Ayn Rand To Talk on Ethics At Symposium in February

Ayn Rand, author of Atlas Shrugged and The Fountainhead, has accepted an invitation to speak at the Wisconsin Student Association Symposium, the Daily Cardinal learned last night. The Symposium will be held in the Union theater Feb. 8 to 14. Although no written contract has yet been signed, Miss Rand has given members of the Symposium committee a verbal agreement to speak.

MISS RAND will be speaking at the second presentation of the Symposium. Last year's series, "The Challenge of the Sixties," was the first of its kind to be held at a midwest university. It created nationwide interest as a group of nationally known speakers, including Clement Attlee and Norman Thomas, lectured and debated on various subjects of national prominence.

The general theme of this year's Symposium, "Ethics in Our Time," was chosen by the executive board of the Symposium committee last night.

THE SYMPOSIUM will consist of a week-long series of afternoon and evening lectures, debates, speeches, and critiques by nationally known experts. The talks will cover a variety of fields, discussing both the philosophical and practical ideas and workings of ethics today. This year's program will be expanded to include seminars and additional critiques to supplement the main speeches.

"It is hoped that the Symposium will increase the knowledge and awareness of those in the university community towards the vital field of ethics, and that these talks will stimulate those attending to creative thinking on pertinent problems," Mary Carmen Lynn, general chairman of Symposium, stated.

THE EXECUTIVE board of the 1961 Symposium, which will organize almost all phases of the program, are Miss Lynn, general chairman; Robin Ingle, executive secretary; Jim Nafziger, speakers chairman; Mike Spector and Nancy Levin, seminars co-chairmen; Jim Miller, finance chairman; Lee Schoenecker, physical arrangements director; Jim Loken, public relations chairman; and Dave Klingenstein, last year's general chairman who is working in an advisory capacity.

MISS RAND was originally approached last spring by members of the Conservative club and asked to speak in connection with that group's programs. Arrangements were not completed at that time, however.

Then this fall a group of students, including Cardinal columnist Richard S. Wheeler; Steve Sipos, a Hungarian freedom fighter who took part in the 1956 uprising against the Russians and who now corresponds with Miss Rand; and Pat Potter, member of the Symposium committee, decided to contact Miss Rand and invite her to speak.

AFTER A four-way telephone conversation last Sunday between Wheeler, Sipos, Miss Potter, and Miss Rand, who is currently lecturing in New York, she agreed to appear on the Symposium program. Although the Symposium committee will handle all arrangements, the Conservative club has offered to contribute funds to the program.

Miss Rand will work out her own theme, which will probably include an exposition of her code of ethics as developed in her books. In addition to Atlas, published in 1957, and The Fountainhead, 1943, Miss Rand has written Anthem, a pamphlet issued in 1947. An earlier, previously unpublished work, We, the Living, also recently appeared.

IN HER BOOKS, Miss Rand expounds the philosophy of "Ob-jectivism," which maintains that "reality exists as an objective absolute, that reason is man's means of perceiving reality, that morality is a rational science with man's life as its standard, self-interest as its motor, individual happiness as its goal, and a free society as its consequence. . . . Objectivism is a philosophy for living on earth."

Miss Rand comes originally from Russia. In addition to her writing, she lectures and speaks on her philosophy. Last year she participated in a symposium similar to the university's at Yale college. She has also appeared on television.

THE REMAINING speakers in the program have not been definitely chosen yet by the Symposium committee.

Another 1:30 Homecoming Night Asked

Associated Women Students Coeds Congress at its first meeting of the year last night voted to give Homecoming's Friday night temporary 1:30 a.m. hours, as last year. The proposal will be presented at the next meeting of the Student Life and Interests committee.

In addition, a committee was formed to investigate the possibilities of other special late nights.

JOY HOOK, president of Coeds Congress, asked for a motion which would incorporate the aid of Congress members in the promotion of voting during the national elections in November. The Congress voted to form a committee which would give literature to eligible students on registration, absentee voting, and Madison polls.

The Congress voted to send out letters to each house on campus with suggestions on how to enforce quiet hours and possible penalties if these hours are violated.

