BADGERS MEET PURPLE TONIGHT IN PATTEN GYM

Former Wisconsin Coach Sends Charges Against Meanwellmen

Probable Line-ups.
Wisconsin Northwestern
Gage R. F. Franzen
Elsom L. F. Stegeman
Gibson C. Holmes
Capt. Tebell R. G. McKenzie
Williams L. G. Paterson
Officials: referee, Schommer; umpire, Winter. Place: Patten gym, Evanston.

The Wisconsin basketball team will make its debut in Conference basketball circles tonight when it clashes with Northwestern in the first Big Ten game for either team. They will meet in Patten gym, Evanston where the Purple recently defeated Monmouth and Lake Forest, and lost to Notre Dame in prelim tilts.

A former Wisconsin coach will pit his favorites against the team upon which Badger title hopes rest. Maurice Kent directed the Varsity baseball team in 1920, leaving this institution to coach baseball at Iowa. This is his first year as coach of a Purple team.

Northwestern Has Vets

Working with an outfit of veterans, Kent has succeeded in developing a combination which should offer strong opposition to the in-and-out Badgers. Capt. McKenzie is an experienced player, as are Holmes, Franzen, and Paterson.

Although playing a guard position, McKenzie caged three field goals in the game with Notre Dame. Chuck Palmer, football star, is a substitute who will probably see action before the game is finished.

Same Line-up For Badgers

Wisconsin will be represented by the same combination that went down before Marquette university in one of the hardest games ever played in the gym here. Gibson, whose work was ragged against the Hilltoppers, is known to play better on foreign floors than he does at home, and he can be expected to swing back into his stride. Elsom has not yet found himself, but when he once locates the net, he is a consistent basket shooter.

Gage, Williams and Tebell are all vets who form the nucleus of Wisconsin's short-passing combination. Barwig is slated to get into the game, and if Wisconsin pulls ahead into a safe lead, it is not unlikely that Wackman and Bareis will play permitting the regulars to rest for their game with Indiana on Monday night.

Future Success in Balance

Much of the Badgers' future success depends upon their showing in the first two games. If they cannot beat Northwestern and Indiana, they will be unable to win from such teams as Michigan, Minnesota, and Purdue. Each of these teams is considered a championship possibility and each is slated to stack up against the Badgers. Wisconsin goes to Minneapolis on Jan. 20, but plays Chicago here next Saturday.

The Badgers hardly expect to win from either Michigan or Purdue. These quintets are composed of veteran players, some of whom were All-Conference selections last year.

LACK OF FUNDS IS HANDICAP TO ILLINI

That the University of Illinois has been handicapped by a lack of funds caused by the action of the legislature in slicing $1,500,000 off the university budget was pointed out by President David Kinley recently when speaking of the needs of the university for the next two years.

He declared that conditions are crowded and that addition to staff and equipment is necessary in order to accommodate an increase of 1,000 more students next year.

"In order to put the university in the next two years where it would have been if we had gotten our entire appropriation at least $12,140,000 will be required for the next two years," Dr. Kinley said.

Complete Preliminary Work on Point System

Preliminary work on the point system for student activities has been virtually finished and further action awaits the appointment of a committee by the student senate, according to Bob Stuart, president of the Council of Forty. It will be some time in February before the committee will be able to start work on the proposition.

With the proposed point system adopted, many of the leaders in campus activities hope much of the present overcrowding of a few student's hours by the pressure of outside activities will be eliminated.

The new system, which has been adopted at other schools with success, gives each activity a definite point value and when a student reaches the limit in points he cannot take up other activities past this margin.

Oakley Family Establishes Perpetual Fund For Athens School

A perpetual fund of $5,000, to be known as the Jane Oakley fund, was made recently by three children of the late Mrs. Jane Oakley to the university. The Board of Regents has appropriated the income from this fund to pay the annual contribution of the university to the American School of Classical Studies, Athens, Greece.

