WIFE OF PROFESSOR IS FOUND DEAD IN GAS FILLED ROOM

Coroner Stephenson Gives Verdict of Suicide in Death Yesterday

Death by suicide, was the verdict made by Coroner J. H. Stephenson yesterday afternoon over the body of Mrs. W. H. Peterson, wife of W. H. Peterson, associate professor of agricultural chemistry, who was found dead in a gas filled room at the home of Miss Amelia Gath, 151 West Gilman street.

The body was found at noon by Miss Gath, a personal friend of Mrs. Peterson, but death had occurred sometime during the night according to Dr. G. H. Robbins, who was called immediately following the discovery.

Had Been Ill

Having detected the odor of gas, Miss Gath tried the door of Mrs. Peterson's room and found the key-hole and cracks stuffed with cloth. Mrs. Peterson was found lying on her bed, with a quilt over her head and over a gas tube attached to a heater on the floor. Mrs. Peterson had been in ill health for about three years.

Mrs. Peterson was formerly a student of the university and was preparing to re-enter this fall. She had partially made out her program of classes.

Leaves Three Notes

She was a graduate of Wellesley college and a daughter of Congressman White from Louisville, Ky.

On the dresser in the room were three notes, one was attached to her sorority pin with instructions that it be sent to the local chapter and given to some member who needed one, and another attached to her Wellesley college pin, asking that it be sent to the president of that school to be given to some girl. The other note gave directions for the disposal for her clothes.

REGISTRATION DATA READY TOMORROW

Expect Enrollment to Break All Previous University Records

Will the enrollment this year exceed that of previous years?

This question will definitely be decided tomorrow noon when official data on 1923 registration figures will be finally compiled and made public, according to information received from the office of W. E. Hiestand, registrar, on Wednesday.

Officials compiling the data have great difficulty in estimating the numbers and can not compare them with those of previous years because of the fact that the registration days this year were shorter.

"I can not say whether or not the enrollment this year will break the previous record because we were all so busy that none of us have given it any thought," W. E. Hiestand, registrar, said on Wednesday.

"A complete count will undoubtedly be available Thursday noon although we can promise nothing definitely today as a large number of students have still been registering throughout the day."

The total number of students enrolled at the university was 7,825, according to a statement made at the office of the registrar. This includes graduates, special, unclassified, medical and library school students.

All students in attendance at the university during the previous academic year totaled 11,522, according to previous registration figures. This included all summer session, vocational training and agricultural students.

More than 20,000 students were enrolled in the extension department. Many more are expected this year, according to the expectation of the extension officials.

Class Schedules Can Be Changed Until Saturday

Changes in class schedules can be made by reporting to advisers up until Saturday night. All changes thereafter can be made only with the consent of the executive committee of student advisers, according to W. D. Hiestand, registrar. Students are urged to get their programs fixed up by Saturday to avoid possible confusion about assignment to classes and because it will not be easy to alter the schedule later without good reason.

OLSON URGES ALL TO MARCH FRIDAY

Life of Tradition Dependent on Student Participation

Whether or not the Varsity Welcome will continue as the official and spectacular greeting of freshmen and new students by the upperclassmen will be determined by the manner in which the students participate this Friday morning, according to Prof. Julius Olson.

"To make Varsity Welcome the imposing affair which it must be to do credit to the university as a whole it is absolutely imperative that every member of the student body fall into line and march," said Professor Olson yesterday.

All 11 o'clock classes are to be dismissed to enable every professor and every student to be on hand and to take the part assigned.

Keystone, organization of the presidents of all women's organizations, and the Student Council of Forty composed of the presidents of all mens organizations on the campus, are cooperating in making all of the arrangements.

An impressive line of march has been outlined, and will be carried out under the leadership of Professor Corp.

A guard of honor, made up of 24 women dressed entirely in white will be stationed at Lincoln Terrace while the four classes assemble at their respective meeting places. The instant that the band starts playing they will march down the upper campus to the knoll to meet the freshmen, at which point they will turn and march back to the top of the hill leading the freshmen. Upon reaching the statue they will sit down in a semi-circle behind the statue.

The seniors, graduates, and law students will meet in front of the Biology building. The juniors are to form into lines in front of the Law building, while the sophomores meet near the Engineering building. The freshmen will assemble at the foot of upper campus near music hall.

Special persons have been appointed to supervise the formation of the lines and will see that each class starts marching in the correct form. A professor working with Professor Corp will also be stationed with each group.

The university band with 100 members in full uniform will be seated on the terrace at the top on the hill, and will pay for all of the marching and the songs on the program.

Governor John J. Blaine representing the State of Wisconsin, Pres. E. A. Birge representing the university, and Prof. Frederick Paxson representing the faculty will speak to the assemblage.

Lois Jacobs '24, president of Keystone, and Harold Seering '24, president of Forensic board, have been chosen as representative upperclassmen to speak on behalf of the student body in welcoming the freshmen.

"The Badger Ballad" and "On Wisconsin" as well as the university hymn "Light For All" will be

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS FROSH BANQUET IN "Y" BUILDING

Professors, Coach, and Students Speak to Yearlings at Feast

The annual traditional Frosh banquet of the university Y. M. C. A. was held last night in the rear lobby of Association building. More than 200 students were at the meeting which started at 6:30 o'clock.

Prof. A. B. Hall of the Law school and chairman of the board of directors of the university Y. M. C. A. presided at the meeting. The principal speakers were Coach Jack Ryan, and Prof. Carl Russell Fish of the History department. Fredrick E. Wolf, general secretary of the university Y, and Gamber Tegtmeyer '24, president of the student organization, spoke on the work of the association and affiliations with the organization.

Frautschi Talks

Walte Frautschi '24, talked on student publications, forensics and dramatics on the university campus. "There is a place for every man in the university in some outside activity," said Frautschi. Ezra Crane '24, varsity yell leader, led the yells and the songs. Members of the cabinet were introduced to the students, and Henry Smith '25 and Frederick Clapp '25 spoke on the work of membership and discussion groups committees.

"Everybody admires an enthusiastic crowd," said Ryan in his speech. "With a little more spirit the men will get more out of university life as well as out of athletics. Wisconsin has more athletic activities than any other school in the Western conference. When you Freshmen have the opportunity show the enthusiasm of a live class."

Ryan also called attention to the first scrimmage of the Varsity football team held yesterday and that the new plays which had to be devised. He said that he had worked out some new plays for his men and that he was going to give them to the men tonight.

Fish Gives Advice

Prof Fish wore his traditional green vest of Frosh banquet fame. He gave an amusing talk with subtle advice to the new men.

"The university is the preparation for, not the end, of life. It gives that to your life. The object of the university today has grown to be teaching people to spend their leisure time rather than learning to earn a living," said the professor.

Hi-Y Boat Ride

The Hi-Y boat ride under the auspices of the university Y. M. C. A. will be held late Friday afternoon. A boat has been obtained from the Bernard Boat company. It is planned to have all the men interested in Hi-Y work in high school attend this activity.

The committee of new students in the university to assist the members of the Sophomore commission was appointed yesterday. The following students compose the committee: Lowell Frautschi, Arnold Montgomery, Richard Misselhorn, Edmond Harget, Dean Crawford, Clayton High, Leonard Ramlow, Harry Thoma and Fridjob Tobiesen.

First Mixer Becomes Annual Student Event

The first all-university mixer will be held at the armory Saturday evening, as was announced yesterday by Union board.

The first university mixer has become an annual event of the university and is the first all university social function of the year. Union board mixers have become a tradition of the institution and have been held with great success in former years. More than 2,500 students attended the mixer last year.

