SUMMER PLAY CAST INCLUDES CLUB LEADERS

Leading Parts in Drama Taken by Members of College Societies

The cast of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," includes several members of dramatic organizations in the colleges and universities throughout the country. Mr. W. H. Veach, head of the department of speech, Dakota Wesleyan university, is a member of Blackfriars, University of Chicago, and of the Dramatic club at the University of Iowa. Mr. Veach will take the part of Egeus in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Mr. Sumner C. Cobb, who will play the part of Lysander, is a member of the Dramatic club of the University of Maine, having been with the organization during the four years he was a student at the university.

The part of Quince will be played by Mr. Davis Edwards, an active member of the Dramatic club of the University of Chicago and of Blackfriars, a musical comedy organization at the same institution. Mr. Edwards played a leading part in the 1917 production of Blackfriars, "A Myth in Mandel."

Mr. Herbert B. Maw, who will play the part of Bottom, is a member of the University of Utah Dramatic club. Oberon will be played by Miss Gladys Hawthorne, a member of Twelfth Night Dramatic club at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Emily H. Brinton, who played a year in the "Social Hall Theater," Salt Lake City, will play the part of Titania.

DUDLEY HEADS VISUAL GROUP

Dr. W. H. Dudley, chief of the Bureau of Visual Instruction at the University of Wisconsin, was unanimously elected president of the National Academy of Visual Instruction, at a special business meeting Friday afternoon. Dr. G. E. Condra of the Bureau of Surveys, University of Nebraska, was chosen for vice president and chairman of the executive committee. J. H. Wilson, department of visual instruction of the Detroit public schools, was elected secretary, and Charles Roach of Iowa State university, treasurer.

The members of the executive committee are: J. W. Scroggs, director of Extension Department, University of Oklahoma; S. G. Reinertsen, superintendent of schools, Alta, Ia.; A. W. Abrams, director of visual instruction, State Department of Education, Albany, N. Y.; W. M. Gregory, curator of the Educational Museum, Cleveland, Ohio, and W. C. Crosby.

This was the largest gathering of the exponents of visual instruction ever assembled in the United States. More than sixty members, numbering among them, the leaders of educational thought in America, attended the conference.

No definite place for the second annual congress has been selected, although Chicago, Cleveland, Ames, Iowa, and Raleigh have been mentioned.

AWEMA CLUB GETS CHARTER FROM NATIONAL

Sigma Phi Epsilon to Install Chapter After Vacation

The Awema club, the oldest local fraternity at Wisconsin, has just been granted a charter in Sigma Phi Epsilon. The Awema club was organized in 1905. It will be installed shortly after the opening of the university in the fall.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded at Richmond college, Richmond, Va., in November, 1901, the basis of the organization being a club called the "Saturday Night Club." It has pursued a liberal policy of expansion and has today 36 active chapters and a membership of approximately 3,500.

It has chapters at Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Purdue, Iowa and Illinois.

FACULTY MEMBER TO GIVE RECITAL

An event of unusual interest to music lovers is the organ recital by Dr. Charles H. Mills of the university faculty which will be given in Christ Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. As in previous summer sessions, Dr. Mills is presenting a short series of recitals, each program containing one or more of the famous organ works by representative composers. The numbers are often prefaced by explanations leading to a deeper appreciation of the compositions and a better knowledge of the organ and its literature. The outstanding numbers for the next recital are the sonata No. 6 by Mendelssohn and the Toccata and Fugue in C Major by Bach, these being interspersed with shorter and lighter compositions which are designed to display the possibilities of registration. Dr. Mills will be assisted by Miss Mary Elizabeth Moutray who will present two groups of songs.

Atrocities Continue; Directory Out With Freak Combinations and Tales

WATER EVENTS SLATED FRIDAY

The Water Carnival will be held on the same day as the Venetian Night celebration this year. They will take place on Friday, July 23, on the lake behind the Y. M. C. A. The Forest Products Laboratory is co-operating with the University by furnishing the fire works for the Venetian event and the prizes for the Carnival numbers.

The Carnival will take place from 4 to 5:30 in the afternoon, and canoe and swimming races will be held. In each group there are to be three classes of races; those for the summer students only, those for the regular students, and those for the delegates to the Forest Products Decennial celebration. Bleachers have been erected behind the Y. M. C. A. and several scows have been placed for the starting and finishing of the races.

