HISTORY COURSE IS OUTLINED FOR RANKING JUNIORS

Carl Russell Fish Formulates Regulations for Advance Students

Editor's Note

This is the second of a series of three articles dealing with the new system of honours courses to be introduced at university. The next story appear in an early issue.

BY RUSSELL BOOKHOUT

Individual work in the honors course in history is permitted a limited number of upperclassmen who passed a four general examination Saturday preceding registration week. Several juniors and seniors are now freed from class regulation for work in the subjects in which they are most interested.

The history department under Prof. Carl Russell Fish has formulated regulations governing the selection of candidates for the honor course, and has arranged a basis of award. Each department in the College of Letters and Science is allowed this freedom of detail by the faculty ruling covering individual work by superior students.

To Give Exams

The entrance examination consists of three parts as follows: (A) a regular written examination in two of the following four fields: ancient history; history of the middle ages (including England); history of modern Europe (including England); history of the United States (1492-1920).

(B) A critical study of a source in one of the four fields as follows: ancient history—Titus Livius, "A History of Rome," book 21; middle ages—Huges, "Illustrations of Chaucer's England"; modern European history—Albins, "Les Grands Trates Politiques Du XIX me Siecle"; history of the United States—"Messages and Addresses of Abraham Lincoln While President."

(C) A reading knowledge of some of the leading historians of the four fields as follows: ancient history—Mommsen, "History of Rome"; middle ages—Gibbon's, "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." (Continued on page two)

PLACE TEACHERS IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Prof. Jones Says That Many Graduates Have Been Given Positions

In spite of reports to the contrary, graduates of the school of education of the university desiring positions as teachers in high schools are rapidly being placed in various teaching positions throughout the state, according to a statement made by Prof. Thomas L. Jones, chairman of the committee on high school relations. Numerous openings are still being sent to that department and are rapidly taken care of.

Prof. Jones further states that all lines of the teaching profession are filled by his department, but with a few most frequently called for combinations of subjects. Biology is very often combined with physics or general science, chemistry with biology or physics, English with Latin, history, or speech, and French with German or Latin.

According to data compiled from March, 1925, to December, 1925 there were 1500 calls for teachers recorded by that office of which 300 were for the teaching of one subject only. Although the reports for this year are not yet completed, Prof. Jones stated that approximately the same conditions exist this year in respect to calls for teachers received and positions filled as did last year.

Halverson, Head of Dorms, Wiends Handy Canopener

Ask Don Halverson, ertwhile director of halls and commons of the University of Wisconsin, if a canopener is a valuable asset to any kitchen, and he will answer heartily in the affirmative. The story goes thus:

Wednesday night, when meals were started at the new refectory at the men's dorms, the squash ran out,—not literally, of course,—there just wasn't any more squash. "But we must have vegetables," Halverson said. "To the kitchen!"

Here the can-opener came in, for Halverson laid hands on a well-stocked shelf of canned peas, and the day was saved! Men in the dorms, by the way, have been amazed at the good quality and quantity of the food they've been getting, and bets are being laid about "how long is this going to last?"

BISHOP TO SPEAK AT FIRST CONVO

Rt. Rev. Winnington-Ingram Opens Religious Services Oct. 7

Announcement yesterday that the Bishop of London, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram will be the first speaker on the year's series of monthly religious convocations, leads a list of speakers which is larger and more unusual than any so far brought to the university under single student direction according to members of the faculty in touch with such affairs.

The Bishop, who is known all over the world as one of the most illustrious clerics in the Episcopal church and as an accomplished scholar and sportsman, will speak Thursday evening, Oct. 7, in Music hall. With him on the same platform will appear George Craig Stewart, head of the University of Chicago divinity school.

This is the first of the year's series of monthly meetings under the direction of the all-university religious convocation committee which last year conducted monthly services on Sunday evenings at Music hall. The meetings are entirely all-denominational and all religious.

Following the appearance of Revs. Ingram and Stewart, Pres. Frank will speak Sunday evening, October 10, giving the first Sunday evening address.

FALL ELECTIONS POSTPONED, NO DIRECTORY OUT

Student List May Hereafter be Published by Union Board

Because there will be no available list whereby voters may be checked until after Oct. 25, general fall elections must be postponed until after that date, according to Daniel Kerth of the Student Senate. This is in violation of the amendment to the senate constitution passed last spring which requires that the election be held sometime between Oct. 1 and Oct. 25.

Meet Today

There is at present no remedy for this circumstance Kerth pointed out, but a meeting of the elections committee has been called over the weekend to consider possible ways out of the situation. Methods of securing a list of students with their classifications will be discussed, but Kerth had only faint hope that any such solution could be carried into effect.

One answer to the perplexity is found in the possibility that the Union Board and other campus organizations may talk over the publishing of the student directory from the university, in which case according to Lowell Frautschi, Union president, the directory will make its appearance much earlier than Oct. 25. The Union board has made a proposition to the university in regard to publishing the directory, but it is still under consideration.

May Reject Proposition

Announcement from the registrar's office stated that in the event the Union Board's proposal be rejected, the directory could not possibly be off the presses by the elections deadline.

HILLEL FOUNDATION TO HOLD MIXER TONIGHT

Hillel Foundation will hold its get-acquainted mixer at 8 o'clock tonight at the Foundation, 508 State street, Thompson's orchestra will play for the dancing. The mixer is open to all new and old students.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Condition and incomplete examinations for students who have made proper application will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in 165 Bascom hall. George Chandler, Secretary of the Faculty.

WISCONSIN WOMEN ON TOUR MEET DEAN NARDIN

"Why, Miss Nardin, how do you do!"

In the Cite Universite, Paris, about half a dozen girls were holding an impromptu University of Wisconsin reunion with Dean F. Louise Nardin who had come over to call on their chaperon, Miss Helen C. White of the English department.

They belonged to the Wisconsin women's group in the European tours run by the Confederation Internationale des Etudiants, for the purpose of furthering mutual friendship and understanding between American and European students.

The Madison students who traveled under the auspices of the C. I. E. were Eulalie Beffel '27, Ruth Hannon '27, Elizabeth Mahorney '27, Jane Pearson '26, Alice Scheurman '26, and Russel Morris '26. The Five Countries tour, on which the Wisconsin women as well as a number from Wellesley, Western Reserve, University of Pennsylvania, and several other colleges traveled, included England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Their party was fortunate not only in meeting Miss Nardin in Paris, but also in having Miss Alice Floyd Miller, formerly assistant dean of women here at the university, on the Berlin, their return trip steamer. Miss Miller had been spending the summer visiting in Europe, chiefly in Germany and Denmark.

Michigan, Williams, Yale, Harvard, Grinnell were represented in the group with which Dr. Morris traveled. Their itinerary included a trip down the Danube to the Black Sea and several central European countries, among them Czecho-Slovakia, Austria and Germany. They also met the others for a week in Paris and then crossed over to England for about ten days after the other parties had sailed from Cherbourg, September 3.

More than 300 American students went to Europe this summer under the auspices of the C. I. E. Some of them, including representatives from Ohio, Randolph-Machin, Cornell, Amherst, Mt. Holyoke, Vassar, Kellogg College and a number of others, went over early in June on the Sierra Ventana. Sailing on June 30, on the Bremen, with the Wisconsin party, were delegates from Radcliffe, Wellesley, Dartmouth, Smith, Columbia, Lehigh, University of Pennsylvania, and Penn State.

Frosh Welcomed by 5,000 At Annual Varsity Event

Pluvius Foiled

Professor Olson's Anti-rain Record Unblemished—Explains 12 O'Clock Shower

Perhaps the most significant thing about the Varsity Welcome is that Prof. Julius Olson was once more proved Wisconsin's champion anti-pluviator. Rain threatened throughout the ceremony, but the mere presence of Prof. Olson kept it in the upper regions until 12 o'clock.

