Rhodes Scholar to be Selected From Wisconsin

Twelve of Sixteen Badger Representatives Have Come from State University

The seventeenth Rhodes scholar to represent Wisconsin at Oxford university will be selected this year from among the candidates of the universities and colleges in the state.

Twelve of the 16 men who have been selected have been graduates of the university, the other four coming from other institutions. Most of the Wisconsin Rhodes men have become distinguished in their professions. Three have become educators, two attorneys, two journalists, and two are still in school.

Scholtz Was First

Richard F. Scholtz '02, who was in the first group of Rhodes scholars to attend Oxford, returned to Wisconsin as an assistant professor after completing his work at Oxford and is now president of Reed College in Oregon.

T. J. A. McClernan '08, the second Rhodes man from the university, was forced to discontinue his studies at Oxford after two years because of ill health. He died shortly after returning home.

Ernest A. Hooton '08, completed his course at Oxford and is now a member of the faculty at Harvard university.

Two Are Lawyers

Arthur B. Doe '11, gave up his scholarship after using it only two months and returned to practice law in Milwaukee.

Carl H. Haessler '11, completed his course at Oxford and returned to this country at the outset of the war. He was confined for two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, for being a conscientious objector to the draft law. Since his release he has been engaged in newspaper work.

Lucius R. Sherwood '17, studied humanities at Oxford and is now a professor of Greek at St. Stephen's college, Annandale, N. Y.

LeRoy Burlingame '18 and Law '24, completed the Oxford course in juris.

Enrollment for R. O. T. C. Grows

Appointment of Cadet Officers Will be Announced Later in Year

Enrollment in the Reserve Officers' Training corps this year is slightly larger than that of last year, although the actual figures are not yet available for publication, according to an announcement of Col. Joseph F. Barnes, commandant.

The increased enrollment of freshmen had led army men to hope for a much larger enrollment in the R. O. T. C., but so far this hope has been unfulfilled, as the slight increase in the R. O. T. C. has not kept pace with the total enrollment of freshmen.

The corps at present is organized on the basis of a regiment of infantry, a regiment of field artillery, and a battalion of signal corps troops. Certain units of these organizations are being carried as inactive. Appointments as cadet officers will be limited to those required to fill vacancies called for by this organization of the corps.

Non-commissioned officers to be appointed from the sophomore class will receive their appointments on demonstrated ability after four to six weeks training, according to Col. Barnes.

Announcement of the appointment of cadet commissioned officers will be made in a few weeks. Appointments will be based on merit, this system being the same as was in use last year.

2,400 FROSH CROWD 82 ENGLISH SECTIONS

Over 300 more freshmen are taking English this year than last, and the English department is faced with the problem of finding classroom accommodations and an adequate number of teachers. The 2,400 students taking the course meet in 82 sections, many of which are over the usual size because there are only some 50 teachers available.

Disciplinary Committee Abandons Work; University Without Method Of Handling Dishonesty Cases

"Let George Tell You," Is Motto for Information-Seeking Student

"If George doesn't know, it can't be found out," has become such a password in the university that a new, centralized information bureau has been established in 172 Bascom hall to cover the great demand made upon his services.

Under the direction of George A. Chandler, assistant secretary to the faculty, this keenly organized department is at the service of Wisconsin students and faculty, from locating forgotten quiz sections to preparing the essential student directory.

A complete record of all Wisconsin students, with their home and Madison addresses and telephone numbers, a record of all faculty members with their classification, title, degree, address and phone number is filed here and it is the work of a special clerk to give out this information to the crowds who cannot wait until the student directory is printed. It is this department, the other part coming from the registrar's office.

The location of every quiz section in the university is at the finger-tips of this department, and it is through this channel that all changes in room assignments must go. No excitement, no flurry; George attends to it all. A special lost and found department has been established for Bascom hall only. Articles found elsewhere on the campus are turned in to the bursar.

The fame of George's genius in information is so widespread that requests to identify gold coins and suggestions on where to purchase diamonds have been mailed to the new department. Perhaps even weightier things than these, but George is too circumspect to tell them.

42 Enrolled in Library School

Students from Eleven States and Three Counties Entered for Instruction

The university library school which is now in its twenty-second year of teaching, has 42 students enrolled in its classes, although the present capacity of the school is limited to 38 persons. The present class has representatives from 11 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, Norway, and British Columbia.

Those attending are:

Mildred M. Hawsworth, Tacoma, Wash.; Meribah Hazen, Waupun; Annasue Hughes, Spokane, Wash.; Eurice M. Hummel, Dundas, Minn.; Marion E. James, Oshkosh, Wis.; Sarah D. Lamb, Wayzata, Minn.; Marjorie A. Lidbeck, Marinette, Helen Lukens, Milwaukee; Laura I. Makepeace, Fort Collins, Colo.; Mary L. May, Superior; Agnes R. Melentine, Madison; Jeannette J. Murphy, Tabor, Ia.; Lila M. Neill, Minneapolis; Iva J. Oliver, Williamsburg, Iowa; Dorothy K. Perry, Wimmette, Ill.

Wilma F. Adsit, Owatona, Minn.; Emma L. Anderson, Racine; Dorothy S. Beeson, Ashland; Phyllis D. Bentley, La Crosse; Leone G. Bryan, Lancaster; Gertrude Buehler, Alma, Wis.; Dorothy Charles, Cedar Falls, Iowa; Mable L. Deeds, Oxford, Ind.; Helen M. Deffner, Sterling, Neb.; Alice R. Fox, Chicago; Alice L. Flett, Milbank, So. Dak.; Rhea Gibson, Oshkosh; Agnes O. Hanson, Nerstrand, Minn.; Ruth W. Harper, Madison.

REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW 8,898 STUDENTS

Just 720 more students are registered at the University this year than were registered at the corresponding time last year. The total registration lacks only 102 of being 9,000. Although 196 have registered since classes began, the number of late registrants decreases every day and it is doubtful if the 9,000 mark will be reached. The latest figure from the registrar is 8,898.

SEASON COUPON BOOKS

The sale of season athletic coupon books has been extended until next Wednesday. Previous announcement had the sale closing yesterday. The extension was made to dispose of a number of side-line football reservations remaining unsold.

CHEER-LEADERS!

RIGHT THIS WAY!

Wesley Bliffert '29, varsity cheer leader, began his campaign to raise the quality of Wisconsin cheering yesterday when he announced competitive try-outs for freshmen and sophomores who desire to become members of the cheer-leading squad.

