SUCCESSFUL PARTY HELD YES-TERDAY EVENING.

SPLENDID DECORATIONS AND FINE MUSIC

The Regular Program Danced—
Description of the Decorations—
Those From out of Town.

The Junior Promenade, given by the class of '96, last evening, was one of the pleasantest and most successful parties ever seen at the university. The junior class has succeeded in establishing a precedent in the matter and it is one, which, if followed, will insure a high standard in class parties of the future. The Junior Promenade had been much talked of and now that it is over everyone is apparently satisfied with the work of the committee and all look forward to next year when '97 will endeavor to excell '96. But when it is remembered that this was the first attempt at anything on so elaborate a scale, even though future promenades may excel the one of Feb. 22nd, 1895, in many details, yet this one will stand in a favorable light when compared with any of them.

A great deal of the beauty of the promenade was due to the decorations. The hall was so large and the iron girders so obtrusive under ordinary circumstances, that something was necessary to break the monotony of wall and roof. This was accomplished by the use of a number of flags and a large quantity of bunting. Two flags were hung equi-distant from the ends of the room and another large one was draped over the north wall. Numerous other flags were hung from various parts of the ceiling. From the center long streamers of bunting extended to the sides of the hall and the walls were lightened by a number of cardinal streamers. The single shell had been brought in from the boat house and was suspended in the center of the hall. The extended oars were draped with smilax. The musicians' stand, located on the west side of the hall, was covered with an arch of Southern smilax, with the class numeral, '96, hung from the center. The booth for the reception committee was at the north end of the room and was covered with an arch similar to the one over the musicians stand, but with the word Wisconsin hung under it. At the corners of the booth were pyramids of palms which were surmounted with vases of lilies. The platform was covered with rugs and easy chairs and lit by a number of piano lamps. From the gallery were suspended the pennants won by the university in intercollegiate contests.

The guests were received by Gov. and Mrs. Upham, President and Mrs. Adams, Regent and Mrs. Chynoweth and Mrs. Lucius Fairchild. General Fairchild was unable to be present. The reception committee stood at the right of the main entrance to the hall. During the reception the orchestra was playing the concert numbers. The grand march began about 9:30, and was led, during the first half-circuit of the hall, by the reception committee. They left the line of march at the booth and from there on the march was led by Henry J. Niederman, chairman of the floor committee, and Miss Bessie Bowman. The march wound around the hall once and then the line came up the center toward the gallery. Turning toward the musicians stand the line divided, the ladies turning to the right and the gentlemen to the left. The effect of this was very fine, with the light gowns of the ladies and the dark suits of the men standing out in strong contrast. But the prettiest effect of all was when the lines swung around and, as the music ceased for an instant, the class numeral, '96, was seen formed by the lines.

Only the regular program was danced, but it was after three when the strains of the last waltz ceased to float through the hall. The playing of the orchestra was almost perfect and the pleasure of the dance was much increased by this feature. The orchestra was led by Clauder, accompanied by his full orchestra. The program was as follows:

Poem—A Lucky Hit—Jos. Clauders. (Specially arranged for the Junior Class).

1. Waltz—The Passing Snow—Englander.
2. Two Step—Tommy Atkins—Edwards.
3. Waltz—Ange d'Amour—Waldteufel.
4. Two Step—Guard Mount—Eileenberg.
5. Waltz—Artists' Life—Strauss.
6. Two Step—Picador—Sousa.
7. Waltz—Toreador—Royle.
8. Lanciers—Dr. Syntax—Morse.
9. Two Step—Monte Carlo—Carr. Polish Dance—Schauvenka.
10. Waltz—Magnolia—DeKoven. Parade of the Guards—Fasset.
11. Two Step—Manhattan Beach—Sousa.
12. Waltz—Espano—Waldteufel.
13. Two Step—Directorate—Sousa.
14. Waltz—Obespah—Beneficks.
15. Two Steps—Tobasco—Fuerst.
16. Waltz—Symposia—Beneficks.
17. Lanciers—A Gaiety Girl—Jones.
18. Waltz—The Fencing Master—De Koven.
19. Two Step—American Belle—Sousa.
20. Waltz—Jolly Girls—Vollstedt.

The programs were beautifully gotten up, being engraved by E. A. Wright of Philadelphia. The design was very appropriate as it contained the gymnasium and a pennant with Wisconsin with the tassels forming '96 on the lower part of the canes. The dances and committee were on a separate sheet inserted in the corner and the whole was tied with cardinal cord.