Furthermore, the noted Scandinavian has an alibi for that 12 o'clock shower. He explained it thus to a member of the Union Board:

"I had arranged that there be no rain from 11 to 12, but when the speakers extended themselves slightly, the rain was freed from its obligations—consequently, the shower at the hour scheduled to terminate the program. I had also arranged that it be cool as Major Morphy told me that in former years it had been too warm for the band."

THIEF GETS $140 FROM STUDENTS

Watch and Money Taken Wednesday Night From West Johnson St. House

The first rooming-house thief of the year instituted activities in the Latin quarter on last Wednesday night, when he took $140 and a watch from student rooms at 707 West Johnson street.

The victims were Isadore Birnbaum, who lost $10, Ray Christianson, loser of $27, and a wrist watch valued at $10, George Miller, who had just cashed a check from home and was out $97, and Harry Rumpf, who lost $6.

The house was locked, but a key is ordinarily hidden outside for the use of roomers who happen to get locked out at night, and the thief was evidently familiar with this arrangement, so knew where to find the key. Once in the house he entered a room on the third floor and one on the second.

One student, half awakened, opened his eyes just in time to see the marauder steal from his room, but he paid no attention, and dropped off to sleep again with the hazy thought that it was another student. The robbery was not discovered until morning.

The thief missed at least one watch which was lying on a table near one of the pocketbooks he plundered. The watch he took had a radium dial, so was easily found in the dark.

Nine Bids on Union Building Are Now Being Considered

Bids for the construction of two units of the new Memorial Union building were opened at three o'clock yesterday afternoon by J. D. Phillips, business manager. The following bids were offered by the following firms:

S. M. Cecil Co., Milwaukee	$889,000
Theo. Stark & Co., Milwaukee	856,000
Pferrer Construction Co., Duluth	773,000
Jacobson Bros., Duluth	785,000
C. F. Hagelin and Sons, Minneapolis	817,000
C. B. Fritz, Madison	829,888
J. P. Cullen and Sons, Janesville	784,969
Bartelson and Ness, Green Bay	818,000
Appleton Construction Co., Appleton	869,479

These bids are now being considered by Arthur Penbody, state architect, and J. D. Phillips, business manager.

Frank Gives Inspiring Message to Assembled Class of 1930

Beneath lowering clouds which threatened to break Prof. Julius Olson's clear-weather record, and under climatic conditions which held a winter tang, the class of 1930 was formally taken into the arms of Wisconsin at the annual Varsity Welcome held at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Because of the adverse weather conditions, the attendance was somewhat lessened, but approximately 5,000 students braved the threats of Pluvius to attend the first traditional event of the school year.

Frank Against Standardization

Pres. Glenn Frank, who delivered the main speech of the program, spoke against standardization of the Wisconsin student. "The University of Wisconsin does not want the time to come when one can tell a Wisconsin man by the cut of his trousers, the tilt of his hat, or the crystallization of his mind about any particular set of dogmas," he said.

"Prexy" also gave some advice to the freshmen, beginning by advising them to heed some advice they receive from their instructors, even though they may prefer handfuls of hopes. He also enjoined them to fulfill the trust their parents had in them, and to make the most of their opportunities while here.

Olbrich Speaks

Attorney Michael Olbrich '02, spok for Gov. John J. Blaine in welcoming the freshmen. "The university does not expect that you shall perfect yourselves in the doing of intellectual stunts," he said. "It expects the fruits of education shall relate themselves to the practical life into which you will some day enter."

Other addresses were given with "exemplary brevity," by Prof. Charles L. Slichter, dean of the graduate school, who spoke for the faculty, Alice L. Brown '27, president of the Women's Self-Government association, and by Lowell Frautschi, president of the Wisconsin Union.

DORMITORY MEN HAVE ORGANIZED

Council Plans Work, Elects Officers, and Maps Out Budget

The central council of men governing the new men's dormitories held their first meeting Thursday night at 10 o'clock in the refectory. George Chandler, temporary chairman, presided; Harry Shuck, '26, was elected temporary treasurer; and Paul Ruez '30, was elected secretary of the council.

The council approved the budget plan, which will cost each man in the dormitories $1 a month for 10 months. With the money provided, the council as a central buying agent, will purchase a piano, talking machine, newspapers and magazines, records and music for each section. Athletic fees for intramural teams formed and costs of equipment will also come from this fund, it is believed.

Quiet hours were adopted by the council for the dormitories. The "off" hours, from Monday through Thursday are 11:30 o'clock to 1:30 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock. On Fridays they will be from 11:30 o'clock to 1:30 o'clock and from 5:30 o'clock to 11 o'clock. On Saturdays, from 8 in the morning to 11 o'clock in the evening. On Sundays, from 9 o'clock to 4 o'clock.

A suggestion was made concerning a plan for incorporation, but was not acted upon. Shuck, temporary chairman, announced that house treasures were to do the collecting of the parlor fees, and turn over the money to him.

Complete Plans of Initial Services in New Calvary Church

A dedicatory program of three services for the new Lutheran Calvary University church which is being completed this week was announced yesterday by Rev. Haentzschel. Many members of the Wisconsin Lutheran Synod are expected to be present at the dedication.

Dr. William Dallman, pastor of Mt. Olive church, Milwaukee, and second vice-president of the Missouri Synod will deliver the dedicatory sermon at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. In the afternoon Rev. C. Gausewitz, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Milwaukee, and president of the Synodical conference of North America, will speak at 3 o'clock.

A recital on the new $9,000 Wangerin organ which was installed and tested this week will be given by Prof. Lochner of Concordia Teacher's College, River Forest, Illinois. This program will begin at 7 o'clock. A quartet from Trinity Church will sing several numbers and Mrs. E. Wallschlaeger of Milwaukee will be soloist.

"Horses" Will Soon be Favorite Song of Madison Riders

Horseback riding will again be included in the curriculum of the women's Physical Education department this year. "Horses, horses, always horses" will undoubtedly be often heard among the feminine Phy Ed ranks, for the sport seems to take the young girl's fancy especially in the spring.

This will be the third year that credit has been given by the department for equestrian exercise. Ample facilities are obtainable at reasonable rates in two local stables, and able instruction is provided. Enrollment in the course will be held on Monday and Tuesday from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Later in the season the advanced riders will have the opportunity of joining either the Prince of Wales club or the Madison Hunt club, and will be eligible to compete in the inter-class riding contests.

Rutgers Ready for Manhattan Contest

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—The Rutgers football squad completed its third week of practice this afternoon in excellent condition for the first game of the season with Manhattan Saturday. With a wealth of material for every position and with no man sure of a place on the varsity excepting Capt. Frenchy Hanf, end, and Whitey Lorenz, halfback, pre-season prospects are brighter than they have been in many years, except in 1924, when the Scarlet ran roughshod over Cornell, Lafayette and other teams.

The squad was augmented this week by the appearance of Cupid Goldschmidt, veteran of two seasons who was declared ineligible last June, but who took off some of his scholastic deficiencies at Summer school. "Wild Bill" Dalton, another letter man, will not report until Monday, and nothing has been heard from Al Falussy, who played in the majority of the games last year.

Four Veterans Return; Bradley Hopes Soar

PEORIA, Ill.—The arrival of Ralph Thompson, Art Shipherd, Roy Carlson and Milo Ratkovich, veterans from last year's squad, spread joy in the Bradley football camp. Coach A. J. Robertson is devoting much of his time to selecting the best of several sub linemen to fill vacancies left by graduation. Of the candidates Zimmerman, Dryden, Gibson and Nieman look the best in the early workouts.

