REGENTS AND VISITORS TO DISCUSS 181

Joint Session to Investigate Large Number of Student Failures; Drastic Action Planned

Rumors that one-third of the number of students enrolled during the first semester of the university were either dismissed from school or placed on probation due to class standings, particularly as the result of the Student Senate investigation of course 181, will be fully investigated by the joint session of the University Board of Regents and the University Board of Visitors, on March 1st.

"George P. Hambrecht, member of the board of visitors will present the cases under discussion to the board of regents," stated a prominent member of the board of visitors following a special meeting here Saturday. "There is too much smoke not to be any fire and the continued and ever increasing complaints of unfair treatment of students by instructors and department heads must be settled once and for all if the value of the university to the state is to continue."

Recommendations of the board of visitors in the past that more attention be paid to the freshmen students entering the university for the first time by the heads of the departments and not leaving all their care and direction to graduate students, immature instructors or persons who are here at a small recompense, having but two or three courses a week and devoting the rest of their time to personal study and research work, has not been received kindly by either faculty or regents and it is understood that these points will receive particular attention at the coming joint session.

Mr. Hambrecht, who will present the board of visitor's views to the regents, stated: "I was selected to this task and would be glad of any information that might be given. Just what our report will cover I can not state at present but we shall endeavor to cover the ground thoroughly so as to clear up any misunderstandings that have arisen and sift out the many stories that are current at the present time."

One prominent member of the board of regents, who declined to permit his name to be used stated, "I have received many complaints from parents and high school instructors throughout the state recently as to the actions of the faculty." (Continued on Page 8)

No-Cut Rule Not to Be Enforced Feb. 22

The no-cut rule will be enforced on the days preceding and following George Washington's birthday, February 22, according to Dean G. C. Sellery, of the College of Letters and Science.

"As the vacation lasts only on day the inconveniences which would result from enforcing the rule would not be justified," declared Dean Sellery yesterday.

The rule will be disregarded in all colleges of the university as well as in the College of Letters and Science.

CHARITY BALL TO BE HELD FRIDAY IN LATHROP GYM

Novel Stunts and Features Are Planned For Mixer

A whole evening's fun; dancing, special feature stunts, mixing with, and getting acquainted with several hundred fellow students, is promised to all who attend the annual Charity ball to be held in Lathrop gymnasium Friday evening from 8:30 to 12:00; and the price of admission is only 25 cents a foot.

Prof. and Mrs. Smiley Blanton are supervising preparations for the ball, with Adrian Scolten acting as general chairman.

The Charity ball serves as the biggest all-university mixer of the year, and efforts are being made to insure a large attendance. One of the men after attending the ball last year announced it "the best mixer he had ever attended."

That is what it is to be this year, and the committee only regrets that it is impossible to have a place large enough to accommodate every student in the university.

Special stunts for the mixer are in charge of W. Huff '23, who promises many novel features. "McDougall's alley," the stunt that proved so popular last year, will be used again, and this time there will be 50, instead of 12 beautiful damsels in the alley to separate the boys from their nickels.

The members of the committee, numbering about 60 persons, will attend the mixer in costume, and will assume the responsibility of seeing that everyone present mixes and has a good time.

The proceeds of the mixer, after expenses are taken care of, will all go to the Wisconsin State Conference of Social work, which now includes all of the 69 charity organizations in the state.

Octopus Contributes Due February 28

Art contributions for next month's Octopus are due before February 28 and written copy is to be in by March 1, according to announcement made yesterday at the Octopus office.

A complete feature number, appearing in the form of a Historical number, is the goal toward which contributors are preparing their copy. Historical allusions and feature work in verse and prose something entirely different from past contributions, is especially wanted for next month's issue.

Twelfth Night Seat Sale Opens Today

The seat sale for the open meeting of Twelfth Night which will be held in Lathrop concert room Saturday night, will open on the hill today. Tickets may also be obtained from members of the society.

The program of three one-act plays is being given on a week end night this year in accordance with the policy of the deans to encourage worth while activities on week end nights and thus help to lessen the overcrowding of dance hall and movie.

Dean Nardin Leaves For Eastern Meet

Dean Louise Nardin left Saturday morning for Cornell university, Ithaca, New York, where she is attending several committee meetings of the American Association of University Women. On her way home Miss Nardin will stop over in Chicago to be present at the Conference of Deans which will be held in that city on February 24 and 25.

LOST AND FOUND

Are Your Books or Gloves Waiting to Be Claimed?

The annual collection of lost and found articles has about reached its zenith by the appearance of the array of articles in the Registrar's office.

Belts, fur, leather, and cloth; pocket books, some empty and others full; gloves of all descriptions, pins, lockets, buckles and all other kinds of apparel are there waiting for their owners to claim them.

Enough books are in the collection to open a university book store; in fact all that is necessary would be to hang up the traditional three balls and start in business.

Prof. Leith Develops New Variety of Oats

Prof. B. D. Leith, of the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture, after 10 years of continuous breeding, selection, and testing for production, has developed a new variety of oats which are large -kerneled, early maturing, and give a high yield.

This new variety is called White Cross, Wisconsin pedigree No. 19, and is a pure line selection from a cross made in 1911, between Wisconsin pedigree No. 2, Big Flour, which is a large-kerneled, late maturing, white variety, and the Sixty Day, which is a small-kerneled, early maturing, yellow variety. "Extensive field tests will be made in various parts of the state before it is widely distributed," said Professor Leith yesterday.