The gift was made in honor of the mother of the donors. For many years Mrs. Oakley, the widow of George M. Oakley, was a resident of Madison.

The donors of the fund are Mrs. Mary Oakley of Detroit, Horace S. Oakley, a member of the law firm of Wood and Oakley, Chicago, and George Walter Oakley. Mrs. Oakley was graduated from the university in 1893.

Major S. Oakley, one of the children, is interested in the work of the American School in Athens, which is being supported by contributions from institutions of which the university is one. Major Oakley was with the American Red Cross in Greece with headquarters at Athens, during the war.

Cornel Capps, who is head of the Red Cross in Greece, is professor of Greek at Princeton university, and is chairman of the managing committee of the American School of Classical Studies in Athens.

Japanese Official Lauds Forest Products Lab

On an inspection tour of the Forest Products laboratory in Madison, Thursday, Rynne Okamoto, forestry officer to the imperial household of Japan declared that the laboratory here is the most perfect and best equipped of any similar institution he has ever seen.

Mr. Okamoto is making an extensive tour around the world, studying forestry conditions and learning methods whereby he can better the forestry conditions in Japan, where he is in charge of 3,750,000 acres of forest lands.

He left Japan in February of last year and expects to complete his tour this month.

Miss Lucile M. Rau of Beloit, Wis., will be Christianson's partner. She graduated from Beloit college last June. While in college, Miss Rau was active in campus musical organizations and took part in many student productions. She is a member of Alpha Psi Delta, musical sorority.

"Prom committee chairmen reported good progress after the holidays," Christianson said yesterday. Contracts are being made at the present time for making prom movies, for getting good music at fair prices, and for supplying prom goers with neat, sensible prom programs."

Finding Way Home is Made Easy By St. Nick

"So this is Langdon!"

Students returning to the university to rest up from their Christmas vacation found that St. Nick had hesitated in Madison long enough to leave a few street signs.

Baby blue ones are found adorning the street intersections and bearing street names in bold letters.

Signs to the number of 251 have already been put in place, it was learned from superintendent of streets, Peter H. Walsh, yesterday. Approximately five hundred will be put up this winter and the entire city will display them as soon as possible. About 800 will be needed Mr. Walsh said.

HESPERIA WINS OVER PHILO IN JOINT DEBATE

Victory is Seventh Gained By Society in Thirty Years

Hesperia Literary society triumphed over Philomathia Literary society in the Fifty-second annual Joint Debate held last night.

The question, involving the power of the United States Supreme court, was: "Resolved, that the constitution of the United States should be so amended that any law or portion of a law declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States shall become a valid law if reenacted by a two-third vote of the next succeeding congress."

This is the seventh time that Hesperia has won this classic forensic event since 1892, and the first time since 1919. Philomathia and Athena are tied for first place at 12 victories each.

The Hesperian team, upholding the affirmative of the question, was composed of Wayne L. Morse L 1, first constructive speaker and the closing rebuttal; Francis Karel '23, second main speaker and first in rebuttal, and Ralph E. Axley L 1, third consecutive speaker and second rebuttal.

The unsuccessful Philomathian team, defending the negative of the question, was composed of Charles A. Rawson '23, first speaker in both constructive and rebuttal arguments, A. Walter Dahl L 2, second speaker, and Harold A. Seering L 1, closer of both main and rebuttal arguments.

Governor Blaine presided, according to the custom in all joint debates. Under the one judge plan, Prof. James M. O'Neill rendered the decision.

Court Called Too Powerful

The winning points of the affirmative were: first speaker, that present plan of American government contains serious defects which should be remedied; that present government is not truly representative of the people because of the power of the Supreme court; that the Supreme court has invaded the legislative fields and assumed in several instances arbitrary legislative powers. The speaker laid particular stress on decisions on child labor laws, and upon decisions concerning the Standard Oil company.

