Homecoming Festivities Begin

Weekend Gaiety Marked By Show, Displays, Dances

By LYNNE ABRAHAM

What has been long-awaited, elaborately planned for, and constantly talked about has finally arrived—Homecoming weekend.

Festivities get under way this afternoon with a pep rally on the Union terrace at 4:45. Master of Ceremonies Ed Garvey, backed by a pep band, will introduce the Homecoming king, Peter Zouvas and his queen, Anne Valesares, and the 1960 Badger grid team and their coach, Milt Bruhn.

THE "YELL LIKE Hell!" contest, with 23 entries competing for a trophy will follow the rally on the Union steps.

Displays in front of dorms, independent houses, and fraternity and sorority houses will add color and excitement to the occasion. Adhering to this year's Homecoming theme, "It's Bucky in '60," 48 units will attempt to be best in show.

ORIGINALITY, ingenious mechanics, and a decorative flair can be seen in the projects—from the Martian creature, carrying a ray gun, who proclaims "I Volts for Bucky" in front of the Theta Chi house, to the Chi Omega display which assures a Northwestern Wildcat in every pot.

Taking full advantage of the 1:30 night, many students will flock to the homecoming show at the field house, which features Count Basie and his orchestra, singer Joe Williams, jazz vocal trio Lambert, Hendricks and Ross, vocalist Ernestine Anderson and comedian Don Adams.

An added attraction will be the announcement of the winners of TREE DECORATION—After decorating their Homecoming display with appropriate supplies, these men of Gregory house (Tripp) stand proudly before their creation, claiming, "We'll Wipe 'Em." All the houses in Tripp hall have combined their efforts in this single decoration, which is among the many displays to be judged today for prizes.

'U' Fraternities Surpassing Gophers in '60 Clause Fight

Chapters of Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu fraternities at the University of Minnesota apparently will not be able to satisfy their school's counterpart to our university's 1960 clause, but the corresponding chapters here are continuing optimistically to fulfill the requirements of the clause by Dec. 1.

A story this week in the Minnesota Daily, the student newspaper, stated that spokesmen for the two Minnesota fraternities admitted to the school's Senate Committee on Student Affairs that their organizations were not ready to comply with the university's rule requiring the abolishment of clauses in their constitutions which limited fraternity membership to either white males or Christians.

Both fraternities could probably have satisfied the university ruling by obtaining special waivers of these national clauses as provided through amendments to their national constitutions this summer.

The spokesman for Sigma Nu said that chapter does not intend to apply for the waiver. "With a waiver, there would be no change in membership," he said. "It would be redundant to have such a waiver," he added, claiming that the local chapter was autonomous in regard to the national organization and no longer was restricted by the national "white only" membership clause.

The committee, however, unanimously denied Sigma Nu's request to be given a "clean slate" concerning the university rule.

The ATO president at Minnesota said that although his chapter has applied for the waiver, his group is "not ready to admit Negroes."

The ATO national constitution contains both "white only" and "Christian only" provisions regarding membership. The Minnesota chapter has applied for a waiver just on the "white only" provision, however. The president, denying that his fraternity excludes non-Christians, said, "They exclude themselves" by not accepting the Christian principles, ideals, and faith on which the organization is founded.

A professor who is a member of the committee then announced that he would move at the next meeting to withdraw recognition of Alpha Tau Omega.

At Wisconsin spokesman for the local chapters of these two fraternities said that they are proceeding to receive the waivers, confident that will get them and that they will satisfy the university's 1960 clause, which requires basically the same thing as the Minnesota ruling.

ATO has sent a request to their national organization for the spe-

World News Briefs

COOL—Cloudy and cooler today. Saturday cloudy and continued cool. High today upper 40; low tonight 40.

MEANY CHARGES WITHHELD FIGURES

Washington—AFL-CIO president George Meany has charged the administration with holding back October unemployment figures until after election day because they show a rise in the number of jobless. A labor department spokesman says the report will be issued after the election because this is part of "the normal course of operations." But Meany says the administration had arranged for publication of October employment statistics before the 1954, '56, and '58 elections "when it had good news."

ELECTION ODDS OUT

Las Vegas—Odds on the presidential election were taken off tote boards in Nevada today because of an obscure law. Although gambling is legal in Nevada, State Attorney General Roger Foley notified gamblers he would enforce a 1919 statute making it illegal to list odds on elections, lest they influence the outcome. When the prices came down, Senator Kennedy was the favorite (at 9-to-5).

CHINESE 'INVADE' CUBA

Havana—Sources in Havana say Communist Chinese pilots are arriving to train Cuban fliers in handling Soviet mig fighter planes. They say the planes are being assembled by Czechoslovakian technicians at a base in Western Cuba. The Red Chinese pilots got their own combat experience in Migs during the Korean War.