Women's Sociology Club is Established

Alpha Pi Epsilon Has Aim of Social Service and Relief

Alpha Pi Epsilon, honorary women's sociology club, has just been organized on the campus. The charter members are a group of senior girls majoring in sociology, who with the co-operation of the faculty realized the need and formulated plans for such an organization.

Election to membership is on a two-fold basis. Names of the students who have the required scholastic average are recommended by the faculty of the sociology classes, and these students are voted on by the members of the club on the basis of personality, womanliness, and leadership. Meetings are held on the first and third Tuesday evenings, at which times there are programs on live questions in sociology, and occasional talks by outside speakers. The club has pledged itself to accomplish at least one act of social service each semester. To this end they are now making clothes for a girl in Madison that she may attend school.

The charter members include Gertrude Breese, Margaret Conway, Marie Dresden, Elaine Eschweiler, Pearl Hirsig, Lorna Lewis, Auta Lyman, Eva Miller, Helen McNeil, Ruth Homig, Caroline Schweizer, Helen Weir, and Martha Whitlock.

The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, when new members will be selected, and Prof. E. A. Ross will speak on "The Problem of Population."

Equity Society Calls State Co-op Parley

A state-wide conference of all co-operative buying organizations to discuss market conditions and formulate means for organization to bring the farmer consumer into closer contact with the manufacturer or producer, is proposed by the Equity society in a statement today.

RICHARDS TO ATTEND LAW SCHOOL MEET

Taft, Hughes, and Root to Preside at Meetings to Determine National Legal Standards

Dean Richards, representing the university and the Dane County Bar association, will leave for Washington, D. C., on Wednesday morning to attend the conference of the American Bar association. The conference will take place on February 23 and 24, the main topic of discussion being on legal education. The purpose of the conference will be to devise a means by which to put into action several resolutions which were passed by the association last August.

Resolutions were passed that would require at least two years of college work and three years in an approved law school, the various law schools being classified as to their grade much the same as medical schools are classified by the Medical association. Only those who would comply with these requirements would be eligible for a bar examination. Although these requirements must be met at Wisconsin to obtain a degree in law, there are many schools in the country which would be required to change their law courses and their requirements for entrance and graduation if this new ruling takes effect.

Such men as William H. Taft, chief justice of the Supreme Court; Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state, and Senator Elihu Root will be present and preside at the meetings. According to Dean Richards the outcome of the meeting will be of the highest interest to all the law schools of the country.

Coach Selects Girls' Class Bowling Team

Girls' bowling squads were announced Monday as follows:

Seniors: Anna Arndquist, Bess Blakling, Barbara Hildreth, Elizabeth Katz, Florence Mahorney, Helen Adeline Miller, Dorothy Sumption, Charlotte Voorhis, Dorothy Westendarp.

Juniors: Lois Addington, Elizabeth Baird, Esther Harris, Edith Hess, Maude Killam, Cleo Parsley, Edith Zimmerman, Helen Zuehlke.

Sophomores: Louise Clancy, Katherine Fuller, Genevieve Hicks, Marie Kowalke, Lucile Larson, Rosamond Nolte, Ruth Staudenmeyer, Ina Stevenson.

Freshmen: Frieda Aucheter, Lillian Busch, Julia Callis, Mildred Duvie, Dorothy Haskins, Ina Norman, Lenore Sylvester, Valentine Van Tassel.

There will be a meeting of the squads next Thursday.

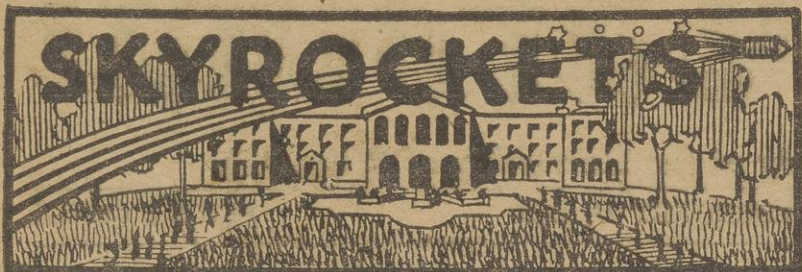

Hold Annual Agric Stock Show March 4

More than 180 animals are entered in the Little International Live Stock show to be given in the University Stock pavilion, Saturday, March 4.

The entries consist of 70 dairy cattle, 43 beef cattle, 28 hogs, 30 horses, and 12 sheep.

Judging of the animals will be based on the improvement that the students have made in the animal, and the ability of the students to show the animals in the ring. Prominent live stock men have been secured to judge the animals.

The animals will be judged in the afternoon. In the evening a grand parade of all the fitted animals will be held during the "Little International" horse show.

OUR worthy College of Commerce is losing sight of an excellent means of raising funds as a proof of its practical value to the university curriculum. Why not stage the controversy over 181 in the form of a pitched battle on the lower campus and charge a reasonable fee for ring-side seats? We rather see Professor Elwell and his cohorts in action than a first class lynching party conducted under the auspices of the original Ku Klux Klan.

MAGIC lantern slides have all ways held a particular charm for us, but it was not until we came into contact with Higher Education that we fully realized their diverse merits. Our idea of a perfect lecture is an abstract subject, a low pitched voice, and a dark room. As a rest cure it is far more effective than a day at the infirmary; as a fusing date it is far more economical than those of the common species. Petitions for the regular and continuous use of stereopticon slides is now in order.

