Prof. Smith Denies Rumor That Honorary Senior Fraternity No Longer
Exists Here

All rumors that Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity, is inactive this year have no basis for justification, according to W. E. Smith, assistant to the Dean of Agriculture, and a charter member of the organization.

"It always has been the policy of the fraternity," said Mr. Smith, "to make the elections solely from the senior class and to announce these elections at the close of the school year."

The great difficulty in the society is reported to be in keeping a close touch between the faculty and student bodies. Since the elections are made solely from the senior class, the officers of the fraternity must necessarily be members of the faculty or graduate students who remain in Madison.

Will Elect Juniors

No meetings of the organization have been held this year. According to Mr. Smith, however, the members will meet in a few weeks and discuss the future policy of the organization. It is possible that at this time a plan for electing a few outstanding juniors each year will be proposed.

Under such a plan the juniors would be expected to take charge of the organization in their senior year. Many believe a greater impetus would be given to the organization under such a plan of an active membership.

Phi Kappa Phi was installed at Wisconsin two years ago. It is a national organization and was founded at the University of Maine. It selects its members from all colleges and activities, includes both men and women, and considers

CO-OP HOUSES TO BENEFIT BY TEAS

The first class donations for the University co-operative houses will be made possible Saturday at silver teas given by the senior-sophomore and junior-freshman women in Barnard and Lathrop parlors, respectively, from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The officers of the four classes, together with a faculty committee, will receive. No admission will be charged, the benefit fund being made up of a purely voluntary silver offering which will be taken at the tea. The money will be used to buy furniture for the house at 426 North Charter street.

The co-operative houses, which were opened last fall with the backing of S. G. A., have been partially furnished by gifts from W. A. A., University league, the Class of 1920, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, the women of the English department, and by individual donations.

"POWER OF MUSIC" REVEALED BY THETAS IN UNION VODVIL

Passionate music, dreamy music jazz music; they live it, they love it.

Who are they? The little sprite with the feather and the cape is Pan, the god of music. As he plays little fantasies of joy, and rolling chords of tragedy, you will recognize Helen Cheetham. But the Grecian muse, who stands so stately in white robe, scroll in hand,—who? That is Kathryn Turney, reading her own poetry, and helping Pan tell you of "The Power of Music" as conceived by Kappa Alpha Theta for presentation in Union Vodvil, December 9 and 10.

A flurry of crinkly green taffeta, feet that seem possessed by sprites, a bang on the piano, and you recognize her at once,—the Jazz Girl. Her coquetry, her grace, her spirit—you've seen it so often. But Wilma Trost's art is as changeable as the moods of Pan. The Old Fashioned Maid, a veritable picture of past generations, materializes the dream of Pan and the poetry of Music prevails.

Wisconsin to Send Delegate to China

Wisconsin has been given the opportunity to send a delegate to the World's Christian Student Federation conference, which will be held next April in Peking, China. The convention is an international conference, and only six official delegates from the United States will attend. A representative from Wisconsin will go unofficially, but will be admitted to all except executive sessions. Following the conference, delegates will visit several Chinese schools.

Wisconsin delegates will be chosen Saturday by a group of representative senior women, from a list of nominees suggested by the recognized women's organizations on the campus. The decision will be passed upon by a faculty committee consisting of Dean F. Louise Nardin, Miss Abby Marlatt, and Dean F. W. Roe.

Rhodes Scholarship Committee Convenes

The Rhodes scholarship committee of selection will meet on December 2-3, in the office of President who will represent the State who will represent the state of Wisconsin at Oxford university in England.

The committee is made up of the following former Rhodes scholars: A. B. Doe, secretary of the committee, Milwaukee; J. H. Wilson, instructor in Romance languages at the University of Wisconsin; W. F. Raney, of Lawrence college; E. Lyman, of Northwestern university, and H. H. Holt, of St. Johns' Military academy.

Sigma Delta Chi Initiates Ten Men

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national honorary and professional journalistic fraternity, announces the initiation Wednesday night at the city Y. M. C. A. of Charles Byrne '22, Robert Desmond '22, Walter Ebling '22, Lloyd George '22, Kenneth Jacobson '22, Harry Lyford '22, Bruce McCoy '22, Douglas Woodworth '22, G. Lowell Geiger '23, Charles J. Lewin '23 the muse, as she steps an airy minuet in measured beat.

The Lad in Blue whistles as he plays with this Old Fashioned Maid. He is perplexed, he wonders, but finally "Marge" decides to sing for you. Yes, it is Marge Boesch, but this time her songs will tell you what music means to the Little Lad in Blue.

Dire tragedy now is forecasted by the Muse. Mildred Miller, the Pantomime Lady, shows the greatest tragedy of school life. As Pan watches "Millie" her sorrow is reflected in tender music.

A touch from a foreign land now greets you. The Italian Street Musician, violin in hand throbs out the meaning of music from her sunny land. Martha Buell convinces you that music has depth and power. So they dance, they sing, they play, and they read poetry. From childhood to old age, from the yesterday to the today, and even from the tragedies of your own life, they will show you how "The Power of Music" prevails.

ZIONIST LEADER MAKES PLEA FOR PALESTINE HOME

"The Jewish people stand with one hand broken, suffering under a great national loss," said Captain Vladymir Jabutinsky, Zionist leader, journalist, soldier, and scholar of international reputation, who spoke last night under the auspices of the Keren-Haysod committee in behalf of the Palestine Foundation fund. A crowd of several hundred filled the assembly chamber of the capitol building to hear Jabutinsky speak.

Governor Blaine congratulated the Jews on their plans to bring Palestine under Jewish control, in a short talk previous to the captain's address. Col. James H. Patterson, of the British army, who served with the Jews in Palestine, and Prof. Otto Warburg, of the University of Berlin, also spoke.

