STUDENT TOTAL FOR MEMORIAL NOW $35,511

Workers Hope to Finish
Campus Fund Drive
by April 1

Although only one-sixth of the students have been solicited for the Memorial Union building fund, the drive has yielded more than one-third of the student quota. Yesterday's reports added $4,830 to the $30,681.54 previously reported, bringing the total to $35,511.54, according to Loring Hammond, treasurer of the Union board and financial secretary of the drive.

New contribution figures include: Saddle and Sirloin club, $400; Alpha Sigma Phi, $655; Delta Upsilon, $1,033; Phi Gamma Delta, $1,039; Psi Upsilon, $1,400; Kappa Sigma, $681; Beta Theta Pi, $893; Tau Kappa Epsilon, $294; Y. M. C. A. $1,323.

At a meeting of canvassers yesterday noon "Bud" Taylor, campaign chairman, urged the workers to finish the bulk of their work next week or at least by April 1.

Dean S. H. Goodnight, A. P. Haake and Prof. S. W. Gilman, spoke on the necessity of students giving the campaign the utmost support.

DOZEN FRENCH TOTS DEPEND ON TAG DAY

A dozen little French orphans are dependent for their next year's food and clothing upon the proceeds of tag day to be held at the university tomorrow. The orphans were adopted by the university last year and, unless provision is made for them, their support will be abandoned. Ten cents is to be the minimum contribution for each tag.

Many sororities and fraternities have re-adopted their orphans, but from $400 to $500 still is needed. Helen B. Smith, superintending the work in France, has sent frequent appeals to the student body for continued help.

To keep one French orphan for one year requires only $36.50.

BLIND ENTERTAINER WILL GIVE READING

Edward Abner Thompson, noted dramatic reader and impersonator, will read Louis M. Parker's "Disraeli" tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Engineering auditorium, under auspices of the Forensic board.

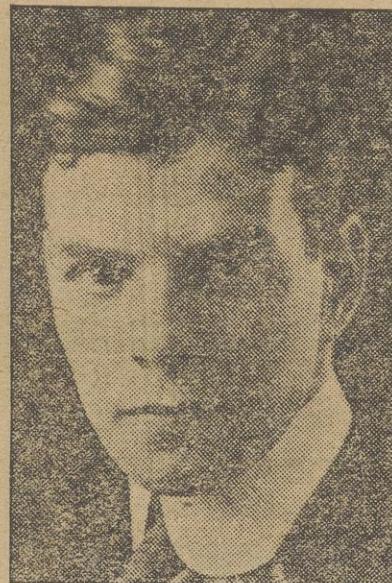

Mr. Thompson, although totally blind, is rapidly coming to the front as an entertainer of distinction.

This entertainment is one of the series sponsored every year by the Forensic board. Admission will be 50 cents.

NORWEGIAN ACTOR WILL GIVE READING

David Knudsen, the Norwegian actor will give a reading in Professor Olson's drama course today at 1:30 p. m., in 112 Main hall. The public is invited.

These Speakers Will Open Arguments Friday
in Debates Against Michigan and Illinois

MELBOURNE BERGERMAN

Melbourne Bergerman, a sophomore in the College of Letters and Science, whose home is in Pueblo, Colo., will make the opening speech in the debate against Michigan at Music hall Friday night. He is the only sophomore on any of Wisconsin's 1920 inter-collegiate debating teams. Last year he was a closer on one of Athenae's freshman "blow-out" teams and a contestant in the first year declamatory contest.

SIDNEY MOODY

The debate against Illinois at Urbana the same night will be opened for Wisconsin by Sidney Moody, a senior in the College of Letters and Science. Throughout his college career Moody has taken an active interest in forensics. In his sophomore year he was closer on an Athenae semi-public debating team. Last year he was chief justice of the student court and a member of the Glee club. He is now a member of Chi Phi and Artus, honorary economics fraternity.

GLADYS BORCHERS WILL BE BADGER N. O. L. SPEAKER

Final Elimination of Speakers
Made in Contest Held
Last Night

Gladys Borchers, representing Fythia, will represent Wisconsin in the Northern Oratorical contest here May 7, as a result of the final tryout held last night. Her subject was "Ideals in Peace and War."

Second place was taken by Sterling Tracy, speaking on "America and Britain in the New World." Herman Sinaiko took third place with "Industrial Preparedness."

Six universities will be represented in the N. O. L.: Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, and Northwestern.

The judges of last night's contest were Miss G. E. Johnson, Prof. J. M. O'Neill, and Prof. A. T. Weaver.

