BADGERS LOSE TO WOLVERINES IN 18 INNINGS

Protested Home Run is Turning Point in Michigan Victory

The story of the eighteen inning Wisconsin-Michigan baseball game played at Ann Arbor Monday afternoon reads like a college hero dime novel.

The early part of the game, that is, the first eight innings was an exhibition of good baseball, with the Badger nine having a one or two run lead all the time. Michigan never was ahead during this part of the battle, in fact she did not gain the ascendancy until the winning run was pushed across in the eighteenth inning.

Ninth Inning Fatal

The last half of the ninth inning found Michigan batting with Wisconsin holding a one run lead. The score was five to four. The first Michigan batsman was easily retired. Perrin, Wolverine center fielder, drove one of Paddock's curves on a line to right field, but the ball hit in foul territory; that is, it was foul in the opinion of every Wisconsin player who could see it drop and everyone in the grandstand in line with the play. The umpire, however, called the ball fair and Perrin was caught at the plate as he attempted to make the hit good for a home run. A pretty relay from Snow to Harrington to Davey retired the runner at home by a margin large enough to make the out apparent.

Reverses Decision

The umpire called Perrin out at the plate. When the Michigan players and coach swarmed onto the field in protest at the decision the umpire was influenced by Coach Fisher to change his decision and call the hit a home run on the grounds that it had gone out of the sight of the umpire when it had rolled behind a group of people seated along the right field foul line.

The reversal of decision was the deliberate action of the official in-

SMALL GREEN CAPS TO BE SOLD TODAY

Small green tags, representing frosh caps, will be sold on the hill today for a minimum price of 10 cents. The freshman Cap night committee will use the proceeds of the day's sale to defray the expenses of next Saturday night's cap burning ceremony.

A mass meeting was held last night in Music hall to lay tag day and Cap night plans before the freshmen. A large number of frosh attended the meeting.

CAPTURE CULPRIT NEAR CHI O HOUSE

A man, giving his name as "Billy Walsh," and his address as Chicago, was caught prowling around the Chi Omega sorority house, North Henry street, last night about 11 o'clock by some men from the Theta Delta Chi fraternity, 150 Langdon, led by "Bill" Sykes '23 and Charles Russell '23.

The man was found between the Spooner apartments and the Chi Omega house, chased to the street in front, captured, and turned over to the Madison police to await investigation in court this morning.

SOPHS AND FROSH HOLD JOINT PARTY

Meet at State and Lake Streets, in Procession to Piers

A general free-for-all freshman-sophomore scrap and lake party took place last night at 9 o'clock on the corner of State and Lake streets and the Lake street piers immediately after the close of the freshman mass meeting, held to discuss plans for Cap night next Saturday.

Following a vigorous fistic engagement at the corner of State and Lake streets, the sophomores attempted to pilot several of the frosh into the lake. The freshmen, outnumbering the sophomores, seized the opportunity to toss the second year men into the lake; and in the melee on the Lake street pier, 60 freshmen and sophomores were pushed into the water.

Dean Scott H. Goodnight tried to stop the fighting, but his attempts were of no avail. The sophs had collected during the freshman meeting, and the fight began when they found the first year men coming from Music hall without their green caps.

TOEPFER CHOSEN TO CAPTAIN CREW

George O. Toepfer '21, Madison, was elected captain of the varsity crew last Saturday morning immediately before the crew race with the Lincoln Park Boat club. Toepfer has been active in college and varsity rowing for four years, and is at present in No. 1 position in the varsity shell. He replaces Arthur Samp '22, who captained the crew until two weeks ago when he had to discontinue rowing because of physical disability.

Toepfer is a senior in the College of Agriculture and is a member of the stock judging team which competed in the International Livestock show at Chicago last fall.

600 GYM MEN IN FIELD DAY

General Gym Classes Hold Annual Program at 4:30 Today

Six hundred freshman and sophomore general gymnastic students will take part in the annual men's gymnastic field day program this afternoon at 4:30 on the lower campus. In case of rain the exhibition will be held on the drill floor of the gym.

The program, consisting of six events, will be opened by the second regimental band under the direction of Major E. W. Morphy of the School of Music. The rest of the program is as follows:

Mass drill by 500 general gym students, directed by Coach Fred E. Schlatter; presentation of physical efficiency medals by Coach Thomas E. Jones; group games by general gym classes, directed by G. E. Linden; exhibition of track and field

No general gym classes will be held on Wednesday or Thursday of this week because of the field day program. All general gym men will report this afternoon promptly at 4:30 in the gymnasium annex. Men having 4:30 classes on the hill will receive a written excuse for same.

