State Banking Department.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

MADISON, WIS., December 31, 1911.

To His Excellency, FRANCIS E. MCGOVERN,

SIR: In compliance with section 2024—5 of the statutes, I have the honor to submit to you this, the seventeenth, annual report on banks of Wisconsin.

The statistical portion of this report covers the period from November 10, 1910, when the last financial statement for that year was received from banks under the supervision of this department, to December 5, 1911, which is the date of the last financial statement of banks for the year 1911. The other parts of this report refer to the occurrences during the calendar year just closed.

The total number of institutions under the supervision of this department is six hundred and thirty-three (633), including sixty (60) building and loan associations. The latter, however, are treated in a separate report, which will be submitted to Your Excellency at a later period, in conformity with section 2014—16 of the statutes.

The present report concerns five hundred and fifty-nine (559) state banks, three (3) mutual savings banks, and eleven (11) trust companies, a total of five hundred and seventy-three (573) institutions incorporated under the banking laws of this state, and holding, on December fifth of this year, aggregate resources of $186,003,546.94.

Five hundred and twenty-one (521) institutions reported to this department a year ago, since which time fifty-six (56) new state banks have been chartered, and four (4) went out of business, leaving a net gain of fifty-two (52) in the total number of banking corporations.

BANKS LIQUIDATED AND NATIONALIZED.

Of the four banks which discontinued business, the Citizens State Bank of La Crosse surrendered its charter for the purpose of consolidating with the State Bank of La Crosse. Such consolidation, undertaken under section 2024—27 of the statutes, was consummated on July 1, 1911. The Peoples State Bank of Hudson went into voluntary liquidation in 1910, as reported by my predecessor in office, has paid its depositors in full, and is now dropped from the list of going concerns. Bank of Montello filed a certificate of dissolution on May 3, 1911. It discontinued business voluntarily, and has paid its depositors in full. State Bank of Baldwin surrendered its state charter and received a charter as a national bank from the Comptroller of the Currency on November 28, 1911. It is now known as the First National Bank of Baldwin. The capital of the four banks is tabulated as follows:

Voluntary Liquidation.

No.	Location.	Name of Bank.	Capital.	Remarks.
1	Baldwin.....	State Bank of Baldwin.....	$25,000 00	Nationalized,
2	Hudson.....	The Peoples State Bank.....	50,000 00	Liquidated.
3	La Crosse.....	Citizens Stat- Bank.....	50,000 00	Consolidated.
4	Montello.....	Bank of Montello.....	7,000 00	Liquidated.
		Total capital.....	$132,000 00

No change occurred in the number of mutual savings banks or of trust companies.

SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS.

Bank of Clear Lake, Polk county, was closed by my predecessor in office on January 25, 1911, on which day it had a capital of $15,000.00 and a surplus fund of $1,066.74 and $51,934.41 of deposits. The aggregate amount of proved claims against this bank, as filed in the circuit court for Polk county on August 11, 1911, is $47,506.41.

Under subsection 4 of section 2022 of the statutes, F. P. Ainsworth, of Neillsville, a banker of considerable experience, has been appointed Special Deputy Commissioner of Banking to assist me in liquidating and distributing the resources of this bank. The suspension of payments by this bank was due to slow assets, consisting of mortgages on real estate and of real estate acquired by the bank through foreclosures and in settlement of debts. A committee of depositors, having examined the assets of the bank, reports that such assets are of a value sufficient to pay the depositors dollar for dollar, but that their conversion into cash will require considerable time.

All the time, within reason, required for the liquidation will be taken, the court consenting; but the outcome is merely conjectural.

CAPITAL STOCK.

The aggregate capital of state banks on December 5, 1911, amounted to $16,591,650.00 as against $15,092,650.00 on November 10, 1910,—a net gain of $1,499,000.00. Twenty-five (25) of the banks have increased their capital, as shown in the subjoined table:

CHANGE IN TRUST COMPANIES.

On January 21, 1911, the Milwaukee Trust Company filed amendments to its articles of association, whereby its name was changed to that of First Savings & Trust Company.

On the same date there was filed a declaration of the intention to consolidate the Fidelity Trust Company, of Milwaukee, with the said First Savings & Trust Company, of Milwaukee, and the agreement to transfer the resources and liabilities of said Fidelity Trust Company was approved by the then Commissioner of Banking.

As a further step in the process of such consolidation, the Fidelity Trust Company filed amendment to its articles of association reducing its capital from $250,000.00 to $100,000.00. This was approved by me on March 1, 1911, conformably with law.

Finally, on April 17, 1911, there was filed by said Fidelity Trust Company the required certificate of liquidation.

However, on December 5, 1911, the Fidelity Trust Company had still in its banking department some outstanding deposits, all assumed by the First Trust and Savings Company, under said consolidation, but from which the first named corporation has not yet been released. For this reason the Fidelity Trust Company is still included in this report as among going concerns.

Through the reduction of the capital of this company, the aggregate amount of capital of trust companies has suffered corresponding reduction of $150,000.00, namely, from $2,210,000.00 on November 10, 1910, to $2,060,000.00 on December 5, 1911.

The Northern Trust Company, a corporation organized under the laws of Illinois and located in Chicago, filed its articles of incorporation, as provided by section 1770b of the Wisconsin

Statutes, deposited with the State Treasurer of Wisconsin, securities, approved by the undersigned, and amounting to $100,000.00, and, on November 22, 1911, was authorized to commence business in Wisconsin. The scope of its business in this state is, at present, limited to administering an estate, and for this reason the report of its banking division is not included in the abstract of domestic trust companies. In another place in this report, I submit certain observations under the heading of "Foreign Trust Companies."

STATISTICAL TABLES.