RULINGS have been made, by a Chicago court, that carrying liquor on one's person is not transportation in the legal sense. Simultaneous with this announcement, we notice that the Clothing Association of America, having just closed their annual convention, are hurriedly reconvening. We take it that the new styles for men will be extra loose clothing with seven or eight pockets added as a fad. Their trousers will be very full in the hips.

RUSSELL CHARGES TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS OF TODAY; DEFLATION UNDER WAY

"It is apparently time to have a little more business in government as well as a little less government in business."

"High wage scales still exert a large influence * * * With the general cost of living now about 162 in comparison with the pre-war scale the present wage index is 186 per cent of a pre-war base."

These were some observations made today at the meeting of the Kiwanis club by H. L. Russell, dean of the university college of agriculture. Mr. Russell said in part:

"The times are out of joint. The silent factories, the empty cars on the sidings, the millions of laborers out of a job all attest the fact that business is in the dumps. The aftermath of war, of inflation, is being reaped. It is a brown taste on a gray morning after an orgy of inflation and reckless spending. And yet there are just as many people to feed, to clothe, to shelter, as there were two years ago. And there is more food to feed them with. Why then are we all standing around, hoping for an improvement in conditions, looking to Congress to legislate us back into good times?"

"Fundamentally, the reason is that the process of deflation and contraction which always follows a period of inflation and expansion is not yet complete."

"The producer of raw materials feels the pressure of deflation first, whether he is a farmer who produces raw food-stuffs, the copper or iron miner who produces the metals, or the producer of rubber, lumber, or oil. But if raw materials are down and finished commodities are not deflated to an equal degree, inequalities and stresses are sure to develop that throw the business machine out of gear."

"This is the existing situation today."

"1. The farmer has had his normal buying power cut in two by the drastic decline in the price of the products which he has to sell."

In 1921 he produced more than a normal crop and yet he received for it eight billion dollars less than a year ago. Divide this sum by the 6,500,000 farmers in America and it is obvious there has been a reduction of over $1200 in the average farm income. This means just that much less to spend for shoes, clothing, farm equipment, the necessities of life, not to say the conveniences and luxuries. No wonder business languishes."

"The normal purchasing power of the American farmer is so enormous that when this is greatly reduced, all business is affected. While about 35 per cent of the entire population live on farms, over 40 per cent of all manufactured goods are purchased by farmers, and over 50 per cent of the gross revenues of the railroads are derived from this same source."

"It has been asserted that the reduction in exports is the primary cause of the present slump. But last year we sold abroad nearly two billion dollars more than we purchased. In food shipments the exports were even larger. In 1913 one-fifth of our exports were food products; last year they were over 31 per cent. In 1921 we shipped abroad over 18 million tons of food while our pre-war normal was only about 4 million tons. Certainly it cannot be claimed on this basis that our foreign trade in food products is the cause of the tremendous decline in home prices."

"2. Recovery in business cannot be fully expected until there is a reasonable equality in the value of exchange in labor. The farmer exchanges in his labor (present as well as past) in the form of commodities which he has to sell (his crops and live stock), for the labor of someone who fashions the finished commodities which he needs for his use. The manufacturer sells his goods which are enhanced in value by the cost of the raw materials, labor in fabricating the same, the capital and risk involved in his plant; the railroad sells its services in the freight and express rates to carry the materials back and forth from point of production to where they are consumed. When a fair exchange in labor is had prosperity reigns and business is active, but if one large group is out of all proportion in its return to another group, then unrest is rife, discontent prevails, and enforced economy ensues. The farmer can no longer continue to buy his farm implements because it now takes so much more of his labor to pay for the same. A wagon, a plow, a grain binder and a corn binder in 1914 cost $460; now they cost $700, but if they were paid for in corn in central Wisconsin it took 625 bushels to pay for them in 1914 and nearly 1700 bushels now."

"Will farm products go up or will finished commodities come down? Probably both. Within the last two months there has been a decided improvement in the price of the farmers' products. Certainly conditions must be more nearly equalized before resumption in the farmer's purchasing will occur in any large measure."

Nominate Officers of Y. W. C. A. For Coming Semester

Nominations for officers for next year and a report of the committee on outstanding pledges were the items of business covered by yesterday's open meeting of Y. W. C. A. held in the concert room at Lathrop hall.

Nominations reported from the committee were as follows: For president, Helen Kasbeer and Louise Moore; for vice-president, Harriette Green, Jeanette Kennan; for secretary, Marian Metcalf, Eleanor Head; for treasurer, Gertrude Slocum and Maud Killam. A ballot was taken on nominations from the floor. According to the constitution two candidates are nominated by the committee and one from the open meeting. It was voted that since only one nomination from the floor was made for the president, that in case that candidate withdrew her name before the election, the constitution waived and that only those candidates named by the committee be considered.

Elizabeth Kirk reported $400 on outstanding pledges due and urged captains and solicitors to finish their canvasses and report at the end of the week.

The complete lists of nominees will not be announced before the general election of S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., and W. A. A. to be held on Thursday.

Jokes for Judge Due By March 10

Humor and art contributions of students for Judge's College Wits number are due in the Octopus office not later than March 10 to be entered in Judge's annual wit contest in May. All copy should be marked "Judge copy."

