SENATE MAKES CORRECTIONS IN ELECTION GUIDE

Candidates' Qualifications Are Given

A mistake in the composition of the Voter's Guide, issued yesterday by the Senate election committee, declares Paul Robertson '24 to be elected by default to one of the two one-year positions on the Cardinal Board of Control. The contest in the election will be between three candidates, for the two positions.

The error was the result of a regulation restricting the number of women on the board, passed by the Senate several years ago in ignorance of the nature of the Cardinal articles of incorporation, which make no such restrictions, and which cannot be altered without a vote of over one half of the total registration in school at the moment in the affirmative. Some eighty votes were cast in the election making the change, thus nullifying the action.

Senate Makes Error

The Senate election committee, not fully informed in the matter, considered Robertson elected by default, and had it so stated in their booklet.

"The Senate election committee regrets very much that this mistake has deprived Robertson of his legitimate publicity in the regulation booklet. We followed the regulation of the Senate in the matter without having information of the Cardinal articles of incorporation, which override the authority of the Senate. As a compensation to Robertson, I authorize the publication of his qualifications in this issue, and in the issue of Friday, May 4, the date of the election, in the same manner as they would have appeared in the booklet," said Harold Seering '24, chairman of the election committee of the Senate.

Robertson's Summary

Robertson's summary, as it was to have been published, is as follows:

Qualifications of Paul K. Robertson for one of the two one-year positions on the Cardinal Board of Control.

Associate Business Manager 1924

A. constitution to provide for a future method of secret balloting on all revisions in rule will be thoroughly explained to members of the S. G. The provision for secret balloting will be passed by means of the district system. The S. G. A. representative in each house will supervise the voting on this amendment, turning in the results to the S. G. A. office. Detailed instructions will be given out at the board meeting, when copies of the proposed suggestions for revision will be distributed. The suggestions can be discussed at the individual house at the time that balloting on the amendment takes place.

After the secret balloting provision is passed, a mass meeting will continue the discussion on the telephone extension limit, the abolition of the riding rule, and other Keynote proposals.

FARM FINISHES FEEDING TRIAL

Agricultural Experiment Station Completes Successful Tests With Cattle

One of the best feeding records in years was completed by the Agricultural Experiment station at the University farm when the feeding period of the carload of high grade two year old Hereford steers purchased last November, was completed Saturday.

The results of the trial were demonstrated to a large number of university students and farmers at the university farm Saturday. Agricultural publication editors and feeding experts assisted at the demonstration. Feeding trials on swine were also run at the experiment station.

The steers were divided into two lots of ten each. The animals averaged nearly equal in weights. Lot one averaged 1052 pounds each in weight, and lot two averaged 1048 pounds each when the trial was started. Both lots were fed a period of 112 days. Lot one was fed on clover hay with grain and corn silage supplements. Lot two was fed on alfalfa hay with grain and corn silage supplements.

At the close of the trial, the lot fed on alfalfa hay cost $10.16 cents per 100 pounds of gain. The herd fed on clover hay cost $11.62 for 100 pounds of gain. The alfalfa fed animals averaged 1302 pounds each at the close of the trial, whereas the lot fed on clover hay averaged 1262.8 pounds each.

The results of the trial show a net gain of $20.63 each for the alfalfa fed animals, and a net gain of $17.63 each for the clover fed cattle.

OHIO MEN BEAT GIRLS IN SCHOLARSHIP RACE

COLUMBUS, O., April 28.—For the first time in many years, men outnumbered women in the annual election to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity at Ohio State university. Of the 33 students just chosen 17 were men and 16 women.

Mrs. Mamie S. Taylor, of West Jefferson, Ohio, topped the list with a perfect record. She obtained the highest possible grade in all her courses throughout her four years. Elbert L. Parsons, of Columbus, was the youthful prodigy of those honored. Although only 18 years of age he will be graduated in June.

Of the 33 chosen all but two are from Ohio.

Date of His Arrival is Unknown

Maj. Otto L. Brunzell, United States field artillery has been ordered by the war department to take the place of Major John S. Wood as commandant of the University of Wisconsin Reserve Officers Training Corps with the title of professor of military science and tactics. The date of his arrival is not yet certain.

Major Brunzell received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Idaho in 1900, and in the fall of the same year entered the U. S. Military academy at West Point graduating in 1904 with the rank of second lieutenant.

Made First Lieutenant

He was made first lieutenant in 1911, and Captain in 1916. At the beginning of the war, in 1917, he was transferred to the field artillery and a few months later was made major (temporary). He was made lieutenant colonel permanently which rank he held until 1920 when he resumed the title of major.

Major Brunzell graduated from the School of the line in 1921, and from the General Staff school in 1922. Since that time he has been instructor in the General Service school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Wood Goes To Leavenworth

Major John S. Wood who has been post commander here for the last four years, has already received his transfer to the Commander and General staff school at Fort Leavenworth, and will leave here as soon as his duties for the year are over. During his command Major Wood has increased the equipment of the military department here until it now is valued at more than $750,000 in guns, trucks, horses, rifles and ammunition.

In the recent change Capt. Lester L. Lampert of the infantry, the son of Congressman Lampert of Oshkosh, has been ordered to the University of Wisconsin to take position of assistant professor of military science and tactics in the infantry department.

PEOPLE DO DROWN

An Editorial

Two canoes capsized Sunday and by the grace of God and Cap Isabella the occupants were saved.