Table "A" on the following page exhibits abstracts of each of the five reports filed by state banks and mutual savings banks during the year 1911.

In Table "B" is shown the abstract of reports of state banks, mutual savings banks, and trust companies, on December 5, 1911; also, the gain and loss in the several items of assets and liabilities as compared with a similar abstract dated November 10, 1910.

GENERAL CONDITION.

The figures exhibited in the foregoing tables reflect the growth and the development of the resources of the state. Such growth, while not rapid, has been constant, and the figures quoted indicate the important role played by banks of Wisconsin in the progress of the state. Curiously enough, a comparison of the abstract of reports of the one hundred and twenty-nine (129) national banks operating in Wisconsin on December 5, 1911, with a similar abstract of the several banking corporations doing business under the state law, shows the volume of business in the two classes to be about equal. The national banks show total resources of $186,053,594.51 on December 5, 1911, and the same item in state, savings and trust company banks on the same date amounts to $186,003,546.94.

The banking institutions under the supervision of this department are, on the whole, in an excellent condition and well worthy of the confidence of the people. For this, credit is due primarily to the executive officers of the various banks, and to their boards of directors, all of whom have been displaying marked interest in the conduct of their respective institutions, and have been invariably anxious to comply with such requirements as this department deemed it necessary to make.

I think this report is the proper place to express my high appreciation of the willing co-operation of the bank officials and directors with this department.

LEGISLATION.

The legislature of 1911 enacted several amendments to the banking laws. One of them, chapter 172, laws of 1911, provides that examination of banks shall be made "at least twice in each year" instead of once, as theretofore. To carry out this provision, the working staff of this department was augmented by four examiners and two clerks. Examinations at these briefer intervals have accordingly been made since June 1st, and the banks thus have been brought into closer contact with this department. This renders supervision far more satisfactory.

Of equal importance is chapter 432, which requires directors to "meet at the bank at least once every three months; at such meeting to generally examine into the affairs of such bank, and to determine whether all items of assets are of the value at which they are carried on the books of the bank." The intent of this provision is to make directors familiar with the condition of their bank to the end that they may direct its affairs knowingly and intelligently. This provision has met with ready response on the part of directors of state banks.

An amendment to section 2024—1, contained in chapter 53, laws of 1911, prescribes that all books of original entry shall be permanently bound. This needed requirement has been carried out. Incidentally, it has resulted in a more uniform system of bookkeeping in banks throughout the state.

Chapter 200, laws of 1911, amending section 2024—68, governs investments by mutual savings banks. Under the old law personal loans were permissible. This is now forbidden. This provision brings the Wisconsin law into consonance with the laws of other states covering the subject.

During my incumbency of the office of commissioner, since

February 1, 1911, conditions have arisen from the operation of the banking law and from extraneous causes, which lead me to believe that further legislative action on certain phases of banking is necessary. These conditions are summarized under separate headings, as follows:

COMPETITION.

The number of banks—fifty-six—organized during the past twelve months is out of proportion to the present need of the state. While some of these new banks were needed in new communities, or in places which have outgrown their banking facilities, others, located where such facilities are adequate to the existing business, create needless and unprofitable competition. Untrammelled competition is a menace to the stability of the affected banks. Since it is the intent of bank regulation to strengthen, and unnecessary competition weakens, the need arises of some rule to restrict competition.

Under the provisions of the National Bank Act, the Comptroller of the Currency is clothed with power to refuse charters to new banks, for cause. This power is frequently and properly exercised. In Kansas a statute requires the "Charter Board" to refuse a bank charter when there is no public necessity of the business in the community in which it is sought to establish the bank. This statute has been recently upheld by the Supreme Court of Kansas, (H. W. Schaake v. Joseph N. Dolley, et al., as The Charter Board), and I quote the following pertinent paragraph from the decision of Mr. Justice J. Burch:

"Banks are incorporated in part for the beneficial purpose of providing safe depositaries for the people's money and credits. It would be paradoxical indeed if the right of individual liberty and property should require the state to go on incorporating banks in a given community until, through the certain operation of known economic forces, deposited credits and money no longer would be safe. The power to suppress monopoly and restore competition has never been doubted. The power is exercised for the public good, and so is justified. If the results of unrestricted competition become as pernicious as those of monopoly the same suppressing power may be exercised to the same end—the public welfare—and so be justified."

The only statutory provision in Wisconsin for the refusal of the prescribed certificate of authority to commence business is contained in section 2024—12, and is adequate, both as to cause and time of such refusal. The cause specified must be that the bank has been "formed for other than legitimate (banking) business." Other valid causes are not recognized by this statute. The time falls upon the date when the bank is ready to open for business. To refuse a charter at this eleventh hour would cause hardship and financial loss to stockholders, many of whom may be innocent of any design to violate or to circumvent the law.

The power of refusal should be coincident with the first overtures to organize a new bank. Section 2024—8 provides that the articles of incorporation be "filed and approved by the Commissioner of Banking." The right to approve implies the alternative to disapprove, but this is manifestly confined in this instance to the form and contents of the articles. The authority to disapprove, therefore, ought to be amplified to the end that harmful competition may be prevented, that so-called "strings of banks," controlled or managed by one interest, may be obviated, and that various schemes of promotors may be excluded from the field of banking.

POSTAL SAVINGS SYSTEM.

An Act of Congress, approved June 25, 1910, establishes a system of postal savings banks in the United States, and creates a board of trustees for the control, supervision, and administration of the postal savings depository offices and of the funds received as deposits. This board is given the "power to make all necessary and proper regulations for the receipt, transmittal, custody, deposit, investment, and repayment of the funds deposited at postal savings depository offices." The act further prescribes that postal savings funds shall be deposited in solvent banks, whether organized under national or state laws, and the board of trustees shall take from such banks "such security in public bonds or other securities, as the board may prescribe."