The price of admissions is 25 cents, the proceeds to go towards Wisconsin's Memorial Union to swell the funds for Wisconsin's Memorial building. A ten piece orchestra has been secured to furnish the music.

GOODNIGHT ASKS HELP AND COOPERATION ON PART OF FRATERNITIES

FROSH MUST ATTEND CONVO AT GYM TODAY

There will be an all Freshman convocation in the men's gym at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Attendance is compulsory for all freshman men and women, and the attendance is going to be checked.

Deans Sellery, Roe and Glicksman, all of the College of Letters and Science, will speak, and will emphasize the value of a college education. They will give suggestions to the Freshmen how to work and how to get the most out of their four years here.

This is the first time such a convocation has ever been held, and two more are to be held in the course of the semester.

The meeting will last about fifty minutes.

4 OFFICERS ADDED TO MILITARY STAFF

Advanced Course Enrollment Exceeds That of Last Year

The military department has added four officers to its staff to replace the officers who left to take other posts at the end of last year. The new instructors have already acquainted themselves with the problems of the R. O. T. C. here and are taking constructive steps in the betterment of the Wisconsin unit.

Major John S. Wood, commandant of the military department last year, has been transferred to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. Major O. Ward is stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., Captain J. S. Ballard at Yale university and Lieut. J. T. Keeley at Ripon college.

The military staff for the present school year consists of Major O. L. Brunzell, commandant; Maor L. L. Lampert, senior infantry instructor; Captain S. E. Reinhart, senior field artillery instructor; Captain F. E. Borden and Lieutenants J. H. Comstock, R. K. Crane, E. A. Erickson, H. L. Rogers and E. M. Sutherland, instructors.

"The work of registration in the military department is progressing very favorably," Major O. L. Brunzell, commandant said yesterday. "More students are taking the advanced course than last year although the number in the basic course will be lower. We plan for a very good and successful year in the department."

W. A. A. Collects Funds For Cottage on Lake

Although only about one-fifth of the members were present at the first meeting of W. A. A. last evening, $170 in cash and $40 in pledges was taken in for the fund of the W. A. A. cottage to be built on Lake Mendota near Eagle Heights.

The cottage will cost approximately $3,500, of which 75 per cent, or $2800, must be raised in cash by next Tuesday if it is to be built by Homecoming as planned. The remaining 25 per cent must be available one and one-half times in pledges or else underwritten by persons acceptable to the regents.

The regents granted the use of the land on Aug. 15. In order to carry out plans for the construction of the cottage, incorporation was carried on under the direction of Nina Faris, '24, Gretchen Kroncke, '24, and Florence Mahoney, '24. Norma Carl, '23, and Florence Mahorney, '24, were active in drawing up the plans with the help of the architect, Charles Huart of the state architect's office.

A very important corporation meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 2, to elect a board of directors. Everyone who has already donated money toward the fund or written pledges belongs to the corporation.

Over $1100 has been pledged so far in pledges of $50 or more.

Statement Urges Fraternities to Make This Year The Best

All fraternity men were urged to cooperate in making this college year's work the finest, cleanest and strongest that fraternities have ever done on this campus, in a sweeping statement issued by Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men, yesterday, on conditions at this university.

Dean Goodnight gave out this statement to The Cardinal in order to make clear to the student body his stand on fraternities and the need of putting an end to bad practices among the individual groups. He stressed the great responsibility which rests upon the fraternities as a whole.

The statement follows:

"The extraordinarily keen interest in the fraternity situation which has developed this fall is a matter of gratification to me, for I believe that good will come of it. The communication of the National Interfraternity council, which I forwarded to the various fraternities with a mere note of transmittal, is a digest of criticisms appearing in McNally's novel 'The Barb' supposedly located on the Campus of Minnesota of Gundelfinger's tirade against fraternities entitled The Passing of Brother Greek, (New Fraternity Press, Sewickley, Pa.), and of Kirkwood's (Minnesota) scathing contribution to School and Society for May 5, 1923.

Dean is Misquoted

"I urged the reporter who wrote the first news story on this communication to quote the sources, but he did not see fit to do so, the result being that a press dispatch appeared in various papers of the state, under such head-lines as Dean Indicts College Frats—Boors, Loafers, Drunkards, Epithets Used in Goodnight Letter, (Milwaukee Journal); Fraternities Are Scored by Dean Goodnight, (Waukesha Freeman), and many others.

"I regret that my own attitude in this matter is thus distorted before the people of the state. It is

SELL 200 CONCERT TICKETS FIRST DAY

Dawson Advises Early Buying For Union Series as Sale Record Falls

More than 200 season tickets to the Union board concert series were sold yesterday, the first day of sale, according to John C. Dawson '24, president of the board. The value of the tickets sold represents an increase of $200 over the value of those sold the first day in last year's sale.

With the finest concert Union Board has yet offered in prospect, students, faculty members and townspeople have rushed their orders to assure themselves regular places in the university gymnasium where the concerts will be held.

All of the 1800 seats in the gymnasium are excellent or a concert audience's use, according to Dawson, but persons who have favorite locations must order now to secure them, he advises.

Last year three fourths of the seats for the concerts were occupied by season ticket holders. It is expected that the entire house will be sold out this year in season tickets. All profits go to the Memorial Union building fund.

Season tickets are now on sale at Smith Brothers' Music store. Prices range from $4.50 to $5.50. Single concert tickets are priced at $1.50 to $2.50 for Reinald Werrenrath, and Maier and Pattison, and at $2.50 to $3 for Jascha Heifetz. Telephone reservations may be made by calling Badger 771 any time during the day.

REGENTS ELECT BUSINESS HEAD

Phillips Officially Chosen Business Manager of University

Prof. J. D. Phillips was appointed business manager of the University of Wisconsin at a recent meeting of the University Board of Regents. He was acting business manager for the past two years and formerly assistant dean of the College of Engineering.

During the World War, he was educational director of the army vocational school, which was conducted at the university for the war department and trained 2,125 soldiers in a rtisan trades.

Professor Phillips was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1893, and was a member of the Illinois university faculty for several years. In 1902, he became a member of the faculty of the Wisconsin College of Engineering and in 1909 was appointed assistant dean of the college.

In cooperation with Carl Ham-benchen, he invented an electrolytic method of removing oxides from silver and other metals, and is the author of three textbooks written in collaboration with other members of the Wisconsin faculty.

4,000 Copies of Cardinal Issued Daily This Week

Approximately 4,000 copies of the Cardinal are being circulated among the students and alumni of the university every day this week. Although the subscription lists have not been completed for the semester, an increased circulation is evident. More than 800 alumni subscribe to The Cardinal by mail.

Eleven carriers and one mailer will take charge of the regular subscribers next Tuesday. Free delivery will be continued this week.

The delivery district extends west to Edgewood ave., and the 2700 block on University av., south to Lake Monona, and east to Butler street. Copies of the publication are mailed to places outside of this section.

NEW STUDENT STORES OPEN ON STATE STREET

Eight new stores, catering especially to students, have appeared on State street since the close of school last spring. The stores are Brown and Bareis, store for men, 220 State; Butterfly Candy Shoppe, 310 State; Pfeiffer's Restaurant, formerly The Campus, 716 State; The Model, men's popular priced clothes, 205 State; Savidusky Dry Cleaning, Gorham and State; Brewington's, typewriters and supplies, 533 State; University Typewriting Exchange, 429 State; and D. S. G. A. Gives Playlet on Traditions of Freshmen

"Freshman Hours", a playlet given by the upperclassmen was the feature of the general get-together held in the concert room of Lathrop hall last night, under the auspices of S. G. A.

