CHAMPS GRAB LAST GAME IN TENTH FRAME

Old Man Fate Gives Michigan Four Runs in Extra Inning

By LAWRENCE E. MEYER

Baseball isn't a bad game, but it is played pretty badly at times.

Wisconsin had a slick chance to leave a sweet taste in the mouths of the faithful fans, after a disastrous season. A splendid opportunity to win from Michigan, unbeaten champs of the conference, was lost at Camp Randall Friday afternoon, and the Badgers took the short end of an 8 to 4 affair in ten innings.

"Tony" Zulfier pitched good ball for nine innings, getting an even break with three Michigan stars, and then Allen Miller went in and finished the big game. Ruzicka, who opened for the Wolverines, passed the first two batters and walked himself out of the contest. Scheidler took up the burden and lasted until late in the ninth, when he passed one batter and hit another.

"Slicker" Parks, unbeaten captain of the chaps, finished the game and got credit for the win, but by the greatest of good luck. A one-run lead that he inherited was all that saved him, for he let in the tying run on a wild pitch and had to go into the tenth before the local talent handed him the game, four runs that were nothing less than a gift.

Robbed of Home Run

Old Man Fate was the only athlete present who kept Michigan from getting a licking in regulation innings. In the home fourth, with two batters on, George Willigrod crashed a line drive to left center good for a home run in any league, but the ball hit a board on the running track, bounding back into play. A two-base hit instead of a home run was the result.

Two innings later, with only one on, Knode of Michigan hit a similar drive to right, and the ball hopped all the way clear of a 5-foot embankment for a home run. That tied the score, 2-all, instead of being 3 to 2. And the next Michigan run came on just as freakish break in the luck, when Kirchgessner hit an ordinary bingle to left which hopped clear over little Bud Emanuel and went for three sacks, this hitter scoring on a short single.

A Michigan misplay enabled Wisconsin to tie the count in the eighth. Davey scratched a single to short, advanced on a sacrifice, and scored when Van Boven crashed into Perrin on Willigrod's fly.

Score Tie in Ninth

In the Michigan ninth Catcher Froemke opened with another triple past Emanuel, and Langenhan sent him home on a well placed bunt with the squeeze play signal on.

With one down in the local ninth, Lyman worked Scheidler for a

PEACE PIPE GROUP HEADED BY EMERY

Clyde Emery has been appointed chairman of the junior committee to co-operate with the seniors in charge of the Pipe of Peace ceremony which will be given Monday, June 21. Other members of the committee are Elizabeth Chandler, Irwin Maier, Mary Parkinson, and Foster Strong.

NEW SORORITY ADDED TO LIST

Alpha Delta Pi is Seventeenth National Established at Wisconsin

Alpha Mu chapter of Alpha Delta Pi will be installed today as the seventeenth national sorority to be established at Wisconsin.

Mrs. Barbara Haugen, president of Delta Province, of Appleton, will install the new chapter. Alumnae and representatives from Theta chapter at Lawrence will be present.

Alpha Delta Pi was organized in 1904 at the Wesleyan Female college at Macon, Ga., on the basis of a local literary society called the Adelphean which had been founded in 1851. Most of the chapters have been in the south, but in the last few years several have been established in northern and western universities. There are now 33 active chapters and 19 alumnae chapters.

The sorority has chapters at Louisiana State university, University of Texas, Newcomb college, Trinity college, Florida State college, Southwestern university, Kansas State university, University of Missouri, Kansas State college, University of Colorado, Boston university, Colby college, Hanover college, Wittenburg college, Ohio State university, University of Illinois, Lawrence college, Iowa State college, Iowa University, University of Nebraska, University of California, Washington State college, University of Washington, University of Pittsburgh, and University of New Mexico. The Theta chapter at Lawrence is the only other one in the state.

Members from Lawrence college this semester who organized the new chapter are: Elizabeth Meadows, Marjorie Delbridge, Paula Komers, Marie Jorsch, Eulalie Emanuel, Leona Ruder, and Vera Tyler have been here the entire year.