Advisor's Assigned

Students admitted as candidates for honors will be assigned to an advisor. To prepare themselves for the examination given toward the close of the senior year they may elect to pursue their studies as individuals, reporting to their advisors when in need of guidance. They may attend lectures or quiz sections without taking the examinations if they desire or they may take some of the work in regular classes. This is arranged between the student and his advisor.

The senior examination consists of, (A) A general examination covering all the four fields above mentioned; (B) An intensive examination in one of these fields, in which knowledge of source and historical literature will be expected; (C) An essay on some one of the important aspects of the chosen field.

"This essay need not necessarily be a piece of research," Professor Fish, said. "The candidate and the advisor discuss what the student desires to study, and then the student commences work in, for instance, the Tudor or early colonial period or some important issue of national life. The phase of this presented should be traced as an individual survey. It is not a thesis."

On the basis of this examination graduate honors in history will be granted. Students who have taken independent work, even though failing to receive honors, will if they obtain a passing grade, receive credit on such work toward graduation.

Exam Open

"While the individual work is limited to upper-group students by the faculty ruling, any history student may take the examination for the honors course," Professor Fish declared. "In their case the final examination will be in addition to the regular class examinations instead of being the only one as in the case of students doing individual work."

Payroll Robbers Loot St. Paul's Cathedral

ROME.—For the second time in a year thieves have entered St. Peter's Cathedral. A year ago valuable objects, including chalices, a monstrance studded with precious stones, and lesser treasures were stolen from St. Peter's sacristy. Recently thieves entered the office directly beneath the sacristy and escaped with 20,000 lire ($700), constituting the payroll of the Basilica's civilian employees. The thieves missed 300,000 lire in banknotes which lay in the same desk.

Y.M.C.A. Planning Social Functions For Coming Year

A large number of social functions for the Y. M. C. A. have been planned for this year, according to George I. Wallace, '27, chairman of the social committee. The primary purpose of these is to promote a closer relationship among the members.

The first of the events will be known as the Green Party, in honor of the class of 1930. This is scheduled for Friday evening, Oct. 8. Dancing will be the principal attraction. Anyone who is not a member of the Y. M. C. A. may obtain information about joining at the desk.

Other parties are proposed, one of the outstanding being an Apache party. Several mixers will also be given from time to time in the recreation rooms. A social feature will be a series of Sunday afternoon recitals by some of the more talented members.

Shoots Up Restaurant After Ouster; 60 Days

FOND DU LAC—Incensed at being hustled from the lunch room of Ferris Merhige after he had become noisy, Steve Whotis, 48, got a revolver and fired five shots through the front windows. Whotis was sentenced Wednesday to 60 days in jail.

Welcome Class of 1930

To the thousands of new green-cap wearers, we are proud to extend a cordial welcome to our new establishment—proud, because of the satisfaction we receive at the thought that for years we have earnestly and sincerely answered the wants of the new students. We feel confident that by continuing our established policy of courteous, fair and square dealings, the men of the Class of 1930 will join their predecessors in making this store their headquarters for clothing and furnishings during their years here.

CARDINALS CLINCH CHAMPIONSHIP IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Mound City Fans Go Wild Upon Hearing of First Pennant

The Cardinal of St. Louis flaunts proudly over the baseball world this morning when, as a result of yesterday's games, the Mound City nine clinched their first National league championship in the history of the modern game.

Yesterday's games gave the Cards a 6 to 4 triumph over the New York Giants, while Cincinnati was splitting a doubleheader with Philadelphia, 2 to 9 and 8 to 4. This increased the league margin to three full games and with only two more games remaining to be played, nothing that the Reds or Cards do from now on will alter the result.

Tribute to Hornsby

The victory of the Cardinals is a glowing tribute to the ability of Rogers Hornsby, their illustrious manager, who for the first time in history led a St. Louis team out of the baseball wilderness to a league championship. Hornsby took charge of the team when it appeared a hopeless wreck, and with little of the expensive material boasted by the Athletics, Yankees and Giants, molded together a great team in slightly more than a year.

The task of guiding the club proved disastrous to Hornsby as a hitter, since he is not leading his league in batting for the first time in seven years, but the honor of a first place team is worth far more than an individual batting title.

City Goes Ball Crazy

St. Louis, at last certain of viewing a world series, became baseball mad upon hearing of the triumph of their favorites. All work practically ceased in the city which turned out in a body to celebrate with parades, shouts, and boisterous confusion. According to the plans of the world series commission, the series will open next Saturday at Sportsman's park in St. Louis, with the Cards facing either the Yankees or Indians.

The American league was forced to hold second place in the days interests while St. Louis held the center of the stage, but the defeat of Cleveland, who lost to the Athletics, 3 to 1, virtually crumbled the Indian's flag hopes. They are now two and one-half games in the rear and a New York victory or a Cleveland defeat from now on will decide the American league race.

An unusual circumstance of interest to ball fans is the fact that the National league race, the closest of the two all season, was the first to be decided.

Indiana Grid Squad Cut; 46 Players Get Crimson Suits

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 24—Pat Page has broken another precedent at Indiana university—he made a cut in his football squad, leaving only 46 players in crimson uniforms. He started off his first day by handing out scrimmage, something Indiana fans have not seen in many years.

As has been written on other occasions, Pat Page has installed a new system at the state university and one which he hopes will place Hoosier football on a par with other Big Ten conference schools. He believes every candidate on his squad should have football ambition and a desire to go through grueling scrimmages to be in shape for scheduled games. He doesn't spend the afternoon giving calisthenics but spends it teaching football and in this way he expects to give Indiana a combination which will place several of the contests on the winning side.

His first test comes next Saturday with De Pauw here. Only the last day of so has he said anything about the De Pauw game to his proteges. The Tigers will have al-

Football "Battle" for Little Hopefuls Today

Two Teams to Greet Each Other in Regular Tussle at Camp Randall

Scrimmage that should mean much to Wisconsin football fans will take place at Camp Randall this afternoon. With the first game of the season only a week off, the form displayed by the first and second teams, or the tans and the blues, or whatever they happen to be called, should be no little indication of what Badger rooters will have to think up new yells about this season.

The simple phrase "hard work" continued to dominate practice yesterday. Though the field was in even worse condition than it had been the day before, passing, punting, and signal drills were tossed at the squad one after the other. Wet weather can do the Badgers no harm for Saturdays are not always decorated with blue skies and the more practice they get under adverse conditions, the better they will be fitted to meet both those conditions and a man-size football team in the same sixty minutes.

Close Battle

Head Coach George Little is not having any descriptive prospectuses of the scrimmage today printed, but nobody needs one to predict that it will be a neck and neck affair. Neither of the first two teams demonstrated any noticeable superiority over the other, though they have alternated at being kicked around on several occasions.

If Coach Little follows the preferences he seems to have shown of late, he will line up the following on one team: Capt. Harmon, Crofoot, Hall, and Kreutz in the backfield, Burrus and Cameron, ends, Leitt and Straubel tackles on Bremer and Wagner guards, and center, Wilke. On the other he may have, Rose, Shaw, Kresby and McGivern in the backfield, Weich and Engelke on the ends, Kasiska and Gottstein at the tackles, Chutte and Carney at the guards, and Wilson at center.

Fast Play Probable

Rose and Shaw, who between them could scarcely drum up enough poundage to make one respectable lineman, have been responsible for some sensational ground-gaining in previous scrimmages and they will be watched closely today, both by the fans and by the eleven gentlemen who drop into formation opposite them. Kresby too shows himself to a couple of yards to opportune moments now and then, while McGivern can never be considered down until he has been tacked for fair.