Lowman Officially Protests Overtime Game with Michigan

The Athletic department of the University of Wisconsin officially states, through G. S. Lowman, coach of the baseball team, that the game played at Ann Arbor between Wisconsin and Michigan on Monday, May 30, will be officially protested before the Protest committee of the conference. The protest follows:

"The grounds for the protest came up in the last half of the ninth inning. There was one man out for Michigan, and a batter at the plate drove a line ball to right field, which was without question a foul. Davey of the Wisconsin team protested to the umpire that it was a foul ball, but the umpire would not heed the protest and waved the man on around the bases. The ball rolled outside the foul line in behind a few spectators near the right field but it did not go into the stand and Wisconsin's right-fielder while fielding the ball was in plain view of the umpire and all officials. The ball was then relayed to shortstop directly back of first base, who then threw the ball to the catcher at the plate and the umpire declared the runner out at the plate.

"The Michigan team immediately gathered around the umpire and tried to influence him to change his decision and call the man safe. The umpire would not do this. Then Mr. Fisher, coach of the Michigan team, came out and insisted that a batted ball which leaves fair territory out of the view of the official is automatically a home run. The umpire then reversed his decision and gave the Michigan player a home run according to the rule suggested by Coach Fisher. Upon this reversal of decision the Wisconsin team left the field and later continued to play under formal protest only.

"The rule suggested by Coach Fisher could not be applicable in any way in this play, for the ball did not go into the grand stand and it did not definitely leave the view of the official, for the fielder was in plain view who handled the ball and the ball could not have left the view of the umpire while in the air without becoming a foul, for there was no obstruction and the foul line extended indefinitely.

"Under conditions mentioned above no official rule could grant the batter a home run. The reversal of decision on the part of the umpire was without question due to the prestige of Coach Fisher as a major league pitcher, influencing a weak-minded official."

GUY S. LOWMAN.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR CANOE VICTIM

Captain Boutin, Milwaukee, arrives to Take Charge of Recovery

Search for the body of Melvin B. Engler '23, who was drowned in Lake Mendota Saturday morning about 200 yards off Picnic point, was continued to no avail up until noon yesterday when the lake became too rough to allow further dragging.

Capt. F. T. Boutin, chief of the government life-saving station at Milwaukee, arrived in Madison Monday night with his son to take charge of the search. Capt. Thomas Isabel, of the university life-saving station, and a volunteer crew of students dragged the lake Sunday and Monday without success. Drag nets and grappling hooks are being used. Captain Isabel is assisting Captain Boutin in the search, which will be renewed today.

HARD WORKOUT BEFORE BIG 10 TRACK CLASSIC

Illini Favorites in Meet—Points to be Given for Five Places

Stiff practice sessions every afternoon will be the schedule of the Wisconsin track squad in preparation for the twenty-first annual track and field games of the western conference on Friday and Saturday, June 3 and 4, at Chicago. Coach Thomas E. Jones sent his charges through two workouts on Monday and another hard practice yesterday.

Every Badger track and field man is in fine fettle for the invasion of Stagg field, with the single exception of Paul D. Kayser '21, quarter miler. Kayser was injured in the 440 yard race with Northwestern on Friday when he came from behind on the straightaway and defeated Young. In winning the run, Kayser injured his arches, but he will probably be able to enter the furlong in the Big Ten meet.

Illinois Has Strength

Illinois, represented by one of the best balanced teams in the country, will go into the conference meet a heavy favorite. Coach Harry Gill has developed a squad well fortified in every event. The Illini have yet to meet defeat in an outdoor track meet. They easily captured the indoor conference championship and romped over Michigan and Wisconsin, their closest rivals in outdoor competition. Wisconsin and Michigan are on a par and are conceded an equal chance to finish close to the Illini in the final standing. Ohio State furnished strong opposition to Michigan in dual meet which the Wolverines won by taking the last event, the shot put.

Several outside institutions which have entered the track and field games are expected to cut in on points expected to be won by Big Ten teams. Notre Dame will be represented by an aggregation that

AD CLUB TO HOLD BANQUET TONIGHT

The last meeting of the Advertising club will be held tonight at the city Y. M. C. A. at 6:15. There will be a round table discussion during the banquet, followed by a short talk by Prof. E. H. Gardner.