Water has an uncanny knack of clogging a man's lungs and drowning him when he doesn't keep his head above. Cold water in short order numbs a man's muscles to a point where he can't keep his head above.

Sunday the water was cold. And it was rough enough to overturn canoes. Students had no business on the lake. Under similar circumstances a boy and a girl were drowned two years ago. Mendota's cold water has done the same to tens of others.

People do drown. And they can this year as well as last.

2,500 Boys Will Take Part in Parade Today

NO DAMAGE DONE BY GRASS FIRES

Many Madison people called The Cardinal last evening to learn the cause of the fire across Lake Mendota. The glow in the sky was caused by grass fires burning near Mendota hospital and the hospital buildings were not endangered as many thought.

BAKER, LANDIS TO SPEAK HERE

Union Board Announces Prominent Speakers For Next Year's Convocations

The tentative speakers for next year's Union board convocations are ex-Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California, and either Judge K. M. Landis or Senator Robert M. La Follette, according to an announcement made yesterday by Lee McCandless '23, in charge of the Union board convocations.

It was planned to have Senator R. M. La Follette speak during the second week of next month for the third convocation this year, but the engagement was cancelled on account of an indefinite extension of the Standard Oil case, which necessitates his remaining in Washington until June.

This is the second year that the Union board has arranged a series of three all-university convocations to bring prominent leaders in various fields to the university.

Lee McCandless '23 has been in charge of the convocations this year and helped to arrange the program for next winter. He has been assisted by Malcolm Millar '25, member of the Union board.

The first convocation this year was called on November 23 when Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, spoke on "The European Situation as it Affects the United States." Music hall was crowded at the time.

William Allen White was forced to cancel his engagement for February 26 on account of serious illness. He was to have lectured on "The Coal Strike of the Summer of 1922."

The final convocation at which Senator La Follette was to speak, was to have been held in May, but business engagements will keep the senator in Washington.

ROSS WILL SPEAK TO PRESS CLUB TONIGHT

Harry Ross, managing editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, will speak before the University Press club tonight.

Mr. Ross, who has had extensive experience in the newspaper business in the East and with the Herast newspapers, will speak on the subject of modern journalism as compared with the old type of personal journalism.

The meeting will be held at the Delta Pi Delta fraternity house, beginning at 7 o'clock. Plans for the annual Press club picnic will be discussed.

Apology to Treasurer For Misstatement Last Sunday

In an advertisement in The Cardinal Sunday it was erroneously stated that Sol Levitan state treasurer, is proprietor of a local rent-a-car garage. The garage is managed by Sergi Levitin, and The Cardinal takes this opportunity to apologize to Treasurer Levitan, who has always been a great friend of the university.

Half Holiday Proclaimed For Schools; Clubs To Aid In Event

Today at 2 o'clock all the whistles in the city will blow, and 2,500 Madison school boys will start on their parade. This is "Loyalty Day" of Boy's Week—the biggest event of the year for the young American. All of the grades from the fifth up have been dismissed in order that all may participate.

The procession assembles at the head of West Washington avenue and marches around the square and down State street to Camp Randall. The boys will be transferred from the inaccessible parts of the city to the starting point by the Madison Railway company.

Give Boys Peanuts

Pres. E. A. Birge, Gov. John J. Blaine, and Mayor I. M. Kittleson will lead the column, preceded by a band and escorted by a squad of Madison police. One adult will be with each boy's group.

Over 4,000 bags of peanuts will be distributed to the boys. Each of them will receive his share.

37 Units In Parade

The youngsters will be entertained out at Camp Randall with a varied program. They will witness track and field events, field radio demonstrations, and jumping by the university cavalry horses.

Thirty-seven units are registered to enter the parade. The Central High school will have 600 boys—the largest unit in the group. Major Smith, former major in the 32nd division, will direct the parade.

Business Men Help

All of the stores on the square and on State street will be closed in order that everyone can participate in the events of the afternoon.

The business men in the city of Madison have been working constantly for the last week to arrange for "Loyalty Day." They have combined the events of six days into one. The large cities all over the country are devoting an entire week to advancing the interests of the boys.

Jackson Heads Event

The idea was originated by the Rotary club in New York city in 1920. The work was taken up in this city by the Boy's and Girl's Work committee, of which R. H. Hommel is chairman, and other organizations in the city. Joseph W. Jackson, president of the Rotary club, is at the head of the event.

The purposes of the movement are to increase the interest in boys as the nation's greatest asset, to bring about a city-wide recognition of the boy, and to result in the recognition on the part of the government and city officials of their responsibilities toward the boy.

MANY ATTEND FINAL CONCERT BY ORCHESTRA

More than 800 people attended the final concert of the University orchestra which was held in the Music hall auditorium Sunday afternoon.

For the most part the orchestra was in good form and the personnel was considerably larger than in former years. Many times throughout the performance a wealth of sound was produced which almost approximated the standards of some professional organizations.

Although Beethoven's "Egmont" overture made an interesting opening, Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" was unquestionably the best piece of work in the program. It was played with precision and excellent intonation and with a real feeling of the composer's intention. This concert was a splendid cli-

STUDENTS GIVE PLAY IN FRENCH

Mlle. Trielle Coaches Cast of Foreign Language Pro-

"Les Plaisirs du Hasard", a play in four acts by Rene Benjamin, will be presented by the students of the French department tomorrow at 7:45 o'clock in the concert room of Lathrop hall. The play has been in the process of production for several weeks and is being coached by Mlle. Trielle, assisted by Mlle. Pons. The play is of a certain Emmanuel who has no faith in so called etiquette. He makes fun of all the serious people who represent the shackles imposed on the individual because he has to live in society. Some men are "marionettes" and it is the caricature of these men that is seen in the play.

