DEBATE TEAMS CLASH TONIGHT WITH MISSOURI

Affirmative Team Appears Here; One Man Will Judge and Analyze Contest

The question, "Resolved, That the Industrial Court Plan of Kansas for settling industrial disputes should be adopted throughout the United States," will be debated by two of Wisconsin's debating teams this evening. The affirmative team will debate against the University of Missouri here in Music hall at 8 o'clock, and the negative team will debate the same question against the University of Washington at St. Louis.

Wisconsin's affirmative team is composed of Carl Rogers '23, A. H. Brown '23, and Carroll Heft '23. The team which has gone to St. Louis is made up of Harold Seering '24, Martin Kriewaldt '22, and Thomas Amlie '22.

One Man to Judge

A new feature in Wisconsin debates will be presented at the debate in Music hall this evening. After the close of the argument, the single judge, Prof. G. N. Merry of the University of Iowa, will appear on the platform to render his decision. At this time he will analyze the debate in all of its angles and will offer criticism for both sides.

"This proposed plan of debate analysis," said R. B. Stewart '22, president of the forensic board, "will be of inestimable value to both the debaters and the audience. Professor Merry is an authority on forensics and his words will be an aid to all interested in forensics."

Woman Debates Here

The Missouri team, which has been coached by I. Arnold Perstein '21, arrived in Madison yesterday afternoon. One of the members of the team is a woman, which fact, according to forensic leaders is a new precedent set for intercollegiate debates at Wisconsin. It is expected that the debate will draw an unusually large attendance from women of the university.

The Missouri team is composed of Florence Meisner, John Kaskey, and Louis Potter.

Professor A. P. Haake will act as chairman for the evening.

Plays Postponed By Twelfth Night

Because the recasting for the Pre-Prom play, made necessary when a new play was chosen, interferes with the selections for the Twelfth Night cast, the three one-act plays scheduled to be given by Twelfth Night Dramatic society, January 14, will be postponed until February 25. Work will be resumed February 1.

The plays to be given are: "A Sunny Morning," by Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintoro; "The Birthday of the Infanta," dramatized from the story by Oscar Wilde, and a farce by Alice Gerstenberg "The Pot Boiler."

HIT ACTIVITIES IN CAUSES FOR LOW MARKS OF FROSH

Commerce Advisory Body Plans Help For First Year Men

Outside activities were blamed for the low marks of freshmen by the Commerce Advisory commission in a meeting in Sterling hall last night. The work done by the commission this semester in helping freshmen get the proper start in their college career was reviewed by giving the individual experiences of the members.

Robert B. Stewart '23 cited striking instances in which he had known the dropping of outside activities to have the effect of materially bringing up the grades of his allotted group of ten freshmen. Other members of the commission found poor high school preparation and noisy rooming houses the factors underlying the failures. Homesickness in some cases was found to be a fault.

Outlining Recommended

"Get them started to reviewing," was the advice of John A. Dillard '22, president of the commission. Each member was directed to call on his advisees at once and show them the advantage of outlining.

Inferior ability is not considered the reason for delinquency, nor is it believed by the commission that the lack of mens' dormitories is a factor.

The tutoring and quiz sections offered by the Y. M. C. A. were commended by the commission, and a motion was passed in favor of the commission doing tutoring as well as directing the beginners in how to study.

"Badger" --Miners Gave Nickname By Hole-Digging Habit

"Wisconsin people have been nicknamed 'Badgers' for a great many years," said Prof. Carl Russell Fish of the history department, yesterday, when asked about the origin of the name. "Miners from Illinois came to the lead mine region of Wisconsin about 1827 and because of the bitter cold, they dug holes for themselves in the ground, and thus became known as 'Badgers.'

"Those miners going back in the winter and returning in the summer were called 'Suckers' because of the habits of the fish which go up the river in the summer time and down in the winter," he concluded.

Compiling information concerning nicknames and symbols used to represent the 48 states is the latest task undertaken by the students of the University of Nevada at Reno, who believe that every college should use the state animal not only for decorative purposes of all kinds, but for use in publications and also for a "catching nickname."

Women Must Give Notice of Moving

Girls who are expecting to change their rooms next semester must notify their landladies by January 11, according to an announcement sent out from the office of the dean of women, yesterday.

At the dean's office there is a list of available rooms which girls may consult if they are seeking a place for next semester. It is expected that there will be a good deal of changing as there are many good rooms available. Many girls will probably move nearer the campus.

THOMPSON TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR '23 PROM

Local Man Will Present 21-Piece Student Combination in Specialty Numbers

A. L. Thompson has been awarded the music contract for the 1923 Prom, it was announced yesterday by Morton Frost, chairman of the music committee. A 21-piece orchestra composed of Thompson's best musicians has been selected for the occasion.

The contract was awarded only after offers submitted by well-known orchestras had been found inferior to the Thompson bid.

One of the greatest all-star orchestras that has ever played for a Wisconsin Junior Prom will be assembled from the more than 70 players who work for Thompson.