The second speaker's arguments were: that, under the present plans the Supreme court can nullify laws desired by congress, the President and the people; that the present system of constitutional amendment is entirely inadequate; that the people, through their representatives, should have the final power of deciding the constitutionality of laws.

The third speech involved the arguments that a law must pass a severe test to determine its constitutionality under the proposed plan. It must pass both houses of congress, must be approved by the president, must be tested by the Supreme court and rejected, and finally must pass by a two-thirds

SUCKERS OPEN AT COLUMBUS

Illinois-Ohio Basketball Tilt
Will Be Stirring Affair

(Special to The Cardinal)
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—A cyclonic evening is in sight for basketball players Saturday when Illinois and Ohio State open the local Big Ten season at the Coliseum.

An Illinois-Ohio State contest of any kind is enough to make local fans rub their hands in agitated anticipation.

But this particular basketball bow has more than the usual elements that contribute to a stirring setto.

Under New Coaches

Both Illinois and Ohio State are under new coaches and are learning modifications of the same system of play taught by Dr. W. E. Meanwell at Wisconsin. Coach Harold G. Olsen of Ohio State was an all-western guard on Dr. Meanwell's championship Wisconsin teams back in 1916 and 17. After leaving Wisconsin, Olsen turned out state championship teams at Ripon college for several years.

Craig Ruby, the new Illinois coach, burned up the Missouri Valley as a forward in 1920. Ruby stayed on at Missouri after his playing days were at an end. There he won one championship and tied for another in the Missouri Valley before the long arm of George Huff reached out and pulled the young mentor over to Illinois.

Letter Men Return

Both Illinois and Ohio State lineups are well-sprinkled with letter men from last season. Each has a star of two seasons ago back in harness after an in-and-out year because of injuries. At Illinois it is Captain Hellstrom; at Ohio State it is "Red" Blair.

While neither team claims prospects for a championship at this stage of the game, each is anxious for a favorable getaway in the strenuous Big Ten campaign. In addition, there is the traditional and constantly intensifying Illinois-Ohio State rivalry.

Mrs. Kahlenberg to Speak to Women Voters Monday

Mrs. Louis Kahlenberg will deliver an address on "Legislative Procedure" at the meeting of the Collegiate League of Women Voters to be held at 4:30 o'clock Monday in the S. G. A. room. This talk is in preparation for the meetings of the state legislature and committee hearings which the women of the league are planning to attend.

Jane Adams Says U. S. Will Enter League

Jane Addams, in an address given in London, referred to the United States as recalcitrant country but predicted that it would enter the league of nations. She expresses the opinion that the farmer bloc and the women voters of the country would bring this about.

Students Detained For Christmas in Infirmary

While most folks were home enjoying the holidays, a number of less fortunate students were detained at the university infirmary to get as much pleasure out of Christmas and the New Year as they could under the circumstances. There was a constant average of from six to 10 students at the infirmary during the entire period. Most of the cases were light and all but one student were able to spend at least a part of their vacation at home.

Ohio Profs Advocate Intelligence Tests

Intelligence tests are being advocated by professors of psychology at Ohio State university as an entrance requirement. These tests would be given in addition to the usual entrance examinations, and would be a big saving in time and money to the university by barring persons not fit for entrance, according to those in favor of the measure.

704 JOBS GIVEN TO STUDENTS BY Y. M. C. A. DURING SEMESTER

During the present semester, the Y. M. C. A. has served the organizations and individuals of the university in many ways, according to a report issued yesterday.

Since school opened in September, 704 jobs of employment have been given out to as many students. Checks amounting to $43,905.96 have been cashed. More than 66 organizations not including Y. M. C. A. committees, have held 142 meetings in the committee rooms of the association.

Money has been loaned also to 70 university students from the Whitney Russel and Burten Beach funds. Approximately 925 visits were made to sick students in the infirmary, and more than 100 Madison poor children entertained at a Christmas party given by the association.