The cast includes Fred Price '24, Mr. Brooks, Lucille Salentine '25, Louise Schieffelin Ad Sp 1, George Darby '24, Sara Abrams '25, Walter Taintor '26, Mr. Irwin, Edwin Mead '24, Frank Bacon '23, Benjamin Pearse '24, Margaret Mooradin '24, Elizabeth Cool, Jere Witter '26, Elton Hacking '25, Fred Siebert, Jacob Nantell '25, William Bentien Ad Sp 1, Ellen Knight '25, Helen Lyons '25, Marianna Chandler '23, and Evan Evans '25.

Elizabeth Cool is the ten-year-old daughter of Professor Cool and is one of the best on the stage, both in dramatic ability and knowledge of French.

The dress rehearsal will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in the concert room of Lathrop hall. Tickets will be 35 cents.

Why Not Girls In the Parade Women Ask

Progressive Women In Protest Against The Military Psychology

A protest against the military psychology back of the boys parade Tuesday was voiced today by the anti-military committee of the Wisconsin Progressive Womens' association.

The protest follows: "We wish to protest against the subtle psychology behind the planning of the Loyalty Day parade and entertainment.

"The suspension of business, the raising of flags, the whistles and bells are reminiscent of the boys of 1917, and in spirits our little lads will be lined up with them. It is the betrayal of the souls of our boys. As plainly stated in the printed plans of the committee, it is a selling of the boy to the community, then to the states and finally to the nation.

"Why is not the 'potential citizenship' of the girls of interest. Alas, they cannot fight. They are not by nature so moved by the dashing cavalry and snappy exhibition of the 'guard of honor.'

"We would not be true to our motherhood if we did not point this out so that he who runs may read."

YOU may not have met one of those dear old boys,—Oxonian stuff, what, what?—but our idea of a senior wrangler is a '23 man trying to work up a lather with the wrong kind of shaving cream.

VARSVITY EIGHT ROUNDING INTO GOOD CONDITION

Crews Put Through Paces

The varsity crew has settled into a steady stage of development during its first workouts on the water during this last week.

The jump from the rowing machines to actual work on the lake makes light work necessary for some time and Coach Dad Vail is not taxing the men very heavily at present. "The crew will not be ready for strenuous workouts until the men get more endurance from the moderate practice," he said yesterday.

As in all other spring sports, development has been hampered by late spring, but Dad Vail feels that the crew will be equal to or even better than the crew of last year unless ineligibility claims some of the rowers.

Eight Crews Rowing

Besides the regular varsity crew, Dad Vail has two other varsity crews working. There are four college crews also, the engineers, L. and S., commerce, and Ag. The freshman too have a crew, so there are eight crews in all working out on lake Mendota every night.

Only one race has been scheduled so far, but the athletic department expects to have other races scheduled soon. One race is slated with St. John's Military academy. It is probable that a race will be arranged with the Duluth Boat club for the regular varsity crew.

Will Not Go East

"I do not believe that a Wisconsin crew will go east this year," Dad Vail said, "but such a trip is a very desirable thing, for it would break the ice for conference crews and be a great incentive to better crew material. We do not get the material that we should have for good crews, and an eastern trip, besides putting Wisconsin on the crew map of the country, would help indirectly to build up rowing at the university," he said.

LANGDON STREET TEAM

DEFEATS MURRAY GROUP

Two games in the Independent league yesterday resulted in victories for the Langdon street team and the Chemical Engineers. In the fraternity league, Acadia defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3 to 2. The game was played at Vilas park. The Langdon street team played Murray street winning 6 to 0, on the lower campus. The Chemical Engineers defeated Love's boarding house, 11 to 4, on the Frosh field.

Rowdy Elliott Plays With

Grimm Accepts Call To Green Bay Y. M. C. A.

A. F. Grimm, physical director of the Madison Y. M. C. A., has accepted a call to become general secretary of the Green Bay, Wis., Y. M. C. A., it became known today. Green Bay has been without a "Y." Two weeks ago a citizens' committee raised $426,000 for a Y. M. C. A. building. The building will be erected as soon as possible.

Mr. Grimm went to Green Bay last week to look over the field. His attachment to Madison was such that it was difficult for him to make a decision.

VARSVITY SQUAD GETS WORKOUT

Cinder Men Return From Iowa and Prepare For Chicago

Card sport —Varsity

The entire varsity track squad, strengthened by the return of 12 men who have been in Iowa since last Thursday taking part in the Drake relays, took a strenuous workout at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon.

The next competition for the Badgers will be in the form of the first conference dual meet against Chicago on the opponent's track next Saturday afternoon.

Relay Team Gets Second

The honor of Wisconsin track men was upheld at Des Moines, Ia., last Saturday afternoon by the four-mile relay team, which placed second after being barely nosed out of a first by the crack Illinois team.

The two-mile team placed fourth in its event and was the only other representative team from Wisconsin which placed at the Drake relays.