Plan Specialty Numbers

A saxophone sextet, violin quartet, clarinet specialties number by Willard Sumner, and cornet specialties by Cecil Brotz, will be the outstanding features of the orchestra. Elliott Gilmore and David Chudnow are to handle the two piano parts.

A. L. Thompson will lead the orchestral combination. Jean Juster, one of the best musicians who has ever played in university orchestras, is a member of the violin quartet.

Students who are playing for the Thompson orchestras this year are the best I have ever had or hope to have," declared Thompson, in commenting on the combination last night. "Men who are featured in each of the smaller orchestras will be brought together and worked into a composite all-star outfit that will be hard to equal anywhere."

First All-Star Combination

University of Wisconsin students have never heard Thompson's "best" playing together on the same musical organization, it is stated. Although they have often danced to music furnished by orchestras in which two or three of the most talented have played, the opportunity of hearing a large number in the same combination has been denied until now.

To perfect the orchestra within the period of one month which remains before Prom, numerous rehearsals have been scheduled for the 21 men. Those playing the same instruments will first work together, and the various divisions will meet several times each week to insure Prom-goers music ranking with the best that can be produced.

Annual Union Mixer To Be Held Tonight

The third all-university mixer under the auspices of Union board will be given this evening, at 8:30 o'clock in Lathrop hall gymnasium. Thompson's ten-piece orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets will be 25 cents, and the proceeds of the dance will go toward the Memorial Union building.

REDUCTIO AD ABSURDUM

A letter to the manager of the Speedex Reduction Company, manufacturers of phonograph records which are advertised as being highly successful when used in connection with reduction exercises:

TESTIMONIAL

Dear Sir:

After using your wonderful records for several weeks, we are desirous of letting you know just what success we have had with them and just how much we appreciate your great work.

When the outfit came several weeks ago, we had some little difficulty in persuading our girls to try the treatment, but after the first few trials, we are all firm believers.

Every night after 10 o'clock, the shades in our home are drawn, the doors locked, and our exercises are begun. At first we played over scarcely more than one or two records, but now that we are accustomed to the treatment, we play over the entire list, accompanying each one with the proper exercise as outlined in your instruction book.

Now that we have returned from our vacation we are resuming the work with more vigor in order that we may make up for the time lost over the holidays.

In conclusion we want to say that we can recommend your records and instructions to all in need of your treatment, and further, that we certainly thank you for helping us out.

Yours very truly,

THE PI PHIS.

New Professional Home Ec Sorority Established Here

Alpha chapter of Gamma Alpha Epsilon, professional home economics sorority, has recently been organized at Wisconsin. The need of such an organization has been felt for some time.

Because of the fact that there are but two Home Economics sororities in existence, neither of which fill the needs of Wisconsin, it was decided to organize an entirely new sorority, which it is hoped will become national in scope.

The charter members of the new sorority are F. Louise Thompson, Sarah Wismer, Marjorie Chase, Helen Keator, and Elizabeth Byrns. Charter pledges are Elsie Hodgson and Margaret Fix. Faculty members elected to honorary membership are Miss Marlatt, Miss Manning, Miss Krueger, and Miss Cowles.

The chapter has pledged Florence Ray, Florence M. King, Lois Raymond, Elsie Hess, Jennie Heisig, Dorothy Wiepking, Ruth Catlin, Mildred Kingsley, Elizabeth Salter, Alice Kinslow, Helen Corey, Dorothy Van Holten, Mildred Downie, and Wilma Rathbun.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

PURPLE LOOKS FOR BOOST IN SPORT RATING

Basket Team Bids For Honors; Seek Football Coach

Northwestern closed its preliminary basketball season by walloping, 34 to 15, the Camp Demming, Ga., five in Patten gymnasium, Evanston, Wednesday night. Under the tutelage of Coach Dana M. Evans, the Purple quintet has developed into a team of speed and power.

The Evanstonians had no difficulty in vanquishing their opponents from the South. Their attack and defense baffled Camp Demming and the Methodists led throughout the game.

Wins All Prelim Games

With a record of consecutive wins in prelim contests, the Purple team is being looked upon as a dangerous contender for high honors in the conference. It defeated Yale and has taken the measure of other teams.

Reports from Evanston indicate that Northwestern athletic stock is about to go up in every sport. While the basketball team is showing surprising strength in early games, authorities are looking about for a suitable football coach to succeed the ill-fated Elmer McDevitt.

Seek Brickley for Coach

Negotiations are being entered into with Charles Brickley, former Harvard star and captain, and Walter Camp's choice for an All-American position. Brickley is said to be favorable to proposals which have emanated from the Purple camp. He has been playing professional football during the past season. Coach Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, has also been approached with regard to his ability to handle the gridiron reins at Evanston, but Rockne is reticent about answering offers of a position as head coach.

Athletic Director Evans expects to close with some prominent mentor within a short time.