Pat McCarthy, AWS president, reported on the possibility of having a panel go to houses to explain AWS rules and regulations to women students. House representatives are to find out if their respective houses would desire such a panel.

I-F Camp Retreat Will Start Tonight

The second annual Inter-Fraternity Council (I-F) retreat will be held tonight and tomorrow morning at Camp Wakanda for the president, rushing chairman, pledge trainer, and social chairman of each fraternity.

The retreat was organized by the I-F Relations committee to study various problems facing the fraternity system. Last year the I-F pledge training creed was among the retreat's accomplishments. This year's program will include a keynote speech by Jack Patrick, the new assistant dean of men and fraternity advisor.

The general theme of this year's retreat is the fraternity system and its relation to the campus community. "Our purpose is to examine some of the problems which fraternities face, both in their own activities and in their functioning on the campus as a whole," Doug MacNeil, I-F president commented.

Annual Jazz Festival Starts Today With Saints, Brubeck

The second annual Union Jazz festival opens this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Rathskeller with the Saints of Dixieland playing a free session for students, and follows with a pair of sold out concerts tonight by the Dave Brubeck Quartet at 7:30 and 9:30 in the Union theater.

WSA Fees Top Total Last Year

The Wisconsin Student association expects to collect $4,000 in fees by the end of the year, Ray Hamel, WSA treasurer, told the organization's Executive committee last night.

Fees totalling $3,750 have already come in, he said. This is well over the total of $3,523 for all of last year.

Ed Garvey, WSA president, announced that he and Dave Sheridan, vice president, will be working with the faculty committee dealing with the university budget. The WSA officers will represent interests which are trying to institute longer library hours and higher faculty salaries.

song, stylist from South Africa will arrive this afternoon for her concerts at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. tomorrow in the theater. A few good tickets for these shows are still available at the Union box office.

MEMBERS of the Union Music committee, sponsors of the concert, will be on hand at the airport today to meet Miss Makeba, who is flying in from the Monterey Jazz festival in California. They will bring her back to the campus for interviews, television, and a special dinner arranged by the Africa Union this evening.

One of the hottest new attractions in the entertainment field, Miriam Makeba was brought to this country last November by Harry Belafonte. She has been playing all the big jazz festivals and major night clubs here ever since.

George Lewis and the New Orleans Jazz band will play tomorrow from 9 to 12 p.m. in Union Great hall at a dance and listening party for which a few tickets are still available. The Newport Jazz festival film "Jazz on a Summer's Day" will be shown today, tomorrow and Sunday in the Union Play Circle at Movie Time.

Fraternity Rush...

System Improving

For the first time in years, the goon squads of men from lakeside fraternities were absent from Langdon st. during rush. No longer were unsuspecting freshmen dragged down an alley with a firm but friendly hand around the arm to see some house hidden behind all the others.

Also, for the first time, the rushees knew where more than one or two of the thirty fraternities were, instead of spending all of their time in Mendota court and then madly running to the nearest house on Langdon to get their required six fraternities in. And finally, no longer were rushers and rushees subjected to six straight days of smiling constantly and shaking every hand in sight.

SINCE THE Inter-Fraternity council redid the rush program last spring, these ancient bugbears have all been removed, for which we give a hearty cheer.

The main purpose of the plan was originally to insure that rushees would get to more fraternities by dividing the houses into five groups and requiring that the rushees hit at least one fraternity in each group. This has apparently been the least successful aspect of the plan, for I-F president Doug MacNeil reports that although the smaller fraternities got more rushees, their pledging didn't appreciably increase. This could only be due to poor rushing, about which I-F can do little. Conversely, Mendota court was again flooded, and no particular change in pledging patterns has shown up there.

THE REST of the houses, however, reported increases in numbers of both rushees and pledges, giving the plan some basis for being called an improvement. Of course, the fact that there are more men at the university this year might have something to do with it as well. As for the actual mechanics of the divisions, some mighty strange bedfellows were produced, but MacNeil said that the groups are elastic and some shifting might be in order.

