BIG FORENSIC ACTIVITIES FOR COMING SEASON

Outline Plans for Intercollegiate and All-American Debates at Dinner

The greatest year of forensic activity at Wisconsin will be officially opened at an informal dinner at the city Y. M. C. A. for all undergraduates interested in trying out for the teams. The banquet will be given under the joint auspices of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity, and the forensic board.

Although a definite date has not yet been set for the dinner it will take place the first week in November, shortly before preliminary tryouts for the inter-collegiate teams. Plans for the season will be outlined by Prof. J. M. O'Neill, of the public speaking department, and a number of former forensic stars will attend.

In search of a means to foster the interest manifested in the debates and the Northern Oratorical league contest last year, the forensic board is now carrying on correspondence which may result in five or more inter-collegiate debates being listed, the largest number ever conducted in one year. Tentative plans are now being formed for debates with Columbia and Southern California. Both schools have requested debates and the chief difficulty seems to be a question of funds with which to send the teams.

Trips a Reward

These long distance trips usually come as a reward for work in the regular inter-collegiate triangle between Wisconsin, Michigan, and Illinois. The board is anxious to have these contests materialize as a means of ultimately bringing about an All-American debate between the composite teams of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Illinois in the midwest and California, Southern California, and Leland Stanford in the far west.

Such composite teams would be made up of the two best debaters in each school who would get together about three days before the big debate to organize their respective cases. Under such an arrangement it is assumed that the persons selected would have previously de-

URGE MORE TO JOIN ROOTERS' CLUB FOR HOMECOMING GAME

With only 500 men signed up for the Rooters' club for the Homecoming game on November 13, every effort is being made by Lothrop Follett to fill the quota of 1,844 seats.

All men will be able to sign up for the cheering section between 1:30 and 4:30 p. m. today and tomorrow at the Homecoming office in the Union building. Only those applying for tickets through the Rooters' club will receive tickets in the cheering section, and today and tomorrow will afford the last opportunity to sign up.

NEARLY QUARTER OF DRIVE QUOTA FOR 'Y' TURNED IN

With nearly a quarter of the allotted quota in the "Y" drive subscribed in the first day of the campaign, the prospects of a speedy and successful drive are good. A total of $984 was reached last night, with returns just beginning to come in.

The Y. M. C. A. dormitory, in house meeting yesterday, pledged a total of $282.50. It is estimated that if every man who is being counted on pledges $4, the $4,000 quota will be easily reached.

The "Y" office will be open all day and all night and any pledges can be paid directly at the office. The committee is still in need of canvassers, and anyone who cares to help is asked to communicate with "Dad" Wolf today.

Y. W. Campaign On

The Y. W. C. A. drive started with a bang at noon yesterday. Early in the afternoon $305 had been collected from 69 girls. The members of the cabinet, cabinet council, and sophomore commission contributed this amount.

Approximately 100 girls are working in the 10 districts into which the university section of town has been divided. They are making a personal canvass of every girl in the university.

Wednesday at 12:45 there will be a meeting of all captains and workers in the drive in the S. G. A. room. Notice of the progress of the drive will be given, and problems which have arisen in connection with it will be discussed.

LEGION POST TO HOLD SMOKER AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

The American Legion post 246 will hold a smoker at the university "Y" tonight. Captain J. S. Wood will be the principal speaker. There will be music and refreshments.

The university post includes only a small number of the ex-service men in the university, and the members of the legion are interested in arousing the enthusiasm of all of the men who are eligible to membership. The legion is a very good opportunity for comradeship and concerted action as well as for discussion of mutually interesting problems.

The dues, amounting to $2.00 for the school year, entitle each paid-up member to a full year's subscription to the Legion weekly. Members of other local posts are admitted as associate members with full privileges of local membership upon the payment of local dues.

Most of the charter-members and present officers of the university post have joined the legion through some other post and thus have the status of associate member, which is a distinction made only because of a technicality in the national regulations.

One of the services which the legion offers its members is aid in securing the victory medal with appropriate clasps for those entitled to them. Applications will be filled out in 151 Bascom hall, upon the presentation of discharges. At present only army men can be accommodated, as the navy blanks have not as yet come.

The new legion button is now available and may be purchased at the smoker tonight or in 151 Bascom hall after today.