After the installation in the morning a luncheon will be served at the Capitol cafe for members and alumnae. In the afternoon initiations will be held. A formal banquet at the Park hotel will complete the program.

MORTAR BOARD ELECTS EIGHT

Mortar Board elections, announced at Senior Swing-out last night by Margaret Craighill, president of Mortar Board, were as follows:

Isabel L. Bacon, Marie V. Bodden, Marguerite Croskey, Helen C. Harper, Francis Ellen Tucker, Marguerite Shepard, Winifred Titus, Hazel Wright.

The impressive ceremony began soon after 6:15 when the seniors, in cap and gown, marched out from North and South halls, the double line of juniors, carrying the daisy chain, from Lincoln terrace, the sophomores from North hall, and the freshmen from South hall, all the columns moving side by side down the campus to the path between the Law school and the Engineering building.

Here the double line of seniors met and they marched, four abreast, back up the campus between the two lines of juniors while the university band was playing a march, and with Dean Nardin leading the procession.

A pageant followed, presented by freshman, sophomore, and junior

BADGER TEAM PLACES THREE

Michigan Favored in Western Classic; Six Events Run Off

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Michigan, winner of the outdoor western conference track meet for the past two years, loomed large as a possible winner again Friday night on the eve of the classic following preliminaries in six of the 15 events Friday afternoon.

The large fields in the 440 yard dash and 880 yard run were cut respectively to six and nine starters for today. The big number of contestants in the shot put, discus throw, broad jump, and javelin throw were reduced to five in each event.

Out of the 36 survivors in these six events, Michigan and Illinois placed nine men each. If Captain Johnson of the Wolverines is in condition to make the hurdles as well as he did the broad jump Friday, Michigan should win. Johnson has been on the hospital list all season but cinched first place in the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 7½ inches, a full foot further than his nearest competitor, Sundt, of Wisconsin.

One record was broken by Huffman of Michigan, who smashed the old mark in the javelin with a heave of 170 feet 9 inches. This distance is almost certain to be increased today. Spetz of Wisconsin placed third in the fastest heat in the 440 yard dash and his team mate, Klug, took a similar position in another heat failing to get into the finals by inches.

The summary:

440 yard dash—

First heat won by Kasper, Notre Dame; Hendrickson, California; second; time :50.3.

Second heat won by Emery, Illinois; Bretnall, Cornell; second; time :49.4.

Third heat won by Butler, Michigan; Donohue, Illinois; second;

15 TEAMS ENTERED IN TRACK CONTEST

With 15 teams entered in the inter-fraternity track and field meet which will be held at Camp Randall at 2 o'clock this afternoon, an unusually interesting contest is anticipated.

The fraternities which will be represented are: Theta Chi, Phi Gam, Kappa Sig, Theta Delta, Sigma Nu, Beta, Acacia, Theta Xi, Chi Psi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Gamma Rho, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon. Eight of these fraternities will be represented in the relay race.

The order of events will be the same as in conference track meets with the exception of the hammer throw, the 2 mile run, the high hurdles, and the javelin throw, which have been omitted. The low hurdles will be 120 yards.

Men who have competed on the varsity team in any of the out door meets will be ineligible for this meet.

ATHENA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At the last meeting of the Athena literary society held last night the following officers were elected for the coming year: Clarence E. Fugina, president; Melborn Bergerman, vice-president; Samuel Sygman, secretary; S. S. Jordan, treasurer; I. Arnold Perstein, censor; Melborn Bergerman, member of the Forensic board.

FIELD SPORTS AND DANCING GIVEN TODAY

Women Present Program at Camp Randall and in Outdoor Theater

Field day to be held this afternoon and evening at Camp Randall and in the outdoor theater under the management of W. A. A. with Hazel Wright in charge, will mark the climax of women's athletics for the year by offering contests and exhibitions in six sports: track, baseball, tennis, quoits, archery, and dancing.