The election of officers for the coming semester will be followed by short talks from outgoing seniors. It is urged that all members of the club be present.

KLETZIEN CAPTAINS VARSITY GYMNASTS

Elmer A. Kletzien '23 was elected captain of the varsity gym team at the final meeting of the year. Kletzien is president of Gamma Sigma, honorary gymnastic fraternity. He is a "W" man and has been on the gym team for two years. He is also president of the Commerce advisory commission and a member of Commerce club.

The Big Ten Gymnastic conference will be held at Wisconsin next year. Under the direction of Coach F. E. Schlatter, the gym team is looking forward to the championship of the Big Ten. Wisconsin took second place at the Western conference this year, held at Bloomington.

FEELING good today. This is the first of the month, you know.

YES, and looking at it in a different light, one might say with some degree of truth that it may be the beginning of the end.

AT the thought of those $%@*! finals just over the horizon our knees quake and cold perspiration breaks out on our sunburned brow, sunburned from the rays of the study lamp.

ANSWER us, now, what do you think of the swimming?

YEP, that's just what we thought you'd say.

Dear MISS PRINT:

I am a shy, bashful, little co-ed of 29 falls and have come to you for your individual help. I am six feet four and weigh 118 pounds. Am I big enough to put up my hair? Ought I wave goodby to my little brother when he leaves for school? Is it perfectly all right to wipe one's team away in a motion picture theater with the sleeve of one's coat?

TONSIL.

Dear TONSIL:

We judge, TONSIL, from your description of yourself that you are well able to put your hair up...on the dresser. Also, you may wave goodby to your kid brother only twice a week, on Wednesdays and Sundays, in order that you don't get all tired out and run down. Sure, it's all right to wipe your tears away, but be very careful which one's sleeve you use. You know, it makes your own sleeve all shiny, so choose with care.

Has it Come to This, Philip?

THE ALPHA SIGS have so long maintained their individual policy of determined women haters that they have seemingly lost all power of discrimination. Last night one of their sophisticated young sophomores in a kittenish mood mistook a prominent sorority girl for a frosh.

THE FLAME DIES

Traditional Swing-out Torch
Not to be Handed Down to Juniors

The Senior Swing-out torch of four years has burned its last—a short-lived existence. No more shall it be the "light in the clearing," the star which has guided the juniors.

If the spirit of the senior torch might return, it could relate tales of campus swing-outs. There would be the times when it was passed from the seniors to the juniors in peaceful stillness; the torch, a perfect model of brightness. In these instances every heart on the campus beat high at the solemnity of the occasion, but the torch flickered silently.

Three successive Swing-outs passed without mishap. Then came the fourth. Said the torch last year, "I'll cause some excitement." The spirit of mischief flared up within it and it sent forth a flame, which burst through its cardboard top, and gleefully caught on the flowing sleeves of a senior girl. Dean F. Louise Nardin came quickly to the rescue—so quickly that very little disorder was caused in the procession. The torch, disgusted at its unsuccessful attempt to create mischief, ceased forever to burn.

Forever; for now a substitute has been secured, a new torch with a metal cover, which will have no chance to create a disturbance.

WASHINGTON—"Informal feelers" with respect to an international agreement for a reduction of armaments already have been put out by U. S., it was learned Tuesday in high administration quarters. But spare my marcelle, sir," she said.

THE NOSY NEWSIE

Today's question: "What do you think of Final Examinations?"

Vilas Hanks: "Mother told me never to say that word, and if I ever did, she said she would put soap in my mouth."

Aline Smith: "Come over here in the corner and I'll whisper it to you."

Ed Frawley: "I think they're wonderful! I may even go to summer school, I like them so well."

Grace Kellogg: "I can probably answer that better in about three weeks."

Harold Lamb: "There is only one thing that compares with it. That is writing a thesis."

HAVING taken a swim from the Tri-Delt pier down to the D. U. pier the other day, about the only comment that we have to make is that it would be a good idea to connect the ends of all piers with a platform running parallel to the shore.

WHILE on the subject of piers, did you guys notice the Beta decoration on Venetian Eve? It looked not unlike as though they had a booth there for the purpose of handing out pledge pins.

BUT the first prize for the least work should have been thrown at the Alpha Deltas. Some very ambitious young man of that crowd lit three candles and spread them appropriately about. Whose birthday was it, we wonder?