CHURCH CALLS ST. PAUL MAN

Dr. S. C. Ylvisaker Asked to Come Here

At a meeting of the members of Our Saviour's church, held in the church parlors Thursday, it was voted to extend a call to Dr. S. C. Ylvisaker of St. Paul to serve in the capacity of pastor. Rev. H. M. Olson, former pastor of the church, resigned in September to enter the insurance field since which time Rev. L. S. Guttmann of West Koshkonong has acted as relief pastor.

Dr. Ylvisaker, who is about 35 years of age, is a graduate of Harvard university with a doctor of philosophy degree. For some time after graduation he taught in Luther college but for the past five years has been professor of Hebrew at Concordia college.

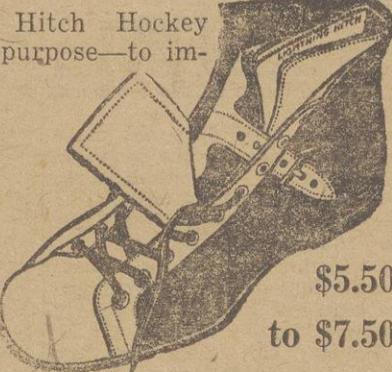

Rev. Gullickson of Chicago was considered but it was thought that his official duties in the Norwegian Synod of that territory would prevent his accepting a call.

Oeland Named Head of Real Estate Board

L. L. Oeland was elected president of the Madison real estate board this noon. T. G. Cretney was chosen vice president; George Sayle, treasurer, and E. H. Carpenter, executive secretary. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Valuation committee—Paul E. Stark; membership—A. T. Uehling; publicity—Henry H. Bush; legislation—J. S. Miller; arbitration—Stanley C. Hanks; vigilance—T. D. Williams; program—A. W. Jamison; federal co-operation—C. B. Chapman. The board will attend in its entirety the state convention of Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers at Milwaukee, Feb. 21. The local board will give a play there which is to be planned and written by a committee composed of Paul E. Stark, chairman, and John S. Main and J. S. Miller.

Population of State Institutions Higher

The inmate population of Wisconsin's penal and charitable institutions is 235 larger at this time than it was one year ago, the state board of control announced in a statement today. There are now 13,196 confined to state and county institutions where 12,963 were confined in December, 1921. This number includes 1,459 insane in state asylums; 1,224 feeble minded; 1,170 in penal institutions; 1,179 in state schools; 177 in state tubercular institutions and 766 in county. This gives a total of 5,209 in state confinement and 7,969 in county. A decrease of 47 is noted in the number confined to state penal institutions, while there is a decrease of 4 in the number in state schools, compared with this time in 1921.

Ineligibility Threatens Varsity Track Athletes

Ineligibility of his athletes is the prospect that is striking fear into the heart of Coach Thomas E. Jones.

Although the indoor cinder squad commenced work on Thursday and will continue to drill five times each week from now on, many of the men are uncertain of their scholastic standings and may be forced to drop out.

Varsity will get its first real tryout in the meet with the freshman team on Feb. 9. The annual relay carnival is scheduled for Feb. 17 and the Conference season opens on Feb. 24 when Wisconsin speedsters oppose Iowa in the Hawkeye gym.

George Finkle, captain of the cross-country team will not compete during the season. Although his leg which was broken in the Notre Dame meet last year is again in shape, a slight injury might force him to forego the outdoor season and incapacitate him for cross-country.

Despite Finkle's loss, Coach Jones will have a strong line-up of two-milers in Wade, who if eligible, will head the list. Tschudy and Rossiness are good distance men. Yaude, Gilbreath and Van Ells are working with the weights.

MEETING MAKES COMPLETE PLANS FOR ICE SPORTS

Elaborate plans for encouraging winter sports were discussed last evening at a meeting in the gymnasium of those interested in such sports. The athletic department will make every effort this year to provide facilities such that every student will be encouraged to participate in healthful outdoor exercise.