PROMISE NOVELTIES FOR S. G. A. DANCE

Something new in dances is promised by S. G. A. for the co-operative house benefit which will be given Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 in Lathrop parlors.

Novel stunts and refreshments will be featured. "Red" Hawkins, "Dick" Ede, and "Eugene" Juster will play in the seven-piece Thompsons orchestra.

Tickets are on sale at all fraternity and sorority houses, dormitories and rooming houses at 25 cents. The committee has arranged to sell tickets also at the door. The dance is open to all university people.

UNION VODVIL SELECTS STARS FOR TEN ACTS

Mail Order Sale Opens Today With Box Office Sale Beginning Thursday

The process of eliminating has finally resulted in the selection of ten feature acts for the 1920 production of Union Vodvil, scheduled at the Fuller Opera House April 2 and 3. The committee in charge of selection today will determine the eligibility of would-be Jolsons, Mitzis, and Marlowes who succeeded in making places. Tomorrow's Cardinal will carry the official program.

The mail order sale is now on at the Fuller. Open sale will start Thursday at 10 a. m. Indications in the advance sale point to a capacity house with the usual warning issued to those desiring to attend in a body to place their orders for seats as early as possible.

All net proceeds of Union Vodvil will go toward swelling the fund for the new Union building. There will be a matinee Saturday afternoon, April 3, in addition to the two evening performances.

FRESHMAN CONTEST POSTPONED A WEEK

The freshman declamatory contest open tryout, originally scheduled for tonight, has been postponed one week because the public speaking department is concentrating on the inter-collegiate debates listed for Friday night. This also necessitates postponement of the final contest to one week from Thursday.

BASKET FIVES OF 10 STATES IN MEET HERE

Prep Title of Middlewest
Hangs on Result of Tournament

At least 16 high school basketball teams from 10 middle western states will compete in the interstate tournament to be held in the gymnasium Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Entries received and accepted by the athletic department include Red-wing, Minn.; Superior, Wis.; Monroe, Wis.; Fargo, N. D.; Valley City, N. D.; Madison, S. D.; Elkton, S. D.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Jackson, Mich.; Northwestern high school, Detroit, Mich.; Woodward Tech., Toledo, Ohio; Canton, Ill.; Centralia, Ill.; Crawfordsville, Ind.; Winfield, Kan.; and one other team from Kansas not yet entered.

Play 22 Games

Because there will be 22 games in the tournament it will be necessary to commence play Thursday afternoon and to play three games each afternoon and evening. Three game also will be scheduled for Saturday morning. The afternoon contests will be played from 2 to 5 p. m., and the evening games from 7 to 10 p. m.

The tournament will be conducted in the same manner as the state tournament last week, with the championship of the middle-west, instead of the state of Wisconsin at stake.

Award Trophies

Gold basketball fobs will be awarded the players and coach of the team finishing first in the tournament and silver fobs will be presented the second and third winners. In addition a team trophy will be awarded the first place team while individual trophies will go to the best individual guard, forward, and center, respectively.

One thousand season tickets, price $2.00, admitting the purchaser to 22 games will be put on sale at the gymnasium office Wednesday afternoon.

"W" CLUB BANQUET TO HONOR ATHLETES

The "W" club is making plans for their banquet at the City Y. M. C. A. Saturday at 9:30 p. m., immediately after the final game of the interstate basketball tournament.

All visiting high school basketball men will be guests of the club. Cups for the winners and fobs for individual players will be presented and speeches from the coaches will follow. In addition "W" sweaters to the members of the 1919 football and cross country team will be given out.

All members of the club, which is composed of the "W" wearers in the university, are requested to arrange to be present, since the banquet is planned as a boost for Wisconsin athletics.

JUST relieved ourselves of several shekels to help out the Memorial Union building. Gotta give up several nut sundaes to make both ends meet, but it kinda put us in a sweet humor; hence we let the following poem slip by.

FICKLE SPRING.
Spring, thou trifling, transient,
oscillating phantom
Worst of base deceivers thou.
I have waited for you e'en these many moons,
And thou has come and thou
hast slipped away,
And before it permeated to my inner consciousness
That thou wast here at all.

Trusting in thee I gave my only high shoes to the janitor,
And but last week-end
Waded I through the slop in a pair of Alfred J. Rudy's
Forty-nine dollar perforated low-cuts,
And caught in my sensitive
cranium a cold,
Withal several and aggravating
Only because of thy fickle perverseness.