STUDENT VOTERS TO REGISTER FOR NOV. 2 ELECTION

All university students who have not as yet registered for the national election to be held November 2 are advised to register today, for according to the state election law all voters must register one week preceding the date of the election.

University students will be permitted to vote in Madison providing they have lived in the state for one year and in the precinct ten days. Students wishing to vote in their own cities by mail must write to the city or town clerk for the official application blank with which they may apply for the official ballot.

Various political organizations are planning to help the co-eds in their voting by bringing women, experienced in the problems of voting, to Madison to instruct them.

CLOTHES

University Women Dress in more Taste Than Average Woman, Says Dean Nardin

"The majority of women in the university dress in a fairly suitable manner to appear on the hill," said F. Louise Nardin, dean of women, in commenting on the dress of university women. "The pleated skirts I consider delightful. They are good in length, width, and line.

"I think most college and university women dress in much better taste than the average women in the cities. College women as a whole are not such slaves to fashion. They choose more sensible clothes for every day use.

"There are, however, a few girls on the campus who wish to make themselves conspicuous by their dress. The merchants dealing in women's apparel can easily persuade such girls to buy clothes which are extreme in style and not at all pretty or suitable for school wear.

"These clothes soon go out of style and must be discarded. Probably the Union Memorial building could be easily paid for, with no one feeling it financially, with the money thus wasted in the purchase of extreme clothes.

"Shoes worn by the university women are very sensible and in good taste, with few high heels.

"Hairdressing in vogue today denies the beauty in the natural contour and lines of the head. There should be a more moderate arrangement of hair over the ears. Great protuberances on the side of the head are unlike Nature's plan, and make the silhouette out of proportion."

Beauty, good taste, and sound economics should be the guides in choosing clothes rather than fashion, according to Dean Nardin.

TWELFTH NIGHT TO HOLD TRYOUTS SOON

Tryouts for the admittance of upperclassmen into Twelfth Night will be held on November 3 and 4. All those interested are urged to sign up on Monday of next week at Lathrop hall. Each person trying out is to select from some play a part which has at least two characters. These readings are to be from three to five minutes in length.

BADGERS STILL HAVE CHANCE AT 'TEN' TITLE

Two Weeks' Rest to Put Crippled Squad in Shape For Final Games

While the outcome of last Saturday's game with Wilce's Ohio State eleven has nearly shattered Wisconsin's hope of a conference championship, there still remains a fighting chance for the Badgers, if the breaks of the game turn in favor of Coach Richards.

After a two weeks' rest, during which the injuries received in the Buckeye encounter should be mended, the Badgers will enter the home-stretch of their schedule. Minnesota and the Maroons will oppose Wisconsin on three successive weekends.

Badgers Have Chance

A clean slate in these final games will place the Badgers among the leaders of the conference, and will put them on even terms if the breaks are with Wisconsin. Michigan was virtually eliminated from the title

Hundreds of loyal Wisconsin rooters flocked to the train Sunday to greet the returning team with an enthusiasm that proved to the football men that the students are backing the team.

More than 1,000 football fans, on foot and in cars, left the lower campus at 12:10, and followed a drum corps to the station. The team was escorted back to the lower campus where "Bill" Pickard led the cheers for each player.

The defeat at the hands of Ohio did not quench the enthusiasm of the team's loyal supporters, and the outburst that greeted Captain "Red" Weston, when he rose to speak, supplemented that. Cheers greeted "Red's" assurance that next time the Badgers would stand for no defeat.

race when they lost to the Illini at Ann Arbor, because Dunn failed to kick the goal which would have tied the game. The Wolverines are out of the race because they have less conference games on their schedule than Illinois, Ohio State or Wisconsin.

Chicago, Illinois and Ohio State are still in the 1000 per cent class, and stand out as favorites to land at the top of the Big Ten fight. Iowa, having met with two defeats, is out of the race, as are both Minnesota and Northwestern. Indiana could not be considered as a championship contender. Purdue is also out of the running.

Illinois, with a more difficult schedule than Ohio, will have the edge on the Badgers, if both teams finish the season with clean slates. The Badgers' hope is centered almost entirely about the Illinois-Ohio game.

If Zuppke's team is unable to stop the Buckeyes in their final game of the season at Champaign, and if Wisconsin can defeat them, the Illini will be out of the race. On the other hand Michigan, who exhibited such great strength against Illinois

Save Your Chuckles and Giggles for Tomorrow When the Octopus Appears

Don't laugh today, anybody! Save your chuckles and giggles till tomorrow when the Octopus will "Come-Back" to demand your whole stock of appreciative risibility.