Three skating rinks are to be maintained. A large space will be cleared on the lake opposite the shelter house near the hydraulics laboratory and also opposite the men's gymnasium. A straightaway to extend some distance along the lake will be kept up. The rink on the lower campus is to be primarily for varsity hockey.

The shelter house will be heated and lighted and a lunch counter will be operated at which hot coffee and chocolate may be obtained.

The athletic department is furnishing an instructor, George Martin, for skating and skiing. Skating classes are held daily and instructions in skiing will be given Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. The Saturday morning skating class will be for fancy skating. The schedule of the classes has been posted in the shelter house.

Ice-boating, skiing and tobogganing will also be encouraged. Two toboggon slides will be maintained and a regular long distance ski hike will be taken on Saturday afternoons starting at 2 o'clock from the rear of the extension building. Small jumps will be built on observatory hills for those interested in ski jumping. The toboggon slides will be ready this week if the weather remains cold enough to freeze the bottoms.

If conditions warrant it, lockers may be installed in the shelter house and skaters at the rinks may even have the pleasure of skating to music two or three evenings a week.

HOCKEY SQUAD TRIES OUT RINK FOR FIRST TIME

Coach Viner Needs More Men; Varsity Recruits Report

The Varsity hockey squad under the supervision of Coach Viner and Captain Combacker, took its first workout of the winter season yesterday afternoon. The rink on the lower campus is in good condition and will be the scene of steady practice from now on.

While the expected number of men did not show up yesterday, several old varsity men reported and worked until after dark. It is expected that many more men will report for practice in the next few days.

Coach Viner did not get down to the fine points of the game yesterday but merely let his men limber up. They chased the puck around the rink, gaining speed and endurance without trying to develop accuracy either in shooting or in passing.

The first match for the Badgers is scheduled to be held at Ann Arbor against the Wolverines next Friday while a second game will be played between the two teams on the following day.

Plans to have a preliminary game on the local rink before the regular season starts were necessarily given up because of the lack of ice until after the holidays. The remaining time before the first game next Friday will be used in steady practice if the men are to be in proper condition to win.

Iowa Basketeers Adopt Rope Jumping Exercise

The University of Iowa basketball team has taken up rope jumping and boxing as exercises to limber up before going into a game and as part of their regular training. Coach James M. Barry reports that this means of exercise is very good and he has the squad go through a preliminary warming up every day.

Chicago Will Hold Fifth Basket Meet During April

The fifth annual national interscholastic basketball tournament will be held at the University of Chicago on April 4 to 7, it was announced Thursday. There is no limit on high school entries, but 32 is the limit on prep schools. Last year the tournament was won by a Lexington, Kentucky high school. There were teams present from sixteen states.

Six Conference Fives to Lift Lid Tonight

Six Conference teams will lift the lid of the 1923 basketball season tonight.

In addition to the Wisconsin-Northwestern contest at Evanston, games are carded between Illinois and Michigan at Ann Arbor, Iowa and Chicago on the Maroon's home court.

Michigan is considered a contender for the championship and the Wolverines have borne out advance predictions by their showing in the early tilts. They beat the Michigan Aggies in an easy game on Wednesday night and have won the rest of their practice games by wide margins. Illinois lost to Butler college, which also defeated Wisconsin and Chicago.

Although the Illini have a fighting outfit, it is hardly in the running title. Coach Ruby, a pupil of Coach Meanwell when he was an undergraduate at Missouri, has taught the Indians the short-pass game and it may be worked effectively against Michigan.

Iowa is expected to win from Chicago in the game at Barlett gym. Nels Norgren's Maroons have lost prelim battles to Vanderbilt, Butler, and Armour. Iowa, under the tutelage of Sam Barry, a Madison man and former Knox college coach, has Hicks and Burritt of last season's five. His team may prove the Conference "dark horse".