Go thy merry way, Oh faithless season,
Never shall thou foolish me
again.
Because in 1921
My clumsy old galoshes I will verily retain until
The merry month of May has come
And even gone.
I trust thee not.

PROFESSOR HALL SPEAKS ON BEST LIFE PHILOSOPHY

"We all have a philosophy of life; the most popular is what we might call a 'drift' philosophy, where we decide every question on the spur of the moment," said Prof. A. B. Hall, speaking at Y. W. C. A. vespers Sunday afternoon in Lathrop parlors.

"The next most popular philosophy is that of self-aggrandizement, which requires character and will-power, and aims at materialistic success, but brings little solace and satisfaction in the end. The third is the Christian philosophy of service, which brings exultation."

University students by embodying clean-cut qualities of thinking and living may develop a spirit of intellectual honesty, declared Professor Hall, a maximum of intellectual power, strength of character, and a broad Christian outlook, "wider than yourself, your university, your nation, but in touch with humanity, with 'sympathy' as the keynote." Special solos were rendered by Elmer Hintz and Miss Winifred Collier.

JOINT CONCERT IS WELL GIVEN

Band and Glee Club Combine Talents in Finished Program

By Walter K. Schwinn

Two of the premier musical organizations of the campus, or at least those two doing the most consistent work, joined Sunday afternoon in a concert that must be numbered the most successful of the year, the band playing its fourth program ably assisted by the glee club.

During the last year, under the direction of E. Earle Swinney, the club has grown both vocally and artistically. Sunday, in its three numbers it disclosed a splendid unity of tone. The attacks were even, and the interpretation good. The three numbers gave an opportunity for the soprano and baritone soloists of the club to appear, Earle Brown and Elwood Forman, both disclosing a rich tone and good musical sense. Forman's voice is of excellent range, and his singing of "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," was perhaps the most successful performance of the afternoon.

The band Sunday surpassed all previous concert performances of the present season. There was greater unity, better tone, and finer sense of interpretation than has yet been shown. The "Rip Van Winkle" suite was very well done, while in "Adele" there was lightness and delicacy. The "Parade of the Dolls" and "Forget Me Not" were popular with the large audience, which filled the greater part of the armory.

The next concert will feature a request program, with numbers chosen from the entire series by the audience. Elmer Hintz will be the soloist.

Wild Skybos, Mad He-Lovers, Sweet Mi Lolas All Unpopular With Caveman Poetry Critic

The naughty, naughty Octopus! It ought to blush clear down to the ends of all its tentacles for making people think that this is a university of "wild skybos, mad he-lovers and sweet Mi Lolas." At least so thinks a critic of the Boreno school of caveman poetry, who sends in a communication headed "Can Such Things Be," and contends that they can't, as follows:

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

In an editorial in the current issue of The Wisconsin Octopus I notice the statement, "The most notable outburst of student thought (during last semester) was expended upon the matrimonial desirability of the co-ed—and galoshes." Granting that "the matrimonial desirability of the co-ed" is a topic which apparently interested a good many of our students, I should like to inquire if such desirability is measured by the standards which are implied on pages 20 and 28 of this issue. It is true that the squib on page 28 is an exchange, but a publication is judged by what it prints, and surely the editors are supposed to exercise their prerogative of selection in the matter of exchanges. Page 20 bears the mystifying title, "Fig Leaf Limericks"—mystifying because there is but one limerick on the page. If form has gone to pot on this page, what shall be said of the thought?

In "The New Thought Chorus—Male," the male advertises himself thus:

"I'm a wild skybo from Borneo,
I'm a mad he-lover,
I can hug 'em tight,
I can treat 'em right,
I can kiss, I can bite."

Quite a collection of charms to recommend him to the ladies! Girls, if you're looking for the "missing link," here he is. In the companion poem, the Female is as exotic, and shows less sense. Here are some of the qualities she advertises:

"I'm a sweet Mi Lola from Borneola,
I'm lots worse for a man than a
Coco Cola,

O, I breathe in crimson passion—
"And I sure can mola to that tuneful Rocka Rola,"

"I can kiss you to a trance;
O Gee! Come to me! Let's fly free
To Tropic dew."

Isn't she attractive! If we have any "wild skybos" and "mad he-lovers" and "sweet Mi Lolas" at Wisconsin, let us hope they will migrate back to Borneo whence they came, where the skybo can hug and kiss and bite upon the form and countenance of his sweet Mi Lola, and she can "breathe in crimson passion" over her wild skybo and "kiss him to a trance" as they "Mola" at "Barneola by the sea."