Section 2024—36, Wisconsin Statutes, provides that: "No bank, banker or bank officer shall give preference to any depositor or creditor by pledging the assets of the bank as collateral security," exception being made only as to securing money borrowed by a bank. This law prevents state banks of Wisconsin, otherwise eligible, from becoming depositories for postal savings funds.

State banks of Wisconsin are, therefore, at a disadvantage as compared with national banks operating in this state. A similar situation arises in but two other states of the Union, to-wit: In Michigan as to state banks, and in Massachusetts as to trust companies, by virtue of a similar clause in their respective statutes.

An effort was made by some of the affected banks to qualify as depositories by pledging with the board of trustees, on behalf of such banks, securities owned individually by the directors or stockholders of such banks. The legal questions involved were referred by the Postmaster General to the Attorney General of the United States, who, under date of November 3, 1911, gave an opinion from which I quote the following extracts:

“Your question is, specifically, whether the board of trustees is justified, under the act of June 25, 1910, in approving such a method of securing postal savings deposits.

“The first question involved is whether it is essential under the act that the securities taken by the board of trustees shall be the property of the bank itself.

“I am of the opinion that it is not essential.” * * *

“The second question involved is one of detail. The proposal as stated is that the deposit of the securities is to be made by the individual directors or stockholders who own them. In view of sections 6, 7, 14, 16, 17, and 20 of the regulations of the board, and to the phrase used by the statute:

“‘The board of trustees shall take from such banks such security,’

“It would seem advisable that every deposit should be made by the bank itself, always assuming that it is accompanied by assurance from the owners admitting their consent to the pledge for the consideration running from the Government to themselves, namely, the deposit to be made by the Government at their request in the bank in which they are interested.

“With this qualification, I am of the opinion that the board of trustees would be justified in approving the method proposed.”

I have not felt it incumbent upon me to interpose objections to this arrangement. It enables our state banks, if they so desire, to qualify as postal depositaries, without infringing on the state law. Yet, I cannot help but feel that the plan is wrong. It is not always that stockholders of a bank possess the means to purchase securities of the class required by the board of trustees, namely, government and municipal bonds. It would often be necessary for banks, desiring to qualify, to advance the required amount of money to its stockholders with which to purchase such bonds. Thereby the credit, or financial standing, of the stockholders would be affected. Thus, while fully securing the government, the bank would weaken itself, and the very intent of the law against preferred creditors would be frustrated.

As a precaution against such possible results, I have written to a number of banks intending to qualify as postal depositaries, in substance as follows:

“This proposition is, at best a makeshift. If hard-pressed through competition with national banks, and if postal deposits are large enough to claim notice, the state banks of Wisconsin may avail themselves of this method of securing them. Provided, however, that individual stockholders possess the requisite securities of their own, and are willing to turn them over to the government on behalf of their bank; and, provided, further, that the bank may come to the assistance of such stockholders for a portion of the required amount only if the credit of the stockholders is good, irrespective of the object of the loan, and not otherwise.

“The amount of the postal deposit is restricted not to exceed the capital and one-half the surplus of the bank. It would seem that since interest must be paid to the government, and securities consisting of government or municipal bonds, which bear but a low rate of interest, must be bought for pledge with the government, and since the bank will be obliged to maintain a 15% reserve on the government deposit,—the game is not worth the candle.”

It is not for this department, however, to decide whether or not it will pay a bank to carry postal funds. What is desired is that Wisconsin state banks shall not be handicapped as against national banks in this state, and state banks, in all other states, barring Michigan and Massachusetts. It would be unreasonable to expect Congress to modify its act to suit the three states affected. It is clear that relief, if any, must come from their own legislature. While there is room for a difference of opinion as to the principle of making the government a preferred creditor, it is clear that the present method of securing postal savings is intolerable.

FOREIGN TRUST COMPANIES.

Chapter 186, laws of 1909, amends the statute providing for the organization and regulation of trust companies in Wisconsin. No reference is made to foreign trust companies, or companies organized under the laws of other states, and attempting to do business in Wisconsin.

Prior to the enactment above referred to, the Attorney General, in an opinion dated January 20, 1906, held, in substance, that foreign trust companies may be permitted to do business in Wisconsin on complying with all the requirements and restrictions imposed by law upon domestic trust companies. This, in accordance with subdivision 10 of section 1770b of the statutes.

Since the passage of chapter 186, 1909, the question has arisen whether the interpretation of 1906 would hold in the face of the new enactment, and the Attorney General was consulted accordingly. I quote from his opinion dated December 5, 1911, as follows:

“I have been unable to find any statute that would lead me to the conclusion that trust companies organized in other states than Wisconsin may not transact business in this state by complying with our statute in relation to foreign corporations. It seems to me that the opinion referred to still holds good, under our present statute.”

The state of Wisconsin places many safeguards around trust companies for the purpose of protecting the interests of the people of Wisconsin who deal with trust companies. One of such safeguards is an examination of the affairs of each trust company by the Commissioner of Banking at least twice in each year. For such examination of any one of the larger trust companies of Wisconsin, a full week's work of four or five of the examiners of this department is required. The cost of such examination is partly covered by a fee, proportionate to the total assets of the company under examination, paid by such company to the state. Inasmuch as foreign trust companies entering Wisconsin come under the same law, they must submit to an examination by this department.

It is respectfully submitted that, with the present limited number of examiners, the Commissioner of Banking would not be able to undertake an examination of foreign trust companies without neglecting the work in Wisconsin; nor would the fee prescribed by section 2019 be sufficient to cover the cost of an examination of a large foreign trust company. Foreign trust companies doing business in this state should be required to pay to this state the actual cost of each such examination, namely, an amount equal to the combined salaries of the examiners for the time required for such examination, plus the examiners' railroad fares from and to Wisconsin, and their hotel expenses.