KAPPA SIGS AND DELTA SIGS ARE CAGING LEADERS

Kappa Sigma and Delta Sigma Phi fraternities, each with two victories, are leading their divisions in the interfraternity basketball league.

The Kappa Sigs have rolled up the highest point total of any contestants in the tourney. They beat Sigma Pi, 60 to 0, and walloped Triangle, 38 to 2. Marty Below, football captain, the Morrison brothers, Steve Pulaski, and Putty Nelson make the Kappa Sig outfit as strong as a small college team. Beta Theta Pi, Delta Upsilon, with several Varsity men, Alpha Sigma Phi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Theta Xi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon also lead their divisions.

The standings follow:

MATMEN TO BE IN BEST OF TRIM BY WEDNESDAY

Coach is Optimistic as Meet With Northwestern Nears

The wrestling team will be in fighting trim for the meet with Northwestern by next Wednesday, Coach George Hitchcock announced yesterday. The meet will be held on Friday.

At present the coach's greatest difficulty is to find men to fill the heavy weight and light-heavy classes. He had been depending on a number of football men, but for various reasons none of them have turned out for practice yet, except Raymond Stipek who will be used after this semester.

Holmes May Compete

Several of the men are above weight and the coach is using blankets and rubber wrappings on these men while they run around the track to reduce.

Irving Haddorf and Robert Benbow are training down for the 125 pound class. Captain Templin and Hembre are both overweight a few pounds, but all these men will be in the best of condition before the first meet.

ETIQUETTE PROBLEM

ALONG about this time of the year it is customary for the Prom chairman and his main henchmen and henchwomen to come out in the paper with a symposium interview emphasizing the necessity of formality at prom and indicating that those men who don't wear dress suits to the great social event are lacking in good breeding as well as tail coats.

Some students have taken this seriously.

Accustomed to considering the Tuxedo as the height of formality at campus functions, they have neglected to provide the necessary paraphernalia for prom. So they have checked off an additional item of expense and hied themselves to the square to help swell the dividends of some dress suit rental establishment.

And on the great night they have appeared at the capitol arrayed in garments of casual fit, decorated in all the splendor of any illustration in a nineteenth century textbook on oratory.

But this year we are going to scoop the Prom chairman.

We own a Tuxedo. It's our own; it fits us; and nobody has worn it without our permission.

Though it is technically informal attire, we have found it acceptable for evening wear at festal occasions in communities considerably more metropolitan than Madison.

Never having had any particular need for a dress suit, we don't own one.

Others may wear dress suits to prom, but we are going to wear our own clothes.

MODERN CHESTERFIELDS

If the ghost of Chesterfield were to walk the Wisconsin campus how sorry we would be for that ghost. Presuming that a ghost is capable of emotions it would feel a deal of shame and deep sense of futility.

That ghost would believe that his best intentions, his excellent examples were entirely forgotten or, at the least, ignored. The politeness that to his former self, Chesterfield, was a virtue is now evidently considered a weakness.

It might be laughable, the many discourtesies that daily are shown, were it not so pitiful.

Observe for a while what daily happens on the hill. Four walk abreast where only two were meant to go. The poor unfortunates they meet are crowded to one side even beyond the borders of the walk. The new strip of sidewalk in front of the engineering building was needed because of this very tendency to crowd down the hill or up the hill in bunches of four and five, or more.

This same lack of politeness is evidenced in entering or leaving classrooms, and on the walks leading to Ag hall.

How many men will hold a door open for another man? How many will permit a lady to pass through the door first? And how many coeds would thank a man for doing such little courtesies for her? Far more often would she take it as her due and grant neither the presence of a gentleman.

It may be that there is not time for all the little niceties of the day of Chesterfield. But there should always be time for consideration of others, for a friendly word of appreciation, or for a cheery greeting.

Politeness is so much finer than etiquette. It is not the stilted form of the latter but the true friendliness of the former that will almost be most missed and that is now most missed everywhere on the campus.