In the other backfield, Doyle Harmon, whose number has been pretty well spotted by his opponents in previous scrimmages, may return to the slashing open-field form that swept him to touchdowns against Iowa and Chicago last year. Harmon has been troubled by a lack of effective interference this season. Hall and Kreutz are a couple of driving gents who make great sport of a hole in the enemy line. Crofoot, if he actually enters scrimmage, which is doubtful will be watched carefully to determine whether he has been slowed up by his operation this summer.

It will be a source of pleasure to all concerned if the linemen show improvement today. The forwards were pretty ragged in the last engagement, a fact which has brought them much attention from Line Coach Toe Lieb this week. With great lines already on the sprout at Minnesota and Michigan, it is essential that Wisconsin present something more than a tissue paper front when the big guns begin to roar.

ready seen action once when they stack up against the Crimson. Saturday Danville furnishes opposition for De Pauw while Indiana will be spending the time still learning the fundamentals of the game.

LITTLE ASSEMBLES COMPETENT STAFF

Outstanding, Experienced Men Form Badger Football Teaching Group

Starting his second year as athletic Director and Head Football Coach, George E. Little has gathered about him a high calibre coaching staff to carry on the work of last season. The group was well rounded out recently with the appointment of Glenn Holmes, Freeport high school mentor, as freshman coach to succeed James Brader, who signed as assistant at Harvard.

The Badger staff includes such grid notables as Tom Lieb, Irv Uteritz, Earl Blaik, Guy Sundt, E. R. Slaughter, Harry McAndrews and Holmes. These men have brought to Wisconsin football knowledge acquired under such tutors as Field Yost, Knute Rockne, Capt. McElwain and John Richards.

Tom Lieb A Boost

Little scored a point on several western athletic chiefs when he signed Tom Lieb last fall. This former aid of the famed Knute Rockne is a high powered, energetic leader, and his ability has been recognized as is exhibited by his appointment as first assistant.

"Butch" Slaughter, sought by C. C. Pyle to hold a guard post on Red Grange's eleven this fall, has chosen to remain in the caging game, and will work with Lieb in shaping the forward wall. The big Michigan guard was a popular choice for All-American while participating as a Wolverine lineman.

Coach Blaik

Irv Uteritz and Guy Sundt will handle the backfield men. This pair mixed on the gridiron for several seasons when the former starred at Michigan and Sundt played at fullback here. Both these coaches are All-Western men and have been associated with George Little for one year already.

Earl, "Red" Blaik will construct the ends, and Glenn "Pet" Holmes and Harry McAndrews the Frosh squad. Blaik learned his football under Little at Miami, but later entered West Point and made Walter Camp's honor eleven at end. McAndrews was a member of Wisconsin's 1925 team, while Holmes enjoyed a fine reputation while coaching at Freeport high school, for the past few years.

Grid Usher Captains

All experienced men desiring to serve as usher captains for football, are asked to meet in the Trophy room of the Men's gym, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

TICKET REGULATIONS FOR STUDENT PURCHASERS COMPLETELY OUTLINED

An article appeared in Tuesday's Cardinal concerning football ticket regulations that gave several false impressions. Please read the following regulations carefully:

1. There will be no mail order for the first game with Cornell. Tickets will be on sale at the Ticket Office beginning Monday, September 27th up till 11 o'clock Saturday morning. After that time no student rates will be allowed, and all seats purchased at Camp Randall will be at the one open sale price—$1.00.
2. Mail orders for the remaining games will close ten days before each game.
3. All orders received from now until the first mail September 23, will be filed as of the 23rd, and will be filled in the order with which they are drawn from the pile.
4. Mail orders may be made for

Intramural Program to Start With Feed for Workers Monday

The intramural department of the university will launch the program for the year 1926-1927 with an intramural manager feed and get-together, to be held at the Lawrence cafeteria, Monday evening, at 9 o'clock. An old-time lunch will be served. Plans for the coming year will be gone over with the fraternity athletic managers, proctor of Tripp and Adams halls, and the athletic managers of the churches represented in the Church league.

The general fee system in force last year in the fraternities will be adopted again this year and it is expected that every group on the campus will avail itself of this big saving. The fee will be $25.00, which will pay the entry for 17 intramural activities.

The program will open with touch football, entries for which will be made October 5. This will be followed by fraternity cross-country for which entries will be made Oct. 13. Bowling will begin October 18. Water polo and wrestling will begin November 3. These events will be followed by our regular program as promoted last year.

The Badger Bowl will be the object of spirited competition again this year. The point system, under which hit will be awarded, will be stated Monday night. Every fraternity on the campus has a chance to win.

A Church league program will also be inaugurated at this time. The Church Supremacy cup, which was won by the Hillel Foundation last year, will again be the objective.

Plans for Intramural Activities for the freshmen dormitories are as yet undecided, but will be settled upon at the meeting Monday night.

Hawkeye Freshmen From Seven States to Gather on Grid

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 24.—From seven different states have come the 132 candidates for the University of Iowa freshman football squad. Beef and brawn had its representatives for a scanning of the squad shows 10 men weighing more than 200 pounds, six better than 190, 12 shading the 180 mark, and 24 of 170 pounds or more.

Illinois sent nine young men to be future Hawkeye hopes and Missouri contributed five players. Florida, Minnesota, Wisconsin, New Jersey and New Mexico broke in with a candidate apiece. The rest of the 132 are Iowans.

The heavyweight title is shared by Gilchrist and P. H. Rohlk, each of whom carried 140 pounds. In third place is R. Gile with his 235 pounds displacement. Other weighty linemen are G. E. Lashbrook and C. W. Gilfillan, each 226 pounds; D. E. Shingledecker, 215 pounds; R. L. Shoemaker, 210 pounds; V. S. Schleusner, 204 pounds. A husky fullback is L. M. Jordon of Kansas City, Mo., a 201 pound plunger.

STUDENTS PAY NO MORE FOR GRID TICKETS THIS YEAR

—LEVIS

Explains Mailing Cost Raises Expense, Time is Saved

Supposition on the part of many students that they were paying more this year for tickets to athletic contests, particularly football, than in the past, was erased yesterday by George Levis, director of ticket sales, when he stressingly pointed out the saving to be realized in group applications.

Due to the fact that many students are applying for football tickets individually it appears as though the price of a pasteboard is 70 cents, student rates, instead of 50 cent. However, this is erroneous when it is realized that the cost of mailing is in excess of the additional 20 cents required of each student for postage.

Time Saved

The most important factor to be considered, Mr. Levis indicated, was the big saving in time by handling tickets through the mails instead of waiting in line for hours as in the past.

It is also to be remembered that group applications for tickets may also be made for the entire football season. This way effects a still further saving on the part of students in securing their tickets through the mails.

Ease For Students

Commenting on the matter, Mr. Levis stated, "it is my desire to make the purchase of football tickets the easiest for students." Here the director of ticket sales showed the advantages in the purchase of an athletic coupon book.

With the purchase of a coupon book the problem of applying for pasteboards at athletic events is abolished, since reserved seats are included in the book. Moreover, purchase of a coupon book for $7.50 allows a student to attend all athletic events of the university at an average charge of 18 cents.

Explanation

A tremendous amount of red-tape is encountered at the ticket office in handling tickets through the mails, and it was indicated that as far as the ticket office was concerned it would prefer to handle ticket sales through the ticket office as in past years. But with a view of rendering real service and saving much time for students the present plan was put into effect.

Student ticket sales for the Cornell game, one week from today, will close next Saturday at 11 o'clock. After that time students will not be granted the 50 cent rate, but will be charged $1.