"This is an excellent opportunity for lower classmen," said Bliffert. "Each of them has an equal chance for promotion, and one of them, by a logical process of elimination, will become the varsity cheer-leader eventually."

All men interested are asked to report in the trophy room of the gymnasium at 5:30 o'clock Monday evening.

MEDICAL EXAMS

All students who have failed to keep their appointments for medical examinations must report to places assigned and all new registrants who have not received an appointment for the medical examination must report at the department of student health, Wisconsin General hospital, Monday morning, Sept. 26.

New Members Never Assumed Duties; Present Men Claim Terms Expired

With the members of the Committee on Student Discipline which was appointed in the fall of 1925, and not reappointed in 1926, preferring not to continue their work, the university is virtually without a discipline committee this fall, and faculty and student leaders are faced with an intricate problem of instituting a new system for handling cases of scholastic dishonesty.

Situation Intricate

The situation briefly is: 1. The new "elected committee" of which four members of the needed five were chosen last year, never assumed its duties. The fifth member has never been named, and one member has resigned.

2. The committee which was appointed by President Frank for the year 1925-26, and which carried over last year as an "Interim Committee," has now expressed a belief that its term of appointment has expired, and it has refused to act on cases this fall.

3. The reorganization may follow the lines attempted last year, may revert to the old appointment plan, or may follow some new development, depending on action by the faculty.

Much Dishonesty

The plan for reorganization of the method of handling cases of student dishonesty followed an investigation by a joint committee of students and faculty members in the spring of 1926. This group is known on the campus as "Otto's Committee" because Prof. M. C. Otto made the committee report to the faculty at their meeting on June 7, 1926. The report stated that there was an unbelievable amount of student dishonesty and that the moral tone of the campus on such matters was extremely low.

To remedy the situation it was proposed by the investigating group that the committee which had previously been appointed by the president, be elective, and that its powers and penalties be much increased. It was proposed that the minimum penalty which could be given by the committee if a person was found guilty would be suspension from the university.

University Films Activities; Cardinal, Strand Cooperate

The filming and preparation of moving pictures for the screen are not confined to New York and Hollywood; the photographer of the university films university events in motion and has the pictures ready for presentation within a few hours after taking them.

Dr. M. E. Diemer, manager of the department, credits the Daily Cardinal as doing "big city work," for the Daily Cardinal and A. P. Desormeaux of the Strand theatre cooperate in having films made and shown of all important university activities such as football games, graduating exercises, and Varsity Welcome, a sideline usually sponsored by only large metropolitan publications. Varsity Welcome pictures are now being run at the Strand theatre.

After university movies are exhibited in Madison, their most interesting sections are assembled into one to be sent to alumni clubs throughout the state for use at their banquets.

No single laboratory is more representative of all university departments than is the photography laboratory, situated on the top floor of the Old Soils building. There are found camera portraits of Pres. Glenn Frank, of department heads and other faculty members, negatives from which slides are made to illustrate lectures in biology, agriculture, medical, and other courses, photographs of great paintings for art history and appreciation students, scenic views which Dean S. H. Goodnight has had printed to advertise the summer school sessions, and pictures of all descriptions to be posted for exhibition or to be published in departmental bulletins.

Many science students ask the cooperation of the laboratory in working out their theses. As they progress with their projects, perhaps the effects of different food mixtures upon puppies or guinea pigs, or the effects of certain plant diseases, photographs are taken of the subjects at regular intervals to make a visible record of the changes. Photographs show the results of a cross-breeding experiment conducted with pigeons recently. There are pictures recording the damages done to bean plants by disease.

The agricultural engineering department teaches the importance of adapting harness hook-up to the nature of the load by pictures of arrangements for all kinds of hauling.

Next to the university photographic laboratory is the state lab, where still and moving pictures are made for state use. Experiments for the Forest Products laboratory, informative pictures to be distributed by the conservation commission, and animated movies for other state bureaus are made in that office.

BADGER WORKERS WANTED

Students who desire to work on the 1929 Badger in either circulation or advertising departments are asked to report at the Badger Business office in the Union building between 3 and 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Dramatic Talent to Register For Work Sept. 29

Wisconsin Players Plan Elaborate Production Program for 1927-28

An opportunity for all students interested in dramatics, either in acting or in any phase of play production, to register for work with the Wisconsin University Players, student dramatic organization, will be accorded Thursday and Friday, Sept. 29 and 30 when the Players will register all aspirants at the theatre box office in Bascom hall.

Plan Program

The Players this year are planning a production program that far surpasses anything that has before been attempted in the way of dramatics at the university. The lack of theatrical facilities which has heretofore handicapped work at Wisconsin, was removed last spring when the dedication of Bascom theatre made possible the establishing of a complete "Little Theatre" unit.

The program for this year includes revivals of Shakespearian plays, production of some of the more modern classics, a series of outstanding contemporary plays, original dramas written on the campus by students and faculty members, and the presentation of plays by professional companies.

Troutman to Manage

All plays will be sponsored and managed by the Wisconsin University Players under the direction of Prof. William C. Troutman, director of Bascom theatre and faculty advisor to the Players.

In order to carry out the heavy program scheduled for this year, a permanent production staff will be necessary to handle the work of the theatre. All positions on the staff will be filled by competitive tryouts, and promotions will be made on a merit basis. New members will be added to the permanent staff from time to time as vacancies occur and the candidates gain experience.

Need Much Help

The stage crew will include stage managers and assistants, scene designers and painters, interior decorators, wardrobe mistresses and costume designers, electricians and stage carp-

State Museum Exhibits Prints

W. J. Phillips Shows Local Scenes in Display of Wood Blocks

An exhibition of etchings and wood blocks is on view in the gallery of the state historical museum.

The entire display is the work of Mr. W. J. Phillips of Winnipeg, Canada, who was a member of the university art department faculty in summer session several years ago. He was at that time known for the excellence of his etchings. Since then he has developed the art of wood block engraving and printing, and his work has won international recognition.

Several of the engravings in this exhibit have their theme in local subjects: Vilas park, Willow drive and the lake shore. An exotic Japanese treatment gives many of them a distinctive individuality.

Mr. Phillips is a personal friend of Professor C. F. Gillen, of the department of Romance languages, who is now president of the Madison art association, under whose auspices the exhibit is being given. Because of the intrinsic merit of the work as well as the local color of the subjects, the exhibit is being largely attended by university and local high school students as well as special classes from the university.