WE don't like that dirty look you just gave us, and we judge from it that you are bored with this, so just for that we'll stop. NOW!

"It's all over," said the girl, as she scratched the rash on her neck.

MIDDLE TEMPLE, FORMER LOCAL, GOES DELTA CHI

Newest Greek Letter Fraternity Installed at Banquet
Saturday

Delta Chi became the youngest Greek letter organization on the Wisconsin campus last Saturday evening when the two-day installation program was concluded with a 6 o'clock dinner and the installation of officers. Delta Chi men were formerly Middle Templars.

Henry V. McGurren, Chicago, directed the initiation ceremony. He was assisted by Attorney General William J. Morgan, George P. Hambricht, chairman of the state industrial commission, Mark G. Troxell, editor of the American Thresherman, Anthony A. Nelson, Minnesota chapter, local sponsors of Middle Temple, and by representatives from Chicago, Chicago-Kent, and Minnesota universities.

Middle Temple was instituted at Wisconsin shortly before the close of the school year of 1919-20. George P. Hambricht, charter member of the Chicago chapter, cooperated in the establishing of Middle Temple. The charter of Delta Chi was granted to the local petitioning body April 20.

Delta Chi was founded at Cornell University in 1890. Wisconsin becomes the twenty-second active chapter of Delta Chi and will serve as a hub in reference to other conference chapters at Chicago, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, and Ohio State.

Those who enter Delta Chi as charter members are: Waldo W. Batten '24, Warren A. Bohl '21, Elmer W. Chapleau '22, Oscar Christianson '21, Loren S. Clark '22, William T. Comstock '21, William fluenced by the coach of the home team. Coach Lowman and his men immediately protested the change of decision, but to no avail, and the Badger coach agreed to continue the game only under condition that it be played under protest. With this end in view Coach Lowman, before he would continue the game, made the umpire declare that he saw the ball hit safe and that it rolled out of his sight after it had dropped in fair territory. Hence, there was no grounds for the official's reversal of decision.

The freak home run tied the score and the game went into extra innings. For five innings neither team scored. In their half of the fifteenth the Badgers scored two runs when, with the bases full, Jack Williams singled to center field. These two runs seemed plenty to win at that stage of the game, and the crowd began to leave the field as the Badgers proceeded to retire the first two Wolverines to face them in the last half of this round. Paddock, with the aid of the umpire, walked the third man and Van Boven, Michigan shortstop, connected for a drive which sailed over Elliott's head in centerfield for a home run and another tied score.

In the sixteenth the Badgers came right back and scored again, but the Wolverines did likewise and the count was knotted for the third time. The seventeenth round was scoreless, as was the Badger half of the eighteenth. With two men on, however, in the last half of this inning Karpus, Michigan third baseman and relief pitcher, singled to left field, the drive which gave his teammates the winning run after five hours and five minutes of baseball in the hottest kind of weather.

Two Badgers Sick

Two Badger players, Allen Davey and Herbert Christianson, were forced to remain in Ann Arbor after the remainder of the team had left. Davey, who had caught the entire 18 innings, was seized with cramps after the game and was in no condition to come home. Christianson had started the game in the box, although he had had his foot lanced just before leaving the club house. He was too lame to make the return trip. These men will be back today.

Paddock had pitched the Purdue game the Saturday before, but relieved Christianson in the sixth inning at Michigan and lasted the rest of the game. His pitching was better than that of any of the five twirlers inserted by the Michigan coach during the fray.

NORMAL SCHOOL TRACK MEN HERE IN MEET JUNE 4

Ten normal schools have entered track squads in the sixth annual Normal school track meet at Camp Randall on Saturday, June 4. The meet this year will be the second held in Madison, competitions previous to 1920 having been alternated between La Crosse and Whitewater.

Stevens Point, 1920 champions, is expected to win the 1921 track and field games. The team from Stevens Point has five veterans who scored 28 points in last year's meet, which they won handily. La Crosse, Milwaukee, and Whitewater are expected to be the strongest contenders for the title with the Stevens Point squad. Although Oshkosh was badly beaten by the northerners in a meet last Saturday, the Oshkosh combination is reputed to be the "dark horse" of the meet. Oshkosh has only recently made track a major sport, and as a result, they lack the finish necessary for a successful track squad.