Sales Close Early

Student sales at the low cost for all Big Ten Conference games will close 10 days previous. Applications for tickets must be in the hands of the ticket office on the Wednesday preceeding the week of any Big Ten contest.

However, student sales for the Kansas game on October 2, will be open until the day before the event, it was stated.

Coupon books may still be obtained at the ticket office on Langdon street. Many good seats are still let in section "H" which is located between the 5 and 20-yard lines.

TODAY IS LAST DAY FOR CHANGING SCHEDULES

All changes in programs or requests for smaller and reduced schedules must be taken care of by students before noon today, since regulations of the faculty require that this be completed by Saturday of registration week. After today, any students desiring to make changes will have to get the consent of the dean of their college besides that of their advisors before they can alter their courses.

One recent improvement in this world is the idle rich have ceased to be the idol rich.

Regent Olbrich Advises Freshmen

Regent Michael Olbrich struck the right note at the Varsity welcome yesterday when he told the freshmen that their real purpose for being in school should not be to develop the technique of money getting. He stressed other things as being more important fruits of a college education, and among these was the ability to relax into the practical life of a community and be a real asset to it, not because of business ability but because of the possession of a personality and a spirit of public service which helps to make a community more enjoyable to live in.

Members of the class of '30 may be wondering just why they are here. Certainly they are here to prepare for a career in the school of life, and they are learning how to make money. But that should almost be an incidental purpose. There is something more worth while to be gained from a college education than just that.

Too often parents and students alike are prone to measure the value of an education in terms of dollars and cents, and in many cases education, measured by those standards, is of no use.

We have stressed over-much the material needs of the time in which we live, to the neglect of the spiritual and social. More than ever before the world needs the trained technician and physician and lawyer, the industrialist and the merchant; but it needs something more than these. To paraphrase a statement of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the world needs man in the laboratory, man in the field of politics, man pleading the cause of justice.

Dollars and cents don't mean everything in this world, and it is possible to learn how to make a living by never going near the doors of a college. We need not fear that we will not find work that is engrossing and profitable; the real danger is that we may become slaves of the machine age in which we are now living; that in making a wage and a reputation we will lose contact with the greatest thing in the world—the fine art of living.

A Plea for Motorist Sanity

The university student colony perhaps has more cars per capita than any other university in the Middle west. After noting the great number of petrol-driven vehicles which line Langdon street and other thoroughfares of the Latin quarter, one would naturally draw the conclusion that the student body is moving on wheels. There is variety aplenty in this student car menagerie—everything from battered Tin Lizzies to the aristocratic Packard. Most of the Packards will be going home to father as soon as fraternity rushes have been fittingly impressed, but most of the dented wrecks, remembrances of better days, are here to stay.

The influx of this flock of student cars presents a serious problem to that proletarian portion of the student body which still propels its humble way about the campus by foot. Pedestrian traffic has been made perilous by speedsters who are evidently trying to emulate the great Oldfield. A pedestrian's life is in his hands every time he crosses a street.

An accident yesterday which might very well have been fatal demonstrates the imminence of the danger of student motorists to student pedestrians. Immediately after the Varsity welcome two women students were knocked down by a Ford being driven on Park street. A youthful speed maniac was giving two girl friends a thrilling ride, and he couldn't be bothered by the stream of human traffic which was emerging onto the street from the ceremonies on the hill. Fortunately neither of the two girls was hurt. The gay Gasoline Lothario didn't seem much concerned over the accident. He is just one of many similar morons who infest the student quarter.

It is a miracle that there have been no serious accidents since school started. It will be a miracle if no accidents happen in the future if the present era of reckless driving is to continue. The situation is worse this year than it ever has been. Prosperity has descended upon us again.

Students who drive cars would do well to exercise a little caution in their hectic ramblings around the various streets and avenues of this locality. Until pedestrian subways are put in at street crossings, students will have to go across on the surface, and a return to at least partial sanity on the part of some drivers would do much to make life at this university more secure and enjoyable for those who travel by the heel and toe express.

Wisconsin's Foremost Scandinavian

Old Sol refused to smile on Wisconsin's varsity welcome yesterday, but nevertheless "it didn't rain on Olson." As a preventer of rain, Prof. Julius Olson still reigns supreme on the campus. He should be best known, however, as the university's foremost Scandinavian.

The Daily Cardinal of yesterday carried a story relating how Prof. Olson spoke at the Leif Erickson festival held in Grant Park, Chicago, last Sunday afternoon. In his speech, Prof. Olson reviewed the importance of the Scandinavian settlement of the Mississippi valley. Since that time, letters of commendation and tributes from the Scandinavian press have been showered upon him. They testify of the high esteem in which Wisconsin's educator, friendly counselor to needy students, and exponent of the great dramatist Ibsen, is held by his fellow Scandinavians.

Wisconsin students have known Professor Olson in a three-fold way. They have sensed the beauty of the Norse language and its writers under his inspirational teaching, and have disclosed their financial stringency to him in order to receive loans which meant everything in a time of need. For years Badger students have been thrilled by successful varsity welcomes and commencement exercises over which he presided.

May Professor Julius Olson continue to stand guard over Jupiter Pluvius and continue to extol the greatness of his people and their mother tongue!

Wanted: Real Men to Row

Again Dad Vail faces the task of rebuilding a varsity crew and we know that he needs men, men who will report now for work on the lake and rowing machines and who will continue to report until the coxswains' calls echo over Lake Mendota for the last time next spring.

"Wisconsin lost the Poughkeepsie race and won the hearts of its supporters as never before . . . Our crew worked like demons all the way. You could plainly see their Herculean efforts from where we sat, from Teckemeyer, stroking a Goliath sweep that literally pulled him clear of his seat and the shell from the water, right down the line. And "Shorty" Coulter, captain and coxswain, reputed by many to be the best strategist on the river, was plainly exerting every trick and turn of his craft. . . . A finer bunch of fellows, a cleaner set of athletes and a more lion-hearted aggregation of water-eaters never oared a shell than our Wisconsin crew this year. . . ."

Thus wrote Randolph Brown, '16, of the Wisconsin Alumni club of New York after last year's race. What will be written next year? The number of men and the kind of men reporting to Dad Vail this fall will determine that.

Lloyd George thinks America can save the world. But we've positively saved the last world we're ever going to save for democracy, Lloyd.

Fur coats made their first appearance on the campus yesterday. The cold weather comes at an opportune time. It will enable prospective pledgees to ascertain what houses rate the best. One house flashed fifteen fur coats, and the success of its rushing season is assured.

The governor's illness just at the time of Freshman welcome is becoming chronic, and Regent Olbrich was drafted into duty. We're all for the regent, and enjoyed his speech even more, probably, than if it would have issued from the lips of the great governor himself. It's too bad that the governor is being elevated to the senate, because now the student body won't have an opportunity to hear him again as an official welcome.

Yes, we're back. What'd we do this summer? Went to summer session along with all the rest of the people who flunked French.

According to a last minute bulletin issued by the registrar, the enrollment for this year will be about equal to the number of musical instruments out at the new dorms.

NAUGHTY! NAUGHTY!

T. E. Jones, cross-country coach, says he has few hopes for a decent team this year. Tee Hee Jones, you can't kid us that way.

Yes, Milwaukee is a good place to be from — one at least doesn't have to pay out-of-state tuition.

Which reminds us of the frosh who remarked that Gilbert Bursar must have some income.

It really does seem good to be back, though, and have Madison greet us with open arms—and hands.

The hardest blow was to pay the Branch Bank 5 dollars ($five) for taking our money.

The worst break we've heard so far was when an English Lit prof slipped on a syllable and told his class it should do some suggestive reading.