Venetian Night will be held from 8 to 9:30. Decorated canoes and water floats will parade, and the evening will be finished up with a huge fire works display. $150 worth of prizes in the form of cups, medals, and merchandise will be given away in the various events. Moving pictures are to be taken both in the afternoon and evening.

PYRE'S BOOK ON WISCONSIN TELLS HISTORY

Volume is Sixth in Series on American Universities and Colleges

BY LEONARD STEPHENS

"Wisconsin," a history of the university, by Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of the English department, appears as a new book of the American College and University Series. In it Prof. Pyre gives the growth of the university from the days when Madison was a village surrounded by the unbroken wilderness down to the time of the university under President Van Hise.

"It seems a bit unreal for us to hark back to the time when a fertile spot, dotted around by many sparkling lakes, a state charter, one instructor and a student body of seventeen comprised the University of Wisconsin," said one of his colleagues in a review of the book.

"Yet from this small beginning has grown an institution which is with justice the pride of every alumnus and undergraduate for Wisconsin has been made by the men she has educated.

"That which has been done is a record of accomplishment and in the slow fight for progress, against numerous obstacles, Wisconsin has developed a character which is reflected in the lives of the men and women who each year set forth to start on life's work in earnest.

"Rarely, however, while still in college does a student understand the value and the true meaning of this training unconsciously absorbed from friends and instructors. What is lacking is depth and perspective; the depth that comes with real understanding and perspective of what has gone before.

"Here it is that Prof. Pyre's account of Wisconsin fills a well defined need. It is accurately written yet running through the facts are threads of college life as it was, stories of celebrated exploits, anecdotes of Wisconsin men, Wisconsin's place in sports and in the doings, in the past of the college societies, which make up Wisconsin's seventy odd years of strenuous activity."

It is one of the series of American College and University books. The others in the series are "Columbia," by Frederick P. Keppel; "Harvard," by J. H. Gardiner; "Illinois," by Alvin Nevins; "Princeton," by V. L. Collins; "Vassar," by Jane M. Taylor and Elizabeth H. Haight, and "Yale," by George H. Nettleton.

George Phillip Krepp, professor of English at Columbia is general editor of the series.

Since blood is thicker than water, what more natural than to express an interest in our relatives, if distant? And we do.

The most popular place in the Vilas Park zoo is the monkey cage, where crowds, not all children by any means, stand watching their "relatives" view themselves in fragments of a mirror.

Japan Supports Military Strife in China, Says Shanghai Editor

Dr. W. P. Chen Declares Japs Reap Profit of Internal Dissension in China; Also Smuggle
Opium

THAT Japan is supporting the military parties of both the north and the south of China, and reaping the profit of the internal dissension among the Chinese was a statement made by Dr. W. P. Chen, editor of the Christian Advocate at Shanghai, China, in a talk at the open air theater of the university last night.

Besides this the Japanese are smuggling into China large quantities of opium and morphine, in an attempt to undermine the morale of the people and thus to dominate them, he declared. The feeling of the Chinese toward the Japanese is very bitter.

"I should like to see great commerce and trade between the Americans and the Chinese," Dr. Chen said. "The Chinese are greatly impressed by the American people, and I believe that they are now eager to hear and learn of Christianity. Christianity is making progress in China now and this is a good opportunity for Americans to Christianize the country."

"Religious education is the introduction of control into experience by means of a great religious ideal," said Miss Gladys Wise, opening the religious education lectures at Wesleyan Foundation this morning.

"Christian education," she continued, "is the introduction of control into experience in terms of Jesus Christ. 'In order to build up a program of religious education which the religious educator must make a comprehensive study of the present day conditions; he must evaluate and analyze existing methods and processes.'"

"Such a survey has already been made by the American Religious education survey department and upon its results it will be possible to build a comprehensive program of religious education."

The course of lectures began Sunday with a discussion by the Rev. E. W. Blakeman, Madison, on "Survey of the Bible." Prof. A. A. Trever, of Lawrence college, spoke on the value of the old testament in religious education, Dr. Chen on the Eagle and the Dragon and Mr. Tetreau on the Church and Community Self Realization.

Monday's program included the discussion by Mrs. E. Sevringhaus and Miss Wise; a talk on the Rural Church and Great Human Interests by Mr. Tetreau; Effective Use of the Old Testament in Religious Education, Dr. Trever; and The Cycle of Cathay, by Dr. Chen, the two latter talks to be given at 7 and 8 o'clock Monday, respectively.

CRAP SHOOTING EXPENSIVE SAY THREE AMATEURS

"GUILTY!"
"Guilty, sir."
"Same here, sir."