Preceding the program a reception was held in the parlors. Dean F. Louise Nardin and the members of Keystone formed the receiving line. During the reception green buttons were sold and the freshmen were urged by Dean Nardin to wear them on the hill as a sign of recognition for the other members of the class.

The play was a personification of the various trials and joys in the life of a freshman. The committee heads in charge of the party were, Eleanor Day '24, chairman of the party, Alice Corl '25, chairman of the play, Jean Noard, coach, Katherine O'Shea '24, costumes, Mabel Jobse '24, music, and Lois Barry '25, programs.

OHIO FACULTY COMES FROM 135 COLLEGES

The faculty of the Ohio State university is made up of graduates of 135 colleges and universities in all parts of the world, 75 of which have studied at foreign institutions. The University of Michigan, after Ohio State, has the most alumni on the faculty, the number being 16.

Norje Clan Will Not Celebrate Lief Ericson

Norwegians of Madison will not celebrate Lief Erickson Day this year, because of the projected visit of Johannes Bojer on October 16. Prof. R. B. Anderson, who founded the day in Madison, announced yesterday. Boer is one of the foremost Norwegian writers of today.

Octopus Enters Fifth Year With New Helpers

The Octopus, Wisconsin's humor magazine, is starting its fifth year of existence with an exceptionally fine crop of new writers and artists, in addition to the staff itself. The monthly has been recognized as the leading college humor magazine of the middle West, and from all indications it will be far better this year than ever before.

That students recognize the convenience of having their copies come to their own doors is shown by the large sale of yearly subscriptions. The campaign will be continued long enough to give everyone a chance to take advantage of the mail service.

"National advertisers have been writing us for space in the book, and we may have to increase its size," William Fronk, Business Manager, said yesterday. "In that case, the Octopus will be one of the biggest, as well as one of the best, humor magazines in the country."

Badger Grads to Teach At Washington College

The State College of Washington has as new members on its faculty, several people from the University of Wisconsin. They are William P. Hansen, who will teach commercial subjects; F. R. Yoder, will teach sociology and Miss Mary Maxwell and Miss Hazel Wright will be in the department of physical education. John M. Charters, graduate from Beloit, will instruct in finance. Miss Mary McKee, who instructed at W. S. C. has returned to the University of Wisconsin for further training.

Gun and Blade Club to Open With Mixer

The Gun and Blade club, an organization of disabled Veteran Bureau trainees, will open its year's activity with a smoker to be given at the cabinet room on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock Friday night.

The purpose is to give the trainees an opportunity to hear messages from men prominent in state city, and university circles, to become better acquainted with each other and to make plans for the coming year.

Short talks on subjects of interest to all trainees will be given by Dean Goodnight, Dean Millar, Dean Phillips, Dean J. A. James, and President Birge. Walter Chisolm, local sub-district manager of the Veteran's bureau, Major Lorenz, of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute, Governor John J. Blaine, and Mayor Kittleson will speak also.

After these short talks a mixer will be held and refreshments will be served.

WIRE SERVICETICKET BUGBEAR
IS PAST HISTORY,
HUNTER STATESMany Seats in Student Section
Will Be Provided This Season

Students and members of the University do not have to worry about good football tickets this year.

That was the statement made yesterday by Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales. The entire north half of the west stand has been reserved exclusively as a university section for both the Minnesota and Michigan games and no one but students and members of the university will be permitted to sit there.

"The stadium this year has been divided four ways," stated Hunter. After reserving the small center section or "W" men, squad and Regents, the West stand has been divided between the students and alumni. The students will be provided with seats beginning at the 50 yard line and extending north, the alumni south from the 50 yard line. The partisans of the Visiting team will be placed in the East stand extending south from the 50 yard line while the general public will be placed in the East and North stands, extending north from the 50 yard line.

Limit Sales

"Under the rules adopted by the Athletic Council last spring, which were announced at the time, students and members of the university will be limited to one ticket at the student rate in the special university section, which must be applied for in person at the ticket office, or they may waive that right and apply for two tickets only at the general rate of $2.50 each by mail, but they cannot procure both, nor can they purchase a seat at the general rate to accompany one at the student rate.

Student or University applications for tickets for the Minnesota Home-Coming game Oct. 27, will be received at the ticket office in the gymnasium between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. from Oct. 1 to 12 inclusive. The student will fill out an application blank that is provided and present it with his fee card and 50 cents at the window. His fee card will be stamped with the name of the game and he will give a receipt for his money and application which must be presented the week of the game and exchanged for his ticket.

"Students desiring to sit together may file their applications together and thus procure their seats adjoining. The president or some other officer of a fraternity or sorority may procure tickets for each member by filing a list giving the name, class and college, with fee cards to correspond and 50 cents for each and procure seats in one block.

"There will be absolutely no need of the forming of a line to apply for student tickets as 7,800 seats have been reserved exclusively for the University section, every one of them a good seat, and the students have eleven days in which to file their applications. There will be no need to cut a class or miss a meal to file applications.

"Heretofore students were entitled to one $2.50 ticket at 50 cents and could purchase three adjoining seats at $2.50 each. Because the seats in the four center sections on both sides of the field were $3, it meant the first student application would draw seats about the 25 yard line and with more than 90 per cent of the students purchasing four tickets only a comparatively few students were able to obtain seats in front of the goal line.

Cheering Section

The Department of Physical Education and the Athletic Council were not satisfied with that arrangement. It was felt the students were entitled to as good seats as anyone and the present system was devised to meet that condition. Then it will give Wisconsin what it has not had in many years—a strictly cheering section.

Although applications have been coming in for tickets for the Alumni coming in for tickets for the Alumni public since Sept. 1, Mr. Hunter declares the University section will

Injury Takes Tom
Nichols From Squad

Tom Nichols, veteran center on the varsity team, suffered an injury during scrimmage yesterday which will put him out of the game for a week or ten days, according to head coach Jack Ryan.

Nichols suffered several torn ligaments in his chest and may not see action in the Coe Game.

Pearse, second-string center and Teckemeyer will be used in the absence of Nichols. Teckemeyer has been showing up well during the past few days, and is pushing Pearse for the job.

University Offers New Correspondence Course in Football Technique

Expert instruction in the technique of football will be given this fall through a correspondence study course offered by the university extension school, and arranged by Prof. Guy S. Lowman, director of the university gymnasium.

The course is especially popular at this time of the year, as the football coaches, members of high school football teams, and others who take the study can apply their newly-gained knowledge during the coming football season.

Instruction in football previous to last year was available only in summer school, and such a course had never been given by any university through mail, according to Prof. W. H. Lighty, secretary of the correspondence study department. Under the present plan anyone interested may obtain expert coaching and individual assistance by means of the series of assignments and reports.

Professor Lowman, who has prepared the course, has been a football coach since 1905 and has played and coached in the east as well as in the west. He has acted as mentor at the University of Missouri and Kansas State Agricultural college. He has been an experienced scout for six years in the Western conference.

Courses in basketball, track and field athletics, prepared last year, afford an opportunity for expert instruction in these sports. Dr. W. E. Meanwell, varsity basketball coach, and Prof. T. E. Jones, chairman of the department of physical education, are in charge of these correspondence study courses, which are especially popular during the months of the year in which basketball and track and field athletics are the seasonal sports.

be held exclusively for students and members of the University until Oct. 12.

Sales Close Oct. 8

For the Coe and Michigan Aggie games, Oct. 6 and 13 there will be no reserved seats but the student ticket will be sold from a booth in front of the gymnasium for two days before the game. Applications for the Michigan game Nov. 17 will be received in the same manner as those for the Minnesota game from Oct. 22 to Nov. 3 and applications for the Chicago game will be ready about the same time.