TWO INSTRUCTORS ADDED TO AG. STAFF

Two new instructors have been added to the College of Agriculture this year. Prof. H. C. Jackson of the United States Department of Agriculture is filling the vacancy left by Prof. F. H. Farrington in Dairy Husbandry. Professor Farrington goes on to the Emeritus relation after 33 years service as head of the dairy department.

Dr. K. L. Link, former student here, will occupy the position as assistant professor in Agriculture Chemistry.

Dishonesty Cases Lack Jurisdiction

Present Committee Claims Term Has Expired; New Method Needed

Plan Accepted

The faculty considered the recommendations of the investigating committee and accepted them.

At the October 4 meeting of the faculty last fall, Prof. M. C. Otto outlined the plan for choosing the members of the committee, which was accepted. The Student Senate, representing the men, was to nominate two faculty members, and the Women's Self Government association was to nominate two more. From the four, the student body elected two, the one with the greatest number of votes to serve a maximum of 3 years, and the next to serve 2 years.

The student groups named their nominees without consulting the chosen faculty members. The result was that Prof. W. H. Kieckhofer, who was one of the two elected, felt that he would be unable to serve, and resigned. The plans had not allowed for a substitute, and the vacancy remained all year. Shortly after this, Prof. Norman Cameron, who was the other student elected member, became ill, and was forced to leave the faculty for a semester.

Appointments Not Made

The faculty failed to elect two faculty members to the new committee at their November meeting, but on December 2 they elected Prof. W. H.

Twenhofel as a member for 3 years, and Prof. E. B. Fred as a member for 2 years.

The fifth member of the committee was to be appointed by President Frank. The appointment has not yet been made; the reason is unknown. One possibility is that the student elected members were unable to serve.

Thus the "new" committee continued throughout the fall and winter of last year with the committee appointed in the fall of 1925, of which Prof. Ray S. Owen was chairman, acting without reappointment.

At the meeting of the faculty on April 4, another development in the situation came when a motion was made for a further investigation of student dishonesty. The motion passed but had no clause to nullify the plans for the "new" committee which was then, as now, in process of organization.

No Committee Now

When school reconvened this fall, the committee which had been appointed in 1925, felt that its term of appointment had expired, and expressed a wish that it be relieved from serving further. A faculty meeting has not been held since this time.

It was understood by the Daily Cardinal yesterday that there is at the present time no way to take care of disciplinary cases.

Inquiry on the hill revealed varying sentiment about the new committee plans. Many faculty members felt the rule requiring suspension was too strict, as, it was said, there are many cases where leniency is justifiable.

Probable Action Soon

What action will be taken it was not possible to ascertain. President Glenn Frank was not as his office yesterday so his opinion as to the most advisable action could not be learned. Daniel Kerth, '28, chairman of the elections committee of the student senate, could not be reached to determine what action his body would take toward choosing new members to represent the students.

One faculty member pointed out that the new plan calls for a disciplinary committee chairman who would be able to devote considerable time to the work. Such a person could not be expected to assume this extra work without remuneration, this person pointed out, and then added, "Where's the money?"

A report that the Board of Regents had protested the rule requiring suspension was groundless as far as investigation Saturday showed. There was no record of any such action in the minutes of the regents, it was said at the office of M. E. McCaffrey, secretary.

WARM FALL DUE
It's going to be a warm fall, if an old superstition of sailors is verified.

When the sun crossed the equator Friday at 7:17 p.m. the wind was blowing from the south. Sailors believe that the direction from which the wind is blowing when the sun crosses the equator is the direction from which it will blow most of the time during the ensuing three months.

Fall began officially as the sun crossed the equator and day and night were of equal length.

Badgers Scrimmage for an Hour Against Stubborn
Frosh Eleven

Some 1500 students were able to corroborate the rumor that Wisconsin will have a football team this fall after watching the first open practice at Randall field yesterday.

Just about every able bodied man on the squad got into action during the hour of offensive scrimmage which Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite chose to use a sort of get-acquainted gesture.

Use Simple Plays

Running simple formations, sometimes well and sometimes not, team after team went in and pounded away at one of the stubbornest freshman lines it has been the privilege of Wisconsin men to look upon in many moons. And when it was all over, the shadow of doubt that has hung over Wisconsin's gridiron fate this fall remained just as impenetrable as ever.

Capt. Edwin J. "Toad" Crofoot '28 led the first eleven upon the field. Though their team-work was a bit jerky and their general offensive play extremely crude in spots, the team made considerable progress even against such sturdy opposition as that offered by the freshmen. Rose, Crofoot, Cuisinier, and Rehholz all showed ability at ball-carrying, but the interference was not as clean-cut as it might have been.

Two Hurt

Fans enjoyed particularly the good showing made by Harold Rehholz '30, who seems to be the main Badger hope at fullback this season. He drove through center with head down and legs kicking in the best approved 1927 fullback style.

John Park, '30, promising varsity lineman, and Pat Mohardt '30, half-back, received injuries during the scrimmage that may keep them out of practice for several days. Ritter, tackle who was injured Thursday, appeared in uniform but was unable to do much.

Frosh Strong

A youthful tackle named Halprin, played the lead in the freshman blockade act and attracted a deal of sideline attention by the impolite way in which he mussed up varsity formations. Behr, end, and Bergman, fullback, also did good work for the yearlings.

On the few occasions when the varsity essayed to punt, a really bothersome weakness was disclosed in this department. Judging from the showing yesterday, it will be a big task to get Wisconsin kickers in shape for the season's work, and much of the success of the team may depend upon this little detail.

Cornell college comes here next Saturday for the opening game of the season.

WOMEN WILL FORM
INTRAMURAL TEAMS

Plans for extensive intramural activities embracing all sports for all women are in process of formulation by the women's intramurals committee, headed by Sally Owen '30. Miss Gladys Bassett, instructor in physical education, is faculty adviser of the committee.

A meeting of representatives of the various groups will be held at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday evening in Lathrop gymnasium. Independent groups, sororities, and rooming houses should send representatives to this meeting. The program for the year will be fully outlined and discussed.

Yesterday, "Enable every woman in the university to benefit by the sports which are offered. In the intramural tournaments, in contrast to interclass competition, no great amount of skill is necessary, for the games are primarily intended to give recreation and fun. They afford a means for the women to get together and have a good time."