Now that football season is here we take pleasure in announcing the new Harvard cheer—"Vot? Ve don't win? Vell che-e-eted!"

Well, boys, if you can't join a fraternity you can at least join the Co-op.

Mr. Gatewood doesn't believe in rebates—and we don't either considering that we gave somebody else's call number all last year by accident and didn't find it out until we tried to collect.

We hereby award the Skyrocket trophy to the Tekes for their ingenious and novel system of rushing. Before school started it is reported that some of the loyal brethren obtained a list of prospective frosh customers from a local clothing firm's advertising list, checked off a number of names that sounded well, and sent rushing letters to the boys. Congratulations, fellows!

Sh-h-h you boys out at the dorms, wanna make some money? Well just go in another fellow's room with a monkey wrench and start to disconnect his radiator. He'll say, "Whatsa big idea." You'll say, "I just bought this from the Board of Regents for $2." He'll say, "I'll give you $2 if you leave it here." Then collect and repeat process on more fertile fields.

"IT NEVER RAINS ON OLSON"

But it comes damclose!
We didn't know which class we wanted to play with, so we didn't march.

Bet those girls in white who led the parade had red flannels underneath.

Our respects to Gov. Blaine, who was ill and unable to attend the ceremony. The governor seems to be ill so often, though—weren't you incapacitated at the time of the Senior swingout last spring, Mr. Blaine?

Yes, Percy, Pres. Frank was the man with the spats.

And didn't the Frosh look cute in their green pea caps!

Lowell Frautschi greeted the freshmen women on behalf of the upper-class men—which was hardly necessary.

After all, the most important thing about the ceremony was that it didn't rain on Olson.

Does the university pay $5 for every misspelled word in the Time Table? If so, we claim the honor—top of page 17 in the fifth column.

And let there be no moaning at the bar when Dempsey puts out to sea.

Ask the deans what happened when the lights went out in the Street Thursday night?

"Y. M. C. A. Bible" Makes Appearance in Frivolous Jacket

No longer does the "Y" handbook, dubbed the Y. M. C. A. Bible, clothe itself modestly with a quiet cover. The new issue, which has just made its appearance, is in magazine form, and is grbed in bright green in honor of the frosh.

If the plans of Y. M. C. A. officials work out, the handbook will be published quarterly in the future. Copies of the first edition were mailed to all prospective freshmen.

Formerly the handbook was much the same size and shape as a pocket-size testament—hence the name. It contained such matter as university rules, a map of Madison, the local churches and other places of interest. The new publication is designed to present the matter in more readable form.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW GAMMA PHI BETA HOME

A formal ground breaking instituting construction on the new Gamma Phi Beta chapter house will be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, at the north-east corner of Langdon and Francis streets. The first shovelful will be turned by Mrs. T. E. Brittingham '89, one of the founders of the local chapter and president of the Gamma Phi Beta alumni association.

The structure will be of Italian architecture and will be of Chicago brick. A red tile roof is included in the plans. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by next summer. The two houses now owned by the local chapter will be disposed of immediately.

Be careful with matches in the woods now. Farmers didn't raise their trees to be a forest fire.

MORE THAN 5,000 AT WELCOME TO FRESHMEN

As the chimes in the clock tower struck the hour of 11, the band marched up the upper campus and took a position at the right of the Lincoln monument. The guard, in white, consisting of about 24 women, marched down to meet the freshmen, and returned with them. The sophomores and juniors followed the freshman ranks. The seniors, graduates and law students issued from the arcade of Bacom hall.

Prof. Julius Olson was chairman of proceedings. George C. Sellery, dean of the College of Letters and Science, introduced the various speakers.

Glenn Holmes McAndrews to Coach Frosh

Former Freeport Mentor And 1925 Badger Star Handle Yearlings

The news, long withheld, that Glenn Holmes, former Freeport high school coach, will handle the Wisconsin Freshman eleven this fall was released by the University today.

Holmes will be assisted by Harry "Pat" McAndrews, star halfback on the Badgers 1925 eleven. Equipment for the Yearlings is being issued this week, and Holmes and McAndrews will meet the 1930 grid aspirants at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at Camp Randall.

The first real work for the Freshman gridders will be inaugurated Monday afternoon. A large squad of prep school stars is expected to report at this time.

Madison Man Gets Copy Of "Hurricane Extra"

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Riley, 1214 Oakridge ave., this city, have received from their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Riley, of Coral Gables, Fla., a letter dated the 20th inst., and a copy of the Hurricane Extra of the newspaper, Miami Riviera, of the 18th. The extra contains an encouraging proclamation from Mayor Edward E. Dammers, of Coral Gables, and a statement by George E. Merrick, both of which show that prompt measures for restoration of normal conditions were promptly put under way. The damage to Coral Gables was mostly on the surface and can be rapidly repaired, says Mr. Merrick, the principal damage to the appearance of the city being to the landscaping. Charles E. Riley served with the force of deputies in the stricken areas in rescuing the injured and removing the dead.

John M. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Riley, 1246 Oakridge ave., this city, was at Jacksonville, out of the hurricane area, during the storm.

Legion Post Won't Accept Proposition

Committee Rules Organization Not Organized For Business

Members of the Madison post of the American Legion at a special meeting last night at the G. A. R. hall on Monona ave., declined to accept a certain business proposition which had been offered them. The nature of the proposition was not made public.

A committee which had been appointed to consider the problem reported unfavorably and the legion post accepted its decision. Feeling that the Legion is not organized for conducting any sort of a business and that it would not be within its legal rights in doing so resulted in the rejection of the offer.

No other business was considered at the meeting.

Frank Urges Frosh Justify Parents' Hope

Prexy Welcomes New Students To U. W. Today

"Universities are organized challenges to men's latent strength, not intellectual and moral nurseries for the spoon-feeding of reluctant weaklings."

With that concise description of the University of Wisconsin, Pres. Glen Frank welcomed the new class of freshmen to the university at the sixth annual Varsity welcome on the upper campus this morning.

Upon the shoulders of these freshmen he placed the burden of hopes to be justified by these new students before their college careers are over. They were the hopes of the parents, the state, and the university.

Other speakers at the welcome were: Gov. Blaine, Prof. Julius Olson, who directed the event; Dean George C. Sellery, who presided; Dean Charles S. Slichter, on behalf of the faculty; Miss Alice Brown, president of W. S. G. A., and Lowell Frautschi, president of the Wisconsin Union board, on behalf of the upper classmen.

The pageant of the classes, led by the women of the Guard in White, preceded the talks. The guard consisted of 24 upperclass women. Prof. C. I. Corp was in charge of campus maneuvers.

Dr. Frank, in his address, cautioned the freshmen to live up to the hopes centered in them.

"When you registered the other day you signed a triple contract with your parents, your state, and your university that you would, by the sustained sincerity of your effort, justify the wager they have laid on your worthiness," he said.

"I hope that you may discharge your debt to your parents, when their eyes are twinkling over your sound achievement."

SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS WILL BE SCRUTINIZED AT CONFERENCE

Social workers of Wisconsin will put the state's social institutions under the x-ray at Milwaukee, Oct. 3, 4, 5, and 6, in the meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work.

The meeting is described by leaders of the conference as a "social and civic clinic for Wisconsin." Conditions in 11 different phases of community life will be considered realistically, and attempts will be made to develop community programs which will deal effectively with the situation in each of these fields.

Community health, municipal government, poor relief, dependent children, recreation, boys' work, industrial problems, mental hygiene, rural social work, crippled children, and civic and social organization problems each will be taken up in separate section conferences.