Gym Teams Begin Intensive Training; Schedules Framed

With the schedule of intra-mural and conference meets definitely decided, the gymnastic squads have begun intensive training. The schedule for intra-mural and conference meets follows:

Feb. 4—Frosh-Varsity meet.
Feb. 11—Inter-college meet.
Feb. 18—Inter-class meet.
Feb. 25—Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. at Madison.

Mar. 4—Chicago at Madison.

Mar. 11—Open (either Minnesota or Illinois.)

Mar. 17—All-conference meet at Madison.

The Badgers will put in a strong bid for the conference title this year. Although five good men from last year's team are not back this season, the chances for winning the title are about even. The five men who are not back are Aaneson, Hagen, Tasche, Kitchen, and Kates.

The Badger gym team took second place in the conference last year. The strongest competitor for the title this season is likely to be Chicago, which took first place last year. The same Maroon team is practically intact.

Wisconsin has one advantage in the fact that its conference meets do not come until late in the season, which gives it more of an opportunity to get in trim before the important contests.

Illinois Scores 40 to 27; Beat Catholics

In their second game in two days, Illinois and Notre Dame again mixed up at Urbana with the same result, the Suckers trimming Notre Dame, 40 to 27, on Wednesday night.

"Chuck" Carney came into his own in the contest. He rung up eight baskets and four free throws for one-half of the points scored by his team. Walquist again worked well against the Catholic outfit. Notre Dame put up a better game in its second attempt against Illinois, but the five was unable to stand the pace set by Coach Winter's team.

Minnesota, which was badly defeated by Kansas in a recent basketball game, is cheered by the news that two tossers of high calibre will be eligible to play in Big Ten competition.

Meanwell Honored By Appointment to Basket Rule Body

Dr. W. E. Meanwell, basketball coach, was recognized as one of the leading basketball men of the country when he was named recent as one of the four men on the National Basketball Rules committee. Coach Meanwell was present at the meeting, which was held in New York city last week.

The Badger mentor acted in the same capacity when he was engaged in coaching at Missouri university, and several of his interpretations and ideas are now in vogue throughout the West and Middle-west.

The proposed change in the rules regarding the penalties for fouling which Doctor Meanwell has agitated for some time, were discussed, and it appears to be but a matter of time before they will go into effect. The new plan awards one point to the team against whom a personal foul has been committed, and the ball goes to the team which has been technically fouled upon.

The various changes which are being agitated in regard to changing the present basketball rules will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting of the rules committee which will be held in New York some time in April. The gathering last week was more for the purpose of discussing the broader problems concerning intercollegiate athletics and physical training.

Hamline, Coe, and Lawrence Take High Honors in Mid-West

Hamline, Lawrence, and Coe, collegiate champions of their respective states, are able to divide premier honors in the mid-west conference as a result of play this fall.

While none of the teams mentioned for berths in the circuit which is sometimes called the "Little Eight," played enough games to make real ranking possible, the three teams named above deserve to be classed as collegiate champions of their respective states, and are out in front in "conference" rating.

Hamline's eleven was exceptionally strong this fall. The Oracle, Hamline college paper, mentions a "championship of two states" by virtue of a 14 to 0 victory over North Dakota university, while Carleton was bested 21-3 for the Minnesota title. Twin city critics are inclined to place the Hamline team on a par with the University of Minnesota eleven, according to the Oracle.

In Wisconsin, Lawrence swept aside all opposition, trimming Carroll for the title 6-0, while Beloit had previously been reduced by a one-sided score. Coe, by virtue of victories over Grinnell, Dubuque, Cornell and others, can logically claim first college honors in Iowa.

Carleton should rank fourth in comparative standing, having won from Knox and Beloit and lost to their Minnesota confederates from St. Paul. Beloit also crushed the Siwash, while themselves submitting to defeat before Lawrence and Carleton. Cornell and Knox share in the honors.

Coast Teams Taboo Rose Tourney Game

Neither California nor Leland Stanford will ever again play football before a Tournament of Roses crowd at Pasadena, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The tournament committee has refused to be upset by this stand and is already making plans for next year's game. If the champions of the Far West will not play, it has been decided by the committee to bring two teams from the Middle West or the East to furnish the annual New Year's gridiron battle.

California was given over $50,000 for the part its team took in the game with Washington and Jefferson on January 1.

BIG TEN TILTS BRING DISPLAY OF TRUE FORM

Basket Squad Recovers From Pre-Season Slump

The preliminary basket schedule completed, Coach Meanwell will direct his energies toward grooming the team for the opening conference games that are to be played this week-end.

Anyone who has watched carefully the progress of the team during the past month is well satisfied with the form the men are showing at present. The current opinion seems to be to the effect that the Badgers had fallen into a pre-season slump, but followers who are acquainted with the Meanwell coaching system know that the team is running true to form and are playing an even better brand of ball than was last year's championship five at this stage of the season.

Meanwell System Takes Time

The style of play is so complicated that it takes months for the players to learn their places in the system, and consequently a smoothly working machine cannot be sent onto the floor when half of the men are not in a position to report for practice until a week before the schedule begins. Whether or not it pays to adhere to the Meanwell style of game may be judged by comparing the Badger coach's record of only 15 defeats in 10 years to that of any other mentor in the country.