"We have before us the task of colonizing Palestine, of reclaiming it for the Jews," said Captain Jabutinsky. "We cannot go about this in a manner similar to that used by the American colonists. We cannot invade Palestine, build our homes, raise our food, and shoot our game. We must go about it in the way of the civilized world. We must buy Palestine. To do this we need your help. We need your money, and above all, your co-operation.

"Our commission comes to Madison, not expecting to find a great many millionaires here, but to spread a certain spiritual guidance among the younger students. The students will be the leaders of tomorrow. We need their help.

"The Jews are a homeless people," continued Jabutinsky, "because 2,000 years ago we were driven from our homes by salt and fire. Let us create a place which the Jews of the world may call 'home'."

Y. M. CAMPAIGN GAINING SPEED; $558 PLEDGED

Solicitors Report Success at Banquet; "Y" Will Offer Tutoring
Service

That $558 has already been pledged in the University Y. M. C. A. drive for $4,000 which is being conducted this week, was the report given out at a banquet of 42 solicitors in the "Y" cafeteria last night.

With 40 men still to be solicited, $345 have been pledged by students rooming in the "Y" dormitory. Two fraternities have turned in $71. Individual donations make up the remainder of the amount.

"The drive started slowly because of mid-semester examinations, but it is rapidly gaining momentum," said James Buxton '22, chairman of the campaign. "I am sure it will be a success."

"Y" Offers Tutors

"Many students, especially the freshmen, will be in need of tutoring this year because of outside work which takes time away from their studies," said Leo Kohl '22, president of the organization, in pointing out the value of the "Y" work. "We have engaged some of the best professors on the hill to act as tutors this year and through the medium of the "Y" any student can receive extra instruction free of charge."

Y. W. Success Exaggerated

The success of the Y. W. C. A. finance drive was exaggerated in a report given out yesterday. Although the response has been good, the goal is still a long way ahead.

"The response of both workers and givers has been generous," said Miss Mary Andersen, secretary of Y. W. C. A., "but the drive is going very slowly." Only $600 of the $2,500 budget is in, and the Y. W. C. A. will not close the campaign a day earlier than expected, as was stated yesterday. No date is set for the close of the drive. It will continue until every girl has been reached.

LOMAX PICTURES LIFE OF COWBOY

"Signs of Cowboys" is the subject of the lecture to be given by Prof. John A. Lomax, of the University of Texas, on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at Bascom hall.

Professor Lomax was twice president of the American Folklore society and was formerly a Sheldon Fellow for the investigation of American ballads at Harvard university. He is being brought here by the Forensic board.

A large collection of cowboy songs, and ballads, which give a complete picture of cowboy life, will form a part of his lecture.

Professor Lomax has an intimate knowledge of the life of the Western plains, and because of the picturesque and dramatic nature of his material, he is well known as a successful lecturer and entertainer.

'S DEATH!

Sooks, SKIPPERWILL is dead! P'raps we should of broken it more gently like, but we attended his funeral celebration ourself and hereafter you may shed your tears of disgust over the frothing oats meal at HAP HAZZARD'S column, on Friday.

Long live HAP HAZZARD!
But let us proceed:

BE OF GOODE CHEER

Fire insurance statistics prove to us that 12 school buildings burn in this country each week. Our turn will come yet!

John: Did you ever attend a stut-tering school?

Bon: N-n-n-o, I d-d-o th-th-this n-n-na-na-naturally.

REMEMBER WAY BACK—

Wen Chadbourne hall had no front porch?

When the Thetas were considered the old conservative Phi Beta's of the school?

When Main hall burned?

When Middleton was more popular than Morgans?

When Jim Brader was a frosh? (1905)?

When no show would be allowed to start without rendering "Hot Time"?

REMEMBER?

No. You probably don't.

But—

DON'T YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK

When Haresfoot was starring Mike Rudy?

And when Fran Rudy was THE girl of the campus?

When Dierdre Cox was Prom queen? (By the way Bud Follett is married now).

When Scotty used to hang around the pharmacy and tell stories about, well, remember?

And when Jerry Ochneser and Eleanore Riley and Jule Hanks used to dance and dance and dawnse?

And when Horace Wetmore was the "cockiest frosh" on the hill?

When Charlie Carpenter and Freddie Bickle made their farewell appearance in Union Vod?

When Vince O'Shea moved the University circus from the lower campus to the stock pavilion one rainy nite?

And when you looked long and deep into the mirror and wondered if you should try-out for "the movie"?

Remember when you got that "Ex"?

HUH? DO YA?

Remember boys, Ben Franklin got his start as a writer knocking the styles the reformers claim we want back.

DAILY EDITORIAL

What's all this stuff we hear about Big Jawn? Who's doing the yelping anyhow? I s'pose some of youse blokes think that the Chicago and Michigan games were played with John Richards standing on the side lines smoking a corn-cob and yelling for North Dakota.

Anybody that went to Chi. knows that John Richards' team outplayed that Chicago mob in three quarters and that on a dry field we would have beaten them. Somebody musta started this rot over a tea table or in the Candy shop some afternoon.

A "bike hike" will be led by Esther Bilstead '24, Saturday morning at 9:30 for the Outing club. As the bicycles are limited, everyone is asked to provide her own. Members will sign up in Lathrop on the bulletin board, and meet Saturday at Lathrop round table.

The horse-back party scheduled for Saturday afternoon has been postponed until next week because of the class teas on Saturday. Evelyn McFarland '22 will be in charge of this event.

We were looking through the almanac today and found that there will be two total eclipses of the sun this year!

They will be visible only from the South seas and Australia; buy your tickets early.

Norberg Tells of Norway to A. S. M. E.