Stevens Point Nucleus

Five athletes who form the nucleus of the Stevens Point normal team are Dolloway, Prescourt, Elliott, Zorn, and Leinhardt. They have been consistent point winners during the entire season and have brought the Point team to the front in track. McAndrews is an Oshkosh star who will count points for his team in the Normal meet. McAndrews is practically assured of three first places in the dashes and the jumps. Solbraa, Brasher, Edich, and Schmiedich will handle the middle distance runs for the Sawdust city team, and Below is slated to enter the weight events.

Of the other entrants, Milwaukee and La Crosse possess one or two individual stars, but lack an all-around balance. Milwaukee has only one veteran, Wojah, who took third place in the dash last year. Coach George Downer has Van Ells to work in the weight events, but besides these two men, Downer has a mediocre squad. La Crosse is weak

SELF-GOVERNMENT ON TRIAL

THE lid was tilted with a vengeance last night. The sophomores blame it all on the frosh and the frosh blame it on the sophomores.

Right now the question is not one of responsibility for the row last night, but one of student self-government. Indiscriminate hazing has been outlawed. The student senate has attempted to set up machinery for the punishment of men who violate traditions. This action was taken as a substitute for hazing.

The result has been that hazing was greatly diminished, almost wiped out. But the traditions have suffered sorely. They have almost ceased to exist.

Some doubting students have begun to wonder if the school will not have to choose between the abolition of all traditions and a return to indiscriminate hazing. The facts hardly seem to force us into such a choice.

The student senate court for summary trial of violators will be in session this noon in the Union building. The court promises speedy action to the guilty. The sophomores must go about the business of enforcing traditions legally. If they do otherwise they strike a blow at student self-government.

PHYSICAL TRAINING FOR ALL

THIS week the physical education department is awarding medals to a large number of men who have shown unusual proficiency in the use of their bodies. At last we are beginning to realize that the best service this department can render the university and the state is to make every student physically fit.

Too often physical training suggests the development of football and basketball players, small groups of men receiving the entire attention of a specialist and a large corps of assistants. The men making these teams have been endowed by nature with sound bodies and early training which have made them fit timber for intercollegiate sports. But this group is only a small minority of the students. By far the great portion of students come to the university with undeveloped physiques. The educational system has failed to give them the physical training which should go hand in hand with mental development.

This condition was plainly revealed in the draft during the Great War. More than 30 per cent of the available men were found physically unfit to serve their nation in its hour of need. What indictment against our national character could be more disgraceful?

Socrates once declared that "no citizen has the right to be an amateur in the matter of physical training; it is part of his profession as a citizen to keep himself in good condition, ready to serve his country at a minute's notice."

We are becoming a nation of spectators instead of players. Such a tendency can only forebode evil for any country. It is well that this university has set out to make physical training the business of the many instead of the diversion of the few. At Oxford every man in every class is expected to take part in some sport. Men who hold aloof are ostracized by their fellows.

There is every advantage for all-round training offered by the physical education department—boxing, track, rowing, swimming, etc. In the gym classes the spirit is to get every man into the game.

The awarding of the medals to men who come up to a certain standard in physical training will be a great incentive to interest in the development of rugged manhood.

It should be the pride of every Wisconsin graduate to possess one of these insignia.

TICKET SALE OPENS FOR DANCE DRAMA

Tickets for the Dance Drama Friday evening, June 3, in the open air theater, were put on sale on the hill yesterday morning by W. A. A. The sale will be continued today, and the remaining tickets will be sold down town tomorrow and Friday.

All tickets are reserved, and may be secured at tables in Bascom and Lathrop halls. The price is 75 cents.

Isabelle Capps '23, who is in charge of the ticket sale, urges that those desiring tickets secure them immediately as the number of seats is limited to several hundred.

"The townspeople are very eager to come to the Dance Drama," said Miss Capps, "but we are giving the university students first choice of reservations."

DEAN OF MEN CALLS ACADEMIC YEAR GREAT SUCCESS—URGES FINAL EFFORT

"The year has been one of unusual success in the line of student activities. There is not a failure to be found in the record. In athletics, publications, music, dramatics, debating, and oratory, our undertakings have been crowned with distinct success. The Military ball at the capitol added something new to the social activities and was a fitting tribute to the world war veterans among us. The Varsity movie is unique among campus activities; the first experiment of the sort ever carried out to a successful issue by college students. The Union board has brought a rare series of concerts by rare artists, and an even greater one is booked for next year. With the military inspection and the President's review, the Interscholastic track meet, the crew races, and Venetian night, we have now brought the year of activities to a successful conclusion.