The credit for the success of fall rush should be placed more upon I-F's tremendous publicity campaign, the information booths in the fraternity area, the clearing of the streets, and the new two-week rush period, rather than upon the house division idea.

If I-F keeps up these programs, the increasing pledge lists should continue to grow. They've got something good going here; let's hope it doesn't get bogged down.—J.G.K.

Regents...

And So We Grow

Almost every time the Regents gather together in council solemn, they manage to produce more and more grandiose plans for expanding this fair campus. First they declared unconditional warfare upon Bascom Woods, vowing to remove every offending twig and squirrel from the premises and to replace them with a sociology-anthropology building.

Next they attacked that horrendous stretch of grass between Bascom and Sterling—plug it up, they said, plug it up. Now we will be blessed with one massive building oozing from Bascom to Sterling, with maybe a connecting wing over to the Com building and another to Birge, to remove more of that offending green.

BUT THE BEST IS yet to come. Rumor tells us that, with masterful thoroughness, the Regents are secretly contemplating a new addition to add to the natural beauty of our campus—a spiffy building right up the middle of Bascom Hill. This building would follow the natural slope of the Hill, thereby giving "a new educational slant to the curriculum." Further details have not yet been decided upon, of course, but the outlines are relatively clear.

Although these plans have not been made official yet, we would still like to commend the Regents on their fine record of always looking for the best interests of the campus and of always putting the needs of the university above the expediencies of legislative politics. After all, they're replacing these senic recreation areas with a fine new concrete gym, aren't they?—J.G.K.

In the Mailbox... Socialists

To the Editor:

The Daily Cardinal is to be congratulated for editorially adding its voice to those who call for abolishment of the Un-American Activities committee. You began by offering a clear enunciation of why the Committee itself is violating the Bill of Rights.

AS YOU KNOW, Rep. James Roosevelt has stated: "How did we come to establish a committee to decide what was 'un-American,' forsooth; and still worse, how did we persuade ourselves that speech was a fit subject for regulation by inquisitorial techniques such as the Committee employs? To me, the very nature of that commission is at war with our profoundest principles, and it cannot help but be executed in a manner destructive to those principles. We have, in effect, created and empowered an agency to supervise the exercise of First Amendment rights—an organ for censorship and suppression."

The second part of the editorial, however, tended to nullify the strength of the attack on the Committee. You agree that the rights which the Committee violates are those of freedom of speech and association. This freedom includes the propagation and advocacy of a socialist society.

THOSE advocating these ideas are not anti-American, but rather, are exercising their right to propose radical changes in the structure of the system which they feel are necessary and in the country's interest. True, the Un-American Activities Committee, the Attorney General, and a few others may consider some of these people un-American. But this does not make them so, as you would agree yourself.

You imply, however, that the Socialist club has clearly ulterior motives in urging abolition of the Committee, since it is anti-American. You have stood up for the right to criticize in general, but have accepted the Committee's standard of what is American or "un-American."

It is easy to see why such a group as the Socialist club would urge abolition, but for different reasons than you suggest. The Socialist Club, as were those individuals subpoenaed by the Committee, has been in the forefront of urging preservation of those freedoms violated by the Committee.

THUS, THE Wisconsin Socialist club constitution calls explicitly for the creation of a "society based on maximum freedom for the self-realization of the individual and in which the conditions for the development of each is the condition for the development of all: where civil liberties—freedom of speech, religion, press, association for all the people—are a reality in a social fabric where those freedoms are not only proclaimed, but practiced by the widest masses in a society whose very existence is rooted in these freedoms."

The Socialist club has practiced freedom of speech and association and fought the unconstitutional restrictions on this freedom. For doing so, it cannot be branded anti-American.

Folly Revisited

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of this letter, Gani Belo, is a Nigerian graduate student being sponsored here by WSA. In addition to his studies, Belo has an honorary seat on Student Senate.)

To the Editor:

Mr. Louis Friedman's article captioned 'Folly', which appeared in the issue of the Cardinal of Friday last week, has moved me to write these few lines on what I believed to be and, as a matter of fact, what many student bodies all over the world accept as the proper role of the student.