Actual cases will be dealt with in the discussion groups. In the conference of the industrial problems group, for instance, leaders plan to examine the practice of bringing children by the trainload from the southwest into Wisconsin every year to work in the beet fields, a practice which the industrial commission has no authority to prevent. E. E. Witte of the legislative reference library will speak and lead this discussion.

The children's division of the conference will devote its efforts to outline a children's code for Wisconsin. Dr. William F. Lorenz, chief of the Wisconsin psychiatric institute, will present a practical, adequate, and feasible program of mental hygiene for Wisconsin.

Similar concrete studies are planned for each section. Some 200 speakers are on programs of section meetings and the conference general sessions. Authorities not only from Wisconsin, but from a number of other states will appear before the convention.

Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, president of the conference, will be honored at a dinner on Wednesday evening, Oct. 6. A feature of the dinner will be an address by Chester D. Snell, new dean of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, who will speak on "Education and Community Welding." President Glenn Frank will speak at the first general meeting of the conference, Oct. 3.

Bear Chases Man and Woman Blueberrying
BIDDLEFORD, Me.—Claiming that she and her husband were chased by a bear while they were blueberrying, Mrs. Turgeon Odias has made an appeal for a posse to organize a bear hunt in York county. According to her story, she and her husband were picking blueberries three miles from City Hall, when a large black bear appeared. They fled, she says, but the bear continued his chase for over half a mile.

'Y' May Seek to Organize E. Side Boys

Business Men Greet Plan With Favor At Meeting

East Side boys, now without means for supervised recreation to take up their spare hours, may be organized into a troop by the city Y. M. C. A. and given training in swimming, hiking, and other forms of athletics, the East Side Business Men's association learned at its meeting last night in the Atwood ave. clubhouse.

The plans of the Y. M. C. A. were transmitted to the association by Maurice E. Field, East Side attorney.

Members of the association voiced immediate approval to the plan and saw in it a means to break up the gangs of East Side youths that are said to be responsible for the wave of petty robberies to which the East Side has been victim within the past year and which have motivated the section's demand for additional police protection.

Oppose Land Sale

Many of these boys, having nothing to do during the hours after school, organize into bands and perpetrate minor acts of vandalism and robbery, according to members of the association. Formed into wholesome recreational groups, the energy of these youths could be directed into the right channels, several East Side business men declared.

A resolution was passed by the association urging the common council not to sell city-owned lots on the Lake Monona end of Thornton ave., but to retain that property for future park purposes. City Clerk Winckler has already been authorized to advertise for bids on the property. The council is to consider the sale tonight.

not to reach its quota of funds, unless East Side business men exert a greater effort this year than last. In 1925 the money raised was little below the quota set for the ward.

Add New Members

The board of directors of the association was appointed a special committee to confer with authorities of the proposed new Norwegian Lutheran hospital and decide upon means to assure the erection of the institution on the East Side.

3 Alterations on Flashlights Patented Here

Three More Men Patent Other Devices, Report

Three Madison inventors have been granted patents on flashlight devices which have been assigned to the French Battery Co., it was announced today from Washington, D. C.

Eugene H. McCabe has devised a light which carries a bulb in each end, one of which reflects light parallel with the holder and the other at right angles.

The second patent granted to William W. Cargill and John Graves, covers a modification of the ordinary flashlight that is said to make it more convenient and also to increase its service.

Arthur M. Wengel, of Madison, has secured letters patent on an electrotherapeutic apparatus which consists of complicated mechanism, including a transformer for impress-the booths and tents.

Two new members were added to the association. They are Dr. A. C. Simley, dentist, and Dr. Lindley V. Sprague, physician. Gustave A. Benson, a new member, celebrated his entrance into the organization, by passing cigars to the members.

sing a high tension current on an alternating circuit, a condenser and a spark gap for producing high frequency oscillations.

A display carton invented by Arthur O. Fox and John A. Keenan Jr. of Madison has been protected by letters patent issued by the patent office. The invention has been assigned to the General Laboratories, Madison.

Will Discuss W. Side Car Row Tonight

Mass Meeting Opens At 7:30 At Randall School

The Harrison st. street car situation will be discussed at a mass meeting of West Side residents at the Randall school tonight at 7:30.

Residents in the vicinity of the cemeteries oppose the order of the railroad commission authorizing the abandonment of street car service on Regent st. The tracks have been removed from Harrison st. to permit its paving.

A request will probably be made after the meeting tonight to have the tracks relaid on Harrison st. immediately and street car service resumed in place of continuation of the bus service.

OREGON.—New concrete streets were officially opened here Friday night with a celebration that included band concerts, dancing, and talks by state and county highway men.

A group of highway officials from Madison attended the celebration and each was called upon for a short talk. They were, F. W. Sawtelle, Dane county highway engineer; Frank A. Cannon, secretary of Wisconsin Good Roads association; A. L. Hambrecht, state division engineer; Gorge Gooerel, county concrete inspector; John R. Caldwell, county highway commissioner, M. W. Torkelson, state highway commission and J. T. Lyle, E. C. Sweet, and Carl Lein members of the Dane county highway commission who officially represented the county at the celebration.

Hill's Nomination For Assembly To Stand

Arthur A. Hitt is the republican nominee for assemblyman from Buffalo and Pepin counties, without the drawing of lots, the secretary of state announced today. Drawing of lots by the canvassing board was contemplated when returns from the recent primary indicated that Hitt and H. A. Miles each received 1,889 votes. Hitt had a majority of five votes in the first returns certified to the state election officials by the county canvassing boards, and the attorney general hold informally that after the county canvassers once adjourn they have no right to meet again or to make supplementary returns.

A New Idea In University Men's Clothes Varsity Approved Models

SUITS
$40 to $50

University men, the country over, have "a style unto themselves." Recognizing this, makers of clothing have established a "college style board," one of whose members is Joe Ripp, head of the Co-op clothing department.

TOPCOATS
$30 to $40

After a meeting of this board during the summer, this season's campus models were determined, and the result is the Co-op's showing of Varsity Approved suits and topcoats, now on display. Come in and see them today—at the Co-op.

STATE
& LAKE

Suits are in two and three button models, with wide shoulders and notched lapels, quite wide. The coats drape easily about the shoulders and in the back, though some are slightly tailored in the front. Vests are six buttons—trousers hang comfortably wide. The colors are grey, tans and blues—many of them in beautiful tweeds.

Topcoats, too, are loose hanging and long. The general effect is of broad athletic shoulders and wide lapels. Fabrics are tweeds and novelty weaves in both light and dark effects.

Kenosha Man Strangles Wife, Kills Himself

Uses Shoestring In Crime, Shoots Self In Down Town Store

KENOSHA, Wis.—Mad with jealousy Manuel Covarrubias, 31, strangled his wife, Maria, 22, to death yesterday afternoon and then after writing letters telling of his crime shot himself to death in a downtown cigar store, using a gun which he was pretending to purchase.

The suicide occurred at 6 o'clock last night. Investigation of it revealed the murder of the wife which had probably occurred at least two hours previous.

When shown a revolver at the store, Covarrubias had asked to see how it was loaded. When a cartridge was placed in it, he grabbed the gun from the clerk's hands, shoved the muzzle of it down his throat and fired. He fell dead.

Breaking into the room which he had occupied with his wife, police found the woman's body on the bed, her hands tied in front of her with a handkerchief. Around her neck was a shoestring, which the husband had used to strangle her to death.

Letters written by the husband, found on the desk, admitted that he had killed his wife because of jealousy and stated his intention of ending his own life by suicide.

The couple came to Kenosha only a few weeks ago from Mexico. They claimed to be Spaniards.