The dancing, under the direction of Miss Margaret H'Doubler, will be arranged in a program of eight numbers covering a wide range of appeals. Perhaps one of the most interesting groups is a series of dances included in number seven under the title "Dance Divertissement."

This dance consists of three main divisions. The first one, "Frieze" is divided into several parts, including a solo dance by Agnes Samuels, well-known for her work in dancing and dramatic work. "Vagabond," the second part of the group is a solo by Julia Hanks, and "Minuet" by Aline Smith, finishes the number.

Dancers who have been favorites and who are appearing again this year are Adelin Briggs, Gladys Hawthorne, Dorothy Bridge, Eleanor Riley, Frances Ellen Tucker, Betty Schon, and a score of others.

In track this year several leading athletes will make their last appearance. Phyllis Hamilton, who holds the university record in two events and is practically sure of a first place in a third, will aid materially in helping the class of '20 to maintain its position as track champion. The freshmen with two phenomenal entrants, Olivia Fentress and Esther Mainland, are also sure of several first places, and the sophomores and juniors are by no means looking for defeat.

The baseball game, beginning at the close of the track meet, will be between the freshmen and the junior-senior teams. The game promises to be a pitcher's battle between Eleanor Gaik for the upper-classmen and Elizabeth Klotz for the Frosh.

Quoits is new at Wisconsin this

Crew enthusiasts will have their last chance to see the shells skimming along Mendota this morning at 10 o'clock when three class crews compete for rowing honors. The race will start a mile east of the university boat house, the finish being on a line with the pier by the hydraulics laboratory.

The keen rivalry between the eights, which have been training all spring, makes a good race certain. The freshman crew, which with two substitutes very nearly defeated the Agries last Saturday, looms up especially strong.

The large amount of first rate material on the class crews makes the prospects for a championship crew in 1921 very good if rowing is reinstated as a varsity sport. Whether it will be reinstated is still doubtful, but it is hoped that the recent decision of the Intercollegiate Rowing association to reduce the course to two miles of still water will influence the decision of the faculty.

we all know about prominent people pass, and Gifford was sent in to run for him. Caesar got hit, and Coach Lundgren took Scheidler out, putting in Parks. Emanuel hit to short and Knode muffed the play, filling the bases with one gone. Davey struck out leaving the bags full with two gone. Parks then uncorked a wild pitch on which Gifford scored, and Falk struck out with the score a tie.

Miller was then sent in to pitch, Zulfer going to right. Kirchgessner greeted Miller with a two-base drive. Perrin laid down a bunt, but was safe on Miller's fumble. Miller then walked Van Boven, a weak hitter.

In the Michigan half, Mraz slammed one right at Gifford, substituting for Lyman, and with plenty of time for a double play, Gifford took all the time in the world and threw the ball away, letting two runs score. Froemke's hit and a double steal scored two more. The score:

LOOKING AHEAD

THIS is the season when Iron Cross, Mortar Board, and White Spades turn our thoughts away from the passing interests of the moment and fasten them on the abiding principle of unselfish, unswerving devotion to the common good in university life.

The members of these honorary societies have wrought well. They have taken hold of definite tasks and have put soul into the accomplishment of them. Some of them will be leaving this year. Others will remain another year. But the urge for higher things must go as before. The men and women who aspire to membership in these societies next year must carry on the torch passing from the hands of those gone before.

It is well to survey some of the fields of service briefly, hinting at a few of the problems that the leaders next year must face.

They must labor first of all for distinctly higher standards in scholarship. The student or group of students that will accomplish something definite to restore the passion for learning and the enthusiasm for broad and liberal scholarship will perform a service of the highest character to their school. The present wave of apathy toward serious and earnest study must be checked if the foundations of university life are to remain sound.

Then there is the broad field of social life offering abundant opportunity for service. The "tea hound" must be eliminated for good. Indiscriminate "fussing" that cuts down attendance at football and basketball games and puts a damper on pep must be put aside. Someone should impress upon the jazz orchestra magnates that dance music can be snappy and at the same time decent. Impossible music spoils a large number of social events every year.