Wisconsin's chances for a championship would be much more secure if the opening of the conference was still two weeks away. The new men, Irish, Gibson, Gage and Johnson, would then be thoroughly familiar with the game, and it is safe to say that no team in the conference would be able to stop the Wisconsin offense.

The Badgers can drop one of the two approaching games and still stay in the running, but two defeats would practically eliminate them. On the other hand, if two victories are annexed, Meanwell's team can be counted as being among the pennant contenders at the end of the season. Following the initial trip, five home games will be played, which is certainly an advantage during the earlier part of the season.

Iowa Worries Badgers

Iowa, spurred on by her success in football, is entering into the conference race full of championship aspirations. Devine and Shimek are playing the best games of their careers, and are assisted by three veterans of last year. The fact that is worrying the Badgers is that a win over Iowa on the Hawkeye's own floor is almost an impossibility. Last year they won from Purdue, Indiana, and Michigan, and it is this fact that enabled Wisconsin to claim a share in the championship tie.

Under the hand of Dana Evans, the Purple are planning on upsetting the dope and sending a representative team into the conference race this year. With five veterans back, the team has won five out of six preliminary contests, Notre Dame and Yale being among the fives who have been beaten.

The Badgers will leave for Iowa City this afternoon, arriving there tomorrow. The following men will make the trip: Captain Ceaser, Taylor, Gibson, Williams, Tebell, Johnson, Irish, Gage, Coach Meanwell, and Manager Davis.

FIRST NATIONAL BOOSTS STOCK TO $800,000

Increase Is Largest in History of This Section

The largest increase in bank capital stock that has ever taken place in the history of this section of the state occurred at the close of business yesterday when the capitalization of The First National Bank of Madison was increased from $300,000 to $800,000.

The move, according to J. H. Coe, vice-president, was in line with developments in connection with the merger of The First National Bank Merchants and Savings Bank, and Central Wisconsin Trust Co. The new stock has been subscribed and new stock certificates are being issued.

The First National applied to the comptroller for permission some time ago and last night a wire was received from Washington, permitting the increase.

The First National Bank is a member of the federal reserve system. It was organized in Madison on Oct. 2, 1854 as the Dane County Bank and nationalized as The First National Bank in 1863, being granted charter number 144. The bank originally occupied the present site of the new First-Central Building which subsequently housed the Central Wisconsin Trust Co. and soon will be the home of the merged institutions.

The banks and trust company expect to move into their new quarters within the next few weeks, according to L. M. Hanks, president of the Central Wisconsin Trust Co. Because of the uncertainty of the progress made on the interior work in the banking room, it has not been possible to set a definite opening date.

Plans are being made for an opening week in the new building with the public taking part in the festivities of an opening day.

The safe deposit vault was finished many weeks ago, since when the huge vault door has been locked.

No difficulty is being anticipated in transferring safe deposit boxes from their present locations to the new quarters. Boxes as they now stand at the banks and trust company will be transported to the large new vault without having their contents disturbed in any way.

Millinery Shop Out of Home; Goods Stored

The Graham millinery shop may be closed until June. The shop occupied by the Misses Mary C. and Dora M. Graham was sold together with the store of the Netherwood Printing Co. when the Vroman block was purchased from the Madison Realty Co. by Frank W. Karsten and Dr. Joseph Dean. The building is now undergoing considerable remodelling, including a new front, and will be converted into a men's and boys' clothing store. About $25,000 is being spent and the place is expected to be ready in 60 days.

The Misses Graham have stored their fixtures for the present and are seeking a business location. Several places have been promised them in June.

AUTOMOBILE IS CHIEF FACTOR IN BIG TAXES

Tax Commission Head Gives Talk Before Rotary Club

That no single institution besides war has contributed more to the high taxes than the automobile was the statement made by Thomas E. Lyons, chairman of the state tax commission, in a talk before the Madison Rotary club Thursday noon.

Mr. Lyons traced the history of taxation explaining his talk by use of several charts which were prepared to show the amount of taxes levied, and just where this money is expended. He stated that the place to reduce taxes was not at the state house but to start right where the money is expended.

Some figures were given out as to how much money was raised by taxation in 1920. The property tax for 1920 amounted to $96,000,000. The net yield of the income tax amounted to $4,600,000 for the same year. Less than 8 per cent of all taxes paid by any citizen was used for state purposes. Mr. Lyons said that 93 per cent of the federal budget is used for past or present wars.

He gave those attending the meeting some hope that taxes had reached their height during the last year. Prof. S. W. Gilman will be the principal speaker of next week's meeting. It was also announced that radio night will be held at the Madison high school on Jan. 18, for the members of the club and their wives.

"POOR OLD PHI BETA KAPPA"

K APPA BETA PHI seems to have a flourishing chapter now at Wisconsin. The existence of the local brings to mind a stirring controversy which recently raged in two prominent fraternity publications.