Instructors in the women's physical education department are backing the scheme for extensive intramurals for women in order to give every woman an opportunity to have some sort of exercise.

Training able Tips

Now we're satisfied, Glenn. We'll at least know which team to cheer for next Saturday when the first game is played.

While fans disagreed on the quality of yesterday's football showing, most of them had to admit that the Wisconsin attack in its theoretical elements is based upon sound football. If every man does what he is supposed to do, there is bound to be a hole and there is also bound to be a gain.

Coach H. O. "Pat" Page, Indiana university, proved to his own satisfaction that airplanes cannot possibly be used in the Hoosier offensive this year when he took a trial ride in one the other day. Page bet two of his assistants, Wally Middlesworth and Otto Strohmeier, that they couldn't catch a pass thrown from an airplane; then he climbed in with a Bloomington pilot and proceeded to win the bet. Of several footballs dropped off by Page while the plane was circling about, Middlesworth succeeded in catching one on the first bounce but could not get close to any of the others.

Out of the murky mists of brutality emerge Wisconsin authorities, bringing with them a newer and purer form of interclass conflict to supplement the bag-rush. But at Coe college—

For the first time in the history of Coe college, a sack-rush replaced the traditional freshman-sophomore push-ball contest. The Freshmen were victorious over the sophs by a score of 13 to 8.

In the first quarter, the sophomores rushing on the freshmen, stepping on them, tearing their shirts, and rubbing them into the mud, carried away three of the bags.

The passing of "Frosty" Peters from the Illinois gridiron picture puts a dreary ending upon a career that once seemed to be the brightest in the conference. Peters came to school with the reputation of being the greatest goal-kicker in many years. Last season he made only a fair showing and failed in his one supreme test, the chance to tie Ohio State by making the point after touchdown. Now he leaves school. Publicity is a fickle jade.

Ohio State fans were cheered to learn that Freddie Grim, star Buckeye quarterbacks, will not be put to the inconvenience of an operation for appendicitis. The surgeons were getting their tools all sharpened up when Freddie suddenly began to act healthy again and he is now recovering rapidly. Harold Kruskamp veteran backfield man, is lost to Ohio State by that other and less glorious process with which weighted averages is so intimately concerned.

Doc Spears, * * * at Minnesota, must know now how a man feels when he is so rich he can't think of ways to spend his money. Only 14 lettermen returned to the Gopher football squad this fall, and there are two positions on the team that only three good men are trying for. Tough, Doc.

The little family group rendering of Army's football team in the Cap Times last night reminds us once again that this guy Harry Wilson ought to be getting through pretty soon. Harry played around on Penn State's front yard for three years, and this makes his third or fourth season of work with the Army. Two regulars on the team, Lyle Seeman, Janesville, and Charlie Born, Racine, hail from the state of Wisconsin.

Varsity cheer-leader Wes Bliffert offers the little freshmen and sophomores a chance to become boneless wonders and wear white pants to the football games. Better snap it up, boys.

Indiana University Football Team Depends on New Men to Fill Gaps

With over a week of strenuous practice now history, the dynamic Pat Page has a huge task confronting him in shaping the Indiana University football team for the hardest schedule the Hoosiers have ever faced. First of all, Pat is relying upon a number of "white hopes" to come to the front.

When the Indiana coach talks about "white hopes," he means men who have possibilities of stopping such men as Herb Joesting, said to be the greatest fullback in the country, who comes here for homecoming with Minnesota, Oct. 15.

Promising Recruits

Now men who stand chances of giving Page a strong front wall are Bundy, of Vincennes; Ringwalt, of Indianapolis; Dudding, of Hope; and Gonce, of Wolcott. Bundy was taught football by "Skeets" Buck, well known Hoosier prep coach. He has every earmark of developing into a good tackle. Dudding is the 230-pounder in whom Page has placed most of his hope. Dudding never saw a game until coming to Indiana last year. He has learned the tricks fast and if he gets experience enough early, he should have a great future. Ringwalt is lighter than the others, but he is full of ambition. Gonce's biggest claim to rating is his determination to fight. Bennett, a brother of the well known "Chuck," is a lightweight but has prospects of developing.

Among the men in the line, there is Butts, red haired tackle, who did some excellent work last season. Hull is a 180-pounder who found himself late in the season last year, and who has prospects of gaining fame this campaign. Matthew played in all but two quarters last season at guard and center. Hellman, another letterman, will have to improve to hold his own with the new material. Hill is another vet who will have to step lively to keep up.

At center, Page is well supplied, with Randolph, a veteran from the 1926 season. Matthew can take the reins at a moments notice. Moss who played fullback some can play center without losing any of his power.

Ends Trouble Him

One of Page's chief worries is the ends. McCracken, a basketball star from Monrovia, looks promising as a new man. Max Kidd, of Bloomfield, who played in 1923, has shown out prominently. He is tall and heavy with large hands and football instinct. Hiler who got into a few games last year stands a good chance of breaking in. Baker, another veteran, will need more "pep" to keep in the running. "Andy" Catterton, an "I" wearer, is the best bet. He is the type Page calls a "go getter." Ralph Weaver, a Terre Haute product, has been shifted from the backfield to end in an effort to make more competition.

Two complete sets of backs are available, to say nothing of the players who would like to get in if they had experience enough. Garrison, Harrill, Bennett and Stephenson are left intact from last year. Then there is Magnabosco, of Clinton, who possesses everything a real fullback should. He is heavy, shifty, a fighter, and can do some good blocking on top of being an excellent passer and kicker. Todd a former Bedford basketball star, is big enough to get some place.

Other Candidates

Other men who are certain to make things warm for the vets are Bayal and Stevenson, Indianapolis; Beckner, Munice; Buckner, Worthington, Faunce, Marion; Fleischer, New Albany; Reinhardt, Racine, Wis.; and Sprunger, Fort Wayne. Then there is Vic Salmi, left handed quarter who barked signals in 1925.

To an outsider the prospects look much better than in years, but taking the hard schedule into consideration, Pat Page has a task he never before perhaps faced in one season.

Page, however, is full of dynamite and may slip up on some of the All-Americans. All he is asking this season is for a fighting combination. He may have it in the making.

FROSH GYMMNASTS

Freshmen gymnasts and fencers are requested to report to Coach Masely on top floor of gymnasium Monday afternoon at 4:30.