When you start the weary round of exams tomorrow morning the funniest magazine that ever struck the campus will be on sale everywhere to take your mind off your troubles for a period or two.

Students are asked to go to classes as usual, however. No doubt the professors would be glad of the free time so that they could read their own Octopus, but they cannot always be humored.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM IS PICKED FOR CHI MEET

The cross-country team to represent Wisconsin in the meet against Chicago to be held here next Saturday will be made up of Captain W. E. Brothers, W. L. Dayton, M. H. Wall, G. C. Wade, H. C. Dennis, and C. W. Wille, with R. A. Noble in reserve. These men were the first seven to finish in the time trials held yesterday morning.

Dayton and Wall tied for first place, their time being 28 minutes and 48 seconds. Brothers and Wade, also running neck and neck, finished about 10 seconds later. On their heels was Dennis, who was himself hard pushed by Wille.

The course was in good condition in spite of the rain, but the dampness itself hampered the runners to some extent. Coach Bresnahan driving ahead in a car set the pace for them.

Little is known of the Chicago runners except that they lack the services of George Otis, winner of first place in the conference meet last year and the only real '19 star of whom the Maroons could boast.

The men finished in the following order yesterday: W. L. Dayton, '21, and M. H. Wall, '22 (tied), W. E. Brothers, '21, and G. C. Wade, '23 (tied), H. C. Dennis, '21, G. C. Wille, '22, R. A. Cadets Open War on Inflated
Joy Time Prices to Boost
Their Hop

The Cadet corps has decided to take the initial step in the great movement to put the Dollar back where it belongs. The method, in this case, is to make the admission fee to the coming Military hop to be held November 19, only one buck, the w. k. pre-war price for a dance. This is the first big get-together of the entire cadet corps. The dance is given by the cadets and for the cadets. It is not a formal officer's affair, but a big time for the frosh and soph buck-private, according to committee members. It is expected that the new uniforms will be here at that time, and the justly famous "snappy" uniforms will be on display to the public gaze.

DRILL EXEMPTIONS BASIS GIVEN OUT

The Military department has issued the following basis for drill exemption: Six months service in an army unit in the United States, four months service overseas in a supply unit, or three months in a combat unit. Part time exemption for S. A. T. C. and Junior R. O. T. C. is also granted.

All those who were in the S. A. T. C. are given credit for one semester's drill, and Junior R. O. T. C. men who have had training in preparatory schools, are given half-time credit. If a man had two years of drill in a prep school, he is given one year's credit for that work here.

Only by permission of the Commandant may the R. O. T. C. work be deferred until later than the freshman year. Physical disability is a legitimate excuse for abstaining from drill, and nearly 150 men have been excused this year for this fact. With the additional 200 with previous service records, the total number of persons exempted is about 350.

$2,666,950 FOR NEW BRIDGES

Program of Highway Commission for Quarter is Issued

Something of what may be expected in highway and bridge construction in Wisconsin the coming year, is suggested in the third quarterly report of the Commission, soon to be issued.

For bridges, plans and specifications have been prepared in 1920 up to Oct. 1, that will cost, when complete $2,666,950 divided up among different projects as follows: county aid bridges, $864,400; state aid bridges $1,083,600; federal aid bridges $317,950.

For road construction surveys have been made and plans completed for work under federal aid, 97 miles of concrete paving, 87 miles of gravel surfacing, 21 miles top soil surfacing, 81 miles earth grading, 5 miles shale surfacing. Under state aid 144 miles of concrete paving, 173 miles of gravel surfacing, one half mile of asphalt paving, 238 miles of earth grading, 36 miles of stone macadam.

This means that construction of a total of 885 miles of highway and $2,666,950 worth of bridges will be undertaken for 1921.

The highway commission reports that labor conditions are much improved and that the cost of material is going down correspondingly.

INTELLIGENT VOTING

VOTING in the coming student election is unquestionably the duty of every student qualified to vote. Intelligent voting, moreover, is just as important a duty as voting itself. Ballots haphazardly cast are unfair to the candidates and are a condemnation of self-government.

To secure intelligent voting, the official voters guide has been issued by the elections' committee of the student senate. This guide is now on the campus. Copies may be secured at Bascom hall, Agricultural hall, and the Engineering building.