I have to apologize to the writer first and foremost for being rather blunt in attempting to correct the ideas he expressed. The unfortunate thing is that the article has so distorted fact that it may right now be dangerous to sacrifice real truth for courtesy and journalistic politeness.

THE ARTICLE directly raises this question of the students' role. What has Mr. Friedman said in his article? Let us just for a moment ignore descriptions—such as "riotous, illegal, communist-led"—and a host of others, which are the best way to advance and paint a rootless argument; it will then be easy to sieve out what appears to be the main core of his case.

He feels that since the student cannot be wiser or be "above our statement, or scientists, our philosophers, and our leaders," they should not take interest in the affairs of their country and that of the world community. He clearly advocates apathy and lethargy of students, except perhaps when the student has nowhere to park his car, when he has the legitimate right to be dynamic or even be "riotous".

IN MANY parts of the world, and I believe America is no exception, the student is not expected to be a juvenile—he is expected to be mature. Above all, his potentialities to be a good citizen of his country and of the world at large are well enhanced by the

Nigerian Freedom To Be Heralded In Union Tonight

Nigerian independence day, bringing independence tomorrow to 36 million Nigerians, will be celebrated by students at an Independence Day party tonight from 9 to 12 p.m. in Tripp Commons.

The party, sponsored by the combined efforts of the African Union and International club under chairman Issac Kifle, will feature a lecture evaluating Nigerian independence. A floorshow will follow consisting of African drum music and dancing by a group from Chicago.

NIGERIAN independence coming peaceably is of great importance to the African continent. The new nation, consisting of almost one million square miles, has a population of about 36 million. This is about twice the population of the Congo, which has undergone civil war since proclaiming its independence from Belgium. Nigeria, on becoming free will remain within the British Commonwealth.

"All the African students will be at the party in their native dress, along with many Asian students," said Kifle.

to continue to make the best use of the present opportunity.

FOR THE PAST nine years students all over the world have been struggling through their co-operation in the International Student Conferences to work under the same banner and ideals to see what they could do as an integral part of their community. Common among issues usually discussed are the fundamental human rights and human dignities. Mr. Hoffman's account of the NSA that he gave to the Senate, which unfortunately received Mr. Friedman's condemnation, happened to be tied up with this world-wide accepted principle.

Whether it is proper then to describe the activities of NSA and its honest working students as being murderous, irresponsible, and communist-inspired is left for every good student of this age to judge. It is not possible to completely isolate situations in the United States from those of other parts of the world. American students have to meet students of other parts, and if, with the advancement of this country, the American students cannot lead, surely they cannot afford to lag behind.

STUDENT LEADERS of this country, like Mr. Hoffman, should not be discouraged by such articles as Mr. Friedman's. Rather they should get in touch with such students who do not know and enlighten them. We are particularly lucky in Wisconsin here to have young men and women in the WSA such as Ed Garvey, Paul James, Dave Sheridan, and many others who can do invaluable service to this student community in this line. Mr. Friedman will be shocked when he steps out of USA to meet these students in Turkey, Japan and Africa whom he has described as murderers and idiots.

Prof. Carstensen Named Grad School Associate Dean

Prof. Vernon Carstensen, noted historian and member of the university departments of history and agricultural economics for the past 15 years, will become an associate dean of the Graduate school tomorrow.

In announcing the appointment Monday, Graduate Dean John Willard reported that Carstensen will take the place of Dr. Robert L. Clodius who has assumed new duties as chairman of the department of agricultural economics. Carstensen will devote half-time to teaching duties.

CARSTENSEN, widely known as speaker and author, includes among his works the massive two-volume The University of Wisconsin, a History, which he wrote with Prof. Merle Curti; contributions to the volume Regionalism in America, and many articles in professional journals. He has also served as managing editor of the magazine Agricultural History.

Born in Cherokee county, Iowa, Dr. Carstensen was educated at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls and the Iowa State university. He taught history at Central Washington College of Education, Ellensburg, from 1935 to 1943; and at the University of Washington, 1941-43.