EXTEND SALE OF SEASON TICKETS

The ticket mail order for the Wisconsin-Michigan game, to be played on Oct. 15 at Camp Randall stadium, will close next Saturday, Oct. 1. All students, alumni and public must have their orders in by that date to secure choice seats. Students who have not already purchased season coupon books may do so the next few days, as Business Manager Lewis has extended the sale, which was to have closed on Saturday.

There is no mail order for the Cornell college game on Saturday next, but students wishing to take advantage of the fifty cent rate must purchase ducats at the ticket office, 711 Langdon street, between Wednesday morning at 8 a. m. and Saturday morning at 11 a. m. After that time everyone will be charged a general admission of one dollar at the gate. There are no reserved seats for the opening game with Cornell.

Sophs Threaten to Replace Veterans on Illinois Grid Team

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 24 — Despite the fact that nine stalwarts who earned their letters in the line are fighting to retain their berths, Illinois' 1927 football machine is likely to present several new faces in the forward wall.

The challenge of youth is not to be denied and among the sophomores, Gordon and Burdick, tackles, and Crane, guard, loom as promising contenders for team berths. Jolley, another sophomore, is attracting attention at end.

Reitsch at Center

Captain Bob Reitsch, all conference center in 1926, holds down his old job and "Peanuts" Schultz, letterman, will be hard to dislodge from his guard post.

Four men who won letters at tackle, Grable, Mariner, Perkins, and Nowack are defending their old berths. Other tackle candidates are Edelman, Nelson and Ongley.

Mitterwallner and Muegge, letter-winners in 1925, Wietz, Jones, F. S. Sherman, Economos, Scheel, Simons, Wagner and Wheeler are contenders for guard positions.

Many Ends

D'Ambrosio and Nichol, lettermen, Deimling, Wolgast, Brown, B. M. Sherman, Short and Overton are end candidates. Ringuist and McClure understudy Reitsch at center.

Frank Lanum has been lost to the squad, but Zupke hopes to find a punter in Peters or Mills, a sophomore back from Elgin. Judd Timm is expected to provide the backfield punch. An injured arm kept him from play last season, but the member has given him no trouble this fall. Walker and Humbert, sophomore backs, have been receiving considerable attention, the latter working at fullback. Butch Nowack who won his letter in the line, also has been working at full, as has Richman, formerly a sub-center.

French, halfback last year, has been calling signals for the first string. Other backfield prospects are Stuessy and Stewart, lettermen; Garland Grange, Winsper, Myers, Antonides, Fields, Frentzel, Hickman and Seeman.

The big celebration will commence with a huge rally to be held in the stadium Friday night, Oct. 7. The stadium is expected to be fully completed by that night. Saturday the program will get under way with a polo game between two Fort Leavenworth teams. Following the polo game the Memorial stadium will be officially dedicated in an address by William Allen White.

Saturday night at seven the annual night shirt parade will take place.

Wisconsin Team to Dedicate New Kansas Stadium

Game Oct. 8 Marks Completion of New Athletic Structure

Wisconsin's football and cross country teams will play a major part in the dedication of Kansas university's new Memorial stadium when the Badger teams clash with Kansas, Oct. 8.

The entire dedication which has been designated as Completion day will undoubtedly be one of the greatest events ever held at Kansas university.

First Race

The football game with Kansas will be the second game of the season for the Badgers, but the harrier contest, will officially open the season for Wisconsin's cross country team.

So important will be the event of Wisconsin's clash with Kansas in football that the stores in Lawrence will be closed during the duration of the game and trains from all points around Kansas will offer reduced rates to Lawrence.

The dedication will last over the weekend and will have many varied events as features. More than $35,000 was expended for the construction of the Memorial stadium which is the first to be started and completed in the Missouri valley.

Intersectional Battle

The importance of the event will be further increased by the fact that this is the first time that a Western conference team has played Kansas on the home grounds.

This game is a return game for the game last year when the Kansas team was defeated by Wisconsin by a score of 13-0 at Camp Randall Stadium.

The harriers are working for this inaugural meet with the Kansas cross country team. It is expected that the stadium will be filled the morning of Oct. 8 by spectators and the race started from a point four miles distant. The last half mile will be run before the spectators with a double trip around the field, which is a quarter mile in circumference. Thus the finish of the grueling four and a half mile contest will be visible to the spectators in the stadium.

The big celebration will commence with a huge rally to be held in the stadium Friday night, Oct. 7. The stadium is expected to be fully completed by that night. Saturday the program will get under way with a polo game between two Fort Leavenworth teams. Following the polo game the Memorial stadium will be officially dedicated in an address by William Allen White.

Saturday night at seven the annual night shirt parade will take place.

MOUNT BLANC R. R. NEAR COMPLETION

When the French minister of public works, opens the new railway which is to carry passengers almost to the summit of Mont Blanc, its ascent is to be no more of an adventure than that of the Jungfrau or Pilatus. But to realize what ascending Mont Blanc meant to the popular imagination even half a century after the triumphal achievement of Saussure one has only to read contemporary accounts of the experiences of Albert Smith, the once popular Victorian humorist. In his ascent of Mont Blanc he broke down before reaching the summit and had to be carried there by Swiss guides.

But he was looked upon as a popular hero. Each stage of his progress up the mountain was watched through telescopes, and on his return a salute was fired from brass cannon in the garden of a Chamonix hotel. A festive banquet to the adventurer was followed by a display of fireworks. He wrote a book about Mont Blanc, and his lecture on it was delivered to English audiences a thousand times.

UNIVERSITY RAISES TOBACCO FOR POOL

Because the University of Wisconsin raises tobacco in its agricultural college experimental plots, and because the university board of regents is a member of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco pool, the university itself holds no grudge against the users of the weed.

Approximately 150 bales of tobacco will be delivered to the pool by the university under the contract with the large Wisconsin growers' organization after the items of data on the crop have been taken.

More About Rushing

A recent editorial in these columns denounced the interfraternity council for its failure to face the real problems of the Greek letter organizations on this campus. Of course, the problem now uppermost in the minds of all fraternity men is the rushing scramble. Although the most intensive period of pledge plucking is over, the evils and injustices of the current practices still rankle in the hearts of fair minded men. Therefore, the subject is once more brought up. It deserves discussion at this time because of the advantage of striking while the iron is hot.