The names of all the candidates in the contest are included in the election booklet. In many cases, the various candidates' extra-curricular activities are set for in part or in whole.

Before October 29, the election date, every student should take it upon himself to secure a voters' guide and read it. He should know just who is running for each office and just how well qualified the various candidates are.

What is a certain candidate's past record? How much of his future capability can be estimated from this record? What is the weight as well as the number of a candidate's several achievements? What constructive ideas for the betterment of student life and student activities have the particular candidates for Prom chairman, class officers, and members of the student senate? How will the candidates endeavor to put their ideas into execution?

These are a few of the important questions that the voters should consider before October 29. The voters' guide will help answer some of them. Conversation with other students will shed considerable light on many of the unanswered questions. A talk with the candidates themselves will enable a voter to draw fairly accurate conclusions—and candidates are always willing to talk.

Every student should make it his especial business to gain information about the men and women for whom he votes. We have too much blind voting. Get a voters' guide. Get busy and investigate. Make your vote express your sincere opinion as to what is best for the students and the university.

FORENSICS TO THE FRONT

WITH the announcement of plans for the year, contained in another column of this issue, the forensic season makes its debut in splendid style. It is a comprehensive scheme which again points to the salient fact of Wisconsin's leadership in the American collegiate world of debating and oratory.

Withal, it is a leadership which cannot rest on past achievements. If this year is to be the best in Badger forensic annals, the student body has a tremendous task on its hands. For the best in this instance means exceeding a record which any school can point to with just pride. Going back to the days when debating led athletics in popularity down through the stages of its decline and finally its strong comeback of last year Wisconsin has been feared on the platform fully as much as it is on the gridiron.

This year new fields are to be entered. From Columbia university in the east to the University of Southern California in the far west, Badger debaters will contest for honors. Those schools are going to prepare for them with the strongest debating personnel their respective schools can offer. Why not the same here?

There can be no excuse for a dearth of good material. The trouble in the past has too often been a reluctance on the part of students to try out for the teams, prompted, it seems, by no legitimate reason at all. The rewards that comes from making a Wisconsin debating team are many; there is the honor of the school, the lasting good which comes to the participant, and finally, the fostering of a worthwhile major activity.

A turnout for the preliminary tryouts which runs into the hundreds ought to be the answer of the student body.

Engineers' Minstrels Chairman Gets Bid to Listen in on Gus Hill's Show

Upon a special invitation from Gus Hill, whose minstrels are playing at the Auditorium, Chicago, Foster Strong went to Chicago last week end to get ideas for the Engineer's minstrels, of which he is the general chairman.

Gus Hill, who has attained an international reputation through his minstrels, has displayed a great deal of interest in the Engineer's minstrels to be given in the Gym November 12 and 13. He showed Strong around, introduced him to the end men, and offered general advice on minstrel production.

Strong also had an appointment with the stage director who trained the four dancing guardsman in The Royal Vagabond, one of the highest class dancing acts ever put on the American stage, and from his got pointers on training the chorus of the minstrels.

From Chicago, he went to Milwaukee where arrangements are to be made for lights and scenery, through the Pabst theater.

Communication

IN JUSTICE TO MAY PETERSON

Editor Daily Cardinal:

A story in Saturday's "Cardinal" concerning May Peterson's song recital of last Friday evening caused a great deal of indignation among competent musical critics, and as much consternation among those concerned in running the splendid series of Wisconsin Union concerts. Considering the subject and the importance of a good report on the first concert of our series, the article was too brief. However, there was nothing objectionable except the second paragraph, here quoted:

"From the more or less familiar 'Figaro' to 'Comin' Thru the Rye', self-accompanied, Miss Peterson showed if not unusual technique, at least an unusually minute knowledge of the folk songs of all nations."

We wonder where our brave critic achieved his competence in judging whether or not Miss Peterson "showed unusual technique." If he is familiar with vocal technique she certainly "fooled him a trip"; her technique was so flawless that real consciousness about it was obliterated. She sang with an ease and perfection that comes with perfect technical mastery. Hence our critic decided that she did not show "unusual technique". If he was hoping to be dazzled by technical power, were there not any faint glimmerings of it in the "Alleluiah", or "Jag Tror", or "I'm Wearin' Awa, Jean"?