In 1944-45 he was historian for the U.S. War Department on assignment to the Office of the Quartermaster General. During the 1956-57 academic year, Dr. Carstensen lectured on the history of the American West at the University of Stockholm.

Socialist Club Bids For Talks by Tito, Nikita Khrushchev

The Wisconsin Socialist club, meeting last Wed., voted to send invitations to Chairman Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union and President Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia to come to the university campus and speak to Wisconsin students and faculty.

The text of the telegrams to both world leaders follows:

Dear Chairman Khrushchev,

We hope that the efforts of the world leaders now gathered at the U.N. result in reaching agreement on the crucial issues of peace, disarmament and an end to colonialism. Discussion of issues at the conference table, rather than war and an armaments race, is the only fruitful way of establishing peaceful relations between countries.

Our club, a group of fifty students of all socialist persuasion, feels that American students have a right to hear your proposals in an atmosphere of free and frank discussion. We are aware that you are restricted to the Manhattan area. In the event that this restriction will be lifted, we would like to invite you to come to the University of Wisconsin campus and talk to students and faculty. We would like your talk to be on any subject of your choice.

Sincerely yours,
Ronald Radosh, President,
Wisconsin Socialist club

SZO Panel Set For Sunday Night

"The role of the Student Zionist Organization (SZO) as the campus link to World Jewry" will be discussed by a panel at 9 p.m. in the B'nai Brith Hillel house Sunday night.

Avi Bass, president of the organization, will moderate the panel of three university students. Each student will represent the three facets of Jewish life at Madison. Johanna Kaplan will present the freshman point of view, while Daniel Drosdoff, editor of the Hillel Review, will give the opinions of the upperclassmen. The graduate level will be provided by Fred Silverman, a graduate student in communications.

George Lewis Show Tickets Available

Tickets are still available at the Union box office for George Lewis' offering to the Union's Jazz festival. He and his band will play jazz from 9-12 p.m. tomorrow in Great hall.

"From Basin st. to Great hall might well be the theme for the evening," commented Dick Taylor whose Social committee has sponsored Lewis. "We're having a night club atmosphere in Great hall to make for easy listening and dancing." This includes tables and waiter service.

Lewis is not a newcomer to the campus. He was here in 1958. Then he and his band went to Europe.

He plays New Orleans jazz with a message which reaches back to the primitive. The average age of band members is 60.

HOOFERS SAILING CLUB

Skippers Carol Adamson, Dave Ream, Dave Reineke and crew Nancy McCagney and Kathy Moerth will represent Hoofers Sailing club at an inter-collegiate invitational sailing regatta tomorrow and Sunday. Wayne State university is sponsoring the regatta, an annual affair, which will be held at the Belle Isle Yacht club, Mich. Wisconsin won third place last year and a blue ribbon in 1956.

LHA Cabinet Votes To Sell Soap in Vending Machines

Members of the Lakeshore Halls association Cabinet voted Wednesday night to have packages of soap placed in vending machines in men's dormitories "for a test period of one semester."

Although several members disagreed about how much this method of selling soap is needed, the Cabinet decided to give it a try.

THE GROUP voted to have dormitory house pictures for the Badger taken on a week night rather than on Sunday afternoon as they were last year. No definite day was set; houses were asked to vote on whether they preferred Tuesday or Wednesday.

Jean Hartman's appointment to the Emergency Finance board was approved unanimously. This board, consisting of Dan Hildebrand, Acting Business Manager LeRoy Pesche, and Miss Hartman, has the power to appropriate $20 for purchases when there isn't time to take the matter to the Cabinet.

LHA PRES. Thomas Towers announced, "There is still room on the LHA committees for those who did not get a chance to interview with the committees this week," adding that anyone interested may contact either him or the LHA Personnel committee.

Towers also said that Residence Halls need kitchen help, especially in the Kronshage unit.

Judy Gregg concluded the meeting by announcing that the annual Powder Puff football meet between the women of Buck house (Cole) and the men of Showerman house (Kronshage) will be held tomorrow in the intramural fields.