Moreover, in justice to domestic trust companies, foreign trust companies entering this state ought to be required to pay taxes in proportion to the amount of business done by them in this state, or to pay an annual fee in lieu of other taxes. Under the present law, unless a foreign trust company owns taxable property in Wisconsin, it is exempt from taxation.

There arises, then, the anomalous condition, that foreign trust companies can operate in Wisconsin on easier terms than domestic companies; that a foreign corporation, exempt from taxes, is permitted to take business away from domestic trust companies who pay their full share of taxes in this state.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

This department, as organized under the provisions of chapter 172, laws of 1911, consists of the commissioner, deputy, seven bank examiners, a chief clerk, and three clerks. In addition, there has been employed an examiner of building and loan associations, appointed under chapter 517, laws of 1905 (section 2016a), whose time is evenly divided between such associations and banks. Accordingly, the total working force of the state banking department is fourteen.

The salaries of three of the examiners were increased on July 1, 1911, from $1,800.00 to $2,000.00, under authority of subsection 3 of section 2016 of the statutes, as amended. The names and compensation of all employes of this department from January 1, 1911, to December 31, 1911, are as follows:

State Banking Department.

To His Excellency, FRANCIS E. MCGOVERN,

SIR: In conformity with section 2024—5 of the statutes, I respectfully submit my annual report on banks of Wisconsin. It is the eighteenth annual report since the creation of this department.

It presents the financial condition of 590 state banks, 4 mutual savings banks, and 13 trust companies, a total of 607 banking institutions organized under the laws of this state, and doing business on November 26th, 1912, the date of the last statement obtained from them on call.

The aggregate amount of capital employed by these banks is $20,011,650, a gain of $1,350,000 during the past twelve months; the total amount of resources is $209,037,498.52, an increase of $23,033,951.58, and the amount of lawful money on hand is $7,601,272.97, a gain of $529,177.19 over the corresponding amounts returned a year ago.

Itemized abstracts of the resources and liabilities of each of the three groups of banking institutions are presented in the appendix.

NO FAILURES.

It is gratifying to report at the outset that no bank failures occurred in Wisconsin in 1912; nor, indeed, have there been any failures of banks operating under our state laws since July, 1904. Thus, a period of over eight years, embracing the panic of 1907, from which Wisconsin banks emerged scatheless, has passed with a "perfect score"—a record unparalleled in the history of banking in this country. No better evidence can be given of the practicality and efficacy of our banking laws and of the system of supervision established thereunder.

GENERAL CONDITION.

Among the principal elements considered in determining the condition of a bank are its capital and surplus, and their proportion to the amount of deposits; responsibility of the stockholders; kind and quality of the assets and the frequency of their metamorphoses; volume of business as a profit-producing factor; methods of conducting business, including prompt and intelligent compliance with the provisions of law; style and system of bookkeeping and accounting; efficiency of employes; personality of officials and activity of directors, together with the quality of service given to the public.

All of these elements and many others of minor importance are delved into and brought out clearly at each of the semi-annual examinations made at irregular intervals by the examiners of this department.

The task of an examiner is as difficult as it is important. The responsibility attached to his work is great and ever present.

Only men equipped with the necessary mental and moral qualifications, and possessing proper business training and experience can become efficient bank examiners. Sound judgment, a keen sense of justice, quickness of perception, firmness combined with tact, are some of the requisites of a successful examiner. He must be master of the technique of the work behind the counter. He must be resourceful, patient, and alert. His bearing must correspond in dignity to his task—that of being the bank's impartial adviser in addition to being its impartial critic.

The duties of a bank examiner involve expert work of the subtlest quality. Moreover, it is incessant, hard work, with traveling between work, with only occasional visits to the home and family. Of those that undertake this work some become useful; few become expert.

I am happy to say that the bank examiners of this department are rendering to the state expert service of high degree and of inestimable value to the banks and to the people of Wisconsin. It is with great pleasure that I avail myself of this opportunity publicly to commend the efficient public service of Deputy Commissioner W. H. Richards, and of Bank Examiners C. L. Brown, A. R. Emerson, Thos. Herreid, R. B. Ellis, A. C. Pond, C. F. Schwenker and H. E. Stedman.

The condition of Wisconsin banks, as tested by the standard set forth in the opening paragraph of this chapter, and as brought out by the semi-annual examinations, by the published reports and by supplementary work of this department, is highly satisfactory. I state without exaggeration and without fear of contradiction that banks operating under the Wisconsin law never were in better condition than now. If Your Excellency will recollect that there have been no state bank failures in Wisconsin for more than eight years, the full significance of this statement will be appreciated.

No system of supervision, however complex and far-reaching, can achieve such satisfactory results unless bank officials and directors are fully alive to their responsibility. It is the daily grind behind the counter that brings results. It is the daily communion with the public, the never-ceasing exercise of judgment, the constant attention to the wants of customers, the perpetual regard for the welfare of depositors, that make for the success of a bank. And it is the intelligent compliance with the law, based upon faith in the soundness of its provisions, that builds up the strength of a bank.

I am gratified to be in position to say from personal knowledge that the largest measure of credit for the general excellence of the condition of Wisconsin banks, for the safety of deposits, for the pride the people of this state rightly can take in their banks, belongs to the executive officers and to directors because of their painstaking care and their faithful devotion to the affairs of their banks. In my official dealings with bankers, I have always met with prompt and courteous response; the demands of this department, at times severe, have been invariably and cheerfully complied with; and I feel that this public recognition of their achievements is justly due to bankers of Wisconsin.

