Denmark and is assisting Miss Carol Rice in the teaching of Danish plastics.

NET ENTHUSIASTS GET IN PRACTICE

Despite the rainy weather that is making the courts too soggy for good play, tennis enthusiasts are trying out their rackets whenever possible, and plans for university competition are being carried on to completion.

Bulletins requesting all those fraternities interested in inter-fraternity tennis competition to sign in the inter-mural office have been sent out by the university, and over twenty fraternities have thus far signified their intention of entering.

Possible strong entries in this sport are Alpha Chi Sigma, who will be led by Whitenack, all-university single champion varsity man. Many other fraternities are also expected to show up well, as a fine crop of frosh men were brought out in last falls tournament.

In addition to this pairings for the all-university tennis tournament will be drawn up early next week, and action begun as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

NINE SCHOOLS IN MIDWEST RELAYS

Meet in Charge of Tom Lieb;
More Than 300 Athletes
Expected

Nine high schools from three states have already signed to compete in the fourth annual Interscholastic Relays, to be held at the University of Wisconsin on April 30. All high school track teams in the Middle West whose state associations are members of the National Federation of state high school athletic associations are eligible and it is expected that a number of others will be entered.

Events will include a quarter mile relay, half mile relay, one mile relay, two mile relay, sprint medley relay, distance medley relay, 100-yard high hurdles, running broad jump, discus, javelin and pole vault.

Rules of the National Collegiate Association will govern the meet, which will be managed by T. J. Lieb of the University of Wisconsin Coaching staff. All proceeds, beyond expenses, will be prorated among the competing teams.

Arrangements have been made to secure reduced railroad fare for all who attend, under the fare and a half schedule.

Lake Geneva; Wauzeka; Mason City, Iowa; East of Milwaukee; Dubuque, Iowa; Fort Atkinson; Madison East Side; Janesville, and Hankinson, North Dakota high schools have sent in their applications.

Wanted:—More Activities

When in the course of human events an individual reaches that estate where he is about to be graduated from this state university within the next eight weeks after a career of four years in its life, it has been established that it is his privilege to express opinions on that very controversial subject of extra-curricular activities.

To our way of thinking there is just one thing wrong with extra-curricular activities at the University of Wisconsin. That is that there are not anywheres near enough students taking part in them.

There are not too many activities which absorb the time of students at this university, but there is a dearth of material for these activities. The result is that a few people, not through any volition of their own, are burdened with two or three times as many responsible and time-taking positions as they can handle conveniently and still carry a standard scholastic schedule without getting into trouble with the faculty.

There is a general apathy and indifference on the part of the whole student body toward activities in general. They never even consider the idea of getting out into the swim themselves, but are content to let a few people, relatively speaking, carry the burden of all the activities. Student positions of honor and trust in the student body are no longer looked at in the same light which they were in years gone by—students are loath to be interested in getting them for themselves. They consider it impossible and let it go at that.

Testimony for these statements can be seen in the everyday life of the activities. The Daily Cardinal, the Student Senate, Forensic board, class offices, dramatics and almost every other branch of activity will bear this out. Instead of being sought after by a large group of students, affording strong competition and excellent talent for these works, a small group presents itself and carries off the positions. Not only is the group in each activity small, but the group in all activities taken as a whole is small. So much so that it is quite possible to take any one activity and find its members taking part in one, two, or three other varieties of productions.

This situation does not mean that the present activities are not being carried on by people of industry and talent. Nor does it mean that they are second-rate individuals. The campus productions now will bear comparison to those of former years without any great danger of being rated as inferior to them.

The fact remains, however, that there is a vicious cycle of activities on the campus. A student put his finger into some activity in his freshman year and shows that he has ability, industry, perseverance. The next year he tries to continue in this activity alone with the idea of really getting somewhere with it by his senior year. Along comes somebody else and talks him into doing just this one other thing. They will not take a negative answer so the sophomore goes along. This practice keeps up until by the time the second semester of his senior year comes around he finds little time in which to take care of all of his activities, let alone try to make good grades in his school work.

Troubles of one sort or another with the faculty inevitably sour these individuals so that they leave the university to become some of the least interested alumni which the university has. If the cycle could be corrected this situation would not be.

We do not agree with the deans and professors who publicly declaim whenever opportunity presents itself that student activities are of themselves harmful, and that a university is a consecrated place for the sole pursuit of book-learning. Heaven forbid that we should agree with this because it is alien to our belief as to what a university is. On the other hand we suggest to these deans and professors that the harm comes not from having too many student activities but from the fact that there are not enough people in these activities. If there were more out for them the competition were stronger activists would of necessity be compelled to stay to one or two endeavors instead of getting along in several as they now do.

Professor vs. Coach

A professor of this university recently gave a talk before a business men's luncheon club. He took occasion to try and debate some assertions which a famous football coach made at a banquet in this city some time ago anent the subject of football. As is customary, neither this professor or the football coach will ever get anywhere with their arguments. They are both bitterly biased in their views and neither will grant that the other has any reason to criticize his work or to offer suggestions for its improvement.