Dainty refreshments were served by the Bon Ton, in the armory room on the lower floor, from the ninth to the fourteenth dance. There was very little crowding owing to the system of numbered tickets. The refreshment room had received its share of the decorations, and a number of screens were placed around the room.

Among those present from out of town were:

The Misses Laura Case, Prairie du Chien; Bessie McNamie, Milwaukee; Amy Wheeler, De Pere; Alice Wood, Continued on fourth page.

MIDWINTER MEET

EXCITING AND INTERESTING
CONTESTS THURSDAY.

SOPHOMORES WIN IN THE CANE
SPREE.

Many Events Undecided—Good Work
On the Horizontal Bar.

If anyone had been skeptical concerning the success of the Second annual Mid-Winter Meet, that skepticism must have been quickly dispelled when the program began, Thursday night, before a crowd which almost completely filled the big gymnasium. The large platform which had been erected for the meeting the day before served as a very good dress circle while the space between it and the stage might easily have been imagined as the parquet. In these two sections were found all the fair spectators of the gentle sex and all the most distinguished of the guests. The east side of the hall was filled for the most part by the sophomores while the freshmen found a place on the opposite side and the balance of the audience filled up the remaining chairs. By the side entrance was the First Regiment orchestra which furnished music at various intervals throughout the program. There were very few delays or long intervals in the program, although some of the events themselves were rather slow, on account of being so closely contested. This was more especially true of the cane sprees.

The officials and especially Mr. Everett, to whom no small amount of credit is due for this promptness were as follows: Referee of sparring and wrestling, Mr. Everett; Judges of sparring, Mr. Stickney and Mr. O'Dea; Referee of cane spree, Mr. C. P. Spooner; Timers, Mr. Stoltze and Mr. Van Etta.

The orchestra opened with an overture after which the light weight boxing followed. The contestants were Yates, P. G. and Elsener, '98. Yates had a considerable advantage in height and reach but before the end of the first round it was evident that his smaller opponent was much more clever. Yates being unable to land at all effectively. The same was true of the other two rounds in which Elsener maintained the advantage which superior quickness and ducking gave him. Yates landed one heavy upper cut in the second. The sparring throughout was sharp and clean and it formed one of the best contests of the evening. Elsener, to whom the decision was given, is training with the track team for the mile run.

The second event was the light weight wrestling between Case and H. Fehr the contest ending in a draw. Fehr secured the first fall in quick time, 1 min. 28 sec., and then played almost entirely on the defensive. Case secured the second fall in 7 min. 49 sec., and as neither was able to get another fall in the remaining time, it was declared a draw.

The middle weight sparring was won by Yates by forfeit.

In the middle weight wrestling, Major and Smith wrestled the entire ten minutes without a fall and the bout ended in a draw.

The light weight cane spree between Smith '97 and Blumer '98, was the most stubborn contest of the evening a second round being allowed and yet neither man getting the cane.

The exhibition on the vaulting horse by a quartette led by Mr. Everett, was very fine, each of the men being very clever and showing good form in all the exercises. One would hardly imagine that there could be as many showy exercises given on such a piece of apparatus.

The heavy weight cane spree between Cochems, '97, and Forrest, '98, resulted in the defeat of the latter amid the wildest enthusiasm on the part of the sophomores.

In the heavy weight sparring as Bolzendahl was the only man who was on hand it was awarded to him by default and he gave an exhibition with Ikey Karel. The set-to was very lively but no very heavy hitting was indulged in.

The heavy weight wrestling between Alexander and Rohn, like the two previous bouts resulted in a draw, though the work was faster than in the middle weight class, each man securing a fall.

Class enthusiasm reached its climax when Dutcher and Seymour appeared for the middle weight cane spree. If Dutcher won, the sophomores would be the victors, while if Seymour got the victory the result would be a cane a piece and the first draw would have to be competed to a finish. Dutcher got the cane once but the referee did not allow it and when time was called it was a draw and the sophomores were victorious by virtue of Cochems' victory and these two numbers were pronounced by the majority of the spectators as the most entertaining of the whole program. The horizontal bar exhibition by Fischer, Crane, Frankenfield, Peterson, Montgomery, Sovereign and Hough was first class in every respect and the men won repeated applause as they performed giants and "knee swings" and threw somersaults from the bar.