In the earlier editorial, it was stated that the present methods of rushing are unfair to both rushees and fraternities. It is unnecessary to go into detail in order to secure wide acceptance of that statement. That the interfraternity council has failed to do any real good is a matter of history. But he who criticizes must have something better in mind if his criticisms are to be respected. At least the critic must make some attempt to arrive at constructive suggestions.

The Daily Cardinal wishes to announce that it will at the earliest possible date present a tentative rushing system to the university. It will then be up to the interfraternity council and campus leaders to accept or reject it as they see fit.

Last year some sort of investigation of other rushing methods was made by a committee. This year, before offering any plan, the Daily Cardinal will conduct a thorough search for methods which have been successful elsewhere. It will analyze what seems to be the chief weakness of present practices, and will then endeavor to incorporate the remedies for those shortcomings in the tentative plan.

At the moment, there is not even a definite skeleton of a system in the minds of the editors. There is, however, a realization of some of the faults of cut-throat rushing and an honest desire to formulate a plan which will represent a piece of constructive suggestion for the university. There will be no attempt to hurry the matter along. Ample time will be taken to assure the thoroughness of the investigation. There will be no attempt to dictate to the fraternities in any way. The plan, when completed, will simply be offered and allowed to stand or fall on its own merits.

And now the Daily Cardinal wishes to issue a sincere appeal for aid from any organization or individual on the campus. Letters to the editor on the subject of rushing (or any other subject, incidentally) will be read carefully and published. Suggestions, proposed plans, and criticism are welcome. As a student paper, the Daily Cardinal is interested in student opinion and the efficient solution of student problems. Write to the Readers' Sayso column. All communications must be signed.

True Discipline

"We will see to it that you have freedom", Pres. Frank stated in his address to the freshmen at the Varsity Welcome; "you must see to it that you achieve discipline. Discipline is not something imposed upon you by the university. That sort of discipline is nothing more than police regulations. A discipline that is imposed is not discipline; it is regimentation; and against the regimentation of minds the true university flees as from a plague."

These terse statements were no doubt a revelation to many of the new students assembled on Lincoln terrace Friday morning, but to those in touch with the inner spirit of the new Wisconsin, the Wisconsin which quickened to life with the coming of Glenn Frank and Alexander Meiklejohn, they mark but one more milestone of assurance that the university is steadily progressing along the highway of true education.

The genuine student needs no superimposed regulations to guide his life. He knows his purpose and how to accomplish it. There is no better discipline than the desire to learn and the communion of fellow spirits.

It is within the groups that make up the whole of the campus social structure that the individual feels the urge of mutual endeavor and common accomplishment. It is here that he finds his path most clearly outlined. It is here that his decisions carry the most influence. It is here that his loyalty lies.

Naturally, therefore, the student group is the ideal unit of discipline, and Pres. Frank's first statement of his attitude toward the importance of that unit was hailed with great favor and appreciation. It has been reinforced by his more recent denunciation of regimentation. It now remains for the groupss, through the individuals composing them, to accept his challenge and achieve true discipline.

What's a Wife Good For?

Recently thirty young women were asked, "What's a husband good for?" None of them were married; all of them expressed the expectation of some day marrying; and their replies were exactly what one might expect—amusing and thoughtless, many of them obvious attempts to be funny. A safe prediction would be that if an equal number of Wisconsin women were asked the same question, the replies would be equally worthless.

This does not mean that all women are thoughtless, nor that all women try to be funny. It does mean that the average young person has never considered marriage in a serious light. Busy with dates, parties and dances, he has no time for thoughts of the future. The hereafter was the first to suffer neglect. Now it is the immediate future, including such contingencies as marriage.

The interesting thing to do now would be to ask thirty average young men the question, "What's a Wife Good For?" But it is doubtful if the replies would be any more thoughtful than those of the women.

Here is an illuminating sidelight. A freshman once asked a rather well known upperclassman if he was engaged. The latter replied, "Not yet. But I'm going to be some time before I leave school. It's a lot of fun." He kept his word. The freshman never found out if it was a lot of fun.

These are some of the superficial aspects of the young person's thoughts (or lack of thoughts) on marriage. Now, however, if it is real inside information that is sought, the two questions noted above should be submitted to a group of married men and women. This would not only reveal facts garnered by experience, but it would make an interesting study of the effects of marriage on the urge to be funny when answering questions.

The rent-a-car companies must now be paying commissions to the higher-ups. Witness a quotation included in a recent statement by the dean of women:

Wonder how many freshmen are still looking for all the collitch boys with their ukeleles and dates with the dean's daughter?

As we lamp the Deet this morning we discover the wanted:

LOST—Parker Duofold pen with name of owner.

We hope that at least the name of the owner is returned. It must be hard to go around without a name.

It used to be the ambition of every college man to go into the country and raise pigs. Now it is his ambition to go into the city and raise hell.

A group of gents met a man on the Middleton road and shot him up something fierce. The university authorities should do something to stop this practical joking.

One of the prominent professors on the hill (name and address on receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelope), in commenting on the new timetable says that anyone who can read it correctly is eminently fitted to enter Wisconsin. And we believe that there is another place reserved for the man who can write one, either correctly or incorrectly.

POEMS OF NATURE

Poem written by a French-Canadian schoolboy on the frog:

The frog he are a funny bird, he are;

For when he sit he stand almost And when he walk, he hop.

It gives us hopes for our own poetry.

"Buy everything possible on your Co-op number," advertises a famous Madison concern. But suppose the stuff is impossible?

Which does not alter the fact that the lads out in the experimental college are being called guinea pigs.

An earnest contrib, yclept Prints of Fingers, announces that since he's started going to chemistry lecture he calls his sweet thing "substance" because she's a simple kind of matter.

We just can't figure out this here Deet. In the woooo about the Varsity Welcome, one of the headlines was, "Don Green Caps." And we read and read but couldn't find out what he capp'd.

Tomorrow, when you read this, all the little girls will be getting ready to run over to the sororities and be kissed by the entire chapter. It is the sorority substitute for hell week.

Still, the spectacle always depresses us. We hate to see women doing men's work.

In the future this column will be obscene and vulgar. We are going to spell "hell" "hell" and not "h-l."

This life is terrible. We had no Saturday classes but the carpenters woke us up at 10:30 this morning

Bulletin Board

This column is for the use of all organizations and university staff members who wish to reach large groups readily. No charge is made for notices. Notices may be brought to the editorial office at 772 Langdon street, or 'phoned to Badger 250, before 5 o'clock of the day preceding publication.