U.S. PROFS. WIN NOBEL PRIZE

Stockholm—Two University of California scientists have won the 1960 Nobel Prizes in chemistry and physics. Professor Willard Libby received the chemistry award for his "atomic time clock" which determines the age of old items, and the physics prize went to Professor Donald Glaser for his "bubble chamber" used to photograph atom smashing.

IKE ON TV TONIGHT

Washington—President Eisenhower will campaign for the Nixon-Lodge ticket in Cleveland and Pittsburgh today. A speech by the President tonight will be carried on nationwide TV.

Parties Endorse More 'Politicos'

Badger and Campus parties neared completion of their slates of candidates for campus elections at meetings held yesterday.

The Badgers endorsed Paul Geisler and Naomi Shapiro for District I Student Senators and Denny O'Connell for sophomore man on the Daily Cardinal Board of Control. For the District IV senate seats the Badgers backed Ira Kornbluth, Bill Haberman, and Gretchen Becker. Dietrich Kessler and Amy Herman received the party's nod for the District III seats.

Campus picked Chuck Mazurski for District I, Cathy Stettler and Don Kind for District II, and Mike Comer and Jerry Redfield in District IV. Senator Lana Daniels was renominated for her seat in District III, while Tom Blanchard will run for the second senatorship in that district.

Senator Larry Van Cura (C-

Dist. III) announced his resignation at the Campus meeting. Another candidate will be nominated before the Friday registration deadline, however, according to party chairman John Jacobson. Gale Pfund will run on the Campus ticket for sophomore on the Badger Board of Control. This position was left vacant by the resignation of Dave Schuster, who was elected last spring. Daily Cardinal Board hopefuls are Afny Wastila for sophomore woman and Karen Magee for junior at large.

Union Approves $400 for Trial Night Busline

Approval of a $400 bond to finance a trial bus service between the Union and the dorm area was unanimously approved last night at the Union directorate meeting. A rundown of last year's Union activities and the approval of a summer session booklet were also discussed.

"The November 14 to January 21 period is an ideal one for the bus service because it includes the times when the Union and the library are the busiest," said Dan Webster, Union president. He will meet with representatives of WSA and LHA to plan the publicity and promotion for the service.

SHERIDAN SAID that a bill in opposition to the Kerr directives will probably be presented at next week's Student Senate meeting. President Kerr of the University of California has stated that none of the colleges under his jurisdiction may take stands on any off-campus issues.

WSA will confer with members of the student counseling service to find out if free tutoring is needed on campus. If such service is needed, the university may be the newest member in Sigma Tau Sigma, a national tutoring service which began two years ago at the University of Pennsylvania and has spread to several universities across the country.

GETTING READY—Students all over campus spent most of last night and early this morning putting up their house displays for Homecoming. Official festivities for the big weekend begin today with display judging and end Saturday night with Homecoming Balls in the Union and in Van Hise Commons.

COMMENT

The Mock Election . . .

Odds and Ends

The Big Ten mock election this week set a precedent in reporting procedures for the Daily Cardinal, and in the process made the election much more meaningful to readers. Instead of knowing just the results here the next morning, students at the university could read about and compare them with every Big Ten school holding a similar election.

THE BIG TEN schools exchanged their results by means of a conference telephone call, in which all the editors got on the line at the same time and reported their results to those listening. The co-ordinated election on the various campuses and the conference call afterwards was arranged by the University of Illinois' Daily Illini and the Illinois Student Senate. These two groups, and especially Ray Cohen, mock election chairman at Illinois, deserve many thanks.

Many interesting, and perhaps significant sidelights were gleaned during the conference call. For instance, two schools—Michigan State University and Purdue University—did not hold their scheduled mock elections because of apparent student apathy at both schools and restrictions imposed by the administration at Purdue. At MSU the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats originally planned to co-operate in sponsoring the election, much as they did at Wisconsin in working with the Union Forum committee. But when the time came, not enough of the young politicians turned out to man the ballot boxes, so no vote could be held.

AT PURDUE the student government voted to have a combined national and state mock election, as we did here, but the school's administration then ruled out having the state election, for reasons which we on this campus will never understand. (Any results would stray from bi-partisanship, which a state-supported institution has to maintain, they must have reasoned.) So plans for a presidential vote alone were made, only to have the administration rule then that no polling places could be set up on campus. (This would encourage on-campus campaigning, officials stated.) Still wanting a mock vote, the campus Young Republicans and Young Democrats offered to take ballots around to living units so students could still vote, but apathy set in, and when the time came, not enough of the two groups' members showed up to do the job.