Engineering conditions in Norway were described by Tom Norberg '22 at a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in the Engineering building last night.

Arthur Samp '22 also gave a talk on "The Human Machine in Industrial Efficiency." He explained and gave statistics to prove that modern science could get more and better work out of employees by applying a few efficient principles.

"The efficiency of workers is something we, as engineers, cannot afford to disregard," said B. Maxfield, president of the Wisconsin branch of the society.

W. F. Senger '23 was selected junior treasurer at the close of the meeting.

Keystone Admits Musical Society

Keystone, whose membership consists of the presidents of recognized women's organizations on the campus, voted last night in a meeting at Lathrop to admit as a member the president of Mu Alpha, honorary musical society.

Four Ag Students Win Essay Prizes

Four Wisconsin agricultural students won honorable mention in the annual Saddle and Sirloin Medal Essay contest, held in connection with the International Livestock exposition at Chicago Nov. 26. Heading the list of names receiving high honorable mention, are those of Browning Warren '24 and Thomas Daniels '24. Honorable mention was also accorded to Glenn G. Weyker and W. C. Holzog '23.

Osgood S. Lovekin, California, won first prize, a $100 gold medal. "Livestock as a Factor in Eliminating Waste in American Agriculture," was the subject of the essays.

Birge and Ely Aid Illini Installation

President E. A. Birge and Prof. R. T. Ely, of the economics department, will represent the University of Wisconsin at the inauguration of President David Kinley of the University of Illinois, December 1-2.

President Birge will also take part in the educational conference held in connection with the inauguration.

WISCONSIN TEAM RANKS ELEVENTH IN STOCK JUDGING

Wisconsin's stock judging team secured eleventh place in the student stock judging contest at the International Live Stock show, held at Chicago Nov. 26, according to a report received by the Agricultural college yesterday.

When it is considered that Wisconsin is primarily a dairy state and not so much a fat stock producing state, the placing of Wisconsin is considered very credible, according to members of the College of Agriculture faculty. Iowa, a beef and pork producing state, ranked above Wisconsin, and Illinois placed lower than Wisconsin.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

GRID CAPTAINS FOR 1922 ARE BACKFIELD MEN

Five Big Ten Teams Choose Backfield Captains

Backfield men receive a majority of the grid captaincies for the 1922 football season, according to the results of the elections already held in conference and eastern schools. Few of the big teams of the country have as yet elected their leaders for next year, but of those who have selected captains, backs have taken a big lead over linemen.

In the Big Ten conference, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Purdue, Chicago, and Northwestern have already chosen captains, while Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio State, and Michigan have not yet held an election. Of the captains already elected, but one plays outside of the backfield, Frank Henry, Indiana end.

Wisconsin has given the honor to Rollie Williams, two year star of the Badger attack. Illinois has also staked her chances with a half back, Don Peden. Frank Hany, the only man to be elected who is not a backfield man, will lead Indiana from end. Murphy of Purdue was selected yesterday to lead his eleven next fall. Romney, hero of the Wisconsin-Chicago game, was selected to lead the Maroons next year. Romney plays quarter. At Northwestern, Grausnick, husky back, will attempt to carry the Purple up a notch in the football schedule.

East Picks Backs

Of the so-called "big three" of the east, Harvard, Princeton and Yale, two have elected backfield men to the captaincy next fall, and the third, Harvard, has not yet elected the successor to the 1921 leader. Princeton placed the honor on Ralph C. Gilroy, halfback, who starred against Harvard with his 65-yard run. He is rated as one of the strongest defensive backs in the country. Yale will pin her hopes on Ralph Jordan, another halfback. This is Jordan's last year on the squad; he has played three consecutive years on Yale elevens.

Navy has shifted the captaincy for 1922 center to half, and Vincent Conroy, quarterback, has been chosen as the Annapolis leader. Army will stick to a line captain for another year, having elected Waldeman Breidster, a guard, to the position.

Of the smaller colleges, Carnegie Tech. has elected Jim Anderson, halfback; Hamilton college, Carl Warren, fullback; West Virginia, Russell Meredith, tackle; Colorado college, Delbert Jack, fullback, and University of California, Charley Erb, quarterback.

Entries Close For Fraternity Track Meet on Monday

Entrants in the inter-fraternity track meet to be held in the gymnasium annex on Saturday, Dec. 10, must notify George Stolley, in care of the university gymnasium, on or before Monday, Dec. 5. Entry blanks must be filled out, and the entrance fee of $4.00 should be paid at the same time.

All the standard events will be run, as well as a six man relay, with each man running one lap. Three men may be entered in each event, and any man is eligible except "W" men in track.

Three prize cups will be given to winning teams. Each prize may be retained permanently by the fraternity winning it, since there will be no traveling cups.

WEST HUMBLE EAST ON GRID; PASSING FEATURES SEASON

With the annual Army-Navy football classic last Saturday, the 1921 season was officially closed. Experts are unanimous in declaring that this was the best year that football has ever seen, both from the standpoint of attendance and players' ability.

Two characteristics of the late gridiron season stand out distinctly as harbingers of a possible revolution in the greatest of all American sports. The first is the increased use of the forward pass and effective ways of completing passes and of figuring a defense for them.

The west, always a stronghold for the open game, took up the pass as a regular means of attack with the exception of one or two teams, Minnesota and Northwestern. How badly these teams were outclassed by users of the open offense can be seen when results of the season are analyzed and it is discovered that Northwestern lost every conference game, and Minnesota succeeded in defeating only the Purple and Indiana.