Y. M. C. A.

Freshmen candidates for committee work in the University Y. M. C. A. will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with Arthur Gosling '28. At this time, a preliminary organization of the social service committee for this year will be made. This committee is one of several that are organized each year to carry on the details of the cabinet program. Students who become members of this committee are therefore in direct line for regular Y. M. C. A. positions later on.

PAN HELLENIC MEETING

There will be a meeting of Pan-Hellenic at 4:30 Monday in the S. G. A. office in Lathrop hall.

NAVY EATS 62 TONS OF BREAKFAST DAILY

Always after something new to compute, the versatile statisticians have computed that every time the Navy eats breakfast 62 tons of food is consumed. Although far out at sea the gobs are nevertheless treated to eggs, bacon, ham, sausage and pancakes and is not far removed from the diet that they would receive at home.

when they came over to fix up the spot where the Dempsey supporter hit the ceiling during the radio broadcasting of the seventh round.

It was a great fight. We made just $99,998 less than Tunney did on it.

College is certainly getting under way again. Last night the Cameo Room and the Lathrop Dances start. We have sore feet already so we can just listen to the phonograph and go around bumping into people and get the same sensation.

And today is the day of silence for the rushee. Twenty-four hours of silence will just about kill a lot of those females.

The Octy slogan of "99 44-100 per cent Pure" is not amiss when you consider the amount of ivory connected with that rag.

"Fords Attack Big Car, Bend Fender" reads another headline. They probably mistook it for a Chevrolet.

And the guy said, "Just call me Cal."

So Prof. Julius is the lad who kept the rain away during Varsity Welcome. Such an attitude of opposition to the welfare of the students should be discouraged.

Someday we hope to hear a Welcome speaker who actually says what he thinks. His speech, we suppose, would run something like this.

Ladies and gentlemen: I do not think that the incoming freshman class is the best that ever entered the portals of this institution. In fact, I know darn well it is not. There is little to cheer about in any freshman class, but this one appears to be particularly full of stuff from which bono fertilizer is made. Not that we give nine whoops or have much hopes of turning you out bigger and better citizens. You can't grow asparagus on a monolith. Besides, the odds are all against it. Out of 1222 graduated in the last class, 1007 became bond salesmen and 963 joined Rotary clubs. Such statistics as these, gentlemen, make me gasp for the future of the human race. You may have your freshman class, gentlemen, you may have your courses and your hopes and your rainbows through which you wish to drive the dumb oxen that come into your hands. You may have all these, gentlemen. As for me, I shall wait to see how the sales of my new textbook are coming and then commit suicide."

We have the oddest roommate. He thinks the fight was on the level.

Fight—What fight?

ARGON THE LAZY.

200 YEAR OLD JOURNAL CELEBRATES

The Maryland Gazette, which claims the distinction of being America's oldest newspaper, completed two hundred years of continuous publication yesterday. The event was celebrated by a special bi-centennial edition in honor of the event. This commemorative edition, which was published in conjunction with the Maryland Historical Society, reviewed in the compass of two hundred pages, a past rich in colonial history.

The gazette may well claim the distinction of introducing the "column" in something of its modern form in American journalism for in some of its earliest editions, sandwiches between slave advertisements is to be found a section labeled "Ye columnist—for female entertainment."

OMNIVOROUS BUG INVADES HEIDELBERG

Leaders in the sorority house burning contest view with alarm the reports of an omnivorous, brass colored bug which has invaded the hamlet of Heidelberg to such an extent that it has become necessary to burn many of the dwellings there in order to eradicate the pest. The insect which migrated from Asia Minor devours linen clothing, furniture, walls, floors, metal furnishings, chandeliers and even water piping. The bug's amazing appetite and its swift reproduction have caused the alarmed citizens to appeal to the zoological department of Heidelberg University for aid, but so far the only consolation that they have received is a diagnosis that the insect which rivals the can-eating goat in its appetite is a member of the nuptus hololeucus family.

PETTING ADDS SEVENTH SIN TO DEAN'S LIST OF COLLEGE VICES

Marquette students have added the seventh vice, namely petting, to the list of six furnished by Dean Scott H. Goodnight. Now the list reads loafing, smoking, profanity, gambling, drinking, lewdness and petting.

Webster's definition of vice, "habitual deviation from moral rectitude or any particular class of actions showing such deviation," etc., is simply Webster's definition and does not rank so highly when compared with illuminating illustrated lists of vice furnished by undergraduates.

When Marquette students were asked what they thought of Dean Goodnight's list of vice if petting were to be added, a co-ed piped up well, sounds more like an edict from Zion City, than the edict of Wisconsin; of course, if you look at it the dean's way he may be correct, and her sorority sister added:

"Well, I think petting is very promiscuous."

Loafing, profanity, gambling, drinking and lewdness certainly are college vices, another agreed—"and are not essential."

"Oh, how can you say that of gambling," a fair one demanded. "The way Dean Goodnight defines gambling just makes you want to gamble!" (The dean defines gambling: A fascinating vice which consumes time, money and moral tissue).

Shy at Faculty Vices

And the discussion from this point waxed heated, until the question was asked: Name six vices that are dangerous to professors!

Silence!

"Oh, we'd rather not—not just now, anyway. You see, we're just registering this week, and—and it wouldn't be very diplomatic to pick on the profs the first week."

Work Crowds Out Vices

Mrs. Harrington, the dean, agrees to the letter with the Wisconsin dean.

"Let them acquire the habit of work," Prof. William R. Duffy, volunteered, "and they'll never know any collegiate vices. You can't serve the devil and work."

LANGUAGE HOUSES OPEN TO STUDENTS

The French, Spanish, and German departments have houses in which girls live, and where conversation at meals is carried on in the foreign language. The Arden house is the center of the Arden club, an organization sponsored by the English department.

The French house, 1105 University avenue houses 12 girls and the chaperon, Madame V. S. Fayard, Alta Ahrens is president of the house. Meals are open to anyone who wishes practice in speaking French.

The Spanish house, 224 N. Murray street, houses 10 girls and the chaperon, Senorita Manuela de Mora. Besides the Spanish tables, there is one table at the Spanish house where Italian is spoken. Officers are to be elected today. (Sunday).

Miss Margaret Landwehr is chaperon of the German house, 508 N. Francis street, where 17 girls live. Meals at the German house are open to anyone who wishes to speak German. Gertrud Leeller is president.