On page 28 we are told
"He started to count her vertebrae,
But lost count
At the seventeenth
And started over."

Even this sort of mathematical calculation seems to tax the powers of individuals of this class. Perhaps this is their way—a sort of rule-of-thumb-method-of-determining "the matrimonial desirability of the co-ed."

"But," some one says, "don't you know this is a humorous magazine?" and I reply, "Then let us have humor in it and not slush." Humor need not be indecent. Humor is no more inherently indecent than classical literature, music, or science. All of these can be made indecent, but who is made the happier or the better for it? Let us be as funny as we please, but let us remember that when we are funny in public we have a certain responsibility; we are setting the standards for those about us and those about to follow us. A number of our universities receive copies of The Octopus. Do we wish to be known to the students in those institutions as a university of wild skybos, mad he-lovers, and sweet Mi Lolas? Still more copies get into the hands of high school students in this state. They feel that if they are to become successful contributors to our humorous magazine when they come to Wisconsin they must cultivate a similar style. If they cultivate such a style, they must do it in secret, however, for I have yet to see a high school paper or magazine which opens its pages to wild he-lovers. Why should we fall below the standards of decency preserved by our high schools? Let us be funny, if we can, but let us at least be clean.

GYMNASTS WIN AT LA CROSSE

Varsity Athletes Also Figure in Wrestling and Fencing Bouts

Exhibiting the best form shown this year, the varsity gym team ran away with La Crosse normal school in a dual meet at La Crosse Saturday night. The score by total points was 27.75 to 19.75 in favor of the varsity. The Wisconsin team succeeded in getting all the first and most of the second places.

Men representing the varsity in the La Crosse meet were Coach Schlatter, Capt. Tasche, Mgr. Holcombe, Kates, Kletzien, Heseman, Curtin, Golley, Harris and Oshea.

Between events Klass, representing Wisconsin, and Deckert, lightweight of La Crosse, staged a wrestling match in which superior knowledge of the game and a good deal of scrap netted the Wisconsin lightweight two out of three falls. Moreheart, 167 lb. lightheady from Wisconsin, was scheduled through an error to meet Howe of La Crosse, who weighed in at 184½. Conceding the 17½ pounds in an exhibition bout Moreheart held his own and trimmed the La Crosse champion by one decision and a draw out of three.

A feature of the meet was the fencing bout put on by Finn Aanesen, Wisconsin, and Pederman, La Crosse. Aanesen, displaying a rare knowledge of the sport learned in the old country, gave the crowd a series of thrills as he showed Pederman some of the fine points of the game. He succeeded in getting eight touches to three of his opponent.

The next meet will be April 2 when the team meets Chicago here. April 9 the team will go to Urbana for the conference. Meets with the local Y and Turnverein will be held in the near future and outdoor practice will follow the conference meet.

PUTTING TEETH INTO HAZING LEGISLATION

THE senate anti-hazing resolution aims to forestall recurrence of intolerably anarchic campus conditions in connection with class scraps, which stirred wide protest throughout the state last fall.

Student opinion should back the efforts of the senate to eliminate hazing. But hazing is due to combustions of contagious mob spirit which rational student sentiment alone is inadequate to extinguish at the moment of the outbreak, and powerless to punish afterwards, as was shown by the failure of most of the cases against alleged hazers last fall.

The difficulty in the past has not been due to absence of sane student opinion or of legislation of a sort on the subject, but rather to the breakdown of the machinery provided to carry out the student will as expressed in legislation.

In light of this analysis it is a question whether the new senate resolution is not too vague and elastic to prove thoroughly salutary.

First, it fails to define the demarcation point where enforcement of traditions ends and where hazing begins.

Second, it fails to set up any adequate system of police machinery for the apprehension of traditions violators and hazers.

Third, it fails to make definite what penalties will be meted out by the senate to traditions violators, while, on the other hand, it decentralizes responsibility for hazing by spreading it out among class officers and committees, and does not set forth any sanction or penalty by which such officers and committees may be brought to time in the event of their proving irresponsible.

If the senate really has an adequate program for preventing hazing it should lay all its cards on the table. An unambiguous definition of hazing, a method for apprehending hazers and traditions violators, and a definite code of penalties for those convicted should be incorporated in the new legislation if it is to be effective as a deterrent instrument or enforceable as a punitive one.

MAKING MILESTONES

THE drive for the student share of the Memorial Union building has been under way for one week. The result of seven days of concentrated effort gives every assurance that the student allotment of $100,000 will be exceeded.