This case is not unique and we can see during the year several similar ones which have the same result. The professor invariably becomes very indignant because the football coach gets such a large salary for "teaching a bunch of physical giants to fall on a football"; the football coach seldom gives the professor any credit for knowing whereof he speaks and usually laughs off the professorial criticism of athletics with the air of a father saying, "No sonny, you don't know anything about it."

It is quite apparent that neither the educational side or the athletic side of universities are perfect. Each has its imperfections. One who takes in both of them while attending a university can see shortcomings in both departments. The biased professor and the biased coach, however, will never be able to see that there is anything wrong in his own backyard. But there is something wrong with both of them and it is this fact that will prevent the coach and the professor from ever having a logical, sensible argument on the relative merits and defects of the other's domain.

We suggest that all coaches and all professors call a truce and stop the talk for a short period. During this period there should be a personal communion, a thorough inspection made of each one's own plant made with a fair mind and with eyes open. From this inspection the professor and the coach should try to note the defects in his own plant and try to remedy them. Then call off the truce and the time will be ripe to take a peek into the other plant with a view toward criticizing it.

The football coach says, "If there are any evils with football I cannot see them." The professor retaliates with, "I am inclined to think that the size of one's pay check sometimes obscures one's vision." The coach says, "Some professors might occupy themselves better by paying more attention to fitting men for the business world." The professors' reply to this is, "Such attention might be paid if we could get students to steal sufficient time from athletics or watching others engage in athletics."

This will get the professor and the coach nowhere. It may satisfy each just a little through the pleasure of having a good "crack" at the opponent, but it will accomplish nothing constructive. Let's have an inspection of each department, a re-modelling, and then perhaps it will be time for the coach to tell the professor how to run the classroom and time for the professor to tell the coach just how to turn out a football team.

As well-expressed once before,—if winter comes again, can spring be far behind again?

There were lots of white caps on the lake yesterday, but few green caps on the campus. Come on, class of '30, remember the tradition and don your verdant headgear.

If this weather keeps up, it looks like Dad Vail's huskies will have their workouts in sheepskin coats and leather mittens.

Our idea of a hard job is that of a red-headed youth trying to get a different nickname.

After we had just sold our overcoat to one of the numerous dealers who have been visiting the campus recently, it starts in snowing.

Last Sunday was Easter. We have a nice program to send home to papa to prove that we went to church.

We didn't stay long, however, for the guy next to us, imposing on our ignorance of religion, whispered "take some" as they were passing a plate.

We did.
Even the organ piped up at that.

Four Good Acts Greet Customers at New Orpheum

By ZOP

All those students to whom the non-arrival of spring has seemed a calamity can attend the New Orpheum and enjoy a good show if they leave before the last act and arrive after the movie is over.

The first four acts are so good that we asked our neighbors if we had not wandered into the wrong town. All four of the acts ran in first-run theatres in Chicago last summer. Incidentally, a movie titled "Jim the Conqueror" is presented, with William Boyd and Elinor Fair doing the chores. Brilliant summaries of the acts follow:

Clarence Downey Co.

Bits of mystifying magic that the hardest fraternity man could not fathom. Clever enough to evoke applause. See it for yourself.

Loos Bros.

These two wise-crackers, with all their Loos Wiles, sang several clever songs. All were enjoyable. We must acknowledge that harmony was certainly present during this presentation.

Phil Seed and Co.

This act was good, ladies and gentlemen, this fellow Phil Seed being quite clever. Also, the girls were not hard to look upon. The wise cracks were ORIGINAL!

Chas. Olcott

Olcott has always appealed to us with his satires on musical comedies and he was going good last night, as the sport writers would say. Don't let your fraternity entertainers miss Olcott for new ideas.

Stewart's International Revue

Not so good. We'd like to find out how they got past the immigration authorities.

Cameron, Psychology Instructor, on Road to Recovery, Report

Norman Cameron, of the psychology department, is well on the road to recovery according to Prof. F. C. Sharp, of the philosophy department. Prof. Sharp received a telegram on Wednesday morning which had been sent Tuesday, saying that Mr. Cameron was much better. He sat up for the first time Tuesday.

Mr. Cameron has been confined to the Cook County hospital, Chicago, Illinois, since vacation.

During his absence, his course in elementary psychology is being conducted by Prof. Sharp. Prof. K. Koffka has charge of his course in introduction to behaviorism. His students in advanced psychology are meeting together once a week and continuing with the work without the aid of an instructor.

Thyra Hagen Will Sing German Songs in Coming Recital

A concert attractive to Madison music lovers will be presented by Thyra Hagen at 8:15 o'clock, Wednesday, April 27, at Music hall under the joint auspices of the department of German and the School of Music. Miss Louise Lockwood of the School of Music will accompany.

Mrs. Hagen, a singer of international reputation, will sing four groups of German songs and arias, composed by Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, and Brahms.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Hook Brothers' Music Company and at the office of the German department in Bascom hall. The prices are 50c, 75c and $1.00.