At the University of Minnesota, the student newspaper long ago decided that they didn't want to sponsor any mock election because they believed the student body would be too apathetic to make it successful. So there was no official mock vote on that campus either.

ALTHOUGH THE University of Illinois went through with their vote as planned, the Young Democrats on the campus refused to co-operate in the plans because write-in votes were allowed, thus giving Adlai Stevenson's supporters a chance to lessen the number of vote for Kennedy. The Illinois voters did give Stevenson 64 votes, but it surely seems like a small reason for the Young Democrats to withdraw their support.

A very interesting observation at several campuses was that the mock election turnout far outdid any previous turnouts for elections on campus, including those in which student officers were chosen. Illinois and Northwestern were outstanding examples of this, as well as our own university. Our previous high vote for a mock presidential election was 4,789 (excluding write-ins) in 1956; this year we had 7,072 (including write-ins). The record for an all-campus election was 3,965 in the spring of 1959. (Last April's vote of 3,949 nearly equaled that record, however).

A NUMBER OF ballots here on which the students voted in an unexpected way were commented on by election officials. Although the extent of the occurrences could not be definitely stated, there were many Kennedy-Kuehn ballots, suggesting that some staunch Republicans remained loyal to Republican Kuehn but switched to Kennedy because of—perhaps—even stronger religious loyalties. Officials also remarked that out-of-state students, using ballots of different color than in-state students, favored Kennedy over Nixon.

Who really won the election? We tend to agree with Bill Whitford, chairman of the Young Democrats, who said that Kennedy gained a victory because the number of votes cast for him was 9.1 percentage points higher than those for Stevenson in 1956. This is a substantial increase, and it might indicate that Kennedy has enough strength to carry the national election next week.

THE MOCK ELECTION was thus an important campus event, and students showed their great interest in it by turning out in large numbers. Various campus groups must have looked in bewilderment at the lack of student apathy involved. We hope they don't stay bewildered too long, however, and eventually decide that the thing to do is sponsor activities based on student interest, rather than providing activities which no one cares about and then complaining that the students don't know what's good for them.—B.T.

Election Kudos

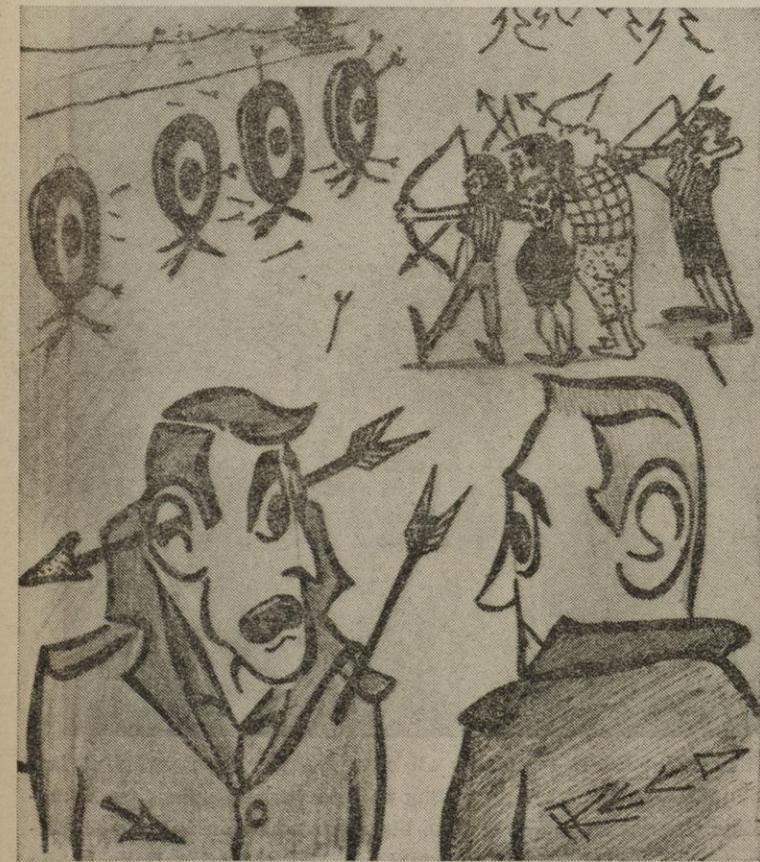

To the Editor:

The Forum committee would like to take this opportunity to express publicly our thanks to the many people not directly concerned with the committee, the Y-Dems, or the Y-GOPS, who helped make the mock election a success.