The "Phi Beta Kappa Key" for October, 1921, reproduces the following editorial from another fraternity publication, the title being "Poor Old Phi Beta Kappa":

Our genial gossip has clipped an article from one of the other fraternity magazines that is very much to the point and gives expression to a criticism that your secretary has been making in his own mind.

It is perhaps presumptuous for us to criticize our venerable cousin, but we cannot help feeling that Phi Beta Kappa no longer occupies the high place it used to. The time is not so far back when election to it was eagerly sought. Men worked with a view to that award and were tremendously proud when they attained the eminence that was given by the gift of the square key.

Of course the society came in for its share of ridicule, for we have yet to discover anything that the undergraduate will not ridicule, particularly if he secretly approves of it. Certain colleges have given a false importance to the rather silly organization calling itself Kappa Beta Phi and using as its badge a parody on that of the honorable organization, a square brass key with a beer spigot at the bottom and a stein on the face, and having for a prerequisite for membership at least one failure in a course.

This parody of an honorary fraternity has been banned in one or two places, but the fact remains that the real organization seems to have fallen in the esteem of the college students. Not long ago we got ourselves in trouble by re-printing the report that Phi Beta Kappa had decided to refuse to admit women to membership. We apologized at that time.

Only a few weeks ago we were reading the lists of the annually elected members of Phi Beta Kappa at a prominent eastern university and found of the twenty-one members that had been chosen for this honor but one was a man! Can you not imagine the shout of ridicule that would greet the surprised senior who might receive the notification next year that he had attained the so-called dignity of election!

Perhaps, if we might venture to advise our elderly cousin, we should be inclined to suggest that the Associated Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa study the conditions of the award of the Rhodes scholarships, which appear to be given men of real distinction in college, men who are pre-eminently students, but who are also something more. We now await our trial for "lese majeste." To which the "Phi Beta Kappa Key" replied in part as follows:

This is not the first time that Phi Beta Kappa has been appointed for the burial, nor do we anticipate that it will be the last. Each would-be reformer has a palliative to offer. Hence, out of their own mouths we gather that our case is not entirely hopeless, and we take courage. . . .

Turn now to the article entitled "Poor Old Phi Beta Kappa." We admit the indictment respecting age. To approach a century and a half of honored life is a worthy attainment for any American institution. Yes, Phi Beta Kappa is old—but not decrepit.

And as a society Phi Beta Kappa is poor. It has no property worth mentioning. No elegant chapter houses minister to the pride of the members. . . . The funds of the United Chapters have not excited the cupidity of the burglar or the highwayman. . . .

There is such a thing as being poor in purse and rich in deeds, and this is Phi Beta Kappa's boast. The magazines of nearly all the fraternities are filled with accounts of the worthy attainments of their members. If these members have won Phi Beta Kappa, that fact is quite generally mentioned.

Then the article proceeds to show, in answer to the counsel that that the Rhodes scholarship methods be studied, that eighty-six Phi Beta Kappa chapters have furnished seventy-five per cent of all the men appointed.

In reply to the taunt about women, the editorial states that Phi Beta Kappa has admitted women to membership since 1875 and is quite proud of the fact. The article continues:

And occasionally a man from our membership attains distinction and is found rendering service in the higher walks of life. When our great educational institutions have wanted presidents, they have in a great majority of cases chosen Phi Beta Kappa men. When President Harding wanted a Secretary of State to untangle our complex international problems, he chose Charles E. Hughes, Brown '81. When he needed a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to carry on the great work accomplished by John Marshall a century ago, he chose William H. Taft, Yale 578, and when he needed a quartette of representative Americans to represent the United States on the coming International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, he chose all four from our Phi Beta Kappa membership. When the Council of the League of Nations wanted a representative American to act as Judge of the Permanent Court of Justice it chose John Basset Moore, an honorary member of the Columbia chapter after Elihu Root, Hamilton '64, had declined the proffered honor. Phi Beta Kappa's method of securing members may be all wrong, but somehow it has worked fairly well. . . .

It is proper to say in conclusion that all the criticism that Phi Beta Kappa has received from without are only echoes of those her leaders have considered and are endeavoring to meet. Every weakness will be corrected in due time. And whatever be the future, our critics may rest assured that Phi Beta Kappa will not have need, though invited, to join with its sometimes degenerate offspring—not cousins, please note—in a league to parry the attacks of hostile legislators. Somehow she has escaped this necessity.

Some kick in the finish, anyway.

ALUMNI DAY SHOULD BE ON A SATURDAY

Week-end Date Would Help
More Grads Attend
Re-unions

Although no definite action regarding the changing of the commencement date has been taken, the matter has been brought up in several organized bodies and is being agitated by alumni and campus groups.

Prof. F. G. Hubbard has proposed the question to the faculty which is now taking the matter under advisement. Under the new system class day would be on Friday, Alumni day on Saturday, Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, and Commencement on Monday. Professor Hubbard stated that under the present system many of the old graduates are unable to leave their business during the middle of the week, but if Alumni date were put on Saturday many would arrange to come.