NEW BANKS.

During the year just closed, thirty-four state banks, two trust companies and one mutual savings bank have been organized and authorized to commence business, while two of the state banks have voluntarily liquidated in order to consolidate with neighbor banks, and one bank liquidated because its charter had expired. The net gain in newly opened banking institutions is thirty-four. A list of the new state banks, mutual savings banks, and trust companies follows:

CONSOLIDATION.

On August 10, 1912, the Bank of Amery, in Polk county, filed with this department a duly adopted resolution of dissolution, under section 2024—27 of the statutes, for the purpose of consolidating with the Farmers and Merchants' State Bank located at the same place. The capital of the Bank of Amery at that time was $20,000, that of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank $15,000. After the consolidation, the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Amery has a paid in capital of $25,000, with a surplus fund of $5,500.

Citizens State Bank, located at Kewaskum, Washington county, capital $15,000, on January 15, 1912, filed a resolution of dissolution, and consolidated with the Bank of Kewaskum, capital $15,000. The capital of the Bank of Kewaskum has been increased to $30,000, with a surplus fund of $10,000.

EXPIRATION OF CHARTER.

On April 1, 1912, the South Side Exchange Bank, of Oshkosh, capital $25,000, went out of existence, its charter being about to expire. A new bank was formed under the title of The Exchange Bank, Oshkosh, capital $50,000. This new bank took over the assets and assumed the liabilities of the South Side Exchange Bank.

CAPITAL.

I cannot too warmly commend banks for voluntarily increasing their capital as soon as the volume of business has outbid the anticipations of the organizers. The capital is the foundation upon which the business of a bank rests; it is the foremost guaranty to which depositors are looking for safety; it is the accepted, if not the only, measure of a bank's strength.

The statutes of Wisconsin prescribe a minimum capital proportioned merely to the population of the city or village in which the bank is located. They are silent on the need of increasing capital in proportion to the growth of business. Many of the banks that have out-grown their early dimensions have voluntarily increased their capital during the year covered by this report, in some instances quite substantially, and the total amount of such increase is $528,000.

Their list follows:

The summary of gain and loss in capital of state banks and trust companies is presented hereunder:

Capital, December 5, 1911 .....	$18,651,650.00
Capital, 34 new banks and 2 trust companies .....	892,000.00
Capital of 28 banks increased.....	528,000.00	$20,071,650.00

Less Capital of 3 banks liquidated.....		60,000.00
		<hr/>
Total paid in capital, November 26, 1912.....		$20,011,650.00
Gain during the year .....		$1,360,000.00

The surplus fund of state and savings banks and of trust companies, as reported on November 26, 1912, is $5,392,144.36, an increase of $307,508.56 over the amount returned a year ago; and the undivided profits amount to $3,907,584.42, an increase of $131,595.89, during the same period. As a substantial addition to the strength of banks, such increase in the surplus fund and in the undivided profits is highly commendable.

IN THE HANDS OF THE COMMISSIONER.

On May 20th, the German Bank of Sheboygan, was "placed in the hands of the commissioner of banking," under section 2024—29 of the statutes. This action was taken by the board of directors, following the sudden demise of the aged president of this bank, when considerable tampering with the assets was discovered. In addition, it was found that the president had contracted on behalf of the bank certain outside liabilities, not shown upon the books. Reorganization became imperative. Under section 2021, the board then made a pro rata assessment of two hundred per centum upon all of the capital stock of said bank. At the expiration of the thirty days provided by law, all the stock was placed, the unbankable securities were charged off, and the bank resumed business. The statement of November 26th shows that deposits of this bank are now larger than before the trouble, indicating that the reorganization has inspired renewed confidence.

Affairs of the Bank of Clear Lake, which temporarily suspended payment on January 25, 1911, show a gratifying improvement. The aggregate amount of proved claims has been reduced from $47,506.41 on August 11, 1911, to $39,575.30 on November 26, 1912, without any reduction of assets, while a portion of the slow assets has been replaced by bankable securities. Special Deputy Commissioner of Banking, F. P. Ainsworth, continues in charge of this bank, and reports that chances of resumption have vastly improved during the past year. Inasmuch as the principal assets consist of lands in the vicinity of Clear Lake, and of long-time mortgage loans, considerable time may be required to realize on the bulk of these assets without sacrifice. I am informed that the creditors are willing to bide their time rather than to precipitate a forced sale entailing loss.

The above consolidated abstract presents what may be termed the banking power of Wisconsin. The corresponding totals of a year ago are $372,057,141.45, and the increase for the year is $31,632,479.46.

The banking power inevitably and infallibly reflects the general wealth of the state, and the quite remarkable increase in the resources of our banks, as shown above, denotes in unmistakable terms a proportionate growth of wealth and development of the resources of Wisconsin.

A request sent to the national banks of this state for their financial statements of November 26th, brought forth prompt response, for which my thanks are extended to the officers of these institutions. I am thereby enabled to append to this report a statement of each national bank, and this volume thus becomes a complete directory of all banks located in Wisconsin.

LEGISLATION.

In my report, submitted to Your Excellency a year ago, I took pains to present, at some length, the desirability of certain additional bank legislation. I now respectfully repeat my recommendation as to the importance of a provision for checking undue and harmful competition among banks through reasonably enlarging the power of refusing charters vested in the commissioner of banking; and my recommendation for amendment to section 2024—36, to enable state banks to qualify as depositaries of postal savings funds.

At the present time, I am prompted to ask for still further changes in the banking laws, and respectfully submit the following recommendations:

a. MINIMUM CAPITAL.