"But after all, the real purpose of our presence at the university is our academic work. Let us now show that it is entirely possible to carry our courses properly and to maintain our activities on a successful basis as well. There remain now 10 days before the beginning of the examination period. It is only reasonable that these should be kept free from distractions and devoted exclusively to rounding out the work of the semester. The student who cannot or will not endure even the most reasonable interruption of his social gaiety in favor of his studies is, I am satisfied, in the minority and usually belongs to that sorry group of alibi-fames who haunt the offices of their respective deans at the end of each semester. Men and women who are here with a purpose, who enjoy the campus activities most, and who do the most to promote them, will welcome the arrangement of a short 'closed season' before the examination period.

"I wish to congratulate the student body upon its accomplishments in all lines of campus endeavor during the year, and to wish to each and all the best of success in their academic undertakings upon which judgment will be passed between June 11 and 16."

Very sincerely,
S. H. GOODNIGHT,
Dean of Men,

WORKING HARD FOR BIG 10 TRACK MEET

is practically sure to finish in the first division. The Hoosiers scored 63 points to win the Indiana state championship. August Desch, holder of the world's record in the high hurdles, and Hayes will sprint in the 100 yard dash. These two men and Ficks have entered the 220 yard event, while "Johnny" Murphy, Olympic high jumper, will engage in a great duel with Dewey Alberts, Illinois, for the championship in the high jump.

Many Schools Entered

Butler college, Indiana; Western State normal, Michigan; Michigan Agricultural college, Ohio Wesleyan, Missouri, and Ames are sending entrants in several events. Of these squads, Missouri appears to possess the best chance of taking points away from conference teams. The Missouri combination tied for second place in the fourteenth annual track and field meet of the Missouri Valley conference on Saturday. Nebraska won the meet with 37 points. Although the Nebrascans have not filed a list of entries with Big Ten officials, it is probable that Deering speedy sprinter, will represent his team in the short distances, and Wright will take the barriers in the hurdles events.

Records should be smashed or tied in several events. One of the best fields ever lined up will go to the mark in the 100 yard dash. Capt. Prescott of Illinois, Moorehead, Ohio State, Simmons, Michigan, Wilson, Iowa, Hayes, Notre Dame, and Deering, Nebraska, have stepped the century in 10 seconds, and if the track is in good shape, the Big Ten record of 9 4-5 seconds is likely to be tied. Almost the same field will start in the 220 yard dash. Simmons of Michigan tied the conference record in this event when he negotiated the distance in 21 3-5 seconds.

Capt. Butler, Michigan, Kayser, Wisconsin, Watson, Purdue, and Sweet, Illinois, have traveled the quarter mile under 51 seconds. Yates, Illinois, Guerney, Ohio State, Nash, Wisconsin, Harrison, Purdue, will furnish keen competition in the half-mile run.

Illiini Strong in Distances
In the longer distances, Illinois has a decided advantage. The Suckers will start McGinnis, Patterson, and Wall in the mile, and Wharton, Dusenberry, Allman in the two mile run. McGinnis has the best mark for the mile. He defeated Wall, Wisconsin, in the dual meet by barely two yards when he made the distance in 4:24 4-5. Sweitzer, Minnesota, Furnas, Purdue, and Alberry, Ohio State, have set up good marks in the mile. In the two mile grind, Finkle, Wisconsin, Furnas, Purdue, and Peterman, Iowa, will be strong contenders. Furnas broke the Indiana state record in the two mile by traveling the distance in 9 minutes 47 seconds last Saturday. Anderson, Minnesota, Knollin, Wisconsin, Wallace, Illinois, and Sargent, Michigan, seem to be the best hurdlers in the conference, while Desch, Notre Dame, and Wright, Nebraska, from outside institutions will score points in the two hurdles races.

May Break Field Records
Brede, Illinois holder of the American intercollegiate record, will have little opposition in the javelin throw, and Weiss is the indoor Big Ten shot put champion. Alberts and Osborne, Illinois, Murphy, Notre Dame, and Pence, Purdue, will seek to break the high jump mark of 6 feet 2 1-2 inches held by Johnson, Michigan. Alberts has already done 6 feet 5 3-8 inches and is practically assured of shattering the old mark.

Dale Merrick '22 and Lloyd L. Wilder '21 are the best in the Middle west in the pole vault. Merrick won the event at the Pennsylvania track carnival over a crack field of leapers. Wilder took second place in the same meet.