Visiting Board Interested

The Board of Visitors is also considering the new proposal and has appointed a committee to confer with the Alumni board and report at the next meeting.

George A. Chandler, assistant to the secretary of the faculty, and in charge of the 1917 class reunion next spring, has appeared before the faculty and is active in the crusade for the new schedule. Chandler stated that the success of the '17 reunion would be greatly enhanced if Alumni day were held on Saturday.

"In addition to the fact that many of the undergraduates and professors who formerly have left immediately after the end of school would remain for the exercises, the proposed system would bring countless Alumni from all over the state and middle-west who would not be able to leave their businesses for a mid-week commencement," said Chandler.

Michigan Has Plan

R. S. Crawford, the general secretary of the Wisconsin Alumni association, stated that practically all of the "Big Ten" schools are considering the matter. Michigan has already adopted the new plan and will try out the system next June. The agitation in Illinois has reached such a state that press comments have reported that unless the weekend plan is adopted the alumni can no longer be considered as a part of the commencement proceedings.

"This plan is not radical in any sense of the word," said Crawford "it is just a common sense plan to make the commencement a function for all of the three groups of the school, faculty, students, and graduates."

It is doubtful whether the plan will be carried out this coming spring, but the supporters of the proposition feel certain of its future passage.

Candy Shop Repairs Will Be Completed In Two Months' Time

That repair work on the Candy shop and Boyd's studio which were badly damaged by fire early Tuesday morning Dec. 27 has already begun and that the building will be ready for use in about two months was announced by John L. Boyd, owner of the building, yesterday. Insurance adjustments will be made by the middle of next week.

The studio will be redecorated, a new dancing floor laid, and a better lighting system installed, according to Mr. Boyd. New fixtures are being planned for the Candy shop which suffered heavily from the fire. Geiger Brothers and Thurner and Garbutt who operated clothing stores in the building will also open for business in two months.

New Women Here To Be Entertained By League Tonight

All girls who have transferred from other colleges and universities to Wisconsin will be entertained at the homes of eight University League women Friday evening, Jan. 6. The women entertaining are: Mrs. L. S. Smith, Mrs. F. W. Roe, Mrs. M. V. O'Shea, Mrs. J. H. Walton, Mrs. F. L. Paxson, Mrs. W. D. Frost, Mrs. O. P. Watts, and Mrs. Karl Young.

The Y. W. C. A. has been organizing upper class transfer women who have been holding social gatherings at sorority and women's rooming houses. At these meetings plans have been made to help new girls to become acquainted with each other and with Wisconsin women's activities.

The organization will take definite form at a banquet for all transfers being planned for the near future. At the banquet the organization will be named and officers will be elected.

Helen Heck '24 has been acting chairman of the group, and Sarah Cummings '23, transferred from Northern State Normal college, Marquette, Michigan, and Elinor Brown '23, transferred from Grinnell college, Iowa, have charge of arrangements for Friday night parties.

All transfer girls who have not been reached are urged to communicate with Elinor Brown or Sarah Cummings.

Postmaster General Hays Has Signed $150,000 Contract As Director of Photoplay Interests

Has Task of Eliminating Political Obstacles in Film World

NEW YORK — Postmaster General William Hays has accepted the post of director of the National Association of the Motion Picture industry at a salary of $150,000 a year for three years under a contract made in those terms, it became known here Wednesday night.

Mr. Hays, on Jan. 14, at a conference in Washington with the national leaders of the motion picture industry, will make public on his own account his decision to take the post of director general. The National Association of the Motion Picture Industry embraces in its membership practically all the motion picture producers of the United States.

He faces a monumental task in organization of the producers for fully co-ordinated teamwork to meet the battles they face, especially in the arena of practical politics.

"Screen censorship is expected to become a party issue. The motion pictures have shown how powerful is the influence they wield in making or marring fights for elections," a leading producer said on Wednesday.

"Censorship is the weapon of politics against the motion pictures. A federal law proposing to prohibit showing of any political subjects or candidates is within the expectation of the producers.

"But they did not pick Will H. Hays merely for his demonstrated political astuteness and masterful generalship. They will need a past master of politics, but they also required for a director general a man who knew the screen thoroughly and in every aspect. Mr. Hays is known to the leaders of the industry as one of the best informed persons in the country on all factors of the screen, commercial, financial and political."

Small Pox is Decreasing in State, is Report

The year just closed was an off year for smallpox in this state. The state board of health, reviewing the improved showing, which indicates that smallpox has not prevailed to any considerable degree in 1921, warns, however, that the condition should not be regarded too favorably, for there is a strong possibility that the disease may crop out in virulent form at any time. "The percentage of vaccinated children in Wisconsin is relatively small," says the board. "The ranks of the unvaccinated are constantly being supplemented by births, providing new fuel for a world-old disease."