So answered John Daly, M. Buchanan and Edward Fox, three Madison boys, who were caught "shooting craps" in Brittingham park yesterday by Officer York of the police force.

"I don't think a park is any place for such things, boys," Judge Casson told them, "and you may each pay $5 and costs. Also don't repeat the offense." The boys paid.

The usual round of Monday business followed. Edward Ballard, 129 Proudft st., pleaded guilty to speeding on July 16 and was fined $10 and costs.

Otto Poloski and A. W. Whalen both pleaded guilty to being drunk, and were fined $5 and costs each.

"Where did you get the stuff?" asked the judge.

"Somebody gave me a pint of whiskey," Poloski confessed, and Whalen, with an air of great secrecy, walked up to the judge's bench and told his story. The judge however, was inclined to discredit the account.

ST. PAUL HEAD HERE ASKS FOR BIG BOOST

Says There is Necessity of Safeguarding the Credit of Roads

ALSO CITES WAGES

Roads Recently Asked for Increase in Rates of About 24 Per Cent

The railroads of Wisconsin through their representatives appeared before the state railroad commission today and asked that the commission act in conjunction with the Interstate Commerce commission in increasing freight rates in this state. The application of the railroads which was filed with the commission some time ago is for an increase of approximately 24 % on all freight schedules in the state.

An additional increase will now be asked for according to Pres. H. M. Byram of the St. Paul road if the wage award is put into effect.

The principle statement of the railroads was made by Mr. Byram and statistics substantiating his statement were offered by Floyd Millard, Statistician. The reasons for the increase of freight rates in Wisconsin was set forth at length by Mr. Byram.

Reasons Are Given

"Among the reasons that point to the urgent necessity for increases that will be made effective not later than September first are the following," said Mr. Byram.

"The necessity of safe-guarding the credit of rail carriers so that money to pay for additional equipment and facilities can be borrowed.

"The necessity of aiding increased production by extending to the industries of the country more prompt, adequate and efficient service than can be safely planned for if the increases are delayed.

"The necessity of a plan of reasonable railroad extension and expansion to keep pace with immediate future needs arising from the expansion of the country's industries and the increase of their production. Such railroad extension and expansion cannot be planned for unless the carriers' earnings are such as to justify the confidence of investors.

Honest Treatment

"The necessity of according fair and honest treatment to those investors who have already placed their funds in railroad securities and who are justly entitled to a fair rate of interest thereon.

"The necessity of securing a net operating income sufficient to meet all costs of operation, transportation taxes and other fixed charges without contracting further indebtedness at the present high rates of interest and commissions.

"I speak on behalf of all roads of the state in offering assurance that their properties will be honestly, efficiently and economically managed; that every cooperation required of them will be cheerfully extended. It is our earnest purpose to exert every possible effort to bring about a complete and early compliance with all of the purposes of the new law and to build up, in so far as the actions of the Regulating Bodies permit, the transportation efficiency and facilities requisite to deal with present conditions and the growing commerce of the country."

Come-Back Club Numbers 144 This Summer; Many in Regular Courses

The University of Wisconsin has enrolled this summer alone, 144 Federal Board students. The majority of them are registered students studying for a degree in some profession or college. A large number, however, are strictly vocational students, here for a short time only in order to acquire the essentials of some vocation. The latter class need pass no entrance requirements for the university has enrolled Federal Board students who have not passed the 4th grade. In spite of their lack of schooling and their physical handicaps these Federal Board students are doing satisfactory work in their classes. The men are directly responsible to the government's representatives and Federal Board counsellors, M. H. Tiege, and Dean Philips of the College of Engineering.

At their periods of relaxation and recreation such as picnics, dances, etc., the uninitiated might wonder if, after all, these men were wounded. For they play, as they once fought, with an intensity and a delightful abandon typically American and of the American Yank.

But almost every disabled soldier is restricted in his choice of sports and to the extent that he may play them. We must admire the men for their attempt at forgetting for a while their physical deficiencies and the strenuous fighting which caused them. It is but natural for them to want to "catch up" with some of the joys that they missed.

To furnish these men recreation as well as a place to get together each university has a club formed of Federal Board students. The club at the University of Wisconsin is called the Gun and Blade. Its members are united by a common cause which should make it one of the strongest clubs on the campus. Every member is a man who was wounded, gassed or otherwise disabled while in the service during the World war. At the club's smokers it is common for the Argonne, the Meuse offensive, and the Battle of Belleau Wood to be re-fought and re-won.