New Passes Used

New methods of perpetrating the aerial heave were developed. Coach John R. Richards evolved the screen attack which caused considerable comment in the west. In this play, linesmen whirled back to protect the thrower of the oval, thus affording him not only protection from backfield men, but protection from forwards as well. Forwards who went through the line continued until they got into the open, even though they were ineligible to receive the sphere. The presence of a number of men back of the defending line confused the guards and permitted many passes to be completed. This was noticeable in the Wisconsin-Michigan game when three or four Badgers were free on almost every pass play.

Notre Dame was another eleven which used the forward pass to its utmost worth. The Indians, under the tutelage of Coach Knute Rockne, varied their line attack with gains via the aerial route, and the success of their style is proven by a record of nine victories to one defeat for the Catholics.

Defenses which were invented to stop passes made the defending line a mere skeleton and placed many of the forwards back of the scrimmage line. This gave teams with their backs to the wall a greater possibility of intercepting or grounding the short, lateral heaves which were so numerous on western gridirons this year.

West Triumphs Over East

A second characteristic of the football season and one which probably was a direct result of western efficiency with the pass was the apparent supremacy of west over east. In the 1234566N. 6N. 666 east. In every inter-sectional encounter, the teams west of the Alleghenies completely outplayed their rivals or held them to low scores.

Indiana was the only institution of importance which sent a team to the east to take a wallop. The Western Crimson was beaten by the Crimson Harvard team by a 19 to 0 score. The Hoosiers failed to defeat any Big Ten eleven except Purdue, and then they squeezed out a narrow 3 to 0 victory. Minnesota and Iowa both took cracks at "Jumbo" Stiehm's outfit. Another western eleven to swallow bitter defeat was Wabash. The "Little Giants" went down before Army, 21 to 0. Wabash is considered only a minor team in this section and the Indians displayed some nice football to hold the Army Mule to three touchdowns.

While west went down before east only twice, it came out on top five times. Notre Dame completely outclassed the Army in their annual game. The Rockne shift and forward pass attack baffled Daly and his young lieutenants. Four days after they had taken the measure of Army, the Catholics smothered Rutgers by a 48 to 0 count. One of the most difficult feats in football is to play two hard games on foreign territory without a complete rest, but the Notre Dame aggregation did it and came out with colors flying.

Chicago Expects Dope

Chicago's defeat of Princeton, 9 to 0, was another upset of grid dope. The Tigers were expected to claw the Maroons with unfeeling ferocity, but Capt. Stan Keck and his outfit were unable to fathom Stagg's change of pace and his surprise attack. Doped to use the forward pass, the "Old Man" played the old-style game and his charges came out with a clean victory.

BREIDSTER ELECTED ARMY GRID CAPTAIN

Waldemare F. Breidster, who was a freshman at the university four years ago, has been elected captain of the 1922 Army football team.

"Fritz" was a member of the 1917 freshman football eleven, and it is interesting to note that "Rollie" Williams played on the frosh team that year and that both Breidster and Williams are to captain exceptionally strong aggregations this year.

Breidster enlisted in 1918 and entered West Point in 1919. He was selected as guard on Walter Camp's third All-American team last year and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The first open practice of the year will take place at the university gymnasium this afternoon at 4:45, when Doctor Meanwell's new Badger squad meets the Frosh team.

Both coaches have had their men practicing for several weeks, and today the public will see for the first time what results have been achieved. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to witness the scrimmage.

Coach Meanwell conducted the regular practice yesterday afternoon. He is still working on the football men who reported this week, in order to find out how much strength has been added to the squad. It is probable that every man on the squad will be tried out this afternoon.

Clarence McIntosh '21, who is coaching the yearlings, will make several shifts in his lineup also. In addition to the men who will start the play, Bailey, Myers, Morrison, and Leavitt will be used. The frosh team will have to display a classy brand of ball if they are to continue the record established by the freshman squad of a year ago.

MEET AGGIES DECEMBER 10

The Badgers have only a week of practice to prepare for the initial game of the season against the Michigan Aggies, which will take place on December 10. The squad has been making rapid progress this fall, and the men should show much better form than they did in the preliminary game last fall.

GREEK BASKET TOSSEES MEET

Thirty-two fraternities were represented at the meeting held yesterday to form the Greek basketball league for the coming season. Definite arrangements and organization were put over until the next meeting, to be held Monday afternoon at 4:45 in the Sigma Nu house. At this time officers will be elected and a schedule will be presented for the approval of the league. Dr. Meanwell will also be present to speak to the leaders of the basketball teams at that time.

Each fraternity entering this year will be charged an entrance fee of $5, which will be payable at the meeting next Monday. All fraternities not represented last evening will be able to enter next week.

The schedule will be shortened this season to allow more freedom for the varsity. Each team will play four preliminary games, instead of the usual six or eight, which has been the rule heretofore.

WAR VET MAG TO APPEAR SOON

The youngest of all publications of interest to students, The Veteran, will make its appearance on the campus in the near future. This magazine is of especial interest to the federal board students in the university. It is published in Chicago by men in training under the government and contains matter contributed by the students in the various colleges and universities in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan. The Gun and Blade club is the official correspondent from this university. Accounts of this club's fall activities will be given in the first issue. The new rulings of the United States Veteran's bureau will be the principal subject discussed in this publication which contains anything and everything of interest to the federal board students.

J. O. Boheim is tending to the subscriptions in the Madison district and he will be in the co-ordinator's office at 1 o'clock next Monday afternoon to talk to those who want to know more about the magazine.

Prof. Scott Speaks On Economics to Rotary

Prof. William A. Scott of the Commerce course at the University of Wisconsin, gave a detailed explanation of the economic conditions in England and France before the Rotary club at the Park hotel this noon. Mr. Scott spent the past summer in these two countries studying conditions there.

A keen student of the rivalry between the two governments as well as their friendly co-operation, he interested his listeners with an intricate account of the conditions existing in these countries.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the last 24 hours was 45 at 3 p. m. and the lowest was 32 at 3 a. m. Rain .01. Sunsets at 4:25.