Runners Erratic

The runs at Des Moines showed a rather erratic bunch of Badger runners, some doing only mediocre work while others ran extremely well. Carl Rossmessel, running one of the mile laps in the four-mile relay, performed beyond all expectations and made better time than he has been able to make on the hometrack at Camp Randall. Johnson, running in the two-mile race as well as in the mile relay, showed extremely good form and was another outstanding star among the Badger runners.

Competition Too Keen

None of the Wisconsin men who made the trip to compete in special events were able to count against the strong competition from other middle western schools.

With good weather predicted for the week, Coach Jones expects to have his Badger cinder men in fair condition for the Chicago meet. Men in various events have shown occasional flashes of speed, and if these men may be trained to work more consistently, a more successful track season will result.

Inter-class Hockey Squads

Open Schedule Wednesday

Six games have been scheduled in the inter-class hockey league which will swing into action on the lower campus Wednesday afternoon. All four classes have entered teams in the chase.

COLUMBUS, O., April 30—Although Western conference basketball schedule makers do not meet until June, Ohio State athletic officials are already laying plans for a good card for next winter. Subjects to approval of the Athletic Board, Yale University's quintot, which last winter won the Eastern intercollegiate title, has been booked to meet the Buckeyes here December 31.

Game Tomorrow

Chicago at Illinois.

Wisconsin's chances for the baseball championship of the Big Ten were seriously hampered by the overpowering defeat suffered before the bats of the Michigan nine, Saturday.

On the same day another contender for the championship came to the front when the previously untried Minnesota team rushed Northwestern off their feet in a ninth inning rally which netted five runs, giving the Gophers a win 10 to 9. Northwestern itself is a weak team, but such concentrated power on the part of Minnesota shows that the Gophers are there.

Illinois Seems Best

Illinois is conceded by most sport writers to have the most likely looking championship club, but Michigan has shown herself strong in her two conference victories and in her preliminary games. In Uteritz, shortstop, Kipke, center field, and Haggerty, second base, Michigan has three all-around athletes. Haggerty and Shackleford, right field, are men with extra high batting averages, and Liverance is a Conference pitching ace. All eyes will turn toward Urbana on May 12, when Illinois and Michigan cross trails.

Coach Lowman will lead his warriors out on the home lot this afternoon to begin work in an effort to stop Illinois who comes here for a game Saturday. Lowman's men should have profited much by their three-game trip on which they met Chicago, Michigan and Notre Dame in rapid succession.

Johnson Off Form

The main factor in Wisconsin's bad defeat was the off-form pitching of Johnson, who allowed hits to be bunched in the first, third and sixth innings. In all, Johnson allowed 10 hits and issued seven bases on balls. The Badgers fielded on a par with Michigan, each team erroring twice. The Badgers even hit about as well as their opponents, for they had a total of eight singles. However, of the 10 Michigan hits, there was a home run, a three bagger, and a double.

Lowman has had, and will have this same difficulty all season, for with the exception of Jerry Pickford, all his other pitchers are young in experience on the mound. Few errors have been chalked up against Wisconsin, and they have hit hard enough to win in practically all games, but handicapped by a weak pitching staff, such slugging teams as Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota are liable to play havoc with the Cardinal percentage column.

Madison Harvard Club Has Annual Spring Dinner Today

The Harvard club of Madison will hold its annual spring dinner at 7 o'clock tonight at the University club. Covers will be laid for forty. The club will have as its guest Rev. Samuel A. Eliot of Boston, University preacher, son of President-Emeritus Charles W. Eliot. Most of the resident members of the club are members of the faculty at this university. Several non-resident members from Eau Claire, La Crosse, Beloit and other cities in the western part of the state will attend. Dean Harry S. Richards of the Law school will preside.

Crew From Washington U. May Meet Badgers

Crews representing the University of Washington and Wisconsin will race on Lake Mendota this summer.

By defeating California, Washington became Pacific coast champions and thereby became eligible to represent the Far West at the Poughkeepsie regatta. The faculty granted permission for the Washington crew to attend the national rowing classic and it will start East in June.

If arrangements can be completed, the Washington squad will stop at Madison for a race with Coach "Dad" Vail's aggregation. The westerners met Wisconsin here last year and won a record-breaking race by a margin of eight lengths. Ed Leader, who was in charge of the team, is directing the fortunes of an eastern crew this season.

Tennis Squad Works Hard Preparing For Friday Match

After breaking even with the Iowa tennis team last Saturday afternoon, Coach Linden's men intend to get in some strenuous workouts this week before their match with Minnesota next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Although the varsity could do no more than tie the Iowa team, Coach Linden is quite well satisfied with the showing made by the men in their first meet of the season. Inclement weather this spring has hampered the tennis team as well as many other spring sports at Wisconsin, and the men were able to get in only a few days of practice before the match.

Gopher Strength Unknown

Just how strong a lineup the Minnesota team will present is hard to determine. "Hank" Norton, captain of last year's team is lost through graduation, but two old men are back on the squad this year, namely Pidgeon and Kuhlman. Norton was a player of unusual ability, and his loss is one which will be hard to fill. Pidgeon and Kuhlman are both known to play an exceedingly good game, but the ability of the remaining members of the team is still unknown.

The work of Aageson and Bennett was a pleasing feature of last Saturday's match, and Coach Linden was well satisfied with their showing. If they continue in the same form, they are certain to make themselves known in the conference this spring.

Next Wednesday afternoon Coach Linden will issue his first call for frosh tennis candidates, and already many first year men have signified their intentions of going out. The practice will be held on the varsity courts, and will start at 4 o'clock. All freshmen and those who entered school this year are eligible.