Why not say with Walt Mason:

"There is a light in my window for all men who are kind and cheerful, for all men who are considerate of others, and therefore truly polite, and no rules of etiquette need govern their coming; they may enter by the door or by the window and sit on the floor and hang their hat on the gas fixtures. They are polite and I am polite and we rise superior to cast-iron rules. But there is no light in my window, no 'Welcome' on my doormat for the uncouth delegates who say and do things that wound."

Walter Camp, football critic and athlete, has named three Michigan football men on his all-American football selection. The players honored are Harry Kipke, half-back, Bernard Kirk, end, and Irwin Utteritz, quarter-back. Kipke is captain elect of the Varsity.

WHERE DOES MONEY GO?

In January Country Mag

"Where does our Money go?" is the title of an article written to be featured in the January issue of the Country Magazine, by Jessie Martin '23.

The article has been written upon the results of investigations carried on by the Home Economics girls in endeavoring to discover by what means their money was departing so rapidly. Miss Martin gives an account of their Sherlock Holmes work, and she believes that "Haven't the Cash" is unknown to students of the university who are keeping accounts.

The article is intended to be very helpful to those who do not seem to be able to check the invisible outlet of pecuniary necessities.

JORDAN OFFERS STUDENTS JOBS

Prizes and Cash Commission For Car Sales to Be Awarded

Edward Stanlaw Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company, Cleveland, Ohio, believing that students have salesmanship ability and knowing from personal experience as a student at Wisconsin nearly 20 years ago that desirable and profitable employment for students is scarce, is offering $5,000 in prizes and a cash commission to all students in the country who sell Jordan cars between January 1 and September 1.

"Twenty years ago I was a student working my way through the University of Wisconsin," Mr. Jordan said. "I have made up my mind to give an opportunity to any number of students who care to take advantage of it."

"Every college student knows someone who is going to buy an automobile of some kind," Mr. Jordan said. "The automobile is the easiest thing in the world to sell because the demand exceeds the supply. A booklet, 'Learn How to Sell While in College', will be sent by the company upon request."

Four prizes will be made from the $5,000. The first prize of $2,000 will be awarded to the man or woman who brings the largest number of prospective purchasers who actually buy Jordan cars. The second award will be $1,500; the third, $1,000; and the fourth will consist of $500.

Mr. Jordan is a native of Wisconsin. He was born at Merrill, in 1882. Working his way through the university as a newspaper reporter, he received an A. B. degree in 1905. Mr. Jordan was editor-in-chief of The Cardinal in 1904-05.

In 1916 Mr. Jordan organized the Jordan Motor Car company, and has been president of the firm since that time. He began his automobile business with the Thomas B. Jeffery company, Kenosha, in 1907.

200 ENGINEERS FINISH TESTS

Heating Plant Consumes 130 Tons of Coal Daily

Over 200 senior engineers are finishing a series of experiments in heat and refrigeration, under the tutelage of B. S. Spieth and other instructors in the steam and gas department. From these tests, annually a part of the course for all senior engineers, data is being obtained which can be used for commercial purposes by the students.

The heating plant, which supplies all campus buildings with heat and light, creates 1,500,000 pounds of steam daily. Over 130 tons of coal are consumed daily, the horsepower of operation being 3,200. Ten miles of underground pipe lines furnish all of the university buildings with heat from the central heating station.

By weighing all the coal and water used in the plant, and by recording the steam pressure at 15-minute intervals, the maximum amounts of heat units are calculated and recorded by the engineers. In past years it has been found that an efficiency of 65 per cent exists in transmitting the stored up energy to heat in the coal.

Tests have been made with new systems of heating, by instructors of the university. At present a scheme is being tried out whereby heating is accomplished by hot water that has been heated by steam injected directly into the water.

B. S. Spieth is working on the problem of air infiltration in cooperation with the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers. This society, which is carrying on research in its Pittsburgh laboratories, last year selected the University of Wisconsin as one of several American universities to cooperate in the study of the problem.