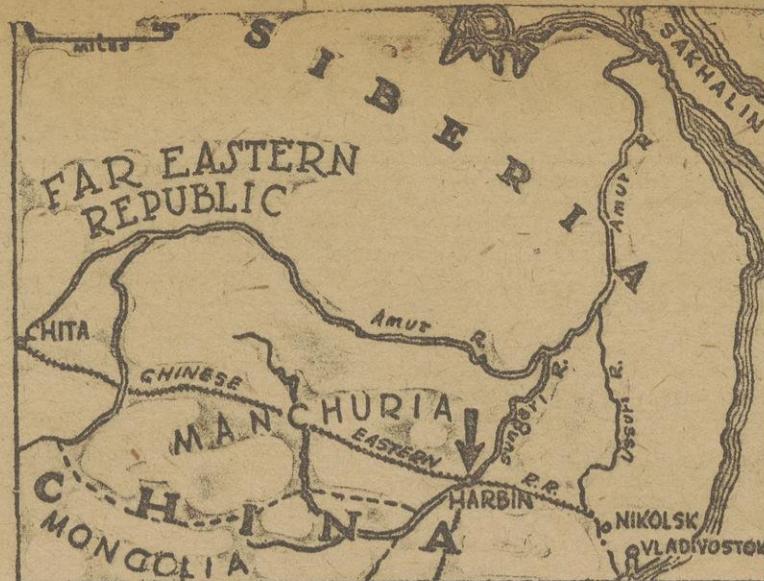

The barometer is high and the weather generally fair on the Atlantic coast. A deep trough of low pressure extends from Manitoba to Texas and is accompanied by warmer weather in the interior of the country and by rain in the Mississippi valley, lake region and on the plains. The barometer is high on the South Pacific slope and rain and colder prevails on the North Pacific slope.

MOST BEAUTIFUL LADY IN JAPAN RETURNS HOME

Lady Ryochi Kijo.

Lady Ryochi Kijo, often called Japan's most beautiful woman, has returned to her native land from London after a long visit. Her husband is the younger brother of the empress of Japan.

China claims Japan is trying to grab all the river rights on the Amur and Sungari rivers. There is considerable traffic on these streams up to Harbin (shown by an arrow). China claims bandits in this region are aided by Japan in harassing Chinese boats. China also claims Japan is attempting to control the Chinese Eastern railway, which is a vital link in the communications of the far east.

Intelligence Tests Discussed by Hesperia;
Philo Also Meets

Hesperia Literary society will meet tonight at 7:30 in 451 Bascom hall. Resolved, That a system of intelligence tests similar to those at Columbia should be adopted at Wisconsin, is the subject of the debate for the evening. The affirmative will be supported by F. Lewis De Mann, Edwin Uehling, Charles Greco, closer. The negative will be supported by Lewis Ambrose, Ben C. White, and Seth McKittrick, closer.

Tonight the following new officers for the second quarter of the school year will be inaugurated: Halsey Kraege, president; Herman O. Walther, vice-president; Frederic Rissner, secretary; Ralph Axley, censor.

Eighteen new men have been taken into the society: R. S. Kitchen, George J. Fiedler, Lester Barnesdead, F. Lewis De Mann, Carl Damsheuser, Helmuth Kletzien, Roger B. Russell, Ben C. White, Edwin A. Uehling, Beverly T. Masslich, Lewis Ambrose, David Sinclair, Edwin J. Sobey, Walter Baum, Harold E. Ashcroft, and J. Fronsen.

At the Philomathia meeting, the question, Resolved, That the French system of operation of railroads should be adopted in the United States will be debated by Ed. Ewing '22, Stuart Strong '25, and Herman Engelke '24 on the affirmative, and Green, Thomlinson, and Lange on the negative.

A short sketch will be presented by "Pat" Erickson '24, and a talk will be delivered by Norman Laskey. Following the program, officers for the second quarter of the year will be elected.

Professors E. A. Ross and C. G. Dittmer will speak and Mr. West, of the public speaking department, will act as critic of the meeting.

Ag Fraternity Offers Prizes For Best Essay

Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, announces its annual essay contest open to any student of the College of Agriculture who is not a member of Alpha Zeta. Essays must be entered under a fictitious name.

The first prize is a gold watch charm showing an ear of corn with its husks. The judges will be selected from the College of Agriculture faculty. Essays are limited to 2,500 words.

Any of the following list of subjects may be selected:

An Undeveloped Opportunity in Wisconsin Agriculture.

Co-operation Depends on Community Spirit.

How Can the Agricultural College Reach the Farmers of the State?

Fifty Years of Dairy Progress in Wisconsin.

The Most Impending Agricultural Problem of the Day.

What Has Scientific Agriculture Contributed to Community Wealth and Welfare?

What Can the Farm Bureau Do for the Farmers?

Essays must be handed in to V. A. Tiedjens, 32 Agronomy building, not later than March 30, 1922.

Last year the first prize was awarded to Walter C. Holzbog '22, who wrote on the topic "How the Proposed Great Lakes to Ocean Waterway Would Affect Agriculture in the United States."

Visitation Program Is Y. W. C. A. Plan

The Y. W. C. A.'s of the University of Chicago, the University of Michigan, and the University of Wisconsin are linked together in their work by undergraduate field representatives of the three associations.

One of three representatives visits both of the other associations once a year, carrying to them information concerning her own association, and direct communications from the Central Field meeting which she attends in Chicago. Miss Margaret Spalding, of Michigan, visited the Wisconsin association last week.

A field meeting in Chicago to which all three representatives will hold a conference with the representatives from all other universities will be held in the spring.