Under chapter 545, laws of 1907, (par. 2, sec. 2024—6 W. S.), a minimum capital of $50,000 is prescribed for state banks in cities having more than ten thousand inhabitants. This includes Milwaukee. This city is now abundantly supplied with banking facilities. A due regard for the interests of the public and fairness to existing banks would seem to demand that the minimum amount of capital for new banks in the state's metropolis should be fixed by law at not less than $100,000.

b. CREDIT BUREAU.

Large metropolitan banks maintain their own credit departments, often at great expense. Smaller banks are operating under a handicap in this respect. A credit bureau conducted as an adjunct to the state banking department would be a benefit to all banks in Wisconsin. The creation of such bureau is respectfully recommended. A similar movement is afoot in other states. The credit bureaus of several states could be formed into an interstate credit bureau, whose ramifications eventually would cover the entire country, and whose services would be of incalculable value to banks and to the people of the several states. The proposed credit bureau of this department would thus be the nucleus of an extensive public service.

e. REAL ESTATE LOANS.

The territory from which real estate security may be accepted for loans by Wisconsin state banks and by mutual savings banks is limited by section 2024—35 W. S. (ch. 138, 1911), and by section 2024—68 (ch. 260, 1911), to Wisconsin and adjoining states, namely Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota. Clearly the object of this limitation is to preclude investment in speculative land ventures in newly opened distant territories, and to facilitate the appraisal of land values when necessary in the course of supervision. It is respectfully recommended that this wholesome provision may be extended and made applicable to mortgage loans of trust companies, to which sections above quoted do not, at present, apply.

d. COMPETENT OFFICERS.

Several of the new banks, organized under auspicious circumstances, and, in some instances, in exceptionally favorable surroundings have been made to suffer setbacks through inexperience of their active officers, when, under the guidance of an experienced banker, they, undoubtedly, would have made creditable headway.

In the early stages of a bank's career, an experienced officer is an asset of great value. It seems, then, but fair that new banks should be required to be placed under the charge of a competent banker.

The state requires men pursuing the liberal professions to pass an examination before permitting them to practice. This applies to physicians, dentists, lawyers, accountants, and others possessing college diplomas. In many trades an examination must be taken before license is issued, as in the case of engineers, plumbers, and barbers. Assuredly, the profession of banking is of no less importance than those now coming under license.

I would respectfully recommend that a certain standard of efficiency, based upon actual banking experience, if not otherwise, be established by law for active bank officers in new banks, and that no new bank be permitted to transact business with the public without having in charge of its affairs a competent managing officer.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

This department, as reorganized under the provisions of chapter 172, laws of 1911, consists of the commissioner, deputy, seven bank examiners, a chief clerk, and three clerks. In addition, there is employed an examiner of building and loan associations, appointed under chapter 517, laws of 1905, (sec. 2016a W. S.), and a clerk appointed under the authority of the board constituted under section 1699b of the statutes, as amended by chapter 609, laws of 1911.

The salaries of three of the examiners were increased on November 1, 1912, from $2,000 to $2,200 per annum, under authority of sub-section 3 of section 2016 of the statutes; the salaries of three other examiners were increased on November 1, 1912, from $1,800 to $2,000 per annum.

BIENNIAL REPORT
Commissioners of the Public Lands
OF THE
STATE OF WISCONSIN

For the Biennial Fiscal Term Ending June 30, 1912

OFFICE OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE PUBLIC LANDS,
MADISON, WIS., SEPTEMBER 7, 1912.

HON. F. E. MCGOVERN, Governor.

DEAR SIR: We have the honor to submit herewith, as required by law, our report of transactions of this department for the biennial term ended June 30, 1912. Exhibits A to H, inclusive, are intended to convey all the information as to the work of the office that can be embodied within the fifty pages allowed for our report.

Land sales have been stimulated by the liberal provisions of chapter 452, laws of 1911, but how far it will promote improvement and settlement of the lands cannot be determined until completion of contracts, when claims for credits in accordance with the law are submitted. The law not providing for actual occupancy of lands sold, we have no means of knowing what portion have been taken for homes, but, from knowledge of the persons purchasing, we judge the amount to be very small. Of the 58,536 acres sold during the biennial term of this report, 11,200 acres have been sold on contract under terms of chapter 452, laws of 1911. The remainder, 47,336 acres, have been sold for cash. Large purchases of land for additions to state forest reserve, as authorized by law, account for the fact that the total acreage of lands held by the state is nearly 20,000 acres more at this date than on June 30, 1910.

Especial attention is invited to the matter of loans from trust funds to school districts and investment in bonds of and loans to municipalities of the state. Demands for such investment of funds exceed the amount available from year to year. Changes in the law, limiting amount that may be loaned to or invested in bonds of a city or county, and increasing the minimum rate of interest (which is now 3½ per cent) for funds that may be invested in loans or on bonds of cities or counties, seems to us advisable.

The statement of receipts credited to the various funds through this department, as epitomized in Exhibit F1 and F2, faintly portrays the volume and importance of the work connected therewith. The aggregate of $1,246,921.75 for the two years represents many thousands of items, ranging from a few cents to thousands of dollars.

All work in the office has been done by two clerks and a stenographer, but to accomplish it they have been required to work much more than the regulation hours. The appropriation of $500 per year for clerical help, in addition to fixed salaries, under chapter 527, laws of 1909, is insufficient. During the past year we have found it necessary to ask for additional help under paragraph 2, section 169b, laws of 1911. The appropriation for clerical help, in addition to fixed salaries, should, in our judgment, be increased from $500 to $1,000 per year.

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. FREAR,
Secretary of State,

A. H. DAHL,
State Treasurer,

L. H. BANCROFT,
Attorney-General.

Commissioners of the Public Lands.

GENERAL REPORT.