Any group of people directly connected with the university may send one delegate to the ticket office with all applications from his group. Each individual in the group must, however, appear in person at the gym to sign his own application.

The number of seats granted to students will be increased almost 80 per cent, and these seats will all be better than the best seat obtainable last year.

FROSH TEAM IN WORKOUT UNDER THREE COACHES

Squad is Being Organized Under Jones, Nelson, and Brumm

Coach T. E. Jones is gradually rounding his frosh football proteges into the proper condition necessary for scrimmaging and hard playing.

The list of candidates has increased so that the total is now well over 100. This increased enrollment has necessitated the assistance of "Kibo" Brumm, who, with "Gundy" Nelson, will assist Coach Jones in grooming the yearling candidates.

The men were divided into three tentative teams yesterday afternoon, and were sent through a line scrimmage after which they were immediately replaced by other candidates. The coaches tried out all the men possible in the various positions in an endeavor to get some early idea of the merits of the various players.

The spirit and fight which is being displayed by the freshmen is very encouraging to the coaches. Every man is putting his utmost energy into the practice, and a merry fight is assured before the final team will be picked.

The players are gradually overcoming their early awkwardness, and are becoming accustomed to the style of play which Coach Jones is teaching them. The style is the same used by Coach Ryan with the varsity team, and through this method most of the candidates will be somewhat familiar with his style of football when they return next fall to compete for places on the varsity team.

Bob Bond, brother of "Hobe", who played halfback on the varsity squad a few years back, is out for halfback. From early indications he should make a strong bid for the berth.

Brofskie, former Marinette high school player appears to be promising candidates for quarter-back. The large number of excellent candidates out for each position on the team offers the coaches a splendid field to choose from, and many men who have not yet attracted attention are sure to find their stride before long.

GRID GRAPHS

Several days ago this column urged freshman football men of any ability to report to Coach Jones. Today the equipment room was swamped with tall, heavy, short and skinny high-school proteges of all descriptions and there weren't enough suits to go around—that's the spirit.

Well, well, the fans who tramped out to Camp Randall night after night to see some real scrimmage, were certainly satisfied after last night's workout.

Ryan lined the boys up at an early hour for the first scrimmage of the year, and although the weather was hot enough to melt the ordinary college on-looker, the jersey-clad warriors hit it up extra-ordinary.

Our good-looking fullback, in the person of Mr. Taft tore through that line like "Spark Plug" himself, while "Killer" Radke ran the ends like chained lightning.

Credit must be given the boys who faced that bunch last night, because an adding machine was useless after they started down the field. Track starts pretty soon boys.

Varsity experience from last year doesn't mean much to Ryan, after watching Nichols and Pearse roll in sweat during their lesson on how to play the center position yesterday.

Better keep an eye on that Saari boy folks—he's getting that running pass proposition down to perfection.

And speaking of passes, just

Varsity Fish to Meet
With Steinauer Friday

Swimming Coach Joe Steinauer will hold a meeting of all candidates for this year's swimming squad in the varsity gym Friday night at seven-thirty. The prospects for the season will be looked over, and plans will be laid for the future.

Hugo Czerwony, captain elect, will assist the coach.

The prospects for a good team are excellent. They promise several good men besides the nucleus of the past season's team which has returned. Jimmy Hipple, captain of the 1922 frosh squad is again eligible, and may be expected to show up well in the shorter dashes.

Captain Czerwony, winner of the interscholastic 220 breast stroke at Princeton is good for points in every meet.

START WORKOUTS
FOR NET TOURNAY

Two Varsity Men Remain as Nucleus For New Team

Because of the loss of Tennis Coach G. E. Linden, the fall net season has been slow in starting. However, with the appointment of George Moulding as captain, and Nick Aagesen, as manager, the reorganization of the fall squad is well under way.

Under their able management plans are being made for the all university fall tourney, and the courts are being set in order. The tournament will be for the purpose of bringing to light any unknown talent, and helping to get the men back into form preparatory to next season's competition.

It is hoped that some member of the faculty tennis club will be able to take charge of the management of the squad. No one has been definitely chosen for this position, but it is understood that a definite announcement will soon be made.

"We have great prospects for a successful season this year," said Nick Aagesen in discussing the future of the squad. And great it should be, for, although the team will feel the loss of Thomas Tredwell, and George Bennett, there still remains Sak, who won over Bennett in a thrilling match for the summer-school championship, and made an enviable record in state tourney play. Nick Aagesen, who played second man throughout the past year's conference competition will also be ready to answer roll call. Captain elect George Moulding will be the third man. The fourth vacancy on the team should be easy to fill with the wealth of material which promises keen competition for the remnants of the last season's players.

As soon as the courts are in order the lists will be opened for registration in the fall tournament, and the drawings will be made.

watch Gill nab 'em. There's only one fault he's got to correct and that is to keep his legs from getting mixed up with the ball—otherwise O. K.

After watching Coach Jones, Nelson and Kibo Brumm run through their daily dozen with the Frosh Squad, one would say they have a nice looking bunch of youngsters out there. Only the third day of real practice, and they're getting a nice dose of rudiments already.

One fellow out for Frosh is about 35 years old, and has a hard time hiding behind his whiskers every time a play is pulled off. A good elusive man for the backfield we'd say.

Up north this summer the "plow-jockeys" up there heard Holmes and Harris were Wisconsin football players. After speaking with those two athletes for a while, one of them came out with this—"Aw you fellas aren't football players; you look more like a couple of 'punkin rollers' to us."

More when the punts go ninety yards!

NEENAH—Louis Borchardt escaped injury, but his car was wrecked when it went into the ditch near the Winnebago avenue bridge.

RYAN PUTS MEN
THROUGH FIRST
REAL SCRIMMAGE

Many Changes Are Made in Lineup During Fray

Scrimmage, not one of those little halfway tussles, but real fighting scrimmage with the regular varsity pitted against Keg Driver's newly formed All-Americans was the order of the day at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon.

The treat which the crowd of fans has been waiting for so long was dished out in plenty. For more than a half hour the work lasted, and the varsity team, thought by many fans to be weak because of lack of scrimmage, left the field intact and craving for more.

Granted the play was ragged and many onlookers were disappointed at not seeing some of the stars tear up the Drivemen for a touchdown every time they were given the ball, the fact that those eleven men faced opposition together for the first time must be taken into consideration.

The All-Americans were powerless, largely because they have been organized for only two days, but with the regulars still unused to the feel of the ball and to coordination in their work together, there was little spectacular play.

The varsity was given the ball and a series of off tackle plays and line drives was in order. With the exception of a short time when the All-Americans had the ball after returning Stengel's punt, the regulars were on the offensive during the entire fray.

Taft was sent through the line time after time but Driver's best men were unable to stop him. Radke relieved him, and went through at will gaining through the line as well as around the ends.

Stengel was sent through the line and looked extremely good to those who have been worrying about the lack of reserve backfield material.

Eagleburger was started in at quarter but was relieved shortly by Jack Williams. During his short workout, however, he hurtled around the end once for a touchdown and tore through the center of the line again for another.

The regulars as well as the All-Americans were relieved rapidly so that none of them were given too much work for the first day.

In the line the offense looked good, considering the lack of practice the men have had together. Gerber, who is fighting it out with several others for the tackle position opposite Captain Below was going great guns and easily held up his end of the work both on the offensive and defensive.

Nichols, Pearse and Teckemeyer were all used at center and Bieberstein and Miller stood most of the pounding at the guard posts.