Of great help, of course, was the Daily Cardinal staff, which gave the project promotion with many inches of copy and completely handled the Big Ten cooperation. The Union News Bureau spent much time helping us organize publicity for both campus and city newspapers, as well as radio news releases.

Branches of the administration all over the campus went out of their way to make this once-in-four year event a success. Without the cooperation of all the above groups, the election would not have been the success it was.

Fraternity Battle Continues

To the Editor:

I was so completely overjoyed when I read Mr. Langer's letter addressed to me (Daily Cardinal, Nov. 2) and all the other members of my "ilk" that I could not refrain from answering.

NOT KNOWING Mr. Langer personally, I would hate to venture a guess as to whether he is a "fraternity man." I have more faith in fraternities than that. I don't think there is any fraternity on this campus that would be so indiscreet as to allow a letter of that type to be written and submitted to the Daily Cardinal by one of its members.

Mr. Langer's letter is positively the most un-original, meaningless piece of "garp" that I have ever seen in print. His first paragraph centers around an idea that was first submitted by S. W. to Mr. James M. O'Connell (Oct. 26), telling Mr. O'Connell to get the "chip" off his shoulder. It seems that Mr. Langer liked the idea so much that he used it in his illustrious letter.

AND THEN Mr. Langer goes so far as to say that I implied that my mode of life was the "only correct one." I didn't. I didn't even say what my mode of life was. For all Mr. Langer knows I may be a fraternity member (perish the thought).

For another specific example of Mr. Langer's originality, I would like everyone to take notice of the structure he used for the letter. Could it be that Mr. Langer could not think of an adequate structure for his letter so he borrowed the structure I used in my letter?

IN ITEMS TWO through five, Mr. Langer attempts to be witty. Well actually, he attempts to be witty in the whole letter, but this is the closest he comes. Thinking that I might be just a slight bit prejudiced against his ridiculous letter, I pointed the letter out to a few people I know, both in and outside of the Greek system, for their honest evaluation with accord to wit and content. The answer which seemed to prevail was, "meaningless, and not even funny."

Then in item 6, Mr. Langer makes a frantic attempt at being logical. He says, "These activities are anything but limited to Greeks, since Greeks make up a minority of the university students." My reply to this is, "So

Jewish Musician Lectures Sunday

Erwin Jospe, one of this country's leading musicologists, will appear at the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, in a lecture-recital on "The Pleasures of Jewish Music" this Sunday at 7 p.m.

Jospe, who is the director of music at the Anshe Emet Synagogue of Chicago, has lectured and given concerts at Brandeis Arts Institute, McGill, Baylor, University of Arts, Tokyo, National University of Korea, University of Santo Tomas, and many others.

An authority in the field of Jewish music, Jospe is noted not only for his sensitive artistry but also for a delightful sense of humor. In 1958, at the request of the U.S. State department, he toured the Far East under the International Cultural Exchange program.

American Friends Have 5 Point Plan

Carrying on a five-point program to promote human understanding is the American Friends Service Committee (ASFC). The organization works through student work camps, international and national seminars, educational programs, information services, and aid missions.

Through dramatic presentations, speakers, and seminars, the committee attempts to educate the public. They integrate the various programs into their projects on Peace education, International relations, International services, Community relations, and Youth services.

Students help in the redevelopment of neglected, run-down areas on the local, national, and international level. Mark Wyman, former Cardinal editor, participated in a major activity—work camps.

Another major activity are student seminars. Human relations, peace and disarmament, and social action problems are discussed. These are also held on local, international, and national level. At present they are planning to hold a peace conference on three campuses, including the University of Wisconsin.

this campus in quite a while, but I still, very frequently, hear that familiar cry in the middle of the night, "Panty Raid." It there anything that could be more foolish?

And then Mr. Langer says, in point 11—"Now the 'GG' is trying to state that the Greeks write in the Cardinal only to air their hatred for it." When did I say that? When did I even imply that? I did say, "By their innate hate for the Cardinal. For what other reason would they submit an article for publication?" I think if you'll read that letter carefully, and take a look at the quality of Mr. Langer's letter, you'll see what I was getting at. And oh—by the way—what does "GG" mean?

THEN IN HIS summary, Mr. Langer implies that I, and my group, have become "intellectually stagnant and decayed." I still maintain that I don't know Mr. Langer. How does he know the kind of people I associate with? I'd certainly enjoy introducing Mr. Langer to a few of my friends sometime. It would be interesting to compare them both socially and intellectually. I have one fear, however: Mr. Langer might learn something new and abstract. He might run into a few original ideas. I certainly wouldn't want to frustrate the poor boy.

