The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

These hands are useful again with the SILASTIC® Finger Joint Prostheses

The SILASTIC Finger Joint Prosthesis restores useful function to hands which have been crippled by arthritis.

The Finger Joint Prosthesis is used as a replacement of diseased and traumatized joints. It is a flexible, one-piece, intramedullary-stemmed implant that is physiologically nonreactive to bone and tissue.

Clinically proven in over 4-1/2 years of implantation, the prosthesis' hinged design allows the patient to flex and extend the fingers in a near normal manner.

Other SILASTIC implants for orthopaedic surgery are available: Trapezium – Carpal Scaphoid – Carpal Lunate – Radial and Ulnar Heads – Great Toe – Intramedullary Implant – Nerve Cuff – Medical-Grade Rod.