Arden club has moved from its old house, 433 N. Lake, to the former Gamma Phi Beta house, 428 Sterling court. Miss Charlotte Wood of the English department is chaperon of the house, and Evelyn Olson is president.

The other night someone tied up a local Question Game completely with this one: What was "Uncle Tom's" last name?

From Summer

Tours Abroad

A number of university students have returned recently from tours abroad. Among them are several Wisconsin women who traveled under the International Student Hospitality tour, and the Woman's Student Pilgrimage of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Helen C. White, of the English department, and her party of students docked in New York a week ago, returning from their three months tour in England, France, and Italy. In the party were:

Dorothy Bucklin '28, president of W. S. G. A.; Ruth Buhlig '28, Blanche Buhlig '27, Virginia Bump '27, Helen Iglaue '27, Marvin Corbin '27, and Alice Fox '29. The tour which was conducted under the management of an American agency, the Open Road, included a six weeks stay in England, 12 days in Paris and Normandy, and 10 days in Italy.

Elynore Bell '29, Sally Davis '29, and Beth Hirsig '28, returned September 8, from a tour of fourteen European countries. They were abroad three months.

Among the countries which they visited were: France, England, Germany, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Holland, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The tour was international, being arranged under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The Wisconsin women members of the party were elected last spring to represent the university.

GLEE CLUB TRYOUTS SWINNEY ANNOUNCES

Initial tryouts for the Wisconsin varsity glee club will be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings in Music hall, E. Earle Swinney, director of the club announced yesterday.

Members of the glee club will soon begin to practice regularly in preparation for the 1928 concert season. The tryouts Wednesday and Thursday will take place between 7:15 and 9.

In recent years, the Glee club has established a mileage record for traveling which can scarcely be equalled by any other university organization. After finishing its spring concert tour through Wisconsin cities in 1926, the club competed in and won the Midwest Intercollegiate glee club contest at Chicago, it stopped at the White House in Washington and sang for President Coolidge.

Last year, members of the club made only their regular concert tour during the school term, but during the summer vacation, they made a tour of Europe, visiting England, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland.

Why so Famous? wear GORDON'S once and you'll understand

Gordon V-Line—$2.50

Have you seen it? Have you worn it?—the striking Gordon V-line which is revolutionizing hosiery style today. In chiffon and semi-service weights—exclusive Gordon colors.

Gordon Shadow Clocks—$3.00

A hose of exquisite quality chiffon with delicate shadow clocks woven into the silk itself. Made with the new Gordon narrow heel, which gives the foot new slighthess and grace.

Gordon Top Clocks

New—different—arresting—these inverted shadow clocks extending from hem to just below the knee. Made with the famous Gordon V-line heel.

Gordon No. 550—$2.00

The new feature of this popular number is the smart Narrow Heel— inches slenderer than the ordinary heel. Graceful yet thoroughly practical.

Gordon No. 420—

A medium weight silk hose with four-inch lisle hem and lisle foot to insure double life. The weight that smart women are coming to demand more and more for street wear. In all desirable shades.

Gordon No. 625—$2.00

A semi-service chiffon hose of exquisite, sheer quality. Of a weight that will give excellent wear. Hem interlined with very fine lisle. A consecutive stocking of great beauty! All shades. Hosiery Dept., Main Floor

BEAUTIFUL—smooth fitting—softly shaded. But the real reason for the growing popularity of Gordon hosiery is the way they wear! Faithfully—day after day. Better now than ever before because of a new invisible run-stop stitch.

And what fascinating things Gordon does with ankles! Gives them designs like the V-line that flatter Nature's own graceful curves—traces clocks by a subtle shadow!

See the new Gordon fall colors here today!

Rhodes scholars are selected on the basis of scholarship, character, athletic ability, and qualities of leadership. The scholarship provides three full years at Oxford with all expenses paid, the student being left free to select his own course. Men wishing to become candidates for the scholarship this year should register with Dean Scott H. Goodnight, 201 South Hall, as soon as possible.

The casts of all plays will be filled by competitive tryouts which are open to all students in the university who are scholastically eligible. This year but one tryout will be held for every two plays, and the casts for both plays selected at that time.

All students desiring to tryout for either work on the production staff or for parts in the plays are requested to register next Thursday and Friday at the theatre box office on the third floor of Bascom Hall. Registration will be conducted from 8:30 to 4:30 o'clock each day.

JUNIOR ORGANIZES
U. W. NEWS BUREAU

Art Susott, former political writer for the Kokomo Dispatch and other Indiana newspapers, upon resuming his studies as a junior in the School of Journalism, has organized the Badger News service, which will maintain its headquarters at 210 Langdon street.

The service is supplying many news-paper syndicates with material pertaining to the University of Wisconsin and other Big Ten schools, besides furnishing correspondence material to newspapers in the Middle West and the east. Within a few weeks a special service to Wisconsin newspapers featuring economic and political articles will be inaugurated.

While in Indiana, Susott figured prominently as a newspaper man in the investigation of the charges of political corruption made by Thomas Adams, publisher of the Vincennes Sun.

MANHATTAN TO HAVE
SUSPENSION BRIDGE

Amid the soaring of airplanes far overhead, the bursting of fireworks, salutes fired from sea and shore batteries, the waving of multitudes of flags and the blare of a dozen bands, the world's longest suspension bridge was begun at Fort Washington park in upper Manhattan. The ceremonies which preceded the formal beginning of the construction symbolized the connection of New York and New Jersey and as Gov. Smith of New York and Gov. Moore of New Jersey shook hands in the middle of the Hudson, two spades of earth were turned up simultaneously on either bank.

The bridge will stretch for 3500 feet over the Hudson from Fort Washington to Fort Lee and will have a tower on either side 625 feet high.

FREAK FIGHT BETS AMUSE MILWAUKEE

Freak bets made on the Dempsey-Tunney fight amused the people in Milwaukee, Friday morning. About 11 a. m. a wheelbarrow appeared at Sixth st. and Wisconsin ave., and although both the man in the wheelbarrow and the man pushing it looked conspicuous, the occupant of the vehicle wore an expression which plainly showed that he had "chosen the better part."

A hand truck also bore a winner down the streets of the city, and a south side woman paid her debt by pulling her friend down the street in a coaster wagon. Some of the Milwaukeeans bet money on the fight—but some—