Before the scrimmage session the routine drill was gone through and signals were run. The squad is scrapping harder every day and fans are more than pleased with the spirit which is being shown.

Announce Plan to Raise
Math Research Fund

Prof. Arnold Dresden has announced a campaign to raise the middle west's quota for the $100,000 endowment fund being sought by the American Mathematical society for research work. He is a member of the society's committee in charge of the campaign.

All science advance depends upon the development of mathematical research, now carried on chiefly by the society's publications, says Professor Dresden. "The only way by which this research can be carried on is through the enlargement of present funds," he declared.

The only alternatives are cutting down publications or providing for a permanent income because of increased cost of carrying on the work.

The campaign is to be carried on by personal solicitation among members of the society, and appeals to organizations "far-sighted enough to see the importance of the work."

LIBRARY BUILDING IS WELL EQUIPPED

Covers Nearly Block, Contains Half Million Volumes,
280,000 Pamphlets

The university library and State Historical society building, which contains half a million volumes and 280,000 pamphlets, occupies nearly a block of ground on the lower campus. It is considered one of the most beautiful of university buildings.

In addition to the large general reading room on the second floor and the periodical room there are three department libraries and reading rooms and 12 seminary rooms allotted to American and European history, economics, political science, mathematics, Semitic languages, modern languages, Greek, Latin and education and philosophy.

The books lining the walls of the reading room are accessible to any student. Other books may be obtained by filling out a card with reference to the catalogue files. The large amount of Wisconsin reference material enables the student to gain additional facts upon the subject he is studying.

The fourth floor, occupied by the State Historical museum, contains a permanent collection of reproductions of old masters and from time to time modern paintings are displayed. The museum contains some of the most remarkable collections of Indian relics in the country.

The maps and manuscripts department has a fine collection of manuscript material which relates to the settlement of the west. The Boone collection, containing Daniel Boone's original diary, is famous throughout the United States. Theodore Roosevelt, when he wrote his "Winning of the West," made extensive use of the library collection. This summer Joseph Hergesheimer spent two weeks in Madison using the western manuscript material in enlarging his series of articles on "The Magnetic West," which appeared in The Saturday Evening Post, into book form.

The newspaper room receives 84 daily newspapers each day and 360 weekly newspapers each week. One of the rare journals in the collection is the Cherokee Phoenix of New Echot, Ga. This is the first paper published by the Indians in their own language. The earliest American newspaper in the files dates back to 1710.

The periodical room contains

Students Numbered 250 Here in 1866, Jones Says

Imagine the University of Wisconsin with 250 students and five faculty members, and what is even more improbable, imagine paying one dollar per week for board. That is what Burr W. Jones paid in 1866 when he attended the university.

In an address on "Early Madison" before the Rotary Club, Sept. 13, Justice Jones, of the state supreme court, told of the university and city as he knew them 57 years ago.

At that time there were only three university buildings, North and South Halls and Bascom Hall, then called Main Hall. North Hall was the men's dormitory and South hall the women's, and classes were held in Main hall.

There was no heating or lighting system, and the students themselves split wood and burned it in stoves in their rooms. Candles were used for light, the extravagant using a lamp.

The Capitol building was surrounded by a five foot board fence and the burning political issue of the day was, "should cows be permitted to run free?"

Football, basketball and the junior prom, were unknown.

Chadbourne and Barnard Have Self Service Plan

A new self service breakfast plan goes into operation at Chadbourne and Barnard Halls this morning. The cafeteria system will be used, each girl serving herself in the servery and bringing trays into the dining room to their assigned tables.

Small service tables have been supplied for the dining rooms which will be used to place the empty trays upon. The same menus the practice of his profession.eties of food as in former years. The breakfast hours will be lengthened 15 minutes and will now be from 7:15 to 8 o'clock.

The object of the new service is to cut down serving expenses, the money saved to be used in making the luncheons more satisfactory without having to raise the board bills.

"It is hoped that the new system will be successful," said Miss Little, director of hall and commons.

"It will enable us to have more actual money to put into the menus and in this way the girls will be getting better meals."

ENTERTAIN FROSH WOMEN AT PARTY

President Birge's Home Thrown
Open to New University
Students

The Y. W. C. A. activities for the coming year were officially opened by the tea given yesterday for the freshman women in the home of President Birge. Those in the receiving line were Dean F. Louise Nardin, Miss Sara Anderson, Marian Metcalf '24 and Louise Holt '25. Freshman commission and Y. W. C. A. board entertained more than 200 guests.

The main office in charge of Miss Sara Anderson is located in Lathrop hall.

Settlement work and conducting of classes in sewing, cooking and English are taken care of by the Neighborhood house. The Bradley Memorial hospital for cripple children receives four university women a day to amuse, read and tell stories to the children.

Vespers are held every Sunday in Lathrop parlors at 4 o'clock, at which various prominent men and women of the university speak.

The internal organization is composed of the cabinet with its 14 officers and department heads, cabinet council with its chairmen and committees and the freshmen and sophomore commissions which aid in various activities.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. are: Marian Metcalf '24, president, Dorothy John '25, vice president, Marian Streng '25, secretary and Alice Cummings '25, treasurer.

FROSH WOMEN GIVEN CHANCE TO DON GREEN

Freshmen women are also being given a chance to don the green of their class at the S. G. A. party tonight where regulation Green Button pins will be sold under the direction of last year's Green Button officers.

The pins are small round green buttons with a red dot in the center representing the red button of the official Frosh cap. The party is given for all freshmen and new women in the university.

"We want every new woman to come to the party and get acquainted with the other women in their class," Lois Jacobs '24, president of S. G. A. said in speaking of the party. This is the first real get-together of the year, and the biggest.

The green button pins will be sold in the main corridor of Lathrop for five cents each.

NEW COURSE IS BEING OFFERED

Chemistry and Commerce Are Combined For Future Business Heads

A new four-year chemistry-commerce course for university students who are more interested in the economic aspect of chemistry than the technical, begins this week under Prof. J. H. Mathews, chairman of the chemistry department.

It is intended for those who wish to fit themselves for commercial positions, such as business managers, technical secretaries, managerial secretaries, purchasing agents, technical salesmen, and others, in which a thorough understanding of the basic principles of chemistry is necessary for success.

"Men of affairs in the industrial world are often seriously handicapped because they do not possess a fundamental knowledge of the technical principles involved in their business," declared Professor Mathews.

This new course, which is not offered in any other university, was established because of the growing importance of chemistry in modern commerce and the demand for men who are trained both in commercial and chemical subjects. Its development has been made possible because of the earlier strong development of four year courses in commerce and in chemistry.

GLEE CLUB WILL HOLD TRYOUTS

Plan to Carry Twenty-four Men Throughout
Year

Tryouts for the University Glee club will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week from 7 to 9 o'clock in Prof. E. E. Swinney's studio in Music hall. The club, this year, plans to carry about twenty-four men, and according to Professor Swinney, old members are to try out as well as applicants.

Many members of the sophomore, junior and senior classes are expected to try for a place.

First Appearance Feb. 15

The first public appearance of the club will be in Chicago, Feb. 15, when the Intercollegiate Glee Club contest is to be held. Last year the Wisconsin organization won the contest over a field of eleven other schools representing the pick of the middle west and as a result the club made an extended trip to New York and took sixth place in the contest for Eastern schools, against such organizations as those representing Harvard, Yale, and Princeton. The Harvard Club, which has been a consistent winner of the contest for Eastern schools in past years, bowed down to the Wisconsin group.