In the third place, with the passing of hazing something must be done to bring back the spirit that died with the old customs. Now is the time for those who have "something just as good" to offer.

This brief presentation of problems that will be with us next year hits some of the high spots and some of the low ones. The only justification for mentioning them at all is to get the students to think in terms of the common good and not alone in terms of individual interest. Thinking and acting along such lines will make a better Wisconsin and all who contribute to the betterment will receive the reward which always comes as a result of work well done.

MORTAR BOARD ELECTIONS

MORTAR BOARD elections were announced last night. In the mind, they leave a record of achievement and to the time-honored scroll of notable members, they add a few more names. With scholarship, service, and womanliness as the basis of election, it is doubly appropriate that these women be given the recognition and plaudits of the student body.

On good scholarship is built the foundation. It establishes the go-between for all which a woman can give to or get from her Alma Mater. With it the joy of giving can in no way be dimmed. But when it is missing, a host of collegiate honors goes for naught; for then the real purpose of a college education has been overlooked.

Service, of the ideal type, the brand which merits election to Mortar Board, supplemented by womanliness makes for the kind of co-ed Wisconsin can justly be proud of. They are leaders and pace setters; their achievements stand as the criteria of future college generations.

In the hubbub of undergraduate days these women have emerged on top with colors flying. The recognition which they have received should be a spur for them to keep up their good work. And to those who are now earning their right to the honor, it should be a source of inspiration which will emerge, as it has in the past, into a bigger and a better Wisconsin.

What the College Editors Say

THE FATE OF A SYSTEM

"Abolition of the honor system among the students of Northwestern University is announced by the faculty. One reason given for the suspension was that the students had failed to live up to the confidence placed in them and that cheating during examinations had increased under the honor system. Hereafter some member of the faculty will be present while students are taking examinations. The honor system was established five years ago."—New York Times.

Cornell is considering the adoption of the honor system. One fundamental lesson may be learned from observing the fate of the system at Northwestern, namely, that nothing could be more futile than instituting the system prematurely, before solid undergraduate sentiment exists against cribbing. In other words, the system cannot work backwards—it cannot start with a movement on the part of the faculty to remove all restrictions in examinations; it must start with a genuine feeling of intolerance of a crooked deal on the part of the students. The honor system is not a panacea, a cure for cheating; in fact the honor system per se is no system at all, but can only amount to something when it is a manifestation of a sentiment.

We do not here attempt to predict whether or not Cornell is ready for a trial; we merely point out one fallacious way to go about its adoption.—The Cornell Sun.

AD SCHOOL WANTS VARSITY TO GIVE TRAINING COURSES

The advertising training work of one of the oldest and largest advertising agencies in the country will be taken over by the university next fall and combined with the advertising courses now given.

The J. Walter Thompson firm, which has been conducting for several years a 2-year training course to educate workers for its various branches, has requested Prof. E. H. Gardner, head of the advertising courses in the University Course in Commerce, to take over their training course and develop it along with his courses into a thorough advertising training.

"We believe that the University of Wisconsin presents the right method of training advertising people," said James Young, vice-president of the agency and head of the Chicago office. "It is a resident institution, giving a liberal education. It offers a series of courses in marketing and advertising, which are affiliated with a strong course in journalism and with commercial art work."

"We feel that we are specialists in advertising and that the university is a specialist in education, and the combinations thus effected will make an all-around business man or woman."

In preparation for the new training course, Professor Gardner and his assistant, E. M. Fisher, will spend the summer in Chicago, making a detailed study of the organization and methods of the agency and perfecting the details of cooperation.

"We have many good people in our advertising courses now," said Professor Gardner, "and many Wisconsin graduates in advertising are holding remarkable positions."

QUIZ IS HELD TO FIX BLAME FOR SMASH-UP

Witnesses Gives Conflicting Testimony in Auto Crash Case

Several witnesses of Monday's automobile crash were quizzed by District Attorney Roman Heilmann and Coroner W. E. Campbell yesterday in an effort to fix the blame for the collision which cost the life of Amanda Hanson and injuries to Marjorie Huber and Mary Voorhees.

