RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE ON EMERGENCY EDUCATIONAL POLICY

EXHIBIT A

1. That a Summer Semester be offered in 1944 extending over a period of 15½ weeks.
2. That an eight-week Summer Session be offered in lieu of the six- and eight-week sessions.
3. Adoption of the calendar for the year 1944-45, including (see attached copy)
 - (a) Summer Semester
 - (b) Eight-week Summer Session
 - (c) First and Second Semesters.
4. That an undergraduate student in the eight-week session may carry not less than six credits nor more than 8 credits without special permission of the dean of his college.
5. Since it is clear that registration will not justify as wide an offering of upper group subjects in the summer as in the winter, departments are advised to select courses that will allow seniors to fulfill their departmental major requirements, and to arrange for substitutions of one course for another in these requirements when necessary.
6. That two forms of assignments to summer teaching be made, namely:
 - (a) Salary guaranteed
 - (b) Salary subject to enrollment. In exceptional cases, salaries subject to the amount and kind of teaching.

It is suggested that the adjustment of salaries be made jointly by the individual staff member, the departmental chairman, dean of the college involved, and the director of the summer session on the basis of total departmental program and enrollment rather than on the basis of individual enrollment.
7. That payment for teaching on a fee basis be abolished save in individual cases subject to arrangement by the individual staff member, departmental chairman, dean of the college involved and the director of the summer session.
8. That payment for post-session teaching be abolished.