The question now assumes the aspect not so much of getting the necessary amount as determining in how short a time the trick can be turned. Completing the campaign to discharge our financial obligation can result only in an added impetus being given the alumni drive throughout the country.

With a comparatively small group of canvassers doing the soliciting it is obviously impossible to interview every student in any reasonable length of time. Wisconsin men and women who are alive to the needs of their growing Alma Mater ought to come in strong on the final lap of the solicitation, registering their pledges at booths provided for the purpose on the hill if they have not yet been approached by solicitors.

COMMUNICATIONS

FROM THE SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

Apropos of your editorial of several days ago—declaring that there was a great need for a liberal organization at the university, to stimulate and promote an intelligent and non-partisan discussion of economic, political, and social problems—permit us to state that there is such an organization in existence at the university, which has been doing just this thing for the past five years.

The Social Science club, though affiliated with the Inter-collegiate Socialist society, is not and has not been a socialist club, in the sense that its object was "to make socialists." And to clear up the erroneous idea, that the club is a propaganda body, we quote articles 2 and 3 from our constitution, which clearly sets forth our purpose:

Article 2—The object of the club shall be to promote an intelligent understanding of socialism and kindred subjects among college men and women.

Article 3—The Wisconsin Social Science club shall be non-political and non-partisan in character, shall endorse no political, social, or religious movement, nor shall it ask its members to subscribe to any plan, doctrine, or movement.

The time is past when this worldwide movement can any longer be ignored. It is here, and is with us, and we, as intelligent citizens, should have at least a slight acquaintance with it. Russia and Germany have a socialist form of government; Sweden has a socialist administration; the socialists in Italy comprise the major political and economic organization; and practically every other civilized country has some form of a socialist movement. But this fact does not limit the scope of our club, for we discuss the pros and cons of subjects of social, political, and economic significance. But we ask no member to endorse any doctrine or conclusion that any group may reach.

The speakers that we have had during the past few years indubitably bear out this point; as out of the last 20 we have had address us not more than five were avowed socialists; and three of these were invited to speak before university classes.

The Social Science club is primarily an educational group. It is affiliated with the Inter-collegiate Socialist society, which has chapters in most of the colleges and universities in the country. And the Wisconsin club, with a membership of 100, consisting of students and faculty members, is the largest society in the national organization.

Since less than one-quarter of our total membership is socialistically inclined, it is absurd to charge that we are a socialist propaganda club. Our meetings are always public, and we invite any student or member of the faculty to attend any or all of our meetings.

(Signed)

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

ON SPORTSMANSHIP

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

I am thoroughly in accord with the sentiment expressed in Sunday's Cardinal, in that some of the enthusiasm and loyalty manifested in the recent basketball tournament might later be profitably transferred to the university itself.

But I sincerely hope that some of the "small town" tactics as practiced by the rooters at Saturday night's game will not be evident. I was a neutral spectator at the games Saturday, and the actions of some of the crowd were to my mind very unsportsmanlike. The plaudits given the rooters when a Superior man was injured and the censure of one of the rooters by the referee for remarks concerning the Superior player are not to my mind fair examples of the true Wisconsin spirit.

If we cannot be good sports, winning or losing, let's quit the game.

DR. RIVERS EXPLAINS CAUSES OF DREAMS

The cause of dreams, slips of the tongue, hysteria, and nervous disorders were the topics discussed in an address before a large audience at 165 Main hall yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. H. R. Rivers of Cambridge, England.

The human mind has several periods of development, according to the speaker, and many dreams, especially irrational ones, have the character of a person's thoughts in infancy.

Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in 165 Main hall, Dr. Rivers will speak on "Ethnology: Its Aims and Needs."

BANDMEN ADVERTISE REUNION FOR JUNE

The Band Echo, a four-page pamphlet, published periodically by members of the famous band which made a tour west to the Panama Pacific Exposition in 1915, has made its second appearance. It is being distributed among as many of the former members of the band as can be reached, for the purpose of arousing their interest in the 1920 Reunion to be held from June 20 to 23 where it is hoped that a permanent organization of all those who have ever played in the university band, may be effected.

Members of the executive committee publishing the Band Echo include Jesse Saugstad, formerly director and now with the Oriental Navigation company of New York city, editor; Charles A. Mann, director on the trip west, now associate professor of Industrial Chemistry at Minnesota university, invitations; Leo Schoepf, manager in 1912, publicity; Herbert Whipple, quarter-master on the western tour, now in the Wisconsin Department of State, secretary; Charles H. Sanderson, '15, now in business in this city, treasurer; and Donald M. Bennett, '21, present manager of the band.