Lipari to Speak On Dante Today

Dr. A. Lipari, professor of Romance languages, will read a paper on "A Comparative Study of the Aeneid and Divine Comedy," in the senior lecture room of the Law building today at 7:45. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Language and Literature club.

The sixth century of Dante's death has been the occasion for a series of four commemoration meetings, including an address by Prof. M. S. Slaughter, a Dante exhibit in the Historical library, and a lecture by Dr. Charles H. Grandgent, professor of Romance languages at Harvard university. Dr. Lipari will read his paper at the last of these commemoration meetings.

Stuart to Speak At Y. W. Vespers

Prof. G. H. Stuart will speak at the Y. W. C. A. Vespers Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in Lathrop parlors. Zirian Elish '22 will lead the vespers.

Y. W. C. A. open meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 5, at 12:45, in the S. G. A. room in Lathrop hall. This meeting, the regular monthly business meeting for all Y. W. C. A. members, will be thrown open to discussion. Everybody interested in Y. W. C. A. work is urged to come.

LET'S COME ACROSS

TO be able to obtain all the benefits and advantages offered by a great state university without any outlay on the part of the students might be ideal—it is doubtful, however. A Union building built by their effort and aided by the subscriptions of students will be infinitely more enjoyed than would one donated by the state as a matter of course.

There are a number of agencies which contribute much toward making the student's life more enjoyable, more comfortable, and a bit more pleasant. Among these the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. rank high; their's is a worthy service to the student, and it is asking little indeed when once a year these organizations come before the student body asking a mite toward the support of their work.

The "Y's" in their annual finance campaign are seeking a small share of the funds necessary to carry on their services for another year; the goal is yet unsatisfied. And why? Yes, the students have just contributed liberally to the recent Memorial Union campaign. The "Y's" had planned their campaign for the same time, but in the true "Y" spirit they stepped out in order to eliminate any competition from the Memorial drive. The "Y" solicitors turned to the work of the Memorial drive and it was with their services that the successful campaign was carried to conclusion.

It would be tragic indeed if such worthy organizations should not make their goal. They will be successful; Wisconsin would not be Wisconsin if they failed. But let's not need too much urging before we all see the light. What the "Y's" are is well known. For they who plant good cheer in the "blue" lets shell out and finish up the campaign.

LOMAX ON COWBOYS

COWBOYS and the wild west—how we thrilled at the crude representations in daily play, how we were awe-struck by the wild-west show and the cowboy-Indian movie. We may have thought of our heroes in spurs with braces of six-shooters, as possessed of blood-curdling yells as they swooped down on the Indians or corralled in their round-ups. We know nothing of their songs and ballads.

Certain to entertain, as childhood stories thrilled, is the lecture to be given by Prof. John A. Lomax, of the University of Texas, on "Cowboy Songs and Ballads." With material picturesque, dramatic, and unique, Professor Lomax presents his intimate and thorough knowledge of the western plains in a remarkably interesting manner and with continuous entertainment.

Lomax is a ranking authority in his lecture field. He was a Sheldon Fellow for the Investigation of American Ballads, and twice served as the president of the American Folk-Lore society. He is being brought here by the Forensic board and will appear at eight o'clock, Tuesday evening, December 6. With his large collection of cowboy songs and ballads he gives a complete picture of the cowboy life and all its emotions.

Those a bit weary of the conventional in literature and desirous of a novel sensation will not be disappointed in hearing Professor Lomax Tuesday evening.

FREE SPEECH AND THOUGHT

FREEDOM in political and economic thought and word at Wisconsin will be a reality if the efforts of the Social Science club are justly rewarded. A very just petition has been sent to the members of the Board of Regents by the Social Science club together with the mayor of Madison, a local editor, a state commissioner, and an official of the Wisconsin Progressive association.

When students are denied the right to hear in university halls men of political and economic beliefs different from those of the university administration, merely because the speakers may convert students to their beliefs, then it is time to ascertain for certain whether students in the university are to be allowed only masticated and pasteurized proper conservatism, or are to be given the right to judge for themselves the merits of what they hear.

The Social Science club is to be complimented and supported in its desire to make Wisconsin a place for freedom of speech and of decision in beliefs.

FORENSIC FUNDS

WHEN it is read that such and such a man is being brought to appear here under the auspices of such and such a board and admission is charged, if the student is impressed with the thought of the performer and of the performance and if he is in the right mood, he goes—otherwise not.

If a current instance may be taken, the Forensic board is bringing John A. Lomax here for a lecture. Students and faculty are not asked to attend the lecture merely because of where the proceeds go—the lecture will be worth while on its own merits. It is interesting, however, to know what is done with the proceeds.

Few students know that while the forensic program of the university entails expenses of close to a thousand dollars a year, the Regents appropriate but three hundred and fifty, and it is up to the Forensic board to make good the rest. This year the Forensic board has arranged for six interscholastic debates and will finance sending our Northern Oratorical league contestant as well.

VOLIVA TO SPEAK AGAIN SUNDAY

Twenty-five Students Become Converts of Zion City Teachings

Wilbur Glen Voliva, overseer of Zion City, Ill., will speak again on Sunday, Dec. 4, and Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Madison high school auditorium.

More than 25 students have become followers of Voliva, who spoke here Sunday, and who expounds the theories that there is no such force as gravity, that the world is flat, and is bounded by vast fields of snow and ice which cannot be traversed, and that prayer is the solution for all problems.

The group believes in the abolition of cigarette smoking and advocate the return of beer as the lesser of two evils.

The converts are holding secret meetings until some definite plan of action is adopted, under the direction of Voliva and his chief exponent, Francis Cunningham. Eventually, they hope to make Madison a second Zion city, and to erect a tabernacle so that opportunity may be offered to converts to witness the millennium which is at hand.