High School Bands to Play At Badger-Marquette Game

Badger Band Day at the university tomorrow will be a day to remember for almost 3,000 boys and girls in 42 high school bands around the state who will perform at Camp Randall Stadium during the Marquette-Wisconsin football game.

"This is our first Band Day in 22 years," Prof. Raymond Dvorak, university band director explains. "We did schedule it last year but the weather was so bad we had to call it off."

The high school participants, armed with their instruments and brown bags of lunch, will arrive at the stadium in their school buses in time for the 10:30 a.m. rehearsal. During the game they will be seated on the north side of the stands with the Wisconsin and Marquette bands.

Parading of all their high school colors at half-time will be followed by performance by all bands of "On Wisconsin," "76 Trombones," "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Varsity." High school twirlers will have their moment of glory during the playing of "Junior Badgers," especially written for high school bandmen by Paul Yoder.

Robert Bittner and Russell Gilligan, Dvorak's new assistants, have helped prepare for Band Day.

Bands will come from high schools in Albany, Argyle, Beaver Dam, Belleville, Beloit, Berlin, Columbus, Elkhorn, Fennimore, Fort Atkinson, Hartford, Hillsboro, Jefferson, Lake Mills, Lodi, Madison, Middleton, Monona Grove, Monticello, Mt. Horeb, New Glarus, North Fond du Lac, Oconomowoc, Poynette, Prairie du Sac, Randolph, Reedsburg, Richland Center, Rio, Rosendale, Sparta, Stoughton, Walworth, Watertown, Wautoma, Wauzeka, Whitewater, and Wilton.

Leading Wisconsin's efforts against Marquette tomorrow will be Co-captains Tom Weisner (left) and Hank Derleth. Both Weisner and Derleth were regulars on last year's Big Ten champs. Weisner, a rugged fullback, will start against the Warriors while Derleth will see action with the "go" team in Coach Milt Bruhn's three platoon scheme.

Playing behind Gerry Kulcinski on the second or "go" unit tomorrow against Marquette will be sophomore guard Steve Underwood. A top lineman on last year's frosh team, Underwood saw his first college action last week against Stanford. He is from Madison.

CROSS-COUNTRY

The Badgers cross country meet with Beloit has been re-scheduled for this afternoon at 4:30, instead of Saturday morning as previously announced.

Bruhnmen Show Spirit In Practice

By JOHN BUBOLZ

The Badgers of Wisconsin continued to ready themselves in preparation for the Warrior invasion tomorrow. A light practice was held yesterday with today's drill to be limited to jogs around the field and a review run through of the plays Wisconsin's gridders will throw at Lisle Blackburn's charges.

In the workout held Thursday afternoon the Bruhnment spent much of the time ironing out the wrinkles in their offensive pass patterns. The Badgers, clad in sweat pants and padless football togs, showed a lot of spirit and drive as they mentally and physically keyed themselves for their initial home start.

Fullback Tom Anthony carried a good portion of that will-to-win tonic. Tom showed impressive bursts of speed on power drives and slants off tackle as he responded to coach Bruhn's plea to "show Marquette our heels."

Other players were similarly impressive. When mistakes were committed the guilty one would listen to the coaches' corrections and then proceed to eliminate the kink which could be very costly in a nip-and-tuck battle the Marquette clash is expected to be.

Out of action tomorrow will be linemen Brian Moore and Dale Matthews, both with leg injuries. Brian's ankle is still giving him trouble. Although he suited up for practice earlier in the week Brian will remain on the sidelines for this non-conference bout. Dale Matthews has worked out sparingly during the week. He has been bothered by a knee ailment sufficient enough to postpone his appearance on the gridiron for about a week. However, both Brian and Dale should be ready for the conference opening Purdue game October 8th.

FENCING

There will be a meeting for all varsity fencing candidates tomorrow in the Rosewood Room of the Union at 4:30 p.m. The meeting will be for organizational purposes.