WOLF SPEAKS IN "Y" PARLORS ON CHURCHES

Frederick E. Wolf, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave the third of a series of talks on modern religious denominations Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Y parlors when he discussed the Methodist church.

Mr. Wolf discussed the Wesley's, the origin of the church, its present status and its claim to future activity. The name Methodist originated out of the "method" of the Holy club, founded by the Wesley brothers at Oxford.

"The torch of Methodism grew out of the Holy club at Oxford, but it was the Moravian movement that lighted the torch. The two difficulties of the Methodist church today are over-organization and the frequent changing of ministers. The ruling being that a minister change every three years, at least," stated Mr. Wolf Sunday.

Next week the series will be concluded by a discussion of the Church of England, Cardinal Newman and the Tractarian movement.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., April 30—Notre Dame smothered Wisconsin, 16-2 today in a 7-inning game called to permit the Cardinals to catch a train. Falvey pitched tight ball all the way but the Irish clouted Radke and Shranck at will, scoring nine runs on seven consecutive hits in the fourth inning.

Nolan was the big star of the game. He hit safely four times in a row and checked a badger rally in the fourth with a sensational catch. Gibson made a circus catch in centerfield and Sheehan and Foley completed a fast double play.

KILL THE UNION BOARD RESOLUTION

On the surface the resolution that will be submitted to student referendum next Friday providing for the withdrawal of Union board's present power of recommending six of the candidates for election to the board seems right in principle and justified in consideration of the fact that no other elected student board has a similar recommendation privilege.

Students may take the Student senate's action in framing the resolution for granted as being a necessary one or they may ignore the significance of the measure entirely and aimlessly vote "Yes,"—passing the resolution. Therein lies a decided danger to the future proper functioning of Union Board.

Briefly stated, Union board's present recommendation power which the proposed resolution would annul operates as follows:

Two juniors and two sophomores are elected each spring to Union board. One from each class is nominated and elected on an open petition and election basis as are other board candidates. The remaining two are chosen in open election from three juniors and three sophomores who are recommended by the active members of Union board as having done creditable and active work for Union board during the year and who are capable of carrying on that work effectively and efficiently.

Because of such a recommendation system, charges of favoritism by Union board have arisen. No other board has a similar power, it is argued, why should Union board? What good can such a system accomplish?

Thorough investigation will reveal that Union board is decidedly dissimilar from other elective boards in functions and amount of activity.

The members work actively the entire year, conducting dances, concerts, mixers, Memorial Union campaigns, convocations, entertainments, and operating the Union building. The members individually and collectively shoulder a financial responsibility not entailed in the work of the publication or forensic boards. More than $17,000.00 was handled by the board this year and $11,000.00 was collected in gross receipts of last year.

The projects these figures represent are big ones and must be conducted by efficient men and at a profit.

Union board attempts to assure the efficiency of that work gathering itself through recommendation men who they know through experience can effectively carry on the same Union board duties. It is obvious that a student populace of 7,000 cannot know intimately what the qualifications of a candidate are or need to be.

The situation is, in many respects, analogous to the corporation which allows its stockholders to elect the board of directors but insists that the general manager be a man recommended by people who have done the work and know the man.

Union board offers the argument that the scope of its work is so large that regular assistants are essential. To go those assistants and command their regular services, the board claims it must offer something as a goal for the future. That prize is the possibility of a Union board recommendation. And by that power of recommendation the board is able to kill two birds with one stone: (1) procure help and (2) watch the quality of the work of the assistants so that they can select the best for future recommendation.

Any male student may do the preliminary work for Union board and seek a recommendation. The fact that they don't and that Union board has been compelled to go out and find helpers is no justification for charges of favoritism and for withdrawing the recommendation power. The board still accomplishes the necessary end of acquiring a nucleus of men who have proved themselves.

After all election the board is not closed or limited to Union board recommendation. It is a 50-50 proposition in which the student body elects from its own petitioners on an open basis and from another list of recommended petitioners.

In most Unions in other colleges, all the members are elected strictly on a merit basis and from the recommendations of the active board. The Wisconsin board asks only that it be assured the nucleus of half its members as men they can vouch for in the future Union work.

If the Union board work of the past year had not been satisfactory in very respect and if there were favoritism evils that were degrading to the efficiency of the board, there might be justification for changes in the manner of election. But the work has not been unsatisfactory. Substantial profit gains show on the books. Administration officials have nothing but praise to offer for the conduct of the work.

The results of this year are pretty good evidence that a change is not needed. The student body still has the power to check in electing half the board. The board is satisfied that it can best administer its work with a nucleus of trained men. There is no necessity for taking chances on future mal-administration because of a new election system.

Vote No on the Union board resolution Friday.

COLLEGE AND CITY

Wednesday's Commerce banquet, an effort to bring the business men of Madison into intimate contact with the students of the commerce school and thus generate a feeling of kinship between the commerce school and the business world, is a commendable undertaking.

Successful business men of Madison to the number of 100 will be present. Vital results are to be expected from the banquet. Men engaged in the study of business methods are to be brought into contact with men engaged in the practice of those methods. Men pre-eminent in the business world are to address the gathering, affording the students a first hand knowledge of difficulties and problems.

This banquet will serve to bring a large number of the citizens of Madison into a closer connection with the university, and into a better and clearer and more comprehensive understanding of the institution and of the commerce school. We want more.