---

Madison, Wisconsin, July 1, 1912

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith, in compliance with law, the report of the State Supervisor of Inspectors of Illuminating Oils for the year ending June 30, 1912. In the past this report has been made on the first day of October of each year, as required by section 1421c (Chapter 363, laws of 1909.) However, the attorney-general holds, in an opinion dated May 23, 1912, that "that provision is impliedly repealed by sections 20.24 and 20.25 of chapter 657, laws of 1911, which require your annual report to 'cover one year next preceding the first day of July of each year.'" Accordingly this report is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912.

As the result of some undesirable conditions then existing in the department a school of instruction for the deputies was held in the assembly chamber on April 22, 1912. At that time such phases of the work as cannot be handled successfully through correspondence were taken up. In explaining the objects of the Oil Inspection law I strove to emphasize the fact that a deputy oil inspector is a protector of lives and property rather than a mere collector of inspection fees. I feel that I was successful in this for the deputies now realize that their duty does not end with the inspection of kerosene and gasoline. New instructions governing the making of tests were issued and discussed, field instruments were compared with the office standards and all unsettled questions were cleared up at this meeting.

Since the last report I have had the oil inspection law printed in pamphlet form for distribution to all vendors of petroleum products. In this manner knowledge of the statutory requirements has been given to all interested parties, and general compliance with the law has resulted. Accordingly few prosecutions have been necessary.

Table No. 1, contains a record of all prosecutions for violation of the oil inspection law that have been completed during the year. The most important cases were those against the Wadhams Oil company.

Chapter 363, laws of 1909, required that all gasoline sold or used for illuminating, heating or power purposes be inspected by this department. Action in equity was commenced on July 31, 1909, following the passage of this act, to enjoin the state supervisor and his deputies from executing the law as against the Wadhams Oil company, and a temporary injunction was issued. A demurrer to the complaint was sustained on October 18, 1909, and the temporary injunction dissolved. Upon appeal to the supreme court the oil inspection law was sustained as constitutional and the orders of the circuit court sustaining the demurrer and dissolving the injunction were affirmed.

During the pendency of the injunction in the equity case considerable uninspected gasoline had been sold by the Wadhams Oil company. Criminal prosecution of this company for illegally selling gasoline during this period was accordingly started. In the first case tried, in Shebyogan, the defendant was found guilty. Before pronouncing sentence, however, the court desired a decision from the supreme court as to whether or not the injunctive order in the previous equity action was a defense in the criminal action.

In a decision written by Justice Siebecker the supreme court held, on March 12, 1912, that the injunction was no defense to the criminal prosecution. The decision in part reads:

"It necessarily follows that the defendant was subject to the legislative act during the pendency of the preliminary restraining order, and during this time it acted at its peril in committing any act violating its provisions, if the act should finally be adjudged a valid legislative enactment."

The decisions of the lower courts in the several cases of course followed the decision of the supreme court. Nominal fines were imposed in all but one case.

There is now pending a case against the Thomas B. Jeffery company of Kenosha involving the constitutionality of that part of the oil inspection law which requires that gasoline purchased and brought into Wisconsin for the use of the purchaser and not for resale be inspected. I have reason to believe that it is the intention to carry this case to the supreme court. The defendant in this case, while careful to use none but inspected oil, refuses to pay inspection fees.

The deputies have all been held strictly accountable for the enforcement of all of the requirements of the law with the result that violations are steadily decreasing in number. General compliance with the so-called Red Can law and with that statutory provision which requires all vendors of gasoline and kerosene to have posted in a conspicuous place a placard showing the tests of the products sold has, beyond all question, resulted in the saving of many lives and the prevention of much fraud.

Table No. II, contains a record of all fires and explosions, caused either directly or indirectly by petroleum products, that have occurred in Wisconsin during the year. It will be noted that sixteen persons lost their lives in such accidents. Careful investigation has shown that of this number twelve were killed as the result of gross carelessness on their part. The other four lives were lost through parents allowing children to handle kerosene and gasoline. In the same manner the great bulk of the property loss of more than $67,000 has been found to be due to the carelessness of the parties concerned. Not one death or important fire has resulted from a violation of the law.

By far the most common cause of accidents of this type is found to be the exceedingly dangerous but general habit of trying to revive or rekindle apparently dead fires by means of kerosene and gasoline. Until the public can be made to realize that gasoline should never be used to start a fire with and that kerosene should be used only when absolutely necessary, and then only when it is absolutely certain that no hot or even warm coals remain from a previous fire, the number of such accidents will increase. It is much more dangerous to pour kerosene upon hot coals than upon a blazing fire. While this is generally known too frequently not enough care is taken to see that the old fire is out and the ashes cooled before kerosene is used. The result is that the fire that wasn't out has taken its place with the gun that wasn't loaded in the annals of destruction.

I am pleased to report that the Red Can law has been so enforced that not one serious accident has resulted from mistaking gasoline for kerosene. Formerly this was the most frequent cause of such accidents.

Table No. III, gives the names, addresses and districts of the chief deputy and the fifty-four deputies, together with the number of barrels of products inspected, fees collected and salaries and expenses disbursed during the year.

In this connection I wish to call your attention to the fact that as a result of the careful administration of the affairs of the department the total receipts exceeded the total disbursements by $24,991.57, which amount reverted to the general fund on June 30, 1912. With continued careful administration this amount will in all probability equal $30,000 at the end of the next fiscal year.

In conclusion I wish again to commend Chief Deputy Dexter Witte, who has at all times been of great assistance to me in the improvement of departmental efficiency.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS F. MEYER,

State Supervisor of Inspectors of Illuminating Oils.

---

Madison, Wisconsin, October 1, 1913.