I-M Football And Volleyball Hold Spotlight

Most of the action took place in the fraternity leagues in Intramural football yesterday. Alpha Delta Phi and Pi Lambda Phi played a 6-6 tie, with Alpha Delta Phi winning with the most first downs. Other action saw Psi Upsilon romping to a 21-0 win over Phi Kappa Theta and Beta Theta Pi blasting Chi Psi 20-7.

Alpha Gamma Rho bowed to Alpha Epsilon Pi 13-6, while Chi Phi shutout Sigma Alpha Epsilon 6-0. Delta Theta Sigma dropped a 19-0 decision to Theta Delta Chi, and Zeta Beta Tau tipped Phi Epsilon 6-0.

In dorm action, Spooner dumped Frankfurter 13-0 with Dave Olds pitching a pair of touchdown passes to Rolf Luloff and Art Brearly. Olds also added the extra point.

Fallows trampled Gregory 44-0 behind the passing and running of Rollie Heath. Heath threw 5 touchdown passes; 3 to Mark Runkel, 1 to Jim Danielsen, and 1 to John Eckstein; ran for another one, and added an extra point on another pass to Danielson. Ben Cape kicked a field goal and four extra points to conclude the scoring.

Intramural volleyball also got underway this week with a number of forfeits marring play. Alpha Chi Rho, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Theta, and Sigma Phi Epsilon all won their openers on

In This Corner

By JERRY SHEA

Shea Says:

We have a big space to fill today and rather than do anything constructive, we decided to make a few rash predictions on this Saturday's games. Demanding equal space, one Zier has also attempted a few guesses, but these are to be entirely disregarded.

MARQUETTE OVER WISCONSIN—We really don't think the Warriors will win, but if they do, we should be looked upon as an oracle. Marquette has everything to gain and nothing to lose and this may be the year they will finally come through. But don't bet the grocery money on it.

PURDUE OVER NOTRE DAME—This is just like picking Nixon over Kennedy. We've been down on the "Irish" ever since they fired Terry Brennan and we don't think they can beat a Big Ten entry even though they dumped Cal last week. The Boilermakers are green, but they still have the horses to stop the South Benders.

OHIO STATE OVER SOUTHERN CAL—Woody Hayes is really opening up his offense this season—he's throwing as many as six passes per game and doing all sorts of other dangerous things. The Buckeyes main problem will be those pillars of sportsmanship, the McKeever twins, but Ohio should win by at least two touchdowns.

IOWA OVER NORTHWESTERN—Without Dick Thornton, the 'Cats will be in trouble and there will probably be a slight letdown after their upset of Oklahoma. Forest Evash-evski has his usual contingent of fast backs and has apparently come up with another good quarterback in Wil Hollis.

INDIANA OVER MINNESTOA—The Gophers are supposedly a Big Ten darkhorse while Indiana's losses count only as demerits, but not in the standings. Minnesota has fair speed, but not enough to turn the huge Hoosier ends where such giants as 6-5, 245 pound Earl Faison hold forth. The Crimson should take a narrow victory.

ILLINOIS OVER WEST VIRGINIA—The Mountaineers are the kingpins of their own little conference, but Illinois is among the best in the country. Pete Elliott's charges should have a breather this Saturday and will probably be looking forward to next week's clash with Ohio State. That game could decide the Big Ten title, but the West Virginia contest will only show the East how tough the Big Ten still is.

MICHIGAN OVER MICHIGAN STATE—State could crush Michigan if its offense jells, but Michigan has waited too long for this chance at the Spartans. The Wolves have only beaten State twice in the last ten years, and this doesn't set too well with their rabid fans. State has a fine team, but we look for Michigan to upset Duffy Daugherty's Spartans.

NORTHLAND OVER MILTON.

Zier Says:

We got off to a bad start in our predictions last week, with only three winners, but since its almost impossible to do worse we're trying again this time.

ILLINOIS OVER WEST VIRGINIA—The Illini looked good against Indiana last week, and West Virginia isn't the powerhouse it once was. Illinois shouldn't have much trouble in wrapping up its second straight win.