Long Trips Planned

Places of interest visited by the Wisconsinites on their trip through the East included Niagara Falls and Washington, D. C.

A similar tour this year is expected if the club wins the intercollegiate sing in Chicago again. Plans are also being formulated to take a ten day trip during spring vacation with St. Louis as the southernmost point.

Tentative Program Announced

The club is scheduled to appear at Wauwatosa, February 21, Milwaukee, February 22, and Waukesha, on February 23. As an added feature of the bill, it is announced that the club will sing at the Pabst theatre while in Milwaukee. The home concert in Madison will be given March 14.

Churches to Hold Welcome Affairs For New Students

Mixers, receptions, hikes and suppers are all included in the plans of the seven religious organizations as means of becoming acquainted with new students and of renewing friendships with the old members. An interesting program of entertainment has been arranged for Presbyterians, Methodists, Congregationalists, Baptists, Catholics, Episcopalians and Lutherans.

At the Presbyterian house at 731 State street, plans are being made for visiting the new students. All students are invited to services at the city churches and to the services at the Presbyterian headquarters on Sunday. There will be an opening mixer on Friday, October 5, at headquarters.

To Hold Banquet

The annual banquet for Congregational students will be given on October 23. The Rev. S. L. Janeway, college pastor at Dartmouth, will be the speaker. A reception will be held at the First Congregational church on Friday, October 12, at 8 p. m. Groups of students are prepared to welcome new members at the headquarters at 422 N. Murray street.

Lutheran students are invited to a reception at the Luther chapel at 626 University avenue on Friday, October 28, at 7:30. This will be the last reception held in the old chapel. Students will be welcomed at the services Sunday morning and evening. A supper will be served at 5:30 o'clock for 25 cents.

A new student pastor is coming to the Baptist headquarters from the National Board of Education in a short time. In the meantime, students will be glad to welcome new members of the house at 429 N. Park street. A hike has been arranged for Saturday, September 29, at 2 o'clock, starting from student headquarters "across the street at the foot of the hill."

The temporary pastor, is the Rev. W. T. Dorward, of Milwaukee. The regular pastor, the Rev. Norman B. Henderson, of the University Baptist church of Minneapolis, will be here November 1.

Plan Dance

A party and dance will be given to welcome freshmen by Episcopal students on October 5 at 8:00 o'clock in the Guild hall of Grace church. Prof. Carl R. Fish will give an address.

A "Get Together" for Methodist students will be held on Friday, September 28, at 8 o'clock, at the Wesley Foundation, corner of University avenue and Charter street. The program will consist of music, stunts, and games. A reception will be held at the foundation on October 5 from 8 o'clock to 10.

Catholic students will be welcomed at the services at St. Paul's Chapel on Sunday. A reception for new students will be given in the hall of the Chapel Sunday evening.

CO-OPERATION IS AIM OF ALUMNI

New Organization Will Foster Better Yelling in State

An association to promote co-operation and better understanding of mutual problems between the alumni and the people of the state and the university is now being organized.

Members of the committee which were recently appointed by Robert N. McNyn '94, president of the Alumni association, are:

Theodore Kronshage Jr. '91, Milwaukee, chairman; George I. Haight '99, Chicago; L. M. Hanks '89, Madison; Rose Schuster Taylor '85, Sioux City, Ia.

Other members will be appointed from the university regents, alumni association, faculty and undergraduates.

By sponsoring and aiding local alumni clubs the cooperation committee will be able to carry on its present work with the Memorial Union and with other important Wisconsin problems.

After Prof. E. H. Gardner has completed his report on his two year tour of investigation alumni conditions from coast to coast, Mr. Kronshage will call a meeting with the alumni members. A second meeting will be held with the university regents.

FRIENDS PRESENT CRAIG PORTRAIT TO AG SCHOOL

An oil portrait of John A. Craig, the first professor of animal husbandry in the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, was presented by friends to the art gallery in Agricultural hall.

The painter is Arvid Nyholm of Chicago.

Professor Craig taught at this university from 1891 until 1897. He was an outstanding teacher in this field and is to be credited with the introduction of the score card method of judging live stock, a type of instruction that has since been carried over to a number of other fields," declares Dean H. L. Russell.

Minneapolis Lawyer Joins U. of W. Faculty

Prof. Ray A. Brown, former Minneapolis lawyer, has just been appointed a member of the faculty of the Law school. He will assume his new duties this month with the beginning of the academic year and will teach courses in personal property, suretyship, and constitutional law.

Professor Brown was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1913, and received the degree of bachelor of laws in 1915 from the same university. In 1923 he received the degree of doctor of legal science from Harvard university.

He has had experience both as a teacher and as a practicing lawyer. He has taught two years in the University of South Dakota, and for five years practiced law in Minneapolis.

FACULTY PLANS EXTENSION WORK

Courses For Teachers to Be Conducted in Milwaukee Building

Extension classes especially for teachers will be conducted in Milwaukee by seven university faculty members this year, it was announced by the Extension Division today. Work starts in October, and will cover two semesters.

Dr. J. W. Powell, head of the Milwaukee division, will have courses in "Carlyle and Ruskin" and "The Literary Aspects of the Bible". P. M. Fulcher of the English department, is to conduct classes in "Shakespeare's Tragedies" and "Romantic Movement."

Leonard to Teach
Prof. S. A. Leonard, also of the English staff, will have a class in "Teaching of Composition and English," with Maurice W. Moe of Milwaukee.

Miss Sara K. Lehman, Milwaukee, is to teach "English Composition" and "Introduction to English Literature."

Psychology is Taught
"Advanced Educational Psychology" will be conducted by Prof. J. G. Fowlkes, and a course in general sociology by Prof. J. L. Gillin.

Classes are also scheduled in European geography, economics, elementary French, Spanish and German, and in intermediate French and Spanish as well as in the Engineering and Commerce courses.

THE LEGEND

Many years ago, a century back it must have been, when the fiery Redskin was driven from the country of the Four Lakes by the whites, legend has it that he cursed, in his anger, a curse which seems to have been heard by his gods. The curse was: I have been driven from my home, may there perish every year in the lakes about my home seven men of the race that drove me out.

Since last February five men have drowned in Madison lakes and the quota is not yet filled. Whether it will be or not depends largely upon those who have come to Madison this fall for the first time and who do not know the treachery of its lakes. Even Mr. Weatherman has a hard time telling just when a storm is approaching, with such suddenness do the winds lash Mendota's waters into fury. On such occasions a flimsy canoe becomes a mere cockle-shell and if it is out of sight it has little chance of being found by the life saving boat.

If you know anything about Indians, you realize that by necessity they know nature better than any white man who spends most of his life cooped up in a city. Because they know her treachery they seldom take chances where we poor whites would rush in.

When he was making one of his canoe trips in Canada several years ago, Prof. C. K. Leith of the department of geology, came to a bay. His Indian guides held conference. It would take perhaps half an hour to cross the bay and three hours to follow its shores to the other side. Although they were in a hurry, the Indians set out to follow the shores.

If more students followed the shores instead of striking straight out into the middle of Mendota, there would be fewer tragedies in the history of Wisconsin's students. Mendota is a Lorelei no less treacherously tantalizing than the lady of the Rhein.

HOMECOMING AND THE STADIUM

It does not seem too early to say a word about one of the biggest times in the school year, Homecoming. We will be hearing a good deal about it as time goes on and there is so much to be said about it that it is best to start early.

The largest crowd ever assembled at a football game at Camp Randall will witness the tilt with Minnesota. "The largest crowd," of course, every year that is said. It would be strange if the fans did not increase every year.