Cupid Has Soft Job; Marriages Decrease

Dane county had a slump in marriages last year, 79 less couples going to the altar during 1921 than in 1920, according to the records of George Fjelstad, county clerk. Lack of funds is one explanation given as the reason for the slump. During 1920 a total of 736 couples were married in the county, while during 1921 only 657 ceremonies were performed. St. Paul reports a decrease of about 10 per cent. Milwaukee had 6,019 marriages in 1920, while there were 5,124 in 1921. A slump of about 25 per cent is reported in Denver and the state of California decreased from 13.4 per thousand to 13.2 in 1921.

Blaze at Bowling Alley Damages Floor

Fire destroyed part of the floor and one of the walls in the bowling alley conducted by Anton Anton Schwengler, E. Mifflin st., before it was extinguished by the fire department.

Fire in basement of a barber shop, Schenk's corner, owned by H. Hall, did considerable damage. A number of the joists that support the first floor of the building were burned. The origin of the blaze is not known.

Chimney fires were extinguished at the home of E. B. Chase, 838 W. Mifflin st., and in the 600 block on N. Lake st. A false alarm called the department to Elizabeth st. A burning Christmas tree was extinguished in the home of Fred Suhr, 512 E. Gorham st.

Will Close Entries To Pin Meet on 15th

All entries for the state bowling tournament must be in the hands of Secretary William Fenske at Milwaukee by January 15 or it will be impossible for the team to bowl in the meet. Only 10 days remain to get the five men teams, doubles and singles lined up for the largest tournament of bowlers ever gotten together anywhere in American.

Many business houses and fraternal orders that are expecting to compete will have to get their teams made up and entered in a short time to be under the wire when the entries close a week from next Sunday.

Students Walk 200 Miles to Yale Game

Brown University men demonstrated a college spirit and support of their team that has hardly ever been equaled, when 200 students walked 240 miles to New Haven to see their team play the Yale eleven, some time ago.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.

A report from the First Baptist Sunday School association shows that the attendance on Jan. 1, the first Sunday of 1922, was 152. A total of $9.49 was received in the collection.

Choose Life Work That Is Congenial, Interesting—Jones

"In choosing our life work we should not choose one from which we will get rich quick, but one in which we are interested, and which is congenial to us," declared Burr W. Jones, associate justice of the Wisconsin Supreme court, in an address at the Fellowship meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

"In preparing for the profession that we have chosen," he went on to say, "the best thing to do is to read much of the best literature, which should not be read over once, but read over and over again."

In pointing out some of the better literature that we should read, Justice Jones stated that if any man wants to be successful he especially should read the Bible.

Vacation Results In Rush to Clinic

Three times the average number of daily cases were sent to the infirmary the first two days following the holiday vacation, according to a statement made by Dr. Robert Van Valzah, yesterday. Grip, severe colds, and tonsilitis were responsible for the greater part of the visits to the clinic. No contagious diseases have been reported.

The number of cases brought to the clinic has been somewhat greater this year than the usual increase after a short vacation. Most of the students were back on time, and but few have tried to get clinical excuses for the first few days except those who actually needed them and had regular appointments at the clinic.

Lit Societies Cut Programs to Hear Varsity Debaters

The three hill literary societies, Athenae, Hesperia, and Philomathia will shorten their meetings this evening in order that the members may all attend the Missouri-Wisconsin debate in a body.

Before the debate Philomathia will meet in 220 Bascom hall in order to install the new officers. Sterling Tracy '22 has been appointed as the Philomathia critic to analyze this evening's intercollegiate contest before the society next week.

Hesperia will also meet at its usual hour. After an initiation of new members, the balance of the time before the public debate will be taken up by a discussion of plans for the proposed Hesperia-Ag Lit debate.

Athenae has also made arrangements to meet in Athenae hall before attending the debate in Music hall.

AVIATORS BRAVE WINTER 26 HOURS TO SET NEW WORLD'S ENDURANCE RECORD

"If our oil feed system hadn't broken down we would have stayed up seven hours longer." That's the first thing Eddie Stinson and Floyd Bertraud said when "thawed out" by hot drink and food at Mineola field, N. Y., after they had set a new world's record of 26 hours, 19 minutes and 35 seconds for continuous flying. For over a day they had circled low above the field, fighting a gale and zero temperature. When the oil feeding system broke after several hours the pair had to desert their warm cabin to stay near the engine to feed oil into the motor by hand.

Forecast of 1922 By Dean Russell Featured in Mag

Featuring an article "What of 1922?" written by Dean H. L. Russell of the College of Agriculture, the January issue of the Country Magazine is off the press today and will be on sale at Ag hall.

In his treatise on the economic situation of the Wisconsin farmer and the outlook for 1922, Dean Russell says, "Let us give thanks that we live in Wisconsin, a state flowing with milk and, to an increasing extent, with honey. No agricultural section of America has come through this most acute depression better than the old Badger state." Dean Russell goes on to discuss the problems confronting the farmers of the state in a manner well worth reading.