And then we wondered how our reporter could have thought May Peterson could go through the actions of Metropolitan Opera without "unusual technique." The program stated plainly that she had been with that company, and we know he had a program because of the accuracy with which he used composers' names. We regret that he had not followed current musical news enough to know that this generous singer with both lovely voice and personality is now one of our greatest American singers. He would surely have realized that her tremendous successes both here and in Europe could not have been accomplished without "unusual technique".

It is regrettable that, at Wisconsin university, a great cultural center, one of our biggest musical events should receive a half-enthusiastic, abbreviated report. It was not consistent with the splendid and convincing publicity given Miss Peterson before the concert, to say nothing of the ovation she received from her delighted audience. It gave the idea to some who did not attend that this series of three concerts is not of the highest type, after all. Thus, both from an artistic and a business standpoint, that objectionable little second paragraph might well have been omitted.

(Signed) PAUL SANDERS.

BADGERS STILL IN "BIG TEN" RACE

last Saturday, must trim Ohio if the Badgers are to finish with the leaders of the conference.

Chicago Faces Hard Schedule

The Maroons face a difficult grind these next few weeks, taking on four strong conference teams in rapid succession. Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin are the obstacles which the Stagg eleven must overcome. Two defeats in this series will place the Chicagoans beyond consideration. They will face a hard problem at the start, in solving the aerial attack of Wilce's men next Saturday.

Providing all his men have recovered from their injuries received at Columbus, Richards expects to take the Minnesota game, and then point for the Homecoming clash with the Illini, which will no doubt prove the hardest game remaining for the Badgers. At present a number of the Badger athletes are suffering from the Ohio attack last Saturday.

Weston's Injuries Serious

Captain "Red" Weston, who was forced to leave the game in the early periods, is still walking with a cane and will probably be out of the game a number of days. It is generally known that the Wisconsin leader would not have left the game if his injury was not serious.

"Gus" Tebell, Weston's running mate, was also taken from the Ohio game in the first half. On the second play of the game Tebell's shoulder was smashed, but he refused to quit until the second quarter when his right arm became utterly useless. The disability of the Badger ends aided the Buckeyes greatly in crossing Wisconsin's goal line for their two touchdowns later in the contest.

Sundt returned with a bad ankle, but will be back in practice after a few days' rest. Holmes, although not suffering any disability, is nursing a wrenched shoulder. Several other members of the squad left the game with minor injuries and bruises. Richards is especially fortunate in having his open date at this time, since two weeks' time should give the Badgers ample time to recuperate from the grueling game against Ohio State.

MEMORIAL FUND COMMITTEE IN NEW QUARTERS

Plan to Reach $1,000,000 Goal Soon in New Union Building Campaign

The headquarters of the executive committee managing the Memorial Union building campaign have been moved from Milwaukee to Madison. H. L. Ashworth, secretary of the committee, has his office and records in the second floor of the Alumni building. The committee will undertake to bring the fund up to the full quota of $1,000,000 and carry the work of the campaign to a conclusion.

The first important goal is to put Dane county over the top in the drive. The alumni, students, faculty and people in the state will be reached in concluding the Memorial Union undertaking. The Alumni magazine and the newspapers of the state as well as the university publications will co-operate in the work to be finished shortly.

MOVEMENT FOR LEAGUE DEBATE HERE STARTED

Prominent Speakers of Both Parties to Be Asked to Discuss Question

A movement to secure prominent speakers from both of the big political parties to present a debate on the question of the League of Nations before students and townspeople some time this week is being suggested and sponsored by prominent students and student organizations.

This idea, which has come in response to a general desire to know "What this League of Nations is all about," is supported by the forensic board. "Bud" Follett and "Bill" Pickard are actively interested in the campaign and will take charge of the distribution of the petitions which will be sent around to all of the students, and then turned in to the university "Y" before Wednesday morning.

The petitions read: "We, the undersigned, voters in Madison, Wisconsin, believing that both political parties owe it to an intelligent electorate to meet the League of Nations issue squarely and on such an occasion as will give the voters opportunity intelligently to judge the merits of the issue, do hereby request the Dane county organizations of both parties to designate appropriate representatives to meet in public debate in Madison, each speaker to have time for a principal speech and opportunity for rebuttal, the debate to be held either in the university gymnasium or the auditorium of the Madison high school not later than Saturday night, October 30, 1920; further details to be arranged by a committee consisting of the mayor of Madison and the chairmen of both political organizations."