At 10 o'clock yesterday the coroner's jury, comprising Dean Scott H. Goodnight, H. C. Netherwood, A. P. Felton, Louis Geffert, W. R. Bentley and O. W. Sherman, took their places. Hill and Spohn are attorneys for Hilgers, while W. R. Bagley of Bagley and Reed, appears for Weaver. A large number of interested spectators filled the benches.

The testimony was conflicting, some witnesses agreeing on certain points, while on other matters various opinions were held. All seemed to agree that the Hilgers' car, a Hudson, was coming up Broom street from State toward W. Johnson and that the Overland was going up Johnson toward State; that the crash came when the cars were pretty well in the center of the street at the corner of Broom and W. Johnson streets; that the Hudson tipped over on its right side, and that the Overland struck a telegraph pole; and that at least one of the girls was thrown out of the Overland.

The witnesses disagreed on the speed at which the cars were driving. P. Jenkins, freshman, testified that the Hudson appeared to be going at about 20 miles an hour, and the Overland from 12 to 25. According to him, neither car slowed up nor increased. Most of the other witnesses thought both cars were traveling about 12 miles per hour.

The way in which the crash came, the parts of the cars which struck each other, were described differently by the various witnesses. According to John M. Reis, 225 W. Dayton street, who is employed at the Madison Motor Co., and who picked up Miss Hansen, the Overland ran into the Hudson.

Dr. Joseph Dean testified yesterday morning that Miss Hansen's death was caused by severe skull fractures on the right side of the head. Joseph Rank, 214 North Broom street, a janitor at the state capitol, who was on his front porch when the accident occurred, claimed that the two cars met in the center of the road. As the car driven by Casper Hilgers came south on North Broom street, he said it was hit by the car driven by Robert Weaver which carried three occupants in the back seat. The Overland driven by Weaver then struck the Hudson in the rear end, and, after interlocking, smashed into a telephone pole. He claimed that he saw one girl thrown 10 feet from the car.

The jury was asked to view the cars, and also to visit the corner at which the collision occurred, in order that more satisfactory evidence may be had.

Both Marjorie Huber and Mary Voorhees are reported improving.

Entering the World Electrical

THE graduate of today enters a world electrical.

Gathered from the distant waterfalls or generated by the steam turbine, electric power is transmitted to the busiest city or smallest country place.

Through the co-ordination of inventive genius with engineering and manufacturing resources, the General Electric Company has fostered and developed to a high state of perfection these and numerous other applications.

And so electricity, scarcely older than the graduate of today, appears in a practical, well developed service on every hand.

Recognize its power, study its applications to your life's work, and utilize it to the utmost for the benefit of all mankind.

SUGGESTIONS TO MUSIC LOVERS

Music Memory Contest But a Beginning

Those who have followed the music Memory contest may feel now that with the final event of yesterday the entire affair is concluded. On the contrary, they should rather feel that a good beginning has been made toward a larger and finer appreciation of music.

The 28 compositions listed may well be in the library of every phonograph and player piano owner. With these as a start other compositions by the same composers may gradually be added, or the expansion of material may be along the line not of the 26 composers, but rather of a few types of compositions. For instance, there are a number of beautiful minuets which would make a most interesting group. Compare, for instance, the various minuets by Beethoven, Mozart, Gluck, Lully, Boccherini, and Paderevski. There are several grand marches which could well be added to those in the list. There are many violin and cello solos quite as delightful as those we have studied. The material from symphonies is almost unlimited; in fact the two movements selected are only parts of longer works.

Moreover, it is essential that the material which has been heard so often in the past six weeks should not be forgotten. It will appear every now and then on band programs, in orchestral selections, in incidental music of the moving picture houses, in the church services, in vocal and instrumental recitals. When these selections are played make a point to express your appreciation of them to the performer or to the director. It is surprising how much a few words of this kind will do, both to hearten musicians and to suggest to them the kind of music to be placed upon future programs.