Zona Gale to Be at First Show of "Miss Lulu Bett"

Miss Zona Gale, a Wisconsin alumnae, will appear in person on the opening night of her play, "Miss Lulu Bett" which will be presented here December 5 and 6 at the Parkway theater.

"Miss Lulu Bett," Miss Gale's dramatic adaptation of her own celebrated novel of the same name, is a comedy in three acts, having for its heroine a new type of Cinderella, who in return for her

"board and keep" juggles the pots and pans in her married sister's kitchen, the kitchen being located in a pink-painted house on the main street of a small middle western town.

She is 34 years old, she has never been kissed and indeed has given up all hope in that direction, until Prince Charming arrives in the shape of her sister's husband's blackshee brother. He first pities the poor little slavey in his pompous brother's house and then falls in love with and marries her, forgetting to mention that he had some years previous acquired a perfectly good wife who, for all he knows, is still extant.

The play develops from this point to a rapid climax with a combination of humor and sympathy which secures its serio-comic effect.

Communications

Editor's Note.—The writer of the following requests his name be withheld because of the peculiar nature of the communication.

I have rather a perplexing problem which I hope to get rid of through the medium of your columns if you will allow me the opportunity.

I am a student in the university and expect to take my degree from the liberal arts course next year. I have no major, and have been working toward no profession in particular, but during the last six months I have been thinking very soberly about entering the Christian ministry. To do this, I shall have to enter a theological seminary after I complete my course here, and there is just one obstacle in the way of an affirmative decision on my part just now.

It has seemed to me all along that the ministry is not a popular profession with the girls, since they feel that ministers are poorly paid and have not the opportunity for advancement that is offered to the ordinary layman. In short, few girls are interested in playing the role of a minister's wife.

I am sincerely interested to know whether my fears in this direction have any foundation and, if you can secure any comments from the student body, and more especially from the co-eds, I assure you I shall watch them with interest.

TAX RATE TO BE GREATER THAN IN 1921

Madison Rate May Be Raised to 23 or 23.5 Mills

Madison's tax rate will be higher than it was last year. It will be higher by at least one-half mill and possibly one and a half. Despite desperate efforts of the council finance committee and E. F. Bunn, city auditor and comptroller, to slash 1922 budget appropriations to the extent that the tax rate might be brought at least to 22.5 mills, where it was last year, will be fruitless, according to Mr. Bunn today, and it is not likely that the rate can be reduced to less than 23 mills, and it is more probable that it will be 23.5 or 24.

Increased appropriations have been asked for, and seem to be necessary, in almost every department. The committee has worked hard to cut the budget total from a required 26.65 mill tax to 24.50. A little more can be cut from this rate, it was assured today, and there is hope that enough may be slashed so that a rate of 23.50 can be reached.

"We are cutting everywhere we can," Mr. Bunn said today. "We are trying to treat all departments and branches alike."

The finance committee will meet with the board of education this afternoon. It is intimated that the purpose is to determine whether further reductions cannot be made in this department.

So much work has confronted the committee that it will not be possible to ask the council, as a committee of the whole, to sit in with the committee on Friday night. Mr. Bunn stated he will make every effort to get things in shape to call in the councilmen on Sunday. If possible, an all day session will be held. The purpose is to familiarize the aldermen with the budget, so that they may vote intelligently on its adoption when it is formally presented at the meeting on Dec. 8, or before.

$211,659 in Building Here During November

One of the biggest building programs ever experienced in November in this city, is recorded in the office of Phillip Dean, city building commissioner. Figures compiled today, show that $211,659 worth of construction work was contracted for during the month just passed. This is only $14,438 less than was done in October. Building this fall far surpassed that of 1920, figures show. Only $69,070 worth of building was done in November, 1920. In October of this year the total reached $226,097, while in October, 1920, it was $70,050. There were no large amounts involved in any piece of work. Sixty-nine permits were issued. The largest permit was one for $17,500 for an apartment house, but the majority was between $150 and $10,000. There were 26 permits for residences, six for apartment buildings and 24 for garages.

Credits Course Opens at A. of C. Tonight

The course in credits and collections, to be held under the auspices of the university extension division at the Association of Commerce rooms, opens with a lecture by Prof. V. H. Madison Exhibit
Displays Work of Student Artists

The Madison arts exhibit, to which seven university students have contributed their work, is being held this week in the Woman's building, sponsored by the Madison Woman's club. The exhibit is an attempt to bring before the people of the city the talent of local artists, and to show the possibilities of securing professional work in the city. H. K. Lighty, graduate student, is in charge of the exhibit.

Art metal work of Professor Varnum and pottery of Miss Wilson of the university occupy prominent places in the display.

Portraits, book-plates, and landscape pictures by Kenneth Fagg '23 are being shown. Irene Henry '23 has batik work, place-cards, and polychrome candlesticks on display. A book of assorted Christmas cards is the work of Katherine Ely '22.

Other students represented are George Lenher '24, with still life oil paintings; Marietta Hippel with pottery and lamps, and Hjoerdis Scheen with bead work. June McMurray has on display a piano bench cover and a pillow made of silk rags woven on mercerized map.

Orders are being taken at the exhibit for work to be done before Christmas.

The extensive assortment of cards, leatherwork, chinaware, pottery, candles, raffia work, pictures, lamps, jewelry, beads, and batik work is all the work of local and university talent.

Many Turn Out For Women's Basket Ball

More than 250 girls are trying out for class teams to be chosen for intra-mural basketball matches early in the second semester. The matches will be played off the last three Fridays in March.

Senior women practice Thursday night at 7:30 and juniors Wednesday at the same hour. Underclass women practicing during the day at their regular winter sport hour. Miss Cynthia Wessen of the Department of Physical Education is coaching for the matches.