To His Excellency, Francis E. McGovern,
Governor of Wisconsin.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith, in compliance with law, the report of the State Supervisor of Inspectors of Illuminating Oils for the year ending June 30, 1913. Although this report is dated October 1, the figures given are for the fiscal year "next preceding the first day of July" in accordance with an opinion from the attorney-general.

I wish to call your attention to Table I, which contains a record of all fires and explosions resulting from the use of petroleum products during the year. There was a total of 141 such accidents which caused the loss of thirty lives, the injury of 95 persons and the destruction of $53,853.00 in property.

The foolhardy practice of starting fires with kerosene and gasoline alone caused the death of sixteen persons and the injury of twenty-eight others in a total of twenty-six accidents. There was one such accident for every two weeks of the entire year; for every six weeks two persons were killed and three injured,—all because people will risk their lives and those of others in order to save a little time. The father who oversleeps and the mother who dallies at her shopping or her club are alike guilty, for both too frequently try to make up for their tardiness by the use of kerosene or gasoline to hasten the kitchen fire.

These facts lead me to believe that the use of petroleum products in ordinary stoves for the kindling or hurrying of fires should be prohibited by statute. I realize that such a law would be difficult of enforcement, as violations would not be detected as a rule until after an accident, when the guilty party would be either dead or severely injured. At the same time a few prosecutions under an act of this kind might operate greatly to reduce the number of such accidents.

Four deaths resulted from the upsetting or dropping of lamps, three from careless handling of oil or gasoline, three from gasoline ignition, two from gasoline explosions, one from a defective oil stove and one from a lamp explosion. Of the total of thirty deaths thus accounted for only two were not due to causes in which carelessness was a factor..

In addition to the twenty-eight persons who were injured in starting fires with oil and gasoline, thirty-four were injured by the ignition and explosion of gasoline; thirteen through careless use of petroleum products; five through defective stoves; four by the overturning of lamps; three by oil ignition; three by lamp explosions; two by the explosion of metal polish; two in fires of which the exact cause was unknown, and one in a fire caused by a leaky lamp, thus making a total of ninety-five injured. Of this number only eight or nine were not caused in part, at least, by carelessness.

Not one of the 141 accidents resulted from a violation of the so-called "Red Can" law or from the sale of uninspected or rejected oil. All resulted either from carelessness or from other causes beyond the control of this department.

It is also interesting to note that the total property loss in fires and accidents caused by oil and gasoline amounts to but $53,853.00—a trifle more than one per cent of the estimated annual fire loss in the state. That the two most inflammable and explosive articles in common use should cause less than two per cent of the total fire loss makes it unnecessary to comment upon the value of the oil inspection law and the efficiency of the department.

I am convinced that fraud in the sale of kerosene and gasoline has been practically eliminated in Wisconsin, by carefully inspecting the gravity of the products and by rigidly enforcing the law requiring that placards showing the tests of the oils on sale be posted in conspicuous places in the stores of vendors. When it is realized that a difference of ten degrees in the gravity of gasoline, for example, makes a difference on the average of five cents per gallon in the value of the product it is seen that there would be ample opportunity for fraud if the present statute were not enforced.

Table II gives the more important statistics regarding the department for the past ten years. It will be seen that the number of employees has decreased during this period so that today seven less men are employed than ten years ago, although two and four-fifths times as many barrels of products are inspected.

Inspection fees are ten cents per barrel. Ten years ago it cost the department 73 9-10 cents to inspect ten barrels and collect one dollar in inspection fees. Last year it cost but 59 2-5 cents to inspect ten barrels and collect one dollar in fees. There has thus been effected a saving of fourteen and one-half cents on each ten barrels. The extent of this saving can be appreciated when it is recalled that more than 900,000 barrels were inspected last year.

I wish also to call your attention to the fact that at the close of the past fiscal year the department turned into the general fund the sum of $37,703.26, by far the largest amount ever before turned over for general state use. This sum represented the amount by which the inspection fees earned by the department exceeded the salaries and all other expenses of the department.

In brief, the table shows that the amount turned into the general fund had increased 374 per cent, the number of barrels inspected had increased 194 per cent, while the expenses of the department had increased but 137 per cent, as compared with ten years ago.

Table III gives the names, addresses and districts of the fifty-four deputies, together with the number of barrels of products inspected, fees collected and salaries and expenses disbursed during the year.

At the last session of the legislature the separate fund in the treasury known as the oil inspection fund was abolished and it was required that all fees collected by the department be turned into the general fund immediately upon receipt. The department was given, in place of the oil inspection fund, an annual appropriation of $59,554.00 for its maintenance expenses. This appropriation may or may not prove to be sufficient.

The law requires that every barrel of gasoline and kerosene sold or used for illuminating, heating or power purposes in the state be inspected, and it prescribes the fees that shall be paid the deputies as salary for making such inspections. The expenses of the deputies depend upon the number and location of the barrels the law compels them to inspect. Other disbursements of the department such as those for printing, postage and supplies depend, like the salaries and expenses of the deputies, upon the number of barrels the department is required to inspect.

The result is that if the annual inspections of the department but slightly exceed one million barrels during the next two years the appropriation will probably prove adequate. It would not be sufficient, however, should the inspections greatly exceed one million barrels, and this is not at all improbable. In fact at the present rate of increase in the use of petroleum products it is certain that this appropriation will be insufficient, unless an improbable reduction can be made in the gross cost of inspection per barrel.

It is thus obvious that neither the number of barrels the deputies are required to inspect nor the salaries the department is compelled to pay them for such inspections is within the control of this office. I am accordingly opposed to the idea of this department being limited by an inelastic appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS F. MEYER,

State Supervisor of Inspectors of Illuminating Oils.