COMMENCEMENT WE FIND COMING

Commencement plans already have been completed, the speakers selected, the dates set, the ceremonies decided upon, and the addresses planned. All arrangements are being forwarded to make the graduation hour as impressive and inspiring a culmination of four year's successful work as it should be.

The setting of the dates for the week-end rather than the middle of the week as the custom has been, is fortunate. As a result, more students will attend and also, more friends will be able to witness the exercises.

Seniors, however, are not yet through with their work. Final exams are yet to be passed, theses must be handed in, topics are to be completed. And sheepskins don't come without them. Dam spring!

DRUNKEN CANOISTS AND THE MATTER OF DROWNING

Editor, The Cardinal:

Recently there was called to my attention the fact that the authorities at the University boathouse permitted two manifestly intoxicated students to have the use of a boat.

Such permission might not be at all uncalled for or undesirable if it were not for the very trite fact that boats are ordinarily used upon the waters of the lake where the violent forces of nature have full sway. But especially on the extremely treacherous waves of Lake Mendota it is desirable that boatmen and canoeists have full possession of their physical and mental powers. The least indication of the lack of such faculties should at once disqualify one from participation in such pastimes.

There is an old tradition that the last Indian leaving Lake Mendota for the West before the advance of the white men, pronounced a curse upon the latter such that the hungry lake was to swallow and engulf into its depths at least one white man each year. It is said the prophecy has proved true and each year the lake has had its victim.

But we who are of enlightened minds know full well that the spell may be broken if we but use better judgment. What else can we expect if we allow weaklings to traverse the waters of the lake simply because we have a Life Saving Service to save their bodies if they drowned? It is much better to build a wall at the top of the cliff than to have an ambulance down in the valley.

FOR THE ABOLITION OF CAMPUS SMOKING

Editor, The Cardinal:

It was with a good deal of interest that I read your editorial last Sunday, April 22, entitled "Bone-yards."

It recalled an incident that came to my attention several days ago when two gentlemen, evidently for yonous long paused long mon crowd of smokers in front of Bas- after pushing their way thru the 'smoking' the no strangers one to comment, "From the number of Camels around the doors around here you'd think you were in Arabia instead of Madison."

It seems to me, however, that your suggestion of hiding the evidence while it certainly would remedy the matter does not get at the root of the question. If it is undesirable to have strangers note the amount of tobacco consumed on the campus, isn't it taking the view that the crime lies not in the commission but in getting caught at it?

Are we mistaking our fears for our conscience? If it detracts from the appearance of the institution to see piles of cigarette stubs at the entrances of our buildings like the rear doors of saloons on Monday mornings in the old days, how much more does it detract from that appearance to see the walks and steps crowded with young men with their stubs in their mouths.

Smoking is seldom tolerated in offices of business houses, in classrooms by teachers, in the places where most of the students who are now on the campus will be in a few years. Today the university is our office, will we tolerate smoking there? The university should be the lamp that guides the way to progress, yet we allow a custom to continue here that was abolished twenty years ago in other offices. Let's not turn the lamp into a lighted cigarette butt.

To abolish smoking on the campus would not entail a hardship on anyone since no one has more than four hours of consecutive classes and it is a rare thing for anyone to have more than two consecutive hours of classes. Surely Wisconsin's smokers will not contend that they have not the will-power to refrain from smoking for so short a time.

I believe a rule to abolish smoking on the campus altogether would represent a step of real progress. How about it?

New Mystery
Out-Bats Bat
at Parkway

By CAPS B F

All the ingredients of mystery were included in the thriller of thrillers, "The Rear Car," which last night at the Parkway "out-batted the Bat" in intensity, dramatic detail, suspense, and saving grace of comic relief.

Since the vogue of mystery plays was ushered in by "The Bat," play after play has been presented upon the boards with the sole idea of giving the nerves of a thrill-seeking audience a shock which would nightly cause gasps, screams, and cries of delightful fear. In the "Rear Car" there is more than pure mystery, however; there is humor and a play, well written by an artist who knew well how to mix the heavy and the light, the tragic and the comic, without making a hodgepodge of the whole or a mere chronicle of excitable events.

From the play-writing standpoint alone, "The Rear Car" is irrefragable. As a mystery play, it of course pays the prerequisite attention to detail. Each event is properly foreshadowed, and although the finish of the play left the mind perplexed, a moment's reflection filled in each missing link until each claw-like hand, each shriek, each flicker of a light was accounted for as building toward the climax. Even the elements played a necessary role with just the necessary amount of lightning, rain and thunder.

What the play would have been without Taylor Holmes is a matter for prospective producers of a second company to consider. As a self-styled "deflector of crime" he naively supplies the humor of the play by his preoccupation, in a typically gumshoe style, and his voluble mind wanderings and keen but disparaging analysis of those with whom he comes in contact.

Last "Watch On Rhine"

NEW YORK —Heralded as "the last watch on the Rhine," 27 American soldiers and four German war brides arrived Sunday on the President Fillmore.

Mr. Holmes showed a remarkable stage presence and interpretation, not only in his general movements, but he permitted his fingers to play an interesting and peculiarly suggestive role of mystery by their active and incessant movement. Long expressive fingers, they were, which flashed hither and thither in response to the gesticular calls of the actor.