Short jokes and verse and copy with a racy touch stand the best chance for publication in Judge's college issue, according to the Octopus editors. Silver trophies will be awarded the individual and school contributing the best art and literary features, and all copy printed will be paid for.

Octopus staff artists will illustrate jokes for contributors or assist them in preparing their cartoons.

Mitzi Charms As Usual; Plays To A Crowded House

The inimitable Mitzi in the charming and captivating musical romance "Lady Billy," held her audience with intense interest for nearly three hours at the Parkway theater last night.

One often hears it said that present day musical comedy has degenerated and is no longer entitled to the repute it once had. However, the snap and delightful humor of last night's production, combined with catchy and tuneful songs, clever acting, pretty girls, resplendent scenery, and withal the unanimous enthusiasm of the audience, proved that the old time sparkle and gayety of comic opera has been rejuvenated.

Mitzi herself is an extremely versatile actor. She possesses a vivacious and wholesome personality, as well as a quaintness and sincerity which endears her to the audience. She has a pleasing voice and is unusually comely in appearance.

Last night Mitzi appeared in a number of settings, and in various guises, from a gardener's son, a ghost of her ancestral aunt, to a boy soprano, infatuated with a wealthy railroad man, Mr. John Smith.

The cast supporting Mitzi was capable and refined, serving as an appropriate background to enhance the artistic effect of the whole musical play. Besides a number of pretty girls who sang and danced well there was a quintette of special dancers who were extremely graceful in the tetrachorean art, performing some novel steps.

The costumes worn by the girls were gorgeous, original and highly variegated in colors, forming a brilliant panorama in the last act. Sidney Greenstreet who played the part of Bateson, the secretary to Billy, was responsible for much of the genuine humor of the play. His unusual avoirdupois, his assumed dignity and his droll wit brought many laughs from the crowded theater.

THE CHARITY BALL MIXER

WISCONSIN, like other states, has on her hands the big problem of charitable relief. Today this problem is not confined merely to the taking care of those in need of financial aid, but it is also concerned with dealing with the social misfits and delinquents.

Because of the unusual number of unemployed this year, organized charity has had to meet a terrific demand. Every resource has been strained to the breaking point to take care of the state's unfortunates. The extraordinary condition of unemployment has emphasized more than ever the problem caused by the socially unfit. It has been left to organized charity to take the initiative in dealing with these delinquents, and the Wisconsin State Conference for Social Work, a body made up of all the state charity organizations, is trying to solve this part of the problem by getting at the cause, realizing that a good half of the causes can be eliminated and the problem proportionately reduced.

The task of relieving those in want from hard times, and the problem of reducing paperism, and mental and moral deficiency, takes money, but it is money invested in a cause that every one at all interested in society should back. University students, who are being prepared by the state for the benefit of society, should give their help especially. Friday evening is their chance.

Friday evening the Charity Ball Mixer will be given, the biggest all-university mixer of the year. The ball should have the support of all the students that can crowd into Lathrop hall. It promises a whole evening of fun; of dancing and special features. Its purpose is to help Wisconsin's unfortunates and misfits, so that the more who attend, the more will the university help solve the problem of social relief in the state. The net proceeds go to the Wisconsin State Conference for Social Relief; therefore the greater financial aid that conference gets, the better able will it be to carry on its important work of social relief.

KEEPING UP

COLLEGE students have been frequently criticized as living in a world of their own, shut off from the contacts, the life, the events, and the thought of the world about them. Perhaps the criticism is justified, or perhaps it is too severe. At any rate, the college student should be the last one to be accused of provincialism. He is in college to broaden himself, and if he hinders that broadening process by becoming a recluse, or closing his eyes to all but his college environment, he is making a great mistake.

A college is the ideal place to keep up with the world and to keep away from the rut of provincialism. It offers an atmosphere for study, the comparative leisure for reading which is greatly denied in the strenuous competition of life after college, and it gives the means of keeping up, by means of the libraries. Newspapers from all parts of the world, current periodicals treating every conceivable subject, give the student an unexcelled chance to know what is being done. Since he must live in a world of men, he must know that world, know what his fellow men are doing, what they think, and what they enjoy or dislike. It only takes an hour or so each week to get this commopolitan touch, to know what's what in the theater, in literature, in art, in politics, in commerce and industry.

ANOTHER ICONCLAST

THE other day Professor Hudson of the University of Missouri, speaking before the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' Convention at Madison, went on a rampage about the world in general and universities in particular. From painting a dismal picture of the degeneracy of mankind, he jumped into a diatribe against institutions of higher learning, and tore to shreds his own profession, calling it a damnable one, and telling his fellow educators that they were failures, devoid of a sense of humor, and that all they knew was the subdivision of a subdivision of a subdivision of a subject. Ignoring part of his accusation which might have been due to indigestion from crab meat, what was Professor Hudson trying to get at when he charged professors with being specialists? What does he think instructors are hired for, to entertain the students, or to impart knowledge? Certainly an instructor is a specialist. An instructor in organic chemistry gets his job because he knows organic chemistry better than he does Sanskrit. Would Professor Hudson call in a general practitioner or a country doctor to operate on him for a clot on the brain when he could get a specialist in that kind of surgery?