The Federal Board club at Columbia University has 200 members and is known as the COME-BACK CLUB. This club has partly paid for a new club house from the proceeds of a play which netted them $5,000.00. The members of these clubs and all other Federal Board clubs have demonstrated that they can "come back." There are many similar organizations in the other schools.

WOMAN KILLED IN RACINE BY FORMER HUSBAND

RACINE—Mrs. John Narovski is dead and John Narovski, her divorced husband, is hovering between life and death at a hospital in the city, as a result of a shooting affair in the rooms of the woman on Sunday. Sunday afternoon Narovski visited the home of Mrs. Katie Ashbush, where his divorced wife boarded. He was told by Mrs. Ashbush that Mrs. Narovski was in the front room.

Narovski entered and the two persons were heard in heated conversation. Mrs. Ashbush had stepped outside the house when she heard four reports of the gun.

The Narovskis were divorced three months ago. The woman charged cruel and inhuman treatment in her complaint. It is said that Narovski has since been attempting to effect a reconciliation.

SILK DUVETYN IS FIRST CHOICE FOR FALL MILLINERY

By ELOISE.

THE advance fall showing of hats has been held. That means that straws and summer millinery are on the wane. Duvetyns, silks and satins, with a few velvets, are already appearing in the shop windows, and it will not be long before we see some of the extremists wearing them in the boiling hot sun. In general the models favored for early autumn wear feature small wings and quills as trimmings, as well as brilliant embroidery and appliqued silk and velvet flowers. Also ostrich in various forms is good. Many models lack trimming entirely, due to the scarcity and high prices of materials. Duvetyn, taffeta and satin compete strongly for leadership, and if indications now mean anything duvetyn is to be the most fashionable.

Here are three hats of duvetyn which show what some of the very early models favor. These will be good for wear in August or later. The one at the left is made of orange duvetyn with a slightly upward curving flange of orange silk floss. The brim is wide and the crown is rather high. The hat is untrimmed save for a bit of the floss attached tassel-like to the crown.

At the right is a gold colored duvetyn turban with a soft crushable crown and a fold about the headpiece which is trimmed with black jet beads. This makes a very nobby suit hat and is particularly suited for a veil. Veils being fashionable for fall, this is important.

The hat in the center is a very smart tailored model with an up-turned brim made of navy blue duvetyn. It is faced with orange taffeta and is exceptionally good for wear right now with sports togs. A soft bow of the duvetyn at the side of the crown is just the finish needed. Any one from this trio of the duvetyn family will make a smart first hat for fall.

M'GOVERN TO BE CANDIDATE FOR SENATE?

Reported Former Governor
May Enter the Race
With Seaman

OTHER POLITICAL NEWS

Little Likelihood of Merger Between Seaman and the Wilcox Forces

Judging from reports that are coming out of Milwaukee there is no likelihood that Col. Gilbert E. Seaman and Roy P. Wilcox will get together on the gubernatorial situation.

With prospects of the reactionary vote of the state being divided a movement has been started to get either Wilcox or Seaman to withdraw.

When asked concerning this Senator Wilcox said:

"I do not care to make any comment on Col. Seaman's candidacy. If he desires to run, that is his privilege. It is obvious that his candidacy is in opposition to me rather than to the other candidates. If his entering the field results in the nomination of J. J. Blaine it will be Col. Seaman's responsibility not mine."

McGOVERN FOR SENATOR?

Francis E. McGovern was in the city last week and he stated that Seaman would not withdraw. The report is also prevalent that McGovern may enter the field for the senate. Seaman and McGovern have always been friendly and it is believed that the former governor feels that with Seaman as a running mate a formidable campaign for the senatorship could be made.

PHILIPP IS CAUTIOUS

It has been repeatedly stated that if Wilcox were to be nominated this fall that Gov. Philipp would enter the field as an independent candidate. Asked for a statement on this subject the governor said:

"The question of whom I will support after the nominations are made is one that will be answered when the nominations are made—when we are confronted with the situation."

FUSION BLOWS UP

Plans for a fusion ticket in Milwaukee county appear to have blown up. The supreme court has held that Nonpartisan designations are illegal. It is therefore necessary for a fusion ticket to be run under either the republican or democratic columns.

Joseph O'Neill, chairman of the democratic county committee said:

"Things of great importance are involved in this election, national questions that far outstrip in importance the question of local fusion. To ask for fusion and then insist that the candidates shall run on the Republican ticket means that there will be no fusion in Milwaukee county."