LOVELY—Songstress Barbara Wise will be featured at the Homecoming dance tomorrow night in Great hall. If her singing is comparable to her beauty, she should be a welcome addition to the Skitch Henderson performance.

Homecoming Ball Features Vocalist

Songstress Barbara Wise will serve as Skitch Henderson's featured vocalist tomorrow night at the Homecoming ball in the Union Great hall. The song stylist will be singing everything from blues to rhythm tunes. Also filling an important role in Homecoming Ball will be Ronnie Neubert, a member of the band whose trombone solos will be featured throughout the evening.

Three other bands will share the honors Homecoming night. A Rock and Roll Combo in the Rathskeller will be surrounded by pennants representing the members of the Big Ten conference. Atmosphere in the Cafeteria, where the campus-renowned Saints of Dixieland are scheduled to play, will be provided by the panoramic view of Lake Mendota. Tripp Commons, the home of Bob Leyson's Orchestra, will feature seven-foot-tall caricatures of Wisconsin's first-string football team.

Great Hall itself will be decorated around the all-Homecoming theme of "It's Bucky in '60." Abstract mobiles of Bucky will comprise a part of the decorations.

Friday's Filler

Only Illinois' upset of Purdue kept our Big Ten record from another perfect week. Unfortunately we missed on several crucial intersectional games, but under the rules which we've just devised these won't count in our record. Even though we haven't tabulated our overall won-lost mark, we obviously must be leading Zier by an overwhelming margin.

OHIO STATE OVER INDIANA—Not much doubt about this one unless the Buckeyes point too much for the Iowa game next week. Woody's troops should run the Hoosiers out of huge Ohio Stadium unless the Buckeye first team gets lost on the way to the field.

ILLINOIS OVER MICHIGAN—The Illini should show the midwest's TV fans why they were a pre-season conference favorite in dumping the Wolverines. The highly touted Elliott brothers face each other for the first time in this one and our vote goes to older brother Pete.

MICHIGAN STATE OVER PURDUE—Two rugged teams take out their frustrations on each other with State getting a shaky vote. The Boilermakers have too many of their stars on the injury list while the Spartans are in peak physical condition.

MINNESOTA OVER IOWA—After last Jan. 1, we vowed never to pick speed over power, but we're still going with the Gophers. Iowa's luck should have just about run out and Minnesota isn't the kind of team to fumble away their big chance. The fans in Minneapolis have been waiting two decades for a champion and the much maligned Murray Warmath might just have found the combination this fall. We think the Gopher line will turn the tide of battle and besides all these logical reasons, Roundy agrees with us.

NORTHWESTERN OVER WISCONSIN—The clock has just about run out on the Cinderella Badgers and the Wildcats could have a big afternoon tomorrow. Milt Bruhn has done a lot with this team, but it's just asking too much when your two best players are on the sidelines. Northwestern is due to break loose and we're afraid they may do it against the Badgers.

KENNEDY OVER NIXON—As Ring Lardner would say, we don't see how either candidate can win. But we think Jack has a better line so we'll go along with him, even though Ike's eleventh hour appearance may make the difference.

NORTHLAND OVER MAYVILLE
Contrary to Zier's slanderous remarks, we confidently predict we will catch our cane tomorrow. After all we've been holding secret practices all week.

cial waiver, and is expecting to receive it "any day," according to the local president, Phillip Mork.

Mork added, however, that even if they get the waiver, "I don't know what would happen if we pledged a Negro." He explained that, as far as he knows, no ATO chapter has had a Negro as a member, so there is no precedent on which to base speculation about such a situation.

John Mickiewicz, chairman of the Alumni Receivership Board for the local Sigma Nu chapter which is now handling the affairs of the fraternity, said that they have not yet sent in a request for a waiver, but are definitely planning to do so.

"With the waiver, I understand we would be free to activate a Negro," Mickiewicz said last night, "but, as always, membership of the fraternity will be decided solely by the existing members."

Prof. Gladys L. Borchers, chairman of the university Faculty Committee on Human Rights, which is in charge of enforcing the 1960 clause, told the Daily Cardinal yesterday that she and her committee are satisfied that the two local fraternities are sincerely attempting to comply to the 1960 clause. She explained, however, that they must present evidence that they have received the waivers to her committee by Dec. 1.

"If they don't present it by then, they're off-campus," she said.

Both fraternities expect to make this deadline, their spokesmen said.

"THIS IS the first time the Union has looked statistically at what goes on in the building," Webster said. "And it seems that Union committees are doing a substantial amount of the programming."

THE DIRECTORATE also approved a budget for a summer session booklet. This will cover all non-classroom activities taking place in the summer, including non-Union as well as Union events.