Professor Hudson then proceeds to lay low the accumulated effort of a student's four years in college. He said that education was a failure because the student was taught a lot of useless, unrelated facts which he forgot immediately upon graduating, which was the best thing he could do. Who, outside of Edison, ever claimed that a college education was for the purpose of collecting facts? Professor Hudson must have higher education confused with a correspondence course in memory training. Probably in some courses the accumulating of facts is given more attention than need be, but the average course requires no more facts than are necessary for the understanding of the subject. Perhaps Professor Hudson will agree that it is essential to know the fact that George Washington was the first president of the United States rather than a member of the English Parliament, to understand American history.

DEMAND FIRE PROOF STORES ABOUT SQUARE

Caesar Introduces Bill to Make Drastic Changes in Buildings

The first blow in what is said to be a battle against further excessive fire loss in the business section of the city came today with the filing of a proposed ordinance which will demand drastic changes in many of the buildings around the capital square and aggregate thousands of dollars in remodeling. The ordinance will come before the common council Friday night, introduced by Henry Caesar of the fifth ward. Its provisions are as follows:

1.—Buildings hereafter erected on Mifflin st., Fairchild to Webster; on Carroll, W. Dayton to Doty; Pinckney st., E. Dayton to E. Doty; King st., S. Pinckney st., to Wilson; State st., Mifflin to Murray, shall have the first floor, girder and columns in basement constructed of re-inforced concrete.

2.—All basement stairs and other openings piercing the first floor, must be enclosed in fire-proof enclosures.

3.—Floors that have been damaged 50 per cent or more in the judgment of the building commissioner, cannot be repaired, but must be removed and replaced.

4.—All existing floors and openings into basements in buildings on the streets mentioned shall within six months from the passage of this ordinance comply with section 2.

City officials are glad to see the controversy over the work of the fire department coming to a head at this time. They believe that it is high time that the matter was "aired" and the truth known as to why the fires this winter are of such a disastrous nature.

The fire department will undoubtedly come in for some discussion when the council meets Friday night. The question of whether or not sufficient amount of water pressure is available during fires for the department to work with will be another topic of discussion, it is said.

BILLIE GERBER'S REVUE
A CRIMINAL OF FIVE REEL ENTERTAINMENT

February Issue Of Commerce Magazine Full Of Interest

By PROEHL H. JAKLON

If you think that the gang who get out the Commerce magazine used up all their material on last month's number, you are mistaken.

The March issue which comes out tomorrow is full of pertinent articles that ought to interest everybody. If the name "Commerce" scares you just a little bit, you will realize that it has reference only to the people who publish the magazine, and is in no way indicative to the subject matter.

Instead of finding lots of dope concerning the amortization of bond premiums or information relative to credit conditions in Uruguay, you will be interested in Humphrey Desmond's '22 feature on "character reading," and pleased, perhaps, if you measure up to the standards there set forth. It's a long article and a comprehensive one, made particularly interesting by the personal reference to a great number of people on the campus. If for no other reason, you ought to read this issue to defend your character.

How chorus girls, traveling salesmen, and farmers deport themselves in hotels is related in detail by Rollin Ecke in his "Tavern Blues," an expose of day and night life in a Madison hotel. If you are a souvenir hunter and possess a large collection of hotel silver—or brassware, you ought to find out what a hotel proprietor thinks of you.

Psychological tests seem to be the Commerce magazine's forte. This month they offer one entitled "Possible But Difficult," a fitting title.

"Bob" Reynolds' "Up and down the Hill" department comes forth in the March issue with three pages and several cuts, and "Reg" Garstang's "Profit and Loss" page is more or less a combination of the Octopus and the Skyrocket column.

Only one criticism may be made of the present number—Reginald Garstang's article, "What's Worth While," could well be boiled down to two paragraphs and run as an editorial. If the article had been divided into chapters, a hero inserted, and the nouns capitalized, maybe someone would read it.

As a whole the magazine is attractive, well made up, and contains plenty of cuts, and no matter what college you are enrolled in, the Commerce book will interest you.

ASK FOR COTTAGES.

Madison will have a record season as a summer resort, advance calls for cottages indicate.

Three Good Acts Head Orph Bill

By P. H. J.

Three acts of the finest quality form the major part of the bill at the Orpheum for the first half of the week—the best bill since Blossom Seeley. Everything is fresh and clean, including most of the jokes, and no single act fails to arouse the audience.

Margaret Taylor

A wire act presented in a novel manner. Besides being adept on the wire, Miss Taylor is also quite a singer and dancer.

Williams and Howard

Song parodies combined with 703 jokes and near-wheezes. After they started to sing, the audience was very well satisfied.

"Billie Gerber Revue"

One of the big acts. Miss Gerber's interpretation of "Second hand Rose" was an outstanding feature, and the piano-accordion accompaniment to the dancing numbers set things off in great style. More acts of this type would be greatly appreciated.

Jack Inglis

The sort of comedy dished out by Inglis is decidedly refreshing. In spite of the fact that all of his stuff got over the first time, Inglis didn't impose upon the listener's good nature.

Roberts and Clark

New songs, clean costumes, and clever operators put the third big act on the bill over in satisfying style. The man at the piano was a good entertainer during the changes.

"Dreams"

Three women who pose.

A. Birge. The scholarships are open to graduates of universities and colleges of acknowledged standing.

Each year five European traveling fellowships of the value of from $500 to $1,500 are awarded to members of the graduate school of Bryn Mawr college. In making the award, great weight is placed on recommendations of professors and indications of future success in academic work. Announcements of these scholarships are posted on the bulletin board in Bascom hall.