Interest Aroused

It is expected that this movement will arouse considerable interest throughout the student body. Clyde Emery, president of forensic board, said, "I am strong for the public debate. A tremendous crowd should be out to hear it."

"Great stuff!" asserted "Bill" Pickard. "We ought to have the debate Thursday night if possible so as to get the biggest turnout."

Forensic board bill take up the matter with the Association of Commerce. Students who care to help in the canvass for names should call Emery or Pickard at once.

AT THE GRAND

Anita Stewart recently had some exciting experiences on the sheep ranges while making scenes for "The Fighting Shepherdess," now showing at the Grand.

One of the most thrilling was a wolf hunt in which she participated. Sheepmen gathered from miles around at a sheep ranch, preparatory to the roundup of the beasts which are the greatest menace to their flocks. Miss Stewart was provided with a horse and rifle. In the big drive that followed 33 wolves were killed. Miss Stewart bagged one big gray fellow, whose pelt she had made into a rug.

The wild ride, which covered many miles over wild country, proved great sport for the star. "I never had more fun in my life," she declared afterward.

AT THE FULLER

There will be a mingling of tears and laughter, finished off with a surprise of a lifetime at the showing of "Mid-channel," Clara Kimball Young's latest and greatest picture, which comes to the Fuller theater today.

Knowing that "Mid-Channel" is the greatest play on modern married life that the world's foremost dramatist, Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, has ever written, and that this masterpiece aroused such a sensation when it was first published, because of the startling revelations it made, it is easy to explain the tremendous popularity that this production will have, especially when Clara Kimball Young, responsible for many of the screen's greatest achievements, excels her own best effort, if that is possible. In the difficult role of Zoe Blundell, the abused and neglected wife of Theodore.

AT THE STRAND

Constance Binney, who created the role of Penelope Penn in the Shubert production of "39 East," and played in it for two years in New York, Boston and Chicago, appears in the Realart picture version of the play which is showing at the Strand theater for the last times today.

"39 East" tells the story of Penelope Penn, daughter of an impoverished minister, who comes to New York to seek her fortune. She takes a room at the boarding house of Mrs. de Mailly, a typical residence at 39 East, a house which might be almost anywhere between Forty-second and Fifty-ninth streets, with a roster of boarders who are gossipy, easily shocked, and eager to maintain a prosperous "front." There she meets Napoleon Gibbs, a young man from the South, who loves her at first sight.

She has had a hard time finding work, and is finally driven, much against her childhood teachings, to become a chorus girl. She does not disclose the nature of her work to the boarding house circle, thereby laying herself open to adverse criticism. Napoleon alone remains her friend, and at Central Park, he embraces her passionately, and she, not understanding his intentions, runs madly from him, dashing into the motor car of Eddie Tillotson, manager of her show. It proves a lucky incident, however, for Eddie is impressed with her and that night puts her on in place of the prima donna with whom he had quarreled.

Penelope returns to the boarding house with a roll of bills, and fine clothes, and easily wins the approval of the boarders. She also forgives Napoleon and promises to become his wife.

There will also be shown the latest News Weekly.

"Crooked Streets"

Ethel Clayton in "Crooked Streets" will be shown at the Strand theater for four days commencing Wednesday. As a special added feature a comedy, "Torchy Comes Through," which was adapted from a Saturday Evening Post story, will also be shown.

AT THE ORPHEUM

There is a very mediocre bill at the Orpheum this week. The obvious headliner is "Rubeville," in which eight rubes and the fix-it man of a "moving picture" show pull a few clever jokes, sing some good songs and show off their village band to good advantage. Holden & Harron are not so bad in "The Bill Poster," in which Holden gets very familiar with the audience. Princeton & Watson spring a few new slangy remarks, and Elizabeth

Nelson, with the Barry Boys, tell funny stories and do a little dancing. Edw. Stanisloff & Company, in "Dance Creations," used national costumes to good effect, while Helene Jackley, the "Sensational Girl," completed the bill. Kino-grams complete the program. The entire bill was put at a disadvantage by the exceptionally poor support of the orchestra.

FRESHMAN GRID SQUAD PRUNED DOWN FOR TILT

Coach Driver Selects 32 Players Who Will Face Sophs Saturday

Coach "Keg" Driver made his final selection of the freshman football squad which will combat the sophomore gridders Saturday, yesterday. From an original group of 125 men who reported for freshman football at the beginning of the season, Driver has gradually pruned the squad down to 32 players who will get into the annual freshman-sophomore melee. The yearlings have been pointed for the traditional class game during the whole season, and Driver has imparted a bag of tricks to the men to be used against the sophomore pigskin chasers.