While critics are unanimous in predicting that Illinois will capture the Big Ten outdoor title, the new method of scoring which counts the first five places instead of four will enable weaker teams to cut in on the counting and will give them a better opportunity to finish in the fore of conference standings.

On Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock high mass will be celebrated in St. Raphael's church in memory of the late Rev. J. M. Naughtin, former pastor of the congregation, who died at Racine last Wednesday.

Communication

Editor Daily Cardinal:

Lake Mendota has claimed another victim. While all the facts are not yet at hand, enough is known to indicate that, as far as improvements in safety are concerned, the death of Esther Wepking had little or no effect.

Every year this lake claims its victims. After each drowning there is a request for improved conditions and more safety. After about two weeks the tragedy seems forgotten by the authorities, and soon history repeats itself.

How long is this going to continue? How long before there is a genuine effort to make our lakes reasonably safe? It can be done, but not as long as it is left to those now in authority. They have had enough opportunity to show their inability to cope with the situation.

The whole situation on the lake needs to be improved. For instance, last night I was on one of the Esther Beach boats. As I understand it, there is a city ordinance that prohibits smoking on the lake boats. Nevertheless, I saw at least 10 people smoking cigarettes on this boat, and the persons in charge made no effort to stop them.

Isn't it about time to get rid of some of the people who have showed conclusively that they cannot handle this situation the way it should be handled and give the jobs to those that can do the job right?

A CITIZEN.

Medals to be Awarded

Over seventy students will receive the physical efficiency bronze medals at the presentation of Coach Jones. They are the students who have a rank of excellent in the physical efficiency tests carried on throughout the year. The tests consist of twelve events which are of such a nature that the use of every part of the body is tested for physical fitness and capability. The tests are as follows:

Fence vault for height; running high jump; chinning the bar; time dive and roll for distance; running dash; dip and push up exercise; one mile run; swimming, two lengths of the tank required; posture test involving good mechanical use of body; running broad jump; sit up exercise.

The medal is to be offered every year as a part of a movement to foster a wider interest in physical training at Wisconsin to stimulate an active interest in physical development in the general student body as well as in individual varsity athletes.

Schlatter Favors Move

In commenting on the purpose of the medal, Schlatter said: "We look forward to the day when every man graduating from the University of Wisconsin will possess one of these

AT THE GRAND

Almost every father and mother will ask themselves "What is My Baby Worth?" after seeing "A Child for Sale," which is now showing at the Grand. The question is not so much induced by the picture itself as by the thought that must remain with every person who sees this powerful drama. The director has done a very daring work and didn't stop to think whether he would be praised or condemned for his work, because he felt that he had a very grave question to ask of that great so-called middle class and proceeded to do so in a very highly dramatic manner.

"A Child for Sale," while not a preaching in any sense is yet composed of such substance as will stir the soul of the nation because there is no question but what almost every man and woman and child in the United States is vitally affected by the conditions on which the picture is based and there can be no doubt but what this picture will be seen by nearly all of them.

AT THE FULLER

Priscilla Dean evidently had use for all her reserve fund of energy and "pep" in the making of "Reputation," her latest and biggest Universal-Jewel production in which she appears starting today at the Fuller.

Playing the two extremely opposite roles in "Reputation," dashing like a hurricane through its animated scenes, displaying the tense repression of a pent-up volcano, and again bursting forth like a mighty explosion of a charge of dynamite, Miss Dean displays more energy to the square inch in this forceful drama than has been presented on a screen in years.

Priscilla's wild desert ride in "The Virgin of Stamboul" seems tame in comparison with many of her scenes in "Reputation." Her desperate battle with the Chinatown gangsters in "Outside the Law fades into insignificance after one sees her tempestuous climaxes in "Reputation." In this photodrama one sees Priscilla in the two antithetical roles, one opposed to the other, and by some of the best double exposure photography ever accomplished, many scenes show the two characters in the same scene, each expressing a contrasting emotion.

"A kick in every foot" may sound like an attempt at humor, but it seriously describes the whirlwind action in "Reputation." It was directed by Stuart Paton, from "False Colors," and magizing story by Edwina Levin, made into a scenario by Lucien Hubbard and Doris Schroeder.