Johnson Leaves For Journalism Meeting

Mr. Johnson of the department of Journalism will leave on March 3 for Milwaukee where he will address the members of the Wisconsin Press association.

His talk will deal with the results of a state-wide questionnaire concerning the publishing conditions of the state. He sent a questionnaire to every town in the state where newspapers are published and he has already received 150 replies.

Mr. Johnson will also give the results of an analysis of the newspaper conditions and opportunities in each county in the state, as it was prepared by the students of his class. In preparing this analysis the students studied each town where newspapers are published and the newspapers in these towns.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

TANK TEAM IS GROOMED FOR MAROON MEET

Bennett and Blinks to Clash in Three Events

Coach Joe Steinauer will not allow his varsity swimming team to slow down after its initial conference victory, over Illinois, but will begin to groom his men for the Chicago meet which comes off on Friday afternoon in the gym tank. Although the Varsity proved its worth over the Illini, Steinauer will take no chances and will work his charges into even better form than they displayed last Saturday when they turned in their 37 to 31 win.

The Chicago team this year is not as well balanced as it has been in former years, but there is one man on the Maroon Varsity who is doped to give the Badgers trouble enough. Blinks, holder of several conference records, is the man, upon whom Chicago is depending to turn in almost half of her points. Blinks has been able to do this quite regularly in past meets, winning the 40, 100, and 220 yard swims in fast times. He holds these records in the conference and last year swam the anchor position on the team that broke the relay record.

Bennett Shows Speed

Wisconsin too, has another Blinks, in Johnson Bennett '24, who has been turning in his victories in the 100, and 220 yard swims regularly in all of his starts. The greatest interest in the meet this Friday will lie in the contest between Blinks and Bennett, and when they meet the records should fall, as both are equal to better times than they have made in early meets this season.

In the 100 yard swim, Blinks' fastest official time this season is 58 2-5 seconds, while Bennett has negotiated the century in 57 4-5 seconds. The edge seem to go to Bennett, quite decidedly in this event, but Blinks undoubtedly will be able to do faster than 58 seconds when he is forced to and the contest should be a hard fought one.

Again in the 220 yard swim, Bennett has the apparent edge over his rival with a time of 2:33 2-5 seconds against 2:37 4-5 seconds. Both men have made times under these figures in practice meets and the record in the furlong should go by the boards on Friday.

Blinks and J. J. Lamboley '22 will furnish the fans with another thrill in the 40 yard swim. Both men are credited with doing under the 20 second mark and Blinks conference record still stands at 19 2-5 seconds. Lamboley has developed fast this year and Steinauer is banking on his sprint star to give the Chicago flash a tussle for the honors.

Relay Teams Evenly Matched

The relay event should go to Wisconsin and again the Badger quartet should do the distance under the present conference record. The Chicago team with Blinks a the mainstay should not give the home team a very hard fight a Wisconsin is especially well balanced in this event with four men of almost equal speed swimming the four laps. The Badger team is fast gaining a reputation and bids fair to be the best quartet ever entered in a conference meet.

Captain "Bill" Collins '22 should not have much trouble in defeating Byler of Chicago in the dives and Norman Koch '24 should stand an excellent chance to place in this event. Lyons of Chicago will meet H. E. Czerwonky '24 in the 200 yard breast stroke event. Both men have been making times dangerously close to the record and Czerwonky has gone under the conference record on one occasion. Lyons will furnish him with the first real competition that he has had in a meet this year. Collins is also standing well up in the breast stroke event.

Little comparison may be made

Cinder Squad Feels Finkle's Loss Keenly

Overshadowing Wisconsin's 47 to 36 victory over the Notre Dame track team last Saturday is the loss of George Finkle, star distance man who had before him one of the greatest futures of any Badger athlete on the cinder path.

Finkle broke his right leg in the two-mile run when, about 300 yards from the finish line, he began the sprint which would have advanced him from second place to the lead. He is now in a South Bend hospital and will remain there until March 4. Wisconsin track men will bring him back after they have competed in the Illinois relays at Urbana on that date.

August Desch, John Murphy, Hayes, and Meredith, Notre Dame track and field men who saw the accident, visited Finkle in the hospital yesterday. Personal attention is given him by members of the student's activities council at the Indiana institution.

Finkle had won the mile race previous to his entry in the two-mile event.

"He had just turned the bank on the Notre Dame track when the accident occurred," said Coach Thomas E. Jones yesterday. "His right foot seemed to touch the heel of his left before he fell."

While he lay on the track, the other runners passed Finkle. He was immediately taken to the hospital and treated. A doctor's examination after the break had been set showed that complete recovery may be expected and the Badger star may be able to run next year.

The showing of the Wisconsin track team against Notre Dame indicated that the Badgers will be a strong contender for indoor honors this year.

Dale Merrick broke the Notre Dame pole vault record when he aviated 12 feet 5 3-4 inches. Edward Johnson, quarter miler, won his event in 52 2-5 seconds, 1-5 second slower than the record. In the hurdles, Captain Knollin, Stolley, and Newell scored a slam.

Mark Wall was not entered in the meet. He was taken ill a few days before the team left for South Bend, and Coach Jones ran Finkle in the mile in place of Wall.

"Pete" Platten took the high jump with a leap of 6 feet. The Badger jumper is consistently clearing the bar at this mark and as the season gets under way, he can be expected to better it.