Tommy Atkins Gives Recipe for Success of Soldier Ball

"Well," says Tommy Atkins, "there are two things you men have got to do if you want Miss Ranch and me to enjoy that military shindig of yours. In the first place, all 'NO SMOKING' signs must come down, and the punch bowl must be kept full. In the second place, if you want us to be satisfied, you've got to give us a good dance floor."

As to the punch bowl, enough has been said to prove that it will be one of the popular gathering places of the evening. The smoking end of it never did bother "Tommy," so why worry. As for the dance floor.

Ah!

The chemistry department has spent months of ceaseless research, carefully testing all known compounds for dance floors, and has had to reject them. Original research was then undertaken, and last night the entire department was electrified with the announcement that the most wonderful dancing compound of the age had been found. Some of the material was placed upon fly paper and a fly was put upon it to test it out. What was the surprise of the department to find that the fly was unable to stand upon it, so slippery had it become!

It is expected that, as a result, the men will have to wear trench shoes, with hobnails, the night of the ball.

The ticket sale has been extended and tickets may be obtained from Borden at the Y. M. C. A., Nolte at the Acacia house, Lieut. Atkins, at the armory, Bowers at the Lambda Chi Alpha house, from committee chairmen and from company officers. Reservations for the dinner may be made with W. A. Field at the Beta house. In addition, some tickets have been placed on sale at the University and Menges pharmacies.

Y. M. C. A. STARTS TO AMERICANIZE FOREIGNERS HERE

Robert B. Lindsay of Milwaukee Directs Program With Classes Formed in Shop

A movement to Americanize foreigners in Madison has been started by the University Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Robert B. Lindsay, Milwaukee.

Classes in American history and English were opened at the Gisholt factory this week. University students who volunteer to instruct the foreigners are acting as teachers.

Various efforts at Americanization have been started in Madison from time to time but the work has never been organized. Last fall the Y. M. C. A. appointed Mr. Lindsay, who has had experience among the mill workers at Massachusetts while a student at Williams college, to take charge of the work, and under his supervision a committee was appointed to analyze the situation in Madison.

A chart was made which included the names of all foreigners living in Madison, their religious connections, and their occupation. The committee decided that to get at the problem from the factory and as a result the classes were organized.

Letters indorsing the work have been received from the United States department of labor.

DEFINES ATTRIBUTES FOR GOOD TEACHERS

"Leadership, loyalty and scholarship are the chief qualifications for good teachers," said President J. Stanley Brown, of the De Kalb Normal school, in his talk on "Qualifications of a Successful Teacher," before the Badger club Sunday night.

"Leadership belongs more to public education than to any other path of life," he asserted.

"Education is a function of the state. Every teacher should be made to take an oath of allegiance to the state and the United States, for by him the child is guided through the most impressionable years of his life, and the principles inculcated in the children of this generation will be the principles of the generation to come."

Military Ball

The military ball this year bids fair to hold a high place in the social annals of the university. Coming April 9, it will precede Prom and many university women are planning to wear gowns to it which they had planned to wear for the first time at pre-Prom formals.

Gov. E. L. Philipp and his staff have been invited to the dance, as have all officers and deans of the university. The committee in charge is putting forth every effort to make the party the scene of dignified splendor which it has always been in previous years.

OTTO SAYS SOVIET MEANS U. S. PROBLEM

"After having attended an armistice day meeting in Faneuil hall, Boston, at which a great assembly of Russian Jews cheered the echo every mention of soviet government, I was convinced that we must redefine our national ideals or change the psychology of these people if we are to avoid having a serious problem on our hands," said Prof. M. C. Otto in addressing the Social Science club Sunday on some of his experiences last semester in the east.

To fill vacancies among officers C. G. Wells was elected vice president of the club; Margaret E. Emmerling, secretary; and Philip Voltz, treasurer.

The club will sponsor an address by J. J. Blaine, state attorney general, on the right of governmental change, at the Biology auditorium at 8 p. m. tomorrow night.

HEREFORD MEN TO MEET HERE

Breeders of State to Confer
On April 27 at Ag
College

A meeting of the Hereford breeders of the state will be held at the College of Agriculture April 2 at the call of Secy. Chris J. Schroeder, of the Hereford Breeders' Association. This meeting is held for the purpose of discussing a wider and more active interest in Hereford cattle in Wisconsin.

First of all will be the proposition of putting on a membership drive to get every owner of the White-faces in the state to become a member of the state association and to get full support for carrying on the work of promoting the breeding of more Hereford cattle. It is proposed by the secretary of the association to do this on a county basis through local breeders wherever possible.

