Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

FUNDS BEING RAISED FOR ITS ERECTION HERE.

PRESENT STATE OF THE UNDER-TAKING.

The Association Now Owns the Lot
Next to the Gymnasium.

It is probably unknown that, at present and for a long time in the past, the University Y. M. C. A. has been trying to raise funds and means to erect a building for its own use. A large number of such buildings are to be found in the east, in fact most all of the large eastern colleges have buildings owned by the college Y. M. C. A. The cost of these buildings ranges from $10,000 to $50,000, and at present Princeton has the finest building erected at a cost of $55,000.

Last Sunday, at the usual meeting of the Y. M. C. A., Prof. W. H. Williams, who has had charge of the building project ever since the idea was presented, spoke upon the needs of such a building. The speaker showed how the fraternities by building houses and by the closer fellowship thus produced had grown in strength, and if the Y. M. C. A. should have a building of its own with large, pleasant rooms where its members could congregate and talk over the plans of the association, a more healthy Christian influence would be felt throughout the university. Such a building would be of great good to the association and membership, which at present is about 160, would undoubtedly be greatly increased. The members would come into closer touch with one another and more zeal in religious work would be produced.

In September 1887, when the association was much smaller than it is now, a few members of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting in North hall to consider the idea of starting a fund for the erection of a building, and various means were devised for starting the fund. Thirty-three of the members pledged $100 each and through conferences and church aid throughout the state the fund was soon increased to over $7,000, and a fine lot, the one just west of the gymnasium, was purchased, and whose value has steadily increased until at the present time it is one of the most desirous lots on Langdon street. Prof. Williams was induced to take up the work of soliciting funds and spent in all over nine months travelling about the state visiting conventions and addressing many churches upon this subject. In many parts of the state quite large contributions have been made toward the fund and especially in Milwaukee, where a convention of all the Christian Associations of the city was called together and addressed by Prof. Williams.

The building fund, although it has been gradually increasing, is still quite small and Prof. Williams spoke of several methods for increasing it.

He thought it might be a wise measure to hire some man who has had experience in these matters, to spend his entire time in travelling about the state soliciting aid from the churches and other religious organizations. This method has been very successfully practiced in some of the large eastern colleges and seems to be a very feasible one. Another plan is to send a petition consisting of some five or six hundred names to the churches in the state, showing our great need for a building, the benefits which would accrue from it and asking them to assist us in any way possible. The need of a home for the association and its many benefits to new as well as old students are very apparent and the Y. M. C. A. cannot very much longer afford to be without a building devoted entirely to its object, if the moral tone of the university is to be maintained.

THE LAST INDOOR MEET.

Next Saturday evening the last meet of the series will be held and the program is probably the best one yet offered. The scoring events are:

40 yard Dash.
Mile Run.
Mile Walk.
Running Broad Jump.
Standing High Jump.
Pole Vault.
Putting 16 lb. Shot.

Besides these there will be a potato race, the same as the one held March 9th, and a spring board high jump. These events are both very popular, particularly the spring board jump in which height reached gives it an unusual interest.

In view of the fact that this is the last meet of the winter and the last chance to see the track team in competition until late next term it is to be hoped that a large number of men will turn out for the meet. Although the program is the best one yet given, only the same charge, ten cents, will be made. The events are to be run off as sharply as possible and although the program contains quite a number of events no more time will be taken up than for any of the past meets. The outcome of the events will decide who is to win the gold medal for the all-round championship and this together with the fact that several university records are liable to be broken should be sufficient inducement to get out a good crowd. A limited number of chairs will be placed on the main floor, and when these are filled spectators will have to take those in the gallery.

FACULTY MEETING.

At the meeting of the faculty yesterday afternoon the resolutions from the literary societies in regard to joint debate credit were read and discussed. No action was taken on them but they will be considered at the first meeting next term. The examination schedule for next week was arranged.

INDOOR TENNIS.

Arrangements have been made by which definite hours are assigned to the men who wish to use the tennis court in the cage. The tennis men will have from 9 to 11 a. m. and from 3 to 4 p. m. every day.

BASE BALL GAMES

LIST OF THOSE TO BE PLAYED THIS SPRING.

SIXTEEN GAMES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED.

Michigan Will Play Here May 23—Two

April 27, Ripon at Ripon.
May 4, Chicago U. at Madison.
May 11, Beloit at Beloit.
May 13, Grinnell at Madison.
May 17, Michigan at Ann Arbor.
May 18, Oberlin at Oberlin.
May 20, Notre Dame at Notre Dame.
May 21, Rush Med. at Chicago.
May 23, Michigan at Madison.
May 30, N. W. U. at Madison.
June 1, Chicago U. at Chicago.
June 4, Oberlin at Madison.
June 7, Minnesota at Madison.
June 8, N. W. U. at Evanston.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Advance Extracts From the Next
Catalogue in Regard to it.