Twenty Men Report For Crew Practice

Captain George O. Toepfer '22, and 20 crew candidates are working out regularly on the rowing machines in the gymnasium annex in preparation for the rowing meets that will be scheduled for the rowers this spring.

Three of last year's "W" men are ineligible for the crew this season, and Coach Vail will have a hard task to develop men who can adequately fill these places. A fourth member of the squad which represented Wisconsin last spring is in school, but has not reported for practice as yet.

Coach Vail is giving 35 freshmen workouts three times a week. This is the largest number of frosh candidates who have ever turned out, indicating that plenty of experienced material will be ready to fill the several places that will be left vacant at the end of the present season.

Of the plungers of the two teams, as each squad works on a different record, basis. B. W. Huebner '22 stands a good show to cop against Heden of Chicago.

Both Czerwonky and H. F. Copeland '22 will swim in the 150 yard back stroke swim. Ivey of Chicago has been credited with better times than the pair of Wisconsin backstrokers but the contest should be an evenly fought one in spite of the apparent odds.

Much will depend on the outcome of the three events in which Blinks is entered and if the Wisconsin aces entered in these three events can defeat the Midway marvel, the Badger squad should turn in its second conference victory.

Varsity Quint to Face New Purple Squad Wednesday

Two Weeks' Rest Adds Fresh Strength to Northwestern

Doctor Meanwell and his squad of Badger basketballers resumed practice last night in preparation for the Northwestern game, which will be staged on the local floor Wednesday night.

The team returned from Michigan on Sunday, still smarting from their one-point defeat at the hands of the Wolverines.

The game on Saturday night was a hard one to drop, especially since it puts the Badgers completely out of the running for the conference championship. The umpire called foul after foul on the locals for offenses that were questionable to say the least, and each time the eagle-eyed Millar made his chances count.

The Wisconsin team displayed an improved brand of teamwork, but their shooting was below par. The defense prevented Mather's men from scoring a single basket in the first half, and kept the shots well scattered in the final period. Dame Fortune insisted on having her own way, however, and the Wolverines were on the long end of the count when the final gun sounded.

Northwestern's unexpected victory over Indiana was easily the biggest surprise of the season. Two weeks of rest gave the Purple a fresh impetus which gave them an early lead that they maintained throughout the entire tilt.

Wisconsin fans are now assured another real battle on Wednesday night. It is not known what team Coach Meanwell will send to the floor when the opening whistle sounds. Gibson goes well on a foreign floor, but he seems to get the "buck fever" in front of the local crowd. This may necessitate using Gage at center, but the team will be fully as strong, as was proven in the Illinois contest.

Student seat sale for the Wisconsin-Northwestern game for Wednesday night will open at 1:30 this afternoon. Open sale of tickets will begin Wednesday at 9:30 and last until 12. Any tickets which remain will be put on sale at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Five Out of Eight Starts Turn Out Badger Victories

Five victories out of eight starts was the record chalked up by Wisconsin teams in athletic events held last Saturday.

The Badgers lost the major contest when Michigan took the basketball game by an 18 to 17 score. Wisconsin led until late in the second half. Twelve fouls called on the Badgers tell the story of the defeat. Miller, Wolverine forward, netted 10 of the dozen.

Three tank records were broken by the swimming team which walloped Illinois, 37 to 31. The relay team composed of Storey, Davies, Lamboley, and Bennett, broke the 200 yard relay mark. Lamboley smashed the mark in the 50 yard swim, and Bennett lowered the time of the 100 yards free-style swim from 59 seconds, to 57 4-5 seconds.

The hockey team took another licking, this time bowing to Notre Dame by a 3 to 0 count.

Wisconsin ski-jumpers vanquished Minnesota by more than a 100 points. Sverre Strom was the individual high scorer with a total of 143 1-2 points.

Wrestlers beat the Purple matmen, 28 to 22, and the gymnastics squad beat Milwaukee Y. M. C. A., by a score of 249 1-2 points to 234 3-4.

The Varsity track team "took" Notre Dame, 47 to 34 at South Bend, while a telegraphic meet between Badger and Illinois freshman speedsters went to Illinois by two points. The score was 46 to 44.

NEW YORK — Suspension of Kohler, Bremer, and Co., stockbrokers, was announced from the rostrum of the consolidated stock exchange today.

BADGERS ARE STATE HOSTS AT CARNIVAL

Four Military Academy Teams Are Sent to Compete

The finest indoor track and field meet in the state will open Saturday night, February 25, at 7:30 p. m., in the gymnasium annex in the form of Wisconsin's sixteenth annual relay carnival. With a more elaborate program this year than ever before, the carnival has grown from an intra-mural meet purely for the University of Wisconsin students, to include events for state colleges, normal schools, high school and military academies. The university band will play at the meet, and the "W" club will hold its annual dance immediately following.

The large number of prizes which will be awarded in the meet will be on display in the Chocolate shop window. In the open events such as the 40-yard dash, the high hurdles, the low hurdles, the broad jump, the high jump, the pole vault, and the shot put, gold, silver and bronze medals will be given the winners. The Arlie Mucks trophy is also awarded for one year to the winner of the shot put. In the special military academy events, including the 40-yard dash, high jump, and twelve pound shot put, the prizes will be the same.