The second subject to come up is concerning ways of getting the public better acquainted with the Hereford breeders, and especially better informed on the merits of the Hereford breed.

First through publicity. This should include not only some paid advertising by the association in the state farm press but also publicity through a specially prepared booklet.

Moreover, it should include news items of breed interest telling what is doing in the state in Hereford lines; such as important sales made by individual Hereford breeders.

However, breeders should be sure that what they send the editor is really news; not a self sought boost, or free advertising that should be paid for. When breeders want advertising they should consult the advertising, not the editorial department of any journal that is conducted on sound business judgment and principles."

The second way is to encourage more breeders in the state to show their herds at the county fairs and the State fair each year.

The third way is to get Hereford calves to feed and fit in the boys and girls calf clubs.

There will be plenty to do for the Hereford breeders at this special session at Madison on April 2nd.

There will be called a special meeting of the Live Stock Breeders Association of Wisconsin to take place on the same day; which none of the Hereford men can afford to miss.

The experimental beef cattle and swine feeding demonstration program to be held on the following day, April 3rd, at the University Farm and Experiment station is an event not a Hereford man can afford to miss.

CHURCH IN SURVEY SHOWS TEACHERS TO BE FAR UNDERPAID

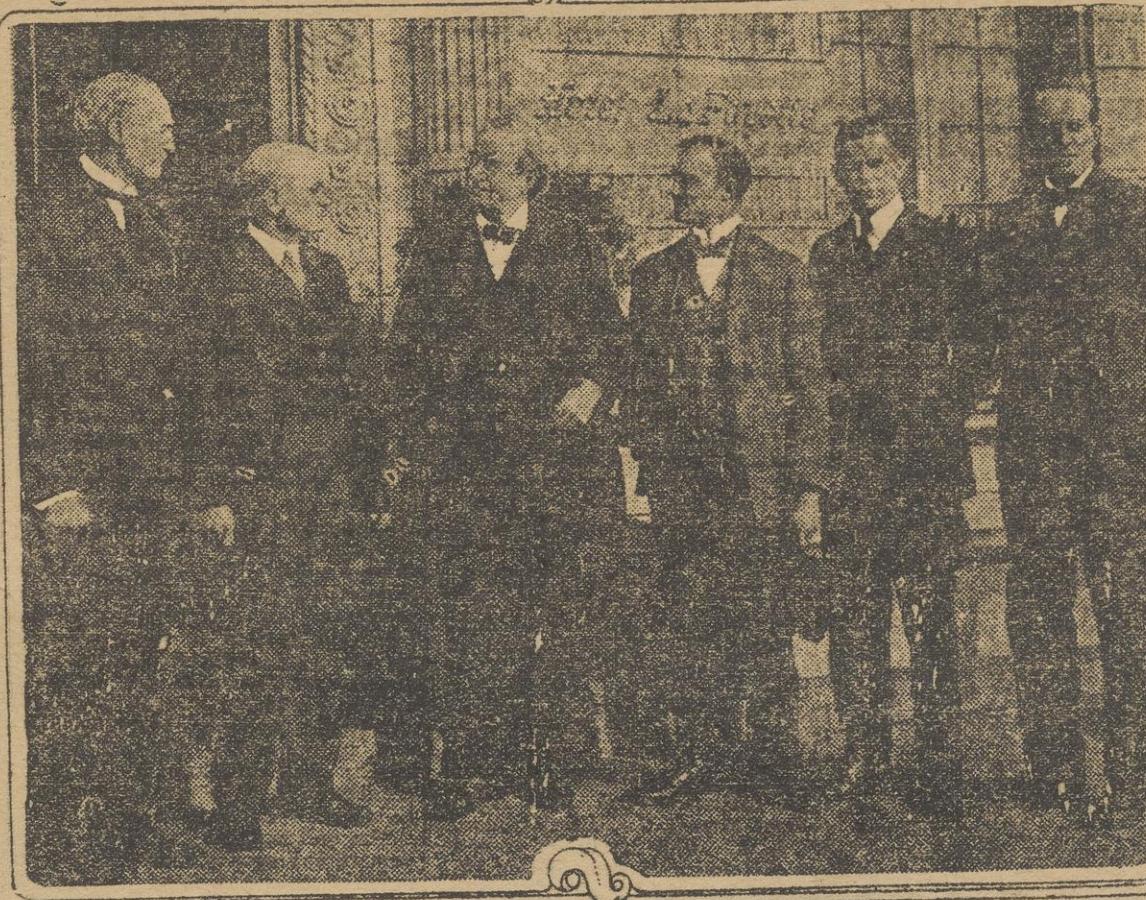

CHICAGO—The case of the poor college professor has been taken up by the Interchurch World movement of North America which has discovered in a preliminary survey of education in the United States that the faculties of church colleges are almost universally underpaid.