NEW YORK—(P)—Press reports of the damage in Florida have been exaggerated, S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, said tonight. He said: "Our information is that buildings erected under modern methods have withstood the tempest in admirable shape. Only temporary buildings of flimsy construction were seriously damaged."

Madison Aero Club To Meet Wednesday, Oct 3

Efforts to get Madison an airplane landing field, and thereby placing the city on the Chicago, Milwaukee and Twin Cities air mail route will be renewed by the Madison Aero club Wednesday, Oct. 6, when the club renews its regular meetings.

October 1 the Chicago, Milwaukee and Twin Cities air mail route will be taken over by the Northwest Airways, Inc., and three new ships are being especially built for this route. They have a speed of 125 miles an hour and are equipped with 200 horsepower Wright Whirlwind motors.

forsaking the severe quadrangles of Oxford to become the personal sidekick of the Prince of Wales—and to tell the entire English Court what it should wear—

he doubtless gained his first reputation for correct attire by appearing in a smart suit of 18th Century college clothes.

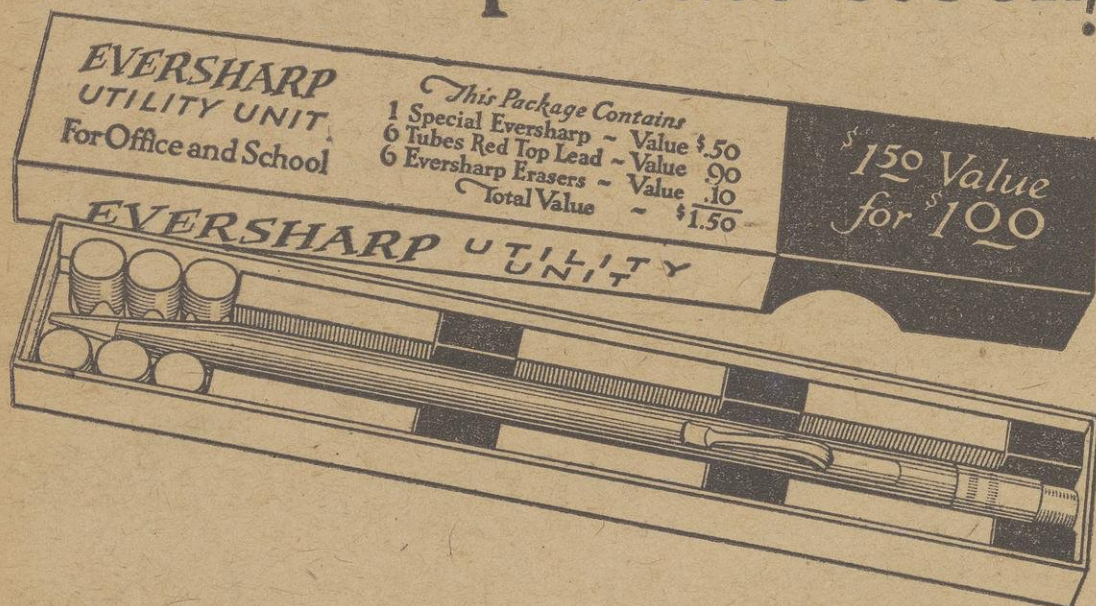

Not that we wouldn't be the first to mob anyone who stepped out in a similar costume today—we like today's college styles a lot better; they seem simpler to move around in—but here's the point:

When it comes to knowing styles, college men are still as far ahead of everyone else as they were in Brummel's day. They know the sort of thing they want to wear, and nothing else will do! That's why we offer them Society Brand college clothes — because these clothes are made strictly according to college men's ideas, carried out to perfection—to the last whisper.

Brother is Called By Prosecution

Mal S. Daugherty Tells Of Bank Records Burned By Harry

NEW YORK.—Testimony that Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in the Harding cabinet, burned ledger sheets that the government alleges would show that part of an alleged bribe was deposited to his credit in the Midland National Bank, Washington Court House, Ohio, was given today in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy case, by Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the defendant Daugherty.

The records, the government alleges were destroyed by Harry M. Daugherty to prevent the government from tracing to his accounts $150,000 of the $441,000 commission.

The $441,000 was paid by Richard Merton, German metal magnate to John T. King, late Republican national committeeman from Connecticut.

Questioned on Ledgers

He was then questioned about three ledger sheets for his own account, that of his brother and one for Jesse W. Smith, confidential adviser to Harry M. Daugherty, who committed suicide in 1923.

Mal S. Daugherty had been subpoenaed to bring these ledger sheets but he said they were gone. "Where they in your bank when you left?" Buckner asked.

"No."

"Were were they?"

"I haven't the slightest knowledge. We, my brother and I, brought them here in October, 1925."

At the time of the grand jury investigation in New York that resulted in the first indictments against Daugherty and Miller, Mal S. Daugherty said he was subpoenaed to bring the ledger sheets.

Said He'd Destroyed Them

"I went to Columbus, Ohio," he said, "and asked Harry for them." "What did he say?"

"He told me he had destroyed them."

"How did he destroy them?"

"He burned them."

Mal S. Daugherty was asked if he had ever discussed with his brother the contents of the ledger sheets and other documents. He replied that he had.

"When?"

"I don't recollect."

Britain Will Admit Women to Ministry

LONDON.—Wesleyan ministers in conference at York accepted the general principle of the admission of women to the ministry. The report of the committee visualized the difficulty of marriage which it suggested, could be overcome either by the resignation of the woman from the ministry of the holding of a position analogous to that of a minister without a pastoral charge.

Hagen 2 Up on Farrell in Semi-Finals

Reels Off 69 In First 18 Holes In Pro Tourney

GARDEN CITY, N. Y.—Walter Hagen, defending titleholder was two up on Johnny Farrell of Mamaroneck, N. Y., at the end of the first round of their 36-hole semi-final match in the Professional Golf Assn. championship at Salisbury today.

Hagen reeled off a brilliant round of 69 to gain his advantage over Farrell, who found himself trailing in spite of a consistently good 71, one stroke under par.

Successive birdies on the 16th and 17th holes gave Hagen his margin. Here he laid his approaches well up on the green and then holed out each time in one putt, sinking a twelve-footer at the sixteenth and a seven-footer on the seventeenth.

Rounding the turn at the ninth, the champion held an advantage of one up, going out in 34, two strokes under par. The cards:

Hagen out . . . 453 424 534—34

Farrell out . . . 443 434 544—35

The incoming card:

Hagen in . . . 544 444 244—35—69

Farrell in . . . 534 444 354—36—71

Leo Diegel of New York outstripped even the brilliant Hagen in this morning's round, holing out on the eighteenth green with a medal round of 68, four under par. His score tied the best previous mark of the tournament, made in the qualifying round by Mike Patton of Memphis, Tenn. His opponent, John Golden of New Jersey, went around in 73.

Diegel had par scores on every hole of the incoming nine after the thirteenth, where he holed his second birdie of the homeward journey. The New York player yielded only one hole to his opponent during the round, dropping a long putt for a birdie two at the sixteenth.

The cards:

Diegel in . . . 434 344 354—34—68

Golden in . . . 444 454 264—37—73

Each of these members has had the pleasant sensation of having their money come back to them in the form of Co-op rebates. They will tell you that the Co-op invariably returns you at least fifteen per cent of your expenditures.

You are starting a four year stay in the university. During that period you will spend at least $1,400 for text books, school supplies, clothing and miscellaneous items. A Co-op rebate on this amount will certainly amount to a very appreciable saving—in the neighborhood of $200.

By joining today you share in the savings from the very beginning of your student career. Every purchase you make will mean a saving for you. Come in today—pay the $2.50 life membership fee—and choose the $2.50 fountain pen which is given to all members.