IN BERGER'S DISTRICT

The fight in the fifth congressional district (Berger's district) again promises to be a warm one. G. A. Bading, former mayor of Milwaukee has entered the race. Peter Leuch, well known La Follette republican and W. H. Stafford former congressman are already in the race. Victor L. Berger will again be a candidate on the socialist ticket.

A musical festival of Song and Light will be given as a part of the pageant to be held during the last week of the university summer session, when opportunity will be offered for singing by a children's chorus. Children between the ages of 10 and 14 may enter the chorus free of charge. The first rehearsal will be held Thursday at 4:30, Prof. P. W. Dykema directing.

SIDE-LIGHTS ON THE UNIVERSITY

The Law School

Widely Known Legal Institution Once Held Its Classes in the State Capitol

BY J. G. CROWNHART, '21

With a reputation for being the hardest school in the middle west, the Wisconsin Law School, stands as one of the ten largest in the United States.

The school, which is the second oldest in this part of the country, was started in 1868 at the time of the reorganization of the university under the Morrill act which enlarged the university to include all branches of education. Until the completion of the Law building in 1893, the classes were held in the old state capitol and the school virtually existed as a separate institution up to that time.

It was the pioneer among all similar schools in the country to require a pre-requisite of two years general college education and later to demand six months apprenticeship in a law office before conferring the degree of LL.B. With an enrollment of 200 it stands as one of the largest schools in the west though it does not provide for evening classes as some others do.

The course of study covers the entire field of law and is designed to fit the student for the active duties of practitioner in the general or more specialized fields. In addition to the courses in interpretation and theory the school has actual practice courses which affords facilities testing the ability of the student to apply the principles to actual practice.

law the question of the ability of the men composing the faculty occupies first place. Wisconsin is exceedingly fortunate to have a faculty that enjoys a wide national reputation. Dean H. S. Richards is a former president of the Association of American Law Schools of which Prof. E. A. Gilmore is now president. Dr. John B. Sanborn is Secretary of the committee of the American Bar Association for legal education. Professor O. S. Rundell, W. H. Page, F. T. Boesel, H. L. Smith, and J. D. Wickham are other prominent faculty members. The late Chief Justice J. B. Winslow of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin was also a member of the faculty.

The school occupies a large building and has the second largest and most valuable library in the country, being surpassed only by that at Harvard. Access is to be had to the Law Library of the state which gives the school excellent equipment for its course of study.

Among the most prominent alumni of the school are the late Chief Justice Winslow, Ex-Governor F. E. McGovern, Senators Spooner, Vilos, La Follette, Walsh of Montana; and Justices Siebeck, Owen, Vinje, and Kerwin.

In 1907 the Wisconsin chapter of The Order of the Coif, the national legal honorary fraternity was installed. Election is considered a very high honor and comes at the end of the Senior year.

SOCIAL DISEASE AFFECTS 2,532

Big Majority Are Cured, Says Report of State Hygiene Bureau

The results of the state's endeavors to check the ravages of social diseases are revealed in the report of the fiscal year's work of the bureau of social hygiene, rendered to the state board of health. During the year ending July 1, 2,532 cases had been reported by physicians, as required by law. The physicians reported back 2,375 cases as cured.

"This figure is worthy of notice," says the report. "It shows that a large proportion of the physicians reporting are carrying out the full purpose of our law. It shows that patients have been held until the physicians have satisfied themselves that they were cured. It shows that there are over 20,000 people in our state who have been made to realize the seriousness of a venereal disease and the necessity of remaining under treatment until cured."

Fourteen clinics have been established where indigent cases may receive treatment free. In seven the state maintains social workers who do follow-up work. Another worker is employed in Milwaukee in co-operation with the four clinics established by the city. The state's clinics and workers are at Superior, Madison, Oshkosh, Janesville, La Crosse, Green Bay and Kenosha. In the 14 clinics 4,283 treatments were given.

The bureau receives some 300 requests monthly for pamphlets, and has distributed 212,157 pamphlets in the year. Fifty-five counties were visited by the bureau's speakers. One-day programs were given 103 times in cities of 10,000 and over, and 242 times in communities under 10,000. The lecturers gave 475 lectures with a total attendance of 51,450, and 523 films showings with an attendance of 64,539. With the card exhibits, shown at fairs and in "Keeping Fit" campaigns, with Y. M. C. A.'s and high schools, the department has reached approximately 470,000 people during the year.