A fine sense of proportion was displayed in all the acts by not letting the inborn humor of the character as conceived by Mr. Holmes to overshadow the essential elements of mystery. In fact, the humor as introduced, made by contrast the weird happenings seem more terrible. And, indeed, when occasion demanded, this "deflector" person could be quite solemn and vigorous as when he attacked the—but that's disclosing the mystery, a cardinal sin in this type of drama. The flash of tense activity displayed by this scene revealed, however, further abilities of Mr. Holmes and marked him as one of those versatile stage persons at home with any interpretation.

The humor of Mr. Holmes was more or less of the quiet kind and contained a great deal of philosophy to say nothing of the epigrams. Mr. Scott, his name in the play, was that type of person who knows what he knows but knows it so well that he thinks everyone else should know it (which they don't) so he is never understood.

The supporting cast was uniformly excellent. The person who was "the guilty party" played his usual minor role but played it well. Both Mildred Booth as an Irish society girl who knew her mind, and Madeline Armistead as the ingenue, did remarkably well in their parts which in a mystery play of this kind present an unusual strain.

The audience enjoyed "The Rear Car" even though the moon offered competition to the play and came out on the long end so that the fringes of the theater were but scantily populated.

It is interesting that Mr. Holmes has had unique contact with the University of Wisconsin in the past few months. In addition to appearing here in Madison and speaking familiarly of such instructors as Professor Scott, he was the guest of honor at the Wisconsin Alumni club's annual dance in the Red room of the La Salle hotel, April 14, while the present play was in the midst of its run at the Cort theater in Chicago.

Even though Mr. Holmes were not a Wisconsin booster, however, we would praise his work and would continue to praise it, but space is limited, and we query as "deflector" perpetually did, "Have you got a match?"

'Turn to the Right' Play

By E. A.

Crooks have often been the heroes of plots, and even plays have been made into the dramatic vehicles for the underworld gentry at times. But there is one outstanding exception to the crook play rule, at least in legitimate productions.

So when "Turn to The Right", the age-old comedy of American fame, was given at the Orpheum last night, we agreed with the theatrical agents who heralded this play of the Dorothy LaVern stock company as living up to its reputation.

Dorothy LaVern, who captured high honors last week in her premier play here, lost her well-earned title, in our estimation, to Constance Hallett, an attractive brunette with dark eyes, and—personality. Al Jackson, as the character man, brought little Punkin Holler back in our memories in the person of a "right smart" young, aspiring business man.

You remember the plot, how the crook who was unjustly sent to prison, returns to his home community, foils the deacon, and utilizes the most ordinary and yet unusual thing in the world to make the world sit up and take notice.

One thing about "Turn to The Right", is the characteristically American humor which brightens it throughout. We enjoyed it immensely, although the waits were a trifling long between the acts.

But perhaps that was because we were anxious to see the rest of the play.

FOUR TAKE BATHS WHEN THEIR CANOES CAPSIZE

Four men took an unexpected icy bath in Lake Mendota Sunday, two in the morning and two in the afternoon, when their canoes capsized. Both times Captain Thomas Isbell was only about two minutes in reaching them. The occupants of one of the canoes were without life preservers.

Capt. Isbell reports that every canoe in the boathouse was rented out Sunday night.

It is reported that a third canoe tipped over, but Captain Isbell said that he knew nothing about it.

Gov. Preus, Frank B. Kellogg, Mentioned As Possible Successors

ST. PAUL, Minn. — While further arrangements were being made today for the funeral of U. S. Senator Knute Nelson of Minn., speculation continued in political circles as to who would be his successor. Senator Nelson died suddenly Saturday night on a train near York, Pa.

Funeral services might not be held until Friday at Alexandria, Minn. The body, which will reach St. Paul Tuesday morning, will be escorted to the rotunda of the state capitol, where it will lie in state.

A special train will leave here Wednesday for Alexandria where services will be held in the armory.

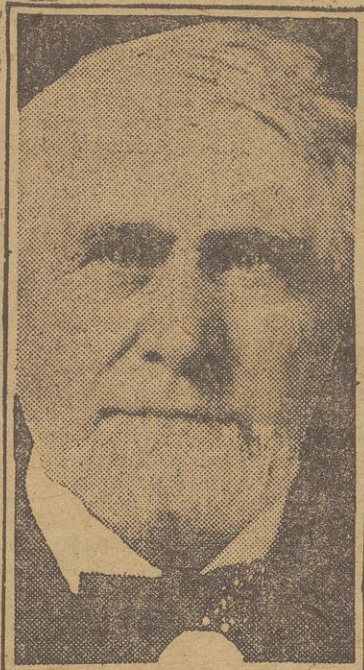

Selection of a successor to Minnesota's junior senator will await the return of Gov. J. A. O. Preus, who will accompany the body from Chicago. It is not expected that any announcement will be made for some time.

Prominently mentioned as candidates for the office are Governor Preus; Fred W. Putnam, who resigned last week as state railroad and warehouse commissioner; Frank B. Kellogg, former U. S. Senator; Oscar Hallam, justice of the state supreme court and Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota. The governor has denied that he would seek the senatorship.

Born in Voss, Norway, on Feb. 2, 1843, Nelson came to the United States with his widowed mother, when he was six years old, and they found their first American home in Chicago. Knute helped his mother by selling papers. Later they moved to Wisconsin and the youngster obtained his first schooling in Dane county, going to the academy at Albion, Wis., for three years.

In the Civil War Nelson entered the Fourth Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry.