MINNESOTA OVER INDIANA—Indiana's offense sputtered badly last week and their defense, which was supposed to be strong, didn't look to good either. On the other hand Minnesota has a veteran team which handled a good Nebraska eleven rather easily, so we'll stick with the Gophers.

IOWA OVER NORTHWESTERN—The Wildcats won't have Dick Thornton and will find him hard to replace. Iowa has the speed to match Northwestern and a good passer in Wilburn Hollis. The Hawks are weak on pass defense, but we don't think the Wildcats can take advantage of it.

MICHIGAN STATE OVER MICHIGAN—The Spartans were impressive against Pitt, but will find the Wolverines hard to handle. State has the more versatile offense however, and this should be to confusing for Michigan.

OHIO STATE OVER SOUTHERN CAL—The Trojans have been the biggest flop on the coast so far and will find a revitalized Buckeye team to much for them. Ohio State is still smarting from last year and they rarely have two bad seasons in a row.

NOTRE DAME OVER PURDUE—These two teams both looked good in their openers and this is always a tough battle, but Notre Dame looks to be on the way back and has a solid team. The Boilermakers will make it a battle but we pick the Irish.

WISCONSIN OVER MARQUETTE—Marquette has their best team in years and are really up for this one, but the Badger sophomores looked very good and should be ready for the Warriors. Added to this is the fact that Marquette's star back, Dave Theisen, will be missing from the line-up.

Other scores included Zeta Beta Tau over Phi Gamma Delta 2-0, Pi Lambda Phi over Sigma Phi

2-0, Delta Upsilon over Psi Upsilon 2-0, Triangle over Delta Sigma Pi 2-0, and Alpha Epsilon Pi over Phi Delta Theta 2-0.

A university chemical engineering professor, Olaf A. Hougen, is one of 17 chemical engineers and chemists who have just been named to receive 1961 awards of the American Chemical Society.

Prof. Hougén was named to receive the $1,000 Award in industrial and engineering chemistry sponsored by the Esso Research and Engineering co. The award will be presented to Prof. Hougén at the 139th national meeting of the American Chemical society at St. Louis, Mo., March 21-30, 1961.

Prof. Hougen, who recently was awarded an honorary doctor's degree at the Technical university of Norway at Trondheim, is a native of Manitowoc, Wis., and a graduate of the university.

He has combined teaching and research in the college of engineering for 40 years. Holder of the Charles F. Burgess professorship in the college of engineering, he has been recognized internationally for his discoveries and publications in chemical engineering.

Mystery surrounds two Russian students who were supposed to study at the university this year. Although they expressed a desire to attend here and were accepted, they have not applied for visas.

The students are V. D. Belousov, who will study mathematics, and L.S. Konstantinov, who will be in the department of mining and metallurgy. They are part of an exchange between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. Two university students, Richard Yatzech and Sanford Couch will study at the Moscow state university.

According to John Armstrong, of the political science department, there is still a good chance that the students will arrive within the week. However, nothing is certain as yet.

Christian Church students attending the university will be guests at a buffet supper at First Christian church, 304 N. Hamilton St. on Sunday October 2, at 5:30 p.m.

Lakeshore Halls Association is currently looking for a social director, according to LHA president Tom Towers. The director would be in charge of interviewing and picking committee chairman for LHA's social activities and then co-ordinating the activities of these committees.

Applicants can call extension 2437 or see Towers in the LHA office between 3:30 and 5:30.

About 600 teachers, physicians, psychologists and social workers are expected here this weekend for Great Lakes regional meetings of the American Association on Mental Deficiency (AAMD).

Meetings today will be in the Loraine hotel, while tomorrow sessions will meet in the Union.

Today delegates will tour Madison public schools; the Opportunity center for mentally retarded adults; the Wisconsin Diagnostic center; Kiddie Camp near Middleton; and the Central Wisconsin

Colony and Training school. Harvey A. Stevens, superintendent of the Colony and Training School, will chair a panel discussion in the Union Theater tomorrow on implications of the White House conference on Children and Youth. In a luncheon address in Great hall, Dr. Edward L. Johnstone, current AAMD president, will speak on "The Rewarding Years."