The youngsters team, which will take the field against the second year squad, Saturday, has been scrimaging the varsity and Coach Lowman's "All-American" squad for the last two weeks, and as a result, the men are in tip-top condition. Driver has given them a working knowledge of Michigan Aggies plays, Northwestern formations, and the freshmen now are perfecting the famous "Minnesota shift" which they will use against Richards' varsity team during the period before the contest with the Gophers. The yearlings are expected to open up with the plays which they have mastered, and if the sophomore gridders threaten at any part of the game, the youngsters will display a number of surprising plays.

Sophs Report

More than two full teams reported yesterday afternoon to Coach A. C. Beyer who will have charge of the sophomores. A number of these men played on the 1919 Freshman football team which decisively overwhelmed the sophomores, 39 to 0.

Coach Driver will not direct the freshman eleven Saturday afternoon, but has left the reins in charge of "Bob" Quick who mentored the yearlings in the first part of the season. A. C. Beyer, who aided Driver in the development of the youngsters, will direct the second year men from the bench in their contest against his former protégés.

The men who have been selected to represent the Freshman class on the gridiron are:

FORENSIC PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR YEAR

bated the All-American question in their regular series of inter-collegiate debates.

Veterans in School

With a nucleus of five veterans from the inter-collegiates of last year and the joint debaters rapidly rounding into form there is every indication that the public speaking department will again be able to go through a strenuous season with better than an even break. The dissatisfaction arising from the inability always to secure competent judges may result in an entirely new departure being tried in the regular triangle this year.

The debates will be conducted without judges, and the debaters will merely lead in an open discussion on a subject of current national interest. In this way the audience will be permitted to question the debaters at the close of the argument, thereby making the discussion decidedly more interesting and perhaps leading to a better solution of the problem at hand. The California and Columbus debates, if they materialize, will be decision contests.

41 YEARS AGO FIRST TELEPHONE MESSAGE WAS SENT IN WISCONSIN

Experiment Amazed Legislators Who Were Present at First Test; Message Sent to Science Hall at University

Since 1879 when the first telephone message in Wisconsin was sent over improvised wires from the old, oil-lighted assembly chamber at the state capitol to Science hall at the university, the telephone system has grown into a powerful, state-wide organization.

Where 41 years ago a group of assembly members listened with marvel to the magic words issuing forth from a telephone receiver, now over 370,000 people have their individual telephones and over a million people directly benefited.

The experiment which convinced a group of legislators that the invention of the telephone was practical was conducted at the assembly chamber of the old state capitol in this city. For many months leading scientists in the country had been experimenting along the line of a telephone that could transmit over the wire the sound waves of a voice. Following the invention by Alexander Bell, it was announced in this city that a remarkable experiment would be conducted in which the possibility of transmitting the human voice would be clearly proven.

Nels P. Haugen, chairman of the Wisconsin tax commission was a member of the legislature serving from Pierce county. He and his wife were invited to be present at the capitol when the experiment was made.

A group of professors and officials of the university were invited to witness the test at Science hall.

Wires were rigged up over trees and buildings from the school hall to the capitol where in the assembly chamber the apparatus was installed.

"The affair was in the afternoon" Mr. Haugen relates, "and quite a number of the legislators and their wives had come upon invitation to witness the extraordinary experiment. The room then was lighted by oil lamps, as it was long before the time of electricity. It was a dingy setting for such a memorable event, but was quite in the spirit of those days.

"When the actual time for the test came, everybody waited with suspense for the long-heralded miracle to happen. And then as the sound of a human voice came out of the receiver, a murmur of surprise arose from those present.

Other members of the assembly in 1879 were Tom Spencer, then of Fond du Lac, but recently until his death a prominent attorney at Milwaukee; William Carter, of Grant county, nominated by Republicans for attorney-general but who later declined the honor; Dr. A. D. Andrews of River Falls, later president of the state board of normal schools Isaac Van Schaick, of Milwaukee; and John Brindley, of the third Grant assembly district, now a judge of La Crosse county. George H. Markham, of Independence, who was representing Trempealeau county, also witnessed with his wife the unique test.