He served three years, was wounded, was taken prisoner at Port Hudson, La., and was discharged a corporal. He then finished his course at Albion, read law in the office of the late Senator William F. Vilas, Madison, was admitted to the bar, and was elected a member of the Wisconsin assembly in 1868-'69. He went to Minnesota in July, 1871. A brother of Sen. Nelson is a resident of Deerfield, Wis.

In 1868, Mr. Nelson married Miss Nicholina Jacobson, at Christiania, Wis., and they moved to Alexandria, Minn., which was to be Nelson's home thereafter. Five children were born, but four have died, leaving Miss Ida Nelson the only surviving child.

Mr. Nelson was elected to the house of representatives in 1883 after he had served terms in the legislature of both Minnesota and Wisconsin as state senator. After six years in the lower house of congress he retired and resumed his law practice. He was elected governor of Minnesota in 1892 and was reelected two years later but resigned in 1895 to become U. S. senator to which office he was reelected in 1901-07-13 and 1919.

WISCONSIN MEN MAY BE CONSULS

Badgers May Try For Government Positions in Orient

Wisconsin men will have an opportunity to try for openings in the United States consular service in the Orient, under examinations for the posts which will be held in Washington during June.

The national government is making an effort to secure for this service as many college graduates as possible. Unmarried men between the ages of 21 and 26 are eligible consular assistants, while men between the ages of 19 and 26 may become candidates for the position of student interpreter.

Four Offices Open

Four kinds of offices are open to the candidates. They are for the posts of consul, vice consul de carriere, consular assistant, and student interpreter.

University men will be especially interested in the appointment as student interpreter as an opportunity to study the Orient. Those men qualifying in the examinations for student interpreter are trained at the expense of the government for service in both China and Japan.

Promotion After Two Years

After a two year period assignment to either the American legation at Peking or the American embassy at Tokyo the student interpreters are promoted, following examination, to the grade of interpreter and to duty as vice consuls. A final examination after a number of years of study of the language of the country will give them the appointment as principal consular officers to China and Japan.

The federal department at Madison does not have charge of the consular examinations, and application must be made by those wanting to take the examination directly to the Secretary of State at Washington. Applications must be made not less than thirty days before the examination, the date for which has not been definitely announced, but which will be during the month of June.

HARVARD Graduate School of Business

A two-year course in business, open to college graduates, leading to the degree of Master in Business Administration

Points of interest regarding the Harvard Business School:

1. The above graph shows the growth in enrolment and the large number of students coming from institutions other than Harvard. During the present year 158 colleges are represented.
2. The case method is used. Actual problems obtained from business are used as the basis of instruction. A staff of investigators is constantly at work gathering problems.
3. Business is regarded and studied as a profession.
4. What the students in the School think of the training which they receive is indicated by the high percentage of eligible first year men who return to complete the course—84 per cent. the present year.
5. The training in the School materially shortens the apprenticeship period in business. A prominent business man recently said: "On the basis of our experience with your graduates, I estimate that you are saving them five years net. Six months after they come to us, your men are as well fitted to assume responsibility and to make decisions as the typical college man at thirty."

The enrolment is limited in first year courses.

YELLOW CAB affords something more than mere transportation from place to place. The most disreputable cabs—dirty, lacking in system and responsibility—will perhaps do that much.

YELLOW CAB renders transportation—and more. It is transportation plus clean perfect equipment—plus careful, capable drivers—plus organization and financial responsibility.

YELLOW CAB gives more and charges less. Its service is characterized by value. Haven't you noticed that the poorest type of cabs usually charge most and give least?

U. S. Supreme Bench Kills One Daugherty Ruling; Upholds Second

WASHINGTON—The ruling of Atty. Gen. Daugherty against the serving of liquor on American ships on the high seas was overturned today by the supreme court which held at the same time, however, that the ban prohibiting both American and foreign ships from bringing liquor into American ports under bond was legal.

The court held that the prohibition amendment could not be applied to prevent American ships from selling beverages when they are outside American territorial waters. To that extent the decision reversed a decision in the case by Federal Judge Hand at New York.

Within the three mile limit, however, the court found that an entirely different situation obtained. Sustaining the position taken by Judge Hand on that point, the decision declared it illegal for American or foreign ships to bring into American ports or waters liquors sealed in bond for the use of passengers on outgoing voyages.

The decision, regarded by the federal government as one of the most important yet handed down in regard to prohibition enforcement, was read by Justice Van Devanter. Justices McReynolds and Sutherland dissented.

Justice Sutherland delivered adissenting opinion explaining that he agreed that American ships cannot have aboard intoxicating liquors in American territorial waters, but believed the prohibition should not apply to foreign ships.

What the practical effect of the decision of the highest tribunal will be cannot at once be foretold. Until the recent opinion of the attorney general, American steamships were permitted to serve liquor on the high seas and in foreign ports, and both American and foreign vessels could bring intoxicants intended for that purpose into American ports sealed in their sea stores.

Now, however, ships serving liquor and having a surplus left on arrival at the three mile limit could not bring it into territorial waters of the United States and ships bound away from American ports will have to pass beyond the territorial limit without any intoxicants aboard. Some officials suggested it was difficult to see how U.S. ships could resume liquor serving without great inconvenience.

Henry H. Trumbower, member of the state railroad commission, leaves that position today on his resignation tendered some time ago. Mr. Trumbower will go to Washington, D. C.