The following extracts from the proof sheets of the forth coming catalogue may be of interest to the students. The summer school with its six weeks term, will afford them an opportunity of accomplishing a large amount of work.

"Arrangements have been made by which the work of the summer school may be credited as part of the work required for graduation. Courses in the summer school have different values, and by attendance at the school a total amount of credit may be acquired not exceeding five recitations per week for one semester. No student will hereafter be permitted to receive during the college year a credit toward graduation of more than eighteen hours per week in regular studies except by permission of the Faculty obtained in advance. Students desiring to graduate in three years in one of the regular four-year courses may do so by taking eighteen hours of recitations per week, and by attending three sessions of the summer school. No credit will be given for a repetition in the summer school of studies taken in the university, or for repeating in the university, work done in the school. Students will therefore need to select carefully the work taken in the summer school with reference to the required and elective studies of the course in which they intend to graduate. Students of the classical courses will find it possible to secure their science in the summer school, and students in the science course may take electives in history, politics, or allied subjects.

These are mentioned simply as illustrations, but students must be careful not to select studies in the summer school which constitute also an integral part of a year's course in the university, which they also propose to take in their course. Thesis work can be done in the summer school with great advantage to the student if the professor under whom the thesis is taken is a teacher in the school, and is able to devote the time necessary for the supervision of the thesis. In case a student desires to do thesis work arrangement should be made with the professor during the college year; and any student hoping to shorten his course by means of the summer school should consult his class officer in selecting his studies."

MELVIN CLUB BANQUET.

About seventy-five members of the Melvin club sat down to a banquet in honor of St. Patrick's day at SodaIty hall on Fairchild street last evening. The banquet room was on the second floor and was handsomely trimmed in green interwoven with the stars and stripes. The main board stretched across the room lengthwise and was very pretty with carnations, roses and ferns. The menu and program was an artistic folder printed in green and tied with green ribbon.

Mr. M. K. Reily was toastmaster. The program opened by Miss Susie Hubbard, who played some Irish melodies on the hall piano. Mr. L. B. Murphy responded to the toast, The Day We Celebrate; Miss Mary McGovern to The Melvin Club; Mr. E. A. Conway to The Ladies; Miss Nellie Shinnick to The Vital Question; Mr. John O'Leary to The State; Miss Katherine Falvey to The Boys; and Mr. John Aylward to The Exiled Sons of Erin. Mr. B. A. Monahan sang Come Back to Erin.

There was a feast of good things and a spontaneous and continuous flow of Irish wit and humor throughout the program.

PRAISE FOR THE BANJO CLUB.

The following appeared in a letter to the Madison Democrat written from Philadelphia, by Carrie Norton Hall of this city: "The banjo club of the university (Pennsylvania) played several selections which were enthusiastically received, but they do not compare in expression, melody or skill with the banjo club of the University of Wisconsin."

CONTEMPORARY CLUB.

The Contemporary club will meet Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the parlor of the Unitarian church. Mr. Herman Schlundt will read a paper on "Argon, a New Constituent of the Atmosphere, Discovered by Lord Reyleigh." There will also be a talk on "The Rossetti Family in Literature," by Mrs. J. G. McMynn. All interested are invited to attend.

CHEMICAL CLUB.

The Chemical club will meet in the chemical laboratory on Tuesday, March 19th, at 7:30 p. m. Reports on various topics will be presented by Mr. Mead and A. P. Saunders.

We publish today advance extracts from the catalogue in regard to the connection between the work in the summer school and the regular university. By taking the work in the sessions of the summer school during his course a student will now be able to graduate in three years. This is only a just recognition of the work of the summer school as the instruction given is under university professors and is in every way as thorough as the regular university. Students will probably find that one of the most advantagious ways that study can be carried on in the summer school will be in connection with their thesis work. If a large share of the work on a thesis can be done in the summer the senior year will probably prove much more enjoyable.

And now after all it seems that if we want our crew to row against a college crew we will have to go as far east as Cornell or Pennsylvania. Minnesota, after several efforts to place a crew upon the water, has given up on account of lack of support from the students and Wisconsin will retain the honor (?) of being still the only institution in the west to support a crew. This fact should not lessen the interest in crew matters as the usual race will take place with the Minnesota boat club and it is probable that other races may be arranged for. Neither should this fact have any effect on the subscriptions now being solicited for a new shell. We must have a new shell to keep aquatics alive here until we can arrange some contests with college crews. With our recent progress in crew matters and our gymnasium there is no reason why we shouldn't meet some college upon the water within the next two or three years.