AT THE STRAND

"Partners of the Tide," a picture adapted from the novel by Joseph C. Lincoln will be the feature attraction at the Strand theater for four days starting today. Bradley Nickerson, adopted by the Misses Allen, becomes a firm friend of Gussie Baker, the little girl next door. Fifteen years pass. Bradley is first mate of the Thomas Doane, owned by Granny Baker. Her business manager advises that the old ship be sunk for the insurance money. A Swede seaman and Bradley discover the plot and prevent the disaster. Bradley buys an interest in another ship, The Diving Belle. Later the Thomas Doane is intentionally sunk.

Bradley and Sam Hammond, a deep-sea diver, are in love with Gussie. The insurance company hires Bradley to make an investigation for them, while Gussie implores Sam to hide the cause of the wreck. Hammond plays a dastardly trick on Bradley while they are below the surface, which almost proves fatal.

Goodnight Thinks Situation at Illinois Not Paralleled by That at Wisconsin

"The bad boy in college," the grafted, the thief, the dishonest office holder is not so predominant at Wisconsin, according to Dean Scott H. Goodnight, as the dean of men at the University of Illinois in his book on college morals would lead people to believe to be the case in the 'large universities of the Middle west.'

"Of course we have them—probably to a greater degree than people realize, but not to the extent the layman would gather from the way Mr. Clark has put it, or as the reviewer of Clark's book has put it," Dean Goodnight said in commenting on the review of Dean Clark's book, "Discipline and the Derelict," in the New York Times of May 15. It was especially on the question of college politics that Dean Goodnight differed from Dean Clark's opinions.

Class officers are not elected according to their fitness for the position, says Dean Clark, but according to their popularity on the campus especially as athletes, who, he says, make the poorest officers.

Elections Held Fairly

"This is not the case at Wisconsin," said Dean Goodnight. "Men are elected to important offices here largely on their merits. The political situation seems to be very good here; with few exceptions the best men for the job are elected to such positions as the editor and manager of the Badger, the Cardinal, the Exposition chairman, Union board and Student senate, and other heads of publications and executive boards."

Dean Goodnight was also more optimistic than Dean Clark on the question of students making money dishonestly through their connection with campus activities. Dean Clark deplored the great amount of dishonesty among college men. "I am glad to be convinced daily that there are still honest men in college," he said, "men who have courage to tell the truth even when the truth means public disgrace to them; men who are willing to confess their faults even when it means dismissal."

Graft Stories Astonish

Some of Dean Clark's college graft stories are quite astonishing, according to the reviewer—thousands of dollars pass through the hands of committee men who realize there are other prizes besides the more honor of election to their position. One boy asked Dean Clark to help him collect a bill for $50 for doing something for his class which his class was requiring him to do free of charge.

"Why do you ask this?" asked the Dean, "you have plenty of money." "Everybody in the house is making money on the side, and I thought this would be my chance," he explained. The grafted and the crooked make their appearance much oftener than the fresh young soul, according to the reviewer, and the loose business morality, the talk of pull and graft as the makers of success soon forms the basis of the boy's preparation for life.

"So far as my knowledge goes we are comparatively free from graft here," says Dean Goodnight, "Through the working of the student financial advisory system which keeps close tab on the accounting of all publications and classes, the only graft which might exist there consists of those verbal transactions which can come to our attention only in an indirect manner. Some time ago, however, before this system was in operation there was considerable graft here. Students obtained clothes, meal tickets, motor cycles, and prospered generally at the expense of the student publications and other campus activities, but that is over now."

Book Should Be Read
"In the matter of cribbing, loafing, and fussing, our situation is very comparable of that described in Dean Clark's book. On the whole, Dean Clark draws a gloomy picture, but there is one thing that the reviewer seems to disregard and which should not be overlooked in passing judgment on the book.

NEWBOLD SPEAKS ON BACON MANUSCRIPT

Pennsylvania Professor Tells of Ciphering of Newly- found Paper

Prof. W. R. Newbold of the University of Pennsylvania gave an illustrated lecture last night in 165 Bascom hall on "The New Roger Bacon Manuscript and its Decipherment." He told of the discovery of this document, the problems of reading its cipher, and of its unusual importance. The audience was composed largely of Wisconsin professors and instructors.

Professor Newbold said that the manuscript had originally been composed of 237 pages but there were now only 116 pages. It is divided into four parts, botanical, astronomical, physiological, and pharmaceutical. The manuscript is illustrated with rough charts and drawings which are explained in the cypher writing. The key to the cypher has been discovered on the last page of