FLOATING UNIVERSITY OFFERS MANY COURSES

Offering courses in art, music, history, geography, botany, English, foreign trade, international relations, government, journalism, and languages and equipped with a seven thousand volume library, gymnasium, and two swimming tanks, the Cunard liner Aurania will be converted into a "University Float" after the manner of the Ryndam, the first of its kind and will sail on September 21 for a world cruise from New York. Of the eight months spent on the cruise, six will be spent on the high seas and two visiting in the various ports of the continent.

It has been decided by the president of the company, backed in his opinion by the faculty of the Ryndam that women shall be included in the trip.

Serving is the best way of Selling in the bond business

IT IS a disproven idea that bond selling is merely a matter of making friends and using them as a receptive outlet for whatever issues come to hand. The worth-while bond house does not want its bonds sold that way. It trains its representatives to work more constructively.

When the house and the man representing it are known for their carefulness in fitting the bond to the investor, it builds confidence and subordinates selling to serving.

Men who represent Halsey, Stuart & Co. are trained in this policy. It enables them to grow in the bond business and to find a worth-while outlet for their capacity and ambition.

College men should find out all they can about the bond business before deciding for or against it as a vocation. That will correct any erroneous ideas they may have about it or their own fitness or lack of fitness for it.

You will find accurate and helpful information on this subject in a pamphlet we have prepared for college men. Write for pamphlet C. D.-4.

Only a Young Girl Can Wear Betty Wales Frocks

There's a careless grace about Betty Wales frocks that brings out the sweet sophistication of youth. But for mother! horrors! Mother needs conventional and well fitted lines. It is for the young girl who wants a frock which expresses her own individuality, not mother's, that we have selected these models.

Daring new lines mark better-than-everyday dresses, in crepe, georgette and chiffon, airily conceived for spring, in shades that rival the pristine loveliness of fresh flowers. You will find these frocks infinitely helpful in passing the hours that are spent out of the classroom beautifully, and audaciously. $28, $38, $48.

This season has discovered something new in the ensemble. Smartly tailored for practical wear without losing the light gayety of the season are Francene frocks in two or three piece effects. Many have dark silk coatees over a delicate one-piece dress in pastel shades of yellow, green, or orchid.

Up with the Pointex!

This time the Pointex, our hosiery darling of 1927, comes in the famous Onyx brand. In service or chiffon quality the smart upsweeping heel takes a trim dignity with it. At $1.85, the service quality comes in all the new spring shades and will survive the most temptuous spring rains. Chiffon are winsomely sheer at $1.95.

And don't forget that when you want a shoulder flower for your formal or lapel corsage for your coat or suit, our artificial flower garden on the main floor is the place to visit.

MEET TO ASSIST SACCO, VANZETTI

Students and Faculty Will Join in Massmeeting Protest
May 3

A massmeeting to voice sympathy for Sacco and Vanzetti, Massachusetts mill workers sentenced to death for murder, will be held in Music hall, May 3, according to an announcement given the Daily Cardinal last night. Prof. Selig Perlman, department of economics, and Prof. W. G. Rice of the law school and Phil La Follette will speak.

Local papers yesterday afternoon stated that the massmeeting is being arranged by a Sacco-Vanzetti committee which is working in collaboration with the Labor Temple church organizations, and various other bodies.

Prof. Perlman and Prof. Rice are taking an active part in this work.

Leo Strauss, of the State Federation of Labor, and Helen Katz '28 are other members of the committee.

Prof. William Ellery Leonard of the English department in speaking of the Sacco-Vanzetti case said, "Sacco and Vanzetti have been the victims of the most notorious case of injustice I have ever witnessed. In the Middle Ages people believed in the divine right of kings. Shall we now believe in the divine rights of courts?"

In addition to the 23 names which the Daily Cardinal printed Wednesday morning, the petition in the University Club last night carried the following new names—J. Virtue, A. A. Granovsky, R. L. Lasley, Lionel M. Trilling, W. B. Phillips, B. A. Teats, and K. S. Shelvanker.

Additional speakers will be asked to speak at the massmeeting and a resolution asking for the release of Sacco-Vanzetti will be presented. It will then be forwarded to the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee in Boston where similar reports and resolutions are being collected with the purpose in view of getting Governor Fuller to either pardon the ing army of the United States and on the naval and coast guard defense.

The negative asserted that in the last war there was a very evident lack of trained officers to lead the army; in the next war, which they deem inevitable, this contingency must be taken care of. The R. O. T. C. will provide for this need, by turning out five thousand reserve officers annually. They maintained that the R. O. T. C. is the most economical way of training men as officers, both to the government and to the men themselves. By making military training a part of academic training, they prevent the formation of a military caste, which is opposed to American ideals. The R. O. T. C. gives training in leadership, valuable in civil as well as military life. Since national defense is necessary, training in the state universities seems at present to provide the best means of obtaining it.

Aubrey Williams, secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, will lead an informal discussion of the problems of group leaders during the National Conference of Social Work which is to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, from May 11 to 18. Prof. J. L. Gillin, professor of Sociology at the university, will also attend the conference.