As the body of fans grows, so does the stadium in nearly the same proportion, and now the last concrete has been poured on the north end of the coliseum and 36,000 tickets have been put on sale. Perhaps that will not be enough to handle the situation, but it is a marked change over passed years. The splendid thing about it is that the stadium is paying for itself. There have been no infernal drives here such as have been held all over the country. In fact, Wisconsin is the only institution of its kind that is building a stadium from gate receipts.

One might believe that as the football crowds increase, so does the hilarity of the after-math. That is a difficult problem; its solution seems to lie in the loyalty and gratification to those students who make Homecoming what it is and who are anxious not to have it stained.

October 27 probably will be a cold day and the team probably will repeat its feat of last year and give us cause for jubilation. But there are blankets on your bed and as for the other . . . but it is a whole month away.

TO THE CITY

If you attempted to put end to end all the automobile springs which have been injured on Langdon street bumps during the last two or three years you would have an extremely difficult task to perform. You would have an equally difficult task if you tried to string out the pleasant words which have issued against the road in front of the gymnasium from the mouths of irate motorists. Each line would be nearly infinite.

Now there will be no more oaths and no more springs as a result of that particular street. For the bumps are gone. The city of Madison, with the university authorities backing it strongly have at last ironed out those—one might almost say, shell holes—and it is now safe to travel the street without fear of being hurled heavenwards against the all too solid roofing of a car.

Those of you who knew what the street used to be will join us in a hearty thanks to the city for its day and night work in finishing the paving job before the registration period. For its cooperation in bringing university into more easy reach with town, the city is also thanked.

Not the least of our gratification, however, is for the wider artery. Madison streets are none too wide at the best and to have the street broaden out not only facilitates better traffic but provides larger parking space in front of the gymnasium, where it has been greatly needed during the basketball season and on concert nights.

Madison, we thank you.

Other Editors Say—

EDUCATING FRESHMEN.

(Harvard Crimson)

The New York University News has published a sort of intercollegiate educational platform compiled by the editors of several college papers. Many of the "planks", as the New Republic points out, deal with extra-curriculum activities, but there is some little discussion of "passivities," the courses offered in universities today. Princeton call for more humanities. Yale demands that we avoid the "cultural blight which follows in the train of economics and other such studies." Amherst, however, disagrees; and asks for a conscious effort to face the social, political and economic problems of reconstruction. Plainly studies are receiving undergraduate attention.

But the particular question which is attracting notice at present is the courses for freshman consumption. Yale, with the entering class of "Ac" and "Sheff" united into one group under one dean, has found "inspirational courses" very successful. That means a division into small groups under the best professor in order that the ex-school boy may appreciate in his first year the opportunities offered by the university.

A New York college also has arraigned the traditional courses, seeking to avoid the present custom which makes the first and even second years of college mere continuations of preparatory school. In place of "courses of elementary grade" it requests broader subjects whose purpose is to "orient the student in adult thought." A course is the history of mankind which should show the chief aspects of man's relation to his environment; a course in human biology and psychology; a third in mathematical analysis; literature taught as an aspect of life; and the inevitable technique of expression; such is the suggested plan for freshmen.

This schedule, however, is rather difficult, and it is doubtful if the present preparatory school graduate would be equipped mentally to handle it. Whatever is said of colleges, schools where all the emphasis is laid on college board examinations, do not teach thinking, and many a freshman would be at a loss when confronted with live subjects like those suggested.

Nonetheless there is a need for some change. Far too many lose two years finding their way to classes and some go through college without finding it at all. Perhaps Yale's method is the right one or, as is now planned here, a rejuvenated English A. In any case there is a wide opportunity for reform in this direction.

New freshmen will certainly think that a line is necessary to get through college after having gone through three days of registration. Upperclassmen says, "Wait 'till they put football seats on sale."

Communications

EDITOR'S NOTE

The communication columns of The Daily Cardinal are always open to the students and faculty of the university. The articles should not exceed 250 words in length, should be neatly typewritten, and signed with name and address. If desired however, a pseudonym will be printed, but the author's real name must be enclosed or the article will not be printed. Address all letters to the Communications Editor, the Daily Cardinal.

Editor the Cardinal:

The judicial committee of Pan-Hellenic passed the following resolution on September 22 and in view of the publicity given the matter, I as president of the association wish to quote these excerpts in regard to the matter.

"The judicial committee on Pan Hellenic finds that a member of Alpha Phi met a rushee at the train and took her directly to her rooming house, leaving her there.

"The judicial committee is convinced that no injustice to other sororities was intended by this infringement, but the committee holds that such infringement by an individual member shows that the group has been tardy or negligent about impressing upon members the necessity of strict observance of all Pan-Hellenic agreements. The judicial committee therefore has taken the following action against the group as a whole:

"Alpha Phi shall not entertain or participate as a chapter in social functions until December 25, 1923, including the following: open house, teas, dances. This does not include entertainment of the chapter alumnae. The decision goes into effect Oct. 1.

"The judicial committee reminds the members of Pan-Hellenic that such action as this is confidential and is to receive no publicity of any kind."

Pan-Hellenic is sorry that through some mistake a notice of this action appeared in the Cardinal of Sept. 2 and takes this occasion to express its regrets for the unintentional publicity given the matter.

DOROTHY REDEKER,
President of Pan-Hellenic.

S. G. A. Divides Madison
Into Working Groups

Madison has been divided into fourteen districts by S. G. A.,

At the board meeting to be held on Wednesday, October 10, the house representatives of each district will elect their district chairman, who will be responsible to S. G. A. for the collection of the dues, arrange stunts for the S. G. A. parties, and aim to encourage a spirit of fellowship among the girls in her district.

"The position of district chairman is one of responsibility and importance," said Lois Jacobs, president of S. G. A. yesterday, "as it is through the districts that university girls will be brought into fellowship and cooperation for all activities."

A district chairman will receive points for her work in the activities system.

WISCONSIN GRADUATE
ACCEPTS OHIO POSITION

Ernst Feise of the University of Wisconsin, has accepted a position as an assistant professor of German at Ohio State university.

Ohio State has this year as new members on the faculty 7 professors and 12 assistant professors, besides a number of instructors, assistants and graduate assistants.

These new appointments are for the most part to replace faculty members who have resigned, and in some cases to care for the increase in the number of students.

DEAN CALLS FOR HELP OF GREEKS

a well known fact, I think, that I am a fraternity man, that I am still firmly convinced that there is more good in fraternities than there is evil, and I sincerely hope that the force of circumstances may never compel me to yield this position.

"I am glad to see various friends of the fraternities espousing their cause in the press in reply to the communication. I agree with The Capital Times' editorial that the students are not wholly to blame for the situation. I agree with Mr. Easton that the charges are venomous and vindictive in tone, that they are exaggerated, much more effective had they been less violent.

Agrees With Dorward

"But what do you expect from your enemies? I agree with the Reverend Dr. Dorward that all fraternity men are by no means bad. Quite on the contrary, I am positive that the fine, clear, strong men in fraternities greatly outnumber the weak and vicious. I agree with The Cardinal editorial that weak men are rarely chosen to head fraternities at Wisconsin, although I know of some cases in which this has been true.

"But when all this is admitted, I am still convinced that a very large share of responsibility rests upon fraternities as a whole. The members of the local Interfraternity council which I addressed last spring in the Engineering auditorium will recall that I cited some of the criticism referred to in the National Interfraternity council communication and other criticism not mentioned therein and urged the fraternities to meet such attacks on the high ground of good scholarship and clean living. We have by no means reached this stage as yet.