"Health and Wealth for Our Soils," by Hazel Hankinson, graduate, reveals the many services rendered the farmers of the state by the State Soils laboratory. A. C. Fiedler, in his article "Pieric Acid Aids in Land Clearing" shows how Wisconsin has made use of the war salvaged material in developing northern Wisconsin. "The use of pieric acid instead of dynamite has saved the farmers of the state over $100,000.00," is a significant statement which Mr. Fiedler makes.

A memorial page is devoted to a sketch of the life of Dorothy Roberts of the Home Economics faculty who died of burns received while conducting a laboratory experiment. A new department has been added to the magazine recently for Short Course news. A heading for this section, designed by W. F. Scheutz, makes the department appear well and a Short Course editor has gathered a page of interesting news for Short Course students.

AT THE PARKWAY

Fiske O'Hara and his million dollar smile will appear tonight in the brilliant romantic story "The Happy Cavalier." Aside from the star himself, the charm of "The Happy Cavalier," is said to lie in the fact that it achieves its purpose with naturalness and entire absence of all effort of straining for effect.

As Barry O'Brian, Mr. O'Hara has an ideal role in the new comedy that gives this popular actor-singer the best vehicle he has had in years. It is doubtful if the stage has ever offered a personality so charming, or so provocative of confidence and affection as that of Fiske O'Hara. The several new songs which Mr. O'Hara will sing during the action of the play will be easily accomplished.

George Stolley '22 who has charge of the inter-fraternity basketball series has announced that the schedule of the remaining games will be announced Friday morning.

Orph. Surprises; Modern Cocktail A Real Headliner

By P. H. J.

It will be hard to characterize the bill at the Orpheum for the latter part of the week, and the only thing we can say is that there are more elements of surprise on the bill than there are of amusement. This is however, just a general impression and in spite of this conclusion the show has many laudable features. For one thing, the headliner, "A Modern Cocktail," is a real headliner, and the first act of the ultra syncopated variety that really gets across.

Sawyer and Eddie

A couple of trapeze artists who offer unusual stunts on the flying bar and provide thrills on the side. By the way, why is it that acrobats have of late not only learned to talk but also insist on being funny along with their stuff?

Bob Jones

A poor second.

Russ Leddy and Company

A one-act playlet that is NOT laid in an office. Although it dragged just a little at the start, it soon came to life and got away. The scene is an army camp and the actors represent aged attaches at such a place. With the aid of a business-like cannon the veterans procured quite a little humor.

Margaret Ford

Here is one of the surprises. With a voice that has an almost perfect range from soprano to bass, Miss Ford left the audience last night with the impression that she was merely another of the score of female impersonators, but when she was interviewed after the show she told us absolutely that she was a woman and to prove it introduced her husband. Notwithstanding the fact that she has the two voices, Miss Ford has perfect control over both and produces a good tone in either register.

Joe Tilyou and George Rogers
From their act, one is led to the conclusion that this pair is a couple of acrobats who have learned to talk and who have forsaken the silent art for the more popular type of offering. They are quite successful in their skit which is a mixture of singing, dancing, and manhandling.

"A Modern Cocktail"

If those who have been dissatisfied with former acts of this type will see this headliner, we are almost certain that they will agree that this is the first offering of its kind that really fills the bill. What they do is play jazz—and they don't make any bones about it or attempt to veneer it over with other things. The drummer is especially good, and, what is more, he isn't proud of the fact. Miss Naomi Hunter, the female member of the troupe, sings and shimmies. She is some shimmier.

Chadbourne Auction Nets $55 For Fund

"Going, going, gone. A bottle of perfume for only 10 cents."

Thus shouted the auctioneers Clara Leiser and Lillian Hayes, a the annual auction at Chadbourne hall last night, given for the benefit of the victrola fund.

Everything from a glass of jelly to shoes, mules, cakes, and boxes of fudge went under the blows of the hammer. The profits were about $55.

The auction is an old tradition at Chadbourne and has made possible the addition of many furnishings. This year the money nearly completes the payment of a victrola bought last year.

COMMITTEE IS FOR REMOVAL OF POLES, WIRES

Council Body Adopts Move to Clean Up Univ. Ave.

The removal of telegraph, telephone and electric light wires and poles on University ave., from Charter to Lathrop st., is recommended in an ordinance adopted by the council street committee at a meeting yesterday. The wires, it is recommended, should be placed under ground.

The moving of poles from personal property in the block of S. Warren st., abutting on Vilas park, to the city property on the park side of the street, is recommended in another ordinance adopted by the committee, and which together with the measure relating to the poles on University ave., will be presented to the city council Jan. 13.

The committee recommended that the street superintendent grade off the end of Blair st. to permit horses and boats entering Lake Monona from that point to the municipal skating rink. The committee decided that it would not be justified in asking Conklin and Sons Co. to remove the ice chute at a time when it was about to give employment to a number of men.

A run-away across the open channel through which ice is floated from the harvesting field to the chute, will provide means for horses, which take part in the races at the rink, to get to the rink, the committee suggests. The committee rejected the bid of A. Sinagub of $350 for lot 14, block 61 on Murray st., offered for sale by the city. The assessed valuation of the lot is $1,200.