Not so many years ago, the members of the faculty of Western Reserve university were asked to accept loads of hay or farm produce to make up for arrears of salary. It is said that on one occasion a quantity of pills that had come into the possession of the college was judiciously distributed in payments on salary balances long overdue.

Some advance has been made since those days, but there are still colleges in which professors would be glad to have their meager salaries some of them amounting to only a few hundred dollars, eked out by a payment in fresh vegetables.

While the cost of living has increased 82 per cent and the average wages paid to workers in eight leading industries has increased 95 per cent, the salaries of professors in Presbyterian colleges have been increased by only 35 per cent. This group of colleges presents a condition that is typical of denominational colleges in general.

sition up to Mr. Bryan in Washington. The Commoner heartily endorsed both the questionnaire and the board's decision to submit it.

FARMER HAS HIS TROUBLES —RUSSELL

Dean of College of Agriculture Tells of Unsettled Conditions

Business men were urged to cooperate with the farmers in providing the means to increase production in an address by Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture before the Kiwanis club, Monday noon. "I doubt whether the farmer will attempt maximum production under the present prohibitive costs," said Dean Russell. "This is a time for elimination of human labor as much as possible, a time for motorization of the farm. Pedigreed seeds, better livestock, and improved methods of doing farm work are needed. The farmer already has the gamble of weather, and farm labor is up to $80 to $100 a month with board. With the time of deflation imminent, he has the added gamble of a cut in the market."

"The farmer cannot establish an eight hour day, pay time and a half for overtime and holiday work, and then add the cost to the finished product as the manufacturer does."

Dean Russell gave a resume of the world economic condition at present. He pointed out that until the food vacuum is taken up, there will be no prospect of a reduction of the cost of living, although a cut in condensed milk export already has made itself known to the farmer in the drop in milk prices during the last 30 days. He indicated the intimate relation between world conditions and the production on the farm.

COLORADO DUST IS DISCOVERED IN BADGER SNOW

University Weather Bureau Reports Layer of Western Soil Deposited by Whirlwind

Colorado dust has been discovered in Madison snow by Eric R. Miller of the United States weather bureau at the university.

The layer of dust was about a quarter of an inch thick and was embedded in pure white snow. A similar phenomenon was reported here two years ago by Mr. Miller and Prof. A. N. Winchell of the mineralogy department.

"Friday southern Wisconsin and Colorado were at opposite ends of a great whirlwind," Mr. Miller said in explaining the discovery.

"The dust which was carried up in the air in Colorado was carried along by the storm to all parts of the country about a mile or so above the level of the earth. This wind storm passed us yesterday and when the rain came it brought the dust to the earth."

A similar situation occurred two years ago. At that time the dust was analyzed and found to contain the combination of minerals peculiar to Colorado.

The dust discovered yesterday has not dried sufficiently as yet so that it can be properly analyzed, but according to Mr. Miller and Professor Winchell it is exactly like that which was found before and there is no doubt in their minds but that it came from Colorado.

Mr. Miller has telegraphed Washington of the discovery and weather bureaus all over the United States have been notified to search for the dust and analyze it. It is not known just how far it was carried but the storm swept over a large portion of the country.

"In the Sahara desert the situation has been frequently experienced and dust from the Sahara has been discovered on shifts in the Atlantic ocean half way between Africa and South America," said Mr. Miller.

Chance for Practical Experience

To afford practical experience for students who intend to follow advertising as a profession, a Wisconsin advertising agency has been formed which will work in conjunction with The Daily Cardinal and The Wisconsin Octopus.

This agency will have the usual departments of the typical advertising agency. There will be a copy department under the directions of a copy chief. The merchandising department will investigate trade conditions of various products. This information is often desired by foreign advertisers, and in getting this information the students in the agency will gain practical experience, as their reports will be sent to the large national advertisers. The members of the copy department will be principally associated with the local merchants.

The solicitors will also be members of the agency and will not be required to write copy. The copy men or women will not be expected to solicit as the departments will be separate.

Students who are capable and interested in joining the "Wisconsin Advertising agency" should see John McPherrin, business manager of The Octopus, at noon any day this week in The Octopus office in the Union building.