No doubt most students would admit that it is a great convenience to them that notices concerning electives for the coming term be announced as early as possible before the end of the preceding term. Frequently it makes a great difference in deciding upon branches whether you are informed as to the nature and scope of the same somewhat previous to the beginning of the term. On too many occasions has it been demonstrated that the catalogue comes very far from being a reliable guide in selections. Hence it is now quite essential that some plan be adopted to enable correct understanding of courses before they are entered in a too often hap-hazard way. When such opportunities are offered by members of the faculty, they are not responded to as promptly as could be wished for. On their side it must be said that the above mentioned reason is far from being the only one that requires them to ascertain as early as possible the size of their classes. Taking this as a fact without going into details, it must be plain to all thoughtful students that it is their duty to confer with the heads of departments as to the main features of the contemplated courses. It will perhaps result in your receiving entirely different impressions of the course than at first held and so will be in a more capable position of making good selections. If you are not yourself able to carry the proposed work, you will in many cases be able to tell others concerning the studies and thus save time and trouble on both sides. We trust that the plan may become customary as its various advantages to both professor and student are obvious. At any rate it is no question that need cause any delay but is comparatively easily solved by means of adopting the suggestions.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

—Prof. Stearns will not hear his classes on Thursday or Friday.

—Chas. Hageman, '97, has been compelled to leave for home on account of illness.

—Louis Fales, '93, who is attending Rush Medical college, is visiting his parents in the city.

—Prof. Parker conducted the rehearsal of the Choral Union last evening and is meeting his various classes as usual this week.

—Miss Bessie G. Brand, class '97, is visiting her sister Mrs. Geo. H. Sullivan, at Stillwater, Minn.; also attending the funeral service of Janet, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan.

—Jerry Richards, '95, G. M. Brown, '95, and Prof. Turneaure have been at Kilbourne City the past few days making tests on the railroad bridge at that place. The results of these tests will be used in their senior theses.

—Statistics recently taken show that 800 men exercise in the Harvard gymnasium daily.

—The pool tournament at Yale which has been in progress during the past week has been won by R. A. Hamlin.

THE FINAL CONTEST.

OTIS SKINNER'S ENGAGEMENT.

Next Friday evening will be held the final oratorical contest to decide what speakers shall represent the university of Wisconsin at the meeting of the Northern Oratorical league, in Iowa City, May 3.

The contestants for Friday's exhibition are all able speakers and the struggle for pre-eminence will be a hard one. The speakers are Messrs. A. M. Simons, '95; Rodney Elward, '95; Albert Schmidt, '96; Miss Addimay Wooten, '96; Messrs. Robert Wild, '97; and R. W. Jackman, '97.

A definite program has not yet been decided upon, but will probably be ready by Thursday, when the judges, music and titles of the orations will be published.

The exercises will take place in Library hall and an admission of fifteen cents will be charged. Everyone should turn out to hear what will probably prove to be the best oratorical contest yet held in Madison.

The public sophomore oratorical contest will not be held this year. All the contestants except two have withdrawn on account of ill health or other reasons. The two remaining men, Robert Wild and R. W. Jackman, will therefore take part in the general contest Friday night without any preliminary meeting.

A. M. Simons, '95, one of the orators on Friday's program, has been taken ill and was compelled to leave for home. He will probably not be able to take part in the contest.

A theatrical event that has long been anticipated with much interest and pleasure occurs at the Fuller opera house next Wednesday and Thursday nights when Otis Skinner will make his first appearance in this city as a star in an elaborate production in a new play by Clyde Fitch. His Grace de Grammont. He will also appear in his masterly impersonation of "Shylock."

Mr. Skinner's supporting is a strong one and contains a number of names well and favorably known in this city. It includes Frederick Moseley, R. Peyton Carter, Frank L. Sylvester, Wadsworth Harris, J. H. Bradshaw, John Burgess Weeks, W. Norwood Wadsworth, Mark Fenton, and the Misses Maude Durbin, Sarah Truax, Rose Shuman, Pamela Keith, and Maude Mareen.

The faculty at Williams made the regulation that "the attainment of a general average of 50 per cent. shall no longer insure a student's continuance in college if, in the judgment of his instructors, he falls short of what may reasonably be expected."

President Raymond of Union College is making an extended trip through the West mainly for the purpose of arousing interest among the alumni for the centennial celebration which will be held in June.