Following this Mr. Everett closed the entertainment by an exhibition of club swinging which was very fine and merited the hearty applause which it received. For ten minutes the clubs turned, swung, twisted and spun in a maze of intricate and graceful combinations without a falter or a hitch, exciting the admiration of all and forming almost a perfect exhibition.

Before half of the big crowd had filed out of the hall the carpenters were at work tearing down the platforms and janitors and assistants were throwing chairs out of the way, preparatory to turning the building over to the Promenade committee.

Financially as well as athletically the meeting was quite successful.

Mr. C. E. Blomgren is spending Sunday at his home in Chicago.

Mr. H. B. Hewitt, who is visiting at the Rho Kappa Upsilon house, will return to Menasha tomorrow.

Mrs. A. L. Cary and Miss Harriett Cary, of Milwaukee, who attended the junior promenade, will return to their home today.

AN ACT OF VANDALISM.

Yesterday morning the walks in front of the sorority and fraternity houses were adorned with the ensignia of Theta Nu Epsilon, the skull and keys. These designs were painted in red on nearly all of the walks around the university but even in some cases on the doors themselves. This act was bad enough but not as bad as the painting of the fraternity's letters on the steps of Science hall. The paint penetrated the porous stone and has probably irreparably defaced the steps. The paint cannot be taken off and the only way the appearance of the stone can be improved is by cutting away enough of the stone to remove the letters. There is no reason to suspect that the members of Theta Nu Epsilon were responsible for the outrage. It was probably done by some one anxious to throw discredit upon the society or it may be merely amusement. But whoever it was and whatever was the motive, the steps should at once be taken to discover the one who was guilty of the act. It was unjustifiable even on the ground of thoughtlessness, for the students of a university are supposed to be beyond such things.

PIANO AND SONG RECITAL.

Madison music lovers are looking forward to a rare treat next Tuesday evening when Miss Alice Regan, formerly of Madison, and Mrs. Hellen Haines Vowell will give a piano and song recital at the Cornelia Vilas Guild Hall. Miss Alice Regan has been heard very often in this city, and is so well known and appreciated that introductions or testimonials are unnecessary. Mrs. Vowell, recently returned from her studies in Europe, is not so well known in this vicinity, though wherever she has appeared she has been ranked among the very first contraltos.

Reserved tickets are on sale at Moseley's Book Store, price of admission being seventy-five cents.

The full program as it is to be rendered on Tuesday evening, will be printed in Monday night's Cardinal.

The Junior class in its promenade, inaugurated a new era in social affairs at the university. Never has a class attempted to give a party on so grand a scale as has '96 and it is safe to say that the classes who come after will have hard work to surpass the Junior Promenade given this year.

A "JUNIOR WEEK."

Some Events in Connection With the Junior Promenade.

A large number of events, not provided for in the original plans for the promenade, succeeded in making the past week quite an extensive one socially, and, in fact, almost a regular "Junior Week. Among the numerous teas, receptions and etc., were:

The reception given by the members of the Rho Kappa Upsilon fraternity, at their lodge on Mendota Court. Miss Mary Freeman and Miss Augusta Wood assisted at the sherbet bowl.

Misses Caroline Upham, Bird Morrison, Mary Main and Jancette Doyan poured tea. The guests were received by Mrs. H. A. Taylor, Miss Cora Gregory and Prof. Charles N. Gregory, assisted by Mesdames Lucius Fairchild, A. H. Main, Humphrey, of Hudson, J. C. Spooner, Alfred L. Cary, of Milwaukee, President and Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wilder and Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Marshall.

Mrs. S. L. Sheldon entertained at her home on Henry St. yesterday, from 4 to 6, in honor of her guests. Miss Nellie Alstead, Miss Antoinette Pierpont and Miss Harriett Cary, of Milwaukee. Mrs. Sheldon and Miss Georgia Sheldon received. Misses Caryl Fairchild, Ella Geron, Amy Stevens and Frances Bunn assisted.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in green and white. Delicate refreshments were served from the tea tables.

The young ladies of the Gamma Phi Beta society entertained yesterday afternoon, in honor of their guests, who attended the promenade.

Kappa Alpha Theta gave a five o'clock tea yesterday. A number of those who came from out of town to attend the promenade, were present.

—E. J. Melzner, '96, is visiting friends and relatives, at his home in Fort Atkinson.

—Miss M. E. Seaman, '96, spent Washington's Birthday at her home in Kilbourn City.

—None of the literary societies held meetings last night.