"Our fraternities still violate the few fair and simple rushing rules we have. The conspiracy of silence is no myth on our campus. Some fraternities are not only unwilling, it seems, to clean house effectively, but they also cover up and protect, so far as they are able the guilty from the effects of their misdeeds. It is true that some fraternity men here at Wisconsin, a minority I trust, but nevertheless a considerable number, are ardent supporters of the booze traffic. Only two or three days ago I received the following letter:

Superior Court of Dane County,
Wisconsin, Madison,
Wis.

September 21, 1923

Dean S. H. Goodnight,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:

Last week I had four or five juvenile cases. The boys involved were from 13 to 16 years of age. The charge against them was that they had broken into several fraternity houses and stolen a number of articles.

It developed during the examination that the reason that the boys first went in was to pick up empty whiskey bottles which they intended to sell to bootleggers down on the west side. Their testimony is that in one place they found more than 50 empty bottles. At another place 19, and at a third place they found a whole sackful. The houses entered were located on Langdon street and in the neighborhood of Langdon street.

I am sure that you will be interested in getting these facts.

Yours very truly,
O. A. Stolen,
Juvenile Judge.

Cites Another Letter

"It seems to me useless to deny that fraternities, along with much good influence, also exert far more bad influence than is necessary or desirable. This re-acts injuriously upon both the fraternities and our Alma Mater. In substantiation of this statement, may I cite another letter which reached me only yesterday:

Dear friend:

I was once a member of the class of 1903—classmate of President Birge's son Teddy—but left the University of Wisconsin for the University of Minnesota on account, largely, of the obnoxious influence of the college fraternities at Madison. I am graduating my sister's boy in medicine at the

FASTEST TIME EVER MADE BY MERE MAN IS RECORDED BY THESE NAVY AVIATORS

The fastest time ever made by man on land, sea or air has just been recorded by Lieuts. L. H. Sanderson and Stephen W. Calloway, both of the U. S. navy. They set out to beat the recently established record of 255 miles an hour. While no official time was given out, it is rumored in flying circles that the men made close to 270 miles an hour. They will represent the navy in the Pulitzer trophy races in St. Louis next month.

University of Minnesota on account of this. You are right—drive nail home hard. We are with you.

Fraternally and friendly,

"I have full faith that when the real specimens of fine young manhood who are the leaders in fraternity life at Wisconsin, who are carrying on the great part of the student activities here in such an able manner and who are wholeheartedly and devotedly loyal to the influence of the derelictions on the part of a few weaker brothers is, they will effectively organize their individual groups to put an end to bad practices.

"It does little good to say that fraternity men as a class are no worse than non-fraternity men as a class. We must be better. When a non-fraternity individual goes aside from the straight and narrow, little is heard of it.

"When a fraternity man does the same thing, it as once arouses a storm of protest against his organization, against fraternities as a whole, and against the institution at which they are maintained.

"I cordially invite the full cooperation of every fraternity and of every fraternity man at Wisconsin to realize and live up to his high responsibilities, to make this college year's work the finest and cleanest and strongest that fraternities have ever done on our campus and to refute triumphantly the maligners of fraternity life in the only manner in which such charges can effectively be refuted."

Harp Wizard Coming to This City Soon

Alberto Salvi, "Wizard Harp" player will again charm Madison audiences with his mastery of the harp Monday evening, when he will appear in concert at Christ Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Mozart club.

Hailed "master of that instrument of the angels" by an enthusiastic critic in New York, Salvi is generally recognized as being the greatest concert harpist that the world has ever produced. He has revolutionized harp playing, adding to the art many effects and variations not thought possible before.

The artist received all of his training at the expense of the Italian government, winning the Royal Scholarship prize as the boy wonder violinist. His father was a harp maker in Venice, Italy, and a miniature harp made by him was the instrument on which the virtuoso took his first lessons in harp technique.

Soph Commission Helps

Frosh Obtain Rooms

"A majority of the new students in the university were aided in locating their rooms this fall by the room committee of the Y. M. C. A. Sophomore commission," according to George Gore '26, chairman of the committee in charge of this work. "Over two thousand students were helped."

The office was maintained in the lobby of the university Y in the morning, afternoon and evening. The lists were sent down from the office of the Dean of men. Students were constantly telephoning to see if the rooms on the lists had been taken. In most cases, the landladies were telephoned before the new student was sent to look at the room.

GOLF COURSE IS PLANNED BY CITY

Eighteen-hole Public Link is Suggested at Forest Hill

If plans of City Engineer, E. E. Parker pass the city council, Madison residents will be able to enjoy golf without membership in clubs. He suggests that the 60-acre plot of land near the Forest Hill cemetery be utilized for an 18-hole course. The land is owned by the city, but in all probability will not be used for cemetery purposes for 10 or 15 years.

Such a plan is being successfully worked out in Minneapolis, where two public courses are being made to pay for themselves through small charges for use of showers and lockers, together with a fee of from 25 to 40 cents a game for use of the links.

The courses are occupied all day long, with long lines of men, women, and children in constant attendance, waiting for an opportunity to play. Kenosha operates a similar course, under much the same methods.

Mr. Parker maintains that a municipal golf grounds in Madison would easily bring forward enough golfers to pay for the necessary help and repairs to the buildings and links.

CAN WIN PRIZE IS BADGER PLAN

Permanent Jobs, Good Grades
Are Contained in New Offer

A chance to win a cash prize, a good class grade, and a permanent job after graduation is being offered to all students in the university, especially to students of advertising and marketing, psychology or commercial arts, through a novel advertising scheme to be introduced this year by The Badger. Advertisers known nationally are cooperating with the Badger this year and are willing to furnish material for advertising or sales ideas to students or to consider any sales stunts which might be worked out here for prize money.

Will Pay $50 Each

"I am not interested so much in what is produced by the students as the students themselves," Mr. Troop, of the Lord and Thomas Advertising house of Chicago, the largest of its kind in the world, told Ellis Fulton, Badger editor. "It is worth $75 to $100 to get clever students for our own use or those of our clients."

"I will pay $50 to any student of psychology who writes me the best letter telling why students will be interesting in these advertisements," Edward Jordon, president of the Jordon Motor Company, wrote to Fulton in connection with material furnished for advertising copy.

Students in advertising will work with material from many of the largest advertising houses in the world this year instead of developing their own hypothetical products. Their work will be submitted to the agency for consideration and winning ads will appear in the Badger.

Offer Position

Some of the advertising agencies interested are: Lord and Thomas, N. W. Ayer and Sons, Daniel Frey company, Theodore McManus company and the National Advertising Association.

Some of the many individual clients interest are: H. C. S. Motor company, Boncilla Laboratories, National Cash Register company, Jordon Motor company, Cadillac Motor company, Holeproof Hosiery company and the Swan Meyer pharmaceutical company.

Permanent positions offered as incentives are such as one student in last year's advertising classes now occupies with the Jordon Motor company. He obtained the position with an advertising scheme developed at school.

OFFICIALS STRESS GRADE POINT RULE

Underclass Points Not Counted on Upperclass Credits

University officials are again emphasizing the fact that half the grade points necessary toward graduation must be secured within the first half of the four year course and the remaining half within the last two years. Any additional grade points secured within the first two years will not count toward the number necessary for the second half.

A student in a course requiring 120 academic credits must at the end of the first half of the course have earned at least 60 credits and 60 grade points. Whether he earns this number or not, he must earn the same number the last two years.

To be classified as a sophomore, a freshman must have secured at least twenty-five grade points and the same number of credits. To become a junior a student must have fifty-eight grade points and credits and to be listed as a senior he must have earned at least 80 grade points and credits.