In the special relays, to the winner of the state college event will be given a banner and four gold watches; to the victor in the high school run, a traveling cup and four silver medals for the first team with four bronze medals for the second team. In the military academies relay a banner and four gold watches will be the prizes.

Hold Sorority Relays

The sorority relay event has four cups to award to the winners and the fraternity race claims five.

With the near approach of the meet, entries are pouring in daily from all over the state. In the in-lane have been entered. The contestants for fraternity race, seventeen teams are: Phi Gamma Delta, Zeta Psi, Chi Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Gamma Tau Beta, Psi Upsilon, Sigma Nu, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Theta Xi, Pi Alpha, Phi Kappa Sigma, Theta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Phi. The twenty sorority teams have already been chosen and are working daily in the annex to round into shape.

Five colleges and state normal schools have been heard from. La Crosse normal is entering men in the high hurdles, the high jump, the broad jump, and the shot put. Ripon college is sending a relay team as well as individuals for the broad jump, high jump, and pole vault. From Milwaukee normal are coming a relay team and contestants for the 40-yard dash, the high hurdles, and the low hurdles. Beloit is sending, in addition to her relay team, men in the 40-yard dash, high and low hurdles, the broad jump, the high jump, the pole vault, and the shot put. Milton college has entered a relay team and will also contend in shot put, high jump, and dash.

Military Academies Compete

Four military academies have entered teams in the special academy relay event. St. John's will be represented by two teams and will enter Northwestern has a relay team and men in the dash, shot put, and high jump. Shattuck will send a relay team and contestants for the dash, high jump, and shot put. Culver is sending a relay team, dash men, high jumpers, and shot putters.

The high school relay will be a fight between the Madison and Wisconsin high schools, both of which have entered their teams.

Credit Men to Meet at A. of C. Wednesday

A meeting of those interested in credit and rating will be held at the offices of the Association of Commerce Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. The working of the credit bureau will be explained.

ASKS MEETING TO WAR UPON U. S. PRIVILEGE

Johnson Hits Privilege at Conference in Chicago Today

CHICAGO — A national political conference called by a committee of railroad union men began today to form plans for participation in primaries and elections next fall. More than 100 labor leaders and representatives of various minor political factions were expected to attend.

A program of non-partisan political action which will result "in retiring from public life the servants of plutocracy and privilege" was urged before the conference by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists in convening the conference.

The organizations and groups represented, he declared, should "get together in the several states and work unitedly in the approaching primaries and in the fall election and elect men who believe in fundamental American principles."

Mr. Johnston declared that at the present time "it would be unwise to even consider the formation of a new political party."

"Let us coalize and work through existing organizations," he urged the conference. "The politicians are on the defensive, let's keep them there."

Representatives of the 16 standard railroad labor organizations whose leaders drew up the original outline of the present movement and delegates from several farmers' bodies, the Socialist party and the Committee of 48 attended the meeting.

No Such Thing As Freedom In U. S. Mrs. Asquith

CHICAGO. — Mrs. Margot Asquith, wife of England's former premier who has been called "England's woman of the biting tongue" arrived in Chicago where she will lecture tomorrow night and made the following observations:

"American railroads are an abomination.

"Flappers are only a result of the war.

"All the participants in the war should cancel their war debts.

"There is no such thing as freedom in America.

"Wine and beer must return.

"America has not treated her wounded generously.

"I like American men better than American women."

25 Cent Cut Offered By Cement Companies

Reduction in cement prices amounting to 25 cents over those first set by one manufacturing company, have just been received by the state highway commission, according to A. R. Hirst, highway engineer. He said that if the prices offered by this company is met by others, Wisconsin will accept their bids. The commission will re-open its bids February 28, when the cement concerns will again quote their prices on the 1,000,000 barrels needed by Wisconsin for road construction during the coming year. Acceptance of these offers will depend, Mr. Hirst said, on the quotation of this lower price, which he explained was satisfactory to Wisconsin.

ulty in dismissing students at the end of the semester just closed, to be ignored without investigation, and I shall await with interest the report of the board of visitors. Meanwhile I am making an investigation on my own account and expect within a few days to have some facts, which if they follow out the individual cases called to my attention, will surprise the public and show a systematic scheme of elimination of students in certain courses by the faculty that needs explanation."

AT THE STRAND

Hobart Bosworth is now being shown at the Strand in "The Sea Lion." He plays the title role of Nels Nelson, the sturdy Scandinavian sea lord whose soul has become calloused through the memory of a vengeance that has lasted through twenty years of turbulent escapes. Into his life comes a young girl whom he discovers to be the daughter of the wife he believed had played him false. His lust for revenge centers itself upon this girl and he submits her to every possible humiliation until the truth dawns upon him with a suddenness that is a striking as it is unexpected. There is also being shown a Harold Lloyd comedy, the latest News Weekly, and motion pictures of the Ski Jump which was held at the University Saturday, the 18th.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Thomas Meighan, Paramount star is supported by Mildred Harris, former Lois Weber star, in his new starring vehicle "A Prince There was," at the Majestic theatre, today.

Mr. Meighan puts over some strong emotional acting in this screen adaptation of the famous George M. Cohan stage success, and Mildred Harris is a most capable leading woman. Mr. Meighan plays a rich young idler and Miss Harris a young writer. Other players of note in the cast are Nigel Barrie, Guy Oliver, Sylvia Ashton, Fred Huntly and Arthur Hull. The picture was adapted by Waldemar Young and directed by Tom Forman.