Various types of buildings and the amount of air infiltration in each are being studied. In cooperation with the Wisconsin state power plant engineering department, G. C. Wilson is also investigating the plan of heating buildings.

Immigration Expert Will Address Forum

Prof. D. D. Lescobier of the Economics department will speak on "Ideals and Immigrant Population", at the Wesley Forum Sunday at 7:30 o'clock at the University Methodist church.

Professor Lescobier has traveled extensively giving his lectures on the immigration problems of this country, and is an authority on the social and economic problems connected with the influx of foreign immigrants into the United States.

The Wesley Forum will present speakers who are authorities on social and economic problems this month. The Forum is promoted by students and the meetings are open to everyone.

UNIVERSITY BUYS NEW STEAM SHOVEL

A new steam crane has been purchased by the university from the Bucyrus company of Milwaukee. This mammoth steam shovel was unloaded yesterday and will be put in operation next week.

The shovel will be used primarily for loading and unloading coal at the yards and at the heating plant. It will also be employed in excavation work on the campus and for handling gravel, structural steel and other building materials.

"The crane will take the place of an old one that has been sold to a firm in Quincy, Ill. The 20 B steam crane is a great improvement over our old one in that it is a caterpillar engine and can easily be moved from place. A great deal of valuable time will be saved in this way by the university," J. J. Novotny, chief engineer at the heating plant, said yesterday.

Announcement was made at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house last night of the engagement of Miss Ellen Smith '23, daughter of Mr. E. P. Smith of Green Bay to Lloyd J. Brown of Hailey, Idaho.

Miss Smith is from Trinity college, Washington, D. C., and at present is a senior in the college of letters and science in the university.

Mr. Brown is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Phi fraternities and of the Gun and Blade club. He is at present a junior in the law school.

vote of the newly elected congress Control Is Necessary

The arguments of the first speaker of the negative were: that the proposed plan was merely a scheme to provide easy amendment of the constitution; that such a system would practically destroy the judicial department of the United States; that the court does not exercise control over American people, except in test cases; that Congress itself does not want or approve of such a system.

The second speaker declared that the Supreme court exercises a necessary control over congress and laws, and the proposed plan would violate the spirit and intentions of the Constitution itself. Congress should not have the power to judge its own acts, and that such a plan would place extreme power with Congress and tend to remove control directly from the people.

Crowd Packs Hall

The third speaker showed that the court stands as a defense of the people's constitution against organized groups conspiring to gain special privileges through illegal methods of law control in congress, citing "pork barrel" and "log-rolling" methods. It was also declared that congress does not actually represent the people, because of election methods.

The lower floor of Music hall was crowded by the people many of the crowd anxious to hear the debate. Noisy delegations from Hesperia and Philomathia were present, supported by assisting groups of Castalia and Pythia literary societies respectively.

"In round numbers we have to report important calls made during the year, 302. Of this number, 41 dealt directly with human wrongs and suffering; 69 dealt with horses and the remaining 192 with other animals large and small. Homeless, sick or crippled destroyed 76; placed in homes and former owners found for 43. In many cases animals were taken to a veterinarian for treatment and in many cases old or crippled horses were put to rest when no longer fit for use. While in dozens of cases a little improvement in conditions changed suffering to comfort.

"Other miscellaneous work of our organization is to visit the packing plant, the dogs at Science hall, stockyards and stations, excavation jobs and horse markets. Every carnival, fair and circus has been thoroughly policed."

Charles V. Gary is chairman of the men's arrangement committee for the Junior prom.

The attention of the men's arrangements committee has been centered in the organization of non-fraternity men's parties up to the present time. Several meetings to organize the parties were held before the holidays and plans for their accommodations are being made at present.

Rooms for both men and women coming to the prom from other cities will be secured. Prom boxes and supper parties are also being planned for the groups.