"Although the floor is in constant use all day during the week, it is possible that arrangements might be made for extra practice some evening if any girls want opportunity to do more work and arrange for persons to play," said Miss Wessen yesterday.

"W. A. A. training rules will go into effect as soon as squads are chosen in January," she said. Miss Belle Knights '23 is student head of basketball.

A varsity squad met a squad made up of alumnae and graduate students late in the season last year and such a game will probably be scheduled this year, according to Miss Wessen.

Japanese Poetry Described Before Library School

Mrs. Lucy Fletcher Brown, of New York city, talking on "Women in Japanese Literature" at the Library school yesterday afternoon told of the literature of the year 1000 when Japanese poetry had reached its perfection. She read several poems and diaries which were written at that time by the Japanese ladies at court.

To illustrate her talk Mrs. Brown brought with her many beautiful stumps and prints which she had gathered in Japan.

Seventy guests were present at the meeting in addition to the students in the school.

They are showing them everywhere, but it can scarcely be said yet that they are wearing them everywhere. Women must be making their decision now, however, in regard to knickerbocker suits, for the coming spring is going to be the first season for them. This knicker suit is made of the new material just out called trellaine.

T. R.'S SON HEADS COMMITTEE ARRANGING NAVY REDUCTIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and one of the advisers to the American arms delegation, has been made chairman of the naval technical committee, composed of one naval expert from Great Britain, Japan, Italy, France and the United States, which will arrange details of plans for reducing the naval strength of the powers represented at the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt were snapped as they left the Pan-American building, where arms conference sessions are being held. It is one of the few pictures ever taken of the couple together.

Postmaster General Says
Guard Needed; Blaine Hits Shooting

Marines will not be taken off mail trains until the present crime wave subsides, according to a letter from Postmaster General Hays, received by Gov. Blaine on Wednesday. It was pointed out in Mr. Hays' letter that the precaution of using marines was decided on only after a nationwide plot to loot systematically the mails this winter had been uncovered.

While Mr. Hays' letter explains the government attitude and purpose of the marine mail guard plan, it misconstrues the purport of Gov. Blaine's protest following the shooting of a man at De Pere, Wis., the state executive declared Wednesday night.

"I have no row with the postal department and I'm not against the use of marines to protect the United States mails," Gov. Blaine said.

"The matter I took up with the postal authorities at Washington, was the promiscuous discharging of firearms and the postal department's order to marines to 'shoot to kill whenever anyone suspiciously approached a mail car.'

"I have information that the same marine who shot the youth at De Pere, who later proved to be a lad stealing a ride, had been plugging away with his rifle at several other points along the route. It is that condition that I called the department's attention to, not to the mail guard service as a whole."

A naval board of inquiry will convene a Great Lakes, Ill., on Monday to investigate the De Pere shooting by Marcus M. Hanson, 22 year old marine guard, it was announced from Washington on Wednesday.

Beloit Students Must Reveal Liquor Source

BELOIT, Wis.—Action was taken on Wednesday against eight Beloit college students to require them to inform the court where they obtained liquor for several alleged liquor parties. The students appeared in court on Wednesday and were subjected to an examination as preliminary to proceedings to follow. The case is brought under the recent ruling of Atty. Gen. W. J. Morgan who holds that witnesses may be compelled to tell where they secured liquor. The eight are, Richard Napier, Blue Island, Ill.; Edwin Zabel, Bangor, Wis.; Bryce Baird, Evansville, Wis.; Griffith Jehu, Stoughton, Wis.; Charles Morill, Blue Island, Ill.; David Holmes, Janesville; Fred Hyer, Rockford, and King McCord, Blue Island, Ill.

Orph Brightens
Rainy Night and Audience Laughs

By P. H. J.
One act playlets are generally the bunk, but the sketch Miss Sarah Padden offers the last half of the week at the Orpheum is decidedly an exception. Although the play itself is an ordinary melodrama about the long lost baby, it is the acting of Miss Padden that puts the skit over.

We note that we have penetrated our subject before getting into the rest of the show. The audience applauded anything, but it was raining outside and they didn't want to get wet.

Songs and other music. They had a nice back drop.

"Rube" Nelson and Kitty Madison

"I may be old but I'm a novelty." Some World's Fair stuff and some soot, but also a great many good lines and laughs. The audience appreciated this pair.

We have already told you about Miss Padden, but she deserves to be mentioned again.

Bill Robinson

A natural blackface who does a great many things well. Everybody liked to hear him dance, and so he stayed out a long, long time.

The Recktors

Two men and some apparatus do a lot of clever muscular tricks. We never saw a man upside down so long before.

Has Wide Scope

In describing the scope of the fraternity, Mr. Smith said that Phi Kappa Phi tries to make its membership as wide as possible. He stated that it does not specialize in any type of honor, but truly should be felt by the student body as the culminating honor bestowed on one who has done his work at the university and not as a recognition of future promise.

The present officers of Phi Kappa Phi are Prof. B. H. Hibbard, president; and George Crownhart '21, secretary.

Saddle and Sirloin Enjoy Program

In spite of the rainy weather last evening, a large crowd was present at the meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin club at Ag hall. The club was entertained with moving pictures of some of the best pure found in twenty-three of the leading cattle states. Among these were pictures of prize cattle owned and bred by Wisconsin farmers. The pictures also pointed out specifically the different points which a good cow should have. The pictures were taken by Prof. J. A. McLean, Chicago, and furnished by the Quaker Oats company of which Professor McLean is a representative. The Quaker Oats company uses a great quantity of milk daily in the preparation of their cereal; therefore they are interested in, as Professor McLean said, "bringing the message of pure bred cattle to the dairymen of the country."