Moreover, if this Music Memory contest seems to you something that should be continued next year telephone Ruth Romig, Badger 7796, chairman of the university class in community music. She will pass the word on to the class that their efforts have been worth while.

MENORAH SOCIETY TO HOLD BANQUET

The ninth annual Menorah banquet to be held tonight at the Capitol cafe will feature the announcement of the winner of the Rosenwald prize essay contest, the presence of several officers of the national organization and the presentation of shingles to all members of the local chapter. Prof. I. Lubin, of the department of economics of Michigan, will deliver an address on "Menorah Ideals in the New Era." Prof. Lubin was formerly president of the Menorah society at the University of Missouri, and a former vice-president of the inter-collegiate organization. During the war, he was associated with the War Industries board under Bernard M. Baruch, and also with the Food Administration.

William Stern, president of the local chapter, will preside as toastmaster while the shingle ceremony will be conducted under the supervision of Dr. B. H. Schlomovitz, professor of physiology at the Marquette Medical school and president of the inter-collegiate. The annual banquet is the occasion for the return of a number of prominent alumni who were leaders in Menorah activities in their undergraduate days. Miss Celia Wolfson, president of the Chicago chapter will also attend. Toasts will be responded to by Prof. L. B. Wolfenson, Prof. R. E. N. Dodge, in announcing the winner of the Menorah prize; Mrs. Joseph Jastrow; Prof. Selig Perlman; and Dr. Harry Kay. Aaron Scheinfeld is in general charge of arrangements for the banquet.

GILMAN BOOSTS ADVISORY SYSTEM

Prof. S. W. Gilman emphatically endorsed the Sophomore Commerce Advisory commission at a meeting of freshmen held yesterday afternoon to organize the commission. "The co-operation of all classes is the most important thing in the commerce course, and we must have a co-operative spirit to help the faculty educate the freshmen as to the character of the courses and as to what is going on on the campus. Sympathetically interpret the university by talking to the new men and helping them to get a good start; this cannot be done by sending them pamphlets."

Plans were discussed at the meeting for writing to prospective commerce freshmen, for giving new men aid in registering, and for seeing that all commerce freshmen wear the commerce buttons. The object is to make them feel that they are part of a large organization.

On account of the comparativly small attendance, it was decided not to elect officers at the meeting. Instead, the committee of upper-classmen in charge of the organization was authorized to nominate officers. The committee is composed of W. F. Rupert, chairman, E. Schenck, Lloyd Wilder, R. Garstang and Harvey Meyer. They will appoint a chairman and with his aid will choose men for the other positions. Men to be chosen to fill these positions will be picked from the men assembled at the meeting Friday afternoon.

dancing classes. Catherine Meyer, as spring, opened the dancing, then followed Irish and Dutch folk dances, after which Eleanor Riley, as Rain, Agnes Samuels, as sunshine, and Julia Hanks, as Queen of the flowers, gave clever interpretive dances. Twenty girls, dressed as flowers, then wound the May pole.

Following the Mortar Board announcements and the Torch ceremony, the audience proceeded to Muir Knoll, where songs were lead by the different classes.

The entire program was as follows:

Procession—March, The Pythian. Pageant—Eleanor Riley, director. Spring has come at last, and the villagers flock to the Green for a dance. Their merriment is interrupted by the untimely arrival of a tiny April shower, which is quickly put to flight by the indignant Sunshine. But the efforts of the two awaken the Queen of Flowers from her long sleep, and her delightful followers honor her return with a maypole dance. Presented by freshman, sophomore and junior women.

Mortar Board announcements—Margaret Craighill, president.

Song—If You Want to Be a Badger.

(March to Muir Knoll.)

Songs at Muir Knoll—Just a Song at Twilight; Yellow Tassel song, by the junior women; Red Gauntlet song, by the sophomore women; Green Button song, by the freshman women; Mortar Board song; S. G. A. song; Outing club song; Y. W. C. A. song; W. A. A. song; On Wisconsin.
